

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. You can search through the full text of this book on the web at <http://books.google.com/>

E
176
.H57

AMERICAN BIOGRAPHY

Thomas William Herringham

HERRINGSHAW'S NATIONAL LIBRARY OF AMERICAN BIOGRAPHY

CONTAINS

THIRTY-FIVE THOUSAND BIOGRAPHIES OF THE ACKNOWLEDGED LEADERS OF LIFE AND THOUGHT OF THE UNITED STATES

ILLUSTRATED WITH

THREE THOUSAND VIGNETTE PORTRAITS

COMPLETE IN FIVE VOLUMES

INCLUDING EVERY NAME OF EMINENCE PRODUCED BY THIS GREAT REPUBLIC SINCE ITS FORMATION TO THE PRESENT TIME

EDITED AND COMPILED UNDER THE SUPERVISION OF

THOMAS WILLIAM HERRINGSHAW

AUTHOR OF HOME OCCUPATIONS, PROMINENT MEN AND WOMEN OF THE DAY, AIDS TO LITERARY SUCCESS, MULIEROLOGY, LOCAL AND NATIONAL PORTS OF AMERICA, HERRINGSHAW'S ENCYCLOPEDIA OF AMERICAN BIOGRAPHY OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY, AND OTHER WORKS.

ASSISTED BY

A STAFF OF DISTINGUISHED BIOGRAPHERS

ALPHABETICALLY ARRANGED

VOLUME V

RICHARDS-ZWEMER

"THE PROPER STUDY OF MANKIND IS MAN"

CHICAGO, ILL.

AMERICAN PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION

1914

ENTERED ACCORDING TO ACT OF CONGRESS

IN THE YEAR 1914

BY

Thomas William Herringsham

IN THE OFFICE OF

THE LIBRARIAN OF CONGRESS

AT WASHINGTON, D. C.

Herringsham's American Biography IS RESPECTFULLY DEDICATED WITH MANY THANKS TO THE Progressive Men of Life and Thought OF THE UNITED STATES FOR THE ASSISTANCE THEY HAVE RENDERED IN ITS PUBLICATION
BY
Thomas William Herringsham

PREFACE.

THERE is not extant any one volume or set of volumes that contains biographies of even one-half of the noted personages who have risen to eminence in the United States. Hence, the purpose of HERRINGSHAW'S LIBRARY OF AMERICAN BIOGRAPHY is to meet this glaring inadequacy, and to present in Five Compact Volumes the lives and achievements of thirty-five thousand of the most celebrated men and women who have been the founders, defenders and builders of this Great Republic of the United States of America, including every name of eminence it has produced from its formation to the present time. It is also illustrated with over Three Thousand Vignette Portrait Engravings.

The most attractive form of history is Biography, which perpetuates the memory of individuals, and, while aptly illustrating the conduct of life, conveys important lessons. History, it has been well said, does not much regard fertile soil or material wealth: but the admirable men and women that a country produces — they are the glory of the country. In every city, town and village are men and women of character and influence, who have contributed by their enterprise and thrift, by their activity and sagacity in business, their zeal in educational, in religious, and in political matters, to the moral and spiritual advancement as well as to the material prosperity of the community in which they live.

HERRINGSHAW'S LIBRARY OF AMERICAN BIOGRAPHY includes accurate biographies of all the Presidents and Vice-Presidents of the United States; every member of all the cabinets; every United States Senator and Speaker of the House; every United States Congressman; every member of the Supreme Court; every signer of the Declaration of Independence; the Governors of the States and Territories; all the Authors, Poets and Composers; all the eminent Clergymen, Judges, Lawyers; all the Admirals and distinguished naval officers; all the Generals and distinguished army officers; while no name eminent in Literature, Art, Music, Science or Invention has been omitted.

As the failure to consider the lives of men of affairs as of historical importance is a defective feature of all biographical works heretofore published, a special feature of this work has been to include the lives of the great pioneers, merchants, manufacturers, railroad builders, and other practical men who have developed the mines, forests and farms, built the railroads, steamboat lines and canals, set afloat and managed the shipping, organized the corporations, and introduced the new processes in science and mechanics, which have so greatly reduced the cost and promoted the comfort of living, while contributing to the power and prestige of the nation itself. They have founded the great museums, erected statues, libraries and reading rooms; and it is by them that the colleges, schools and philanthropic institutions are built and maintained; and it surely is befitting that their records should be preserved for all time in this national work of representative Americans.

That the achievements of such persons should have their public record is peculiarly proper, because a knowledge of men whose substantial fame rests upon their attainments, character and success, must exert a wholesome influence upon the rising generation of the American people.

To preserve and perpetuate the important historical facts of personal and family history cannot fail to prove invaluable and a source of pride and interest to the nation and to the world. Indeed, there is inherent in us a desire that our descendants should know something of us — how we live, and where we spend our lives, for the poet truly says —

"To live in hearts we leave behind
Is not to die."

In the preservation of such a record, all the progressive men of life and thought should have a national pride. As heroes of the colonial and revolutionary wars, statesmen, persons noteworthy in the church, at the bar, in literature, art, science and the professions, and those who have contributed to the commercial and industrial growth of this Great Republic — each has added luster to its name.

In order to seek a competency and fame, these sturdy Americans, imbued with a spirit of self-reliance and indomitable will, have blazed the way through the wilderness, conquered forests, subdued the soil, and made desert places smile. In the commercial and industrial world their names have illumined the marts of trade; from the workshops of the inventor have emanated prolific inventions now used throughout the civilized world; in literature can be found authors, poets and journalists whose brows are worthy to be crowned with the laurel wreath of fame; as philanthropists, the gifts of America's successful men have been munificent; and in the arena of statesmanship, in the halls of legislation, and in the administration of justice the United States has produced men of thought and men of action; while last, but not least, as soldiers on the field of battle, which tradition regards as the field of glory, our great men have served as valiant soldiers; while the American Army and Navy have produced heroes of undying fame in the defense of their land and in the cause of humanity. Is not so complete a record a credit to the nation and to the world?

While transmitting to posterity the memory of distinguished persons of the past and present day, it will instil in the minds of our children the important lesson that honor and station are the reward of continued exertion — and that compared to a good education with habits of honest industry and economy, the greatest fortune would be but a poor inheritance.

The courteous co-operation and words of praise received from prominent people throughout the United States, confirmed the opinion that the public is sufficiently alive to the value and importance of such a work, and the lasting benefit to be derived from placing their names, side by side with those of our most honored ones, in a work that will be found in the great public libraries and reading rooms throughout the world, and which is ultimately destined to go down to posterity as an enduring record of the most eminent people of the United States; bearing in mind that without such a record some of the most illustrious names would be lost in oblivion, and their posterity deprived of the gratification and advantage of reference to so honorable an ancestry.

THOMAS WILLIAM HERRINGSHAW.

Publishers' Note

MISTAKES WILL UNDOUBTEDLY BE FOUND IN THIS VOLUME, BUT THEY EXIST NOT FOR WANT OF PAINSTAKING EFFORTS TO AVOID THEM, BUT GENERALLY FROM IMPERFECT MANUSCRIPTS OR CONFLICTING STATEMENTS OF STANDARD AUTHORITIES. WHAT IS WORTH RECORDING AT ALL, IS WORTH RECORDING CAREFULLY AND CORRECTLY; AND WHEN MISTAKES ARE DISCOVERED, A MEMORANDUM OF THE ERRORS SHOULD AT ONCE BE SENT TO THE AMERICAN PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION OF CHICAGO, FOR CORRECTIONS IN FUTURE EDITIONS OF THIS WORK.

*Lives of great men all remind us
We can make our lives sublime,
And, departing, leave behind us
Footprints on the sands of time.*

HERRINGSHAW'S LIBRARY

OF

AMERICAN BIOGRAPHY

Richards, Louis Harry, railroad president, was born April 7, 1831, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1878 he has been president of the Potomac, Fredericksburg and Piedmont railroad, at Philadelphia, Pa.

Richards, Mrs Maria Tolman, educator, author, was born Oct. 8, 1821, in Dorchester, Mass. She was an educator and lecturer of Providence, R.I. She was the author of Life in Judea; and Life in Israel. She died in Providence, R.I.

Richards, Mark, state legislator, lieutenant-governor, congressman, was born in New Haven, Conn. He was a member of the state legislature for eight years; was county sheriff for five years; was a presidential elector in 1813; and was a state counselor in 1813-15. In 1817-21 he was a representative from Vermont to the fifteenth and sixteenth congresses; and was lieutenant-governor of Vermont in 1830. He died in Vermont.

Richards, Matthias, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1757. In 1788-97 he was a judge of Berks county, Pa.; and in 1807-11 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the tenth and eleventh congresses. He died in 1830, in Pennsylvania.

Richards, Matthias Henry, soldier, clergyman, educator, journalist, was born June 17, 1841, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1880 he has been editor of Church Lesson-Leaves; and Helper; and since 1886 the managing editor of the Church Messenger at Allentown, Pa. During the Spanish-American war he was appointed brigadier-general of volunteers.

Richards, Robert Hallowell, educator, metallurgist, inventor, author, was born Aug. 26, 1844, in Gardiner, Maine. Since 1884 he has been professor of mining, engineering and metallurgy at the Massachusetts institute of technology at Boston, Mass. He has invented a jet aspirator for chemical and physical laboratories; and an ore-separator for the Lake Superior copper mills; and one for the iron ores of the South. During 1886 he was president of the American institute of mining engineers. He is the author of a standard work on Ore Dressing.

Richards, Rosalind, litterateur, author, was born in 1874, in South Boston, Mass. She is the author of The Nursery Fire; and Two Children in the Woods.

Richards, Samuel, painter, artist, was born April 22, 1853, in Spencer, Ind. Among his best known works are: Pleasant Stories; Italian Boy; Evangeline; and The Day Before the Wedding. He died Nov. 30, 1893, in Denver, Col.

Richards, Sarah J., philanthropist, was born in 1820. She was a noted philanthropist of her time. She died in 1893.

Richards, Theodore William, educator, chemist, author, was born Jan. 31, 1868, in Germantown, Pa. In 1885 he graduated as S.B. from Haverford college; and in 1886 received the degree of A.B. from Harvard university. He was a student at several German universities; and received the honorary degrees of A.M., Ph.D. and Sc.D. In 1894-1901 he was an assistant professor; and since 1901 has been professor of chemistry and chairman of the chemical department of Harvard university. In 1907 he was exchange professor from Harvard to Berlin. He is an investigator in physical and inorganic chemistry; and his recent papers concern the significance of changing atomic volume, and a new atomic theory.

Richards, Thomas Addison, educator, artist, author, was born Dec. 3, 1820, in England. Since 1867 he has been professor of art in the university of the city of New York. His numerous paintings include Alastor, or the Spirit of Solitude; and The Indian's Paradise. He died in 1900, in New York City.

Richards, Thomas Cole, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 24, 1866, in England. He has filled pastorates in Dudley, Mass., Higganum and Torrington, Conn.; and since 1906 has preached in Warren, Mass. He is the author of Samuel J. Mills, Missionary. Pathfinder, Pioneer and Promoter.

Richards, William, clergyman, missionary, diplomat, was born Aug. 22, 1792, in Plainfield, Mass. In 1822 he embarked as a missionary to the Sandwich Islands. In 1838 he became councillor, chaplain and interpreter to the king; and after the recognition of the independence of the islands by foreign powers was sent as ambassador to England, and to other courts. He died Dec. 7, 1847, in Honolulu.

Richards, William Alford, farmer, civil engineer, governor, was born March 9, 1849, in Hazel Green, Wis. He has been county surveyor in California and Colorado; and in 1889-93 was United States surveyor-general of Wyoming. In 1894-99 he was the third governor of Wyoming. In 1899 he was appointed assistant commissioner of the general land offices; in 1903-07 was commissioner; and in 1909 became tax commissioner for the state of Wyoming.

Richards, William Carey, clergyman, author, poet, was born Nov. 24, 1818, in England. He was a baptist minister of Chicago; and widely known as a lecturer upon physical science. He was the author of Baptist Banquets; The Lord Is My Shepherd; The Mountain Anthem; Our Father in Heaven, a series of sonnets; and Science in Song. He died in 1892, in Chicago, Ill.

Richards, William Henry, educator, lawyer, lecturer, was born Jan. 15, 1856, in Athens, Tenn. He was educated at the Warner institute and at the Howard university. He has been alderman and mayor of his native city; and president of the Bethel literary and historical association of Washington, D.C. Since 1890 he has been a member of the faculty of Howard university, filling the chairs of international law and evidence; and is principal librarian. He has also attained success in the lecture field.

Richards, William Rogers, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 20, 1853, in Boston, Mass. In 1879 he was ordained a clergyman of the congregational church; in 1884-1902 he was pastor of the Presbyterian church of Plainfield, N.J.; and since 1902 has been pastor of the Brick Presbyterian church of New York City. He is the author of Ways of Wisdom; For Whom Christ Died; God's Choice of Men; and the Apostles' Creed in Modern Worship.

Richards, William Frost, painter, artist, was born Nov. 14, 1833, in Philadelphia, Pa. Among his works in oil are Tulip-Trees; Midsummer; Woods in June; and Mid Ocean. His works in water colors include Cedars on the Sea Shore; King Arthur's Castle, Tintagel, Cornwall; Mullion Gull Rock, Tintagel, Cornwall; The Unresting Sea. He died in 1905, in Newport, R.I.

Richards, Zalmon, educator, was born Aug. 11, 1811, in Cummington, Mass. He attended Williams college in 1831-36. He was principal of the Union academy of his native city for three years; was principal of the Stillwater academy for ten years; was principal of the preparatory department of the Columbian college for three years; and of the Union academy in 1851-66. For two years he was superintendent of public schools of Washington, D.C., and for three years was a clerk in the bureau of education. From 1856 he was president and a member of the National educational association. He died in 1897.

Richardson, A. Frank, journalist, business president, was born about 1855, in Orange county, Va. He began his journalistic career as a reporter; and became president of the Eastern and Western newspaper union. He has taken up a general business in circulating western newspaper; and has offices in New York City.

Richardson, Mrs. Abby Sage, educator, author, poet, was born Oct. 4, 1837, in Massachusetts. She is an educator and lecturer upon literature. She was the author of Familiar Talks on English Literature; Stories from Old English Poetry; History of Our Country; and Abelard and Heloise, a Medieval Romance. She edited Songs from Old Dramatists. She died in 1900, in New York City.

Richardson, Albert Deane, journalist, author, was born Oct. 6, 1833, in Franklin, Mass. He was famous as the war correspondent of The Tribune during the civil war. He was the author of Beyond the Mississippi; Personal History of Ulysses Grant; The Field, the Dungeon, and the Escape; and Garnered Sheaves. He died Dec. 2, 1868, in New York City.

Richardson, Beale Howard, journalist, was born in 1843, in Baltimore, Md. In 1865 he was associate editor of the Mobile Tribune; was city editor of the Savannah Morning News in 1871-83; and editor of the Savannah Daily Times in 1883-87. In 1887-89 he was editor Anniston, Ala. Hot Blast; and since then has been proprietor and editor of the Georgia Enquirer Sun.

Richardson, Charles Francis, educator, author, was born May 29, 1851, in Hallowell, Maine. He has been professor of English literature at Dartmouth college from 1882.

He is the author of A Primer of American Literature; The Cross, a collection of verse; American Literature, 1607-1885; The Choice of Books; and other works.

Richardson, Charles Albert, soldier, lawyer, public official, was born Aug. 14, 1829, in Freetown, N.Y. He received the rudiments of his education in the common schools, and attended Cortland academy of Homer, N.Y. He has been county treasurer and surrogate of Ontario county, N.Y.; New York state commissioner for Gettysburg and Chattanooga monuments; and United States commissioner for Gettysburg national park. During the civil war he served in the union army as lieutenant, captain and major of the one hundred and twenty-sixth regiment New York volunteer infantry. He became one of the foremost lawyers of the east, at Canandaigua, N.Y.

Richardson, Charles Warren, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Sept. 7, 1843, in Salem, Mass. He has served as a member of the Massachusetts state legislature. He is now special judge of the first district court of Essex, Mass.

Richardson, Clifford, chemist, author, was born March 6, 1856, in Worcester, Mass. In 1896-1900 he was superintendent of tests of the Barber asphalt paving company; and since 1900 has been proprietor of the New York testing laboratory. He is the author of On American Cereals; Adulterations of Spices and Condiments and Reports of the Association Official Agricultural Chemists.

Richardson, David P., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born May 28, 1833, in Macedon, N.Y. He served in the union army in 1861-64. In 1879-83 he was a representative from New York to the forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses as a republican.

Richardson, Dorothy, journalist, author, was born May 20, 1875, in Prospect, Pa. In 1896 she began her journalistic career on the Pittsburg Dispatch; and since 1899 has been a special writer for the New York Sunday Herald. She is the author of The Long Day.

Richardson, Edmund, cotton king, was born June 28, 1818, in Caswell county, N.C. He was owner and manager of forty cotton plantations in the Gulf states, marketing at an average 15,000 bales annually. Was also owner of the largest cotton factory in the southwest. He died June 11, 1886, in Jackson, Miss.

Richardson, Edmund F., lawyer, was born July 29, 1862, in Sandisfield, Mass. In 1879-83 he was employed in the mercantile business in Springfield, Mass. In 1885 he was admitted to the bar of the supreme court of California. In 1894 he was admitted to the bar of the supreme court of the United States. He practices law in Denver, Col.

Richardson, Edward, mariner, was born in 1789, in Boston, Mass. He was captain of a line of packet ships that plied between New York and Liverpool. He organized the Marine temperance society in 1833, and lived to see 52,000 names signed to its pledge. He was superintendent of the New York City seamen's home; and was a vice-president of the New York port society. He died April 6, 1876, in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Richardson, Ernest Cushing, librarian, author, was born Feb. 9, 1860, in Woburn, Mass. Since 1890 he has been librarian of the Princeton university. He is the author of Bibliographical Synopsis of the Ante-Nicene Fathers; valuable contributions to Nicene and Post-Nicene Fathers; and Index to Periodical Articles on Religion.

Richardson, Felix A., librarian, government official, was born Dec. 11, 1835, in Glasgow, Ky. He was educated in the public and private schools of his native county; and graduated from Urania college. During the civil war in 1863-65 he was deputy provost marshal for the third district of Kentucky; and in 1865-69 he was deputy postmaster of Glasgow, Ky. Since 1885 he has been in the service of the state of Colorado as bailiff and librarian; and is still filling the office of librarian of the state supreme court of Colorado.

Richardson, Frederick, painter, artist, was born Oct. 26, 1862, in Chicago, Ill. For fifteen years he was on the staff of the Chicago Daily News; and for seven years was an instructor in the Chicago art institute. Since 1903 he has had a studio in New York City; and has published a Book of Drawings, by Frederick Richardson.

Richardson, George F., agriculturist, state legislator, congressman, was born July 1, 1850, in Jamestown, Mich. He was the son of a pioneer farmer, and his occupation in life has been principally that of a farmer. He received his education in the common schools. He was elected township clerk eight years in succession; and in 1884 and 1890 was elected to the Michigan legislature. The democrats controlled the organization of the house, and he was elected speaker pro tempore. In 1893-95 he was a representative from Michigan to the fifty-third congress. He was the editor of The Free Coinage Independent, which is now published as The Middle West of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Richardson, George Burr, geologist, author, was born Aug. 21, 1872, in New York City. Since 1900 he has been geologist in the United States geological survey at Washington, D.C. He is the author of the Indiana Folio; Report of a Reconnaissance in Trans-Lecos Texas; and Underground Water in the Valleys of Utah Lake and Jordan River.

Richardson, George Tilton, journalist, dramatist, author, was born July 2, 1863, in Boston, Mass. In 1888-91 he was city editor of the Boston Advertiser; and in 1892-1904 was dramatic critic on the Boston Traveler. Since 1907 he has been editor-in-chief of the Boston Daily Tribune. He is the author of My Lady Laughter; A Self-Made Man's Wife and Her Letters to Her Son; and several plays.

Richardson, Harry Alden, manufacturer, business president, United States senator, was born Jan. 1, 1853, in Camden, Del. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools of his native state; and attended the academy at East Greenwich, R.I. He then entered the well-known establishment of Richardson and Robbins of Dover, Del., of which his father was senior member. Upon the death of the junior partner, he was taken into partnership by his father; and at the death of his father in 1894, he assumed the entire control of the large canning establishment, which he still manages with the assistance of his two sons. He is president of the First national bank of Dover; president of the Delaware fire insurance company of Dover; president of the Dover gaslight company; president of the Diamond state telephone company of Dover; is a director in the Bell telephone company of Philadelphia; and a director in other corporations. In 1890 he was the republican nominee for governor of Delaware. He is now United States senator from Delaware for the term of 1907-13.

Richardson, Henry Hobson, architect, was born Sept. 29, 1838, in St. James parish, La. He was a noted architect of New England. He died April 28, 1886, in Brookline, Mass.

Richardson, Hobart Wood, journalist, author, was born in 1831. He was a journalist of Portland, Maine. He was the author of Paper Money; The National Banks; and The Standard Dollar. He died in 1889, in Portland, Maine.

Richardson, Israel Bush, soldier, was born Dec. 26, 1815, in Fairfax, Vt. He served throughout the Florida and Mexican wars; and at the beginning of the civil war was appointed colonel of the second Michigan regiment. In 1861 he was commissioned brigadier-general of volunteers; and in 1862 became major-general. He died Nov. 3, 1862, in Sharpsburg, Md.

Richardson, J. M., soldier, poet, was born March 13, 1831, in South Carolina. He served in the civil war as a confederate; and attained the rank of colonel. He has contributed both prose and verse to the leading magazines and journals of South Carolina.

Richardson, James, clergyman, was born in 1817, in Dedham, Mass. He continued to preach and lecture for many years, and constantly contributed to the press. During the civil war his services were given to the hospitals in Washington, D.C. He published several discourses. He died Nov. 10, 1863, in Washington, D.C.

Richardson, James B., governor, was born in South Carolina. He was the sixth governor of South Carolina in 1802-04. He died in South Carolina.

Richardson, James Bailey, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Dec. 9, 1832, in Orford, N. H. In 1859 he began the practice of law; in 1866 was a representative to the general court of Massachusetts; and in 1877-78 was a member of the common council of Boston, Mass. Since 1892 he has been a justice of the superior court of Massachusetts. He is the author of Notes in Equity; and Pleading and Practice of Massachusetts.

Richardson, James Daniel, soldier, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born March 10, 1843, in Rutherford, county, Tenn. In 1870 he was elected a representative in the Tennessee state legislature; and was elected speaker; and in 1872-74 he was state senator; and in 1873 was made grand master of Masons for the state of Tennessee. He also became grand high priest of the grand chapter of the state. In 1885-1905 he was a representative from Tennessee to the forty-ninth, fiftieth, fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third, fifty-fourth, fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh and fifty-eighth congresses as a democrat.

Richardson, John C., lawyer, jurist. In 1857-59 he was judge of the supreme court of Missouri. He died in St. Louis, Mo.

Richardson, John Fram, educator, author, was born Feb. 7, 1808, in Vernon, N.Y. He believed he had discovered the true pronunciation of Latin, as spoken by the ancient Romans; and in the face of much opposition taught it to his pupils. It has since been adopted by many of the foremost educators. He was the author of Roman Orthoepey; a Plea for the Restoration of the True System of Latin Pronunciation. He died Feb. 10, 1868, in Rochester, N.Y.

Richardson, John Peter, state legislator, congressman, governor, was born April 14, 1801, in Hickory Hill, S.C. He was a member of the South Carolina state legislature from 1824 to 1836; and in 1835-39 he was a representative to the twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth congresses; and was the twenty-fifth governor of South Carolina in 1840-42. He died Jan. 24, 1864, in Fulton, S.C.

Richardson, John Peter, soldier, state legislator, governor, was born Sept. 25, 1831, in Clarendon county, S.C. In 1856-60 and 1866-76 he was a member of the South Carolina state legislature; and in 1865 was a member of the constitutional convention; and in 1880-84 was state treasurer. He served in the confederate states army; and in 1886-90 was the forty-eighth governor of the state of South Carolina. He died in 1899 in South Carolina.

Richardson, John Smythe, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born April 11, 1777, in Sumter, S.C. He was an associate judge of the general sessions and of the common pleas; and presiding judge of the court of appeals. He was elected a member of congress in 1820, but owing to some exigency in his private affairs, was not qualified. He was a member of the state legislature; and attorney-general for the state of South Carolina. He died May 8, 1850, in Charleston, S.C.

Richardson, John Smythe, soldier, lawyer, agriculturist, congressman, was born Feb. 29, 1828, in Sumter, S.C. He served in the confederate army as a commissioned officer during the war of the rebellion. He was a member of the South Carolina state house of representatives from 1865 to 1867. In 1879-83 he was a representative from South Carolina to the forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses as a democrat. He died Feb. 24, 1894, in Sumter, S.C.

Richardson, Joseph, clergyman, congressman, was born Feb. 1, 1778, in Billerica, Mass. In 1827-31 he was a representative from Massachusetts to the twentieth and twenty-first congresses. He was senior pastor over the First church at Hingham for fifty years. He died Sept. 25, 1871, in Hingham, Mass.

Richardson, Joseph, designer, architect, was born Sept. 7, 1814, in England. Thirty years ago he established a line of steamboats between New York and Bridgeport, Conn. The water works at Laramie City are another monument to his enterprise, he having been their originator and builder. He also built the waterworks at Houston, Texas.

Richardson, Leander, journalist, author, was born Feb. 28, 1856, in Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1896-1900 he was on the editorial staff of the New York Morning Telegraph; and in 1901-08 was editor of the Dramatic News. He is the author of The Dark City; Lord Dunmersey; As Ye Sow; and Adapted French Operettas and Plays; Olivette; The Snake Charnier; Anselma; and The Nominee.

Richardson, Nathaniel Smith, clergyman, journalist, author, was born Jan. 8, 1810, in Middlebury, Conn. He was an episcopal clergyman, and was editor of The American Church Review. He was the author of Reasons Why I Am a Churchman; Reasons Why I Am Not a Papist; and Evidences of Natural and Revealed Religion. He died Aug. 7, 1883, in Bridgeport, Conn.

Richardson, Norval, litterateur, author, was born Oct. 8, 1877, in Vicksburg, Miss. He is secretary and treasurer of Lee Richardson and company of Vicksburg, Miss. He is the author of The Heart of Hope.

Richardson, Oliver Huntington, educator, author, was born Dec. 10, 1866, in Providence, R.I. In 1897-1909 he was assistant professor of history at Yale university; and since 1909 has been professor of European history at the university of Washington. He is the author of The National Movement in the Reign of Henry III and its Culmination in the Barons' War; and Syllabus of Continental European History from the Fall of Rome to 1870.

Richardson, Origen D., lawyer, statesman, was born July 20, 1795, in Woodstock, Vt. In 1820 he began the practice of law in Pontiac, Mich.; and in 1842-46 was lieutenant-governor of Michigan. In 1854 removed to Omaha, Neb. He died Nov. 30, 1876, in Omaha, Neb.

Richardson, Richard, patriot, soldier, was born in 1704 near Jamestown, Va. In 1775 he was a member of the council of safety at Charleston, S.C.; and in 1776 became a brigadier general. He died in September, 1781, near Salisbury, S.C.

Richardson, Ernest Cushing, educator, librarian, was born Feb. 9, 1857. He filled a chair in the Hartford theological seminary; and is now librarian of the Princeton university of New Jersey.

Richardson, Rufus Bryan, soldier, educator, archaeologist, author, was born April 18, 1845, in Westford, Mass. He served in the civil war. In 1893-1903 he was director of the American school of classical studies at Athens, Greece. He is the author of Vacation Days in Greece; Greece Through the Stereoscope; and History of Greek Sculpture.

Richardson, T., journalist, publisher, was born Oct. 22, 1844, in Port Gibson, Miss. For eighteen years he has been an alderman of his native city; postmaster for twenty years, and a delegate to the republican national conventions of 1884 and 1896. He is the editor and owner of the Vidette of Port Gibson, Miss.

Richardson, Warfield Creath, educator, journalist, chemist, geologist, author, poet, was born June 23, 1823, in Maysville, Ky.

In 1843 he graduated from the university of Alabama as A.M.; and has received the honorary degrees of Ph.D. and LL.D. He has been at different times professor of chemistry, mineralogy, geology, Greek and English literature in the university of Alabama. He is the author of Gaspar, a metrical romance; and the Fall of the Alamo, an epic poem.

Richardson, William Adams, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, author, cabinet officer, was born Nov. 2, 1821, in Tynsborough, Mass. In 1855 he was appointed to revise the statutes of Massachusetts; and subsequently was appointed to edit the annual supplements to the general statutes, which he continued to do for twenty-two years. In 1856-71 he was a judge of probate. He became assistant secretary of the treasury department; and in 1871 went to Europe as a financial agent for the government. In 1873-74 he was secretary of the treasury; and in 1875-98 was chief justice of the United States court of claims. He was the author of The Banking Laws of Massachusetts; History of the Court of Claims; Practical Information Concerning the United States Public Debt; and National Banking Laws. He died Oct. 19, 1896, in Washington, D.C.

Richardson, William, soldier, lawyer, jurist congressman, was born in Athens, Ala. He entered the confederate states army as a private when sixteen years old; was wounded three times; and the last wound, received at Chickamauga, totally disabled him. After the civil war he was elected to the house of representatives of Alabama. He was county judge for twelve years; was candidate for governor of Alabama in 1890; and three times made the race for congressional nomination against General Joseph E. Wheeler. In 1901-15 he was a representative from Alabama to the fifty-seventh, fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth, sixtieth, sixty-first, sixty-second and sixty-third congresses as a democrat.

Richardson, William Alexander, soldier, lawyer, congressman, United States senator, governor, was born Oct. 11, 1811, in Fayette county, Ky. In 1835 he was elected state attorney, in 1836 a member of the Illinois state legislature, and in 1838 was elected to the state senate. In 1844 he was again elected to the legislature, and made speaker of the house. He was a presidential elector in 1844. In 1846 he served as captain in the Mexican war. In 1847-57 and 1861-63 he was a representative from Illinois to the thirtieth, thirty-first, thirty-second, thirty-third, thirty-fourth and thirty-seventh congresses. In 1857-61 he was governor of the territory of Nebraska. In 1863-65 he was United States senator to fill a vacancy. He died Dec. 27, 1875, in Quincy, Ill.

Richardson, William Merchant, lawyer, jurist, congressman, author, was born Jan. 4, 1774, in Pelham, N.H. In 1811-15 he was a representative from Massachusetts to the twelfth and thirteenth congress. In 1814 he removed to Portsmouth, N.H.; and was appointed chief justice of the supreme court of New Hampshire in 1816. He was the author of The New Hampshire Justice, and The Town Officer; and a considerable portion of the first and second volumes of The New Hampshire Reports was drawn up by him. He died March 3, 1838, in Chester, N.H.

Richardson, William Pitt, soldier, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1861 he was major in the twenty-fifth regiment Ohio infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Aug. 4, 1886.

Riche, George Inman, lawyer, educator, was born Jan. 21, 1833, in Philadelphia, Pa. During the civil war he was paymaster of United States volunteers; and in 1864-67 he was a member of the common council. He is best known for his educational work. In 1867-86 he was the principal of the Philadelphia high school. He died in 1888 in Philadelphia, Pa.

Richey, Isabel Grimes, poet, was born in Lancaster, Mo. She is author of a volume of poems entitled A Harp of the West.

Richey, Thomas, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1847-49 and 1853-55 he was a representative from Ohio to the thirtieth and thirty-third congresses as a democrat.

Richings, Caroline Mary, musician, singer, was born in 1827 in England. In 1847 she made her first appearance on the stage in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1852 she appeared in opera; and for many seasons was prima donna of an opera troupe. In 1874 she retired from the stage to become a teacher of music. She died Jan. 14, 1884, in Richmond, Va.

Richings, Peter, actor, was born May 19, 1707, in London, England. In 1843 he was lessee of the Holliday street theatre of Baltimore, and in 1843-54 was connected with the Walnut street theatre of Philadelphia, both as stage-manager and manager. He died Jan. 18, 1871, in Media, Pa.

Richman, Irving Berdine, lawyer, diplomat, author, was born Oct. 27, 1861, in Muscatine, Iowa. In 1883 he graduated from the state university of Iowa and subsequently received the degree of A.M. from that institution. He studied law with his father; and in 1885 was admitted to the practice of his profession. In 1889 and 1891 he was a member of the Iowa house of representatives. He was temporary chairman of the Iowa democratic state convention that nominated Horace Boies for governor; and in 1892 was a democratic candidate for presidential elector. In 1893-98 he was United States consul to Switzerland. He is the author of John Brown Among the Quakers, and Other Sketches; Appenzell, Pure Democracy and Pastoral Life in Inner Rhoden; Rhode Island, Its Making and Its Meaning; and Rhode Island, American Commonwealth Series.

Richmond, Dean, merchant, railroad president, was born March 31, 1804, in Barnard, Vt. He began his business career by manufacturing salt. He was president of the Lake shore and Michigan railroad for a number of years. He moved to Buffalo in 1842, and after the consolidation of the railroads forming the New York Central he moved to Batavia, N.Y. He was first vice-president of the company; was elected its president in 1864, and was the first American railroad man to advocate the laying of steel rails. He died Aug. 27, 1868, in New York City.

Richmond, Mrs. Euphemia Johnson, litterateur, author, was born in 1825 near Mount Upton, N.Y. She is the author of Hope Raymond; Two Paths; The McAllisters, a temperance tale; The Jewelled Serpent; The Fatal Dowry; Anna Maynard, the King's Daughter; Harry the Prodigal; Alice Grant; Rose Clifton; Scripture Primer, and Dividing of the Ways.

Richmond, Mrs. Grace S., writer, author, was born in Pawtucket, R.I. She is the author of The Indifference of Juliet; The Second Violin; and With Juliet in England.

Richmond, Hiram H., lawyer, congressman, was born May 17, 1810, in Chautauqua, N.Y. In 1873-75 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-third congress. He died in Meadville, Pa.

Richmond, Jacob L., soldier, farmer, lawyer, business man, was born June 16, 1836, in Wayne, N.Y. He received his education in the common and high schools and attended a commercial college in St. Louis, Mo. He served as a union soldier during the civil war; was commissioned first lieutenant; and promoted to captain for bravery and efficiency during the siege of Vicksburg. For fifteen successive years he was inspector of customs; has been United States circuit court commissioner; and was clerk of the district court for fifteen years. He has filled the office of justice of the peace, and various other public offices of trust. He is prominent in the masonic and other fraternal orders; and resides in Minnewaukan, N.D.

Richmond, James Buchanan, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born in Turkey Cove, Va. He served in the confederate army; and became lieutenant-colonel. In 1879-

81 he was a representative from Virginia to the forty-sixth congress as a democrat.

Richmond, James Cook, clergyman, author, was born in 1808 in Providence, R.I. He traveled extensively in Europe. He was the author of a Visit to Iowa in 1846; A Midsummer Day Dream; and Metacomet, the first canto of an epic poem. He died July 20, 1866, in Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

Richmond, Jewett M., manufacturer, banker, was born Dec. 9, 1830, in Salina, N.Y. In 1864 he was a manufacturer and dealer in salt and flour. In 1860 he became engaged in the grain, commission and storage business. In 1867 he was elected president of the Marine bank of Buffalo, N.Y.; and was also president of the Buffalo and Jamestown railroad. He was president of the Buffalo mutual gaslight company; and president of the Buffalo library. He died in 1899 in Buffalo, N.Y.

Richmond, Jonathan, pioneer, congressman, was born in 1774 in Bristol, Mass. He was one of the pioneers of western New York in 1813; and was once collector of the customs for the United States. In 1819-21 he was a representative from New York to the sixteenth congress. He died July 29, 1853, in Cayuga, N.Y.

Richmond, Lewis, soldier, merchant, diplomat, was born March 12, 1824, in Providence, R.I. During the civil war he attained the rank of brigadier-general. In 1875 he was appointed United States consul in Ireland; subsequently in Italy; and in 1884 was appointed minister resident at Lisbon, Portugal.

Richmond, Mary E., philanthropist, author, was born Aug. 5, 1861, in Belleville, Ill. In 1891 she became general secretary of the Baltimore charity organization society; and filled the same position in Philadelphia in 1900-09. In 1909 she took charge of the charity organization extension work of the Russell Sage foundation. She is the author of Friendly Visiting Among the Poor; and The Good Neighbor in the Modern City.

Richmond, Mary Elizabeth Mead, philanthropist, was born in June, 1813, in Troy, N.Y. In 1853-95 the Richmond memorial library building of Batavia was erected by her at a cost of thirty thousand dollars, in memory of her son, Dean Richmond, who died in 1885. She performed many generous acts. He died in 1895 in Batavia, N.Y.

Richmond, Perez, lawyer, jurist. In 1777-78 he was an associate justice of the supreme court of Rhode Island.

Richmond, Mrs. Sarah Abigail Adams, philanthropist, was born in 1821 in Maine. She founded the House of Mercy, and the New York infant asylum. She died Jan. 1, 1866, in New York City.

Richmond, William, lawyer, jurist. In 1750-61 he was an associate justice of the supreme court of Rhode Island.

Richsecker, Theodore, merchant, was born June 7, 1846, in Canal Dover, Ohio. In 1868 he entered the drug business; and seven years later was sole proprietor of a large drug store in New York City. He made a specialty of fine perfumery and toilet goods.

Richter, Henry Joseph, clergyman, bishop, was born April 9, 1838, in Germany. He was made vice-president of Mount St. Mary's seminary in 1865; where he was professor of dogma, philosophy and liturgy until 1870. He founded the church of St. Laurence; and was director of the academy of Mount St. Vincent. On the establishment of the diocese of Grand Rapids, Mich., he was consecrated its first Roman catholic bishop in 1883.

Rickard, Thomas Arthur, civil engineer, geologist, author, was born Aug. 29, 1864, in Italy, of English parents. Since 1885 he has been engaged as a mining engineer; and in 1895-1901 was state geologist of Colorado. He is the author of The Stamp-Milling of Gold Ores; Across the San Juan Mountain; The Sampling and Estimation of Ore in A Mine; The Copper Mines of Lake Superior; and Recent Cyanide Practice.

Rickards, John Ezra, merchant, legislator, governor, was born July 23, 1848, in Delaware City, Del. In 1870 he located in Colorado, and nine years later in California; and in 1882 in Butte City, Mont., which has since been his home. In 1888 and again in 1892 he was elected to represent the laymen of Montana in the general conference of the methodist episcopal church. He served as a member of the Board of aldermen in Butte, was a member of the upper house territorial legislature; was elected a member of the constitutional convention, then became lieutenant-governor; and in 1893-97 was the second governor of Montana; and was popularly known as Montana's model governor. He was instrumental in the establishment of a reform school. In 1900 he was supervisor of census for Montana; and since 1903 has been special agent for the United States department of agriculture.

Ricker, Mrs. Marilla M., educator, lawyer, philanthropist, author, was born March 18, 1840, in New Durham, N.H. For several years she was engaged in educational work; and subsequently she was admitted to the bar, and licensed to practice before the United States supreme court. She is a United States commissioner and examiner in chancery at Washington, D.C. She has attained success in law and as a political writer; and is an active member of the national legislative league at Washington, D.C.

Ricker, Nathan Clifford, architect, author, was born July 24, 1843, in Acton, Maine. He is professor of architecture of the university of Illinois. He is president of the Illinois state board examiners of architects. He is the author of Trussed Roofs; also text-books and translations issued in blue-print form for students.

Rickert, Joseph W., lawyer, statesman, was born July 9, 1840, in Vicksburg, Miss. He has been county superintendent of schools. He has attained success in the practice of law; and served two terms as state's attorney. He has served one term as a state representative; and in 1882-92 was a member of the Illinois state senate.

Ricketson, Walton, sculptor, was born May 27, 1839, in New Bedford, Mass. He was educated in Friends' academy of New Bedford, Mass. Since 1870 he has been engaged as a sculptor. Among his works are portrait busts of A. B. Alcott, Louise M. Alcott, H. D. Thoreau, George William Curtis and R. W. Emerson; and also intaglio and base reliefs. He was the projector and designer of the Gosnold memorial tower on the Island of Cuttyhunk, Mass. He and his sister, Miss Anna Ricketson have edited Daniel Ricketson and His Friends; and New Bedford of the Past.

Ricketts, James Brewerton, soldier, was born June 21, 1817, in New York City. In 1839 he graduated from the United States military academy. In 1864 he passed from the campaign against Richmond to the defence of Washington, when threatened by General Early; and then took part under Sheridan in the pursuit through the Valley, receiving at Cedar Creek a wound which disabled him for the winter. He received the brevets of major-general of volunteers in 1864, and of brigadier and major-general in the regular army in 1865; and was subsequently retired. He died Sept. 22, 1887, in Washington, D.C.

Rickert, Martha Edith, educator, author, was born July 11, 1871, in Canal Dover, Ohio. In 1891-94 she taught school in Cook county, Ill.; and in 1894-98 taught in the Hyde park high school of Chicago, Ill. She is the author of Out of the Cypress Swamp; The Reaper; and Early English Text Society.

Ricketts, Louis Davidson, mining engineer, author, was born Dec. 19, 1859, in Elkton, Md. In 1890-1906 he was a consulting engineer of the Phelps, Dodge and company's mining interests in the southwest; and since 1907 has been general manager of the Greene Cananea copper company of Sonora, Mex. He is the author of The Ores of Leadville and Their Mode of Occurrence; and Geological Reports of Wyoming.

Ricketts, Palmer Chamberlaine, educator, civil engineer, author, was born Jan. 17, 1856, in Elkton, Md. Since 1901 he has been president and director of the Rensselaer polytechnic institute of Troy, N.Y. He is the author of History of the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

Rickoff, Andrew Jackson, educator, was born Aug. 23, 1824, in Mercer, N.J. The credit is awarded him of reorganizing the schools both of Cincinnati and Cleveland, and largely influencing the school systems in Ohio. Since 1888 he has had charge of Felix Adler's Workingman's school. He died in 1890 in Cleveland, Ohio.

Ricks, Augustus J., soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 10, 1843, near Massillon, Ohio. He served in the civil war. In 1890-1901 he was United States district judge for the northern district of Ohio. He died in 1906 in Cleveland, Ohio.

Ricks, James Benjamin, lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 23, 1852, in Christian county, Ill. He was educated in the public schools of Taylorville and Springfield; and for three years attended the Illinois Wesleyan university at Bloomington. In 1876-80 he was police court magistrate of Taylorville, Ill. He was master in chancery for his county in 1880-82; special examiner and supervising examiner of the United States pension bureau in 1885-89; and in 1885-86 was acting state attorney for Christian county, Ill. In 1890-92 he was mayor of Taylorville, Ill. In 1885-86 he was grand chancellor of the order of knights of Pythias of Illinois. In 1901-06 he was an associate justice of the state supreme court of Illinois. He died July 23, 1906, in Taylorville, Ill.

Ricord, Mrs. Elizabeth Stryker, litterateur, author, was born in 1788 on Long Island. She was an educator of Geneva, N.Y.; and after 1845 a resident of Newark, N.J. She was the author of Philosophy of the Mind; and Zamba or the Insurrection, a Dramatic Poem. She died Oct. 10, 1865, in Newark, N.J.

Ricord, Frederick William, lawyer, edu-icator, jurist, author, poet, was born Oct. 7, 1819, in West Indies. He was state superintendent of public schools of New Jersey in 1860-63; mayor of Newark in 1870-75, and associate judge of the various county courts in 1875-79. He was the author of History of Rome; The Youth's Grammar; English Songs from Foreign Tongues; and The Self-Tormentor, from the Latin of Terentius, with More English Songs. He died Aug. 12, 1897, in Newark, N.J.

Ricord, Jean Baptiste, physician, naturalist, author, was born in 1777 in France. He was a French physician and naturalist of New York City. He was the author of Improved French Grammar; and several French works. He died in 1837 in the West Indies.

Riddell, John Leonard, physician, educator, inventor, author, was born Feb. 20, 1807, in Leyden, Mass. He was melter and refiner at the United States mint in New Orleans; and the inventor of a binocular microscope and magnifying glass, and discovered the microscopical characteristics of the blood and black vomit in yellow fever. He first brought to notice the botanical genus Riddellia, which was named for him. He died in New Orleans, La.

Ridder, Henry, publisher, was born Nov. 18, 1863, in New York City. He was educated in the De LaSalle college of New York City. He has always been in the publishing business; and is president and treasurer of The Catholic News.

Riddle, Albert Gallatin, lawyer, author, congressman, was born May 28, 1816, in Monson, Mass. In 1861-63 he was a representative from Ohio to the thirty-seventh congress; and subsequently practiced law in Washington, D.C. He was the author of The House of Ross; Bart Ridgeley; Alice Brand; The Tory's Daughter; Mark Loan; The Portrait; Personal Recollections of War Times;

Students and Lawyers; Life of Benjamin Wade; Life of Garfield; Speeches and Arguments; Castle Gregory; Hart and His Bear, and The Sugar-Makers of the West Woods. He died May 16, 1902, in Washington, D.C.

Riddick, James Edward, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Aug. 29, 1849, in Fayette county, Tenn. In 1872 he began the practice of law in Gainesville, Ark.; and was prosecuting attorney of the second circuit of Arkansas in 1876-78. He was a member of the Arkansas state legislature in 1879. In 1886-94 he was judge of the second circuit of Arkansas; and in 1894-1902 was associate justice of the supreme court of Arkansas. He died in 1907 in Little Rock, Ark.

Riddle, George, educator, elocutionist, was born Sept. 22, 1851, in Charlestown, Mass. He was instructor in elocution at Harvard university. He has given readings in the principal cities of the United States, the most successful of which are Shakespeare's Midsummer-Night's Dream.

Riddle, George Peabody, actor, elocutionist, was born Sept. 22, 1851, in Charleston, Mass. In 1874 he made his first appearance as an actor in Norwich, Conn. In 1878 he was appointed instructor in elocution at Harvard university. Since 1881 he has devoted his public life to giving readings in the principal cities of the United States. His repertoire includes Macbeth; Antigone and Oedipus at Colonus; eighteen plays of Shakespeare and five plays of Victor Hugo, and many miscellaneous programs. He has edited A Modern Reader and Speaker; and George Riddle's Readings.

Riddle, George Reade, civil engineer, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born in 1817 in New Castle, Del. He was appointed deputy attorney-general for his native county, which position he held until 1850. In 1851-55 he was a representative from Delaware to the thirty-second and thirty-third congresses; and in 1864-67 was a United States senator. He died March 29, 1867, in Washington, D.C.

Riddle, H. T., congressman. He was a representative from Tennessee to the forty-fourth congress.

Riddle, Haywood Yancey, lawyer, congressman, was born June 20, 1834, in Van Buren, Tenn. In 1865-75 he was clerk and master of the Lebanon chancery court. In 1875-79 he was a representative from Tennessee to the forty-fourth and forty-fifth congresses as a democrat. He died in Tennessee.

Riddle, Matthew Brown, educator, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 17, 1836, in Pittsburg, Pa. He attended Western university and graduated from Jefferson college of Pennsylvania. In 1881-87 he was professor at Hartford theological seminary; and since 1887 he has been professor at the Western theological seminary. He was an original member of the new testament revision committee formed in 1871; translated and edited the epistles to the Romans, Galatians, Ephesians, and Colossians in the American edition of Lange's Commentary; contributed to Rev. Dr. Philip Schaff's Popular Illustrated Commentary on the New Testament; and to his International Revision

Commentary. He is also the author of five volumes of Notes on Sunday School Lessons; and since 1893 has written Notes on Sunday School Lessons for the Sunday School Times.

Riddle, Oscar, educator, scientist, was born Sept. 27, 1877, in Cincinnati, Ind. He has received the degrees of A.B. and Ph.D. He has taught biology in San Juan and physiology in St. Louis and Chicago, becoming professor of zoology in the university of Chicago. Since 1911 he has been research associate in the Carnegie institution; and is a noted investigator in experimental zoology.

Riddleberger, Harrison Holt, soldier, lawyer, state legislator, United States senator, was born Oct. 4, 1844, in Edinburg, Va. He was elected a representative in the Virginia state legislature in 1871, and again in 1873. He was elected a commonwealth attorney in 1875 and 1879; and in the latter year was elected state senator. He was a presidential elector in 1876 and 1880; and in 1883-89 he was United States senator from Virginia. He died Jan. 24, 1890, in Woodstock, Va.

Rideal, Charles Frederick, journalist, lecturer, author, was born June 10, 1858, in England. He studied for the medical profession, but subsequently engaged in journalistic work. He is one of the original members of the Vagabonds' club; and of the Playgoers' club of London. He has edited, compiled or written twenty-five volumes in various branches of literature.

Rideing, William Henry, litterateur, journalist, author, was born Feb. 17, 1853, in England. He is on the editorial staff of The Youth's Companion. He is the author of Pacific Railway Illustrated; A Saddle in the Wild West; Boys in the Mountains and on the Plains; Boys Coastwise; Stray Moments with Thackeray; Alpenstock; Young Folks' History of London; The Boyhood of Living Authors; Thackeray's London; A Little Upstart, a novel, In the Land of Lorna Doone; The Captured Cunarder; At Hawarden with Mr. Gladstone; and How Tyson Came Home.

Rideout, Henry Milner, educator, author, was born April 25, 1877, in Calais, Maine. In 1899-1904 he was an instructor in English at Harvard university. He is the author of Letters of Thomas Gray; Beached Keels; The Siamese Cat; Admiral's Light; and Dragon's Blood.

Rider, George Thomas, educator, journalist, author, was born Feb. 21, 1829, in Rice City, R.I. In 1860 he removed to Poughkeepsie, N.Y.; and there conducted the Cottage Hill seminary for young ladies until 1874. He was on the editorial staff of the New York Churchman. He was the author of Plain Music for the Book of Common Prayer; Lyra Anglicana, or a Hymnal of Sacred Poetry, selected from the Best English Writers, and arranged after the Order of the Apostles' Creed; and Lyra Americana, or Verses of Praise and Faith from American Poets. He died Aug. 14, 1894, in New York City.

Rider, Henry Closs, educator, founder, was born Dec. 14, 1832, in Esperance, N.Y. He is the founder and present superintendent of the Northern New York institute for deaf mutes.

Rider, Ira Edgar, lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 17, 1868, in Jersey City, N.J. He was educated in the public schools of New York City; and is now a successful lawyer. In 1903-05 he was a democratic representative from New York City to the fifty-eighth congress.

Ridgaway, Henry Bascom, clergyman, educator, author, was born Sept. 7, 1830, in Talbot county, Md. He was a methodist clergyman and educator of Illinois; and in 1882-95 president of the Garrett Biblical institute at Evanston, Ill. He was the author of Life of Alfred Cookman; The Lord's Land, or Travels in Sinai and Palestine; and Lives of Bishops Janes, Waugh, Simpson. He died in 1895 in Chicago, Ill.

Ridge, Isaac M., physician, surgeon, was born July 9, 1825, in Adair county, Ky. In 1848 he began to practice medicine in Kansas City; and for several years was a member of the Kansas City state council. He was for ten years city physician.

Ridgeley, Charles Goodwin, naval officer, was born in Baltimore, Md., in 1784. He was made captain in 1815. He was in charge of the Brooklyn navy yard in 1832-39; and served as flag officer, commanding the Brazil squadron in 1842-42. He died Feb. 8, 1848, in Baltimore, Md.

Ridgeley, Henry Moore, lawyer, congressman, United States senator, was born in 1788 in Dover, Del. He began the practice of law in Dover, Del. In 1811-15 he was a representative from Delaware to the twelfth and thirteenth congresses; and in 1827-29 was a member of the United States senate from that state. He died Aug. 7, 1847, in Dover, Del.

Ridgely, Benjamin H., journalist, diplomat, author, was born July 13, 1861, in Ridgely, Md. Since 1892 he has been in the diplomatic service of the United States; and in 1904-08 was United States consul-general at Barcelona, Spain. He was the author of The Comedies of a Consulate. He died Oct. 9, 1908, in Mexico.

Ridgely, Charles, physician, lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 26, 1738, in Dover, Del. He was presiding judge of the court of common pleas in Kent county. He was a delegate to the state constitutional convention; and was afterward called again to the bench, which he occupied during the remainder of his life. He died Nov. 25, 1785, in Dover, Del.

Ridgely, Charles, soldier, state senator, governor, was born Dec. 6, 1762. He served in the state senate; and was the twelfth governor of Maryland in 1815-18. He was also brigadier-general of Maryland militia. He died July 17, 1829, in Hampton, Md.

Ridgely, Daniel Boone, naval officer, was born Aug. 1, 1813, near Lexington, Ky. During the Mexican war he participated in the bombardment and capture of Vera Cruz, Tuspan, Alvarado and Tampico in 1846-49. In 1864-65 he commanded the steamer Shenandoah on the North Atlantic blockade. He was promoted to the rank of commodore in 1866. He died May 5, 1868, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Ridgely, Edwin Reed, soldier, merchant, congressman, was born May 9, 1844, in Crawford county, Kan. He extended his cattle operations to the Pacific coast, including Washington territory, Oregon and California. He lived in Ogden in 1889-93. In 1897-1901 he was a representative from Kansas to the fifty-fifth and fifty-sixth congresses as a democrat.

Ridgely, Henry Moore, lawyer, congressman, United States senator, was born in 1778 in Dover, Del. He was a representative in congress in 1811-15; and was United States senate in 1827-29. He died Aug. 7, 1847, in Dover, Del.

Ridgely, James Lot, lawyer, author, was born Jan. 27, 1807, in Baltimore, Md. He was a member of the Baltimore council in 1834-35; of the state house of delegates in 1838; and of the constitutional conventions of 1849 and 1864. He was for twelve years register of wills of Baltimore county; several years president of the board of education; and aided in establishing the present public school system in 1848. He is the principal author of the various rituals that are now in use. He was the author of Odd-Fellowship; The Odd-Fellow's Pocket Companion; and other works of a similar character. He died Nov. 16, 1881, in Baltimore, Md.

Ridgely, Nicholas, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born Sept. 30, 1762, in Dover, Del. He was attorney-general; and a member of the Delaware legislature. In 1801-30 he was chancellor of the state of Delaware. He died April 1, 1830, in Georgetown, Del.

Ridgely, Richard, congressman. In 1785-86 he was a delegate from Maryland to the continental congress. He died in Maryland.

Ridgway, Henry Bascom, educator, theologian, author, was born Sept. 7, 1830, in Talbot county, Md. In 1884-95 he was president and professor of practical theology in that institution. He was the author of Life of Alfred Cookman; The Lord's Land; and Bishop Matthew Simpson. He died March 30, 1895, in Evanston, Ill.

Ridgway, James, congressman. In 1837-39 he was a representative from Ohio to the twenty-fifth congress. He died in Columbus, Ohio.

Ridgway, Jacob Elwood, banker, financier, was born Aug. 14, 1824, in Salem, N.J. At the age of sixteen years he began to learn the carpenter's trade. In 1855 he was elected to the Philadelphia city council and served until 1858. In 1859-62 he was a member of the Pennsylvania state legislature; and in 1862-68 was a member of the state senate. He was one of the founders of the Union passenger railway, now known as the Philadelphia traction company. Several large ships were also built by him; and he became one of the largest shipping owners in Philadelphia, Pa. He is also a real estate dealer. In 1889 he was one of the organizers and later became president of the Quaker City national bank.

Ridgway, Joseph, manufacturer, state legislator, congressman, was born May 6, 1783, on Staten Island, N.Y. In 1828-32 he was a member of the Ohio state legislature. In 1837-43 he was a representative from Ohio to the twenty-fifth, twenty-sixth and twenty-seventh congresses. He died in Ohio.

Ridgway, Robert, congressman, was born in Virginia. He claimed to have been elected to the fortieth congress, but was not admitted to take his seat. In 1869 was elected representative from Virginia to the forty-first congress. He died Oct. 16, 1869, in Cool Well, Va.

Ridgway, Thomas S., banker, railroad president, was born Aug. 30, 1826, in White county, Ill. In 1850-65 he was a member of a large mercantile house of Mount Carmel, Ill. He was one of the organizers of the First national bank at Shawneetown, Ill. In 1867-74 he was president of the Springfield and Illinois southern railroad. This was the pioneer railroad built from Shawneetown to the Ohio river; and its existence is largely the result of his financial ability and indomitable perseverance. In 1874 he was elected state treasurer of Illinois. He died in 1897 in Shawneetown, Ill.

Ridgway, Robert, ornithologist, author, was born July 2, 1850, in Mount Carmel, Ill. He is an eminent ornithologist of Washington; and curator of the department of birds in the National museum since 1879. He is the author of The Birds of Illinois; Ornithology of the Fortieth Parallel; Manual of North American Birds; and Nomenclature of Colors.

Ridlon, Gideon T., soldier, clergyman, lecturer, author, was born July 1, 1841, in Hollis, Maine. During the civil war he served in the union army in the seven-teenth and twenty-seventh regiments of Maine volunteer infantry. He has traveled extensively in Europe. He is the author of A History of the Ancient Ryedales; Burbank Genealogy; Hamblens of Beech Hill; Saco Valley Settlements and Families; Rambles in Europe; Bannocks of Bullertown; Quaint Saints of Barleyville; and Yeoman Homes of New England.

Ridpath, John Clark, educator, author, poet, was born April 26, 1841, in Putnam county, Ind. During 1864-85 he filled professorships in various colleges. In 1885 he published his Cyclopedia of Universal History in four volumes. He is also the author of Life and Work of James G. Blaine; Popular and Academic Histories of the United States; History of Texas; Life of Garfield; History of the World; Christopher Columbus; Columbia, a Quadricentennial Story; Great Races of Mankind; Epic of Life, a poem; and Universal Library of Literature, in twenty-five volumes. He died July 31, 1900, in New York City.

Ried, Samuel Chester, naval officer, was born Aug. 25, 1783, in Norwich, Conn. He was in active service during the war of 1812; and regulated the pilotboats and signals at the Battery and the Narrows. He was also designer of the present United States flag. He died Jan. 28, 1861, in New York City.

Rieley, John W., lawyer, jurist. In 1898 he was judge of the supreme court of appeals of Virginia.

Riely, John William, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 26, 1839, in Jefferson county, Va. In 1864 he was a staff officer in the confederate army with the rank of major. In 1871-94 he was attorney of the commonwealth of Halifax county, Va.; and was an associate justice of the supreme court of appeals of Virginia. He died in 1900 in Richmond, Va.

Ries, Elias Elkan, mechanical engineer, inventor, was born Jan. 6, 1862, in Germany. In 1876 he became a telegraph operator; and in 1880 became identified with the development of the electric light industry. He is president and general manager of the United States automatic telephone company of New York City. In 1904 he was a member of the international electrical congress.

Riesman, David, physician, author, was born March 25, 1867, in Germany. He is associate in medicine at the university of Pennsylvania; and visiting physician to the Philadelphia and Jewish hospitals. He is associate author of American Text Book of Pathology.

Rife, John W., soldier, manufacturer, congressman, was born Aug. 14, 1846, in Middletown, Pa. He was a member of the house of state representatives in 1885-86. In 1889-93 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the fifty-first and fifty-second congresses as a republican. He was president of the Middletown and Hummelstown railroad company.

Rigdon, Sidney, printer, was born Feb. 19, 1793, in St. Clair, Pa. It is said that Rigdon was the printer who first made public, in connection with Joseph Smith, The Book of Mormon, a manuscript given him to be printed by one Spaulding, its author. He died July 14, 1876, in Friendship, N.Y.

Rigdon, Jonathan, educator, lecturer, author, was born Dec. 22, 1858, in Rigdon, Ind. He attended the National normal university of Lebanon, Ohio; and later took the philosophical course in the Central normal college of Danville, and subsequently graduated from the Boston university. Since 1885 he has filled the chair of philosophy and literary criticism in the Central normal college of Danville, Ind. He is a successful lecturer, and the author of a series of grammars that have become very popular. He is also the author of a brief Outline of Psychology; and is writing a more extended work on this subject. His lecture on The Tempest has attracted widespread attention, and he has delivered several courses of lectures in Indiana designed especially for teachers' associations and literary societies. He is now president of the Central normal college at Danville, Ind.

Riggen, John A., soldier, physician, surgeon, statesman, was born Oct. 29, 1841, in Stark county, Ill. He was a member of the eighteenth regiment Missouri veteran volunteer infantry during four years' service, and was promoted to corporal, sergeant, sergeant-major, second lieutenant and first lieutenant. He has attained prominence as a noted physician and surgeon of Iowa at What Cheer; was president of the Keokuk county medical society in 1886-87; was senior vice-commander of the Iowa department of the grand army of the republic in 1888; since 1882 has been division surgeon of the Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Northern railroad. During 1894-98

he served with distinction as state senator in the Iowa state legislature, and was on several important committees.

Riggs, Mrs. Anna R., educator, reformer, was born Jan. 28, 1835, in Cynthiana, Ky. In 1876-81 she was financial secretary of the Woman's Educational association, in connection with the Wesleyan university of Bloomington, Ill. She then removed with her husband to Portland, Ore., and has been eight years state president of the Woman's christian temperance union. She was one of the founders of the refuge for fallen girls, since changed to Florence Crittenton home; and is now president of the board of managers.

Riggs, Edward, educator, clergyman, college president, was born June 30, 1844, in Smyrna, Turkey. He was educated at the Union theological seminary of New York City. Since 1876 he has been connected with the Marsovan theological seminary; and has been its president since 1901.

Riggs, Elias, missionary, author, was born Nov. 19, 1810, in New Providence, N.J. He was a presbyterian missionary in Constantinople, famous as a linguist. He was the author of Manual of the Chaldee Language; Grammar of the Modern Armenian Language; Notes of Difficult Passages of the New Testament; and A Harmony of the Gospels, in Bulgarian. He died Jan. 20, 1901, in Constantinople, Turkey.

Riggs, George Washington, banker, was born July 4, 1813, in Georgetown, D.C. He formed the banking house of Corcoran and Riggs, which acquired a national fame during the Mexican war by taking up the entire loan that was called for by the government in 1847 and 1848. He died Aug. 24, 1881, in Green Hill, Md.

Riggs, James Milton, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born April 17, 1839, in Scott county, Ill. He was in the Illinois state legislature in 1870; and in 1872-76 was state's attorney for Scott county. In 1883-87 he was a representative from Illinois to the forty-eighth and forty-ninth congresses as a democrat.

Riggs, James-Stevenson, clergyman, educator, author, was born July 16, 1853, in New York. He is a presbyterian clergyman; professor in Auburn theological seminary since 1881. He is the author of The Bible in Art; A History of the Jewish People During the Maccabean and Roman Periods; and Gospel of John.

Riggs, Jetur R., physician, state senator, congressman, was born June 20, 1809, in Morris county, N.J. He served two years in the New Jersey legislature. He spent one or two years in charge of the hospital at Sutter's Fort, California. In 1855-58 he was in the state senate of New Jersey; and in 1850-61 he was a representative from New Jersey to the thirty-sixth congress. He died Nov. 5, 1869, in Drakesville, N.J.

Riggs, John Davis Seaton, college presigent, author, was born Jan. 29, 1851, in Washington, Pa. He has filled chairs in the leading colleges; and in 1896-1905 was president of the Ottawa university, Kansas. He is the author of In Latinum, a work in Latin prose composition in two volumes.

Riggs, John F., educator, public official, was born Feb. 14, 1860, in Salem, Iowa. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools; attended Whittier college; and graduated from the Iowa Wesleyan university. For six years he was county superintendent of schools for Henry county, Iowa; for seven years was city superintendent of schools for Mount Pleasant, Iowa; and for four years was city superintendent of schools for Sigourney, Iowa. He is now state superintendent of public instruction of Iowa for the term of 1904-08.

Riggs, Mrs. Kate Douglas Wiggin, author, poet, was born Sept. 28, 1857, in Philadelphia, Pa. She assisted Mrs. Sarah B. Cooper in organizing the California kindergarten training schools. She is the author of Timothy's Quest; Polly Oliver's Problem; The Birds' Christmas Carol; The Story of Patsy; A Summer in a Canon; A Cathedral Courtship; Penelope's Progress and Penelope's English Experiences; The Village Watch-Tower; Marm Lisa; and Nine Love Songs and a Carol. She has also written in collaboration with her sister, Nora Archibald Smith, The Story Hour; Children's Rights; and The Republic of Childhood.

Riggs, Lewis, congressman, was born in Cortland county, N.Y. In 1841-43 he was a representative from New York to the twenty-seventh congress as a democrat. He died in New York.

Riggs, Louis Warner, educator, author, was born April 13, 1862, in Georgetown, Maine. Since 1899 he has been instructor of chemistry in the medical department of Cornell university of New York City. He is the author of Elementary Manual for the Chemical Laboratory.

Riggs, Stephen Return, missionary, author, was born March 23, 1812, in Steubenville, Ohio. He was a missionary to the Indians in Minnesota and Dakota. He was the author of Forty Years Among the Sioux; The Bible in Dakota; and many translations and other writings relating to the Dakota Indians. He died Aug. 24, 1883, in Beloit, Wis.

Righter, Chester Newell, clergyman, missionary, was born Sept. 25, 1824, in Parsippany, N.J. Extracts from his letters and journals will be found in The Bible in the Levant. He died Dec. 16, 1856, in Turkey.

Rightor, Henry, journalist, underwriter, author, poet, was born Jan. 18, 1870, in New Orleans, La. He was educated at Tulane university of Louisiana; and in 1885-87 was a cadet in the United States naval academy. In 1890-97 he was on the editorial staff of the Times-Democrat of New Orleans, La.; and was the founder of the By-the-Bye column and author of the World's fair letters in that publication. He was the first president of the New Orleans press club. He is resident assistant secretary of the American surety company. He is the author of Harlequinade; Standard History of New Orleans; Moons and Marshes, a volume of poems; and several plays and short stories.

Riis, Jacob August, sociologist, author, was born May 3, 1849, in Denmark. He is a New York writer on social problems. He is the author of How the Other Half Lives; The Children of the Poor; and A Ten Years' War.

Riker, Albert Birdsall, educator, clergyman, college president, was born Oct. 9, 1852, in New Albany, Ohio. He graduated from the Ohio Wesleyan university of Delaware, Ohio. For several years he was superintendent of schools; and has filled pastorates in the methodist episcopal church at Worthington, Columbus and Athens, Ohio; and also in Chattanooga, Wheeling and Charleston. He is president of Mt. Union college of Alliance, Ohio; and in 1900 was a member of the general conference of the methodist episcopal church.

Riker, James, historian, author, was born May 11, 1822, in New York City. He served in the office of the American home missionary society in 1858-63; and in the United States revenue service in 1864-67. In 1885 he founded a library in Waverly, Mass. He was the author of A Brief History of the Riker Family; The Annals of Newtown; Harlem; Its Origin and Early Annals; and The Indian History of Tioga County. He died July 15, 1889, in Waverly, N.Y.

Riker, Richard, lawyer, was born Sept. 9, 1773, in Newtown, L.I., N.Y. In 1802-40 he was district attorney for New York, Westchester and Queens counties; and he was recorder of the city in 1815-19, 1821-23 and 1824-38. Fitz-Greene Halleck made Mr. Riker the subject of his poem, The Recorder. He died Sept. 26, 1842, in New York City.

Riker, Samuel, state legislator, congressman, was born on Long Island, N.Y. He was a member of the New York state assembly in 1784; and in 1804-05 and 1807-09 was a representative from New York to the eighth and tenth congresses. He died in New York.

Riley, Benjamin Franklin, clergyman, college president, author, was born July 16, 1849, in Pineville, Ala. In 1872 he entered the ministry; and in 1888-93 was president of Howard college of Alabama. He was professor of English literature in the university of Georgia in 1893-1900. He is the author of Alabama As It Is; History of Baptists of Texas; and History of Baptists of the Southern States East of the Mississippi.

Riley, Bennett, soldier, was born Nov.

27, 1787, in Alexandria, Va. He received the brevet of brigadier-general in 1847 for gallantry at Cerro Gordo; and that of major-general in 1847 for Contreras. He was appointed military governor of California; and served as the first chief magistrate of the territory and until the admission of the state into the union. He died June 9, 1853, in Buffalo, N.Y.

Riley, Cassius M., physician, chemist, author, was born April 16, 1844, in Delaware county, Ohio. In 1871-86 he practiced medicine in Ohio and St. Louis, Mo.; and since 1892 has been professor of chemistry and toxicology in the Barnes university of St. Louis, Mo. Since 1904 he has been dean of the Barnes college of pharmacy. He is the author of Toxicology.

Riley, Charles Valentine, entomologist, author, was born Sept. 18, 1843, in England. He was at one period state entomologist of Missouri; and in 1881-95 in charge of the entomological division of the United States department of agriculture. He was the author of The Locust Plague in the United States; Potato Pests; and Noxious Beneficial, and Other Insects of Missouri. He died Sept. 14, 1895, in Washington, D.C.

Riley, Ellhu Samuel, lawyer, author, was born May 2, 1845, in Annapolis, Md. He has been city counselor of Annapolis, Md. He is the author of The Ancient City, a History of Annapolis, Md.; and is the editor and compiler of the City Code of Annapolis; the Maryland Manual; and the Memorial Volume of the Two Hundredth Anniversary of the Removal of the Capitol of Maryland from St. Mary's to Annapolis.

Riley, Franklin Lafayette, educator, author, was born Aug. 24, 1868, near Hecron, Miss. Since 1897 he has been professor of history in the university of Mississippi. He is the author of Colonial Origins of New England Senates; and School History of Mississippi.

Riley, Henry Hiram, lawyer, author, was born Sept. 1, 1813, in Great Barrington, Mass. He was a lawyer of Constantine, Mich.; and known as a humorous writer. He was the author of Paddleford and Its People; and The Paddleford Papers, or Humors of the West. He died Feb. 8, 1888, in Constantine, Mich.

Riley, James, mariner, author, was born Oct. 27, 1777, in Middletown, Conn. He was a mariner; was enslaved by the Arabs of Africa in 1815; and ransomed by Mr. Willshire, the British consul, at Mogadore. In 1821 he settled in Ohio; and founded the town of Willshire, named in honor of the consul. From his journals was prepared, in 1816, the Authentic Narrative of the Loss of the American Brig Commerce on the West Coast of Africa, with a Description of Timbuctoo. He died March 15, 1840, at sea.

Riley, James, journalist, orator, poet, was born Aug. 15, 1848, in Ireland. He came to Boston in 1854, and was educated in the public schools of Middleboro, Mass. For some years he was editor of the weekly Bouquet, a catholic juvenile paper of Boston, Mass. He is the author of two volumes of verse, Poems, Songs of Two Peoples; also a prose work entitled The Transmitted Word, being a handbook upon the telephone and Christy of Rathglin.

Riley, James Whitcomb, author, poet, was born about 1853, in Greenfield, Ind. He is a very popular poet of Indianapolis; and his dialect poems of Hoosier life have been greatly praised. His earliest work appeared over the signature, Ben F. Johnson of Boone. He is the author of The Old Swimmin' Hole and 'Leven More Poems; The Boss Girl, and Other Sketches; Afterwhiles; Old-Fashioned Roses; Pipes o' Pan at Zekesbury; Rhymes of Childhood; Flying Islands of the Night; Neighborly Poems; An Old Sweetheart of Mine; Green Fields and Running Brooks; Poems Here at Home; Armazindy; A Child World; Raggedy Man; and Morning.

Riley, John Campbell, physician, author, was born Dec. 16, 1828, in Georgetown, D.C. In 1859 he became professor of materia medica and therapeutics in the national medical college of Washington, D.C. He was the author of Compend of Materia Medica and Therapeutics. He died Feb. 22, 1879, in Washington, D.C.

Riley, Lewis A., coal operator, railway president, was born in 1847, in Montrose, Pa. In 1846 he became president of the Lehigh coal and navigation company; and is also president of the Lehigh and Hudson river railway company.

Riley, Madison Monroe, clergyman, college president, was born in Dallasburg, Ky. He has held numerous pastorates in Kentucky. For three years he was financial secretary Georgetown college; and for six years has been president of the Greenville female college of South Carolina.

Riley, Theodore Myers, clergyman, author, was born June 9, 1842, in Carlisle, Pa. Since 1863 he has been engaged in the ministry; and in 1894-1902 was adjunct professor of pastoral theology in the General theological seminary of New York City. He is the author of Charles George Gordon; and a biography of Eugene Augustus Hoffman.

Rimmer, Caroline Hunt, artist, author, was born Oct. 10, 1851, in Randolph, Mass. She is the author of Animal Drawing.

Rimmer, William, sculptor, artist, author, was born Feb. 20, 1816, in England. He was a Boston painter, sculptor and teacher of art anatomy. He practiced medicine, but gave up his profession to devote himself to art. He was the author of Art Anatomy; and Elements of Design. He died Aug. 20, 1879, in South Milford, Mass.

Rinaker, John Irving, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born in Baltimore, Md. In 1862 he raised and organized the one hundred and twenty-second regiment of Illinois infantry volunteers, and was mustered into the military service of the United States Sept. 4, 1862, as colonel of that regiment, and served three years, till the close of the war. He was made brevet brigadier-general for gallant and meritorious services in the field. He served as presidential elector on the republican ticket twice—in 1872 as elector for the seventeenth congressional district of Illinois and in 1876 as elector for the state at large; and was a delegate to the republican national convention in 1876 and again in 1884. He was a member of the board of railroad and warehouse commissioners of Illinois under Governor Oglesby from 1885 to 1889. In 1895-97 he was a representative from Illinois to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican.

Rindge, Frederick Hastings, philanthropist, was born Dec. 21, 1837, in Cambridge, Mass. In 1879 he graduated from Harvard university. He is a philanthropist of California; and prominent in the business and public affairs of Los Angeles. He is president of the Conservative life insurance; and a director in various corporations. He is vice-president of the Los Angeles branch of the archaeological institute of America.

Rinehart, William Henry, sculptor, was born Sept. 13, 1825, near Union Bridge, Md. He was commissioned to finish the modeling of the bronze doors of the capitol at Washington, which Crawford had left unfinished at his death. Copies of several of his noted pieces are in the Corcoran gallery of art in Washington, D.C. He died Oct. 28, 1874, in Rome, Italy.

Riner, John A., lawyer, state senator, jurist, was born in 1850 in Preble county, Ohio. In 1881 he was city attorney of Cheyenne; and in 1894 was United States district attorney of Wyoming territory. In 1886 he was a member of the upper house of Wyoming territorial legislature; and was a member of the constitutional convention in 1889. He was elected to the state senate. Since 1890 he has been United States district judge for the district of Wyoming.

Ringgold, Cadwalader, naval officer, was born Aug. 20, 1802, in Washington county, Md. He was commissioned commodore in 1862; and placed on the retired list in 1864. He was promoted to rear admiral in 1866. He died April 29, 1867, in New York City.

Ring, Orvis, state superintendent public instruction of Nevada, was born July 21, 1833, in Starksboro, Vt. He was educated in the public schools of Vermont, New York and Illinois; and in 1860 graduated from Wheaton college of Illinois; from which institution he received the degrees of A.B. and M.A. For over half a century his life has been identified with educational work. In 1852 he commenced teaching; and for six years was county superintendent of schools of Washoe county, Nevada; and has taught in the public schools of Illinois, California and Nevada. He went to Nevada while it was a territory in 1863; and has since been identified with educational work in that state. For seventeen years he was principal of the Reno public schools. He is a thirty-two degree mason; has been a mason for forty years; and for over twenty years has been a member of the knights of pythias. He is now serving his fourth term as state superintendent of public instruction of Nevada; and the close of his term will make a service of sixteen years in that responsible position. His home is in Reno, Nevada, but for twelve years has been in the office at the state capitol at Carson City, Nevada.

Ringgold, George Hay, soldier, author, was born in 1814 in Hagerstown, Md. He served in the pay department during the Mexican war; became lieutenant-colonel and deputy paymaster-general in 1862; and was in charge of the paymasters of the department of the Pacific in 1861-64. He was an accomplished scholar, draughtsman, and painter; and was the author of Fountain Rock, Amy Weir, and Other Metrical Pastimes. He died April 4, 1864, in San Francisco, Cal.

Ringgold, Samuel, congressman, was born Jan. 13, 1770, in Chestertown, Md. In 1809-15 and 1817-21 he was a representative from Maryland to the eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth, fifteenth and sixteenth congresses. He died Oct. 18, 1829, in Frederick county, Md.

Ringgold, Samuel, soldier, inventor, was born in 1800 in Washington county, Md. He became captain in 1836; participated in the Florida war, and was brevetted major for active and efficient conduct during hostilities. He introduced flying artillery into America; and invented a saddle-tree, which was subsequently known as the McClelland saddle. He also invented a rebounding hammer made of brass for exploding the fulminating primers for field guns, which prevented the blowing away of the hammer. He died May 11, 1846, in Point Isabel, Texas.

Ringo, Daniel, lawyer, jurist, was born about 1800 in Kentucky. In 1830 he began the practice of law; and in 1836-44 was justice of the supreme court of Arkansas. In 1849-65 he was a United States district judge. He died Sept. 3, 1873, in Little Rock, Ark.

Ringgold, Thomas, congressman. He was a delegate from Maryland to the colonial congress, which met in New York in 1765. He died in New York.

Ringwalt, Ralph Curtis, lawyer, author, was born Feb. 19, 1874, in Mount Vernon, Ohio. In 1901-04 he was a lecturer of public speaking at Columbia college. He is the author of Briefs for Debate; Modern American Oratory; and Briefs on Public Questions.

Riordan, Daniel J., business man, congressman, was born July 7, 1870, in New York City. He became a partner in the real estate business conducted by his father. In 1899-1901 and 1907-15 he was a representative from New York to the fifty-sixth, sixtieth, sixty-first, sixty-second and sixty-third congresses as a democrat.

Riordan, Patrick William, educator, archbishop, was born Aug. 27, 1842, in Ireland. In 1868-71 he was engaged in missionary work at Joliet, Ill.; after which he became rector of St. James' church, Chicago. While he was thus engaged he received notice of his appointment as titular bishop of Cabaasa, and coadjutor, with the right of succession, to Archbishop Joseph S. Alemany, of San Francisco, Cal. He was consecrated Roman catholic bishop in 1883 of San Francisco.

Riordan, Roger, journalist, artist, author, was born in 1848 in Ireland. He was a New York City journalist. He was the author of A Score of Etchings; and Sunrise Stories, a Glance at the Literature of Japan. He died in 1904 in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Ripley, Christopher G., lawyer, jurist. In 1870-74 he was chief justice of the supreme court of Minnesota.

Ripley, Edward Hastings, soldier, was born in Vermont. In 1862 he was captain in the ninth regiment Vermont infantry; and in 1864 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He was honorably mustered out in 1865.

Ripley, Edward Payson, railroad president, was born Oct. 30, 1845, in Dorchester, Mass. He was third vice-president of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad in 1890-95. Since 1896 he has been president of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway at Chicago, Ill.

Ripley, Eleazar Wheelock, soldier, congressman, was born April 15, 1782, in Hanover, N.H. He was speaker of the Massachusetts house of representatives in 1811. In 1835-39 he was a representative from Louisiana to the twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth congresses. He died March 2, 1839, in West Feliciana, La.

Ripley, Ezra, clergyman, author, was born May 1, 1751, in Woodstock, Conn. He was a chaplain in the army; and a popular clergyman of Concord, Mass. He was the author of A History of the Fight at Concord. He died Sept. 21, 1841, in Concord, Mass.

Ripley, Frederic Herbert, educator, author, was born May 14, 1854, in West Bridgewater, Mass. He is principal in the Longfellow school of Boston, Mass.; and a pioneer in the work of establishing music as an intellectual study in the public schools. He is the author of Natural Course in Music; Short Course in Music; and Harmonic Music Course.

Ripley, George, clergyman, journalist, author, was born Oct. 3, 1802, in Greenfield, Mass. He was a unitarian clergyman; was pastor in Boston in 1826-41; and then for several years the chief promoter of the famous Brook Farm experiment. In 1849-80 he was literary editor of the New York Tribune. With C. A. Dana he edited the American Cyclopaedia, 1857-63; and also the revised edition of the same, 1873-76. He was the author of Discourses on the Philosophy of Religion; and Letters to Andrews Norton on the Latest Form of Infidelity. He died July 4, 1880, in New York City.

Ripley, Henry Jones, clergyman, educator, author, was born Jan. 28, 1798, in Boston, Mass. He was a baptist clergyman; held a pastorate in Georgia in 1819-26; and in 1826-60 was a professor in the Theological seminary at Newton, Mass. He was the author of Notes on the Gospels, Acts, Hebrews; Christian Baptism; Church Polity; and The Exclusiveness of the Baptists. He died May 21, 1875, in Newton Center, Mass.

Ripley, Henry Wheelock, merchant, author, was born June 30, 1828, in Fryeburg, Maine. He was inspector of customs in Portland in 1860. He is the author of The History of the White Mountains.

Ripley, James W., soldier, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born in Maine. He served four years in the legislature of Maine; was an officer in the last war with England; and in 1826-30 he was a representative from Maine to the nineteenth, twentieth and twenty-first congresses. He died June 17, 1835, in Maine.

Ripley, James Wolfe, soldier, was born Dec. 10, 1794, in Windham, Conn. He served in the second war with Great Britain. He was made brigadier-general United States army in 1861. From his retirement until his death he was inspector of the armament of fortifications on the New England coast. In 1865 he received the brevet of major-general United States army for long and faithful service. He died March 15, 1870, in Hartford, Conn.

Ripley, Mrs. Mary Churchill, connoisseur, author, was born July 16, 1849, in New York City. In 1898-1900 she taught private art classes in San Francisco, Cal.; and was president of the Sketch club in that city. Since 1900 she has been an expert and classifier in porcelain and oriental rugs in New York City. She is the author of The Oriental Rug Book.

Ripley, Roswell Sabine, soldier, author, was born March 14, 1823, in Worthington, Ohio. He was a confederate army officer of prominence; and directed the fire on Fort Sumter in 1861. He was the author of History of the Mexico War. He died March 26, 1887, in New York City.

Ripley, Theodore A., soldier, was born in New Hampshire. In 1862 he was captain in the fourteenth regiment New Hampshire infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died July 23, 1887.

Ripley, Thomas C., lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 2, 1807, in Easton, N.Y. In 1846-47 he was a representative from New York to the twenty-ninth congress to fill a vacancy. In 1854 he moved to Saginaw, Mich. He died in Saginaw, Mich.

Ripley, William Zebina, educator, author, was born in 1867 in Medford, Mass. In 1895-1901 he was professor of sociology and economics in the Massachusetts institute of technology; and since 1901 has been a professor of Harvard university. He is the author of Financial History of Virginia; The Races of Europe; Trusts, Pools and Corporations; and Railway Problems.

Ripple, Ezra H., soldier, merchant, public official, was born Feb. 14, 1842, in Mauch Chunk, Pa. His military career began in 1862 as a private in the thirteenth regiment Pennsylvania volunteers; in 1863 he entered the thirtieth emergency regiment; and in 1864 became a member of the fifty-second Pennsylvania regiment. In 1864-65 he was in the military prisons of Andersonville and Florence. Since 1873 he has been a member of the coal firm of William Conneli and company of Scranton, Pa. In 1879 he was elected treasurer of Lackawanna county, Pa.; in 1886 became mayor of Scranton, Pa.; and in 1897 was appointed postmaster of Scranton, Pa. He is a director in the Scranton axle works; and is a director in the Tribune publishing company. In 1877 he was made captain of the Scranton city guard; in 1878 became major of the thirteenth regiment Pennsylvania national guard; in 1883 was made lieutenant-colonel; and in 1888-96 served as colonel. Since 1896 he has been colonel and assistant adjutant-general of the Pennsylvania national guard.

Risdon, Orlando Charles, soldier, was born in Ohio. In 1861 he was first lieutenant in the nineteenth regiment Ohio infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers.

Rishell, Charles Wesley, clergyman, theologian, author, was born March 9, 1850, near Williamsport, Pa. In 1876 he entered the methodist episcopal ministry; and since 1896 has been professor of histological theology at the Boston university school of theology. He is the author of The History of Christianity; The Higher Criticism; and The Foundation of Christian Faith; and The Child as God's Child.

Rishell, James Dyson, educator, lawyer, author, was born Nov. 11, 1858, in Hughesville, Pa. Since 1897 he has been professor of law and political economy in the Northern Illinois college. He is the author of Elfrida, an Historical Drama.

Rising, Johan Claesson, colonial governor, was born about 1600 in Sweden. Rising presented a plan in 1656 for the reconquest of New Sweden, but the government was occupied with other projects, and contented itself with presenting a fruitless demand for indemnification to the states-general.

Rising, Willard Bradley, educator, chemist, scientist, was born Sept. 26, 1839, in Mecklenburg, N.Y. In 1864 he graduated from Hamilton college of New York; in 1867 received the degree of M. E. from the university of Michigan; and in 1871 received the degree of Ph.D. from Heidelberg university. For several years he was instructor in chemistry at the Michigan university. In 1866-67 he was instructor in chemistry at the university of California; in 1867-69 was professor of natural sciences; and later was professor of chemistry in the same institution. He was also state analyst of California; and advisor and chemist to the state board of viticulture commissioners and state board of health; and consulting chemist to important manufacturing establishments in California. His specialty was thermal chemistry; and he made a number of important discoveries. In 1893 he was a member of the jury of awards at the World's Columbian exposition; was a member of the jury of awards at the Paris exposition in 1900; and in 1903 was a member of the assay commission of Philadelphia, Pa. He died in Berkeley, Cal.

Risley, Elijah, congressman, was born in 1780, in Connecticut. In 1849-51 he was a representative from New York to the thirty-first congress. He died Jan. 9, 1870, in Fredonia, Conn.

Risley, John Ewing, lawyer, diplomat, was born in 1840 in Bowling Green, Ind. In 1861 he began the practice of law; and since 1863 has achieved success in that profession in New York City. In 1893 he was appointed envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Denmark.

Risley, Richard Voorhees, lawyer, author, was born Nov. 8, 1874, in New York City. He was the author of The Sentimental Vikings; Men's Tragedies; The Sledge; and The Anvil. He died in 1904 in New Rochelle, N.Y.

Risley, Samuel Doty, soldier, physician, scientist, inventor, author, was born Jan. 16, 1845, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He has invented an optometer with perimeter attachment for measuring errors of refraction in the human eye and mapping the field of vision; and an ophthalmoscope with cylindrical lenses, securing a wide range of spherico-cylindrical lenses. He is the author of The More Frequently Occurring Forms of Conjunctival Disease; and the Mydriatics Compared.

Ristine, George W., soldier, railroad president, was born March 3, 1846, in Philadelphia, Pa. He served in the army and navy during the civil war. In 1866 he entered railway service; in 1897-1900 was president of the Colorado midland railroad company; and in 1908-09 was president of the Tennessee central railroad company. Since 1903 he has been engaged in making special reports on railway properties; and is consulting engineer of various railways under construction.

Ritch, John Warren, educator, architect, was born June 22, 1822, in Putnam, N.Y. Among his important works in New York City are the Bank of Commerce, the Union dime saving bank, the buildings of the American express company and the Merchants' despatch company, St. Luke's hospital, the state emigrant hospital, the nursery and child's hospital, and the artificial islands and quarantine hospital in the lower bay. In 1847-48 he edited the American Architect.

Ritch, William Gillet, state senator, governor, was born May 4, 1830, in Wawarsing, N.Y. He was elected to the Wisconsin state senate; and was a member of the electoral college. In 1860 he established the Winnebago County Press at Neenah, Wis. In 1873-85 he was secretary of the territory of New Mexico three years of which he served as governor. He is the author of two volumes of Spanish-American history, entitled The Blue Book of New Mexico and Aztlan.

Ritchey, Thomas, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1847-49 and 1853-55 he was a representative from Ohio to the thirtieth and thirty-third congresses. He died in Ohio.

Ritchie, Mrs. Anna Cora Ogden, actress, author, was born in 1822 in France. She was a once popular actress; and retired from the stage in 1854.

The last ten years of her life she lived in Florence and London. She was the author of The Fortune Hunter; The Mute Singer; Fairy Fingers; Evelyn; The Twin Roses; Clergyman's Wife; two successful plays, Fashion and Armand; Mimic Life, or Before and Behind the Curtain; and Autobiography of an Actress. She died in 1870.

Ritchie, Alexander Hay, artist, was born Jan. 14, 1822, in Scotland. He is known both as a painter and as an engraver. His oil paintings include Mercy Knocking at the Gate; Fitting Out Moses for the Fair; Death of Lincoln; and numerous portraits. He died Sept. 19, 1895, in New Haven, Conn.

Ritchie, Byron F., lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 29, 1853, in Grafton, Ohio. Since 1874 he has practiced law in Toledo, Ohio. In 1893-95 he was a representative from Ohio to the fifty-third congress as a democrat.

Ritchie, David, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Aug. 19, 1812, in Cananaburg, Pa. In 1853-59 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-third, thirty-fourth and thirty-fifth congresses. After leaving congress he held the office of judge for about one year. He died Jan. 24, 1867, in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Ritchie, David, revenue officer, hero, was born in 1836, in England. While in command of the revenue steamer Moccasin, in 1872, he went to the rescue of the passengers and crew of the steamer Metis, which was wrecked off Watch Hill, R.I. He and his crew picked up forty-two persons out of a rough and dangerous sea and recovered seventeen dead bodies. For this service Capt. Ritchie and his command received the thanks of congress by joint resolution in 1873. He died March 3, 1874, in Bay Shore, L.I.

Ritchie, Henry Joseph, railroad president, was born Feb. 11, 1865, in Canada. Since 1895 he has been president of the St. Augustine and South Beach railway at St. Augustine, Fla.

Ritchie, James Monroe, lawyer, congressman, was born July 28, 1829, in Scotland. In 1832 he came to the United States; and was educated in the public schools. He studied law for three years; and is now engaged in the practice of his profession in Toledo, Ohio. In 1880 he was a delegate to the national republican convention held in Chicago, Ill. In 1881-83 he was a representative from Ohio to the forty-seventh congress as a republican.

Ritchie, John, lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 12, 1831, in Frederick City, Md. In 1860 he was elected a presidential elector; in 1867-71 was attorney for Frederick county. In 1871-73 he was a representative from Maryland to the forty-second congress.

Ritchie, John, conchologist, scientist, author, was born in 1853 in Boston, Mass. For many years he was engaged in business with his father as a builder; and retired from that business in 1885. He is now president of the Alvan Clark corporation, makers of telescopes. He is a collector of shells and owns the largest private library of conchology and one of the largest collections of shells in America. He is the author of Science Observer Code.

Ritchie, Thomas, journalist, was born Nov. 5, 1778, in Essex county, Va. He became editor of the Richmond Examiner in 1804, which was changed to the Enquirer, and he continued to edit and publish it for forty years. At the request of President Polk he resigned the Enquirer to his two sons in 1845, and, removing to Washington, assumed the editorial control of the Union, the organ of the administration, but retired in 1849. He died Jan. 12, 1854, in Richmond, Va.

Ritner, Joseph, state legislator, governor, was born March 25, 1780, in Berks county, Pa. He was a member of the legislature of Pennsylvania in 1820-27. He was the eighth governor of Pennsylvania in 1835-39. He died Oct. 16, 1869, in Carlisle, Pa.

Rittenhouse, David, civil engineer, scientist, was born April 8, 1732, in Roxborough, Pa. In 1763 he was employed to determine Mason and Dixon's line, which he did with instruments of his own construction; and afterwards fixed the boundaries of several other states. He was appointed by the American philosophical society to observe the transit of Venus in 1769. In 1777-89 he was treasurer of Pennsylvania. He was a director of the United States mint in 1792-95. He died June 26, 1796, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Rittenhouse, Jessie Belle, critic, author, was born in Mount Morris, N.Y. In 1895-99 she was in active newspaper work as correspondent and reviewer. She is editor of The Rubaiyat of Omar Kahyyam, and Lover's Rubaiyat. She is the author of The Younger American Poets, a volume of criticism.

Rittenhouse, Mrs. Laura J., author, poet, was born in 1841 in Grand Chain, Ill. She is the author of Out of the Depths, a poem; and a book of temperance stories for young children.

Rittenhouse, William, manufacturer, was born in 1644, in Holland. His ancestors for many generations had been paper-makers in Arnheim; and he built in 1690 the first paper-mill in America, on Paper-mill run, a branch of Wissahickon creek, in Roxborough township. The business was carried on by direct descendants of William at the same place until well into the 19th century. He died in 1708, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Ritter, Abraham, merchant, author, was born in September, 1792, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a merchant of Philadelphia, Pa., and for fifty years a member of the board of elders of the Moravian church. He was the author of History of the Moravian Church in Philadelphia; and Philadelphia and Her Merchants. He died Oct. 8, 1860, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Ritter, Burwell C., agriculturist, state legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 6, 1810, in Barren county, Ky. He was a member of the legislature of Kentucky in 1843 and 1850; and in 1864 was a presidential elector. In 1865-67 he was a representative from Kentucky to the thirty-ninth congress. He died in Kentucky.

Ritter, Carlton M., educator, college president, was born Sept. 1, 1850, in East Varick, N.Y. He has attained prominence as one of the foremost educators of California. He has been principal of the Grammar school, and vice-principal of the High school of Stockton; and professor of mathematics in the state normal school of Chico, of which institution he is now president.

Ritter, Mrs. Fanny Raymond, author, poet, was born in 1840, in Philadelphia, Pa. She was the wife of Dr. F. L. Ritter. She was the author of Woman as a Musician; Some Famous Songs, an Art Historical Sketch; Songs and Ballads; and several translations. She died Oct. 26, 1890, in Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

Ritter, Frederic Louis, musician, composer, author, was born June 22, 1834, in Strassburg. He was a musician of Alsace who came to the United States in 1856; and was professor of music at Vassar college in 1867-91. He was the author of Music in England; Music in America; History of Music in the Form of Lectures, and Manual of Musical History. He died July 4, 1891, in Antwerp, Belgium.

Ritter, George Alexander, lawyer, writer, was born Feb. 2, 1854, in Edwardsville, Ill. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools of Nauvoo, Ill.; attended Baylee's Commercial college of Keokuk, Iowa; the Christian brothers' academy; and the Washington university of St. Louis, Mo. He was admitted to the bar in 1870 in St. Louis, Mo., and for many years practiced law with success in Nauvoo, Ill. He was offered many public positions of trust, but always declined; and his name was several times mentioned in connection with the governorship of Illinois by the public press and the young democracy. He is the author of a work entitled The Lawyer and the Law as a Profession; has made numerous contributions to legal science; and his essay entitled Legal Reform was brought to the attention of the Illinois state bar association. He has always written on and espoused the cause of a uniform system or code of pleading, as against the old common law form of pleading. He has advocated numerous reforms through the press, and has made some valuable contributions to mental science. He is an honorary member of various societies; advocated the building of the Nauvoo high school; and was instrumental in other improvements in his city, county and state. On account of his wife's health he resided in Denver, Col., in 1897-99. He is now engaged in devising a code of laws for all the states of the union.

Ritter, John, journalist, congressman, was born Feb. 6, 1779, in Exeter township, Pa. He was elected to the convention to revise the constitution of Pennsylvania in 1836; and in 1843-47 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth congresses. He died Nov. 24, 1851, in Reading, Pa.

Ritter, William Emerson, educator, zoologist, author, was born Nov. 19, 1856, in Hampden, Wis. He was educated at the state normal school of Oshkosh, Wis.; attended the Cooper medical college of San Francisco, Cal.; and graduated from the university of California and Harvard university. He has received the degrees of B. S., A.M. and Ph.D. He has taught in various public schools of Wisconsin and California. He was assistant in zoology at Harvard university; and has been instructor, assistant-professor, and is now professor of zoology in the university of California. He has been president of the California academy of sciences; and is now a director of the San Diego marine biological survey. He is the editor of the zoological publications of the university of California; and a valued contributor to zoological and biological publications.

Ritzema, Johannes, clergyman, author, was born in 1710 in Holland. He was senior minister of the reformed Dutch church of New York City; held pastoral relations there in 1744-84; and frequently preached at Harlem, Philipsburg, Fordham, and Cortlandt. He was one of the original trustees of Columbia college. He died in 1795 in Kinderhook, N.Y.

Rivers, George Robert Russell, litterateur, author, was born in 1853 in Rhode Island. He was an historical novelist of Milton, Mass. He was the author of The Count's Snuff-Box; Captain Shays; a Populist of 1786; and The Governor's Garden. He died in 1900 in Milton, Mass.

Rivers, Richard Henderson, clergyman, educator, author, was born Sept. 11, 1814, in Montgomery county, Tenn. He was a methodist clergyman and educator of Alabama; and pastor in Louisville in 1883-87. He was the author of Mental Philosophy; Moral Philosophy; Our Young People; Life of Robert Paine; and Arrows from Two Quivers. He died in 1894 in Louisville, Ky.

Rivers, Thomas, congressman, was born in Tennessee. In 1855-57 he was a representative to the thirty-fourth congress. He died in Somerville, Tenn.

Rivers, William James, educator, college president, author, was born July 18, 1822, in Charleston, S.C. He graduated from the South Carolina college of Columbia in 1841. For seventeen years he was professor of Greek literature in the state college of South Carolina; and for fourteen years was president of a college in Maryland. He was the author of The Early History of South Carolina; Topics in the History of South Carolina; a volume of College Addresses and Other Occasional Pieces; The Poems Eldred; and numerous poems. He died about 1912.

Rives, Alexander, lawyer, jurist. He was judge of the United States district court sometime prior to 1884.

Rives, Alfred Landon, civil engineer, was born March 25, 1830, in France. He was an assistant engineer in completing the United States capitol building, Washington, D.C., and in building the aqueduct there; in charge of the United States survey in improving the Potomac river; and designed and constructed the Cabin John bridge, near Washington.

Rives, Francis E., congressman, was born in Virginia. In 1837-41 he was a representative from Virginia to the twenty-fifth, and twenty-sixth congresses. He died Nov. 30, 1861, in Littleton, Va.

Rives, George Lockhart, lawyer, public official, was born May 1, 1849, in New York City. He received the rudiments of his education in Charlier's school of New York City; and in 1868 graduated from Columbia college. In 1872 he graduated from Trinity college of Cambridge, England; and in 1873 graduated from Columbia college law school; and from both of these noted institutions of learning he received the degree of A.M. Since 1874 he has practiced law in New York City. In 1887-89 he was assistant-secretary of state of the United States. In 1896-1902 he was a member of the New York rapid transit railroad commission; in 1900 was president of the commission to revise the Greater New York charter; and in 1902-03 was corporation counsel for New York City. Since 1882 he has been a trustee of Columbia college; in 1893-95 was a trustee of the Lenox library; and since 1895 has been a trustee of the New York public library, Astor-Lenox and Tilden foundations.

Rives, John Cook, journalist, philanthropist, was born May 24, 1795, in Franklin county, Va. He gave about thirty thousand dollars to the wives of soldiers who had enlisted in the national army from the district of Columbia; and subsequently gave twelve thousand dollars toward the equipment of two regiments in the District of Columbia. He died April 10, 1864, in Prince George county, Md.

Rives, Mrs. Judith Page, litterateur, author, was born March 24, 1802, in Castle Hill, Va. She was the author of Souvenirs of a Residence in Europe; Home and the World; The Canary Bird; and Epitome of the Bible. She died Jan. 23, 1882, in Castle Hill, Va.

Rives, Thomas, lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born June 17, 1806, in Nelson county, Va. He settled in Albemarle county, Va., from which he was elected to the state legislature at intervals from 1835 to 1861, the later years in the state senate. In 1866 he was appointed to the supreme court of appeals of Virginia; and his opinions were published in several volumes. He gave up his seat on the bench in 1869; and in 1871 was appointed United States district judge for the western district of Virginia. He died in Virginia.

Rives, William Cabell, soldier, lawyer, diplomat, congressman, United States senator, author, was born May 4, 1793, in Nelson county, Va. He was elected to the legislature of Virginia in 1817-19 and 1822. In 1823-29 he was a representative to the eighteenth, nineteenth and twentieth congresses; in 1829 was appointed minister to France. In 1831-45 he was United States senator. In 1849-53 he was a second time minister to France. He was the author of Life and Times of James Madison. He took part in the civil war as a member of the confederate congress. He died April 25, 1868, in Castle Hill, Va.

Rives, Zeno J., lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 22, 1874, in Hancock county, Ind. He was educated in the public schools; and in 1898-1901 studied law. In 1903 he was appointed city clerk of Litchfield, Ill. In 1905-07 he was a representative from Illinois to the fifty-ninth congress as a republican.

Rives-Wheeler, Hallie Erminie, litterateur, author, was born May 2, 1878, in Christian county, Ky. She is the wife of Post Wheeler, second secretary of the American embassy at Tokyo, Japan. She is the author of A Furnace of Earth; The Castaway; Tales from Dickens; Satan Sander-son; and other works.

Rixey, John Franklin, agriculturist, lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 1, 1854, in Culpeper county, Va. He attained success as a farmer; and is one of the foremost lawyers of Virginia. For twelve years he was commonwealth attorney for Culpeper county; and in 1897-1907 he was a representative from Virginia to the fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh, fifty-eighth, and fifty-ninth congresses as a democrat. He died Feb. 9, 1907, in Washington, D.C.

Rixey, Presley Marion, surgeon-general of the United States navy, was born July 14, 1852, in Culpeper county, Va. He was educated in the schools of Culpeper and Warrenton, Va.; in 1873 graduated in medicine from the university of Virginia; and the same year matriculated at Jefferson medical college of Philadelphia, Pa. In 1874 he entered the United States navy as assistant surgeon; became past assistant surgeon in 1877; and surgeon in 1888. In 1900 he was promoted to medical inspector; and in 1902 became surgeon-general with the rank of rear-admiral. He spent eleven years at sea; and on shore was attached successively to the naval hospital at Philadelphia, the navy yard at Norfolk and at the naval dispensary at Washington, D.C. In 1898 he became physician to the White House, and accompanied the president on all his journeys and was for this reason in Buffalo when President McKinley was assassinated; was present and assisted at the operation and took official charge of the case; and was continued as physician to President Roosevelt, in addition to his duty as chief of the bureau of medicine and surgery, which position he still fills. In 1893 he was decorated by the king of Spain for services rendered the officers and men of the Santa Maria following an explosion on that Spanish Caravel. He is a member of the American medical association, the Washington medical society, and the association of military surgeons; and resides in Washington, D.C.

Roach, Abby Meguire, litterateur, author, was born in Philadelphia, Pa. She is a contributor to magazines and has written a number of short stories under the name of Abby Swain Meguire. She is the author of Some Successful Marriages.

Roach, Addison L., lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 3, 1817, in Rutherford county, Tenn. In 1852 he was elected associate justice of the state supreme court of Indiana. He sat upon the bench until 1854 when he resigned.

Roach, Erskine H., soldier, merchant, was born April 10, 1873, in Memphis, Tenn. He was educated in the public and private schools of Memphis and Nashville, Tenn.; and is now an accountant in the wholesale grocery business at Dallas, Tex. He was in command of the post at Oliver Springs, Tenn. as captain of the Tennessee national guard during the coal riots of 1890-92. During the Spanish-American war he was adjutant second battalion second Texas United States volunteers; and was in command of troops at Galveston during and after the great storm. Since 1901 he has held the rank of major in the Texas national guard; and resides in Dallas, Tex.

Roach, Isaac, soldier, was born Feb. 24, 1786, in Philadelphia, Pa. He formed a part of the advance-guard in the capture of Fort George. He was brevetted major for ten years service in 1823, and resigned April 1, 1824. In 1838 he was elected mayor of the city of Philadelphia and was treasurer of the mint in that city in 1844. He died Dec. 29, 1848, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Roach, John B., ship builder, was born Dec. 7, 1839, in New York City; and is a son of the late John Roach, the famous shipbuilder. In 1867 he became a partner of his father under the firm name of John Roach and son; and the new firm employed over one thousand hands in the ship building business. In 1871 a large shipyard was purchased at Chester, Pa.; and John B. Roach was placed in charge of this under the title of the Delaware river iron ship building and engine works, employing over two thousand men. He died June 16, 1908, in Chester, Pa.

Roach, John, shipbuilder, was born Dec. 25, 1813, in Ireland. In 1840 he went to Illinois to buy land. He returned to New York; and worked as a machinist for several years; and then established a foundry with three fellow-workmen. The explosion of a boiler nearly ruined him financially, but he rebuilt his works, which were known as the Ætna iron works. Here he constructed the large engines that had been built in the United States at that time, and also the first compound engines. In 1868 he bought the Morgan iron works in New York City, and also the Neptune, Franklin Forge, and Allaire works, and in 1871 the ship yards of Rainer and sons of Chester, Pa. He died Jan. 10, 1887, in New York City.

Roach, John Daniel, soldier, lawyer, was born May 1, 1842, in Monroe county, Ala. He graduated from the university of Virginia at Charlottesville. During the war he served under Gen. R. E. Lee from April, 1861, to February, 1865; and subsequently taught school in Alabama. He takes an active interest in the political affairs of Louisiana at Mansfield, where he has a lucrative practice, and has been successfully engaged in law for over a quarter of a century.

Roach, John Millard, railroad president, was born Jan. 30, 1851, in Lowell, Ohio. In 1872 he entered railway service as a conductor on the North Chicago steel railway company; became superintendent in 1890; and since 1897 has been general manager of the West Chicago street railway company. Since 1897 he has also been president of the Cicero and Proviso street railway company; and since 1901 has been president of the Chicago union traction company.

Roach, Thomas Jefferson, educator, college president, author, was born Nov. 8, 1847, in Jefferson county, Ohio. In 1892-1903 he was superintendent of the Kansas Wesleyan business college; and since 1903 has been president of the Kansas Wesleyan university. He is the author of Theory of Double-Entry Bookkeeping Made Easy.

Roach, Thomas Watson, educator, college president, government official, author, was born Nov. 8, 1847, in Jefferson county, Ohio. He was educated in the public schools; in 1870 graduated from the Mount Union college of Alliance, Ohio, where he has received the degrees of B.S. and M.S.; and in 1903 received the degree of D.Ped. from the Iowa Wesleyan university. In 1871-72 he was superintendent of the schools of Marysville, Kan.; and in 1885-89 was county superintendent of the schools of Cloud county, Kan. Since 1892 he has been superintendent of the Kansas Wesleyan business college; and in 1903-08 was president of the Kansas Wesleyan university at Salina. In 1900-01 he was mayor of Salina, Kan. He is vice-president of the Planter state bank. He is the author of Theory of Double-Entry Bookkeeping Made Easy.

Roach, William Nathaniel, agriculturist, United States senator, was born Sept. 25, 1840, in Washington, D.C. In 1883-87 he was mayor of Larimore, S.D.; was a member of the territorial legislature of the session of 1835; and was twice democratic candidate for governor of his state. In 1893-99 he was United States senator. He died Sept. 7, 1902, in New York City.

Roane, Archibald, governor. He was the second governor of Tennessee in 1801-03. He died in Tennessee.

Roane, John, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1754 in Virginia. He was a presidential elector in 1809; and in 1809-15, 1827-31 and 1835-37 he was a representative from Virginia to the eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth, twentieth, twenty-first and twenty-fourth congresses. He died Nov. 15, 1838, in King William county, Va.

Roane, John J., congressman, was born in Virginia. In 1831-33 he was a representative from Virginia to the twenty-second congress. He died in Virginia.

Roane, John Selden, soldier, governor, was born Jan. 8, 1817, in Wilson county, Tenn. He was the fifth governor of Arkansas in 1848-52; and was a brigadier-general in the confederate army. He died April 7, 1867, in Pine Bluff, Ark.

Roane, Spencer, lawyer, jurist, state senator, author, was born April 4, 1762, in Essex, Va. He was successively a member of the Virginia state assembly, council and state senate. In 1789 he was appointed a judge of the general court; and in 1794 a judge of the court of errors. He died Sept. 4, 1822, in Snaron Springs, Va.

Roane, William Harrison, congressman, United States senator, was born in 1788 in Virginia. He was twice elected a member of the executive council of Virginia; and was once a delegate to the general assembly. In 1815-17 he was a representative to the fourteenth congress; and in 1837-41 he was United States senator. He died May 11, 1845, in Tree Hill, Va.

Roark, Ruric Nevel, educator, author, was born May 19, 1859, in Greenville, Ky. Since 1889 he has been dean of the department of pedagogy at the state college of Kentucky. He is the author of Psychology in Education; Method in Education; and General Outline of Pedagogy.

Robb, Edward, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born March 19, 1857, in Brazeau, Mo. Since 1879 he has practiced law in Perryville, Mo. He was prosecuting attorney of Perry county in 1880-84; and was a member of the legislature in 1884-88. He was assistant attorney-general of the state in 1889-93. In 1897-1905 he was a representative to the fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh and fifty-eighth congresses as a democrat.

Robb, Charles Henry, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 14, 1867, in Guilford, Vt. In 1905-06 he was assistant attorney-general of the United States; and since 1906 has been an associate justice of the court of appeals of the District of Columbia.

Robb, Hunter, physician, surgeon, author, was born in 1863, in Burlington, N.J. Since 1894 he has practiced medicine in Cleveland, Ohio. He is the author of Aseptic Surgical Technique.

Robb, Mrs. Isabella Adams, litterateur, author, was born in 1863 in Canada. She is the author of Nursing, Its Principles and Practice; and Nursing Ethica.

Robb, James, banker, founder, was born April 2, 1814, in Brownville, Pa. He built the first gas-works in the city of Havana in 1840; and was president of the Spanish gaslight company, sharing the capital with Maria Christina, the queen-mother of Spain. He was active in establishing eight banking-houses and commercial firms and agencies in New Orleans, Philadelphia, New York, San Francisco, and Liverpool, four of which were in existence in 1857. He was president of the railroad convention that met in New Orleans in 1851 and built the first railroad that connected New Orleans with the north. He was a member of the Louisiana state senate. He died July 30, 1881, near Cincinnati, Ohio.

Robb, James Burch, lawyer, author, was born April 14, 1817, in Baltimore, Md. He prepared and published a valuable compilation of Patent Cases in Supreme and County Courts of the United States to 1850, in two volumes. He died Nov. 3, 1876, in Boston, Mass.

Robb, James Hampden, banker, state senator, was born Oct. 27, 1846, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a member of the legislature of New York in 1882; state senator in 1884-85; and prominent in the public affairs of his city and state.

Robbie, Reuben, congressman, was born in Vermont. In 1851-53 he was a representative from New York to the thirty-second congress. He died in New York.

Robbins, Ashur, lawyer, United States senator, was born Oct. 26, 1757, in Wethersfield, Conn. He was United States district attorney in 1812. In 1825-30 he was United States senator from Rhode Island; and was a member of the Rhode Island legislature for many years. He died Feb. 25, 1845, in Newport, R.I.

Robbins, Chandler, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 24, 1738, in Branford, Conn. He was the author of A Reply to John Cotton's Essays on Baptism; An Address at Plymouth to the Inhabitants assembled to celebrate the victories of the French Republic over their invaders; An Anniversary Sermon on the Landing at Plymouth; and other discourses. He died June 30, 1799, in Plymouth, Mass.

Robbins, Chandler, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 14, 1810, in Lynn, Mass. He was pastor of the Second church of Boston in 1833-74. He was the author of Liturgy for the Use of a Christian Church; History of the Second or Old North Church; Memoir of Benjamin Curtis; and Portrait of a Christian Drawn from Life. He died Sept. 11, 1882, in Weston, Mass.

Robbins, Edward Everett, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Sept. 27, 1860, in Westmoreland county, Pa. He was a member of the Pennsylvania state senate in 1888-92. He is major and quartermaster of the second brigade, state militia. In 1897-99 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

Robbins, Edward Everett, lawyer, state born Feb. 18, 1758, in Milton Mass. He was a member of the convention that framed the constitution of Massachusetts in 1780; served in the Massachusetts legislature in 1788-1803; and was speaker of the house in 1793-1802. In 1803-07 he was lieutenant-governor; and in 1811-29 was judge of probate for Norfolk county. He died Dec. 29, 1829, in Milton, Mass.

Robbins, Mrs. Eliza, educator, author, was born Aug. 26, 1786, in Boston, Mass. She was an educator in Boston for many years; and the author of several successful school books. She was the author of Elements of Mythology; Grecian History; Tales from American History, in three volumes; American Popular Lessons; and Histories of England and Greece. She died July 16, 1853, in Cambridge, Mass.

Robbins, Francis Le Baron, clergyman, was born May 2, 1830, in Camillus, N.Y. He was a pastor in Philadelphia, Pa., for twenty-five years; founded the Oxford presbyterian church and was its pastor for seventeen years; and founded a church in Kensington, the center of the manufacturing district of Philadelphia. He now supplies pulpits of congregational churches that are without pastors.

Robbins, Gaston A., lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 26, 1859, in Alabama. He entered the university of North Carolina in 1877, and graduated in 1879, studied law with Dick and Dillard, at Greensboro, N.C. He was admitted to practice law in the supreme court of North Carolina in 1880. Returning then to Selma, Ala., he employed himself in the practice of the law; and was presidential elector on the Cleveland and Hendricks ticket in 1884. He was elected to the fifty-third, fifty-fourth and fifty-sixth congresses and served in 1895-96. His seat was successfully contested by W. F. Aldrich. He died in Selma, Ala.

Robbins, George R., physician, congressman, was born Sept. 24, 1812, in Allentown, N.J. In 1855-59 he was a representative from New Jersey to the thirty-fourth and thirty-fifth congresses. He died in New Jersey.

Robbins, Hayes, journalist, author, was born Nov. 24, 1873, in Angelica, N.Y. In 1895-1903 he was engaged in editorial and literary work in New York City; and in 1905-90 was secretary of the civic federation of New England with headquarters in Boston, Mass. He is part author of Outlines of Social Economics; and Outlines of Political Science.

Robbins, Henry Alfred, physician, author, was born Feb. 9, 1839, in St. Louis, Mo. He is a noted physician of Washington City. He is the author of Non-Venereal Syphilis; Organic Syphilis; and Under the Red Flag of the Commune.

Robbins, Horace Wolcott, artist, was born Oct. 21, 1842, in Mobile, Ala. In 1878 he became a member of the National academy of design. Many of his works are pictures of mountain and lake scenery. His oil-paintings include Blue Hills of Jamaica; Passing Shower, Jamaica; Roadside Elms; Harbor Islands, Lake George; Early Autumn, Adirondacks; and The Lane. He died in 1904 in New York City.

Robbins, Irvin, soldier, manufacturer, was born March 30, 1839, in Moscow, Ind. In 1861-65 he served in the civil war; and since 1871 has been a carriage manufacturer. In 1893-97 he was adjutant-general of Indiana; and in 1899-1900 was commander-in-chief of the Grand army of the republic. He is the author of War Statistics, published by the Indiana loyal legion.

Robbins, Jane Bodwell Barnett, educator, pioneer, was born Feb. 24, 1815, in Methuen, Mass. She was a pioneer in Wisconsin in 1855; in Minnesota in 1856; and in Washington territory in 1878. She was an active teacher, pioneer, Sunday school and woman's christian temperance union worker; and a missionary and suffrage patron. She voted in the years 1881-87 in Washington territory; and was well known throughout the territory. She died Nov. 19, 1894, in Cheney, Wash.

Robbins, John, manufacturer, congressman, was born in Philadelphia, Pa. He was for several years engaged in the iron and steel business. In 1849-55 and 1875-77 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-first, thirty-second, thirty-third and forty-fourth congresses as a democrat. He died in Philadelphia, Pa.

Robbins, Joseph, patriot, revolutionary soldier, was born Feb. 22, 1729, in Acton, Mass. He commanded a company of yeomanry in the first fight with the British at the old North Bridge at Concord, April 19, 1775, in response to the call of Paul Revere. On patriot's day, 1895, the citizens of Acton, Concord and Lexington set up a large memorial stone on the place where once stood the home of Capt. Joseph Robins. He died March 31, 1800.

Robbins, Mrs. Mary Caroline, litterateur, author, was born Oct. 8, 1841, in Calais, Maine. She is a writer for the magazines on art, landscape gardening, and kindred topics. She is the author of The Rescue of An Old Place; and several translated books.

Robbins, Rensselaer David Chanceford, linguist, educator, author, was born Dec. 23, 1811, in Wardsborough, Vt. He contributed to the Bibliotheca Sacra; translated Egypt and the Books of Moses from the German; and Xenophon's Memorabilia of Socrates, with notes; and edited the third and fourth editions of Prof. Moses Stuart's Commentaries on the Epistles to the Romans, Hebrews and Ecclesiastes. He died Nov. 3, 1882, in Newton Highlands, Mass.

Robbins, Royal, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 21, 1788, in Wethersfield, Conn. He was a congregational clergyman; and in 1816-61 pastor at Kensington, Conn. He was the author of Outlines of Ancient History; and The World Displayed. He died March 26, 1861, in Berlin, Conn.

Robbins, Thomas, clergyman, founder, was born Aug. 11, 1777, in Norfolk, Conn.

In 1832-42 he filled a pastorate in Rochester, Mass.; and was subsequently a resident of Hartford, Conn. He founded the Connecticut historical society. He gave his private library to the society; and in 1844 was librarian. He was the author of All Religions and Religious Ceremonies. He died Sept. 13, 1858, in Colebrook, Conn.

Robbins, Walter Raleigh, soldier, merchant, manufacturer, was born Dec. 22, 1843, in Whitesboro, N.Y. He served throughout the civil war from private to colonel, and was brevetted brigadier-general. Since 1872 he has been engaged in the lumber business in Chicago, Ill.; and has been president of the Lumberman's association of Chicago, Ill.

Robbins, Wilford Lash, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 7, 1859, in Boston, Mass. In 1887-1903 he was dean of All Saints cathedral of Albany, N.Y. He is dean of the General theological seminary, New York City. He is the author of An Essay Toward Faith; and A Christian Apologetic.

Robbins, William McKendric, educator, soldier, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Oct. 26, 1828, in Randolph county

N.C. He graduated in 1851 from the Randolph-Macon college of Virginia. For a few years he was professor of mathematics in Trinity college, N.C. He removed to Alabama and began the practice of law. He volunteered in 1861 as a soldier; served over four years; and surrendered at Appomattox as major commanding the fourth Alabama infantry. He then returned to North Carolina and resumed the practice of law; and was elected to the state senate in 1868 and again in 1870. In 1871-79 he was a representative from North Carolina to the forty-third, forty-fourth and forty-fifth congresses. In 1894 he was appointed a commissioner of the Gettysburg military park.

Robe, Charles Franklin, soldier, was born Nov. 23, 1841, in Canastota, N.Y. He served throughout the civil war; and attained the rank of captain. In 1866 he joined the regular army; became captain in 1872; was made major in 1900; and in 1903 was retired as brigadier-general of the United States army.

Roberdeau, Daniel, congressman, was born in 1727, in the West Indies. In 1777-79 he was a delegate from Pennsylvania to the continental congress; and was a signer of the articles of confederation. He died Jan. 5, 1795, in Winchester, Va.

Roberdeau, Isaac, soldier, civil engineer, was born Sept. 11, 1763, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1813, he was appointed major and topographical engineer in the regular army. At the close of the war with Great Britain he was ordered to survey the boundary between the United States and Canada, under the treaty of Ghent.

Robert, Christopher Rhinelander, merchant, philanthropist, was born March 23, 1802, in Brookhaven, Long Island, N.Y. In 1830 he became head of the firm of Robert and Williams of New York City; and also held the presidency of a large coal and iron company. He gave large sums to Hamilton college and Auburn theological seminary; but his chief benefactions were to the American college in Constantinople, which was named Robert college in his honor. He gave it about four hundred thousand dollars. He died Oct. 28, 1878, in Paris, France.

Robert, Henry Martyn, civil engineer, author, was born May 2, 1837, in Beaufort district, S.C. In 1901 he became brigadier-general and chief of engineers in the United States army. He is the author of Robert's Rules of Order; and Index to Reports of Chief of Engineers U. S. A., on River and Harbor Improvements from 1866-1887.

Robert, Joseph Thomas, clergyman, parliamentarian, author, was born in Robertville, S.C. In 1879-98 he filled pastorates; and since 1896 has been engaged in lectures on parliamentary law. He is the author of Robert's Parliamentary Manual.

Robert, Joseph Thomas, clergyman, theologian, was born Nov. 28, 1807, in Beaufort district, S.C. In 1871 he took charge of the Augusta institute for the training of colored ministers, and when this institute was removed in 1879 to Atlanta, and incorporated with the Atlanta baptist seminary, he was made its president. He died March 5, 1884, in Atlanta, Ga.

Roberts, Mrs. Anna Smith, poet, was born Dec. 23, 1827, in Philadelphia, Pa. She was the author of Forest Flowers of the West. She died Aug. 10, 1858, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Roberts, Anthony E., merchant, congressman, was born in October, 1803, in Chester county, Pa. In 1839-42 he was sheriff of Lancaster county, and held the office till 1842, and in 1849 was appointed marshal of the eastern district of Pennsylvania. In 1855-59 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-fourth and thirty-fifth congresses. He died in Lancaster county, Pa.

Roberts, Benjamin Kearney, soldier, was born Nov. 28, 1846, in Memphis, Tenn. In 1863 he was commissioned second lieutenant in the second Iowa cavalry; and in 1864 was honorably mustered out. In 1865 he was brevetted major; and in 1905 was retired with the rank of brigadier-general and chief of artillery.

Roberts, Benjamin Stone, soldier, was born in 1811 in Manchester, Vt. In 1835 he graduated from West Point; practiced law in Iowa in 1843-46; and then re-entered the army. He served with distinction in the Mexican and civil wars; and attained the rank of major-general. After two years as professor of tactics at Yale college, he retired from active service in 1870. He then undertook the manufacture and sale of a rifle of his own invention. He died Jan. 20, 1875, in Washington, D.C.

Roberts, Benjamin Titus, clergyman, author, was born in 1823 in New York. He was a free methodist clergyman of North Chili, N.Y.; founder of Chesbrough academy there in 1865; and president of that institution in 1869-93. He was the author of Fishers of Men; Why Another Sect; First Lessons on Money; and Ordaining Women. He died in 1893 in North Chili, N.Y.

Roberts, Benson Howard, educator, publisher, author, was born Oct. 9, 1853, in Brockport, N.Y. in 1876-78 and in 1881-1906 he was principal of the Cheasebrough seminary of North Chili, N.Y. Since 1893 he has been the editor and publisher of the Earnest Christian, and of Golden Rule. In 1897 he became manager of the Christian house for girls at Pittsburgh, Pa. He is the author of Holiness Teachings; and Benjamin Titus Roberts, a biography.

Roberts, Brigham Henry, journalist, congressman, author, was born March 13, 1857, in England. He was a member of the Utah constitutional convention in 1895; and was a democratic nominee for congress in 1895. In 1899-1901 he was a representative from Utah to the fifty-sixth congress. He is the author of The Life of John Taylor; Outlines of Ecclesiastical History; A New Witness of God; and Latter Day Saints' Tour From Palmyra, N.Y., to Salt Lake City, Through the Stereoscope.

Roberts, Charles Boyle, lawyer, legislator, jurist, congressman, was born April 19, 1842, in Uniontown, Md. In 1875-79 he was a representative from Maryland to the forty-fourth and forty-fifth congresses. For four years he was attorney general of Maryland; afterward became associate judge of the court of appeals of Maryland; and subsequently chief judge of the court of appeals for the fifth judicial circuit of Maryland. He died in 1899 in Maryland.

Roberts, Charles George Douglas, litterateur, author, poet, was born Jan. 10, 1860, in Canada. He was a professor of literature in King's college, Windsor, Nova Scotia; and in recent years a resident of New York City. His work in verse includes, Orion, and Other Poems; In Divers Tones;

The Book of the Native. His prose comprises, Earth's Enigmas, a collection of short stories; The Forge in the Forest, an Acadian Romance; A History of Canada; Around the Camp Fire; Canadian Guide Book; Reube Dare's Shad Boat; Raid from Beausejour; How the Carter Boys Lifted the Mortgage; The Heart That Knows; and The Young Acadian.

Roberts, Charles Humphrey, educator, lawyer, author, was born Oct. 11, 1847, in Long Run, Ohio. For awhile he was superintendent of construction for the Camden iron works. Since 1878 he has been in general and patent law practice at Chicago, Ill. He is the author of Down The Ohio, a novel of quaker life.

Roberts, Charles Wentworth, soldier, was born in Maine. In 1861 he was first lieutenant in the second regiment Maine infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died March 23, 1898.

Roberts, Cyrus Swan, soldier, was born Aug. 23, 1841, in Sharon, Conn. He served in the civil war; and in 1865 attained the rank of captain. In 1867 he became first lieutenant in the regular army; in 1901 was made colonel; and in 1903 was retired with the rank of brigadier-general in the United States army after fourteen years of service.

Roberts, Edmund Quincy, diplomat, author, was born June 20, 1784, in Portsmouth, N.H. He did much to promote trade in Farther India. He was the author of Embassy to the Eastern Courts. He died June 12, 1836, in China.

Roberts, Edwin Ewing, congressman, was born at Pleasant Grove, Cal., Dec. 12, 1870. His home is Carson City, where he is a member of the law firm of Roberts and Sanford. He was a member of congress from Nevada in 1890.

Roberts, Ellis Henry, journalist, banker, state legislator, congressman, author, was born Sept. 30, 1827, in Utica, N.Y. He was a member of the legislature of the state of New York in 1867. In 1871-75 he was a representative from New York to the forty-second and forty-third congresses; was assistant treasurer of the United States at New York in 1889-93; and treasurer of the United States in 1897-1905. He is the author of Government Revenue; and New York, the Planting and Growth of the Empire States.

Roberts, Elwood, educator, journalist, author, poet, was born Jan. 22, 1846, in Wilmington, Del. He received a liberal education; and for fourteen years taught in the public and private schools of Pennsylvania. Since 1882 he has been engaged in editorial work on the Norristown Herald, one of the foremost daily and weekly newspapers of the east. He is one of the founders of the Montgomery County Historical society, and is its librarian. He is the author of a series of papers on Valley Forge Camp-Ground, now being published in book form; a volume of poems entitled Lyrics of Quakerism; and he is greatly interested in genealogical research.

Roberts, Ernest William, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Nov. 22, 1858, in East Madison, Maine. In 1894-96 he was a member of the Massachusetts state legislature; and was state senator in 1897-98. In 1899-1915 he was a representative from Massachusetts to the fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh, fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth, sixtieth, sixty-first, sixty-second and sixty-third congresses.

Roberts, Frank Hunt Hurd, educator, lecturer, author, was born April 1, 1869, in Mount Vernon, N.Y. He has received the degrees of B.Ph. and B.Ped. from the Ohio university; A.M. from Kenyon college; and Ph.D. from the university of Denver. In 1889-93 he was engaged in newspaper work in Ohio. In 1889-90 he was superintendent and principal of schools; in 1899-1903 was professor of education and principal of the Wyoming state normal school; and since 1903 has been professor of history and political science at the university of Denver. In 1905 he was sent to Europe by the university of Denver to investigate municipal ownership. In 1901-03 he lectured on history and pedagogy at the Colorado chautauqua; and in 1904 lectured at the state board of examiners of Wyoming. He is the author of A Comparative Study of the State and Nation; Civil Government; and Civil Government of Wyoming.

Roberts, George Brooks, railroad president, was born Jan. 15, 1833, in Montgomery county, Pa. He was educated in the common schools and at the Polytechnic institute of Troy, N.Y. He began business life as a railroad engineer on the Pennsylvania railroad. In 1852 he became assistant engineer; and for ten years was steadily engaged in location and construction of various railroads, including the Sunbury and Erie; the north Pennsylvania and western Pennsylvania; the Allentown and Auburn; the Mahanoy and Broad Mountain; the west Jersey; and other railroads. Since 1880 he has been president of the Pennsylvania railroad; and is also president of numerous other railroad corporations.

Roberts, George Evan, printer, financier, author, was born Aug. 19, 1857, in Delaware county, Iowa. In 1882 he was elected state printer for Iowa. In 1898-1907 he was a director of the United States mint; and since 1907 has been president of the Commercial national bank of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of Corn at School in Finance, Iowa and the Silver Question; and Money, Wages and Prices.

Roberts, George Litch, lawyer, was born Dec. 30, 1836, in Boston, Mass. Since 1864 he has practiced law in Boston, Mass.; and is a specialist in patent cases; and has taken a prominent part in the Bell telephone cases.

Roberts, George Washington, soldier, was born Oct. 2, 1833, in Chester county, Pa. He commanded a brigade of the army of the Mississippi; and was killed while leading the forty-second Illinois in a successful charge. He died Dec. 31, 1862, near Murfreesborough, Tenn.

Roberts, Henry, manufacturer, governor, was born Jan. 1, 1853, in Brooklyn, N.Y. He is president of the Hartford woven wire mattress company; and a director in various corporations of Connecticut. In 1899-1901 he was a representative in the Connecticut state legislature; in 1901-03 was a member of the state senate; and was lieutenant-governor in 1903-05. In 1905-07 he was governor of the state of Connecticut.

Roberts, Howard, sculptor, was born April 9, 1843, in Philadelphia. He opened a studio in Philadelphia; and produced there his first work of note, the statuette Heater and Pearl, from Hawthorne's Scarlet Letter. Among his other works are Hypatia, Lucille, a bust; Lot's Wife, a statuette, and numerous ideal and portrait busts. His statue of Robert Fulton is in the capitol at Washington. He died in 1900 in Philadelphia, Pa.

Roberts, Mrs. Ina Brevoort, litterateur, author, was born May 21, 1874, in Yonkers, N.Y. She was educated in the grammar school of Elizabeth, N.J.; in 1888-90 she attended the high school of Newark; and the Maplewood institute of Concord, Pa. She is the wife of Mr. J. E. Roberts of New York City. She is a member of the Woman's press club, Rainy day club and other societies. She is the author of The Lifting of a Finger, and other works.

Roberts, Isaac Phillips, educator, scientist, author, was born July 24, 1833, in East Varick, N.Y. He was educated in the Seneca Falls academy; and received the honorary degree of M.Agr. from the Iowa state college. In 1873-94 he was professor of agriculture and dean of the faculty of agriculture; in 1888-1903 was a director of the agricultural experimental station; and since 1903 has been professor emeritus and a lecturer on agriculture at Cornell university. He was an associate editor of the Country Gentleman. He was president of the New York state dairyman's association; and is a member of the New York agricultural society; a member of the American association for the advancement of science; and a member of the Western New York horticultural society. He is the author of The Fertility of the Land; The Farmstead; The Farmer's Business Handbook; and The Horse.

Roberts, James Booth, actor, dramatist, was born Sept. 27, 1818, in New Castle, Del. In 1851 he went to England and played at Drury Lane theater of London in the characters of Sir Giles Overreach, King Lear, and Richard III. He wrote a version of Goethe's Faust which he produced in Philadelphia, playing Mephistopheles. He died about 1890.

Roberts, James Hudson, clergyman, missionary, author, was born June 11, 1851, in Hartford, Conn. In 1877 he was ordained to the congregational ministry. In 1877-80 he was missionary to Peking, China; and in 1880-1906 preached in Kalgan, China. Since 1907 he has filled pastorates in Southbury and West Suffield, Conn. He is the author of A Flight for Life; and An Inside View of Mongolia.

Roberts, Job, agriculturist, jurist, author, was born March 23, 1757, near Gwynedd, Pa. He was among the first to introduce and breed merino sheep in Pennsylvania; and promoted the manufacture of silk. He was the author of The Pennsylvania Farmer, being a Selection from the Most Approved Treatises in Husbandry. He died Aug. 20, 1851, near Gwynedd, Pa.

Roberts, John Bingham, surgeon, author, was born Feb. 29, 1852, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1871 he graduated from the university of Pennsylvania; and in 1874 from the Jefferson medical college. He has been professor of surgery in the Philadelphia polyclinic; to the Woman's medical college of Pennsylvania; and surgeon to the Methodist hospital. He has been president of the Philadelphia county medical society; president of the medical society of the state of Pennsylvania; and vice-president of the American surgical association. He is the author of Compend of Anatomy; Surgery of the Human Brain; Treatise on Modern Surgery; Modern Medicine and Homœopathy; Modern Treatment of Fractures; Deformities of the Face; and valuable medical papers in current publications and delivered before scientific societies.

Roberts, John Taylor, clergyman, educator, college president, was born Dec. 29, 1858, in Blackford county, Ind. In 1887 he graduated from Hartsville college; in 1894 graduated from the Union biblical seminary of Dayton, Ohio; in 1902 graduated from Harriman university of Tennessee; and has received the degrees of M. S., D.D. and Ph.D. For five years he filled a pastorate; was presiding elder for eleven years; and since 1905 has been president of the Indiana central university at University Heights, Indianapolis, Ind.

Roberts, John Wright, clergyman, bishop, was born in 1815 in Petersburg, Va. He served as pastor, presiding elder and secretary, and was made bishop of Liberia in 1866. He died Jan. 30, 1875, in Liberia.

Roberts, Jonathan, congressman, United States senator, was born Aug. 16, 1771, in Upper Merion, Pa. He was elected to both branches of the Pennsylvania legislature. In 1811-15 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the twelfth and thirteenth congresses; and in 1813-21 he was United States senator. In 1841 he was appointed collector of the port of Philadelphia. He died July 21, 1854, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Roberts, Jonathan Manning, lawyer, investigator, author, was born Dec. 7, 1821, in Montgomery county, Pa. He practiced law for about a year; and was engaged in commercial pursuits. He was a metaphysical investigator; and in 1878 published Mind and Matter in Philadelphia, Pa. He was the author of A History of the Christian Religion. He died Feb. 28, 1888, in Burlington, N.J.

Roberts, Joseph, soldier, educator, author, was born Dec. 30, 1814, in Middletown, Del. During the civil war he attained the rank of brigadier-general. He was promoted colonel in the fourth artillery in 1877; and was placed on the retired list. He was the author of a Hand-Book of Artillery. He died Oct. 18, 1898, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Roberts, Joseph Jenkins, president of Liberia, was born March 15, 1809, in Norfolk, Va. When the colony of Liberia was founded by the American Colonization society; he was first lieutenant-governor and then governor of the colony; and, upon the formation of the republic in 1848, he was elected its first president, serving four years. He died Feb. 24, 1876, in Liberia.

Roberts, Marshall Owen, merchant, was born March 22, 1814, in New York City. He was among the first to recognize the advantage of fine equipped steamers for Hudson river, and built the Hendrik Hudson. He projected the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad. When the California fever began in 1849 he made a contract with the United States government to transport the mails to California by the Isthmus of Panama. In 1852 he was nominated for congress by the Whig party, but was defeated. He died Sept. 11, 1880, in Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

Roberts, Martin Leonard, legislator, genealogist, author, was born April 24, 1839, in Chatham, Conn. For many years he has been a railway postal clerk. In 1869 he was a member of the Connecticut state legislature. He is the author of a genealogy of the Carpenter Family; and has written a History of Chatham.

Roberts, Oran Milo, soldier, lawyer, jurist, governor, was born July 9, 1815, in Laurens district, S.C. In 1846 he was appointed judge of the fifth judicial district of Texas; and in 1857 was elected an associate justice of the supreme court of Texas. In 1862 he resigned and entered the confederate army. In 1868-70 he was professor of law and agriculture in the institute at Gilmer, Texas. In 1874 he was appointed chief justice of the state; and was elected to that position in 1876. In 1879-83 he was the thirteenth governor of Texas. In 1883 he became professor of law in the university of Texas. He was the author of Governor Robinson's Texas. He died May 19, 1898, in Austin, Texas.

Roberts, Peter, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 26, 1859, in South Wales. He is now pastor of the congregational church at Mahanoy City, Pa. He is the author of Anthracite Coal Industry; and Anthracite Coal Communities.

Roberts, Robert Ellis, merchant, author, was born June 3, 1809, in Utica, N.Y. He organized the fire department of Detroit, Mich., of which he was the first president; established the public library; and served on the board of education. He was the author of Sketches of Detroit; and The City of the Straits. He died Feb. 18, 1881, in Detroit, Mich.

Roberts, Robert Richford, missionary bishop, was born Aug. 2, 1778, in Frederick county, Md. He was elected a bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church. He was called by the Indians the grandfather of all the missionaries. His history is identified with the early methodist church. He died March 26, 1843, in Lawrence county, Ind.

Roberts, Robert W., congressman, was born in Delaware. In 1843-47 he was a representative from Mississippi to the twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth congresses. He died in Mississippi.

Roberts, Samuel, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Sept. 8, 1763, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1803-30 he was president judge of the fifth judicial district of Pennsylvania. He was the author of A Digest of Select British Statutes. He died Dec. 13, 1830, in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Roberts, Samuel Henry, soldier, was born in Connecticut. In 1862 he was lieutenant-colonel in the one hundred thirty-ninth regiment New York infantry; and in 1854 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Oct. 7, 1890.

Roberts, Sarah, litterateur, author, was born July 26, 1812, in Portsmouth. She was the author of My Childhood; My Step-Mother; and Voice of the Grass. She died March 16, 1869, in New York City.

Roberts, Solomon White, civil engineer, author, was born Aug. 3, 1811, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a distinguished civil engineer of Pennsylvania. He was the author of

The Destiny of Pittsburg. He died March 20, 1882, in Atlantic City, N.J.

Roberts, Stephen H., soldier. He attained the rank of brigadier-general. He died Oct. 28, 1890, in New York City.

Roberts, Thomas Paschall, civil engineer, author, was born April 21, 1843, in Carlisle, Pa. He executed surveys for the ship canal to connect the Ohio river with Lake Erie. He is the author of Memoir of the Late Chief Justice Gibson of Pennsylvania.

Roberts, Vasco Harold, educator, lawyer, author, was born May 21, 1874, in St. Joseph, Mich. In 1903-09 he was professor of law of corporations and real property at the university of Missouri. Since 1909 he has practiced as an attorney of St. Louis, Mo. He is the author of Annotated Cases on the Law of Extraordinary Legal Remedies.

Roberts, William, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 25, 1809, in Wales. He was a Welsh presbyterian clergyman of Scranton and Utica, N.Y. He published, in Welsh, The Abrahamic Covenant; and The Election of Grace. He died in 1887, in Utica, N.Y.

Roberts, William Charles, clergyman, college president, was born Sept. 23, 1832, in Wales. In 1887 he became president of Lake Forest university of Illinois. In 1859-63 he was a trustee of Lafayette college; and since 1866 has been a trustee of Princeton college. He died in 1903, in Princeton, N.J.

Roberts, William Henry, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 31, 1844, in Wales. He is a presbyterian clergyman; professor of theology in Lane seminary in 1886-93; and stated clerk of the general assembly since 1884. He is the author of History of the Presbyterian Church in the United States; Ecclesiastical Status of Theological Seminaries; The Presbyterian System; and Manual for Ruling Elders.

Roberts, William Randall, merchant, diplomat, congressman, was born Feb. 6, 1830, in Ireland. In 1871-75 he was a representative from New York to the forty-second and forty-third congresses as a democrat; and in 1885 was appointed United States minister to Chili.

Robertson, Alexander, painter, artist, was born in 1768 in Scotland. He painted landscapes in water-color, and like his brother, was well known as a teacher. He died May 27, 1841, in New York City.

Robertson, Alexander George Morison, lawyer, legislator, statesman, was born Sept. 3, 1867, in Honolulu, Hawaii. He received a thorough education in the Hawaii and California public schools; and in 1893 graduated from the law school of Yale university. In 1901-03 he was a representative in the first territorial legislature of Hawaii; in 1904-05 he was president of the bar association of Hawaii; and in 1904-07 was chairman of the republican territorial central committee; and is a member of the republican national committee for Hawaii for the term of 1904-08.

Robertson, Anthony Lispenard, lawyer, jurist, was born June 8, 1808, in New York City. He was assistant vice-chancellor in 1846-48; surrogate of New York City in 1848; and in 1859 was elected a judge of the superior court. In 1864 he was elected for a second term; and in 1866 was chosen chief justice by his associates. He died Dec. 18, 1868, in New York City.

Robertson, Archibald, painter, artist, was born May 8, 1765, in Scotland. In 1792-1821 he followed his profession as a painter and instructor in New York, working mostly in water-colors and crayons. In 1802 he assisted in the project of forming an art academy; and in 1816, on the founding of the American academy, he was elected a director. He died Dec. 6, 1835, in New York City.

Robertson, Archibald Thomas, theologian, author, was born Nov. 6, 1863, near Chat-ham, Va. In 1885 he received the degree of

M.A. from Wake Forest college of North Carolina; and in 1888 received the degree of Th.M. from the Southern baptist theological seminary of Louisville, Ky. In 1888 he became assistant instructor of new testament interpretation at the Southern baptist theological seminary; in 1892 became professor of biblical introduction; and since 1895 has been professor of new testament interpretation in that institution. He is the author of Syllabus for New Testament Study; Life and Letters of John A. Broad-us; Syllabus for New Testament Greek Syntax; The Students' Chronological New Testament; Keywords in the Teaching of Jesus; Teaching of Jesus Concerning the Father; Epochs in the Life of Christ; A Short Grammar of the Greek New Testament; and Epochs in the Life of Paul.

Robertson, Beverly Holcombe, soldier, business man, was born June 5, 1827, in Amelia county, Va. In 1849 he graduated from West Point military academy; and became lieutenant and captain in the second dragoons of the United States army. He served throughout the civil war in the confederate army; and attained the rank of brigadier-general. He is a successful business man and real estate dealer of Washington, D.C.

Robertson, Byron, physician, surgeon, author, was born in Wisconsin. Since 1891 he has practiced in Chicago as a specialist in gynecology and abdominal surgery. He is the author of Landmarks of Gynecology, in two volumes; Practical Intestinal Surgery, in two volumes; and other medical works.

Robertson, Charles Franklin, clergyman, was born March 2, 1835, in New York. In 1868 he became second bishop of Missouri. He was the author of valuable papers on Historical Societies in Relation to Local Historical Effort. He died May 1, 1886, in St. Louis, Mo.

Robertson, Donald, actor, author, was born Dec. 12, 1860, in Scotland. He is the star of his own company, The Drama Players, an organization for the presentation of masterpieces of dramatic art of universal appeal.

Robertson, Edward Peter, clergyman, college president, was born Feb. 24, 1860, in Rock county, Wis. In 1885-88 he was pastor of the methodist episcopal church at Morris, Minn.; in 1888-91 was pastor in Marshall Minn., and in 1891-93 was pastor in Rochester, Minn. In 1893-99 he was presiding elder. Since 1899 he has been president of the Red River valley university at Grand Forks, N.D.

Robertson, Edward White, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born June 13, 1823, near Nashville, Tenn. He was a representative in the Louisiana state legislature in 1847-49 and 1853. He was state auditor in 1857-62. He entered the confederate army in 1862 as captain, and served throughout the civil war. In 1877-83 he was a representative from Louisiana to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses. He died in August, 1887, in Washington, D.C.

Robertson, Felix, physician, banker, was born Jan. 17, 1780, in Nashville, Tenn. He was thoroughly identified with the city of Nashville, being the first male child born in the city; practiced medicine there forty years; was twice mayor; also long a president of the bank of Tennessee; and a presiding officer of the university of Nashville. He died Sept. 10, 1865, in Nashville, Tenn.

Robertson, Felix Huston, soldier, lawyer, author, was born March 9, 1839, in Washington, Texas. He served in the confederate army during the civil war; and attained the rank of brigadier-general of cavalry. Since 1876 he has practiced law in Texas.

Robertson, George, lawyer, jurist, educator, congressman, was born Nov. 18, 1790, in Mercer county, Ky. In 1817-21 he was a representative to the fifteenth and sixteenth congresses. He was a member of the legislature; and speaker of the house during four sessions, ending in 1827. In 1828 he was secretary of state; and the same year was chosen judge of the court of appeals. In 1829-33 he was chief justice of the supreme court of Kentucky. He was professor of law in Transylvania university for twenty-three years. He died May 17, 1874, in Lexington, Mass.

Robertson, Harrison, journalist, author was born in Murfreesboro, Tenn. He is an associate editor of the Louisville Courier Journal of Kentucky. He is the author of If I Were a Man; Stories of the South;

Red Blood and Blue; The Opponents; and The Pink Typhoon.

Robertson, James, colonial governor. In 1780 he was colonial governor of New York.

Robertson, John, lawyer, jurist, congressman, author, poet, was born in 1787 near Petersburg, Va. He was a judge of the circuit court for many years. In 1833-39 he was a representative from Virginia to the twenty-third, twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth congresses. He was the author of Riego, or the Spanish Martyr, a tragedy; and Opuscula, a book of verse. He died July 5, 1873, in Mount Athos, Va.

Robertson, Joseph Andrew, manufacturer, lawyer, capitalist, was born Dec. 31, 1849, in Robertson county, Tenn. In 1874-87 he practiced law in St. Louis, Mo. In 1895 he became engaged in manufacturing in Monterey, Mex.; and was president of the Monterey wire and nail company; and president of the Roller process flour mill company. He established the La Eugenia orange grove; erected the largest sugar mill of the kind in Mexico; established the largest brick manufacturing company in Mexico; founded and owns the Monterey News; and constructed and owned the Mineral railway and terminal company. He has built a railway line into the mineral regions of the Sierra Madre mountains; and is active in religious, charitable and educational enterprises.

Robertson, Louis Alexander, business man, author, poet, was born Jan. 21, 1856, in Canada. Until 1882 he was a shipowner and shipbroker of Liverpool and London; and afterwards in San Francisco and Portland until 1887, when he retired from active business. He is the author of The Dead Calypso and Other Verses; Beyond the Requiems; Cloistral Strains; Through Painted Panes; and Montezuma, a Historical Tragedy.

Robertson, Morgan, business man, author, was born Sept. 30, 1861, in Oswego, N.Y. In 1877-86 he went to sea. He entered the jewelry business in 1886; and since 1896 has been a writer for periodicals. He is the author of Spun-Yarn; Futility; Shipmates; Where Angels Fear to Tread; Down to the Sea; and Finnegan.

Robertson, Peter, journalist, critic, author, was born April 5, 1847, in Scotland. He spent three years in England and several years in the far east. He finally settled in San Francisco, Cal., where he held mining and land interests. In 1875 he became critic of the Pacific Life; and until 1881 contributed to the San Francisco journals and magazines. In 1881 he joined the San Francisco Chronicle as musical and dramatic editor, a position which he still holds. He is the author of Pyramus and Thisbe, which was produced in 1879; and His Majesty was brought out in 1893. He was one of the early members of the Bohemian club; and in 1889-90 was president.

He is the author of Bunders; and The Seedy Gentleman.

Robertson, Robert Henderson, litterateur, architect, was born April 20, 1849, in Philadelphia, Pa. Among many buildings of his design are the Madison avenue methodist church, St. James's episcopal church, the Young Woman's christian association building, the Church of the Holy Spirit, Phillips presbyterian church, the New York club building, the Railroad men's building, St. Augustine chapel, Grace chapel, and the Mott Haven railroad station, all in New York City.

Robertson, Robert Stoddart, soldier, lawyer, lieutenant-governor, was born April 16, 1839, in North Argyle, N.Y. He served as a soldier during the civil war; and was promoted to colonel of New York volunteers. In 1871-76 he was register in bankruptcy; in 1886-88 he was lieutenant-governor of Indiana; and in 1881-94 was a member of the Utah commission.

Robertson, Samuel Matthews, educator, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 1, 1852, in Plaquemine, La. He was a member of the Louisiana state legislature in 1879-83. In 1880 he was elected a member of the faculty of the Louisiana State university and Agricultural and Mechanical college; and filled the chair of natural history in that institution and the position of commandant of cadets until he was elected to the fiftieth congress to fill a vacancy. In 1887-1907 he was a representative from Louisiana to the fiftieth, fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third, fifty-fourth, fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh, fifty-eighth and fifty-ninth congresses as a democrat.

Robertson, Thomas Austin, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Sept. 9, 1848, in Hodgenville, Ky. He was twice elected school commissioner of La Rue county, Ky.; and afterward was elected county attorney. In 1877 he was elected a representative in the state legislature. In 1883-87 he was a representative from Kentucky to the forty-eighth and forty-ninth congresses as a democrat. He died July 18, 1892, in Elizabethtown, Ky.

Robertson, Thomas Bolling, lawyer, jurist, congressman, governor, was born in 1773 near Petersburg, Va. In 1805 he moved from Virginia to the territory of New Orleans; and became its attorney general. In 1807 he was secretary of the territory; and for a time acted as United States district attorney. In 1812-18 he was a representative from Louisiana to the twelfth, thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth congresses. He was the third governor of Louisiana in 1820-22; and resigned to accept the United States judgeship. He died Oct. 5, 1828, in White Sulphur Springs, Va.

Robertson, Thomas James, planter, United States senator, was born Aug. 3, 1823, in Fairfield county, S.C. In 1868-77 he was United States senator from South Carolina. He died Oct. 13, 1897, in Columbia, S.C.

Robertson, William H., lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born Oct. 10, 1823, in Bedford, N.Y. In 1838-49 he was a member of the New York state assembly; and in 1854 he was elected to the state senate. In 1856-67 he was judge of Westchester county. In 1867-69 he was a representative from New York to the fortieth congress; and in 1875 was elected to the state senate. He died Nov. 6, 1898, in Katanah, N.Y.

Robertson, Wyndham, governor, was born Jan. 26, 1803, in Manchester, Va. He was elected lieutenant-governor of Virginia in 1834; and in 1836-37 was acting governor. He died Feb. 11, 1888, in Washington county, Va.

Robeson, Andrew, lawyer, jurist. In 1693-1701 he was chief justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania.

Robeson, George Maxwell, soldier, lawyer, congressman, colonial officer, was born in 1827, in Warren county, N.J. In 1859 he was appointed prosecuting attorney for Camden county. On the outbreak of the civil war he was appointed a brigadier-general; and took an active part in the organization of troops. In 1867-69 he was attorney-general of New Jersey; and in 1869-77 he was secretary of the navy. In 1879-83 he was a representative from New Jersey to the forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses as a republican. He died Sept. 27, 1897, in Trenton, N.J.

Robeson, Henry Bellows, naval officer, was born Aug. 5, 1842, in New Haven, Conn. In 1863 he commanded a landing party from the New Ironsides in assault and capture of the confederate works on the lower part of Morris Island. He became a commodore in 1898; and was retired with rank of rear admiral.

Robeson, William P., soldier, was born in New Jersey. In 1861 he was first lieutenant in the third regiment New Jersey infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Sept. 15, 1881.

Robidoux, Joseph, pioneer, Indian trader, founder, was born Aug. 10, 1783, in St. Louis, Mo. He located in Chicago as an Indian trader. In 1809 he settled in Council Bluffs; and traded with the Indians there for thirteen years. In 1830 he became sole proprietor of a fur-trading post at St. Joseph, Mo. In 1843 he founded St. Joseph, Mo. He died May 27, 1868, in St. Joseph, Mo.

Robie, Edward Dunham, naval officer, was born Sept. 11, 1831, in Burlington, Vt. In 1852 he was appointed assistant engineer in the United States navy; was promoted through various grades; and in 1906 was retired with the rank of rear-admiral. He erected and operated the first line of electric telegraph ever seen in Japan. He died June 7, 1911, in Washington, D.C.

Robie, Frederick, soldier, lawyer, state senator, governor, congressman, was born

Aug. 12, 1822, in Gorham, Maine. He was a representative in the Maine state legislature for seven years, serving as speaker for two sessions; and was a state senator for two terms. He served as paymaster in the union army throughout the civil war. He was a member of the executive council of the governor of Maine for four years; and was made master of the Maine state grange of patrons of husbandry for eight years. In 1883-87 he was the twenty-ninth governor of Maine. In 1899 he was elected commander of the department of Maine grand army of the republic. He is now president of the fourth national bank of Portland, Maine.

Robie, Reuben, congressman, was born in Vermont. In 1851-53 he was a representative from New York to the thirty-second congress as a democrat. He died in Bath, N.Y.

Robie, Thomas, librarian, author, was born March 20, 1689, in Boston, Mass. He was librarian of Harvard college in 1712-13; and in 1714-23 was a tutor. He was the author of The Knowledge of Christ; and a paper on Alkaline Salts; and one on The Venom of the Spider. He died Aug. 28, 1729, in Boston, Mass.

Robins, Edward, journalist, author, was born March 2, 1862, in France. He was educated at a military academy in Philadelphia, Pa.; and has attained success in journalism. He is the author of Echoes of the Playhouse; Twelve Great Actors; Twelve Great Actresses; Life of General Sherman; and several juvenile works.

Robins, Henry Ephraim, clergyman, educator, college president, was born Sept. 30, 1827, in Hartford, Conn. In 1867-73 he was pastor of the First Baptist church of Rochester, N.Y.; and in 1873-82 he was president of Colby university of Waterville, Maine. In 1882-1904 he was professor of Christian ethics in Rochester theological seminary. He is the author of Harmony of Ethics with Theology; and The Christian Idea of Education Distinguished From the Secular Idea of Education.

Robins, Raymond, educator, clergyman, was born Sept. 17, 1873, in Staten Island, N.Y. He was educated in the public schools of Ohio, Kentucky and Florida; and graduated with the degree of LL.B. from the law department of the Columbian university of Washington, D.C. In 1896-97 he practiced law in San Francisco, Cal.; in 1898-99 was pastor of the First congregational church in Nome, Alaska; and in 1902-05 was superintendent of the Chicago municipal lodging house. Since 1904 he has been a lecturer in sociology at the university of Chicago. He is a member of the board of education of the city of Chicago.

Robins, Thomas, banker, author, was born Jan. 1, 1797, in Worcester county, Md. In 1852-79 he was president of the Philadelphia bank. He was at one time president of the common council of Philadelphia. He was the author of Notes of Travel. He died April 13, 1882, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Robinson, Albert Alonzo, civil engineer, railroad president, was born Oct. 21, 1844, in South Reading, Vt. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools of Milton, Wis.; and in 1869 graduated from the university of Michigan, from which institution he has received the degrees of C.E., B. S., M.S. and LL.D. In 1866-68 he was assistant on the United States lake surveys. In 1869-73 he was in the service of the St. Joseph and Denver city railroad, of which he became assistant engineer. In 1871 he became assistant engineer of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad; in 1873-90 was its chief engineer; in 1884-93 was also its second vice-president and general manager; and for several years was its president. He was also general manager of the Sonora railway of Mexico. In 1893-1906 he was president of the Mexican central railway company. During his engineering experience he has had direct charge of the construction of five thousand miles of railroad. As president of the Mexican central railroad he was in charge of the general business and affairs of the road with headquarters in New York City.

Robinson, Albert Gardner, journalist, author, was born Feb. 21, 1855, in Winchester, Mass. In 1871-98 he was in commercial life. During the Spanish-American war he was correspondent for the New York Evening Post in Porto Rico, Cuba, the Philippines and in South Africa. He is the author of The Porto Rico of To-Day; The Philippines; and Historical Review of the Period of Intervention.

Robinson, Alexander Kelley, lawyer, was born July 26, 1850, in Gallatin county, Ill. He comes of Virginia stock, and a descendant of Speaker Robinson of Virginia. He received a thorough education in the schools of Shawneetown and Lee county, Ill. He then studied law; and has since attained success in that profession in California. In 1890-92 he was district attorney of Placer county, Cal; and filled that office with distinction. He has a lucrative practice in Auburn, Cal.; and takes an active part in the public affairs of his city, county and state. He is a member of various fraternal orders; and has held numerous public positions of trust.

Robinson, Andrew Rose, educator, author, was born in 1845 in Canada. He is professor of dermatology at the New York polytechnic institute. He is the author of A Manual of Dermatology; and Cancer of the Skin.

Robinson, Mrs. Annie Douglas, author, poet, was born Jan. 12, 1842, in Plymouth, N.H. She is a writer of Bristol, N.H.; known under the nom de plume of Marian Douglas. She is the author of Picture Poems for Young Folks; Peter and Polly, or Home Life in New England One Hundred Years Ago; and Days We Remember.

Robinson, Aubrey, lawyer, planter, was born in 1853 in New Zealand. He practiced law in Boston, Mass. He established the Hawaiian sugar plantation of six thousand acres of land; and he also had a plantation at Kauai with more than one thousand acres of land.

Robinson, Beverley, physician, author, was born March 22, 1844, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1873 he has practiced medicine in New York City. He is the author of Inhalers and Inhalants; and Essays on Clinical Medicine.

Robinson, Byron, physician, surgeon, author, was born in Mineral Point, Wis. Since 1897 he has been professor of gynecology and abdominal surgery in the Illinois medical college; and is attending surgeon to the Francis Willard hospital of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of Practical Intestinal Surgery; Abdominal and Pelvic Brain; and other medical works.

Robinson, Charles, physician, lawyer, governor, author, was born July 21, 1818, in Hardwick, Mass. His father was a farmer, a strong abolitionist, and a descendant of the John Robinson of Plymouth colony fame. He received his education at the Hadley and Amherst academies, Amherst college and the medical schools of Pittsfield, Mass., and Woodstock, Vt. For many years he practiced his profession at Belchertown and Pittsfield, and at Springfield opened a hospital. In 1849 he went to California, suffered shipwreck on his return on the coast of Mexico; and while in California served in the legislature. After his return to Massachusetts he was editor of the Fitchburg News for two years; and in 1854 became identified with the free state movement in Kansas. Doubtless his influence in laying the foundation of that state was greater than any other single individual. He was elected governor of the territory, and in 1861 was the first governor of the state under the recognized constitution; and he became popularly known as the war governor of Kansas. He was instrumental in the establishment of the first school in Lawrence; was identified with the founding of the state university, of which he was regent for many years, and at his death bequeathed one hundred and fifty thousand dollars to that institution. For forty years he was identified with the best interests of the political and social affairs of the state; and the people of Kansas duly acknowledged his great and lasting service. He was the author of The Kansas Conflict. He died Aug. 17, 1894, at his home near Lawrence, Kans.

Robinson, Charles Alexander, educator, author, was born Feb. 22, 1871, in West Hebron, N.Y. In 1897-1903 he was professor of latin language and literature at Princeton university. Since 1903 he has been principal of Peekskill military academy of New York. He is the author of Outlines of Latin Prose Syntax; and other works.

Robinson, Charles Mulford, author, was born April 30, 1869, in Ramapole, N.Y. In 1891-1902 he was an editor of the Rochester Post-Express. In recent years he has devoted himself to the writing of magazine articles and to the making of expert reports for towns and cities on what can be done to improve and beautify them. Denver, Detroit, Colorado Springs. Honolulu, Los Angeles, Oakland, Dubuque, Cedar Rapids, San Jose, Santa Barbara and other places are among the cities that have issued such reports from him. He is the author of The Improvement of Towns and Cities; Modern Civic Art; The Call of the City; and other works.

Robinson, Charles Seymour, clergyman, author, was born March 31, 1829, in Bennington, Vt. He was a presbyterian clergyman of prominence in New York City; and well known as an hymnologist. Besides Laudes Domini, and other hymnals, he was the author of Church Work, a volume of sermons; Studies on the New Testament; Studies of Neglected Texts; The Pharaohs of the Bondage and the Exodus; Simon Peter, his Life and Work; Studies in Mark's Gospel; Simon Peter's Later Life and Labors; Sermons in Songs; and Sabbath Evening Sermons. He died Feb. 1, 1899, in New York City.

Robinson, Christopher, lawyer, diplomat, congressman, was born in Rhode Island. He was attorney general of Rhode Island; and in 1859-61 he was a representative from Rhode Island to the thirty-sixth congress. In 1861 he was appointed minister to Peru. He died in Rhode Island.

Robinson, Conway, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Sept. 15, 1805, in Richmond, Va. In 1860 he took up his residence at The Vineyard near Washington, D.C., and practiced in the supreme court. He devoted himself for many years to a revision of the civil and criminal code of Virginia; and he was the author of a number of valuable law works. He died Jan. 30, 1884, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Robinson, David, soldier, was born Nov. 4, 1754, in Hardwick, Mass. He served through the war of 1812, attaining for meritorious service the rank of major-general. He was sheriff of the county for twenty-two years; after which he was United States marshal for Vermont for eight years. He died Dec. 11, 1843, in Vermont.

Robinson, Doane, lawyer, journalist, author, poet, was born Oct. 19, 1856, in Sparta, Wis. In 1898 he established the Monthly South Dakotan, devoted to state history and literature. He is the author of History of South Dakota From the Earliest Times; Coteaus of Dakota in verse; and Brief History of South Dakota.

Robinson, Edith, litterateur, author, was born in 1858, in Massachusetts. She is the author of A Forced Acquaintance; Penhallow Tales; A Loyal Little Maid; A Little Puritan Rebel; A Little Daughter of Liberty; A Popular Boy and His Sisters; and A Little Puritan Cavalier.

Robinson, Edward, educator, clergyman, author, was born April 10, 1794, in Southington, Conn. He was a distinguished congregational clergyman; a professor in Union seminary in 1837-63; and the founder of the Bibliotheca Sacra. He was the author of Harmony of the Four Gospels, in Greek; Harmony of the Four Gospels, in English; Biblical Researches in Palestine; Physical Geography of the Holy Land; and A Greek and English Lexicon of the New Testament. He died Jan. 27, 1863, in New York City.

Robinson, Edward, merchant, state senator, congressman, was born in 1796, in Connecticut. He served two years in the Maine state senate. In 1837-39 he was a representative from Maine to the twenty-fifth congress; and in 1840 was a presidential elector. He died Feb. 20, 1857, in Thomaston, Maine.

Robinson, Edwin Arlington, author, poet, was born Dec. 22, 1869, in Head Tide, Maine. He is the author of The Torrent and The Night Before; The Children of the Night; and Captain Craig, poems.

Robinson, Ezekiel Gilman, clergyman, college president, author, was born March 23, 1815, in Attleborough, Mass. He was president of the Brown university in 1872-89. He was the author of Yale Lectures on Preaching; Principles and Practice of Morality; and Christian Evidences. He died June 13, 1894, in Boston, Mass.

Robinson, Fannie Ruth, educator, college president, was born in Carbondale, Pa. For seven years she was dean and president of Oxford college of Ohio; and is now head of Miss Robinson's school of Boston, Mass.

Robinson, Fayette, litterateur, author, was born in Virginia. He was the author of Mexico and Her Military Chieftains; Account of the Organization of the United States Army; California and the Gold Regions; Spanish Grammar; Wizard of the Wave, a romance; and a number of translations from the French. He died in 1859.

Robinson, Frank Torrey, journalist, author, was born in 1845, in Massachusetts. He is a journalist and art critic of Boston; and more recently one of the curators of the Metropolitan museum of New York City. He is the author of Quaint New England; Living New England Artists; and History of the Fifth Massachusetts Regiment of Volunteer Militia.

Robinson, Frank Upham, soldier, was born Oct. 7, 1841, in Geneseo, N.Y. In 1864 he was commissioned second lieutenant; and in 1865 was honorably mustered out. In 1888 he was appointed second lieutenant in the nineteenth United States infantry; in 1901 he was promoted major; and in 1905 was retired with the rank of brigadier-general.

Robinson, Franklin Clement, chemist, author, was born April 24, 1852, in East Orrington, Maine. Since 1874 he has been professor of chemistry in Bowdoin college of Brunswick, Maine. He is the author of The Metals; and Qualitative Analysis.

Robinson, George Dexter, lawyer, state senator, congressman, governor, was born Jan. 20, 1834, in Lexington, Mass. He was a representative in the Massachusetts state legislature in 1874, and a state senator in 1876. In 1877-85 he was a representative from Massachusetts to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh and forty-eighth congresses as a republican. In 1886-87 he was the thirty-third governor of Massachusetts. He died Feb. 22, 1896, in Chicopee, Mass.

Robinson, George Dorgue, soldier, was born in New York. In 1861 he was second lieutenant in the seventy-fifth regiment New York infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died April 13, 1873.

Robinson, George H., soldier. He attained the rank of general. He has been prominent in the business and public affairs of Birmingham, N.Y.

Robinson, Gifford Simeon, soldier, educator, lawyer, jurist, was born May 28, 1843, in Tremont, Ill. He received his early education in the district schools and at an academy. He attended the Illinois state normal school; and in 1869 graduated from the St. Louis law school. In 1895 he received the degree of LL.D. from the state university of Iowa. For one year he taught in a district school; and for two years taught in the Washington university at St. Louis, Mo. In 1870-88 he practiced law in Storm Lake, Iowa. In 1876-78 and 1882-86 he served in both houses of the Iowa state legislature. In 1888-90 he was judge of the supreme court of Iowa. In 1890-1900 he lectured in the law department of the state university of Iowa; and since 1900 has been a member of the board of control of the state institutions of Iowa.

Robinson, George Livingstone, theologian, archaeologist, author, was born Aug. 19, 1864, in West Hebron, N.Y. Since 1896 he has been professor of old testament literature and exegesis at Knox college of Toronto; and holds the same chair at the McCormick theological seminary of Chicago, Ill. He discovered the sixth and seventh wells of Beersheba; and discovered the original High Place at Petra, the capital of Edom. He is the author of Leaders of Israel.

Robinson, Mrs. Harriet Hanson, suffragist, author, poet, was born Feb. 8, 1825, in Boston, Mass. She was educated in the Boston primary and Lowell public schools. She is a prominent woman suffragist of Malden, Mass. In her early life she was one of the contributors to the noted Lowell Offering. She is the author of Massachusetts in the Woman Suffrage Movement; Captain Mary Miller, a drama; Early Factory Labor in New England; and The New Pandora, a drama in blank verse; Loom and Spindle; and Warrington Pen Portraits.

Robinson, Harry Perry, author, was born in 1860 in the East Indies. He is a brother of Phillip Robinson, the English writer. He is now president Railway Age and North-western Railroader of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of Men Born Equal, a novel; and monographs on railway topics.

Robinson, Henry Douglas, educator, clergyman, bishop, was born March 15, 1860, in Lowell, Mass. In 1884 he graduated from Racine college where he received the degrees of B.A., M.A. and D.D.; and did post-graduate work in the university of Chicago. In 1889-1900 he was head master; and since 1900 has been warden of Racine college. In 1888 he was ordained to the priesthood of the protestant episcopal church; and in 1907 was elected missionary bishop of Nevada. He is a member of the Wisconsin academy of sciences, arts and letters; and is president of the standing committee of the diocese of Milwaukee.

Robinson, Henry Lee, soldier, was born in New York. In 1862-65 he served in the civil war; and in 1865 he was brevetted colonel and brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Nov. 20, 1901.

Robinson, Horatio Nelson, educator, mathematician, author, was born Jan. 1, 1806, in Hartwick, N.Y. He was a mathematician and educator of Cincinnati, Ohio; after 1854 a resident of Eldridge, N.Y. He was the author of University Algebra; Mathematical Recreations; Treatise on Surveying and Navigation; Treatise on Astronomy; and Analytical Geometry and Conic Sections. He died Jan. 10, 1867, in Eldridge, N.Y.

Robinson, Ira E., lawyer, jurist, statesman, was born in 1870 in Taylor county, W. Va. He was educated at the West Virginia state normal school. He has been prosecuting attorney of Taylor county, W. Va.; and served as a member of the West Virginia state senate. Since 1907 he has been judge of the supreme court of appeals of West Virginia for term of 1907-16.

Robinson, J. F., governor. He was the twenty-first governor of Kentucky in 1861-63. He died in Kentucky.

Robinson, J. F., soldier, business man, jurist, was born Oct. 3, 1837, in Sabine county, Texas. He was educated in private schools of Uvalde county, Texas; and is a carpenter by profession. He has been county clerk of Uvalde county; chief justice of the police court of Uvalde county; and in 1876-88 was county judge of Kinney county, Texas. During the civil war he was captain of company B, thirty-third Texas cavalry; and is now commander of the John R. Baylor camp of North Carolina volunteers. He is now judge of the county court of Uvalde county, Texas.

Robinson, James C., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1822 in Edgar county, Ill. In 1859-65 and 1871-75 he was a representative from Illinois to the thirty-sixth, thirty-seventh, thirty-eighth, forty-second and forty-third congresses as a democrat. He died Nov. 3, 1886, in Springfield, Ill.

Robinson, James Harvey, educator, author, was born June 29, 1863, in Bloomington, Ill. Since 1895 he has been professor of history in Columbia university of New York City. He is the author of Petrarch; The First Modern Scholar and Man of Letters; Readings in European History; and The Development of Modern Europe.

Robinson, James M., machinist, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1861 in Allen county, Ind. At the age of fifteen he took employment in a shop at Fort Wayne as a machine hand, and from that time till the present has supported and kept house with his mother; and while working at his trade he studied law. In 1881 he entered the office of Judge Walpole G. Colerick, who was then in congress; and in 1882 was admitted to practice in the state and United States courts. In 1886-90 he was prosecuting attorney. In 1897-1905 he was a representative from Indiana to the fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh and fifty-eighth congresses as a democrat.

Robinson, James Sidney, soldier, journalist, state legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 14, 1827, near Mansfield, Ohio. In 1856 he was elected chief clerk of the Ohio house of representatives, and served two terms. He enlisted in the union army in 1861; and served throughout the civil war, rising to the rank of brigadier-general and brevet major-general. In 1881-85 he was a representative from Ohio to the forty-seventh and forty-eighth congresses as a republican. He died Jan. 14, 1892, in Toledo, Ohio.

Robinson, James W., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 28, 1826, in Union county, Ohio. He was elected to the Ohio legislature in 1858, 1860, and 1864; and in 1873-75 he was a representative to the forty-third congress. He died in Ohio.

Robinson, Jane Bancroft, founder, author, was born about 1852. In 1888 she took charge of the deaconesses work of the home missionary society; and was instrumental in establishing the Lucy Webb Hayes natural training school and the Sibley hospital. In 1900 a training school at San Francisco, Cal. She is the author of Deaconesses in Europe and Their Lessons for America.

Robinson, Joe T., lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born Aug. 26, 1872, in Lonoke, Ark. He was educated in the common schools and at the university of Arkansas. In 1895 he was a member of the Arkansas state legislature. He was a presidential elector in 1900. He is a successful lawyer of Lonoke, Ark. In 1903-11 he was a representative from Arkansas to the fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth, sixtieth and sixty-first congresses as a democrat.

Robinson, John, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 8, 1768, in Cabarrus county, N.C. In 1801-05 he preached in Poplar Tent, N.C.; and then in Fayetteville in 1805-18, when he returned to Poplar Tent. He was the author of Eulogy on Washington. He died Dec. 14, 1843, in Poplar Tent, N.C.

Robinson, John, botanist, author, was born July 13, 1846, in Salem, Mass. For several years he was botanist of the Massachusetts horticultural society. Since 1875 he has been trustee of the Peabody academy of science of Salem, Mass. He is the author of Ferns and Their Homes and Ours; Flora of Essex county, Mass; and Trees of Salem and Vicinity.

Robinson, John Buchanan, naval officer, journalist, congressman, was born May 23, 1846, in Allegheny City. He is at present proprietor of the Media Ledger. He was a member of the state legislature in 1884-88; and was elected to the state senate in 1889. In 1891-97 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the fifty-second, fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses as a republican.

In 1900 he was appointed United States marshal for the eastern district of Pennsylvania.

Robinson, John Bunyan, clergyman, lecturer, author, poet, was born April 11, 1834, in Warren county, Ohio. In 1860 he graduated from Ohio Wesleyan university; and has been successively president of Mount Washington seminary, Willoughby college, Fort Wayne college, New Hampshire seminary and female college, Grand Prairie seminary, and Jennings seminary. He has lectured extensively in New England lecture bureau. He is the author of Infidelity Answered; Vines of Eschol; Serpent of Sugar Creek; Commencements; Epworth League; Trend of the Republic; Preachers' Pilgrimage; and other prose works; and two volumes of poetical works entitled Emeline, and New Woman.

Robinson, John Cleveland, soldier, lieutenant-governor, was born April 10, 1817, in Binghamton, N.Y. He was brevetted a major-general of the United States army. He participated in the Mexican war, Seminole war, Indian troubles in Texas, Mormon troubles in Utah, and served through the civil war; and about 1886 retired from active service. In 1872 he was chosen lieutenant-governor of his state; and in 1877-79 was commander-in-chief of the Grand army of the republic. He died Feb. 18, 1897, in Binghamton, N.Y.

Robinson, John Edward, clergyman, bishop, author, was born Feb. 12, 1849, in Ireland. In 1874-1904 he was a methodist episcopal missionary in India and Burmah; and since 1904 has been missionary bishop for Southern Asia. He is the author of Rise and Progress of Methodism; and Apostolic Succession.

Robinson, John Hovey, physician, author, was born in 1825, in Maine. He was the author of White Rover; Nightshade; and Silver-Knife. He died about 1890.

Robinson, John Kelly, manufacturer, financier, was born May 26, 1842, in Summit county, Ohio. In 1863 he established a match manufacturing company. He obtained a patent for the manufacturing of diamond shape matches, and became one of the largest match manufacturers in the United States. He is vice-president of the Sterling boiler company; vice-president of the Diamond rubber company; and vice-president of the Carrara paint company of Washington, D.C.

Robinson, John L., congressman, was born in Kentucky. In 1847-53 he was a representative from Indiana to the thirtieth, thirty-first and thirty-second congresses. In 1853 he was appointed United States marshal for the southern district of Indiana. He died March 21, 1860, in Rushville, Ind.

Robinson, John M., lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born in 1793, in Kentucky. He was one of the early settlers of Illinois; and one of the judges of the supreme court of that state. In 1829-41 he was a United States senator. He died April 27, 1843, in Ottawa, Ill.

Robinson, John S., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born May 4, 1856, in Wheeling, W. Va. In 1886-93 he was county attorney of Madison county, Neb.; in 1893 he was elected judge of the ninth judicial district of Nebraska, and re-elected in 1895. In 1899-1903 he was a representative from Nebraska to the fifty-sixth and fifty-seventh congresses as a democrat.

Robinson, John Staniford, lawyer, state legislator, governor, was born Nov. 10, 1804, in Bennington, Vt. He was for many years in the state legislature; and was the nineteenth governor of Vermont in 1853-54. He died April 24, 1860, in Charleston, S.C.

Robinson, Jonathan, lawyer, legislator, jurist, United States senator, was born Aug. 24, 1756, in Hardwick, Mass. He was appointed chief justice of Vermont in 1801; and in 1807-15 he was United States senator. In 1815 he became judge of probate and held the office for four years; and in 1818 again represented Bennington in the legislature. He died Nov. 3, 1819, in Bennington, Vt.

Robinson, Joseph Taylor, United States senator, was born Aug. 26, 1872. For eight years he was a member of congress. He is now a member of the United States senate for the term of 1916-19.

Robinson, Mrs. Leora Bettison, educator, author, was born June 8, 1840, in Little Rock, Ark. Together with her husband she established the Holyoke academy of Louisville, Ky. She is the author of House with Spectacles; Than; Patsy; and other works.

Robinson, Lewis Wood, naval officer, civil engineer, was born March 7, 1840, near Haddonfield, N.J. In 1861 he entered the United States navy as third assistant engineer; in 1864-65 was chief engineer of the Kennebec; and in 1886 became first assistant engineer with the rank of lieutenant. At the United States centennial exposition in 1876 he was general superintendent of the bureau of machinery; and in 1891 became chief of the department of machinery in the World's Columbian exposition of Chicago, Ill. In 1895 he became commander; was made captain in 1898; and in 1901 was retired as rear-admiral after forty years of active service in the navy. He died Feb. 16, 1903, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Robinson, Lucius, lawyer, state legislator, governor, was born Nov. 4, 1810, in Windham, N.Y. In 1837-40 he was district attorney of Greene county, N.Y. In 1840 he moved to New York City; and in 1843 was appointed commissioner in chancery. In 1859-61 he was a representative in the New York legislature. In 1861-65 he was comptroller of the state. In 1871 he was a member of the state constitutional commission. In 1877-79 he was the twenty-sixth governor of New York. He died March 21, 1891, in Elmira, N.Y.

Robinson, Mrs. Martha Harrison, litterateur, author, was born in Virginia. She is a writer of Philadelphia Pa.; and is the author of a number of translations from the French, and Helen Erskine, an original novel.

Robinson, Martin L., educator, lawyer, was born Oct. 18, 1860, in Paintsville, Ky. For fifteen years he was engaged in educational work; and is now a successful lawyer of Boons Camp, Ky., where he is prominent in public affairs.

Robinson, Mrs. Mary Dummett, litterateur, author, was born in Houlton, Maine. She is a novelist of Lancaster, Pa. She is the author of Twisted Threads; Sidney Elliot; The Enchanted Princess; Clyde Wardleigh's Promise; Eva's Adventures in Shadowland; and Colonel Robinson's Boys.

Robinson, Mary Yandes, educator, artist, author, was born April 22, 1864, in Milwaukee, Wis. For nine years she was a teacher of art in the girls' classical school of Indianapolis, Ind.; and is now an art teacher of private classes. She is the author of Songs of the Trees.

Robinson, Merritt M., lawyer, author, was born about 1810 in Louisiana. He was the reporter of the supreme court of Louisiana in 1841-47. He was the author of Digest of the Penal Laws of Louisiana, Analytically Arranged. His Reports, comprising sixteen volumes, including four that he edited, were enriched with valuable marginal notes. He died June 5, 1850, in Louisiana.

Robinson, Milton Stapp, soldier, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born April 20, 1832, in Versailles, Ind. He entered the army as lieutenant-colonel; and rose to the rank of brevet brigadier-general. He was a member of the state senate in 1867-70; and in 1875-79 he was a representative from Indiana to the forty-fourth and forty-fifth congresses as a republican. In 1891 he was chief justice of the appellate court of Indiana. He died July 28, 1892, in Anderson, Ind.

Robinson, Orrin W., lumber merchant, state senator, lieutenant governor, was born Aug. 12, 1834, in Claremont, N.H. He was educated in the public schools and academies of New England. In 1873 he organized the Sturgeon river lumber company of Chassell, Mich., of which he is still president. He was a member of the Michigan house of representatives in 1895 and 1896; served with distinction as a member of the state senate in 1897-98; and served on several important committees. In 1899-1902 he was lieutenant-governor of Michigan, which position he filled with honor.

Robinson, Moses, state legislator, governor, United States senator, was born March 15, 1741, in Hardwick, Mass. He served in the legislature of Vermont; and was republican governor in 1789-90. In 1791-97 he was United States senator from Vermont. He died May 26, 1813, in Bennington, Vt.

Robinson, Orville, congressman, was born in Mexico, N.Y. In 1843-45 he was a representative from New York to the twenty-eighth congress; and also served four years in the assembly of that state from Oswego county. He died in New York.

Robinson, Rowland Evans, farmer, author, was born May 14, 1833, in Ferrisburgh, Vt. He was a farmer of Ferrisburgh, Vt.; and widely known as the blind author. He is the author of Danvis Folks, a novel; Vermont; a Study of Independence; Uncle Lisha's Outing; In New England Woods and Fields; In the Green Wood; Sam Lovell's Camps; and other works. He died Oct. 15, 1900, in Ferrisburgh, Vt.

Robinson, Samuel, soldier, pioneer, was born April 4, 1707, in Cambridge, Mass. He formed a company at Hardwick, purchased the rights of the original grantees of lands, and taking a colony with him in 1761, settled Bennington, this being the first town in what is now Vermont. He was the acknowledged leader in the band of pioneers in the settlement of the town, and continued to exercise a controlling influence in its affairs during the remainder of his life. He died Oct. 27, 1767, in London, England.

Robinson, Samuel, soldier, was born Aug. 9, 1738, in Hardwick, Mass. He was the first justice of the peace appointed in town under the authority of Vermont in 1778; and was also during the same year one of the judges of a special court. He died May 3, 1813, in Bennington, Vt.

Robinson, Sara Tappan Doolittle, author, was born July 12, 1827, in Belchertown, Mass. She is the wife of the late ex-Governor Charles Robinson, frequently called the war governor of Kansas. She received a thorough education in the classical school of her native city. Mrs. Robinson is the author of Kansas, Its Interior and Exterior Life, a book which was widely circulated and had great influence in the Kansas struggle. She is a pleasing writer, and has contributed extensively to the periodical press. She is the daughter of Myron Lawrence, a distinguished lawyer, who did his state great honor in various public capacities.

Robinson, Selon, journalist, author, was born Oct. 21, 1803, near Tolland, Conn. He was a journalist of New York City; long known as an agricultural writer for The Tribune; and after 1870 a resident of Jacksonville, Fla. He was the author of Hot Corn, or Life Scenes in New York, a very popular book for a short period; Facts for Farmers, which was extensively circulated; How to Live, or Domestic Economy Illustrated; and Me-won-i-toc. He died Nov. 3, 1880, in Jacksonville, Fla.

Robinson, Stillman Williams, educator, civil engineer, inventor, author, was born March 6, 1838, in South Reading, Vt. In 1863 he graduated from the university of Michigan with the degree of C.E.; and subsequently received the degree of D.Sc. from the Ohio state university. He served four years' apprenticeship in a machine shop. His first invention was a thermometer graduating machine; and he has since taken out nearly fifty patents. In 1863-66 he was assistant engineer on the United States lake survey. In 1866-70 he was assistant engineer of geodesy and mining at the university of Michigan; in 1870-78 was professor of mechanical engineering at the university of Illinois; and in 1878-94 was professor of mechanical engineering at the Ohio state university. He resigned to care for his inventions; and is now professor emeritus. In 1880-84 he was inspector of railways of Ohio; in 1888-90 was consulting engineer to the Santa Fe railway; and in 1887 was consulting engineer to the Lick telescope mountings. He is president of the Robinson and Tilton machinery company; and resides in Columbus, Ohio. He is the author of Railroad Economics; Strength of Wrought Iron Bridge Members; Gearing and Odontograph; and Principles of Mechanism.

Robinson, Stuart, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 14, 1814, in Ireland. He was a presbyterian clergyman of prominence in Louisville. He was the author of Discourses of Redemption; and The Church of God. He died Oct. 5, 1881, in Louisville, Ky.

Robinson, Mrs. Suzanne Antrobus, litterateur, author, was born in Michigan. She is the author of The King's Messenger.

Robinson, Sylvester, lawyer, jurist. In 1790-92 he was associate justice of the supreme court of Rhode Island.

Robinson, Mrs. Therese Albertine Louise, litterateur, author, was born in 1797 in Georgia. She wrote both in English and German, using the pseudonym Talvi in the latter case. She was the author of Charakteristik der Volkslieder germanischen Nationen; Die Unechtheit der Lieder Ossians; Aus der Geschichte der ersten Ansiedelungen in den Vereinigten Staaten; Die Colonisation von New England; Fifteen Years, a Picture from the Last Century; Historical View of the Language and Litera- ture of the Slavic Nations. She also wrote a number of stories which her daughter translated from the German, including Psyche; Heloise; Life's Discipline; and The Exiles. She died in 1869.

Robinson, Thomas, congressman, was born in Sussex county, Del. In 1839-41 he was a representative from Delaware to the twenty-sixth congress. He died Oct. 28, 1843, in Sussex county, Del.

Robinson, Thomas, painter, artist, was born Aug. 23, 1835, in Pietou, N.S. He has attained a national reputation throughout the United States as a noted artist. He died March 1, 1888, in Providence, R.I.

Robinson, Tracy, government official, author, was born Dec. 22, 1833, in Clarendon, N.Y. In 1863-68 and 1892 he was American vice-consul to Colon, Canada. He is the author of Song of the Palm and Other Poems; Selections from the Poetry of John Payne; and Panama, Recollections of Forty-six Years.

Robinson, Walteur M., lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 27, 1850, near Paris, Mo. In 1895-1905 he was judge of the state supreme court of Missouri; and in 1903 became chief justice.

Robinson, William Andrew, soldier, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1861 he was first lieutenant in the seventy-seventh regiment Pennsylvania infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He was honorably mustered out in 1865.

Robinson, William Callyhan, clergyman, lawyer, legislator, jurist, author, was born July 26, 1834, in Norwich, Conn. Since 1895 he has been dean of the law schools in the Catholic university of America at Washington, D.C. In 1865-95 he practiced law in New Haven, Conn.; in 1869-71 was judge of the city court of New Haven, Conn.; and in 1874-76 was judge of the court of common pleas. He is the author of Life of Ebenezer Beriah Kelly; Notes on Elementary Law; Elementary Law; Clavis Rerum; Law of Patents.

Robinson, William Erigena, journalist, lawyer, congressman, was born May 6, 1814, in Ireland. He was a frequent writer for the New York Herald; and in 1844 became identified with the New York Tribune, signing his communications Richelieu. He practiced law in New York in 1853-62; and in 1862 was appointed United States assessor of internal revenue for the city of Brooklyn. In 1867-69 and 1881-85 he was a representative from New York to the fortieth, forty-seventh and forty-eighth congresses as a democrat. He died Jan. 23, 1892, in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Robinson, William S., painter, artist, was born in East Gloucester, Mass. He is represented in many important collections; and has received honors at the Paris, Buffalo and St. Louis expositions. He is a national academician.

Robinson, William Stevens Warrington, journalist, author, was born Dec. 7, 1818, in Concord, Mass. He was long known as the Boston correspondent of the New York Tribune and the Springfield Republican. He was the author of The Salary Grab; Manual of Parliamentary Practice; Warrington's Pen Portraits; and Personal and Political. He died March 11, 1876, in Malden, Mass.

Robinson, David F., congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1855-57 he was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania to the thirty-fourth congress. He died in Chambersburg, Pa.

Robison, James Dickey, surgeon, was born April 23, 1820, in Wooster, Ohio. During the Mexican war he was surgeon in the third regiment Ohio infantry; and during the civil war was commissioned surgeon in the sixteenth Ohio infantry. He performed the first amputation made during the civil war. He died May 10, 1895, in Wooster, Ohio.

Robison, John K., soldier, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1861 he was captain in the first regiment Pennsylvania infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He was honorably mustered out in 1865.

Robot, Isidore, clergyman, bishop. In 1886 he was Roman catholic bishop of Indian Territory; and resided in Atoka.

Robson, James A., lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 1, 1851, in Gorham, N.Y. In 1876-1903 he was engaged in the practice of law; and in 1903 was elected justice of the supreme court of New York for the term ending in 1918. In 1907 he was appointed an associate justice of the appellate division of the fourth department.

Robson, Stuart, actor, was born March 4, 1836, in Annapolis, Md. In 1852 he made his first appearance on the stage; and was a partner of W. H. Crane. He attained a national reputation throughout the United States as an actor; and starred in leading roles of legitimate comedy. He died April 29, 1903, in Highlands, N.J.

Robyn, Alfred George, musician, composer, was born April 29, 1860, in St. Louis, Mo. He is the author of the operettas, Beans and Buttons; Court Martial; Soldier in Petticoats; and A Slim Legacy. Among his popular ballads are: Good-night; Answer; Yearning; To Thee Alone; Love Unending; and It Was a Dream.

Roche, George, lawyer, jurist. In 1715 he was an associate justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania.

Roche, James Jeffrey, journalist, author, was born May 31, 1847, in Ireland. In 1890-1905 he was editor of The Pilot in Boston, Mass. He was the author of Songs and Satires; Ballads of Blue Water; Life of John Boyle O'Reilly; The Story of the Filibusters; and His Majesty the King. He died Feb. 3, 1908, in Boston, Mass.

Roche, John D., journalist, state senator, was born Nov. 6, 1870, in Evansville, Ind. He was educated in the public and private schools of Evansville and Mt. Vernon, Ind. He is a successful journalist; and now editor of the Mt. Vernon Democrat of Indiana. During President Cleveland's first term he was deputy postmaster of Mt. Vernon, Ind.; and in 1891 he was committee clerk in the Indiana house of representatives. He is an active member of the democratic party; and has been secretary of the first district democratic committee. He is a member of the Indiana state senate for the term of 1902-06.

Roche, Joseph F., clergyman, author, was born Jan. 3, 1865, in Canada. He was chancellor and secretary of Lincoln diocese; rector of the cathedral; and is now rector of present church of Dodge City, Neb. He is the author of Apostles Belief and Unbelief; and two other works bearing on the catholic doctrine.

Rochester, Nathaniel, soldier, was born Feb. 21, 1752, in Westmoreland county, Va. He was a major-general during the revolution. In 1818 he purchased large tracts of land in the Genesee valley; and settled in Rochester, which has been named after him. He died May 17, 1831, in Rochester, N.Y.

Rochester, Thomas Fortesque, physician, author, was born Oct. 8, 1823, in Rochester, N.Y. In 1853 he was appointed a professor in the medical department of the university of Buffalo; and in 1863 was appointed a special inspector of field hospitals. He was the author of The Army Surgeon; and Medical Men and Medical Matters in 1776. He died May 24, 1887, in Buffalo, N.Y.

Rochester, William Beatty, lawyer, jurist, congressman, governor, was born in Washington county, Md. In 1821-23 he was a representative from New York to the seventeenth congress. He subsequently held the office of circuit judge in New York. He died June 15, 1838, at sea.

Rochester, William Beatty, soldier, was born Feb. 15, 1826, in Angelica, N.Y. He entered the United States service as major and additional paymaster of volunteers in 1861. He was transferred to the permanent establishment as paymaster in 1867; and in 1882 was appointed paymaster-general of the army, with the rank of brigadier-general. He retired from the army in 1890.

Rockefeller, John Davison, capitalist, philanthropist, was born July 8, 1839, in Richford, N.Y. In 1870 the firm of Rockefeller, Andrews and Flagler dissolved and organized the Standard oil company of Ohio, with John D. Rockefeller as its president and William Rockefeller as vice-president. The Standard oil companies have been able to reduce the cost of oil to consumers, and they now own thousands of acres of oil lands, an extensive system of wells, refineries, pipe lines, oil steamships and business houses in all the principal cities of the United States and the representative cities of nearly every civilized country on the face of the globe. They control the greater part of the petroleum business of this country and export much of the oil used in other countries. He has made gifts of money to the village of Tarrytown for high-service water tower; to the city of Cleveland; to Vassar and Barnard colleges; to the Baptist missionary union and home missionary society; and upwards of seven millions to Chicago university.

Rockefeller, William, business president, capitalist, was born May 31, 1841, in Tioga county, N.Y. In 1865 he came to New York and established the firm of Rockefeller and company to sell and handle in this market the oils of the two concerns in Cleveland. In 1867 all three firms were dissolved to be succeeded by Rockefeller, Andrews and Flagler of Cleveland and New York City. William Rockefeller taking charge of the business in New York City. He is a director in New York Central railroad, and various other railroads, banks and other corporations.

Rockel, William Mahlon, lawyer, jurist, author, was born July 18, 1855, in Clark county, Ohio. He was educated in the public schools; in 1887 he was admitted to the bar; and has attained success as one of the foremost lawyers of Ohio at Springfield. He is probate judge of Clark county; and is prominent in the public affairs of his city, county and state. He is the author of Questions From Ohio Supreme Court; Ohio Mechanic's Lien Law; and Complete Guide for Township Officials.

Rockhill, William, congressman, was born in New Jersey. In 1847-49 he was a representative from Indiana to the thirtieth congress. He died in Indiana.

Rockhill, William Woodville, diplomat, author, was born April 2, 1859, in Pennsylvania. In 1897 he was appointed United States minister to Greece. He is the author of A Life of the Buddha and the Early History of his Church; Land of the Lamas; Diary of a Journey in Mongolia and Thibet; and Notes on the Ethnology of Thibet.

Rockwell, Alfred Perkins, soldier, mining engineer, author, was born Oct. 15, 1834, in Norwich, Conn. He served three years in the union army during the civil war as captain of the first Connecticut light battery; later was colonel of the sixth Connecticut infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general in the United States volunteers. He then became professor of mining at the Sheffield scientific school; and in 1868-73 held the same position at the Massachusetts institute of technology. After the great Boston fire he was made chief of the fire department; and reorganized it upon an efficient basis. In 1876-79 he was president of the Eastern railway company; and in 1879-86 was treasurer of the Great Falls manufacturing company. He was the author of Roads and Pavements in France. He died Dec. 24, 1903, in New Haven, Conn.

Rockwell, Alphonso David, physician, surgeon, author, was born May 18, 1840, in New Canaan, Conn. He is a physician of New York City; and during the civil war was surgeon of the sixth Ohio volunteer cavalry. He is the author of Relation of Electricity to Medicine and Surgery; and Medical and Surgical Uses of Electricity.

Rockwell, Charles, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 22, 1808, in Colebrook, Conn. He was a congregational clergyman; and held pastorates in the New England and other states. He was the author of Sketches of Foreign Travel and Life at Sea; and The Catskill Mountains and the Region Around. He died April 17, 1882, in Albany, N.Y.

Rockwell, Charles Henry, naval officer, was born April 29, 1840, in Chatham, N.Y. In 1862 he entered the naval service of the United States as acting master. In 1888 was promoted commander; and in 1902 retired with the rank of rear-admiral. He died in 1908 in Chatham, Mass.

Rockwell, Francis W., lawyer, banker, jurist, congressman, governor, was born May 26, 1844, in Pittsfield, Mass. In 1873 he was appointed one of the special justices of the district court of Central Berkshire, Mass. In 1879 he was elected a representative in the state legislature; in 1881-82 was a state senator. In 1883-91 he was a representative from Massachusetts to the forty-eighth, forty-ninth, fiftieth and fifty-first congresses as a republican. From its incorporation in 1893 he has been president of the City savings bank of Pittsfield, Mass.

Rockwell, Hosea H., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1840 in Tioga county, N.Y. Since 1880 he has practiced law in Elmira, N.Y. He was a member of the New York state assembly in 1877; for several years was city attorney of Elmira; and in 1891-93 he was a representative from New York to the fifty-second congress as a democrat.

Rockwell, James Otis, journalist, poet, was born Nov. 3, 1808, in Lebanon, Conn. In 1829 he became editor of the Providence Patriot. Some of his poetry is preserved in Poets of Connecticut. He died June 7, 1831, in Providence, R.I.

Rockwell, Joel Edson, clergyman, author, was born May 4, 1816, in Salisbury, Vt. He was a presbyterian clergyman of Stapleton, Staten Island; and was editor of Sabbath School Visitor in 1852-60. He was the author of Sketches of the Presbyterian Church; The Young Christian Warned; Scenes and Impressions Abroad, My Sheet Anchor; and Seed Thoughts. He died July 29, 1882, in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Rockwell, John Arnold, lawyer, jurist, author, congressman, was born Aug. 27, 1803, in Norwich, Conn. He was twice elected to the Connecticut state senate; and was at one time judge of the county court for New London county. In 1845-49 he was a representative from Connecticut to the twenty-ninth and thirtieth congresses. He was the author of Spanish and American Law in Relation to Mines and Titles to Real Estate. He died Feb. 10, 1861, in Washington, D.C.

Rockwell, Julius, journalist, lawyer, jurist, congressman, United States senator, was born April 26, 1805, in Colebrook, Conn. In 1843-51 he was a representative from Massachusetts to the twenty-eighth, twenty-ninth and thirtieth congresses; and in 1853-55 he was United States senator; and was appointed one of the judges of the superior court of Massachusetts in 1859. He died May 19, 1888, in Lenox, Mass.

Rockwell, Julius Ensign, editor, author, was born March 3, 1860, in Millbury, Mass. In 1880 he was secretary of the United States commission to the international fisheries exposition held at Berlin; and then for seven years was a stenographer in the patent office. Since 1902 he has been editor of the bureau of plant industry for the department of agriculture at Washington, D.C. He is the author of Shorthand Instruction and Practice.

Rockwell, William Hayden, physician, surgeon, author, was born Sept. 21, 1867, in Brattleboro, Vt. Since 1892 he has practiced his profession in New York City. He is the author of Pocket Textbook of Chemistry and Physics; and Pocket Textbook of Anatomy.

Rockwood, Charles Greene, banker, was born July 19, 1814, in Boston, Mass. For forty-five years he was cashier and then president of the National Newark banking company of Newark, N.J. He died July 17, 1904, in Caldwell, N.J.

Rockwood, Charles Greene, educator, mathematician, was born Jan. 11, 1843, in New York City. He filled the chair of mathematics in Bowdoin college in 1868-73; Rutgers college in 1873-77; and the Princeton university in 1877-1905. He died July 2, 1913.

Rockwood, Elbert William, educator, chemist, author, was born July 4, 1860, in Franklin, Mass. Since 1888 he has been instructor at the university of Iowa, where he is now head of the department of chemistry. He is the author of A Laboratory Manual of Physiological Chemistry; and Introduction to Chemical Analysis for Medical Students.

Rockwood, Frank E., educator, author, was born Dec. 20, 1852, in Franklin, Mass. For ten years he taught in the South Jersey institute; and is now professor of Latin and dean of Bucknell university of Lewisburg, Pa. He is the author of Roman History; Scipio's Dream; and other Latin textbooks.

Rockwood, George Gardner, journalist, photographer, lecturer, inventor, author, was born April 12, 1832, in Troy, N.Y. He was managing editor of the Troy Daily Post, Troy, N. Y. He became interested in photography in 1855; was the first to make the carte de visite photograph in this country; and has made many inventions. He was the author of the scientific hoax, Brain Pictures, which appeared in a New York paper in 1887. He died July 11, 1911, in Lakeville, Conn.

Roddenberry, Seaborn Anderson, congressman, was born Jan. 12, 1870, in Decatur county, Ga. He has been an educator and lawyer; and was judge of the county court office four years. In 1910-15 he was a representative to the sixty-first, sixty-second and sixty-third congresses as a democrat.

Roddey, Philip Dale, soldier, was born in 1818 in North Carolina. He organized a company of scouts early in 1861 for the confederate service, and subsequently a brigade; and was commissioned brigadier-general in 1863. He died about 1900 in London, England.

Roddey, William H., merchant, lawyer, public official, was born Dec. 28, 1858, in Kenosha county, Wis. He is a successful merchant of Brookings, S. D.; and has been assistant attorney-general; in 1890-1900 he was secretary of state of South Dakota.

Rodenberg, William A., government official, congressman, was born Oct. 30, 1865, in Chester, Ill. In 1884 he graduated from the Central Wesleyan college with the degree of A.M. In 1890 he was admitted to the practice of law. In 1896 he was a delegate to the national republican convention; and in 1901-02 was United States civil service commissioner. In 1890-1901 and 1903-11 he was a representative from Illinois to the fifty-sixth, fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth, sixtieth and sixty-first congresses as a republican.

Rodenbough, Theophilus Francis, soldier, author, was born Nov. 5, 1838, in Easton, Pa. He was a federal army officer; and assistant inspector-general of New York state in 1880-83. He is the author of From Everglade to Canon with the Second United States Cavalry; Afganistan and the Anglo-Russian Dispute; and Uncle Sam's Medal of Honor.

Rodes, Robert Emmett, soldier, was born March 29, 1826, in Lynchburg, Va. He served in the confederate army during the civil war; and attained the rank of major-general. He died Sept. 19, 1864, in Winchester, Va.

Rodey, Bernard Shandon, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born in 1856 in Ireland. In 1882 he was court stenographer of the second district of New Mexico; was city attorney of Albuquerque in 1888-89; and a member of the territorial legislative council in 1889. In 1901-05 he was a representative from New Mexico to the fifty-seventh and fifty-eighth congresses as a republican.

Rodger, James George, educator, lecturer, author, was born July 4, 1852, in Hammond, N.Y. He became president of Benzonia college of Michigan; and he resigned in 1897 to lecture on the Evidences of Christianity from a Scientific Basis. He is the author of Adolphus, a religious drama.

Rodgers, Christopher Raymond Perry, naval officer, was born Nov. 14, 1819, in Brooklyn, N.Y. He served in the United States navy; in 1874 was commissioned rear-admiral; and was retired from active service about 1886. He died Jan. 8, 1892, in Washington, D.C.

Rodgers, Frederick, naval officer, was born Oct. 3, 1842, in Maryland. During the civil war he attained the rank of lieutenant-commander. In 1897 he was president of the board of inspections and survey; became commodore in 1898; and was subsequently promoted to rear-admiral.

Rodgers, George Washington, naval officer, was born Feb. 22, 1787, in Hartford county, Md. He entered the navy as midshipman in 1804; was commissioned lieutenant in 1810; was commissioned captain in 1825; and at his death was commodore commanding the Brazil squadron. He died May 21, 1832, in South America.

Rodgers, John, naval officer, was born Aug. 8, 1812, in Harford county, Md. He served in the United States navy during the civil war; and attained the rank of rear-admiral. He was superintendent of the United States naval observatory at Washington in 1877-82. He died May 5, 1882, in Washington, D.C.

Rodgers, John C., soldier, was born in New York. In 1861 he was captain in the twenty-seventh regiment New York infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted lieutenant-colonel and brigadier-general of volunteers. He died May 6, 1897.

Rodgers, John Isaac, soldier, was born April 18, 1839, in Fayette county, Pa. In 1861 he was commissioned second lieutenant in the second artillery; and in 1898 attained the rank of brigadier-general. In 1902 he was retired with the rank of brigadier-general in the United States army. He has prepared Range Tables, Coast Artillery and Drill Regulations, published by the war department.

Rodgers, Molton Cropper, lawyer, jurist, In 1826 he was an associate justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania.

Rodgers, Samuel Andrew, lawyer, jurist, was born March 5, 1830, in Knox county, Tenn. In 1878 he was elected from London judge of the third judicial circuit court; and served for three successive terms of eight years each.

Rodman, Isaac Peace, soldier, manufacturer, state legislator, was born Aug. 18, 1822, in South Kingston, R.I. He sat in both houses of the Rhode Island legislature for several terms. He was made lieutenant-colonel of the fourth Rhode Island volunteers in 1861; and soon afterward was commissioned as brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Sept. 30, 1862, in Sharpsburg, Md.

Rodman, Thomas Jefferson, soldier, inventor, author, was born July 30, 1815, in Salem, Ind. He was an army officer; and was brevetted brigadier-general in 1865. He invented the method of hollow casting. He was the author of Report of Experiments on Metals for Cannon and Cannon Powder. He died June 7, 1871, in Rock Island, Ill.

Rodman, Warren Anson, educator, physician, author, poet, was born Feb. 10, 1855, in East Boston, Mass. In 1895-1902 he was secretary of the Metaphysical club of Boston, Mass. For ten years he practiced as an architect; and lectured on metaphysics for three years. He is the author of Fate and Law; The Story of an Optimist; and Trust Thyself.

Rodman, William, soldier, state legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 7, 1757, in Bensalem, Pa. He was for many years in the legislature of Pennsylvania; and in 1811-13 he was a representative to the twelfth congress. He died July 27, 1824, in Bensalem, Pa.

Rodney, Caesar, signer of the declaration of independence, governor, was born Oct. 7, 1728, in Dover, Del. He was high sheriff, justice of the peace, and a judge in his native county; and in 1762 was elected to the state legislature, serving several years, and as speaker in 1769. He was a delegate to the New York congress in 1765; and in 1774-78 and 1783-84 he was a delegate from Delaware to the continental congress. He was a signer of the declaration of independence. He was appointed judge of the supreme court of Delaware; also served for a time as general of militia; and was republican governor of Delaware in 1778-82. He died June 29, 1784, in Dover, Del.

Rodney, Caesar Augustus, lawyer, jurist, diplomat, congressman, author, United States senator, cabinet officer, was born Jan. 4, 1772, in Dover, Del. In 1803-05 and 1821-23 he was a representative from Delaware to the eighth and seventeenth congresses. In 1807-11 he was attorney-general of the United States. In 1821-23 he was United States senator; and in 1823 was appointed United States minister to Buenos Ayres. He was the author of Reports on the Present State of the United Provinces of South America. He died June 10, 1824, in Buenos Ayres.

Rodney, Caleb, governor. He was acting governor of Delaware in 1822-23. He died in Delaware.

Rodney, Daniel, congressman, governor, United States senator, was born in 1764 in Delaware. He was a presidential elector in 1809; and was the ninth governor of Delaware in 1814-17. In 1822-23 he was a representative from Delaware to the seventeenth congress; and in 1826-27 he was United States senator. He died Sept. 2, 1846, in Delaware.

Rodney, George B., congressman, was born in 1803 in New Castle, Del. In 1841-45 he was a representative from Delaware to the twenty-seventh and twenty-eighth congresses; and was a delegate in 1861 to the peace congress of Washington, D.C. He died June 18, 1883, in New Castle, Del.

Rodney, George Brydges, soldier, was born Oct. 17, 1842, in New Castle, Del. In 1861 he enlisted as a private soldier in the Pennsylvania artillery; and in 1869 graduated from the artillery school and was promoted captain. In 1903 he was retired at his own request with the rank of brigadier-general after forty years of service.

Rodney, Thomas, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born June 4, 1744, in Sussex county, Del. In 1781-83 and 1785-87 he was a delegate from Delaware to the continental congress. In 1803 he was appointed United States judge for the territory of Mississippi. He died Jan. 2, 1811, in Rodney, Miss.

Rodriguez, Jose Ignacio, lawyer, public official, author, was born Nov. 11, 1831, in Havana, Cuba. In 1869 he settled in the United States; and served in various capacities from Mexico in the United States and Mexican claim commission. He practiced law in Washington, D.C.; and was chief translator and librarian at the Columbus memorial library. He was the author of several works in Mexican. He died in 1907 in Washington, D.C.

Roe, Alfred Seelye, educator, legislator, author, was born June 8, 1844, in Rose, N.Y. He served as a soldier during the civil war. In 1892-

98 he was a member of the Massachusetts state legislature. He is the author of several books and pamphlets on educational, military and historical subjects. For many years he has been prominently identified with the educational and public affairs of his city and state, and has filled several positions of trust and honor.

Roe, Azel Stevens, merchant, author, was born Aug. 16, 1798, in New York City. He was for many years a wine merchant of New York City. He was the author of True to the Last; A Long Look Ahead; Time and Tide; To Love and To Be Loved;

James Montjoy; True Love Rewarded; How Could He Help It?; Looking Around; Woman Our Angel; and The Cloud in the Heart. He died Jan. 1, 1886, in East Windsor Hill, Conn.

Roe, Charles Francis, soldier, was born May 1, 1848, in New York City. In 1868 he graduated from the United States military academy; in 1880 became first lieutenant; and in 1888 resigned with the rank of adjutant. He was engaged in the real estate business in New York City. In 1898 he was appointed brigadier-general and major-general of the United States volunteers. He died in 1900, in New York City.

Roe, Edward Payson, clergyman, author, was born March 7, 1838, in New Windsor, N.Y. He was the author of Barriers Burned Away; Opening a Chestnut Burr; A Face Illumined; His Sombre Rivals; What Can She Do?; Near to Nature's Heart; From Jest to Earnest; A Knight of the Nineteenth Century; A Day of Fate; Without a Home; A Young Girl's Wooing; An Original Belle; Driven Back to Eden; Nature's Serial Story; The Earth Trembled; Miss Lou; Taken Alive, and Other Stories. He also published two horticultural books, The Home Acre; and Success with Small Fruits. He died July 19, 1888, in Cornwall, N.Y.

Roe, Edward Reynolds, litterateur, author. He is a novelist of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of Brought to Bay; The Grey and the Blue; God Reigns; Lay Sermons; From the Beaten Path; and May and June.

Roe, Francis Asbury, naval officer, genealogist, was born Oct. 4, 1823, in Elmira, N.Y. He served in the navy during the Mexican and civil wars; was commander of several United States battleships; and fought a fleet of pirate war junks in China in 1853. During his service in the United States navy he was promoted from midshipman to rear-admiral; and served with distinction in the Mexican and civil wars. He commanded the Pensacola during the battle of New Orleans. He retired from active service about 1901. He was the author of Genealogy of the Roe Family. He died Dec. 28, 1901, in Washington, D.C.

Roe, George Mortimer, journalist, author, was born Oct. 30, 1848, in Clyde, N.Y. In 1872 he became a reporter on the Cincinnati Gazette. In 1881-86 he was city editor of the Cincinnati Enquirer. He was managing editor of the Cincinnati Times-Star. He is the author of A History of the Cincinnati Police; and A History of Cincinnati.

Roe, J. E., litterateur, author. He is the author of Bacon's Drama of the DeFoe Period; and other works.

Roe, Joseph Franklin, physician, was born June 27, 1871, in Candor, N.Y. He attended Cornell university, graduated from the medical department of Cleveland college; and did post-graduate work in New York City and in Vienna and London. He is oculist and aurist to the Binghamton city hospital; and makes a specialty of diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat.

Roe, Mrs. Nora Ardelia Metcalf, litterateur, author, was born April 1, 1856, in Franklin, Mass. She is the wife of Alfred S. Roe of Worcester, Mass. She is the author of Two Little Street Singers.

Roebeling, John Augustus, civil engineer, author, was born June 12, 1806, in Prussia. He was a civil engineer of note; and built the suspension bridge across the Ohio between Cincinnati and Covington; and was the designer of the Brooklyn bridge. He was the author of Long and Short Span Railway Bridges. He died July 22, 1869, in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Roebeling, Washington Augustus, soldier, engineer, author, was born May 26, 1837, in Saxonburg, Pa. A suspension bridge was built over the Potomac at Harper's Ferry by him. Many balloon ascensions were made for reconnoitering purposes; and it was during one of these that he became the first to discover General Lee's army in motion for the march into Pennsylvania. Resigning in 1865 he took almost entire charge of building the suspension bridge in Cincinnati. Then came the Brooklyn bridge project, greatest work of all, undertaken first by his father. He is the author of Military Suspension Bridge.

Roehr, Julius Edward, lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born March 6, 1859, in Brooklyn, N.Y. He was educated in the public schools of Brooklyn; at a business college of Milwaukee; and at the university of Wisconsin, where he graduated from the law department with the degree of LL.B. Since 1881 he has practiced law in Milwaukee, Wis.; and has made a specialty of insurance law. Since 1888 he has been a circuit court commissioner. In 1890-1908 he was a member of the Wisconsin state senate; and was chairman on the committee of finance, banks and insurance. He is president of the Milwaukee county bar association; vice-president of the National valve company; a director of the Northern wire and cable company; president of the Krueger manufacturing company; president of the Badger mutual life stock insurance company; and president of the Bug gold mining company.

Roehrig, Frederic Louis Otto, educator, philologist, author, was born June 10, 1819, in Halle, Prussia. He graduated from the universities of Halle, Leipzig and Paris; studied at the medical school of Paris; and has received the degrees of A.M., Ph.D. and

M.D. In 1841 he was attached to the Prussian embassy at Constantinople; in 1849 was professor at the college Beziers of France; and in 1851 was lecturer at the Royal oriental academy of Paris. In 1861-67 he was acting assistant surgeon in the United States army; in 1869-85 was professor of Sanskrit and modern oriental languages at Cornell university; in 1886 filled the same chair at the university of southern California; in 1895 became lecturer on Semitic languages and oriental philology at the Leland Stanford university; and finally lecturer at Los Angeles conservatory of music and art. He is the author of books in many languages; and composer of numerous piano compositions.

Roelker, Bernard, lawyer, author, was born April 24, 1816, in Germany. In 1856 he removed to the city of New York, and entered the firm of Laur and Roelker; and established a large practice among the Germans. He was the author of Constitutions of France; Argument in Favor of the Constitutionality of the Legal-Tender Clause in the Act of Congress, Feb. 25, 1862; and Manual for the Use of Notaries Public and Bankers. He died March 5, 1888, in New York City.

Roelker, Charles Rafael, naval officer, was born in Hanover, Germany. In 1862 he was appointed from New York third assistant engineer in the United States navy. In 1890 he became chief engineer; in 1899 was promoted commander; and in 1903 was retired with the rank of rear-admiral.

Roemer, Jean, educator, college president, author, was born about 1815 in England. He was vice-president of the college of the city of New York in 1869. He was the author of Dictionary of English-French Idioms; Polyglot Readers; Cavalry; Principles of General Grammar; Cours de lecture et de traduction; Origins of the English People and Language; and Left in the Wilderness. He died Aug. 31, 1892, in Lenox, Mass.

Roeschlamb, Robert Sawers, soldier, designer, architect, was born July 6, 1843, in Bavaria. He served throughout the civil war; and attained the rank of captain. In 1874-1901 he was supervising architect in the school district of Denver; and designed the state normal school at Greeley, and the Chamberlain conservatory of the university of Denver, Col.

Roge, Mrs. Charlotte Fiske, educator, critic, poet, was born Nov. 30, 1838, in New York City. She taught for many years in Cambridge, Mass.; and now in Washington, D.C. She is the author of Risk and Other Poems; and edited The Cambridge Book of Poetry; Longfellow Birthday Book, Seven Voices of Sympathy; and several translations.

Rogers, Andrew J., educator, lawyer, congressman, was born July 1, 1828, in Hamburg, N. J. In 1863-67 he was a representative from New Jersey to the thirty-eighth and thirty-ninth congresses.

Rogers, Anthony A. C., merchant, congressman, was born Feb. 14, 1821, in Sumner county, Tenn. In 1869-71 he was a representative from Arkansas to the forty-first congress.

Rogers, Arthur, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 26, 1864, in Providence, R.I. Since 1899 he has been rector of the Holy Trinity church at West Chester, Pa. He is the author of Men and Movements in the English Church.

Rogers, Arthur Kenyon, educator, author, was born Dec. 27, 1868, in Dunellen, N.J. Since 1900 he has been professor of philosophy and education at the Butler college of Indianapolis, Ind. He is the author of A Brief Introduction to Modern Philosophy; A Student's History of Philosophy; and The Religious Conception of the World.

Rogers, Asa, soldier, civil engineer, legislator, politician, was born Aug. 20, 1836, in Oakham, Va. He was a civil engineer up to April, 1861, when he entered the confederate service as a lieutenant in the first Virginia cavalry; was promoted to captain after the battles around Richmond in 1862; and served till the surrender at Appomattox. He then again took up engineering, and was elected railroad commissioner in 1880. In 1884 he was elected to the Virginia state senate; and in 1885 was appointed collector of internal revenue by President Arthur. For seventeen years he has been secretary of the republican state committee of Virginia.

Rogers, Barton F., educator, clergyman, poet, was born July 23, 1831, in Piermont, N.H. For three years he was chaplain of the fifteenth Illinois infantry during the civil war. He is a universalist clergyman; and well known in his denomination as an organizer and builder of churches. He died March 4, 1897, in Atkinson, Wis.

Rogers, Charles, state legislator, congressman, was born in New York. He served in the assembly of New York from Washington county in 1833-37; and in 1843-45 he was a representative to the twenty-eighth congress. He died in Washington county, N.Y.

Rogers, Mrs. Clara Kathleen, musician, composer, was born Jan. 14, 1844, in Cheltenham, England. She is the daughter of John Barnett, the father of English opera. She settled in Boston as a concert-singer, singing-teacher, and composer. She is the author of Kiss Mine Eyelids, Lovely Morn; The Philosophy of Singing; and other compositions.

Rogers, Daniel, governor. He was the third governor of Delaware in 1797-98. He died in Delaware.

Rogers, Delia, musician, composer, was born about 1879 in Denver, Colo. She made her debut at St. Petersburg. She has sung in Milan, Roumania, Turkey, as well as in America.

Rogers, Ebenezer Platt, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 18, 1817, in New York City. In 1862-81 he was pastor of the South Reformed church of New York City. He was the author of Earnest Words to Young Men in a Series of Discourses; and Historical Discourse on the Reformed Protestant Dutch Church of Albany. He died Oct. 23, 1881, in Montclair, N.J.

Rogers, Edward, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1780 in Connecticut. He was for many years county judge of Madison county, N.Y. In 1839-41 he was a representative from New York to the twenty-sixth congress. He died May 23, 1857, in Galway, N.Y.

Rogers, Mrs. Emma, litterateur, author, She is the wife of the late William Barton Rogers of Boston, Mass. She edited several of his works, including Geology of the Girias; Pioneers of Science in America; and Life and Letters of William Barton Rogers.

Rogers, Eustace Barron, naval officer, was born May 29, 1855, in San Francisco, Cal. In 1879 he was appointed from California to the United States navy; and in 1906 was promoted paymaster general with the rank of rear-admiral.

Rogers, Ezekiel, clergyman, philanthropist, was born in 1590, in England. In 1638 he came with many of his Yorkshire friends to America; and began a new plantation, which he named Rowley. He bequeathed his library to Harvard college and his house and lands to the town of Rowley. He died Jan. 23, 1660, in Rowley, Mass.

Rogers, Fairman, educator, civil engineer, author, was born Nov. 15, 1833, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a professor of civil engineering in the university of Pennsylvania in 1855-70. He is the author of The Magnetism of Iron Vessels. He died in 1900, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Rogers, Franklin Whiting, artist, was born Aug. 27, 1854, in Cambridge, Mass. He has devoted himself especially to the painting of dogs. Among his paintings are The Two Friends; Steady; Resignation; Loo; and Mischief.

Rogers, G. Tracy, railway president, was born July 9, 1854, in Chenango Fork, N.Y. In 1889 he became identified with the street railway company of Binghamton, N.Y.; and is now president of the Binghamton railway company. He is also president of the Endicott land company of New York; and president and director in various other corporations.

Rogers, George, soldier, was born in Ohio. In 1861 he was captain in the fourth regiment Ohio infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers.

Rogers, George Blake, educator, college president, author, was born April 5, 1864, in Oshkosh, Wis. In 1887-1904 he filled professorships in various schools and colleges; and in 1895-1902 was in commercial pursuits in Cleveland, Ohio. Since 1904 he has been president of Baldwin university of Berea, Ohio. He is the author of Outlines of Brief History; and Outlines of Roman History.

Rogers, George Clarke, soldier, was born Nov. 22, 1838, in Piermont, N.H. He was the first to raise a company in Lake county, Ill., at the opening of the civil war. He became first lieutenant in 1861; and soon afterward was made captain. He commanded a brigade nearly two years, including the Atlanta campaign; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers.

Rogers, Henry Darwin, educator, geologist, author, was born Aug. 1, 1808, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was professor in the university of Pennsylvania in 1835-46; and held the chair of natural history in the Scottish university of Glasgow in 1857-66. He was the author of The Geology of Pennsylvania; and Geological Map of Pennsylvania. He died May 29, 1866, near Glasgow, Scotland.

Rogers, Henry H., capitalist, donor, was born in Fairhaven, Mass. He is one of the large stockholders and vice-president of the Standard oil company. He is president and a director of the Amalgamated copper company; president of the National transit company; president of the National fuel gas company; president of the New York transit company; and president of the Richmond light and railroad company. He has made many gifts to his native town, including a library, town hall and school.

Rogers, Henry J., inventor, was born in 1811 in Baltimore, Md. He devised the code of signals by means of flags that is known by his name, which was adopted by the United States navy in 1846, and modified in 1861. He also devised a code of signals by means of colored lights, which was the first pyrotechnic system invented. He died Aug. 20, 1879, in Baltimore, Md.

Rogers, Henry Wade, educator, lawyer, college president, author, was born Oct. 10, 1853, in Holland Patent, N.Y. In 1874 he graduated with the degree of A.B. from the university of Michigan, receiving the degree of A.M. in 1876; and in 1890 the honorary degree of LL.D. was conferred upon him by the Wesleyan university of Middletown, Conn. In 1883-85 he was professor of law and in 1885-90 was dean of law in the Michigan university law school. In 1890-1900 he was president of the Northwestern university of Evanston, Ill. In 1900-03 he was professor of law in Yale university law school; and since 1903 has been dean of Yale law school. In 1906-07 he was president of the association of American law schools. He is the author of Expert Testimony; and joint author of Two Centuries of American Law.

Rogers, Horatio, lawyer, jurist, author, was born May 18, 1836, in Providence, R.I. In 1864-67 and 1888-89 he was a member of the general assembly of Rhode Island. In 1891-1900 he was associate justice of the supreme court of Rhode Island. He was the author of The Private Libraries of Providence; Mary Dyer of Rhode Island, the Quaker Martyr; and edited Hadden's Journal and Orderly Books. He died in 1904 in Providence, R.I.

Rogers, Isaiah, architect, designer, was born Aug. 17, 1800, in Marshfield, Mass. He designed and built the Merchant's exchange, and the Howard athenaeum in Boston, Mass.; and the Merchant's exchange, Bank of America, and the Astor place opera house in New York City. In 1862-65 he was supervising architect of the United States treasury department of Washington, D.C. He died April 13, 1869, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Rogers, James, lawyer, congressman, was born in South Carolina. In 1835-37 and 1839-43 he was a representative from South Carolina to the twenty-fourth, twenty-sixth and twenty-seventh congresses. He died in South Carolina.

Rogers, James Clarence, soldier, was born in New York. In 1861 he was captain in the forty-third regiment New York infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He was honorably mustered out in 1865. He died Feb. 10, 1907, in Sandy Hill, N.Y.

Rogers, James Harris, electrician, inventor, was born July 13, 1850, in Franklin, Tenn. In 1877-83 he was electrician at the United States capitol in Washington, D.C. He was the inventor of the secret telephone that was sold in New York for eighty thousand dollars; also of the national improved telephone, and of the pan-electric system. He has lately devised what he calls visual synchronism.

Rogers, James Hotchkiss, musician, composer, was born Feb. 7, 1857, in Fair Haven, Conn. He is a successful musician of Cleveland, Ohio; and the author of a number of songs and compositions, some of which are Love is a Sickness; Once I Loved a Maiden Fair; and The Complacent Lover.

Rogers, James Webb, soldier, clergyman, lawyer, author, poet, was born July 11, 1822, in Hillsborough, N.C. During the civil war he was a confederate officer. He became a Roman catholic in 1878; and settled in Washington as a lawyer. He was the author of Lafitte, or the Greek Slave; Arlington, and Other Poems; and Parthenon. He died Jan. 2, 1896, in Washington, D.C.

Rogers, John, educator, college president, was born in January in 1631 in England.

In 1682-84 he was president of Harvard college. He died July 2, 1684, in Cambridge, Mass.

Rogers, John, founder of a sect, was born in 1648 in New London, Conn. He became a dissenter from the Congregational church, and having gained a few disciples, founded a sect whose members were called Rogerenes, and also Rogerene Baptists or Quakers. He wrote many books on theology, including The Midnight Cry. He died in 1721, in New London, Conn.

Rogers, John, congressman, was born in Maryland. In 1775-76 he was a delegate from Maryland to the continental congress; and was chancellor of the state in 1778-89. He died Sept. 23, 1789, in Annapolis, Md.

Rogers, John, merchant, manufacturer, congressman, was born May 9, 1813, in Caldwell, N.Y. In 1871-73 he was a representative from New York to the forty-second congress as a democrat. He died in Black Brook, N.Y.

Rogers, John, sculptor, artist, was born Oct. 30, 1829, in Salem, Mass. In 1863 he became a member of the National academy of design. He is modeler of the famed Rogers' groups which he began as illustrations of the civil war. He died in 1904 in New Canaan, Conn.

Rogers, John C., physician, surgeon, legislator, was born March 26, 1835, in Ireland. During the civil war he served in the army as assistant surgeon; and since 1866 has practiced medicine in Pembroke, Maine. In 1890 he was elected to the state senate of Maine.

Rogers, John Jacob, congressman, lawyer, was born Aug. 18, 1881, in Lowell, Mass. In 1913-15 he was a representative from Massachusetts to the sixty-third congress.

Rogers, John Rankin, merchant, journalist, governor, author, was born Sept. 4, 1838, in Brunswick, Maine. He was educated in his native town, learned the drug business in Boston and followed it for some years in Mississippi and Maine. He engaged in farming in Iowa and Kansas, and held several public offices in the latter state, serving as a commissioner of Harvey county for some years. He established and was editor for three years of the Kansas Commoner, now published at Wichita. He moved to Washington in 1890, locating at Puyallup. He was a member of the fourth legislature as a representative from Pierce county, and took a very active interest in legislation pertaining to education, coal mining and taxation. In 1897-1902 he was the third governor of Washington. He was the author of the measure familiarly known as the barefoot schoolboy law, and it was due chiefly to his energetic efforts that the bill was enacted after a memorable contest. He died Dec. 26, 1900, in Puyallup, Wash.

Rogers, John Henry, soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Oct. 9, 1845, in Bertie county, N.C. He served in the confederate army in 1862-65; and became first lieutenant. In 1877-82 he was circuit judge; and in 1883-1900 he was a representative from Arkansas to the forty-eighth, forty-ninth, fiftieth and fifty-first congresses as a democrat. In 1896-1900 he was United States judge for the western district of Arkansas.

Rogers, Joseph Morgan, journalist, author, was born April 9, 1861, in Decatur, Ohio. Since 1889 with the exception of two years he has been on the staff of the Philadelphia Inquirer. He is the author of History of the United States; The True Henry Clay; Life of Thomas H. Benton; and Development of the North Since the Civil War.

Rogers, Julia Ellen, educator, author, was born Jan. 21, 1866, in La Salle county, Ill. In 1897-1903 she was engaged as an instructor in nature study in the summer schools. She is the author of Among Green Trees; The Tree Book; and The Shell Book.

Rogers, Lebbeus Harding, explorer, manufacturer, inventor, author, was born July 26, 1847, in Cincinnati, Ohio; and is the son of Hiram and Cordelia Harding Rogers. He was educated in the public and private schools of Cincinnati, Ohio; and graduated from Woodward college of that city. He is president and director of several business corporations; is president of the Methodist social union of New York City; and an officer, trustee and director of several societies in New York City. He is a member of the Author's, Explorer's and Lawyer's clubs; a member of the society of American authors; and a member of the Metropolitan museum of art. He explored the North Forks of the Humboldt, the cave dwellings of New Mexico, and the Black Hills; and is the inventor of forty-four patents. He is the author of The Kite Trust; and The Temples of Paestum.

Rogers, Moses, pioneer, steam navigator, was born in September, 1780, in New London, Conn. He was associated with Robert Fulton in his experiments. He had charge of the Phoenix in her voyage from New York to Philadelphia, which was the first trip that was ever made on the ocean by a steam vessel. Subsequently he commanded the first steamer that went from Charleston to Savannah. He died Sept. 15, 1822, in Cheraw, S.C.

Rogers, Nathaniel, clergyman, author, was born in 1598, in England. In 1637 he was a member of the synod that met in Cambridge to settle the Antinomian controversy. In 1638-55 he was pastor at Ipswich, Mass. He was the author of a letter on the Cause of God's Wrath against the Nation. He died July 3, 1655, in Ipswich, Mass.

Rogers, Nathaniel, painter, artist, was born in 1783, in Bridgehampton, L.I. He took high rank as a painter of miniatures. Among these were admirable portraits of the friends and literary partners, Fitz-Greene Halleck and Joseph Rodman Drake. He was one of the founders of the National academy in New York City. He died Dec. 6, 1844, in New York City.

Rogers, Nathaniel Peabody, journalist, author, was born June 3, 1794, in Portsmouth, N.H. In 1838 he established the Herald of Freedom of Concord, N.H., one of the pioneer anti-slavery papers in the United States. He wrote for the New York Tribune over the signature The Old Man of the Mountains. His fugitive writings were published in 1847. He died Oct. 18, 1846, in Concord, N. H.

Rogers, Randolph, sculptor, artist, was born July 6, 1825, in Auburn, N.Y. He opened a studio in New York, where he remained until 1855. One of his best-known works, the bas-reliefs on the doors of the capitol at Washington, representing scenes in the life of Columbus, was designed in 1858, and cast in bronze at Munich. In 1861 he completed the Washington monument at Richmond, which had been left unfinished by Thomas Crawford. He died Jan. 15, 1892, in Rome, Italy.

Rogers, Robert Cameron, journalist, author, was born Jan. 7, 1862, in Buffalo, N. Y. He is editor of the Santa Barbara Morning Press. He is the author of The Wind in the Clearing, and Other Poems; Will of the Wasp, a yarn of the War of 1812; and The Rosary and Other Poems; and Old Dorset, a collection of short stories.

Rogers, Robert William, educator, clergyman, author; was born Feb. 14, 1864, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is a methodist clergyman and professor of Hebrew in Drew theological seminary since 1893. He is the author of Two Texts of Esarhaddon; Unpublished Inscriptions of Esarhaddon; The Inscriptions of Sennacherib; and A History of Babylonia and Assyria, in two volumes.

Rogers, Sherman S., lawyer, state senator, was born April 16, 1830, in Bath, N.Y. He was twice president of the state bar association; and in 1876 was a member of the New York state senate. In 1876 he was a republican candidate for lieutenant-governor of New York. He died in 1900 in Buffalo, N.Y.

Rogers, Silas H., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 30, 1825, in Wake county, N.C. In 1853-55 and 1871-73 he was a representative from North Carolina to the thirty-third and forty-second congresses as a democrat; and was elected to the legislature of North Carolina in 1860. He served in the confederate army as colonel of the forty-seventh North Carolina regiment. He was attorney-general of North Carolina in 1862-68. He died Aug. 14, 1874, in Raleigh, N.C.

Rogers, Theodore, banker, financier, was born Oct. 10, 1831, Jamaica, N.Y. In 1850 he was discount clerk of the American exchange bank; and in 1871 he became a cashier in the bank of the Metropolis; and in 1894 was president of that bank.

Rogers, Thomas J., journalist, congressman, author, was born in 1781 in Ireland. In 1817-25 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the fifteenth, sixteenth, seventeenth and eighteenth congresses. He was the author of a New American Biographical Dictionary; or Remembrancer of the Departed Heroes, Sages, and Statesmen of America. He died Dec. 7, 1832, in New York City.

Rogers, William, educator, clergyman, was born July 22, 1751, in Newport, R.I. In 1789 he was chosen professor of oratory and English literature in the college of Philadelphia; and in 1792-1811 to the same post in its successor, the university of Pennsylvania. He died April 7, 1824, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Rogers, William Allen, artist, author, was born May 23, 1854, in Springfield, Ohio. For two years he was political cartoonist for Life. He is now cartoonist for Harper's Weekly and the New York Herald. He is the author of Hits at Politics.

Rogers, William Augustus, astronomer, educator, was born Nov. 13, 1832, in Waterford, Conn. The observatory at Alfred was built and equipped by him. In 1870 he was appointed assistant in the Harvard observatory; and he became in 1877 assistant professor of astronomy. In 1886 he was called to the chair of astronomy and physics at Colby university. He died March, 1898, Waterville, Maine.

Rogers, William Banks, educator, clergyman, college president, was born Dec. 7, 1857, in Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1890 he was ordained to the Roman catholic priesthood. In 1898-1900 he was president of Marquette college of St. Louis; and since 1900 has been president of the St. Louis university.

Rogers, William Barton, scientist, college president, author, was born Dec. 7, 1804, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was an eminent scientist of Boston, the founder of the Massachusetts institute of technology in 1862, and its president in 1862-70, and again in 1878-81. He was the author of The Geology of the Virginias; Elements of Mechanical Philosophy; and The Strength of Materials. He died May 30, 1882, in Boston, Mass.

Rogers, William Findlay, soldier, congressman, was born March 1, 1820, in Northampton county, Pa. In 1864 he was appointed provost marshal of the thirtieth district of New York. He was elected comptroller of the city of Buffalo in 1866, and mayor in 1868. He was appointed major-general of the fourth division national guard; and in 1883-85 he was a representative from New York to the forty-eighth congress. He died Dec. 16, 1899, in Buffalo, N.Y.

Rogers, William Henry, lawyer, public official, political economist, was born March 15, 1850, in Mt. Morris, N.Y. He was educated at the Marshall academy of Wisconsin; in 1875 graduated from the literary department of the Wisconsin state university; and in 1876 graduated from its law department. He soon attained success in the practice of law; was elected district attorney for Dane county, Wis.; and was subsequently elected alderman and president of the city council of Madison, Wis. He served two terms as mayor of Madison, Wis.; and was appointed assistant United States attorney under President Cleveland's first administration. He now practices law in San Jose, Cal.; and is one of the vice-presidents of the anti-imperialist league for California.

Rogers, William Oscar, soldier, journalist, educator, was born April 12, 1825, in New York City. In 1861-65 he served in the confederate states army as a captain. In 1870-75 he was president of the Sylvester Larned institute. He was one of the fifteen administrators to establish Tulane university; in 1884-1901 was secretary and treasurer; and in 1899-1900 was acting president of that institution.

Rogers, William Pennock, soldier, was born April 16, 1842, in Hartford county, Md. In 1862 he enlisted in the civil war; and in 1866 he was appointed to the forty-fourth United States infantry. In 1902 he was promoted colonel; and in 1903 was retired with the rank of brigadier-general.

Rhode, John Martin, educator, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 28, 1852, in St. Louis, Mo. He graduated from the Central Wesleyan college of Warrenton, Mo., and immediately began educational work. In 1881 he entered the St. Louis German Methodist Episcopal conference, and has filled pastorates in Mount Vernon, Bland, Morrison, Pinckney, and Steinhagen, Mo. He is a member of the board of trustees of the Central Wesleyan college; and the author of The Joy of Prayer, a work on devotion, now in its third edition.

Rohe, Charles Henry, clergyman, author, poet, was born May 20, 1846, in Syracuse, N.Y. In 1882 he became pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church of Columbus, Ohio. He was the author of several novels and stories; and two volumes of poems. He died in Columbus, Ohio.

Rohe, George Henry, physician, author, was born Jan. 26, 1851, in Baltimore, Md. In 1890-91 he was commissioner of health in Baltimore. He was superintendent of the Maryland state hospital for the insane. He was author of Textbook of Hygiene; Manual of Skin Diseases; Annual, Universal and Medical Sciences; and Electricity in Medicine and Surgery. He died in 1899, in Sykesville, Md.

Rohlf, Mrs. Anna Katharine Green, author, poet, was born Nov. 11, 1846, in Brooklyn, N.Y. She is the author of The Sword of Damocles; The Leavenworth Case; A Strange Disappearance; Hand and Ring; The Mill Mystery; Behind Closed Doors; Cynthia Wakeham's Money; Marked Personal; Miss Hurd; An Enigma; Dr. Izard; Old Stone House, and Other Stories; 7 to 12; X, Y, Z; The Doctor, His Wife, and the Clock; That Affair Next Door; Risid's Daughter, A Drama; The Defense of the Bride, and Other Poems; The Chief Legatee; and The Mayor's Wife.

Rohles, Charles, actor, designer, was born in February, 1853, in New York City. In 1889 he commenced making furniture and finally developed a new and distinctive style, known as the Rohlf's furniture, with patronage in the United States and Europe.

Rohrbacher, Phillip, engineer, business man, was born Jan. 30, 1838, in Germany. In 1853 he crossed the plains to California, and became chief engineer of the Stockton fire department. He was the president of the United States Brewing company of San Francisco, Cal., and president of the Royal Eagle Distilleries company of San Francisco and Owensboro, Ky. He was supreme arch of the United States United Ancient Order of Druids at the time of his death, which occurred on April 25, 1897, in San Francisco, Cal.

Rohrer, Jacob J., educator, farmer, state legislator, was born Dec. 6, 1853, in Stark county, Ohio. He was educated in the public schools of Smithville, Ohio. For many years he was engaged in educational work; and became a successful farmer of Friend, Neb. He has been mayor of Friend, Neb.; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. Since 1904 he has been a representative in the Nebraska state legislature.

Rolapp, Henry H., lawyer, jurist, was born March 22, 1860, in Germany. In 1884-95 he practiced law in Ogden, Utah; and in 1887-91 was assistant county attorney for Weber county, Utah. In 1895-96 he was associate justice of the supreme court of Utah territory; and in 1896-1906 was circuit judge.

Rolfe, Charles Wesley, educator, geologist, was born April 17, 1850, in Arlington Heights, Ill. He received his education in Dundee and in Oswego, N.Y.; and graduated from the university of Illinois, from which institution he has received the degrees of B.S. and M.S. In 1872-73 he was instructor of science in the university of Illinois; and in 1873-74 was principal of schools at Sidney, Ill. In 1874-76 he was professor of sciences in the Jennings seminary of Aurora, Ill.; in 1876-77 was principal of schools at Waterman, Ill., and in 1877-81 was superintendent of schools of Kankakee, Ill. In 1881-83 he was in the preparatory department of the university of Illinois; and since 1883 has been professor of geology in that institution.

Rolfe, Henry Winchester, educator, author. Since 1900 he has been an associate professor of Greek at the Stanford university. He is the author of Petrarch, the First Modern Scholar; and Man of Letters.

Rolfe, John, colonist, was born in 1585 in England. He has the distinction of having been, in 1612, the first Englishman to introduce the cultivation of tobacco in Virginia. In 1616-17 he was in England with his Indian bride, and had by her a son named Thomas. Pocahontas was royally received in London and mingled with the notables, and, although reluctant to return to Virginia, pined under an English sky, and died at Gravesend on March 21, 1617. Rolfe returned to Virginia, where he became a member of the first Virginia council in 1619. He died in 1622 in Virginia.

Rolfe, John Carew, educator, author, was born Oct. 15, 1859, in Lawrence, Mass. In 1894-1902 he was professor of Latin in the university of Michigan; and since 1902 has been a professor of the university of Pennsylvania. He is the editor of the Heauton Timorumenos of Terence; and other classical works.

Rolfe, William James, scholar, educator, author, was born Dec. 10, 1827, in Newburyport, Mass. He is a distinguished Shakespearean scholar and educator of Cambridge. He is the author of Shakespeare the Boy; Life of Shakespeare; two complete annotated editions of Shakespeare, in forty volumes; two editions of Tennyson, a complete edition of Scott's Poems; and a series of annotated editions of selections from Tennyson, Browning, Wordsworth, Gray, Goldsmith, Scott, and other English poets. He has also edited Craik's English of Shakespeare; and other works.

Rollins, Mrs. Alice Marland, author, poet, was born June 12, 1847, in Boston, Mass. She was the author of My Welcome Beyond, and Other Poems; The Ring of Amethyst, and Other Poems; The Story of a Ranch; All Sorts of Children; The Three Tetons; From Palm to Glacier; and Uncle Tom's Tenement, a study of New York tenement-house life. She died Dec. 5, 1897, in Bronxville, N.Y.

Rollins, Mrs. Clara Sherwood, litterateur, author, was born Feb. 28, 1874, in St. Louis, Mo. She is a Boston writer of short stories. She is the author of A Burne Jones Head; and Threads of Life.

Rollins, Charles Leonard, builder, astronomer, philosopher, was born Nov. 7, 1856, in Carlton, N.Y. In 1877-78 he was a student at Albion academy. In 1882-88 he was a contractor and builder of Albion, N.Y.; and in 1888 moved to Buffalo, N.Y. He built the Pierce invalids' hotel and the World's dispensary of Buffalo, N.Y. Since 1902 he has been general manager of the Pixley land improvement company; and has built two thousand houses. He is the author of Theories Regarding Light, Heat, Magnetic Forces and General Physics, which he has expounded before the International progressive league at Buffalo, N.Y.

Rollins, Daniel G., lawyer, was born Oct. 18, 1842, in Great Falls, N.Y. He was assistant United States attorney for the southern district of New York in 1866-69; assistant district attorney of New York county in 1873-80; then district attorney until 1882; and then surrogate of the county until 1888. He died in 1897, in New York county, N.Y.

Rollins, Edward Henry, merchant, congressman, United States senator, was born Oct. 3, 1824, in Rollinsford, N.H. He was a member of the New Hampshire state legislature in 1855-57, serving as speaker during the last two years. In 1861-67 he was a representative from New Hampshire to the thirty-seventh, thirty-eighth and thirty-ninth congresses. He was elected secretary of the Union Pacific Railroad company in 1869; and treasurer in 1871. In 1877-83 he was United States senator from New Hampshire. His portrait hangs in the new library building of the state capitol. He died July 31, 1889, on the Isle of Shoals, N.H.

Rollins, Mrs. Ellen Chapman, author, was born April 30, 1831, in Wakefield, N.H.

She was the author of New England By-gones; and Old-Time Childlife. She died May 29, 1881, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Rollins, Frank West, legislator, banker, governor, was born Feb. 24, 1860, in Concord, N.H. He was educated at the Massachusetts institute of technology; and at the Harvard law school. He served in the New Hampshire state senate in 1895; and was made president of that body. He is a successful lawyer and banker; and originated the old home week scheme in 1898, which has since spread over a large part of the country. In 1899-1900 he was governor of New Hampshire. He is head of the banking house of E. H. Rollins and sons of Boston, Denver and San Francisco. His portrait hangs in the council chamber of the state house at the state capitol.

Rollins, James Sidney, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born April 19, 1812, in Richmond, Ky. In 1838-42 he was a member of the Missouri state legislature. In 1846-50 he was in the state senate; and in 1854 was again elected to the legislature. In 1861-65 he was a representative from Missouri to the thirty-seventh and thirty-eighth congresses. He died Jan. 1, 1888, near Columbia, Mo.

Rollins, Nathaniel, soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born Feb. 29, 1832, in St. Albans, Maine. During the civil war he was a captain in the second regiment Wisconsin volunteer infantry. In 1885 he was a member of the Colorado legislature; and has attained prominence in that state as an able lawyer of Leadville. In 1894 he was elected department commander, department of Colorado and Wyoming, Grand Army of the Republic. During his term of office the strike and serious riots of Cripple Creek occurred; he immediately issued a circular letter, which was instrumental in restraining old soldiers from taking sides with the lawless element; and his services called forth a letter of approval from General Nelson A. Miles. He died Feb. 4, 1901, in Leadville, Colo.

Roman, Alfred, soldier, lawyer, jurist, author, was born in 1824 in St. James' Parish, La. In 1880-88 he was judge of the criminal court of New Orleans. He was the author of The Military Operations of General Beauregard. He died Sept. 20, 1892, in New Orleans, La.

Roman, Andrew Bienvenu, governor, was born March 5, 1795, in Opelousas. In 1818 he was a member of the Louisiana house of representatives; was several times re-elected; and for four years was speaker. He became parish judge. He was the ninth governor of Louisiana in 1830-34. He died Jan. 26, 1866.

Roman, J. Dixon, congressman, was born in Maryland. In 1847-49 he was a representative from Maryland to the thirtieth congress, and was a delegate to the peace congress of 1861. He died Jan. 19, 1867, near Hagerstown, Md.

Romana, Bernard, engineer, author, was born about 1720 in Holland. He served in the revolutionary war as engineer. He was the author of Concise Natural History of East and West Florida; and also a Map of the Seat of the War. He died about 1800.

Rombauer, Roderick Emile, lawyer, jurist, author, was born May 9, 1833, in Hungary. In 1861 he was captain of infantry in the United States volunteers. In 1885-97 he was presiding judge of the St. Louis court of appeals. For several years he was professor of law and equity at the Washington university of St. Louis, Mo. In 1870-73 he was president of the law library association of St. Louis. He is the author of The History of A Life.

Romeis, Jacob, business man, congressman, was born Dec. 1, 1835, in Germany. In 1874 he was elected a member of the board of aldermen of Toledo, Ohio, and was re-elected in 1876. He was president of the board in 1877; and in 1879 was elected mayor of the city, and was re-elected in 1881 and 1883. In 1885-89 he was a representative from Ohio to the forty-ninth and fiftieth congresses as a republican. He died in 1904 in Toledo, Ohio.

Romero, Trinidad, lawyer, jurist, legislator, congressman, was born June 15, 1835, in Santa Fe, N.M. He was a representative in the territorial legislature in 1863. He was elected probate judge of San Miguel county in 1867; and in 1877-79 he was a delegate from New Mexico to the forty-fifth congress as a republican.

Romeyn, James, clergyman, author, was born in 1797 in Greenbush, N.Y. He was the author of The Crisis, a sermon; and a Plea for the Evangelical Press. He died Sept. 7, 1859, in New Brunswick.

Romeyn, James Van Campen, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 14, 1765, in Minisink, N.Y. In 1799-1834 he was pastor of the united congregations of the Dutch reformed church in Hackensack and Schraalenburgh, N.J. He was the author of an Address to the Students of the Theological Seminary. He died June 27, 1840, in Hackensack, N.J.

Romeyn, Jeremiah, clergyman, linguist, was born Dec. 24, 1768, in Woodstock, N.Y. He was an eminent linguist; and in 1797-1818 was professor of Hebrew in the Dutch reformed church. He died July 17, 1818, in Woodstock, N. Y.

Romeyn, Theodore Bayard, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 22, 1827, in Nassau, N.Y. In 1850-65 he was pastor of the reformed Dutch church in Blawenburg, N.J.; and in 1865-85 of the first reformed church at Hackensack. He was the author of Historical Discourse; and The Adaptation of the Reformed Church in America to American Character. He died Aug. 20, 1885, in Hackensack, N.J.

Romeyn, Theodoric, clergyman, founder, was born June 12, 1744, in Hackensack, N. J. He was one of the founders of the academy that subsequently became Union college; and in 1797-1804 was professor of theology in the general synod of the reformed Dutch church. He died April 16, 1804, in Schenectady, N.Y.

Romney, Carolina Westcott, educator, journalist, inventor, was born in Clyde, N. Y. She became a literary editor on the Chicago Times; and subsequently was its traveling correspondent. She has published newspapers of her own, and a morning daily in Durango, Col. As an inventor she received ten awards from the World's Columbian exposition of Chicago in 1893.

Ronaldson, James, manufacturer, horticulturist, was born about 1780 in Scotland. He was one of the largest typefounders in America. He was also an extensive horticulturist. In 1832 he was president of the Franklin institution of Pennsylvania. He laid out the beautiful cemetery bearing his name in Philadelphia, Pa. He died March 31, 1841, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Ronayne, Maurice, clergyman, educator, author, was born in 1828 in Ireland. He was professor of history at St. Francis Xavier's college. He was the author of Religion and Science; and God Knowable and Known. He died in 1903 in New York City.

Ronckendorff, William, naval officer, was born Nov. 9, 1812, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1832 and in 1845 he was bearer of despatches to the commander-in-chief of the Pacific squadron, with which he served during the Mexican war. In 1861 he took command of the steamer San Jacinto, with which he was present in Hampton Roads to fight the Merrimac, and participated in the attack on Sewell's Point, in 1862. He was commissioned captain in 1866, and was at Philadelphia until 1870, when he took charge of the iron-clads at New Orleans until 1872. He commanded the steamer Canandaigua of the North Atlantic squadron, in 1872-73, was promoted to commodore in 1874; and was placed on the retired list in 1874 by reason of his age. He died Nov. 27, 1891, in New York.

Rondthaler, Edward, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 6, 1817, in York, Pa. In 1853-54 he was president of Nazareth Hall, Pennsylvania. He was the author of a Life of John Heckewelder. He died March 5, 1855, in Nazareth, Pa.

Rood, Anson, clergyman, journalist, abolitionist, was born Jan. 10, 1801, near Burlington, Vt. In 1828-37 he filled a pastorate in Danbury, Conn.; and in 1837-47 was pastor of Coates street presbyterian church of Philadelphia, Pa. He was subsequently engaged in literary work; and was editor of the only republican paper published in Philadelphia. He died.

Rood, Henry Edward, editor, author, was born June 26, 1867, in Philadelphia, Pa.

He is assistant editor of Harper's Magazine of New York City. He is the author of Hardwicke; and In Pastures New; and In Camp at Bear Pond.

Rood, John Romain, lawyer, author, was born July 9, 1868, in Lapeer, Mich. In 1891-97 he practiced law at Marquette, Mich.; and since 1898 has been law teacher at the university of Michigan. He is the author of Law Garnishment; Common Remedial Processes: Attachments, Garnishments, Judgments; Executions, Writs Including Causa Mortis Gifts, Descent, Distribution, and Administration;

A Digest of Leading Cases on the Law of Crimes; and Leading Cases on the Law of Estates in Land.

Rood, Ogden Nicholas, physicist, educator, author, was born Feb. 3, 1831, in Danbury, Conn. He graduated from Princeton college; studied at the Sheffield school of New Haven, Conn.; and at the universities of Munich and Berlin. He is a physicist of note; for many years was a professor of physics at Columbia college. He was the author of Modern Chromatics; and seventy-five original researches published in American and foreign journals. He died in 1902 in New York City.

Rood, William Herman, soldier, public official, was born Dec. 20, 1848, in Rock county, Wis. He received his education in the public schools of his native state. In 1871 he moved to Nebraska; and is a successful carpenter and farmer of North Loup, Neb. He has been a justice of the peace, was township clerk for four years; township treasurer for five years; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. He served with distinction as a soldier in company G, thirty-seventh regiment Wisconsin volunteer infantry; and participated in numerous battles and skirmishes. Since 1882 he has been a member of Lombard Post No. 57, Grand Army of the Republic.

Rooker, Frederick Zadok, clergyman, was born Sept. 10, 1801, in New York City. In 1849-53 he was vice-rector of the American college; and was secretary to the Roman catholic apostolic delegation. He died in 1907 in the Philippine Islands.

Roome, Charles, soldier, was born in New York. In 1862 he was colonel in the thirty-seventh regiment New York state militia; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died June 28, 1890, in New York City.

Rook, Charles Alexander, journalist, publisher, president, was born Aug. 11, 1861, in Pittsburgh, Pa.; and is a son of the late

Alexander W. Rook, part owner of the Pittsburgh Dispatch. Upon the death of his father in 1880, Charles Alexander Rook entered the office of the Pittsburgh Dispatch, and became collector, advertising clerk, circulation bookkeeper and cashier. In 1888 he was elected secretary; became treasurer and business manager in 1896; and in 1902 secured control of the Dispatch publishing company; and has since been president and editor-in-chief of the Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Rooney, John Jerome, journalist, financier, poet, was born March 19, 1866, in Binghamton, N.Y. He is a broker of New York City. He is the author of The Men Behind the Guns, a volume of poems.

Roop, Hervin Ulysses, educator, college president, was born Nov. 16, 1868, in Highspire, Pa. For two years he was state superintendent. He taught in the public schools; taught in the state normal school and in the Rittenhouse academy of Philadelphia, Pa.; and since 1897 has been president of the Lebanon Valley college at Annville, Pa.

Roobach, Orville, Augustus, journalist, author, was born Jan. 20, 1803, in Red Hook, N.Y. He published Bibliotheca Americana in 1820-61. He died June 21, 1861, in Schenectady, N.Y.

Roose, Daniel Bennett St. John, educator, physician, surgeon, author, was born April 4, 1838, in Bethel, N.Y. He is president of the New York post-graduate medical school; and is professor of diseases of the eye and ear. He is the author of The Old Hospital and Other Papers; A Pocket Medical Lexicon; and Medical Monographs. He died March 8, 1908; in New York City.

Roose, Daniel Bennett St. John, educator, physician, surgeon, author, was born April 4, 1838, in Bethel, N.Y. He is president of the New York post-graduate medical school; and is professor of diseases of the eye and ear. He is the author of The Old Hospital and Other Papers; A Pocket Medical Lexicon; and Medical Monographs. He died March 8, 1908; in New York City.

Roose Franklin F., educator, author, was born July 3, 1855, in Moline, Ill. He was educated in the Rock Island public schools;

Illinois Wesleyan university; Gem City business college; and McKendree university. In 1884 he founded the Lincoln business college, Nebraska; and in 1891 founded the Lincoln normal university, the construction of which cost one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. For three years he was president and owner of the Omaha business college. He was one of the founders of the Woodmen of the World; and he is now the supreme commander of the Fraternal Union of America.

Roose, George Henry, merchant, physician, surgeon, was born Feb. 20, 1857, in Davenport, Iowa. In 1893 he became engaged in the lumber business. He became interested in medicine and devised a vegetable composition of drugs which contains no injurious principles and has great nerve sedative powers. He established a sanitarium for the treatment of the drug and drink habit at St. Louis, Mo.

Roosevelt, Blanche, vocalist, author, was born Oct. 2, 1856, in Sandusky, Ohio. She wrote a life of Gustav Doré, for which she received a decoration from the French academy. Her work entitled Verdi, Milan, and Othello secured her European recognition as an author, and she became the friend and correspondent of Browning, Longfellow, and Lord Lytton. Her chief fame was as a writer on musical subjects. She died Sept. 10, 1898, in London, England.

Roosevelt, George Washington, soldier, diplomat, was born Feb. 14, 1844, in Chester, Pa. He was educated in the public schools of his native town; and at the Up-land academy of Pennsylvania. In 1861 he enlisted in the union army as corporal in company K, twenty-sixth regiment Pennsylvania volunteers; was promoted to sergeant, color sergeant, first sergeant; and was brevetted captain for meritorious conduct at the battle of Gettysburg, where he lost his left leg. He was awarded a congressional medal of honor for gallant and meritorious conduct at the battle of Bull Run and Gettysburg. In 1878 he was appointed United States consul at Auckland; in 1879 was consul at St. Helena; in 1880 was consul at Matanzas; in 1881 became consul to Bordeaux, France; and in 1899-1906 was United States consul-general to Brussels, Belgium. He died in 1907 in Brussels, Belgium.

Roosevelt, Hilborne Lewis, organ-builder, was born Dec. 21, 1849, in New York City. He established factories in New York City, Philadelphia, and Baltimore, and built some of the largest organs in the United States, including that in Garden City cathedral, Long Island, and Grace church, New York City, each of which contains twenty miles of electric wire. He died Dec. 30, 1886, in New York City.

Roosevelt, James Henry, philanthropist, was born Nov. 10, 1800, in New York City. He accumulated the sum that he intended from his early manhood to leave for some charitable object. By the terms of his will he left the principal part of his estate to found a noble hospital in New York City which bears his name, and was formally opened in 1871. The property left by him was valued at about one million dollars. He died Nov. 30, 1863, in New York City.

Roosevelt, James John, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born Dec. 14, 1795, in New York City. In 1835 and 1840 he was a member of the New York state legislature; and in 1841-43 he was a representative from New York to the twenty-seventh congress. He was judge of the supreme court of the state in 1851; was an attorney of the United States; and held the office of judge eight years. He died April 5, 1875, in New York City.

Roosevelt, Nicholas J., mechanic, inventor, was born Dec. 27, 1767, in New York City. He was connected with the invention of the vertical steamboat paddle wheels. In 1800 he associated himself with Robert Fulton; and in 1811 built and navigated the pioneer boat that descended the Ohio and Mississippi rivers. He died July 30, 1854, in Skaneateles, N.Y.

Roosevelt, Robert Barnwell, lawyer, journalist, diplomat, congressman, author, was born Aug. 7, 1829, in New York City. In 1868 he was appointed commissioner of fisheries for the state of New York; and from 1868 edited The New York Citizen. In 1871-73 he was a representative from New York to the forty-second congress as a democrat. He was United States minister to the Netherlands in 1888-89. He was the author of The Game Fish of North America; Coast and Game Birds of the Northern States; Florida and the Game Water Birds; Love and Luck, Progressive Petticoats; and Five Acres Too Much, a satire. He died June 14, 1906, in Sayville, N.Y.

Roosevelt, Samuel Montgomery, merchant, artist, was born Feb. 20, 1858, in New York City. In 1878 he went to Colorado on ranching and scouting expeditions with the ninth cavalry against the Ute Indians. He is a member of a firm of wine merchants. As an artist, his canvasses have been exhibited at the Paris Salon, the National academy of design; and also in Chicago and Philadelphia.

Roosevelt, Theodore, president of the United States, vice-president of the United States, politician, reformer, soldier, governor, author, was born Oct. 27, 1858, in New York City. He was a politician and municipal reformer of New York City; and president of the board of police commissioners of New York City in 1895-97, when he resigned that position to become assistant secretary of the navy. During the Spanish-American war he served with distinction as colonel of the Rough Riders. In 1899-1901 he was the thirty-third governor of New York. He is the author of The Naval War of 1812; Hunting Adventures of a Ranchman; Ranch Life and the Hunting Trail; The Winning of the West, in four volumes; The Wilderness Hunter; Essays on Practical Politics; History of the City of New York; Lives of Thomas H. Benton and Gouverneur Morris; and The Rough Riders. In 1901 he was vice-president of the United States; and in 1901 he was the twenty-sixth president of the United States.

Root, Adrian Rowe, soldier, was born in New York. In 1861 he was lieutenant-colonel in the twenty-first regiment New York infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died June 4, 1899.

Root, Azariah Smith, educator, librarian, author, was born Feb. 3, 1862, in Middlefield, Mass. He is professor of bibliography and librarian of Oberlin college; and is a member of several library associations.

Root, David, clergyman, philanthropist, was born in 1790 in Pomfret, Vt. Until 1852 he held pastorates in Guilford and New Haven, Conn. He gave ten thousand dollars to endow a professorship in Beloit college, Wis.; twenty thousand dollars to Yale Theological seminary; and five thousand dollars to the American Missionary society. He died Aug. 30, 1873, in Chicago, Ill.

Root, Edward Clary, litterateur, author, was born Jan. 6, 1877, in Bloomfield, N.J. He is the author of Huntington, Junior; and The Unseen Jury.

Root, Elihu, lawyer, cabinet officer, statesman, was born Feb. 15, 1845, in Clinton, N. Y. He attained high reputation as an astute lawyer, and in 1883-85 was United States district attorney for the southern district of New York. In 1898-99 he was president of the Union league club. In 1899-1902 he was Secretary of War; and in 1905-9 was Secretary of State. Since 1909 he has been United States senator from New York.

Root, Erastus, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born March 16, 1773, in Hebron, Conn. He was a representative in the New York assembly eleven years; was speaker of the house three years; and was state senator eight years. In 1803-05, 1809-11, 1815-17 and 1831-33 he was a representative from New York to the eighth, eleventh, fourteenth and twenty-second congresses, when he resigned and was appointed postmaster at Delhi, N.Y. In 1822 he was chosen lieutenant-governor of the state. He died Dec. 24, 1846, in New York City.

Root, Frank Albert, journalist, author, was born July 3, 1837, in Binghamton, N.Y. He has made thirty-two trips across the plains between Missouri river and the Rocky mountains, in charge as traveling mail agent on the overland stage line. In 1865-93 he conducted and published eight different newspapers in Kansas and Colorado. He is the author of The Overland Stage to California.

Root, Frederic Woodman, musician, composer, was born June 13, 1846, in Boston, Mass. He has been very successful as a teacher of vocal music; and published Root's School of Singing. In 1871-75 he edited the Song Messenger.

Root, Frederick Stanley, clergyman, author, was born May 7, 1853, in New Haven, Conn. He was the author of What Is the Matter with the Church; The Extraordinary Case of Dr. Tetlow; and Athletics and Morals. He died in 1906 in New York City.

Root, George Frederick, musician, composer, was born Aug. 30, 1820, in Sheffield, Mass. In 1859 he founded the music publishing firm of Root and Cady of Chicago, Ill., which was dissolved in 1871. He composed the cantatas The Flower Queen; Daniel; The Pilgrim Fathers; Belshazzar's Feast; and the songs The Battle Cry of Freedom; Tramp, Tramp, Tramp; and Just Before the Battle, Mother. He died Aug. 6, 1895, near Portland, Maine.

Root, Jesse, soldier, clergyman, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Dec. 28, 1736, in Coventry, Conn. He settled in Hartford, Conn.; took part in the revolutionary war, and in 1778-83 he was a delegate from Connecticut to the continental congress. He was appointed judge of the superior court in 1770; and chief justice of Connecticut in 1796-1807. He died March 20, 1822, in Coventry, Conn.

Root, John Gilbert, financier, was born April 20, 1835, in Westfield, Mass. He was president of the Farmers' and mechanics' national bank. In 1888 he was elected mayor of Hartford, Conn. He died about 1911.

Root, Joseph Cullen, author, and founder of Woodcraft, was born Dec. 3, 1844, in Chester, Mass. When ten years of age his parents removed to Lyons, Iowa. He received a liberal education; began business for himself in a book-store; afterward operated flouring mills and elevators; and was United States deputy collector when barely of age. In 1860 he founded the public library of Lyons, Iowa; was admitted to the bar in 1879; and founded Woodcraft and promulgated its rituals and teachings in 1883. He has been twice mayor of Lyons, Iowa; has been prominently identified in various business enterprises; proposed and agitated the construction of the Iowa Midland railway; and was the secretary of the Chicago, Lyons and Pacific railway. He established the first telephone exchange west of the Mississippi river; has been editor of two newspapers of extended circulation; and is the author of the History and Genealogy of the Root Family in England and America; and several other books. He is the sovereign commander of the Woodmen of the World, and resides at Omaha, Neb. The entire system now embraces over one-half a million members, has disbursed many millions of dollars, and is increasing rapidly.

Root, Joseph M., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Oct. 7, 1817, in Cayuga, N. Y. He was appointed prosecuting attorney in Ohio; and in 1840 was elected to the state senate. In 1845-51 he was a representative to the twenty-ninth, thirtieth and thirty-first congresses. He died in Ohio.

Root, Milo Adelbert, lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 22, 1863, in Bureau county, Ill. In 1886-90 he was judge probate of Thurston county, Wash.; in 1893-07 was prosecuting attorney; in 1905-09 was judge of the supreme court of the state of Washington.

Root, Oren, educator, college president, author, was born May 18, 1838, in Syracuse, N. Y. He was professor of mathematics in Hamilton college. In 1873-76 he was president of Pritchett college. He was the author of Brief Elementary Trigonometry. He died Aug. 26, 1907, in Clinton, N. Y.

Root, Robert Kilburn, educator, author, was born April 7, 1877, in Brooklyn, N. Y. Since 1905 he has been preceptor in English at Princeton university. He is the author of Classical Mythology in Shakespeare; and The Poetry of Chaucer.

Roots, Logan H., soldier, educator, congressman, was born March 26, 1841, in Perry county, Ill. After the civil war he settled in Arkansas as a planter. In 1867-71 he was a representative from Arkansas to the fortieth and forty-first congresses as a republican. He died May 30, 1893, in Little Rock, Ark.

Roots, Logan Herbert, clergyman, bishop, was born July 27, 1870, in Tamaroa, Ill. In 1896 he went to China; in 1898 was ordained to the priesthood; was engaged in general missionary work; and in 1904 was consecrated protestant episcopal bishop of Hankow, China.

Roots, Philander Keep, civil engineer, banker, was born June 4, 1838, in Tolland county, Conn. He is the son of the noted educator, Prof. B. G. Roots of Illinois. He received his education in the Carrollton academy of Illinois and the Wesleyan university of Bloomington. For several years he was principal of the high school in DuQuoin, Ill. He has been resident engineer on the Mobile and Ohio railroad in Kentucky and Tennessee; United States deputy surveyor in Nevada; chief engineer of the Cairo and Fulton railroad in Arkansas and Missouri; and for over twenty years has been engaged in banking in Little Rock, Ark. He is a prominent mason and ranks high in various other fraternal orders.

Roper, George Stevens, soldier, was born in Massachusetts. He was a veteran of the civil war; attained the rank of brigadier-general. He died Feb. 3, 1897, in Rockford, Ill.

Ropes, Charles Joseph Hardy, educator, clergyman, librarian, author, was born Dec. 7, 1851, in St. Petersburg, Russia, where his father was United States consul. In 1877-81 he was pastor of the congregational church at Ellsworth, Maine; in 1881-1905 he was professor of new testament language and literature at the Bangor theological seminary. He was librarian there in 1887-1901; and in 1906 became librarian again, which position he still fills. He is the author of The Morality of the Greeks.

Ropes, Mrs. Hannah Anderson, abolitionist, author, was born June 24, 1808, in Gloucester, Maine. She settled in Lawrence, Kan. In 1885 she earnestly opposed the admission of slavery into that territory; and it is said that her letter on that subject to Charles Sumner, who was her intimate friend, inspired his speech on the Barbarism of Slavery. During the civil war she was matron of the Union hotel hospital at Georgetown; and her indefatigable labors in nursing the wounded caused her death. She was the author of Six Months in Kansas; and Cranston House. She died Feb. 13, 1863, in Georgetown, D.C.

Ropes, James Hardy, educator, clergyman, was born Sept. 31, 1866, in Salem, Mass. Since 1898 he has been an instructor and professor at Harvard university. He is the author of The Apostolic Age in the Light of Modern Criticism.

Ropes, John Codman, lawyer, author, was born April 28, 1836, in Russia. He was a lawyer of Boston; and well known as a military historian. He was the author of The Army under Pope; The Campaign of Waterloo; Atlas of Waterloo; The First Napoleon; and The Story of the Civil War. He died in 1899 in Boston, Mass.

Ropes, William Ladd, librarian, clergyman, was born July 19, 1825, in Newton, Mass. In 1846-48 he was a teacher in the public Latin school of Boston, Mass. In 1853 he was ordained to the congregational ministry; and in 1853-62 filled a pastorate in Wrentham, Mass. In 1866-1905 he was librarian; and since 1905 has been librarian emeritus at Andover theological seminary of Massachusetts.

Rorer, Sarah Tyson, educator, journalist, author, was born Oct. 18, 1849, in Richboro, Pa. She is a lecturer on food in health and disease, and for twenty-one years has been an author and editor. In 1886-92 she was editor and part owner of Table Talk; in 1893-97 was editor of Household News; and since 1897 he edited the Ladies' Home Journal. She is the author of Bread Making; Colonial Cookery; Good Cooking; A Book on Diet and Cookery; and other works.

Rorke, Allen B., designer, builder, was born March 21, 1846, in Philadelphia, Pa. He erected such buildings as Spreckel's sugar refinery, manufacturers' club, several buildings of Girard college; also the second and third street railroad depot; western savings fund; bank of northern liberties; the old and new Times annex buildings; the college of pharmacy; and the Philadelphia bourse building. He died in Philadelphia, Pa.

Rosa, Edward Bennett, educator, scientist, was born Oct. 4, 1861, in Rogersville, N.Y. In 1891-1902 he was a professor of physics in the Wesleyan university of Middletown, Conn; and since 1901 has been physicist of the National bureau of standards. He is a contributor to American and European journals of physics and electricity, making a special department of theoretical and applied electricity.

Rosati, Joseph, clergyman, bishop, founder, was born Jan. 30, 1789, in Italy. In 1816 he came to the United States as a missionary; and in 1817 settled in St. Louis, Mo. In 1824 he was consecrated bishop of Tru-gra; and in 1827 he became the first bishop of St. Louis, Mo. He founded a number of charitable houses; a hospital; and schools. He died Sept. 23, 1843, in Rome.

Rosbrugh, John, clergyman, was born in 1714 in Scotland. In 1769-77 he was pastor at the Forks of Delaware, Pa. He served as chaplain during the campaign in New Jersey, and was taken prisoner in Trenton by a party of Hessians, who murdered him. He died Jan. 2, 1777, in Trenton, N.J.

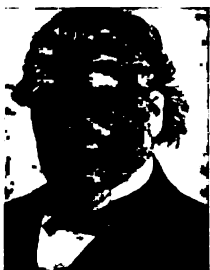

Rose, Aquila, printer, poet, was born in 1695 in England. He was a printer and poet of Philadelphia. His Poems on Several Occasions were collected after his death. He died Aug. 22, 1723, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Rose, Benjamin, merchant, inventor, was born March 13, 1828, in England. In 1875 he became president of a provision company. He was the first person to ship meat from Cleveland to Liverpool entirely by water. In 1879 he introduced the first ice-making machine; and is the inventor of a singeing machine to remove the hair from a hog. He died June 19, 1908, in Cleveland, Ohio.

Rose, David S., lawyer, jurist, public official, was born June 30, 1856, in Darlington, Wis. In 1876-86 he practiced law in Darlington; and since 1886 has been practicing his profession in Milwaukee, Wis. In 1898-1906 he was mayor of Milwaukee, Wis.

Rose, Chauncey, railroad president, philanthropist, was born Dec. 24, 1794, in Wethersfield, Conn. He organized the Terre Haute and Indianapolis railroad in 1847, and was the first president. It was his means and influence that caused the construction of the Evansville, Terre Haute and Chicago railroad. He established and endowed the Ladies' Aid society of Terre Haute. He contributed generously to the support of Wabash college. To Providence hospital he gave a large sum of money; and he established and endowed the Rose Polytechnic institute, under the name of Terre Haute school of Industrial Science. He died Aug. 13, 1877, in Terre Haute, Ind.

Rose, Edward Everett, dramatist, author, was born Feb. 11, 1862, in Canada. Since 1898 he has been engaged in dramatic authorship in New York City. He has dramatized David Harum, Richard Carvel, Mr. Dooley and many others.

Rose, Frank Bramwell, naval officer, was born in Tuckerton, N.J. He was chaplain of the fourteenth regiment New Jersey volunteer infantry during the civil war; and in 1870 was appointed from New Jersey chaplain in the United States navy. In 1906 he was advanced to rear-admiral retired.

Rose, George B., lawyer, author, was born July 10, 1860, in Batesville, Ark. He has traveled extensively in the study of renaissance art. He is the author of Renaissance Masters.

Rose, Ray Clarke, journalist, author, was born March 21, 1870, in Oxford, N.Y. He was educated in the public schools of Michigan. In 1896-1901 he was engaged as a reporter, special writer and editor of the Saturday boys' and girls' page and the Open window club on the staff of the Chicago Record-Herald; and has been a special writer on the staff of New York papers. He wrote signed editorials and verse for the

New York News; in 1902-03 was assistant Sunday editor of the New York Press; was on the staff of the Chicago Record-Herald; in 1903-04 was editor of the juvenile department of the Chicago Journal; and since 1904 has been engaged in play writing and magazine work. He has contributed over one thousand compositions in verse to American periodicals. He is the author of At the Sign of the Ginger Jar; and the comic operas The Bhugga-Bhu; and The Knockers.

Rose, James A., lawyer, government official, was born Oct. 13, 1850, in Pope county, Ill. He was educated in the public schools of his native county; and at the Illinois state normal school. He has been superintendent of schools for Pope county, Ill.; and served as states attorney. He has been a trustee of the Illinois state reformatory at Pontiac; and commissioner of the southern Illinois penitentiary. Since 1897 he has been secretary of state of Illinois.

Rose, Robert L., farmer, congressman, was born Oct. 12, 1804, in Geneva, N.Y. In 1847-51 he was a representative from New York to the thirtieth and thirty-first congresses. He died in New York.

Rose, Robert S., congressman, was born in 1772 in Henrico county, Va. In 1823-27 and 1829-31 he was a representative from New York to the eighteenth, nineteenth and twenty-first congresses. He died Nov. 24, 1835, in Waterloo, N.Y.

Rose, Thomas Ellwood, soldier, was born March 12, 1830, in Bucks county, Pa. He was educated in the public schools of his native state. In 1861 he became a private in the twelfth regiment Pennsylvania volunteers; and six months later was made captain in the seventy-seventh regiment. He served at Shiloh, Corinth, and Murfreesboro; and in 1863 was promoted to colonel. He was taken prisoner at Chickamauga; escaped at Weldon, N.C.; was recaptured and sent to Libby prison. With Major Hamilton and a working party of fifteen men he cut through the stone wall of the cellar and dug a tunnel fifty feet long, completing it in three months. One hundred and nine soldiers escaped; and forty-eight were retaken, including Col. Rose. In 1864 he was exchanged and served until the close of the war; and was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers and colonel in the United States army. He subsequently became captain and major in the United States infantry; and was retired in 1894. He died in 1907 in Baltimore, Md.

Rose, U. M., lawyer, author, was born March 5, 1834, in Marion county, Ky. He is a successful lawyer of Little Rock, Ark.; and in 1860-65 was chancellor of the state of Arkansas. In 1900 he was president of Arkansas State bar association; and in 1901-02 was president of the American bar association. In 1907 he was United States ambassador to the Hague peace conference. He is the author of Rose's Digest of Arkansas Reports.

Rose, Walter Malins, lawyer, author, was born Nov. 25, 1872, in Canada. He is a successful lawyer of San Francisco, Cal. He is the author of Notes on United States Reports, in twelve volumes; and a Code of Federal Procedure.

Rose, William, lawyer, author, was born Dec. 22, 1857, in Batesville, Ark. He is now a general attorney of Independence, Mo. He is the author of The Tin Owl Stories.

Roseboro, Viola, litterateur, author, was born in Pulaski, Tenn. She is the author of Old Ways and New, a volume of short stories; The Joyous Heart; and Players and Vagabonds.

Roselius, Christian, journalist, lawyer, was born Aug. 10, 1803, in Germany. In 1831 he was appointed attorney-general of Louisiana. He was for many years dean of the university of Louisiana; and for the last twenty-three years of his life was professor of civil law in that institution. He died Sept. 5, 1873, in New Orleans, La.

Rosecrans, Sylvester Horton, clergyman, bishop, was born Feb. 5, 1827, in Homer, Ohio. He was educated at Kenyon college of Ohio; and in 1846 graduated from St. John's college at Fordham, N.Y. For five years he studied theology in Rome; and in 1862 was ordained a priest. He was professor of theology at St. Mary's college; and editor of the Catholic Telegraph. In 1862 he was consecrated bishop of Cincinnati; and in 1868 was transferred to Columbus, Ohio. He was a brother of General Rosecrans, who served in the civil war. He died Oct. 21, 1878, in Columbus, Ohio.

Rosecrans, Wilham Starke, soldier, civil engineer, manufacturer, congressman, was born Sept. 6, 1819, in Kingston, Ohio. He graduated from West Point in 1842. He was appointed aid to General McClellan in Ohio; was appointed colonel and chief engineer of Ohio; and was commissioned colonel of Ohio volunteers, and brigadier-general United States army. In 1864 he commanded the department of Missouri; was made brevet major-general United States army in 1865; and resigned in 1867. He was minister to Mexico in 1868, but was recalled in a few months. In 1881-85 he was a representative from California to the forty-seventh and forty-eighth congresses. In 1885 he was appointed register of the treasury at Washington. He died March 11, 1898, in Los Angeles, Cal.

Rosen, Peter, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 15, 1850, in Prussia. In 1872-75 he was in the German army; and in 1876 came to the United States. In 1882 he was ordained priest; and is now pastor of St. Patrick's church at Hollendale, Wis. He is the author of History of the Black Hills of South Dakota; and other works.

Rosenau, Milton Joseph, physician, sanitarian, author, was born Jan. 1, 1860, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is passed assistant surgeon in the United States public health and marine hospital service; and is now director of its hygienic laboratory at Washington, D.C. He is the author of Course in Pathology and Bacteriology; Disinfections and Disinfectants; and other medical works.

Rosenberg, Henry, banker, founder, railroad president, philanthropist, was born June 22, 1824, in Switzerland. In 1874 he founded the Rosenberg bank. In 1875-78 he was organizer, director and president of the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe railroad company. He gave eighty thousand dollars to the Rosenberg free school; thirty thousand to the Protestant orphans' home; thirty thousand to Grace church; thirty thousand to the Woman's home; sixty-five thousand to the Young men's christian association; fifty thousand dollars to the Hero's monument; and thirty thousand for seventeen public drinking fountains. To his native town in Switzerland eighty thousand. About half of a million was devoted to the founding and maintenance of a free circulating library with annual lectures to Galveston, Texas. He died May 12, 1893, in Galveston, Texas.

Rosenberger, Absalom, educator, college president, was born Dec. 26, 1849, near Thornton, Ind. For twelve years he taught in high schools and academies. Since 1890 he has been president of Penn college at Oskaloosa, Iowa.

Rosenfeld, Maurice Bernhard, musician, composer, was born Dec. 31, 1865, in Austria. He is a teacher in the Chicago Musical college; and the composer of numerous pieces for piano, violin and string instruments.

Rosenfeld, Sydney, dramatist, author, was born Oct. 26, 1855, in Richmond, Va. He was the first editor of Puck of New York City. He is the author of a House of Cards; The Senator; and other plays.

Rosengarten, George David, manufacturer, chemist, was born Feb. 12, 1869, in Philadelphia, Pa. He received the degree of B. S. from the university of Pennsylvania, and the degree of Ph.D. from the university of Jena. In 1901-05 he was vice-president of Rosengarten and Son, Incorporated, and since 1905 has been vice-president of the Powers-Weightman-Rosengarten company. Since 1910 he has been a member of the committee of revision of the United States pharmacopoeia.

Rosenthal, Albert, painter, artist, was born Jan. 30, 1863, in Philadelphia, Pa. He studied art under his father and at the Pennsylvania academy. He turned his attention to etching, and has become widely known for his work, which, like that of his father, includes numerous portraits of American historical characters.

Rosengarten, Joseph George, lawyer, author, was born July 14, 1835, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was educated in the public schools; in 1852 graduated from the university of Pennsylvania; and in 1857 he studied in the Heidelberg university. In 1856 he was admitted to the practice of law; and since 1857 has practiced his profession in Philadelphia, Pa. During the civil war he was on the staff of General

John F. Reynolds. He is the author of The German Soldier in the Wars of the United States; The German Allied Troops in the War of Independence; Sources of American History in German Archives; French Colonists and Exiles in the United States; and other works.

Rosenthal, Herman, librarian, author, was born Oct. 6, 1843, in Russia. He now publishes and edits the Hebrew Monthly Intelligencer of New York City. He is the author of Report on Japan, China and Corea.

Rosenthal, Lewis, journalist, author, was born Sept. 10, 1856, in Baltimore, Md. He is the author of America and France; and The Influence of the United States on France in the Eighteenth Century.

Rosenthal, Max, painter, artist, was born Nov. 23, 1833, in Russia. He made the chomo-lithographic plates for what is believed to be the first fully illustrated book by this process in the United States, Wild Scenes and Wild Hunters. After 1884 he turned his attention to etching; and he has since executed one hundred and fifty portraits of eminent Americans and British officers, together with numerous large plates, among which are Storm Approaches; Doris, the Shepherd's Maiden; Marguerite; and Jesus at Prayer.

Rosenthal, Toby Edward, painter, artist, was born March 15, 1848, in New Haven, Conn. His more important works are Love's Last Offering; Spring's Joy and Sorrow; Morning Prayers in Bach's Family, which was bought by the Saxon government, and is now in the museum of Leipsic; Elaine; Young Monk in Refectory; and Forbidden Longings.

Roser, Henry Harvoleau, educator, attorney, reformer, was born Oct. 27, 1863, in St. Louis, Mo. In 1882 he graduated from the state normal school of Platteville, Wis.; and in 1886 graduated from the university of Wisconsin. For several years he taught school; and subsequently was engaged as editor and public speaker in behalf of reform measures. He helped to organize the national liberty party, of which he is now secretary; and in 1896 was the Illinois candidate for presidential elector of that party. He is now a successful lawyer of Denver, Col.; and secretary of the United States monetary league.

Rosevelt, Solomon, shipbuilder, was born in 1807. He built the first steamers to cross the Atlantic. He died Feb. 21, 1900, in Delaware, Ohio.

Rosier, James, explorer, was born about 1575 in England. He explored the coast of Maine and Penobscot river. He was the author of A True Relation of the most prosperous voyage made this present yeare by Captaine George Waymouth in the Discovery of the Land of Virginia. He died about 1635.

Ross, Albert Randolph, designer, architect, was born Oct. 26, 1868, in Westfield, Mass. He is architect of many municipal buildings and memorials; public libraries of Washington, D.C.; and the public libraries of Columbus, Ohio; and other cities.

Ross, Alexander Coffman, merchant, composer, inventor, was born May 31, 1812, in Zanesville, Ohio. From a boy he was interested in scientific inventions; and he is said to have produced the first daguerreotype ever made in America. He was one of the most enterprising business men in Zanesville, and accumulated a large property. He died Feb. 25, 1883, in Zanesville, Ohio.

Ross, Arthur A., clergyman, author, was born in 1719 in Thompson, Conn. In 1819 he was ordained as a baptist minister; and in 1825 was pastor of the First baptist church of Fall River, R.I. He was the author of On Communion and Baptism. He died June 16, 1864, in Pawtucket, R.I.

Ross, Betsy, flag-maker, was born Jan. 1, 1752, in Philadelphia, Pa. She made the first United States flag. She died Jan. 30, 1836, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Ross, Clinton, author, was born July 31, 1861, in Binghampton, N.Y. He is the author of The Silent Workman; The Countess Bettina; The Speculator; Adventures of Three Worthies; Improbable Tales; Two Soldiers and a Politician; The Puppet; The Scarlet Coat; Battle Tales; Bobbie McDuff; The Meddling Hussy; and Zuleika.

Ross, David, congressman, was born about 1750 in Maryland. In 1786-87 he was a delegate from Maryland to the continental congress. He died in Maryland.

Ross, Denman Waldo, educator, author, was born Jan. 10, 1853, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He is a lecturer on the theory of design at Harvard university. He is the author of The Early History of Land-Holding Among the Germans; and A Theory of Pure Design.

Ross, Edmund Gibson, soldier, journalist, United States senator, governor, was born Dec. 7, 1826, in Ashland, Ohio. He learned the art of printing at Huron, Ohio. He became editor of the Kansas Tribune, at that time the only free-state paper in the territory; all others having been destroyed. He entered the union army as a private soldier, and was promoted to the rank of major in the war for the suppression of the rebellion. He was a member of the Wyandotte, Kansas, constitutional convention. In 1865-71 he was United States senator. In 1885-89 he was governor of the territory of New Mexico; and is the man who killed the Johnson impeachment. He died May 8, 1904, in Albuquerque, N. Mex.

Rosa, Edward Alaworth, educator, sociologist, author, was born Dec. 12, 1866, in Virden, Ill. In 1886 he graduated from Coe college of Cedar Rapids, Iowa; in 1888-89 studied at the university of Berlin; and in 1890-91 was a student at the Johns Hopkins university. In 1891 he received the degree of Ph.D. from the department of history, politics and economics in the Johns Hopkins university. In 1892-93

he was secretary of the American economical association; and was advisory editor of the American Journal of Sociology. In 1891-92 he was professor of economics in the Indiana university; in 1892-93 was an associate professor of political economy and finance at the Stanford university of California; in 1901-06 was a professor at the university of Nebraska; and since 1906 has been professor of sociology at the university of Wisconsin. In 1902 he was a lecturer on sociology at Harvard university; and in 1896 and 1905 lectured in the university of Chicago. He is the author of Honest Dollars; Social Control; The Foundation of Sociology; and Sin and Society.

Rosa, Erskine Mayo, lawyer, jurist, was born June 30, 1845, in Bel Pre, Va. In 1879-86 he was justice of the supreme court of California; in 1886 was appointed United States district judge of the southern district of California; and since 1895 has been United States circuit judge for the ninth circuit.

Rosa, Frederick Augustus, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 25, 1796, in Cobham, Va. In 1855-75 he was pastor of the First presbyterian church in Huntsville, Ala. He was the author of Slavery as Ordained of God. He died April 13, 1883, in Huntsville, Ala.

Rosa, George, signer of the declaration of independence, congressman, was born in 1730 in New Castle, Del. In 1768 he was elected to the colonial legislature; and in 1774-77 he was a delegate from Pennsylvania to the continental congress; and was one of the signers of the declaration of independence. In 1779 he was appointed judge of the court of admiralty for Pennsylvania. He died July 16, 1779, in Lancaster, Pa.

Rosa, George H., railroad president, financier, was born Aug. 29, 1854, in Boston, Mass. In 1902-04 he was president of the Union depot bridge and terminal company of Kansas City, Mo; and since 1907 has been vice-president of the Chicago and Alton railroad.

Rosa, Henry Howard, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in Essex county, N.Y. In 1825-27 he was a representative from New York to the nineteenth congress. He was county judge of Essex county in 1847-48. He was a presidential elector in 1849. He died Sept. 14, 1862, in Essex, N.Y.

Rosa, James, educator, author, poet. He was the author of a Greek Grammar in Latin; translated the Shorter Catechism into Latin; and wrote a number of poems in Latin. He died in September, 1786.

Rosa, James, lawyer, United States senator, was born July 12, 1762, in York county, Pa. In 1793-1803 he was United States senator from Pennsylvania. He died Nov. 27, 1847, in Allegheny City, Pa.

Rosa, John, merchant, was born Jan. 29, 1726, in Ross, Scotland. In 1775 he was appointed muster-master of the Pennsylvania navy. In 1776 he was employed by the committee of commerce of congress to purchase clothes, arms, and powder for the use of the army. He died in March, 1800, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Rosa, John, congressman. In 1809-11 and 1815-21 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the eleventh, fourteenth, fifteenth and sixteenth congresses. In 1830 he was associate justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania. He died in Pennsylvania.

Rosa, John B., litterateur, author. He is the author of Scottish Poets in America; and editor of a dozen books about Burns.

Rosa, John Dawson, litterateur, author, was born Oct. 23, 1853, in Scotland. He is manager of a large New York manufacturing company. He is the author of Celebrated Songs of Scotland; Highland Mary; A Cluster of Poets; The Memory of Burns; Henley and Burns; and other works.

Rosa, John Wesley, lawyer, public official, was born June 23, 1841, in Lewistown, Ill. He was postmaster of Washington, D.C., in 1888-90; was appointed by President Harrison commissioner of the District of Columbia in September, 1890, receiving the re-appointment to the same position by President Cleveland, and again by President McKinley; and is president of the board of commissioners. For two terms he was president of the board of trustees of the public schools of Washington, D.C.; and is one of the foremost lawyers of that city.

Ross, John William, dentist, artist, author, was born in 1852 near Manchester, England. In 1877-92 he practiced art in Philadelphia; and has illustrated many scientific works. Since 1892 he has practiced dentistry with special reference to orthodontia. He is the author of Joe's Place; and The Whosoever, under the pen-name of John Rosslyn.

Ross, Jonathan, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born April 30, 1826, in Waterford, Vt. In 1865-67 he was a member of the Vermont state legislature; and was state senator in 1870. Since 1870 he has been judge; and in 1890-1900 was chief justice of the state supreme court of Vermont. In 1890-1901 he was United States senator from Vermont. He died in 1905 in St. Johnsbury, Vt.

Ross, L. C., governor. In 1887-91 he was governor of Texas.

Ross, Labert Randolph, draughtsman, architect, was born Oct. 26, 1868, in Westfield, Mass. In 1884-97 he was a draughtsman with famous architects in Buffalo, N. Y. He was the architect of the Carnegie library of Elizabeth, N. J.; and architect of the public libraries at Columbus and Denver.

Ross, Lawrence Sullivan, soldier, governor, was born Sept. 27, 1838, in Bentonport, Iowa. He became colonel of the sixth Texas regiment of cavalry in the confederate army in 1862; and was made brigadier-general in 1863. In 1886 he became governor of Texas. He died in 1898 in Texas.

Ross, Leonard Fulton, soldier, lawyer, banker, was born July 18, 1823, in Fulton county, Ill. He served in the Mexican war. He was chosen in 1861 colonel of the seventeenth Illinois regiment which he had raised; and was commissioned brigadier-general of volunteers in 1862. In 1867 he was appointed collector of internal revenue for the ninth district of Illinois. He imported fine stock into America, and has a large farm in Iowa; and subsequently founded Lewiston, Ill., national bank. He died Jan. 17, 1902, in Galesburg, Ill.

Ross, Lewis P., merchant, manufacturer, banker, was born Jan. 30, 1843, in Tuscarora, N.Y. Since 1865 he has been a wholesale dealer in boots and shoes in Rochester, N.Y.; and is president of the P. A. Field shoe company of Salem, Mass. He is president of the Fidelity trust company; and a member of a firm of shoe manufacturers of Haverhill, Mass. He was one of the organizers of the Rochester chamber of commerce; and is president of the board of trustees of the university of Rochester.

Ross, Lewis W., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Dec. 8, 1812, in Seneca county, N.Y. In 1840 and 1844 he was elected to the Illinois state legislature; and was a presidential elector in 1848. In 1863-69 he was a representative from Illinois to the thirty-eighth, thirty-ninth and fortieth congresses as a democrat. He died Oct. 29, 1895, in Lewiston, Ill.

Ross, Miles, merchant, state legislator, congressman, was born April 30, 1828, in Raritan township, N.J. He was a representative to the New Jersey state legislature for two years. In 1875-83 he was a representative from New Jersey to the forty-fourth, forty-fifth, forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses as a democrat.

Ross, Peter, historian, author, was born in Scotland. He is a writer of New York City. He is the author of History of Freemasonry; Life of St. Andrew; Scotland and the Scots; The Scots in America; Kingcraft in Scotland; and Literature of the Scottish Kings.

Ross, Samuel, soldier, was born in New York. He served throughout the civil war; and retired in 1872 with the rank of brigadier-general. He was drowned July 11, 1880.

Ross, Senman, Waldo, educator, author, was born Jan. 10, 1853, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He has been lecturer on theory of design at Harvard university. He is the author of The Early History of Land-Holding Among Germans.

Ross, Sobeiski, civil engineer, congressman, was born May 16, 1828, in Coudersport, Pa. He was engaged in settling land in the northern counties of Pennsylvania; and in 1873-77 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-third and forty-fourth congresses as a republican. He died Oct. 25, 1877, in Coudersport, Pa.

Ross, Thomas, congressman, was born in 1825, in Pennsylvania. In 1849-53 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-first and thirty-second congresses. He died in Pennsylvania.

Ross, Thomas R., lawyer, congressman, was born in 1789. In 1819-25 he was a representative from Ohio to the sixteenth, seventeenth and eighteenth congresses. He died June 28, 1869, in Lebanon, Ohio.

Ross, William, novelist, author, was born Dec. 20, 1851, in Westfield, Mass. During his early life he was connected with various newspapers; and in 1889 began a series of novels of great popularity, which achieved a sale of nearly two million copies within ten years. He has also traveled extensively, using material thus obtained in fiction.

Ross, William H., governor, was born in Delaware. He was the twenty-first governor of Delaware in 1851-55. He died in Delaware.

Rosse, Irving C., neurologist, scientist, author, was born Oct. 20, 1842, in East New Market, Md. He has been assistant surgeon in the United States army; surgeon to the revenue cutter bureau; surgeon of the Soldiers' home in Milwaukee; and United States examining surgeon for the District of Columbia. He was juror to the Paris exposition; and a member of the cholera commission to Europe in 1893; is the author of The Cruise of the Corwin to Alaska and the North West Arctic Ocean; and The First Landing on Wrangel Island. He died May 3, 1901, in Washington, D.C.

Ross, William Wallace, educator, lawyer, was born Dec. 24, 1834, in Seville, Ohio. For forty-two years he was superintendent of the schools of Fremont, Ohio; was president of the Ohio state teachers' association; was president of the Tri-state association of Ohio, Michigan and Indiana; and president of the Ohio state board of examiners. He died March 4, 1906, in Fremont, Ohio.

Rousseau, Percival Leonard, artist, was born Sept. 21, 1869, in New Orleans, La. He has attained success as a noted portrait painter; and maintains a studio in France. He received honorary mention at the Paris Salon in 1900 and a third class medal from the Paris Salon in 1906.

Rossell, William, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1761, in New Jersey. He was for many years a district judge of the United States district court; and in 1804 was associate justice of the supreme court of New Jersey. He died June 20, 1840, in Mount Holly, N.J.

Rosser, Leonidas, clergyman, author, was born July 31, 1815, in Petersburg, Va. He was a delegate to the general conference of the Methodist episcopal church every four years in 1850-66. He was general missionary to the confederate army during the civil war. He was the author of Baptism; Experimental Religion; Class Meetings; Recognition in Heaven; Open Communion; Initial Life, and Reply to Howell's Evils of Baptism. He died Jan. 25, 1892, in Ashland, Va.

Rosser, Thomas Lafayette, soldier, civil engineer, was born Oct. 15, 1836, in Campbell county, Va. He was a brigadier-general and major-general and commanded a brigade during the civil war in the confederate cavalry in Hampton's division. In 1898 he became a brigadier-general in the United States volunteers.

Rossiter, Clinton L., railroad president, was born Feb. 13, 1860, in Brooklyn, N.Y. In 1895 he became president of the Brooklyn Heights railroad at Brooklyn, N.Y.

Rossiter, Stealy B., clergyman, author, was born in Berne, N.Y. For twenty-seven years he was pastor of the North Presbyterian church of New York City. He is the author of The Red Cord; and Curlers' Sermons.

Rossiter, Thomas Prichard, painter, artist, was born Sept. 29, 1817, in New Haven, Conn. He painted a large number of historical and scriptural pictures; and numerous portraits. He died May 17, 1871, in Cold Springs, N.Y.

Rossiter, William Sidney, journalist, author, was born Sept. 9, 1861, in Westfield, Mass. Since 1904 he has been chief clerk of the census and chief of the public division at Washington, D.C. He is the author of An Accidental Romance and other stories.

Rost, J. D., soldier. He attained the rank of brigadier-general. He died Nov. 23, 1890, in Rockport, Maine.

Rost, Pierre Adolph, lawyer, jurist, was born about 1797, in France. In 1826 he was elected to the Louisiana state senate; and four years later he was nominated for congress, but was defeated. He was appointed judge of the supreme court, but soon resigned; but again accepted a seat in 1846. On the formation of the provisional confederate government he was appointed its commissioner to Spain, and remained abroad until after the civil war. He died Sept. 6, 1868, in New Orleans, La.

Roswell, Farnham, governor. In 1880-82 he was governor of Vermont.

Rotch, Abbott Lawrence, meteorologist, author, was born Jan. 6, 1861, in Boston, Mass. He is a meteorologist; and in 1895 founded the Blue Hill meteorological observatory in Milton, Mass. He has published many valuable meteorological papers.

Rotch, Arthur, designer, architect, was born May 13, 1850, in Boston, Mass. In 1880 he became senior member of the firm of Rotch and Tilden, in Boston, Mass. Since that time he has built various churches and the Memorial library building in Bridgewater, Mass.; gymnasiums of Bowdoin college and associate's hall of Philips Exeter academy; the high school and academy of Milton, Mass.; art schools and art museum of Wellesley college; and many private houses and business blocks throughout the United States.

Rotch, Mrs. Charity Rodman, philanthropist, was born Oct. 31, 1766, in Newport, R.I. Her husband died in 1823 and bequeathed to her his personal property to be disposed as she should decide. She determined to found a school for orphan and destitute children, and a few years after her death the fund that she left reached the sum of twenty thousand dollars. The interest of this money was subsequently applied to the purchase of a farm of 185 acres near Massillon, Ohio, on which was erected, at a cost of five thousand dollars, a building for educational and dwelling purposes. In this institution boys are thoroughly instructed in the art of husbandry and girls in culinary duties and the making of their own wearing-apparel. The course is four years in length. She died Aug. 8, 1824, in Kendol, Ohio.

Rotch, Thomas Morgan, educator, physician, author. He is professor of pediatrics in the medical department of Harvard university. He is the author of Pediatrics.

Rotch, William, civil engineer, trustee, was born July 22, 1844, in New Bedford, Mass. In 1881 he was one of the commissioners who established a boundary between Massachusetts and Rhode Island; and in 1882-90 was consulting engineer of several railroad companies. He is president of two wharf and storage companies; and is president of the Mystic wharf and storage company.

Roth, Filibert, educator, horticulturist, author, was born April 20, 1858, in Germany. He was educated in Germany; and came to the United States in 1871. In 1885-93 he studied in the university of Michigan; and received the degree of B.S. from that institution. In 1893-98 he was a special expert on timber in the United States department of agriculture; in 1898-1901 was assistant professor of forestry at Cornell university; in 1901 was expert assistant of the bureau of forestry in the United States department of agriculture; in 1901 was chief of the division of river reserves in the general land office of the United States department of the interior; and in 1903 was professor of forestry in the university of Michigan. He is a member of the society of American foresters; and is a member of the Washington academy of sciences. He is the author of Timber; Forest Conditions of Wisconsin; Cypress; The Annual Ring; Timber Physics; Uses of Wood; Grazing in Forest Reserves; First Book of Forestry; and Forest Reserves Manual.

Roth, Frederick George Richard, designer, sculptor, was born in April, 1872, in Brooklyn, N.Y. Since 1890 he has been professionally engaged as a sculptor; and has exhibited in New York, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Chicago and Portland. He is a national academician.

Roth, Henry Warren, clergyman, college president, theologian, was born April 5, 1838, in Prospect, Pa. In 1861-70 he was pastor of Grace church of Pittsburg, Pa.; and in 1870-87 was president of Thiel college of Greenville, Pa. In 1887-99 he was pastor of Wicker park lutheran church of Chicago, Ill.; and since 1901 has resided in Greenville, Pa.

Roth, John, clergyman, was born Feb. 3, 1726, in Prussia. In 1759 he entered the Moravian Indian mission, serving for fifteen years in Pennsylvania and Ohio. Returning to Pennsylvania in 1773, he was employed in rural congregations till his death. He made a special study of the Unami dialect of the Lenape language, and composed in it an extensive religious work. He died July 22, 1781, in York, Pa.

Roth, Theophilus B., educator, clergyman, college president, was born Feb. 9, 1853, in Prospect, Pa. In 1893 he became president of Thiel college of Greencastle, Pa. He is the founder and editor of the Young Lutheran, which has the largest circulation of all English Lutheran papers.

Rothemel, John H., lawyer, congressman, was born March 7, 1856, in Berks county, Pa. He received an academic education; and in 1881 was admitted to the practice of law. In 1907-15 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the sixtieth, sixty-first, sixty-second and sixty-third congresses as a democrat.

Rothermel, Peter Frederick, artist, was born July 18, 1817, in Nescopeck, Pa. He was elected a member of the Pennsylvania academy, of which institution he had been director in 1847-55. His best paintings are De Soto Discovering the Mississippi; Embarkation of Columbus, in the Pennsylvania academy; and Christian Martyrs in the Coliseum; a series of paintings illustrative of William H. Prescott's History of the Conquest of Mexico. He died Aug. 15, 1895, in Grassmere, Pa.

Rothert, Henry William, merchant, legislator, lieutenant-governor, was born Sept. 11, 1840, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He has been mayor of Keokuk, Iowa; for two terms was a member of the state senate; and became lieutenant governor of Iowa by succession as president of the senate. He has been register of the land office at Cheyenne, Wyo.; and is now superintendent of the Iowa school for the deaf.

Rothrock, David Andrew, educator, author, was born Jan. 31, 1864, in Milltown, Ind. Since 1908 he has been junior professor of mathematics at the Indiana university of Bloomington. He is the author of Essentials of Algebra; and Supplementary Examples in Algebra.

Rothrock, James H., lawyer, jurist. In 1876 he served as an associate justice of the supreme court of Iowa; and in 1878-96 he was chief justice.

Rothrock, Joseph Trimble, soldier, educator, author, was born April 9, 1839, in McVeytown, Pa. In 1863 he was captain of company E, twentieth regiment Pennsylvania cavalry. He is a professor of botany in the university of Pennsylvania since 1877. He founded and is superintendent of a sanatorium for consumptives at West Chester, Pa. He is the author of Botany of the Wheeler Expedition; Vacation Cruisings; Flora of Alaska; and Revision of the North American Gaurineæ.

Rothschild, Alonzo, journalist, author, was born Oct. 30, 1862, in New York City. Since 1884 he has been engaged in journalism and literary pursuits. He is the author of Lincoln, Master of Men.

Rothwell, Gideon F., lawyer, congressman, was born in 1836, in Callaway county, Mo. In 1879-81 he was a representative from Missouri to the forty-sixth congress as a democrat. He died Jan. 18, 1894, in Moberly, Mo.

Rotoli, Augusto, musician, composer, was born Jan. 7, 1847, in Rome, Italy. Having achieved a high reputation as a conductor, singing-teacher, and song composer, in 1885 he became a vocal instructor in the New England conservatory of Boston, Mass. He is the author of many songs and compositions.

Rotzell, Willett Enos, physician, naturalist, author, was born June 19, 1871, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1905 he has been professor of medical botany at the Hahnemann medical college of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Man, An Introduction to Anthropology.

Roucolle, Adrienne, litterateur, author, was born June 14, 1875, in France. She is the author of His Aunt's Fortune; Child of the Sun; Not Like Other Girls; The Flood of Toulouse; Her Wedding Morn; The Gypsy; and The Kingdom of the Good Fairies.

Roumfort, Augustus Louis, soldier, educator, state legislator, was born Dec. 10, 1796, in Paris, France. He was professor of mathematics at Mount Airy college at Germantown; and in 1818-26; and in 1826-34 superintendent of a military school in that town. He was in the Pennsylvania legislature in 1843-44; and harbor-master of Philadelphia in 1845-48. He had been made captain of Pennsylvania militia in 1820; and in 1843 had risen to the rank of brigadier-general. He died Aug. 2, 1878, in Harrisburg, Pa.

Round, William Marshall Fitts, author, was born March 26, 1846, in Pawtucket, R.I. He was a writer active in prison reforms; and was founder of the order of St. Christopher for training institutional workers. His books for juvenile readers include Ach-sah; Child Marion Abroad; Torn and Mended; Hal; and Rosecroft. He died in 1906, in New York City.

Rounds, Sterling Parker, printer, was born June 27, 1828, in Berkshire, Vt. He moved to Chicago in 1851; and soon afterward opened a printers' warehouse. In 1856 the business was extended by the addition of the printers' electrotpe foundry, and the first number of Rounds' Printers' Cabinet was issued. He was appointed public printer in 1881. He removed to Omaha in 1885; and was identified with the Republican till his death. He died Dec. 17, 1887, in Omaha, Neb.

Rouner, David Argyle, soldier, farmer, lawyer, statesman, was born April 20, 1842, in Sligo, Ky. He served as a soldier in the confederate army. He was a member of the thirty-first and thirty-second Missouri general assemblies; and was a member of the thirty-sixth and thirty-seventh state senate. He is the author of many of the revenue laws of Missouri. In 1901-05 he was prosecuting attorney for Knox county, Mo.; and during his four years' service never lost a case.

Rountree, Harold, manufacturer, inventor, was born Oct. 5, 1865, in England. He has taken out about thirty patents; and is the manager and organizer of the Burdette-Rountree manufacturing company of Chicago, Ill. In 1902 he was prohibition candidate for president of the county board of Cook county; and in 1903 was offered the prohibition nomination for mayor of Chicago, Ill.

Rouquette, Adrien Emmanuel, educator, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 13, 1813, in New Orleans, La. He was a Roman catholic clergyman and educator of New Orleans; and known as the Abbe Rouquette. He was the author of a volume entitled Wild Flowers. He died July 15, 1887, in New Orleans, La.

Rouquette, Francois Dominique, lawyer, author, was born Jan. 2, 1810, in New Orleans, La. He was a lawyer who resided in France for the greater part of his life. He was the author of a work in French and English on the Choctaw Indians. He died May 10, 1890, in New Orleans, La.

Rourke, Patrick Henry, lawyer, legislator, was born Oct. 28, 1854, in Norristown, Pa. He received the rudiments of his education in the common schools and attended the Northern Indiana Normal college of Valparaiso, Ind. In 1882 he was admitted to the bar in Chicago, Ill., and moved the same year to the territory of Dakota. He took up his profession at Lisbon, N.D.; has been city attorney; mayor of his city; district attorney; state's attorney; and in 1892 was the republican nominee for attorney-general. He served with distinction as state senator in the North state senate; and has been United States district attorney for the district of North Dakota.

Rous, John, naval officer, was born in Massachusetts. He commanded the fleet that conveyed the expedition against the French in the Bay of Fundy, and afterward destroyed their forts and houses on St. John's river. He was a member of the colonial council in 1754. He died April 3, 1760, in England.

Rouse, Adelaide Louise, journalist, author, was born in Athens, N.Y. Since 1889 she has been engaged in editorial work. She is the author of Frontier and Cities; Almost a Genius; The Dean of Girls; Under My Own Roof; and The Letters of Theodora.

Rouse, Arthur B., congressman, was born June 20, 1874. Since 1900 he has practiced law in Kentucky. In 1911-15 he was a representative from Kentucky to the sixty-second and sixty-third congresses as a democrat.

Rouse, Henry Clark, railroad president, was born March 15, 1853, in Cleveland, Ohio. In 1892 he was elected president of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway company; and in 1893 was appointed receiver of the Northern Pacific. He died April 30, 1906, in New York City.

Rouss, Charles Broadway, merchant, philanthropist, was born Feb. 11, 1836, in Woodsboro, Md. He made large gifts for various public purposes of Winchester, Va. He erected a monument to dead confederate veterans in New York. He founded the physical laboratory of the university of Virginia; and founded the confederate memorial hall. He donated a hundred thousand dollars to Richmond, Va., for a confederate monument. He died March, 1902, in New York City.

Rousseau, Lovell Harrison, soldier, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Aug. 4, 1818, in Lincoln county, Ky. He was elected for three years to the legislature of Indiana; and for three years to the state senate. He served through the war with Mexico as a captain; and was present at Buena Vista. In 1850 he returned to Louisville, where he subsequently resided. In 1860 he was elected by both political parties, to the state senate of Kentucky. In 1861 he was commissioned a colonel of volunteers; was appointed a brigadier-general; and in 1862 appointed a major-general. In 1865-67 he was a representative from Kentucky to the thirty-ninth congress. In 1867 he was appointed a brigadier-general in the regular army; and was assigned to duty in the new territory of Alaska. He died Jan. 7, 1869, in New Orleans, La.

Rousseau, Harry Harwood, naval officer, was born April 19, 1870, in Troy, N.Y. Since 1907 he has been a member of the Isthmian canal commission. In 1907 he was appointed chief of the bureau of yards and docks with the rank of rear-admiral.

Routt, John Long, soldier, federal official, governor, was born April 25, 1826, in Eddyville, Ky. In 1861-65 he served as captain of company E in the ninety-fourth regiment Illinois volunteers. In 1869-71 he was United States marshal for the southern district of Illinois; and in 1871-75 was second assistant postmaster-general of the United States. In 1875-76 he was governor of Colorado. In 1883-85 and 1890-92 he was mayor of Denver, Colo.

Rouxel, Gustave Augustin, clergyman, bishop, was born Feb. 2, 1840, in France. In 1863 he was assistant priest at Ope-lousas, La.; and became canon and vicar-general in 1878. In 1899 he became auxiliary Roman catholic bishop at New Orleans, La. He died in 1908, in New Orleans, La.

Roversi, Louis, journalist, lecturer, author, was born Dec. 8, 1859, in Italy. He has lectured for the board of education of New York City; and is editor of the Italian Herald of New York City. He is the author of State and Church in Italy; Essays on Italian Art; and other works.

Rowan, Andrew Summers, soldier, civil engineer, author, was born April 23, 1857, in Gap Mills, Va. He served in Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, South Dakota, North Dakota and Michigan; was a member of the intercontinent railway survey; and was in charge of hypsometric work of the Central American party. He was sent to communicate with General Garcia after the declaration of the Spanish-American war. He is the author of The Island of Cuba.

Rowan, John, lawyer, jurist, diplomat, congressman, United States senator, was born in 1773, in Pennsylvania. In 1807-09 he was a representative from Kentucky to the tenth congress; and was for many years a member of the general assembly. He was a judge of the court of appeals in 1819; and in 1825-31 he was United States senator; and his last public position was that of minister to the Two Sicilies. He died July 13, 1853, in Louisville, Ky.

Rowan, Matthew, colonial governor. In 1753-54 he was colonial governor of North Carolina.

Rowan, Stephen Clegg, soldier, was born in December, 1808, in Ireland. In 1870 he was vice-admiral of the United States navy; and was chairman of the lighthouse board of Washington, D.C. He died March 31, 1890, in Washington, D.C.

Rowe, Albert, business man, public official, was born May 4, 1846, in Albany, N.Y. He received his education in the public and private schools of his native state. For many years he has been prominently identified with the business and public affairs of Saugerties, N.Y.; and is connected with the wholesale meat and provision business. For the past ten years he has been manager of the well-known firm of Swarzschild and Sulzberger company of Saugerties, N.Y., one of the largest wholesale meat and provision corporations in the world. For eight years he has been mayor of Saugerties, N.Y.

Rowe, Charles Henry, clergyman, poet, was born Jan. 19, 1834, in Guilford, Maine. In 1864 he was commissioned a chaplain in the United States army. He has filled pastorates in the baptist church ever since in the vicinity of Boston. For a time he was connected with the editorial department of The Watchman of Boston. He is the author of a number of poems and sacred hymns.

Rowe, Mrs. Harriet Gould, litterateur, author, was born in 1835, in East Corinth, Maine. She is the author of Re-told Tales of the Hills and Shores of Maine; Queens-hithe; and A Maid of Bar Harbor.

Rowe, Henry Clark, pioneer propagator, was born April 23, 1851, in New Haven, Conn. He is the pioneer in deep water oyster culture in Long Island sound, and received the first grant of oyster ground outside of the harbors in 1874. From 1875 until the present time he has secured such legislation from year to year as the growth of the business required. During 1897 he planted nearly three million bushels of shells and other material on his grounds, which comprise nearly ten thousand acres. He is regarded as an authority on the propagation and culture of oysters; and is the author of The Oyster Industry; and various papers read before the international fisheries congress at Chicago in 1893, and before other societies.

Rowe, Leo S., educator, lawyer, economist, author, was born Sept. 17, 1871, in McGregor, Iowa. In 1900 appointed by President McKinley a member of the commission to revise and complete the laws of Porto Rico; and in 1901 was made chairman of the commission. Since 1902 has been professor of political science in the university of Pennsylvania. In 1906 he was appointed by President Roosevelt to represent the United States at the international conference of American states held at Rio Janeiro in 1906. He is at present president of the American academy of political and social science. He is the author of United States and Porto Rico; Report Code Commission, in four volumes; Factors of Efficiency in Government; and The Civil Service in Porto Rico.

Rowe, Peter, congressman, was born in New York. In 1853-55 he was a representative from New York to the thirty-third congress. He died in Schenectady, N.Y.

Rowe, Peter Trimble, clergyman, bishop, was born Nov. 20, 1856, in Meadowvale, Ontario, Canada. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools; studied under private tutors; and in 1880 graduated from Trinity college of Toronto; and subsequently received the degrees of A.M. and D.D. In 1878-82 he was a missionary among the Ojibway Indians of Garden River, Ontario. In 1882-95 he was rector of St. James church at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.; and at the same time in 1891-95 he was commissioner of public schools for Chippewa county, Mich. Since 1895 he has been protestant episcopal bishop of Alaska.

Rowe, Stuart Henry, educator, inventor, author, was born May 24, 1869, in New Haven, Conn. Since 1904 he has been head of the department of pedagogy at the Brooklyn teachers' training school. He is the author of The Physical Nature of the Child and How to Study It; and The Lighting of School Rooms.

Rowell, George Presbury, journalist, author, was born July 4, 1838, in Concord, Vt. In 1867 he took up his residence in New York, where he began the publication of Rowell's Newspaper Directory. He also published Printer's Ink. He was the author of Forty Years as an Advertising Agent. He died Aug. 28, 1908, in Poland Springs, N.Y.

Rowell, John W., lawyer, jurist, was born June 9, 1835, in Lebanon, N.H. He received an academic education at Randolph, Vt.; and in 1893 the university of Vermont conferred upon him the honorary degree of LL.D. In 1858 he began the practice of law; and in 1862-63 was state's attorney for Orange county, Vt. In 1861-62 he was a representative in the Vermont state legislature; and in 1874-75 was a member of the Vermont state senate. In 1872-80 he was reporter of decisions of the state supreme court of Vermont. Since 1892 he has been a justice of the state supreme court of Vermont, and chief justice since 1902.

Rowell, Jonathan Harvey, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 10, 1833, in Haverhill, N.H. In 1861 he graduated from Eureka college; and in 1865 was a student at the law department of the Chicago university. In 1861-64 he served as lieutenant and captain in the seventeenth regiment Illinois infantry. In 1865 he was admitted to the practice of law; and in 1868-72 was state's attorney for the eighth judicial district of Illinois. In 1883-91 he was a representative from Illinois to the forty-eighth, forty-ninth, fiftieth and fifty-first congresses. He died May 15, 1908, in Bloomington, Ill.

Rowett, Richard, soldier, was born in England. In 1861 he was captain in the seventh regiment Illinois infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died July 13, 1887.

Rowland, Adoniram Judson, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 9, 1840, in Valley Forge, Pa. Since 1895 he has been general secretary of the American baptist publication society of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of A Handbook on the Pentateuch.

Rowland, Alfred, soldier, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Feb. 9, 1844, in Lumberton, N.C. In 1867 he was elected by the county court register of deeds for Robeson county, N.C.; and was a member of the general assembly of North Carolina in 1876-77 and 1880-81. In 1887-91 he was a representative from North Carolina to the fiftieth and fifty-first congresses as a democrat.

Rowland, Arthur John, educator, author, was born Feb. 19, 1867, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He organized a course in electrical engineering; and is director of the school of engineering at the Drexel Institute of Philadelphia, Pa. He is part author of Experiments in Applied Electricity.

Rowland, David, congressman. He was a delegate from Connecticut to the colonial congress which met in New York in 1765. He died in New York.

Rowland, Helen, journalist, author, was born Dec. 21, 1876, in Washington, D.C. Since 1902 she has been a member of the staff of the New York Press. She is the author of The Digressions of Polly; and Little Love-a-Logues.

Rowland, Henry Augustus, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 18, 1804, in Windsor, Conn. He was pastor of the Park Presbyterian church of Newark, N.J. He was the author of Common Maxims of Infidelity; The Path of Life; Light in a Dark Valley; and The Way of Peace. He died Sept. 4, 1859, in Boston, Mass.

Rowland, Henry Augustus, educator, scientist, inventor, was born Nov. 27, 1848, in Honesdale, Pa. Since 1876 he has been professor of physics in Johns Hopkins university. In 1884 he received the Rumford medal for his researches in light and heat; and is best known for his electrical and magnetic discoveries. He died April 16, 1901, in Baltimore, Md.

Rowland, Henry Cottrell, surgeon, author, was born May 12, 1874, in New York City. He was educated in private schools of New York and Stamford, Conn.; for one year was a student at Williams college; and in 1898 graduated from the Yale medical school as M.D. He took special studies in operative surgery in the polyclinic hospital of New York City. He served in the Spanish-American war with the

New York naval militia. After some staff work in hospitals he passed the examination for contract surgeon in the United States army. He practiced medicine in New York City, but has retired from surgical practice to devote himself to surgical literature. He is the author of Sea Scamps; To Windward; The Wanderers; The Countess Diane; Across Europe in a Motor Boat; Germaine; and many stories and articles in leading magazines.

Rowland, Kate Mason, historical, author, was born in Virginia. She is the author of The Life of George Mason, including his speeches, public papers and correspondence; and The Life of Charles Carroll of Carrollton.

Rowland, Thomas Fitch, manufacturer, engineer, was born March 15, 1831, in New Haven, Conn. In 1851 he was connected with a New York engineering and building establishment, and became a general machinist, designer and builder of marine and other machinery. In 1859 he established a business on his own account in Brooklyn, N.Y. At the outbreak of the civil war he constructed gun carriages and mortar beds for the navy department.

Rowland, William, ship builder, was born April 28, 1828, in Monmouth Junction, N.J. In 1894 he built the Priscilla of the Fall River line, which is acknowledged to be the finest vessel afloat. He also finished the ships owned by the Old Dominion line of steamers.

Rowlee, Willard Winfield, educator, generalist, author, was born Dec. 15, 1861, in Fulton, N.Y. Since 1896 he has been professor of botany and superintendent of the Cornell university grounds. He is the author of Lieutenant Heman Rowlee and his descendants.

Rowley, John, taxidermist, author, was born March 11, 1866, in Hastings-on-Hudson, N.Y. Since 1893 he has been chief taxidermist of the American museum of natural history. He is the author of The Art of Taxidermy.

Rowley, Thomas Algeo, soldier, lawyer, was born Oct. 5, 1808, in Pittsburg, Pa. He served in the Mexican war. In 1862 he was made brigadier-general for services at Fredericksburg, Va. In 1866-70 he was United States marshal for the western district of Pennsylvania. He died May 14, 1890, in Pittsburg, Pa.

Rowley, William Reuben, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 8, 1824, in Gouverneur, N.Y. He was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers in 1865. He then returned to Galena, Ill.; and was county judge in 1877-86. He died Feb. 9, 1886, in Chicago, Ill.

Rowse, Samuel Worcester, painter, artist, was born Jan. 29, 1822, in Bath, Maine. He has devoted himself to drawing in black and white; and his works in crayon, chiefly portraits and ideal heads of children, are well known to the public.

Rowson, Mrs. Susanna Haswell, litterateur, author, was born in 1762 in England. Her Charlotte Temple was the most popular tale of its day. In 1793 she came again to America; and after a short career as an actress opened a school in Boston, which was very successful. She was the author of Victoria; Mary, or the Test of Honour; The Fille de Chambre; The Inquisitor; The Trials of the Heart; Reu- ben and Rachel; Lucy Temple, a sequel to Charlotte Temple; Miscellaneous Poems; The Slaves of Algiers, an opera; The Volunteers, a farce; and The French Patriot, a comedy. She died March 2, 1824, in Boston, Mass.

Roy, Joseph Edwin, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 7, 1827, in Martinsburg, Ohio. Since 1853 he has been a clergyman of the congregational church; and is now pastor of the first congregational church of Oak Park, Ill. He is the author of Pilgrim's Letters.

Royall, Mrs. Anne, journalist, author, was born June 11, 1769, in Virginia. She was editor of the Washington Paul Pry. She was the author of The Black Book; The Tennessean, a novel; Sketches of History, Life, and Manners in the United States; and A Southern Tour: Letters from Alabama. She died Oct. 1, 1854, in Washington, D.C.

Royall, Isaac, soldier, philanthropist, was born about 1720. Among numerous bequests he left two thousand acres of land in Worcester county, Mass., for the endowment of a law professorship in Harvard. This was established in 1815 and is known by his name. The town of Royalston, Worcester county, Mass., was named for him. He died in October, 1781, in England.

Royall, William Bedford, soldier, was born April 15, 1825, in Virginia. He was first lieutenant of the Missouri mountain volunteers in the Mexican war. He served throughout the civil war, and in 1865 was brevetted colonel. In 1876 he took part in the Yellowstone expedition; and in 1887 was retired from active service with the rank of colonel of cavalry. He died Dec. 13, 1895, in Washington, D.C.

Royce, George Monroe, clergyman, author, was born about 1852, in Westmoreland county, Va. He served in the civil war as a bugler in the third Indiana cavalry at the age of twelve years. He is the author of The Little Bugler; and other work.

Royce, Homer Elihu, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born June 14, 1820, in East Berkshire, Vt. He was a member of the Vermont state legislature in 1846-47; and was prosecuting attorney for the state in 1848. He was a state senator in 1849-51; and in 1857-61 he was a representative from Vermont to the thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth congresses. In 1870-82 he was an associate justice; and in 1882-90 was chief justice of the supreme court of Vermont. He died April 24, 1891, in St. Albans, Vt.

Royce, Josiah, educator, author, was born Nov. 20, 1855, in Grass Valley, Cal. Since 1892 he has been professor of the history of philosophy at Harvard university. He is the author of The Religious Aspect of Philosophy; California; A Study of American Character; The Feud of Oakfield Creek, a novel; Primer of Logical Analysis; The Spirit of Modern Philosophy; Studies of Good and Evil; The World and the Individual; and The Conception of Immortality.

Royce, Stephen, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, governor, was born Aug. 12, 1787, in Tinmouth, Vt. He was a member of the Vermont legislature in 1815-16 and 1822-24. He was judge of the Supreme court of the state in 1826-27 and 1829-52. He was chief justice in 1846-51; and was governor of Vermont in 1854-56. He died Nov. 11, 1868, in East Berkshire, Vt.

Roye, Edward James, philanthropist, was born Feb. 3, 1815, in Newark, Ohio. He emigrated to Liberia in 1846; was elected to the house of representatives in 1849; was chief justice in 1865-68; and was elected fifth president of Liberia in 1870. He died Feb. 12, 1872, in Liberia.

Royer, John A., soldier, physician, surgeon, was born Feb. 15, 1840, in Franklin county, Pa. During the civil war he was appointed surgeon in the department of Virginia; subsequently raised a cavalry company; and was commissioned first lieutenant. For twenty-five years he practiced medicine in Carey, Ohio; and since 1893 in Toledo. For four years he was examining pension agent.

Royer, John Groff, educator, college president, was born April 22, 1838, in Hartleton, Pa. He has been president of the Mt. Morris college, Illinois, since 1884.

Royle, Vernon, manufacturer, inventor, was born June 9, 1846, in Paterson, N.J. In 1877 he joined with his father and brother in establishing the machine business since known as John Boyle and sons, and since then has devoted the greater part of his time to original work in inventing. He has developed three distinct lines of machinery, the photo engraving machinery, the jacquard card cutting machinery and tubing and insulator machines. He has also made many valuable inventions in other lines, including the first gros grain quiller designed for the silk trade in the United States; a universal stereo and single lens camera shutter; an electric tempering furnace; electric switches for use on machines equipped with individual motors; spinning fliers; and flushing valves. His contributions to the mechanical advancement of the United States are remarkable not alone for extent and variety but for their entirely practical character as well. His original work is covered by seventy-eight patents.

Royse, Lemuel W., lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 19, 1848, in Kosciusko county, Ind. In 1876-78 he was prosecuting attorney for the thirty-third judicial circuit of Indiana. He was mayor of the city of Warsaw in 1885-91. In 1895-99 he was a representative from Indiana to the fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses as a republican.

Rozier, J. Ad., lawyer, government official, was born Dec. 31, 1817, in St. Genevieve, Mo. In 1861 he was a delegate from Louisiana to the secession convention. He was tendered the office of governor of the state of Louisiana, but declined. For fifteen years he was president of the New Orleans bar association; and in 1865 became mayor of New Orleans, La. He died Dec. 13, 1896, in New Orleans, La.

Rubey, Thomas Lewis, congressman, was born Sept. 27, 1862, in Lebanon, Mo. He has been a member of the state senate of Missouri; and in 1903-05 was lieutenant-governor of that state. In 1911-15 he was a representative from Missouri to the sixty-second and sixty-third congresses as a democrat.

Rublee, Horace, journalist, librarian, diplomat, was born Aug. 19, 1829, in Berkshire, Vt. In 1860-80 he was United States minister to Switzerland. In 1881 he assumed the editorship of the Milwaukee Republican and News; and in 1882 became editor of the Milwaukee Sentinel. He died Oct. 19, 1896, in Milwaukee, Wis.

Rucker, Atterson Walden, soldier, miner, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born April 3, 1847, in Harrodsburg, Ky. He was educated in the common schools of Kentucky and Missouri. He served four years in the confederate states army. He practiced law in the courts of Missouri, Kansas and Colorado; and in 1879 moved to Leadville, Col. He was judge of the court of record in Lake county, Col.; and in 1909-11 was representative from Colorado to the sixty-first congress as a democrat.

Rucker, Daniel Henry, soldier, was born April 28, 1812, in Belleville, N.J. In 1865 he received the brevets of major-general, United States army; and major-general, United States volunteers, for faithful and meritorious service during the war. In 1882 he was made brigadier-general and quartermaster-general; and retired from the army in 1882.

Rucker, Howard Lewis, educator, was born Jan. 12, 1852, in Jacksonville, Ill. He is president of the university of commerce and finance in Minneapolis, Minn.

Rucker, Louis Henry, soldier, was born Jan. 13, 1842, in Illinois. He served throughout the civil war; and in 1864 attained the rank of first lieutenant. In 1866 he was appointed second lieutenant in the United States cavalry; was made captain in 1879; and became colonel in 1901. In 1903 he was retired with the rank of brigadier-general in the United States army. He died July 9, 1906, in Los Angeles, Cal.

Rucker, William P., soldier, farmer, physician, lawyer, was born Nov. 9, 1831, in Lynchburg, Va. He received his education in Collins institute, the university of Virginia, and the Jefferson medical college. He was prosecuting attorney for two years for Greenbrier county, W. Va.; and two years for Pocahontas county. During the civil war he served as a major of the thirteenth regiment West Virginia infantry; was aide-de-camp to Generals Fremont, Sigel and Crook; and commanded for a short time the third district of the West Virginia home guards. After the civil war he was a successful merchant and tobacconist of Lynchburg, Va. He is one of the foremost lawyers of the south, at Lewisburg, W. Va.

Rucker, William W., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Feb. 1, 1855, near Covington, Va. For three terms he was prosecuting attorney of Chariton, Mo.; and in 1893-95 was judge of the circuit court. In 1899-1915 he was a representative from Missouri to the fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh, fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth, sixtieth, sixty-first, sixty-second and sixty-third congresses as a democrat.

Ruckle, Nicholas R., soldier. He attained the rank of brigadier-general during the civil war. He died May 4, 1900, in Indianapolis, Ind.

Ruckstuhl, Fred Wellington, designer, sculptor, was born May 22, 1853, in Alsace. Among his works of sculptor are the bronze heroic group entitled Mercury Amusing Himself; Solon, in the library of congress; the equestrian statue of Brigadier-General John F. Hartranft on Capitol hill, Harrisburg, Pa.; and the confederate monument The Defense of the Flag in Little Rock, Ark.

Rudd, Channing, educator, lawyer, author, was born in Illinois. Since 1900 he has been a member of the bar of the supreme court. For five years he was librarian, registrar and professor of law at Columbian university. He was the founder of the junior congress of the United States; and organized and established the Intercontinental university.

Rudd, John Churchill, clergyman, founder, was born May 24, 1779, in Norwich, Conn. In 1827 he began the publication of The Gospel Messenger, a religious weekly, representing the doctrines and advocating the principles of the Protestant Episcopal church; and continued to be its editor during the rest of his life. He was the author of Tribute to Departed Excellence; and other sermons. He died Nov. 15, 1848, in Utica, N.Y.

Rudder, William, clergyman, author, was born in 1820 in British Guinea. He was an episcopal clergyman of Philadelphia; and rector of St. Stephen's church. He was the author of Sermons; and A Rationale of the Church's Liturgic Worship. He died in Philadelphia, Pa.

Ruddiman, Edsel Alexander, educator, pharmacist, author, was born Dec. 27, 1864, in Dearborn, Mich. Since 1897 he has been chemist to the Tennessee board of pharmacy; and since 1890 has been professor of pharmacy and materia medica at Vanderbilt university. He is the author of Incompatibilities in Prescriptions; Whys in Pharmacy; and Manual of Materia Medica.

Rude, Mrs. Ellen Sergeant, poet, was born March 17, 1838, in Sodus, N.Y. She is a temperance advocate at St. Augustine, Fla. She is the author of a volume of poems entitled Magnolia Leaves.

Rudel, Charles A., public official, was born Aug. 26, 1868, in Baden, Germany. He is prominent in political affairs of Peoria, Ill., was town clerk of Peoria township in 1893; and since 1894 has served as county clerk.

Rudkin, Frank H., lawyer, jurist. He is associate justice of the state supreme court of Washington for the term of 1902-08.

Rudolph, Cuno H., banker, was born June 26, 1800, in Baltimore, Md. He attended the Bryant and Sadtler business college. For thirty years he was engaged in the hardware business; and in banking for five years as vice-president of the National Metropolitan bank. In 1910-13 he was president of the board of commissioners for the District of Columbia. Since 1913 he has been president of the Second National bank of Washington. He is a member of the Washington board of trade, the Washington chamber of commerce and other institutions.

Rudolph, Michael, soldier, manufacturer, was born in 1754 in Maryland. In 1778 he joined the United States army; and held the rank of captain of his legion. In 1790 he was commissioned captain in the first infantry United States army; and in 1794 was appointed adjutant general and inspector United States army. He subsequently engaged in trade with the West Indies. He died in 1795 at sea.

Ruebsam, John Emil Herman, inventor, was born March 19, 1841, in Prussia. He was operator and inventor for the movement treatment at the Union hospital of Philadelphia, Pa.; and he is the inventor of various kinds of apparatus for medical use.

Ruetenik, Herman Julius, clergyman, educator, college president, author, was born Sept. 20, 1826, in Germany. In 1852 he entered the ministry of the reformed church in the United States; and has been an eminent minister and religious publisher of Cleveland, Ohio. He has been president of the Calvin college of Cleveland, Ohio. He is the author of Pioneers of the Reformed Church in America; and several works in German.

Ruff, Charles Frederick, soldier, was born Oct. 10, 1818, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was brevetted major for gallant and meritorious conduct in the Mexican war. He was brevetted colonel and brigadier-general U. S. army in 1865; and in 1868-70 served as professor of military science in the university of Pennsylvania. He died Oct. 1, 1885, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Ruffin, Edmund, soldier, agriculturist, journalist, state legislator, author, was born Jan. 5, 1794, in Prince George county, Va. He served in the Virginia legislature; was secretary of the state board of agriculture; agricultural surveyor of South Carolina; for many years was president of the Virginia Agricultural society; and was the discoverer of the value of marl as a fertilizer of poor soil, by the use of which millions of dollars were added to the value of real estate of eastern Virginia. The first gun was fired in 1861 by Edmund Ruffin of Virginia, who committed suicide soon after the close of the civil war. He was the author of Essay on Calcareous Manures; Essay on Agricultural Education; and Anticipations of the Future to Serve as Lessons for the Present Time. He died June 15, 1865, in Redmoor, Va.

Ruffin, Mrs. Margaret Ellen Henry, litterateur, poet, was born Aug. 26, 1857, in Baldwin county, Ala. She is proficient in music, and a linguist. She is the author of a volume of poems entitled Drifting Leaves; John Gildart; and The North Star.

Ruffin, Thomas, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born in Edgecombe county, N.C. He served as circuit attorney of the seventh judicial circuit of the state of Missouri in 1844-48. In 1853-61 he was a representative from North Carolina to the thirty-third, thirty-fourth, thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth congresses. He took part in the civil war as a member of the confederate congress; having previously been a delegate to the peace congress of 1861. He died in October, 1863, in Alexandria, Va.

Ruffin, Thomas, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 17, 1787, in King and Queen county, Va. He served in the North Carolina legislature in 1813-16, becoming speaker in the latter year. He was judge of the supreme court in 1816-18, and elected again in 1825; and was chief justice of the state supreme court in 1829-52 and 1856-58, after which he served as presiding judge of the county court. He died Jan. 15, 1870, in Hillsboro, N.C.

Ruffner, David, manufacturer, jurist, legislator, inventor, was born in 1767, in Page county, Va. He invented many appliances that have since made artesian well boring possible. In 1817 he began the manufacture of salt in Kanawka county, Va. He was a member of the Virginia state legislature; and was for many years presiding judge of the county court. He died in 1837, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Ruffner, Ernest Howard, soldier, was born June 24, 1845, in Louisville, Ky. In 1867 he was commissioned first lieutenant in the engineers' corps; in 1889 became major; and in 1906 attained the rank of colonel. He has been engaged on river and harbor work in Detroit, Buffalo, Baltimore, New Orleans; and other cities.

Ruffner, Henry, educator, author, was born Jan. 10, 1780, in Page county, Va. He was a professor at Washington college in 1819-37; and its president in 1837-48. He was the author of Fathers of the Desert; a History of Monarchism; and Future Punishment. He died Dec. 17, 1861, in Malden, Va.

Ruffner, William Henry, educator, geologist, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 11, 1824, in Lexington, Va. In 1884 he founded the State normal female school of Virginia; and was the first superintendent of public instruction in Virginia. He was the author of the Virginia school law; School Reports of Virginia, in eleven volumes; Geological Report on Washington Territory; and Charity and the Clergy. He died Nov. 24, 1908, in Lexington, Va.

Ruger, Thomas Howard, soldier, was born April 2, 1823, in Lima, N.Y. In 1862 he was commissioned brigadier-general of volunteers; and was subsequently promoted to major-general. In 1868 he was provisional governor of Georgia; and in 1871-76 was superintendent of the United States Military academy. He retired from the army in 1897 with rank of major-general. He died June 3, 1907, in Stamford, Conn.

Ruger, William Crawford, lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 30, 1824, in Bridgewater, N.Y. In 1883 he was elected chief judge of the New York court of appeals. He died Jan. 14, 1892, in Syracuse, N.Y.

Rugg, Arthur Prentice, lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 20, 1862, in Sterling, Mass. In 1906 he was appointed an associate justice of the supreme judicial court of Massachusetts. Since 1897 he has been trustee of the Worcester mechanics' savings bank.

Rugg, Henry Warren, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 3, 1833, in Framingham, Mass. He was educated in the public schools; attended Mt. Hollis academy; and received the degree of S.T.D. from Tufts college. For twenty-eight years he was pastor of the church of mediator at Providence, R.I.; and for a number of years was president of the school committee of that city. He was secretary of Tufts college of Massachusetts; and chairman of the board of trustees of the general convention. He was a prominent mason; attained the thirty-second degree in the Scottish rite; and was deputy grand master of the grand encampment knights templar of the United States. He was the author of Lives of the Presidents; The Church; One Word for Missions; and numerous Masonic works. He died Nov. 16, 1911.

Ruggles, Benjamin, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born Feb. 21, 1782, in Pomfret, Conn. He removed to St. Clairsville, Ohio; and in 1810 was elected president judge of the court of common pleas for the third circuit of Ohio. In 1815-33 he was United States senator from Ohio. He died Sept. 2, 1857, in St. Clairsville, Ohio.

Ruggles, Charles Herman, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Feb. 10, 1789, in Milford, Conn. He was a member of the New York state legislature in 1820. In 1821-23 he was a representative from New York to the seventeenth congress; and was for many years a judge of the circuit court. He served for a second term in the state legislature; and was a judge of the court of appeals and presiding judge in 1853-55. He died June 16, 1865, in Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

Ruggles, Daniel, soldier, was born Jan. 31, 1810, in Barre, Mass. He joined the confederate army; and was commissioned brigadier-general in the same year. He became major-general in 1863; and commanded the department of the Mississippi. He died June 1, 1897, in Fredericksburg, Va.

Ruggles, Emily, merchant, was born July 16, 1827, in Dorchester, Mass. She is a descendant of Peregrine White, the first child born among the Pilgrims of Massachusetts. Being deeply interested in the reforms of the day, she was one of the first women in Massachusetts elected to the office of school committee.

Ruggles, George David, soldier, was born Sept. 11, 1833, in Newburgh, N.Y. In 1855 he graduated from West Point; and served on the frontier and in the territories until 1861. During the civil war he served with Patterson in 1861; was in charge of the organization of the volunteer army in 1861-62; was chief of staff under Pope in 1862; and was with Secretary Stanton in 1863. In 1863-64 he was in the conscription bureau and inspection; and in 1865 was adjutant-general army of the Potomac under Meade. In 1868-76 he was in the department of the Platte; and in the next four years was in the department of the Dakota. He won many brevets for bravery and meritorious services; attained the rank of adjutant-general of the army; and was retired with the rank of brigadier-general in 1896. In 1898 he assumed the duties of governor of the soldiers' home in Washington, D.C. He died in 1904 in Washington, D.C.

Ruggles, Henry Joseph, lawyer, author, was born Aug. 1, 1813, in Poughkeepsie, N.Y. He practiced law in New York City. He was the author of The Plays of Shakespeare Founded on Literary Forms; and The Method of Shakespeare as an Artist. He died in 1906, in New York City.

Ruggles, Hiram, farmer, lumberman, state senator, was born Oct. 14, 1813. He engaged in the manufacture of lumber in Carmel, Mass. In 1839 he was appointed a justice of the peace; in 1846-51 he was a member of the Massachusetts state legislature; and in 1853-54 was a member of the state senate. In 1873 he was appointed collector of the United States internal revenue. He is a trustee and treasurer of the East Maine conference seminary of Bucksport.

Ruggles, Henry Stoddard, financier, author, was born Oct. 31, 1846, in Boston, Mass. He has been for many years engaged in the management of trust property, having charge of large estates in Boston. His residence is in the town of Wakefield, a suburb of that city. During his leisure, he has turned his attention somewhat towards literature, writing over his own name as well as his nom-de-plume of Henry Stoddard. He has also contributed many papers to historical and other periodicals in addition to several books; and his writings have been a valuable acquisition to current literature.

Ruggles, James M., soldier, was born in 1818 in Ohio. In 1861 he was first lieutenant and regimental quartermaster in the first regiment Illinois cavalry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Feb. 16, 1901, in Havana, Ill.

Ruggles, John, mechanic, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born Oct. 8, 1789, in Westborough, Mass. He was nine times elected to the Maine legislature, and officiated as speaker three years. In 1831-35 he was judge of the court of common pleas. In 1833-41 he was United States senator from Maine. He died June 20, 1874, in Thomaston, Maine.

Ruggles, Joseph Wesley, musician, composer, was born Dec. 2, 1837, in Milan, Ohio. He was a director of the Conservatory school of music at the Upper Iowa university of Fayette. He was the author of a number of anthems, cantatas, and Sunday school songs. He died in Fayette, Ohio.

Ruggles, Nathaniel, congressman, was born in 1761 in Massachusetts. In 1813-19 he was a representative from Massachusetts to the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth congresses. He died Dec. 19, 1819, in Roxbury, Mass.

Ruggles, Samuel Bulkeley, lawyer, financier, philanthropist, was born April 11, 1800, in New Milford, Conn. He was one of the organizers of the Erie canal; and was a representative of the United States in the international monetary conference at Paris in 1867. He laid out and presented Gramercy Park to the city of New York. He died Aug. 28, 1881, in Fire Island, N.Y.

Ruggles, Stephen Preston, inventor, was born July 4, 1808, in Windsor, Vt. He was the original inventor of the movable platen in printing presses; and of many other features which are still in use in printing presses. He also invented types, presses, and paper for printing for the blind which now, like his devices for stereotyping, paper-cutting and ruling and metal working machinery, have become common property. He died May 28, 1880, in Boston, Mass.

Ruggles, William, educator, philanthropist, was born Sept. 5, 1797, in Rochester, Mass. He was a generous contributor to charitable objects, especially those of the baptist denomination. To Karen Theological school, in Burmah, he gave during his life fifteen thousand dollars, and at his death he left it a legacy of twenty-five thousand dollars. He died Sept. 10, 1877, in Washington, D.C.

Ruggles, William Benjamin, journalist, lawyer, state senator, was born May 14, 1827, in Bath, N.Y. In 1849 he settled in Georgia; and in 1854 established there the Daily Intelligencer, the first daily newspaper in Atlanta. Returning to Bath, N.Y., he was a member of the New York state assembly in 1876-77; was first deputy attorney-general of New York state in 1878-81; was a member of the state senate in 1883; and in 1883-86 was state superintendent of public instruction of New York.

Ruhl, Arthur Brown, journalist, author, was born Oct. 1, 1876, in Rockford, Ill. Since 1904 he has been on the staff of Collier's Weekly. He is the author of a history of American track athletics; A Break in Training; and The Other Americans.

Rubrah, John, educator, physician, author, was born Sept. 26, 1872, in Chillicothe, Ohio. He is professor of diseases of children and therapeutics at the College of physicians and surgeons of Baltimore, Md.; and is visiting physician to several hospitals. He is the author of A Manual of Diseases of Infants and Children.

Rulison, Nelson Somerville, clergyman, bishop, was born April 24, 1842, in Carthage, N.Y. In 1867-70 he was rector of Zion church of Morris, N.Y. In 1870 he went to Jersey City, and there founded and built the St. John's Free church. He was subsequently consecrated protestant episcopal bishop of central Pennsylvania. He died Sept. 1, 1897, in Germany.

Rumford, Benjamin Thompson, count, philosopher, author, was born in 1753 in Maine. After serving Great Britain in the war of the revolution, he entered the service of the elector of Bavaria. He rose to the position of minister of war, and was created count of the Holy Roman empire, taking his title Rumford from Rumford, now Concord, N.H. He was the author of Essays, Political, Economical, and Philosophical. He died Aug. 21, 1814, near Paris, France.

Rumer, James F., physician, surgeon state senator, was born Dec. 12, 1852, in Logan county, Ohio. He received his education at Columbus, Ohio; graduated from the Kentucky medical school of Louisville; and graduated from the Rush medical college of Chicago, Ill. He has attained success as an eminent physician and surgeon of Davidson, Mich.; has been surgeon for several railroads; president of the Genesee county medical society; president of the town of Davidson; president of the school board; and in 1905-06 was a member of the Michigan state senate.

Rumple, Jethro, clergyman, author, was born March 10, 1827, in Cabarrus county, N.C. He was ordained to the presbyterian ministry in 1857. Since 1860 he has filled a pastorate in Salisbury, N.C. He is the author of History of Rowan County, N.C.; and History of the First Fifty Years of Davidson College, and History of Presbyterianism in North Carolina.

Rumple, John Nicholas William, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born March 4, 1841, in Fostoria, Ohio. In 1861 he enlisted in the second Iowa cavalry; and was mustered out as captain in 1865. He is a successful lawyer of Marengo, Iowa. In 1901-03 he was a representative from Iowa to the fifty-seventh congress. He died Jan. 31, 1903, in Chicago, Ill.

Rumsey, John, congressman, was born 1776-78 he was a delegate from Maryland to the continental congress. He died in Maryland.

Rumsey, David, congressman, was born in New York. In 1847-51 he was a representative from New York to the thirtieth and thirty-first congresses. He died in Bath, N.Y.

Rumsey, Edward, congressman, was born in Kentucky. In 1837-39 he was a representative from Kentucky to the twenty-fifth congress. He died in Kentucky.

Rumsey, James, inventor, author, was born in 1743 in Bohemia Manor, Md. He was a machinist by trade. In 1784 he exhibited to George Washington the model of a boat for stemming the current of rivers by the force of the stream acting on settling poles, which he patented in several states. He was the author of a Short Treatise on the Application of Steam. He died Dec. 23, 1792, in London, England.

Rumsey, Joseph B., railroad president, was born Aug. 29, 1842, in Mainesburg, Pa. Since 1892 he has been president of the Olean, Oswayo and Eastern railroad.

Rumsey, Julian Sidney, merchant, financier, was born April 3, 1823, in Batavia, N.Y. He was identified with the history of Chicago for more than half a century. During that period he was mayor, county treasurer, and president of the board of trade. He died April 20, 1886, in Chicago, Ill.

Runcie, Constance Fauntleroy, musician, composer, author, was born Jan. 15, 1836, in Indianapolis, Ind. She is the wife of James Runcie, clergyman. She organized the Minerva, said to be the first woman's club organized in America. She has founded several other clubs; and is honorary vice-president of the general federation of women's clubs. For six years edited a church paper; and has lectured upon subjects of culture among women. She has composed the opera The Prince of Asturias; the cantata We Have Sinned Unto Death; and the song Take My Soul, O Lord; and many violin and piano solos. She is the author of The Burning Question; Divinely Led; Essay on Woman; and the poems Anselmo; and Zaira.

Rumsey, William, soldier, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Oct. 18, 1841, in Bath, N.Y. In 1861-65 he served during the civil war in the Peninsula, Shenandoah valley, and other campaigns; and retired with the rank of lieutenant-colonel. He practiced law in Bath, N.Y. In 1880 he was justice of the supreme court of New York. He was the author of Rumsey's Practice, in three volumes. He died in 1903 in Bath, N.Y.

Runk, John, congressman, was born in New Jersey. He was a presidential elector in 1841; and in 1845-47 he was a representative from New Jersey to the twenty-ninth congress. He died in Kingwood, N.J.

Runkle, Benjamin Piatt, soldier, educator, lawyer, was born Sept. 3, 1837, in Liberty, Ohio. Until 1861 he practiced law in Ohio. During the civil war he was captain, major and lieutenant-colonel in the thirteenth Ohio infantry; became colonel of the Ohio infantry in 1862; and in 1865 was brevetted major-general in the United States volunteers. In 1872-77 he was engaged in journalism; and is now professor of military science and tactics at Peekskill military academy of New York.

Runkle, Mrs. Bertha, litterateur, author, was born in Berkeley Heights, N.J. She is the wife of Captain Louis H. Bash. She is the author of The Helmet of Navarre; and The Truth About Tolna.

Runkle, John Daniel, educator, mathematician, author, was born Oct. 11, 1822, in Root, N.Y. He was president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1870-78; and was professor of mathematics in that institution. He is the author of Elements of Plane and Solid Analytic Geometry. He died in 1902 in Massachusetts.

Runkle, Lucia Isabella, author, was born Aug. 20, 1844, in North Brookfield, Mass. For many years she was an editorial writer and contributor to the New York Tribune, in which she published a brilliant series of articles on Cooking. She is an associate editor of The World's Best Literature.

Runnels, Harrison R., state legislator, governor, was born in Mississippi. He emigrated to Texas in 1841; and served in the legislature of the state, and was speaker of the house. In 1855 he was elected lieutenant-governor; and in 1857 was elected governor of Texas. He died in Cowie county, Miss.

Runnels, Hiram G., governor. He was the sixth governor of Mississippi, in 1833-35. He died in Mississippi.

Runyan, Henry, business man, genealogist, was born Nov. 9, 1832, near Peapack, N.J. For many years he was engaged in the book and stationery business in Princeton, N.J. He is the author of Genealogies of Runyan and Osborn Families.

Runyan, John N., soldier, was born April 26, 1816, in Warsaw, Ind. He left Warsaw in December, 1861, with a number of recruits for company E, twelfth Indiana infantry. He was promoted second lieutenant in 1863. At the battle of Chickamauga, the captain and first lieutenant being wounded early in the action, the command of his company devolved upon Lieutenant Runyan. As a drill master he was one of the best. He displayed remarkable bravery while engaged in a sharp skirmish, June 15, 1864, at the foot of Kenesaw mountain.

Runnells, John Sumner, lawyer, banker, was born July 30, 1844, in Effingham, N.H. He graduated with the degree of A.B. from Amherst college. In 1868-1869 he was private secretary to Governor Merrill of Iowa; was United States consul at Tunstall, England, 1869-1871. He practiced law at Des Moines in 1871-1887; general counsel of the Pullman company of Chicago in 1887, and vice-president and general counsel from 1905 to 1911; since 1911, president. He has been senior member of the firm of Runnells, Burry & Johnstone since 1889; president of the Roseland state savings bank; director Merchants' loan and trust company; director of the Pullman trust and savings bank and other corporations. He has been a delegate to the republican national convention and a member of the republican national committee. In 1875-81 he was reporter of the supreme court of Iowa; and in 1881-85 was United States district attorney for Iowa.

Runyan, Richard, lawyer, author, was born Nov. 14, 1830. For two terms he was mayor of Princeton, N.J. He is the author of Eight Days with the Confederates.

Runyon, Theodore, soldier, lawyer, was born Oct. 25, 1822, in Somerville, N.J. When the civil war began he took command of the 1st brigade of New Jersey volunteers; and with three thousand men reached Washington on May 6, 1861. Here he erected the first fortifications for the defense of the national capital, which were named in his honor Fort Runyon. He was acting major-general of thirteen thousand five hundred troops stationed in and around Alexandria, which formed the 4th division of the army of northeastern Virginia. He died Jan. 27, 1896, in Berlin, Germany.

Runyon, Walter Clark, iron manufacturer, business president, was born April 9, 1857, in Chicago, Ill. In 1871 he started in business with the Union rolling mill company of Chicago, Ill.; and in 1879 was secretary of that company. In 1881 he joined the firm of Runyon, Stubbs and company; and in 1886 moved to Cleveland, Ohio, to engage in the iron ore business. In 1894 he organized the firm of Runyon, Stubbs and Mack; and was engaged in the blast furnace business as the Struthers furnace company. In 1901 he moved to New York City; and since that time has traveled extensively in Europe. He is president of the Struthers furnace company; president of the Struthers coal and coke company; and is senior partner of Runyon, Fairbank and company.

Rueff, Henry Woldemar, journalist, author, was born Nov. 3, 1867, in Germantown, Pa. He was educated at the university of Indiana, at Harvard university, at Columbia university and abroad; and in 1901 received the degree of D.C.L. from Columbia university. In 1891-92 he was assistant in ethnology at the World's Columbian exposition; and in 1892-93 was a lecturer in psychology, ethics and philosophy of history at the Pennsylvania state college. In 1895-1904 he was engaged in literary work and publishing; and in 1898-1904 was chief editor of the King-Richardson company of Springfield, Mass. In 1904-06 he was associate-editor of the American Spectator; in 1906-07 was associate-editor of Ridgway's; and since 1907 has been associate-editor of the Nashville Tennessean. He has traveled extensively in Europe, Asia and Africa. He is the author of The Century Book of Facts; Woman in the Middle Ages; The Pre-Christian Family; Home and State; Leaders of Men; The Capitals of the World; and The Universal Manual of Ready Reference.

Rupley, Arthur Ringwalt, congressman, was born Nov. 13, 1868, in Cumberland county, Pa. He has been city solicitor. In 1913-15 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the sixty-third congress.

Rupp, Isaac Daniel, litterateur, author, was born July 10, 1803, in Cumberland county, Pa. He was an industrious local historian of Pennsylvania; and wrote histories of nearly thirty counties in his state. He was the author of Events in Indian History; History of Religious Denominations in the United States; Early History of Western Pennsylvania; and Thirty Thousand Names of German Emigrants. He died May 31, 1878, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Ruppert, Jacob, soldier, manufacturer, congressman, was born Aug. 5, 1807, in New York City. He was educated in the public schools and colleges of New York. He is a brewer of New York City. He was a member of the seventh regiment New York national guard; and was aide-de-camp on the staff of Governors Hill and Flower, with rank of colonel. In 1899-1907 he was a representative from New York to the fifty-sixth, fifty seventh, fifty-eighth and fifty-ninth congresses as a democrat; and served on several very important committees.

Rusby, Henry Hurd, botanist, author, was born April 26, 1855, in Franklin, N.J. Since 1888 he has been professor of botany, physiology and materia medica in the New York college of pharmacy. He is the author of Essentials of Pharmacognosy; Fifty Years of Materia Medica; and other works.

Ruschenberger, William S. W., naval surgeon, author, was born Sept. 4, 1807, in Cumberland county, N. Y. He was president of the Academy of natural science of Philadelphia in 1870-82; and president of the College of physicians in 1879-83. He was the author of Elements of Natural History; A Voyage Around the World; Three Weeks in the Pacific; Notes and Commentaries During Voyages to Brazil and China; Lexicon of Natural History Terms; Account of the College of Physicians and Surgeons in Philadelphia; and The Brothers Rogers. He died March 24, 1895, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Rush, Benjamin, signer of the declaration of independence, congressman, was born Dec. 24, 1745, in Bristol, Pa. He was an earnest advocate of the cause of liberty; and in 1776-77 he was a delegate from Pennsylvania to the continental congress; and was a signer of the declaration of independence. He was a member of the convention called to ratify the federal constitution; and subsequently held the post of cashier of the United States mint. He took an active part in the society for the Abolition of Slavery. He was the author of Treatise on Diseases of the Mind; Essays, Literary, Moral and Philosophical; and Sixteen Introductory Lectures. He died April 19, 1813, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Rush, Benjamin, lawyer, diplomat, author, was born Jan. 23, 1811, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a lawyer of Philadelphia; and in 1837 was appointed secretary of legation at London; and the author of Appeal for the Union; and Letters on the Rebellion, 1862. He died June 30, 1877, in Paris, France.

Rush, Jacob, lawyer, jurist, author, was born in 1746 in Byberry township, Pa. He was a judge of the high court of errors and appeals of Pennsylvania in 1784-1806; and president of the court of common pleas of Philadelphia in 1806-20. He was author of Charges on Moral and Religious Subjects; Character of Christ; and Christian Baptism. He died Jan. 5, 1820, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Rush, James, philanthropist, author, was born March 1, 1786, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was the founder of the Ridgeway library of Philadelphia, to which he left one million dollars. He was the author of The Philosophy of the Human Voice; Analysis of the Human Intellect; and Rhymes of Contrast on Wisdom and Folly. He died May 26, 1869, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Rush, Richard, lawyer, orator, diplomat, cabinet officer, author, was born Aug. 29, 1780, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1814-17 he was attorney-general of the United States. In 1817-25 he was minister to England. In 1825-29 he was secretary of the treasury; was candidate for vice-president on the ticket with President Adams; and in 1847-57 was minister to France. He was the author of A Residence at the Court of St. James; Familiar Letters of Washington; and Occasional Productions. He died July 30, 1859, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Rush, William, soldier, sculptor, was born July 4, 1756, in Philadelphia, Pa. His best-known statue is that of Washington, which was bought by the city of Philadelphia. He served in the revolutionary army, and was a member of the councils of his native city for more than a quarter of a century. He died Jan. 17, 1833, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Rusk, Harry Wellea, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Oct. 17, 1852, in Baltimore, Md. In 1872 he graduated from the Maryland university law school with the degree of LL.B. For six years he was a member of the Maryland house of delegates; and for four years a member of the Maryland state senate. In 1885-97 he was a representative from Baltimore to the forty-ninth, fiftieth, fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses as a democrat.

Rusk, Jeremiah McLain, soldier, congressman, governor, cabinet officer, was born June 17, 1830, in Morgan county, Ohio. He was a member of the Wisconsin legislature in 1862. He was commissioned major of Wisconsin volunteers in 1862; and was brevetted brigadier-general. He was elected bank comptroller of Wisconsin in 1866, and re-elected for 1868. In 1871-77 he was a representative from Wisconsin to the forty-second, forty-third and forty-fourth congresses. He was the thirteenth governor of Wisconsin, in 1882-89. In 1889-93 he was secretary of agriculture. He died Nov. 21, 1893, in Viroqua, Wis.

Rusk, Thomas Jefferson, soldier, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born Aug. 8, 1802, in Camden, S.C. He served as a member of the house of representatives; and as chief justice of the supreme court. In 1845 he was president of the convention that consummated the annexation of Texas to the United States. In 1845-59 he was United States senator. He died July 20, 1856, in Nacogdoches, Texas.

Rusk, William Dougherty, educator, lawyer, was born in 1850 in Woodford county, Ky. In 1876 he was a teacher in a high school; and for five years was assistant and six years principal. In 1882 he was admitted to the practice of law; and has since been in active practice in St. Joseph, Mo.

Rusling, James Fowler, soldier, lawyer, author, was born April 14, 1834, in Washington, N.J. In 1861 he became first lieutenant in the fifth regiment of the New Jersey infantry; was promoted to colonel in 1865; and in 1866 attained the rank of brevet brigadier-general for faithful and meritorious services during the civil war. In 1868-77 he was United States pension agent for New Jersey; and in 1864-84 was a trustee of Dickinson college. He still practices law in Trenton, N.J. He is the author of Across America; Men and Things I Saw in Civil War Days; European Days and Ways; and other works.

Russ, Adolph Gustav, financier, legislator, was born Jan. 10, 1826, in Saxony. In 1861-62 he built the Russ hotel of San Francisco, Cal. He was a member of the California state assembly in 1887-88; and was a member of the vigilance committee of 1856.

Russ, Horace P., inventor, was born 1821. He invented the pavement that bears his name. He died Dec. 31, 1863, in Nova Scotia.

Russ, John, congressman, was born in 1764 in Ipswich, Mass. In 1819-23 he was a representative from Connecticut to the sixteenth and seventeenth congresses. He died June 22, 1832, in Hartford, Conn.

Russ, John Denison, physician, philanthropist, was born Sept. 1, 1801, in Essex, Mass. In 1832 he made the first attempt in the United States for the instruction of the blind. He was appointed superintendent of the newly chartered New York institution for the blind in the same year, and in this office introduced many methods of teaching, some of which have been permanently useful. He invented the phonetic alphabet. He was one of the founders of the New York prison association; established in 1850 a house of employment for women. He died March 1, 1881, in Pompton, N.J.

Russell, Addison Peale, journalist, state legislator, author, was born Sept. 8, 1826, in Wilmington, Ohio. He was educated in the common schools; and received the degree of Litt.D. from the Ohio university. At the age of fifteen years he became an apprentice to the printing trade; and later became an editor and publisher. In 1855 he was a member of the Ohio state legislature; and in 1857-61 was secretary of Ohio. For six years he was in New York as financial agent of Ohio. He is the author of Half Tints; Library Notes; Thomas Corwin; Characteristics; A Club of One; In a Club Corner; and Sub-Coelum.

Russell, Alexander Wilson, naval officer, was born Feb. 4, 1824, in Maryland. In 1861 he was appointed paymaster in the United States navy; was promoted through the grades of pay inspector and pay director; was retired in 1886; and in 1906 was advanced to the rank of rear admiral. He died Nov. 26, 1908, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Russell, Alfred, jurist, scholar, orator, was born March 18, 1830, in Plymouth, N. H. In 1850 he graduated from Dartmouth college, and in 1852 from the Harvard college law school.

The same year he was admitted to the bar of New Hampshire; the following year to the bar of Michigan; to the bar of the United States circuit court on June 25, 1853, and to the bar of the supreme court of the United States at Washington in 1858. He took part in the formation of the republican party. In 1864 he was sent to Montreal and Toronto by Secretary Seward to procure extradition of the St. Albans and Lake Erie raiders. He was appointed United States district attorney by President Lincoln; and was professor of federal jurisprudence in the Detroit College of Law. He was the author of many patriotic and college addresses, and has achieved a national reputation among the lawyers and scholars of America. He died in Detroit, Mich.

Russell, Annie, actress, was born in 1869 in Liverpool, England. In 1876 she made her first appearance on the stage in Montreal, Canada. She has traveled in South America and the West Indies in varied repertory. Since 1895 she has appeared in several leading roles; and in 1898 made her first appearance in England.

Russell, Archibald, philanthropist, was born in 1811 in Scotland. He settled in New York City in 1836, where he devoted his time and fortune to benevolent and educational enterprises. He founded the Five Points mission, of which he was president for eighteen years, and aiding in establishing the Half-Orphan asylum, of which he was a vice-president. He died April 12, 1871, in New York City.

Russell, Benjamin, soldier, journalist, state senator, author, was born Sept. 13, 1761, in Boston, Mass. For twenty-four years he was a representative from Boston to the general court; and was several years in the state senate. For many years he was the editor and owner of the Columbian Sentinel. He died Jan. 4, 1845, in Boston, Mass.

Russell, Benjamin Edward, soldier, journalist, state legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 5, 1845, in Monticello, Fla. He entered the confederate army as a drummer boy in the first Georgia regiment; and upon the disbanding of this regiment he enlisted in the eighth Florida regiment, continuing with it the last three years of the war with the rank of first lieutenant. He entered the printing business, and has been twenty-one years editor of the Bainbridge Democrat. In 1877 he was a delegate to the state constitutional convention; was a delegate to the national democratic convention in 1880; and mayor of Bainbridge in 1881-82. He was a representative in the legislature 1882-83; and postmaster at Bainbridge in 1885-90. In 1893-97 he was a representative from Georgia to the fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses as a democrat.

Russell, Benjamin F., soldier, journalist, legislator, poet, was born Oct. 26, 1844, in Greenwood, Maine. During the civil war he served as first lieutenant in the third regiment Massachusetts cavalry. He served as a representative in the Missouri state legislature in 1891-95, and was speaker in that body in 1894-95. He is a noted poet; and editor of Crawford Mirror of Stellville, Mo.

Russell, Charles Addison, soldier, merchant, state legislator, congressman, was born March 2, 1852, in Worcester, Mass.

In 1881-82 he was aide on Governor Bigelow's staff, with the rank of colonel. In 1883 he was a member of the general assembly of Connecticut; and in 1885-86 was secretary of state of Connecticut. In 1887-1903 he was a representative from Connecticut to the fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third, fifty-fourth, fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth and fifty-seventh congresses. He is a successful woolen merchant of Killingly, Conn. He died Oct. 23, 1902, in Danielson, Conn.

Russell, Charles Edward, journalist, publisher, author, was born Sept. 25, 1860, in Davenport, Iowa. In 1900-02 he was publisher of the Chicago American. In 1902-05 he was editorial writer for the New York Journal and for the San Francisco Examiner; and since 1905 has been on the staff of Everybody's Magazine of New York City. He is the author of Such Stuff as Dreams; The Twin Immortalities; The Greatest Trust in the World; Soldiers of the Common Good; and The Uprising of the Many.

Russell, Charles Theodore, educator, lawyer, legislator, was born Nov. 20, 1815, in Princeton, Mass. In 1836 he was admitted to practice law in Suffolk, Mass.; and in 1845 was associated with his brother. In 1844-50 he was a member of the lower house of legislature; and in 1850 was a member of the state senate. In 1861-62 he was mayor of Cambridge, Mass.

Russell, Daniel Lindsay, lawyer, jurist, congressman, governor, was born Aug. 7, 1845, in Brunswick county, N.C. He was a member of the North Carolina state legislature in 1864-65 and 1876. He was judge of the superior courts for the fourth judicial circuit in 1868-74. In 1879-81 he was a representative to the forty-sixth congress. In 1897-1901 he was the thirty-eighth governor of North Carolina. He died May 14, 1908, in Wilmington, N.C.

Russell, David, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1800 in Massachusetts. He was in the legislature in 1816 and in 1830; was subsequently United States district attorney for northern New York; and in 1835-41 he was a representative to the twenty-fourth, twenty-fifth and twenty-sixth congress. He died Nov. 24, 1862, in Salem, N.Y.

Russell, David Allen, soldier, was born in New York. In 1845 he graduated from the United States military academy. In 1845 he was second lieutenant in the first regiment New York infantry; and in 1864 attained the rank of brigadier-general. He was killed Sept. 19, 1864, in the battle of Opequan, Va.

Russell, Edward Lafayette, soldier, lawyer, railroad president, was born Aug. 19, 1845, in Franklin county, Ala. During the civil war he served in the forty-first Mississippi regiment confederate army. He then became a cotton planter; began the practice of law in 1872; and in 1888 and 1892 was a presidential elector. In 1897 he became first vice-president and acting president of the Mobile and Ohio railway, of which corporation he is now general counsel.

Russell, Emory Poole, musician, educator, lecturer, was born Sept. 20, 1855, in New York City. This eminent musician was proprietor and director of the Conservatory of Music in New York state; and is now director of music in the public schools of Providence, R.I. He is also director of music in Rhode Island state normal schools; is chapel master in Brown university; choir director in college church; and superintendent of summer school of the American institute of normal methods held at Northwestern university of Evanston, Ill.

Russell, Francis Thayer, educator, clergyman, author, was born June 10, 1828, in Boston, Mass. He is an episcopal clergyman and educator of Waterbury, Conn.; and was rector of St. Margaret's school there since 1875. He was professor of education in Berkeley divinity school and General Theological seminary in New York City. He is the author of The Use of the Voice; Juvenile Speaker; Practical Reader; and Vocal Culture.

Russell, Frank, educator, zoologist, author, was born Aug. 26, 1868, in Fort Dodge, Iowa. In 1892-94 he was in anthropological and zoological work. He was the author of Explorations in the Far North. He died in 1903 in Cambridge, Mass.

Russell, Gordon, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in Huntsville, Ala. Until 1879 he practiced law in Dalton, Ga.; and since has practiced law in Texas. In 1884 he became county judge of Van Zandt county, Texas; and in 1892 was district attorney for the seventh judicial district of Texas. In 1896-1902 he was district judge for the seventh judicial district of Texas. In 1902-03 he was a member of congress to fill a vacancy; and in 1903-11 was a representative from Texas to the fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth, sixtieth and sixty-first congresses.

Russell, Harry Luman, bacteriologist, author, was born March 12, 1866, in Poyette, Wis. For many years he has filled the chair of bacteriology in the university of Wisconsin; is the consulting bacteriologist to the Wisconsin state board of health; and has made valuable researches in bacteriology. He is the author of Russell's Outlines of Dairy Bacteriology.

Russell, Henry, song writer, was born Dec. 24, 1842, in Port Kent, N.Y. He is the author of a number of songs. Among his best known are The Maniac; I'm Afloat; The Ivy Green; A Life on the Green Wave; Woodman, Spare that Tree; The Old Arm-Chair; and There's a Good Time Coming, Boys.

Russell, Henry Benajah, journalist, author, was born March 9, 1859, in Russell, Mass. In 1890-97 he was associate editor of the Hartford Post; and is now editor of the Springfield Homestead. He is the author of Life of William McKinley; International Monetary Conferences; and Our War With Spain.

Russell, Henry Sturgis, soldier, was born in Massachusetts. In 1861 he was first lieutenant in the second regiment Massachusetts infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He was resigned in 1865.

Russell, Horace, lawyer, jurist, was born June 19, 1843, in Franklin county, N.Y. In 1865 he graduated from Dartmouth college; and in 1867 graduated from Harvard university with the degree of LL.B. In 1873-80 he was assistant district attorney of New York; in 1879-82 he was judge advocate-general of New York; and in 1883 was judge of the superior court of New York. In 1885-86 he was president of the New England society. In 1884-86 he was receiver of the West Shore railroad company. In 1888-89 he was general counsel to the Stewart society.

Russell, Howard Hyde, lawyer, clergyman, reformer, author, was born Oct. 21, 1855, in Stillwater, Minn. For five years he practiced law in Corning, Iowa; and in 1881-82 was county superintendent of schools for Adams county, Iowa. Since 1885 he has been a congregational clergyman. In 1893 he founded the anti-saloon league in Ohio; and was national superintendent of the league until 1905. Since 1902 he has been superintendent of the New York anti-saloon league. He is the author of A Lawyer's Examination of the Bible.

Russell, Irwin, litterateur, author, was born in 1853. He was a southern writer of dialect verse; and the author of Dialect Poems. He died in 1879, in the South.

Russell, Isaac Franklin, educator, clergyman, lawyer, author, was born Aug. 25, 1857, in Hamden, Conn. He received his preparatory education in the Southold academy; and in 1875 graduated from the New York university. He has received the degrees of LL.M. and D.C.L. from Yale university; LL.D. from Dickinson college; and J.D.N. from the New York university. In 1892-1902 he was a lecturer in the woman's law class in the New York university; and since 1881 has been a professor in that institution. He is a local preacher in the methodist episcopal church. He is a member of the Brooklyn institute; a member of the Long Island historical society; and a member of the American social science association. He is the author of Lectures on Law for Women; and Outline Study of Law.

Russell, Israel Cook, educator, geologist, author, was born Dec. 10, 1832, in Garrattsville, N.Y. He was a professor of geology in the university of Michigan; and a geologist in the United States geological survey since 1880. He was the author of Lakes of North America; Lake Lahontan; Quaternary History of Moro Valley; Glaciers of North America; Present and Extinct Lakes of Nevada; and Volcanoes of North America, and many geological reports. He died May 1, 1906, in Ann Arbor, Mich.

Russell, James, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born Oct. 1, 1640, in Charlestown, Mass. He was a representative in 1679; an assistant in 1680-86, and one of Governor Joseph Dudley's council. He was a member of the council of safety in 1689; a leader in the revolutionary movement of that day; a councillor under the new charter in 1692; and was a judge and treasurer of Massachusetts in 1680-86. He died April 28, 1709, in Charlestown, Mass.

Russell, James Earl, educator, author, was born July 1, 1864, in Hamden, N.Y. Since 1898 he has been dean of the teachers college; and since 1904 has been Barnard professor of education in Columbia university of New York City. He is the author of Extension of University Teaching in England and America.

Russell, James M., lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 10, 1786, in York, Pa. He was a representative from Pennsylvania to the twenty-seventh congress. He died Dec. 20, 1870, in Bedford, Pa.

Russell, James R., educator, clergyman, librarian, was born Sept. 6, 1847, in Danville, Ky. He was one of the three pioneer presbyterian ministers of Montana; in 1872 he organized the presbyterian church at Helena, and the same year also organized a church at Deer Lodge; in 1878 organized a church in Butte; and was actively engaged in the ministry until 1884. In 1887 he became superintendent of city schools of Butte; and in 1889 was appointed librarian of the Butte free public library.

Russell, James S., litterateur, author, He is the author of Russell's Arithmetic.

Russell, Jeremiah, congressman, was born in 1776, in Saugerties, N.Y. In 1843-45 he was a representative from New York to the twenty-eighth congress. He died in 1867 in Saugerties, N.Y.

Russell, John, congressman, was born in New York. In 1805-09 he was a representative from New York to the ninth and tenth congresses. He died in Oswego county, N.Y.

Russell, John E., agriculturist, congressman, was born Jan. 20, 1834, in Greenfield, Mass. He was elected secretary of the Massachusetts state board of agriculture in 1880; and was five times re-elected. In 1887-89 he was a representative from Massachusetts to the fiftieth congress as a democrat.

Russell, John Henry, naval officer, was born July 4, 1827, in Frederick City, Md. He served in the United States navy during the civil war; attained the rank of lieutenant-commander in 1862; in 1886 he was commissioned rear-admiral; and about 1888 retired from the navy. He died April 1, 1897, in Washington, D.C.

Russell, Jonathan, diplomat, congressman, was born in 1771, in Providence, R.I. He was appointed minister plenipotentiary to Sweden in 1814. In 1821-23 he was a representative from Massachusetts to the seventeenth congress. He died Feb. 19, 1832, in Milton, Mass.

Russell, Joseph, congressman, was born in New York. In 1845-47 and 1851-53 he was a representative from New York to the twenty-ninth and thirty-second congresses. He died in Warrensburg, N.Y.

Russell, Joseph, lawyer, jurist. In 1751-1776 he was an associate justice of the supreme court of Rhode Island.

Russell, Joseph J., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Aug. 23, 1854, in Charleston, Mo. He was educated in the public schools of Mississippi county and at the law school of the state university of Missouri. In 1877 he was city attorney of Charleston, Mo.; in 1877-78 was county school commissioner; and in 1881-84 was prosecuting attorney of Mississippi county. In 1884 he was a presidential elector; in 1887-90 he was a member of the Missouri state legislature; and in 1889-90 was speaker of the house. He was judge advocate general on the staff of General Dockery. In 1907-15 he was a representative from Missouri to the sixtieth, sixty-first, sixty-second and sixty-third congresses as a democrat.

Russell, Leslie W., lawyer, jurist. In 1880-1903 he was associate justice of the supreme court of New York for the fourth district.

Russell, Lillian, opera singer, actress, was born Dec. 4, 1861, in Clinton, Iowa. Her father was Charles E. Leonard, who died in 1897, and for many years prior to his death was a member of the firm of Knight and Leonard, the well-known printers and publishers of Chicago. Her mother, Cynthia Leonard, has been for many years a prominent advocate of female suffrage and other reforms. Lillian made her debut as a ballad singer in New York City; went to Europe in 1883; and from 1885 attained rank as one of the foremost operatic singers of the century.

Russell, Louis Arthur, educator, musician, composer, was born Feb. 24, 1854, in Newark, N.J. In 1885 he founded the college of music of Newark, N.J., of which he is musical director. Since 1880 he has been conductor of the Schubert oratorio society of Newark, N.J. In 1893 he organized the Newark symphonic orchestra. He is the author of The Embellishments of Music; How to Read Modern Music; Problems in Time and Tune; Development of Artistic Piano-forte Touch; and the cantata, A Pastoral Rhapsody.

Russell, Martin J., soldier, journalist, was born Dec. 20, 1845, in Chicago, Ill. He served in the civil war and became adjutant general on the staff of Colonel Mulligan. In 1895-1900 he was president of the Chicago Chronicle company and editor of the Chicago Chronicle. He died in 1900 in Chicago, Ill.

Russell, Noadiah, clergyman, was born in 1659, in Middletown, Conn. In 1688-1853 he was minister of the church in Middletown. He was one of the twelve founders of Yale; and a trustee of that college. His Diary is published in the New England Historical Register for January, 1853. He died Dec. 3, 1713, in Middletown, Conn.

Russell, Richard, colonist, statesman, was born in 1612, in England. He came to America in 1640. He was a representative in 1646; speaker of the house in 1648-49; 1654, 1656, and 1658; assistant in 1659-76; and treasurer of Massachusetts in 1644-74. He died May 14, 1674, in Charlestown, Mass.

Russell, Robert Howard, journalist, author, was born in 1866, in Stratford, Conn. He is a publisher and editor; and is president of the Metropolitan Magazine company and proprietor of the business of R. H. Russell, publisher of New York City. He is a member of several clubs of New York City and London. He is the author of many articles; and a book of travel in the east. He has published C. D. Gibson's, Frederick Remington's and many other artist's drawings; and is a publisher of fine art books generally.

Russell, Samuel L., congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1853-56 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-third congress. He died in Bedford, Pa.

Russell, Sol Smith, actor, was born June 15, 1846, in Brunswick, Maine. He followed the Union army as a drummer boy. He left the army at Cairo, Ill., where he sang in a theatre; and acted small parts and beat the drum in the orchestra. He later joined a traveling company; and in 1866 he played at DeBar's theatre of St. Louis, Mo. For a number of years he has starred with his own company in Edgewood Folks; Felix McCusick; A Poor Relation; Peaceful Valley; and other plays. He died April 28, 1902, in Washington, D.C.

Russell, Thomas, jurist, diplomat, was born Sept. 26, 1825, in Plymouth, Mass. In 1853 he was judge of the municipal court of Boston, Mass. In 1859 he was first justice of the superior court of Massachusetts. In 1874 he was United States minister to Venezuela. In 1879 he was elected to the Massachusetts state legislature; and in 1879-87 was chairman of the state board of commissioners. He died Feb. 9, 1887, in Boston, Mass.

Russell, Walter, artist, author, was born May 19, 1871, in Boston, Mass. He was educated at the Massachusetts normal art school at Boston, Mass.; and at the music of fine arts in Drexel institute of Philadelphia, Pa. In 1890-97 he was an illustrator for New York magazines; and during the Spanish-American war illustrated for the Century magazine and Collier's weekly. He then took up a specialty in painting children's portraits, and has painted the children of many well known Americans, including those of President Theodore Roosevelt. He has also painted the portraits of many noted Americans. He is the author of The Sea Children; The Bending of the Twig; and The Age of Innocence.

Russell, William, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 20, 1690, in Middletown, Conn. He declined the presidency of Yale college; and was one of its trustees. He published a sermon entitled The Decay of Love to God in Churches. He died June 1, 1761, in Middletown, Conn.

Russell, William, congressman, was born in Ireland. In 1827-33 and 1841-43 he was a representative from Ohio to the twentieth, twenty-first, twenty-second and twenty-seventh congresses. He died Oct. 2, 1845, in Portsmouth, Ohio.

Russell, William, elocutionist, author, was born April 28, 1798, in Scotland. He was an elocutionist of note; and widely known in his day as a teacher. He was the author of Orthophony, or Vocal Culture; Pulpit Elocution; Lessons in Enunciation; and Grammar of Composition. He died May 17, 1873, in Lancaster, Mass.

Russell, William, inventor, was born Dec. 28, 1835, in Tennessee. He is a practical horseshoer; and is the author of a work entitled Russell on Scientific Horseshoeing. He is conceded to be the standard authority on horseshoeing; has over two hundred different styles of horseshoes, which have been made during the past half century; and at the World's Columbian exposition he received the first prize medal and diploma.

Russell, William, educator, college president, was born July 16, 1842, near Centerville, Ind. He received a thorough education in the common schools, Richmond academy, and the Illinois state normal university. In 1869 he was superintendent of schools of Marion, Ind., and during the years 1877-85 was a teacher in the Marion public schools and the Marion normal school. Since 1890 he has been connected with the Southland college, and since 1891 has been its president.

Russell, William A., manufacturer, state legislator, congressman, was born April 22, 1831, in Wells River, Mass. He was a representative in the Massachusetts state legislature in 1860. In 1879-85 he was a representative from Massachusetts to the forty-sixth, forty-seventh and forty-eighth congresses as a republican. He died Jan. 10, 1899, in Boston, Mass.

Russell, William Eustis, lawyer, governor, author, was born Sept. 6, 1857, in Cambridge, Mass. He was mayor of Cambridge in 1884-88; was the thirty-sixth governor of Massachusetts in 1891-94. He was the author of Speeches and Messages. He died July 16, 1896, in Canada.

Russell, William F., merchant, state legislator, congressman, was born in Saugerties, N.Y. He was a member of the legislature of New York in 1850. In 1857-59 he was a representative from New York to the thirty-fifth congress. He died in New York.

Russell, William H. A., clergyman, bishop. In 1886 he became protestant episcopal bishop of Vermont.

Russell, William Hepburn, lawyer, author, was born May 17, 1857, in Hannibal, Mo. He was educated in the public and high schools and attended a commercial college. He served as a reporter, city and managing editor and associate editor on the Courier, Clipper-Herald and Journal at Hannibal, Mo. In 1882 he was admitted to the practice of law; and in 1882-84 was city attorney of Hannibal, Mo. In 1884 he moved to Indiana; and was general attorney of the Louisville, New Albany and Chicago railroad. In 1887-95 he lived in Tennessee. In 1892 he was a democratic presidential elector. Since 1895 he has practiced law in New York in the federal and state courts. In 1902 he helped to organize the greater New York democracy becoming chairman of the executive committee. He served as senior commissioner of accounts of New York; and is now a member of the New York law committee. He is part author of Russell and the Winslow's Syllabus Digest of the United States supreme court reports, in four volumes.

Russell, William Howard, lawyer, was born Nov. 24, 1867, in Livermore, Pa. In 1879 he moved to Kansas with his parents; and is a noted lawyer of La Crosse. In his youth he taught school, herded cattle, and was local manager for an eastern lumber company. He organized a camp Sons of Veterans, and was subsequently elected commander-in-chief.

Russo, Nicolas, clergyman, author, was born in 1845, in Italy. He was a clergyman of New York City; and for forty years was a member of the society of Jesus. He was the author of The True Religion; and Summa Philosophica. He died in 1902, in New York City.

Rust, Albert, soldier, congressman, was born in Virginia. In 1855-57 and 1859-61 he was a representative from Arkansas to the thirty-fourth and thirty-sixth congresses. He took part in the civil war; and was a brigadier-general. He died April 3, 1870, in Arkansas.

Rust, Albert Dexter, journalist, fruit grower, author, was born Dec. 10, 1834, in North Danville, Vt. In 1868 he established the Michigan State Advance, which in 1870 was incorporated with another newspaper and named the Michigan Courier and Advance. He filled the office of justice of the peace and other offices in Michigan. He is now a resident of Rock Island, Texas, where he publishes the Weekly Journal; and is the proprietor of El Berta fruit farm. He is the author of Record of the Rust Family.

Rust, Charles Herbert, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 18, 1869, in Winchester, Mass. In 1894-1906 he was engaged as an evangelist in the west; and since 1906 has been pastor of the Second baptist church of Rochester, N.Y. He is the author of A Church on Wheels; and Practical Ideals in Evangelism.

Rust, Henry, soldier, was born in Maine. In 1861 he was sergeant in the first regiment Maine infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died July 29, 1881.

Rust, Henry Appleton, soldier, railroad builder, was born Nov. 26, 1832, in Springfield, Ill. During the civil war he participated in many battles and sieges of the armies of the Mississippi and Cumberland. Since 1866 he has been extensively engaged in the organization and construction in railroad bridge building, with headquarters in Chicago, Ill.

Rust, John D., soldier, was born in Maine. In 1861 he was lieutenant-colonel in the eighth regiment, Maine infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Nov. 22, 1890.

Rust, Nathaniel Johnson, banker, state legislator, bank president, was born Nov. 28, 1833, in Gorham, Maine. For a number of years he was engaged in the wholesale drug business in Boston, Mass. In 1874-76 he was a member of the Massachusetts state legislature; and in 1877-78 was chairman of the republican city committee of Boston; and a member of the city council in 1878-79 and in 1890-91. He is president of the Boston storage warehouse company; president of the Canner cotton gin company; and a director in the Boston safe deposit and trust company; and other business and financial corporations.

Rust, Richard S., clergyman, college president, philanthropist, was born Sept. 12, 1815, in Ipswich, Mass. As early as 1837 he was a lecturer on anti-slavery in New England. He originated and published the American Pulpit. He was president of Ellington seminary in 1842; of the New Hampshire conference seminary and female college in 1850-54; in 1858 was elected the first president of Wilberforce college of Ohio; and in 1863 was elected president of the Wesleyan college for women at Cincinnati, Ohio. For twenty-five years he was field and corresponding secretary of the Freedman's aid and southern educational society of the methodist episcopal church, of which he was one of the founders. He died in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Ruston, William Otis, educator, clergyman, college president, was born Dec. 6, 1852, in New York City. In 1876 he was ordained to the presbyterian ministry; and filled pastorates in Fairmount, N.J. and West Union and Dubuque, Iowa. In 1904-08 he was president of the German presbyterian theological school of the northwest; and since 1908 has been dean of the faculty.

Ruter, Martin, clergyman, college president, author, was born April 3, 1785, in Charlton, Mass. In 1828-32 he was president of Augusta college, Kentucky. For two years he preached in Pittsburg, Pa.; and then became president of Allegheny college; and then became superintendent of the mission to Texas. Rutersville, Texas, was named for him; and the college there was founded in his honor. He was the author of a Collection of Miscellaneous Pieces. He died May 16, 1838, in Washington, Texas.

Rutgers, Henry, soldier, philanthropist, was born Oct. 7, 1745, in New York City. He was a member of the New York state assembly; and in 1802-26 was a regent in the New York state university. Rutgers college of New Brunswick, N.J., was named in his honor, he having contributed five thousand dollars to its funds. He died in New Brunswick, N.J.

Ruth, John W., business president, banker, was born Aug. 8, 1848, in East Huntington township, Pa. He was educated in the public and private schools of his native state; and at Rankins school. He has for many years been engaged in the lumber business; and is the owner of a lumber mill and lumber yard. He is president of the Scottdale savings and trust company of Scottdale, Pa.; and is interested in various other enterprises.

Rutherford, John, governor, was born Dec. 6, 1792, in Richmond, Va. In 1841-42 he was the twenty-first governor of Virginia. He died in July, 1865, in Virginia.

Rutherford, Allan, soldier, lawyer, was born Oct. 29, 1839, in New York City. He served as a volunteer officer in the civil war; and became a brigadier-general by brevet. In 1866 he was appointed a captain in the regular army; and resigned in 1870 to accept the office of third auditor of the United States treasury. He died April 29, 1900, in Washington, D.C.

Rutherford, Friend Smith, soldier, was born in New York. In 1862 he was colonel in the ninety-seventh regiment Illinois infantry; and in 1864 was appointed brigadier-general of volunteers. He died June 20, 1864.

Rutherford, Griffith, soldier, was born about 1731, in Ireland. In 1776 he was appointed a brigadier-general by the provincial congress. In 1784 he was in the South Carolina state senate. Ten years later he became president of the Tennessee legislative council. A county in North Carolina, and also in Tennessee, bear his name. He died in 1794 in Tennessee.

Rutherford, John, lawyer, United States senator, was born in September, 1760, in New York City. In 1791-99 he was United States senator from New Jersey; was a presidential elector in 1798, 1813, and 1821. He died Feb. 23, 1840, in Rutherford, N.J.

Rutherford, John, governor. He was governor of Virginia in 1841-42. He died in Virginia.

Rutherford, John, soldier, lawyer, lieutenant-governor, was born Dec. 6, 1792, in Richmond, Va. He was for many years president of the Virginia Mutual Assurance society, the first institution of this kind in the state, and held that post until his death. He became lieutenant-governor of Virginia in 1840. He died in July, 1866, in Richmond, Va.

Rutherford, Lewis Morris, lawyer, scientist, was born Nov. 25, 1816, in Morrisania, N.Y. He practiced law during 1838-50; and in 1850 built an astronomical observatory. In 1864 he constructed the first telescope for star-photography, and took during the following years an enormous number of star-photographs. These plates are being measured at Columbia university by Professor Jacobi, who has already published several volumes. He is considered the father of astronomical photography. He died May 30, 1892, in Tranquillity, N.J.

Rutherford, Mildred Lewis, educator, author, was born July 16, 1852, in Athens, Ga. She has been president of the Ladies' Memorial association since 1888; president of the Athens chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy since its organization; and is state historian for Georgia in the U. D. C. She is the author of English Authors; American Authors; Bible Questions; Bible Authors; Mannie Brown, That School Girl; Edward Kennedy, That College Boy; and other works.

Rutherford, Reuben Clifford, soldier, was born in New York. In 1863-65 he served in the civil war; and in 1865 was brevetted major-lieutenant and brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Aug. 28, 1876.

Rutherford, Robert, congressman, was born in Virginia. In 1793-97 he was a representative from Virginia to the third and fourth congresses. He died in Virginia.

Rutherford, John, United States senator, was born in 1760, in New York City. In 1787 he removed to Tranquillity, N.J., and was elected a member of the legislature. In 1791-98 he was United States senator. He died Feb. 23, 1840, in New Jersey.

Ruthrauff, John Mosheim, clergyman, college president, was born Jan. 13, 1846, near Canton, Ohio. He was president of the Rock River assembly in 1878-95; and was president of Carthage college, Illinois. He died in 1902, in Carthage, Ill.

Rutledge, Edward, signer of the declaration of independence, governor, was born Nov. 23, 1749, in Charleston, S.C. In 1774-77 he was a delegate from South Carolina to the continental congress and signed the declaration of independence. He served in the state assembly; and in 1798-1800 was the fourth governor of South Carolina. He died Jan. 23, 1800, in Charleston, S.C.

Rutledge, Edward, educator, clergyman, author, was born April 11, 1797, in Charleston, S.C. He was an episcopal clergyman; and was professor of moral philosophy at the university of Pennsylvania. He was the author of The Family Altar; and History of the Church of England. He died March 13, 1832, in Savannah, Ga.

Rutledge, Francis Huger, clergyman, bishop, was born April 11, 1799, in Charleston, S.C. In 1839-45 he filled a pastorate in St. Augustine, Fla.; and in 1845-51 was rector of St. John's church of Tallahassee, Fla. In 1851 he was consecrated protestant episcopal bishop of Florida. He died Nov. 6, 1866, in Tallahassee, Fla.

Rutledge, Hugh, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born about 1741, in Charleston, S.C. In 1782-85 he was speaker of the South Carolina state house of representatives. In 1791-1811 he was one of the three judges of the court of equity. He died in January, 1811, in Charleston, S.C.

Rutledge, John, soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, colonial governor, was born in 1739, in Charleston, S.C. In 1774-77 and 1782-83 he was a delegate from South Carolina to the continental congress; and in 1776 was appointed president of South Carolina, and commander-in-chief of that colony, having also been a member of the convention of 1774. In 1775-78 and 1779-82 he was colonial governor of South Carolina; was chancellor of the state in 1784; and was a member of the convention to frame the constitution of the United States, and signed that instrument. In 1797-1803 he was a representative to the fifth, sixth and seventh congresses. He was judge of the court of chancery; chief justice of South Carolina; and in 1780-91 was associate justice of the supreme court of the United States; and in 1795 was chief justice. He died in July, 1800, in Charleston, S.C.

Rutledge, John, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1766 in Charleston, S.C. He studied law with his father; and practiced his profession in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1797-1803 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the fifth, sixth and seventh congresses. He died in Philadelphia, Pa.

Ruttenber, Edward Manning, antiquarian, author, was born July 17, 1824, in Bennington, Vt. He was an antiquary of Newburg, N.Y. He was the author of History of Newburg; History of Orange County; History of the Hudson River Tribes; History of Regimental Flags; and History of Obstructions to Navigation of the Hudson River. He died in 1907 in Newburg, N.Y.

Rutter, Henley Chapman, physician, author, was born Dec. 6, 1849, in Pearisburg, Va. In 1882-84 he was superintendent of the Columbus hospital for insane; and in 1893-1901 was manager of the hospital for epileptics. He is the author of Criminal Responsibility of the Insane.

Rutter, James H., railroad president, was born Feb. 3, 1836, in Lowell, Mass. In 1883 he was president of the New York Central and Hudson River railroad company. He died June 27, 1885, in New York City.

Ryall, D. D., lawyer, congressman, was born in Trenton, N.J. In 1839-41 he was a representative from New Jersey to the twenty-sixth congress. He died in New Jersey.

Ryals, Garland Mitchell, farmer statesman, was born May 27, 1839, in Cumberland county, Va. During the civil war he was color bearer of his company; became second sergeant, and was finally promoted to captain and major of cavalry, and served on the staffs of Lee, Stuart and Hampton. After the war he engaged in merchandising, railroading and farming; and in 1869 moved to Savannah, Ga. In 1875 he was connected with a cotton farm, and since 1880 has pursued truck farming. In 1890 he served with distinction as a member of the Georgia state legislature. He is vice-president of the Farmers' National congress, and has filled various other public offices of trust.

Ryan, Abram Joseph, Father Ryan, clergyman, poet, was born Aug. 15, 1839, in Norfolk, Va. He was a Roman catholic priest and poet of the south. He was the author of Poems, Patriotic, Religious, and Miscellaneous; The Conquered Banner, and Other Poems; and A Crown for Our Queen. He died April 22, 1886, in Louisville, Ky.

Ryan, Daniel Joseph, lawyer, legislator, author, was born Jan. 1, 1855, in Cincinnati, Ohio. For two terms he was city solicitor for Portsmouth, Ohio; and served two terms as a representative in the Ohio state legislature. He has been president of the Columbus, New Albany and Johnstown traction company; and president of the Columbus lithograph company. He is the author of A History of Ohio; and Arbitration Between Capital and Labor.

Ryan, Edward George, journalist, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 13, 1810, in Ireland. He was city attorney of Milwaukee in 1870-72 and in 1874-80 was chief justice of the supreme court of Wisconsin. He died Oct. 19, 1880, in Milwaukee, Wis.

Ryan, Emmons Blackburn, lawyer, government official, was born Nov. 20, 1832, in Lexington, Ky. He was educated at the Transylvania university of his native city. He moved to California in 1849, and subsequently engaged in the provision business in Sacramento. For many years he was assessor of that city, and was connected with the paymaster's department of the army in 1864-66. In 1868 he became private secretary to Senator Stanford, which confidential position he filled until 1871. Since that time he has been general tax commissioner of San Francisco, Cal., and for twenty-six years tax attorney for the Central Pacific railroad company and the Southern Pacific railroad company.

Ryan, George Parker, naval officer, was born May 8, 1842, in Boston, Mass. He organized parties for the observation of the transit of Venus in 1874; and was selected to take charge of the expedition to Kerguelen islands. At the time of his death he was one of the most scientific navigators of the service. He died Nov. 24, 1877, at sea.

Ryan, Harris Joseph, educator, scientist, author, was born Jan. 8, 1866, in Powell's Valley, Pa. In 1889-1905 he was professor of electrical engineering at Cornell university. He is the author of Textbook of Electrical Machinery.

Ryan, Henry, clergyman, founder, was born April 22, 1775, in Connecticut. During the second war with Great Britain he did good service in camps, prisons, and hospitals. In 1827 he withdrew from the methodist episcopal church in the United States, and organized the Canadian Wesleyan methodist church, with which he was prominently connected until his death. He died in September, 1832, in Canada.

Ryan, James, clergyman, bishop, was born in 1848 in Ireland. He moved to the Peoria diocese in Illinois in 1878; and was appointed pastor at Wataga. In 1888 he was consecrated Roman catholic bishop of Alton.

Ryan, James W., educator, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 16, 1858, in Schuylkill county, Pa. He began the practice of law in Pottsville, Pa.; and was district attorney in 1892-95. In 1899-1901 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the fifty-sixth congress as a democrat.

Ryan, John, clergyman, college president, was born June 24, 1810, in Ireland. He was ordained a Roman catholic priest; and in 1850-56 was president of St. Francis Xavier college. He died in 1861 in New York City.

Ryan, John Augustine, educator, theologian, author, was born May 25, 1869, in Dakota county, Minn. In 1898 he was ordained to the priesthood; and since 1902 has been professor of moral theology and economics at St. Paul seminary of Minnesota. He is the author of A Living Wage.

Ryan, Mrs. Marah Ellis, actress, author, was born Feb. 27, 1860, in Butler county, Pa. She is a retired actress and novelist living at Fayette Springs, Pa. She is the author of A Pagan of the Alleghanies; Merze; On Love's Domains; Told in the Hills; Squaw Eloise; A Flower of France; Comrades; A Chance Child; The Bond Woman; and Indian Love Letters.

Ryan, Michael, merchant, was born Oct. 8, 1845, in Ireland. In 1893 he became president of a large packing business in Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1894 he became president of the Cincinnati chamber of commerce; and in 1894-98 was assistant United States treasurer at Cincinnati, Ohio.

Ryan, Patrick John, clergyman, archbishop, was born Feb. 02, 1831, in Ireland. During the war he acted as chaplain to the Gratiot street military prison and hospital, and after the civil war was appointed rector of St. John's church. In 1872 he was consecrated Roman catholic bishop of St. Louis, and subsequently archbishop; and in 1884 was transferred to Philadelphia as its archbishop. He was the author of What Catholics do Not Believe; and Some of the Causes of Modern Religious Skepticism. He died Feb. 11, 1911, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Ryan, Stephen Vincent, clergyman, bishop, author, was born Jan. 1, 1825, in Canada. He was Roman catholic bishop of Buffalo in 1860-96. He was the author of The Claims of a Protestant Episcopal Bishop to Apostolical Succession and Valid Orders Disproved. He died April 10, 1896, in Buffalo, N.Y.

Ryan, Thomas, musician, composer, author, was born in 1827 in Ireland. His fortunes were inseparably bound up with those of the Mendelssohn quintette club, of which he is the sole remaining original member. This little band of excellent musicians visited every town of any size in the United States. He is the author of Recollections of an Old Musician; and How Music is Composed.

Ryan, Thomas, soldier, lawyer, diplomat, congressman, was born Nov. 25, 1837, in Oxford, N.Y. In 1865 he moved to Kansas and settled in Topeka; was county attorney for eight years; and was assistant United States attorney in 1873-77. In 1877-80 he was a representative from Kansas to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, forty-eighth, forty-ninth and fiftieth congresses as a republican. He served for four years as minister to Mexico. Since 1897 he has been first assistant secretary of the interior.

Ryan, Thomas Curran, soldier, lawyer, author, was born July 4, 1840, in Utica, N.Y. He was educated in the common schools and by a private tutor. In 1861-63 he served as a private soldier in the fifth Wisconsin volunteer infantry. Since 1866 he has practiced law; and since 1881 has been located at Wausau, Wis. He is a member of the Wisconsin bar association. He is the author of O'Holligan's Fine Forms; Jurisprudential Satire; Finite and Infinite; and a philosophical work.

Ryan, Thomas F., lawyer, jurist, was born April 9, 1859, in Centreville, Kent county, R.I. He was educated in the Providence and Holyoke high schools and academy; and attained success in the practice of law in Oregon City, Ore. For two years he was mayor of Oregon City; city recorder for six years; water commissioner for five years; chief of fire department; school clerk for eight years; school director for five years; and member of the executive committee of state good roads association. He has been chairman of the republican county committee; a member of the congressional committee. He has been grand high priest R. A. M. of Oregon; grand patriarch Independent order of odd fellows; and for four years was grand representative from Oregon to the sovereign, grand lodge Independent order of odd fellows. Since 1888 he has been judge of the county court for Clackamas county, and is now serving his term ending in 1906.

Ryan, Thomas Fortune, capitalist, was born Oct. 17, 1851, in Blue Ridge, Va. In 1886 he joined hands with William C.

Whitney in securing and consolidating the various street surface railroads in New York, which now comprise the large system owned by the Metropolitan traction company. He is a director in the Southern railway, the Hocking Valley, the Flint and Pere Marquette and the Georgia central railroads, the Metropolitan traction company, the Consolidated traction company, the Bank of New Amsterdam, and many other corporations of like nature. His fortune is estimated at several millions.

Ryan, Thomas K., educator, public official, was born Aug. 9, 1849, in Ridgeway, Wis. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools of his native state; and attended the academy at Spring Green, Wis. For five years he taught school in Wisconsin and the Dakotas. In 1877-80 he was town clerk of Ridgeway; for one year was a member of the board of supervisors of Iowa county; and for one year was chairman of the board of supervisors of Ridgeway, Wis. In 1879-83 he was also a notary public, survey agent for the Hartford fire insurance company, and manager of the Canterbury warehouse of Ridgeway, Wis. For five years he was business agent and treasurer of the Cement workers' union of California; and since 1903 has been general secretary and treasurer of the American brotherhood of cement workers at San Francisco, Cal.

Ryan, William, farmer, merchant, congressman, was born in 1840 in Ireland. He was a member of the New York state assembly in 1891-92; and in 1893-95 he was a representative from Connecticut to the fifty-third congress as a democrat.

Ryan, William Henry, business man, congressman, was born May 10, 1860, in Hopkinton, Mass. In 1866 he moved to Buffalo with his parents; and was educated in the public and high schools of that city. He is a member of the firm of James Ryan's sons company, general bonding, liability and fire insurance. In 1894 he was elected to represent the second ward of Buffalo in the board of supervisors of Erie county, and in 1898 was elected chairman of that body. In 1904 he was a delegate to the national democratic convention at St. Louis, Mo. In 1899-1909 he was a representative from New York to the fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh, fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth and sixtieth congresses as a democrat.

Ryan, William Redmond, soldier, author, was born in England. He published Personal Adventures in California, which was illustrated from his own drawings, and contains many interesting details of early pioneer life in California. He died in California.

Ryder, Albert Pinkham, artist, was born March 19, 1847, in New Bedford, Mass. He studied art under William E. Marshall and at the National academy of design. He has been called the last of the romanticists; is a national academician; and a member of the society of American artists. Among his paintings are Wandering Cow; Curfew Hour; Pegasus; Farm-Yard; The Waste of Waters Is Their Field; Little Maid of Arcady; Temple of the Mind; and Phantom Ship.

Ryder, Arthur Hilton, musician, composer, was born April 30, 1875, in Plymouth, Mass. Since 1904 he has been organist and choir master of the Grace church of Providence, R.I. He has composed many songs and organ pieces; and a christmas carol service entitled As It Began to Dawn.

Ryder, Charles Jackson, secretary, author, was born Dec. 25, 1848, in Oberlin, Ohio. He is corresponding secretary of the American missionary association. He has written on sociology, education and missions in various periodicals.

Ryder, James, educator, clergyman, college president, was born Oct. 8, 1800, in Ireland. In 1839 he became pastor of St. Mary's church of Philadelphia; and in the following year he took charge of a church in Frederick, Md., which he soon left to assume the presidency of Georgetown college. In 1843-45 he was superior of the Jesuit order in the United States. In 1846 he became president of the college of the Holy Cross of Worcester, Mass. He died Jan. 12, 1860, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Ryder, Platt Powell, painter, artist, was born June 11, 1821, in Brooklyn, N.Y. Among his genre paintings are Life's Evening; Spinning; An Interior; Farewell; Spinning-Wheel; Reading the Cup; Washing-Day; Bill of Fare; Fireside; and Watching and Waiting. He was an associate of the National academy in 1868; and was also a founder of the Brooklyn Academy of Design. He died July 16, 1896, in Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

Ryder, Thomas Philander, musician, composer, was born June 29, 1836, in Cohasset, Mass. For many years he was organist at Tremont temple of Boston, Mass. He is the composer of light and popular piano music.

Ryder, William Henry, clergyman, philanthropist, was born July 13, 1822, in Provincetown, Mass. For ten years he was pastor of the universalist church in Roxbury, Mass., and in 1860 accepted a call to St. Paul's church of Chicago. He bequeathed more than half a million dollars to charitable, educational and religious institutions. He died March 8, 1888, in Chicago, Ill.

Ryerson, Martin, merchant, was born Jan. 6, 1818. In 1839 he engaged with a merchant and lumberman of Muskegon, Mich., continuing with him for two years. Being impressed with the timber wealth of the country and its prospective profit, he bargained for his employer's interest in the saw mill and engaged in the manufacture of lumber. The rise of western towns supplied him with an excellent market, and he gradually increased his facilities until the business eventually grew to be one of the largest of the kind in the west. He erected in Lincoln park, Chicago, a bronze group of statuary in memory of the Ottawa nation, for whom in his early life he had acquired a profound admiration. He died Sept. 6, 1887, in Boston, Mass.

Ryerson, Martin, merchant, lawyer, jurist, was born in New Jersey. In 1855 he was associate justice of the supreme court of New Jersey; and in 1874 was appointed one of the judges of the court organized in Washington for the purpose of adjudicating the Alabama claims. He died in June, 1875, in Newton, N.J.

Ryder, William Henry, soldier, educator, clergyman, was born July 24, 1842, in Elyria, N.Y. In 1869 he filled pastorate in Watertown, Wis.; and in 1877-78 he was pastor of the First congregational church of Ann Arbor, Mich. Since 1888 he has been professor of new testament interpretation at Andover theological seminary of Massachusetts.

Ryerson, Thomas C., lawyer, jurist. In 1834 he was an associate justice of the supreme court of New Jersey.

Rylance, Joseph Hine, clergyman, author, was born June 16, 1826, in England. In 1871 he became rector of St. Mark's in the Bowery of New York City. He was the author of Preachers and Preaching; Essays on Miracles; Social Questions; Pulpit Talks on Topics of the Time; and Essay on Tennyson. He died in 1907 in New York City.

Ryland, C. H., educator, clergyman. He is financial secretary of the Richmond college of Virginia.

Ryland, Cally, journalist, author, was born in Richmond, Va. Since 1902 she has been editor of the woman's page in the Richmond News-Leader. She is the author of The Taming of Betty; and Aunt Jemima Maxim.

Ryland, John Edwin, lawyer, jurist, was born July 8, 1830, in Fayette, Mo. In 1849-51 he was judge of the Supreme court; during 1862-65 was circuit attorney of the sixth judicial circuit of Missouri; and subsequently he became judge of the criminal court of the fifteenth judicial district of Missouri. He died Sept. 10, 1873, in Lafayette, Mo.

Ryland, Robert, clergyman, college president, was born March 14, 1805, in King and Queen county, Va. In 1832 he took charge of the manual-labor school in Richmond; and when that school was chartered in 1844 as Richmond college he was made its president, serving until 1866. For twenty-five years he acted as pastor of the First African baptist church of Richmond, during which time he baptized into its fellowship nearly four thousand persons. In 1868 he removed to Kentucky, where he engaged in the work of teaching and preaching. He died April 23, 1899, in Lexington, Ky.

Ryland, William Semple, clergyman, educator, college president, was born June 4, 1836, in Richmond, Va. He held chairs in the Female institute of Grenada, Miss., and Lexington Female college of Kentucky, of which he became president. He was professor of natural science in Bethel college of Russellville, Ky., and was its president in 1889-98. He died in 1906 in Russellville, Ky.

Ryle, John, manufacturer, was born Oct. 22, 1817, in England. He engaged to establish a silk factory at Paterson, N.J., of which he became owner in 1846. He was the first to carry on this business with success in the United States. He died Nov. 6, 1887, in England.

Ryle, William Thornicroft, manufacturer, was born Feb. 20, 1858, in Paterson, N.J. He was educated in this country and in England, leaving college before graduation, owing to the death of his father, William Ryle. He succeeded to the business of the importation or raw silk which his father, William Ryle, had founded. In addition to his silk interests he had for many years been the president of the Edison electric illuminating company of Paterson. He died Sept. 21, 1898, in Cape May, N.J.

Ryley, Mrs. Madeleine Lucette, actress, playwright, author, was born in London, England. She abandoned the stage for authorship; and made her first success with Cristopher, Jr., played by John Drew in 1894. She has since produced The American Citizen; Mysterious Mr. Bugle; Lady Jemima; Valentine's Days; A Coat of Many Colors; and a score of other plays. She is the author of An American Citizen.

Ryon, John W., lawyer, congressman, was born March 4, 1825, in Tioga county, Pa. He was district attorney of his native county in 1850-56. In 1879-81 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-sixth congress as a democrat.

Saalfeld, Mrs. Adah Louise, writer, author, was born June 8, 1865, in Brooklyn, N.Y. In 1885 she married Arthur James Saalfeld of Akron, Ohio. She is the author of Drummond Year Book; Mr. Bunny; His Book; Seeds of April's Sowing; Sweet-er Still Than This; and Teddy Bears.

Sabath, Adolph J., lawyer, congressman, was born April 4, 1866, in Bohemia. In 1881 he moved to Chicago, Ill. In 1885 he graduated from the Bryant and Stratton business college; and graduated from the law department of Lake Forest university. In 1890 he was admitted to the practice of law. In 1895-97 he was justice of the peace in Chicago, Ill.; and in 1897-1907 was police magistrate. In 1907-15 he was a representative from Illinois to the sixtieth, sixty-first, sixty-second and sixty-third congresses as a democrat.

Sabin, Alvah, clergyman, state legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 23, 1793, in Georgia, Vt. He served ten years in the Vermont state legislature; was secretary of state for Vermont in 1841; and in 1853-57 he was a representative from Vermont to the thirty-third and thirty-fourth congresses. He died in Vermont.

Sabin, Alvah Horton, manufacturer, chemist, author, was born April 9, 1851, in Norfolk, N.Y. He invented and patented a modern process for making sugar of milk. He is the author of Industrial and Artistic Technology of Paint and Varnish; and House Painting.

Sabin, Chauncey Brewer, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born Aug. 6, 1824, in Oneonta, N.Y. In 1873 he was elected a representative in the Texas state legislature; and in 1874-83 was postmaster at Galveston. In 1884-90 he was United States district judge for the eastern district of Texas.

Sabin, Dwight May, soldier, manufacturer, state legislator, United States senator, was born April 25, 1845, in Marseilles, Ill. He moved to Minnesota in 1868; and in 1870-71 was a state senator. He served several terms as a representative in the state legislature; and became president of several large manufacturing companies. In 1883-89 he was United States senator from Minnesota. He died Dec. 23, 1902, in Chicago, Ill.

Sabin, Edwin Legrand, litterateur, author, was born Dec. 23, 1870, in Rockford, Ill. He received his early education in the public schools of Clinton, Iowa; and in 1892 graduated from the university of Iowa. He is a member of several fraternal organizations and has spent most of his life in Illinois and Iowa. He is a litterateur of prominence; and contributes articles to the leading magazines. He is the author of Making of Iowa; The Magic Mashie; Beaufort Chums; and When You Were a Boy.

Sabin, Elbridge Hosmer, soldier, lawyer, author, was born Jan. 10, 1865, in Middletownpoint, N.J. Since 1888 he has been engaged in the practice of law. He served in the Spanish-American war in the first Texas volunteer cavalry. He is the author of Early American History for Young Americans; and Stella's Adventures in Starland.

Sabin, Elijah Robinson, evangelist, author, was born Sept. 10, 1776, in Tolland, Conn. He was appointed chaplain of the Massachusetts house of representatives; and afterward became pastor of a Methodist church in Bath, Maine. He was the author of The Road to Happiness; and Charles Observator. He died May 4, 1818, in Augusta, Ga.

Sabin, Ellen Clara, educator, college president, was born Nov. 20, 1850, in Sun Prairie, Wis. In 1891-95 she was president of Downer college of Fox Lake, Wis.; and since 1895 has been president of the Milwaukee-Downer college of Wisconsin.

Sabin, George M., soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 18, 1835, in Cuyahoga county, Ohio. He moved to Nevada in 1868; and in 1882-90 was United States district judge for the district of Nevada. He died May 12, 1890, in San Francisco, Cal.

Sabin, Joseph, publisher, bibliophile, author, was born Dec. 9, 1821, in England. He became widely known as a bookseller and collector of rare books of New York City. He was the author of The Thirty-Nine Articles of the Church of England, with Scriptural Proofs; Bibliotheca Americana; and Bibliography of Bibliographies. He died June 5, 1881, in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Sabine, Lorenzo, merchant, state legislator, congressman, author, was born Feb. 28, 1803, in New Lisbon, N.H. He was for some time secretary of the Boston board of trade; was three times elected to the legislature of Maine from Eastport; and was at one time deputy collector of the port of Passamaquoddy; and in 1851-53 he was a representative from Massachusetts to the thirty-second congress. He was the author of A Life of Commodore Preble; The American Loyalists; Report on the American Fisheries; and Notes on Duels and Dueling. He died April 14, 1877, in Boston, Mass.

Sabine, Wallace Clement, educator, author, was born in 1868 in Richmond, Ohio. He is assistant professor of physics in Harvard university. He is the author of Laboratory Course in Physical Measurements.

Sabine, William Tufnell, clergyman, bishop, was born Oct. 16, 1838, in New York City. He was educated at the New York university grammar school for boys; graduated from Columbia college with the degrees of A.B. and A.M.; and in 1859-62 attended the general theological seminary of the protestant episcopal church. He has filled pastorates in New York City and in Philadelphia, Pa.; and in 1874-1907 was pastor of the First reformed episcopal church of New York City. Since 1902 he has been bishop of the New York and Philadelphia synod of the reformed episcopal church.

Sachs, Bernard, physician, author, was born Jan. 2, 1858, in Baltimore, Md. He is a physician of New York City, well known as a neurologist. He is the author of Nervous and Mental Diseases of Childhood, and many professional Monographs.

Sachse, Helena V., hygienist, author, was born Nov. 30, 1875, in Philadelphia, Pa. She has been lecturer on cooking for the sick at various hospitals in Pennsylvania. She is the author of How to Cook for the Sick and Convalescent.

Sachse, Julius Friedrich, journalist, author, was born Nov. 22, 1842, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is a journalist of Philadelphia. He is the author of The German Pietists of Provincial Pennsylvania; The Genesis of the Lutheran Church in Pennsylvania; and German Sectarrians of Pennsylvania.

Sacket, Delos Bennet, soldier, was born in New York. In 1844 he graduated from the United States military academy. In 1845 he was second lieutenant in a New York infantry; and was regularly promoted to colonel. In 1865 he attained the rank of brigadier-general and major-general. He died March 8, 1885, in Washington, D.C.

Sackett, Henry Woodward, educator, lawyer, author, was born Aug. 31, 1853, in Enfield, N.Y. In 1870 he graduated from Ithaca academy; and in 1875 graduated from Cornell university. He taught Latin and Greek in the Monticello military academy; and then moved to New York City, where he combined law studies with the writing of court reports and special articles on legal subjects for the New York Tribune. He has been on the staff of the governor of New York, with rank of colonel. He has attained success in his profession of law; and has taken active part in the reform movements affecting New York's municipal affairs. He is the author of Law of Libel for Newspaper Men.

Sackett, John Warren, soldier, civil engineer, was born Dec. 13, 1860, in Rantoul, Ill. He attended the university of Illinois; and has attained success as a civil engineer. Since 1888 he has been chief assistant engineer in the United States engineer service for the district of Florida. During the Spanish-American war he was major in the United States volunteers, commanding provisional engineer of battalion in Cuba and Porto Rico. He landed the first troops of the American army in the Porto Rican expedition. He has held the principal offices in several secret societies. He is brigadier-general commanding first brigade in the first infantry Florida national guard (state troops) and resides in Jacksonville, Fla. He is a member of the American society of civil engineers, of the National geographic society and of the Permanent international association of navigation congress.

Sackett, William, soldier, was born in New York. In 1861 he was major in the ninth regiment New York cavalry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died June 14, 1864.

Sackett, William Augustus, lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 18, 1812, in Aurelius, N.Y. In 1840-53 he was a representative from New York to the thirty-first and thirty-second congresses. He practiced law in Saratoga Springs. He died Sept. 6, 1895, in Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

Sadler, Herbert Charles, educator, naval architect, was born in 1872 in London, England. Since 1904 he has been professor of naval architecture in the university of Michigan. In 1896-98 he was president of the Glasgow engineering society.

Sadler, Reinhold, governor, was born Jan. 10, 1848, in Prussia. He resided in Nevada. He was elected lieutenant-governor in 1895; and in 1899-1903 was the ninth governor of Nevada. He died in 1906 in Carson City, Nev.

Sadler, Thomas William, soldier, agriculturist, lawyer, congressman, was born April 17, 1831, near Russellville, Ala. He was county superintendent of education in 1875-84; and was a presidential elector in 1880. In 1885-87 he was a representative from Alabama to the forty-ninth congress as a democrat.

Sadler, Anna Teresa, author, was born Jan. 19, 1854, in Montreal, Canada. She is the author of Seven Years and Mair; The King's Page; Ethel Hamilton; Names that Live, a volume of biographies; Women of Catholicity; The Silent Woman of Alood; and many translations from the French, Italian and German.

Sadler, James E., physician, surgeon, was born in 1865 in Walden, N.Y. He was educated at the Montgomery and New Paltz academies; graduated from the Albany medical college; and took a post-graduate course in the Johns Hopkins hospital of Baltimore. He is surgeon-in-chief to the Sadler hospital; and consulting surgeon to the Highland hospital. He has been vice-president of the American association of obstetricians and gynecologists.

Sadler, Mrs. Mary Anne, litterateur, author, was born Dec. 31, 1820, in Ireland. She was a writer of Roman catholic Sunday school tales; and wife of J. Sadler, a New York publisher. She is the author of Alice Riordan; Red Hand of Ulster; The Daughter of Tyreconnell; and The Old House by the Boyne. She died in New York City.

Sadtler, Benjamin, clergyman, college president, author, was born Dec. 25, 1823, in Baltimore, Md. In 1875 he accepted the presidency of Muhlenberg college of Allentown, Pa. He is the author of A Rebellious Nation Reproved; and The Causes and Remedies of the Losses of Her Population by the Lutheran Church in America.

Sadtler, Samuel Philip, chemist, author, was born July 18, 1847, in Pine Grove, Pa. In 1874-91 he was professor of chemistry in the university of Pennsylvania; and since 1878 has been professor of chemistry in the Philadelphia college of pharmacy. He is the author of Handbook of Chemical Experimentations for Lectures; Handbook of Industrial Organic Chemistry; and Text-book of Pharmaceutical Chemistry.

Saffold, Reuben, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 4, 1788, in Wilkes county, Ga. During the Indian troubles he commanded a volunteer company; and he subsequently served several terms in the legislature of Mississippi territory. He was made a circuit judge; was one of the three judges that were appointed to the supreme bench in 1832; and served as chief justice in 1835-36. He died Feb. 15, 1847, in Dallas county, Ala.

Saffold, William Berney, educator, author, was born July 11, 1867, in Selma, Ala. He is professor of Greek and Latin at the university of Alabama. He is part author of The Construction.

Safford, A. P. K., governor. He was governor of the territory of Arizona in 1869-78. He died Dec. 16, 1891, in Tarpon Springs, Fla.

Safford, James Merrill, educator, geologist, chemist, was born Aug. 13, 1822, in Putnam, now a part of Zanesville, Ohio.

In 1844 he graduated at the Ohio university, and afterward attended Yale university, from which institution he subsequently received the degree of Ph.D. During 1848-72 he was professor of natural science in Cumberland university; during 1873-96 was professor of chemistry in the medical department of the university of Nashville; in the medical department of the Vanderbilt university during 1873-94; in 1875 became professor of natural history and geology in the Vanderbilt university. In 1854-60 he was state geologist of Tennessee. He was the author of a series of reports on the Geology of Tennessee, and various other works. He died in 1907 in Nashville, Tenn.

Safford, Truman Henry, educator, mathematician, astronomer, author, was born Jan. 6, 1836, in Royalton, Vt. He has been professor of astronomy at Williams college since 1876. He is the author of Mathematical Teaching and Its Modern Methods. He died June 13, 1901, in Newark, N.J.

Safford, William Harrison, lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born Feb. 19, 1821, in Parkersburg, W.Va. In 1848 he removed to Chillicothe, Ohio; in 1858-60 served in the state senate, and in 1868-74 was judge of the second division of the fifth judicial circuit of Ohio. He was the author of Life of Blennerhasset; and The Blennerhasset Papers.

Sage, Adoniram Judson, educator, clergyman, was born March 29, 1836, in Massillon, Ohio. He filled pastorates in the baptist churches in Shelburne Falls, Mass.; in Philadelphia, Pa.; and in Hartford, Conn. In 1870-71 he was professor of Latin in the university of Rochester; and in 1884-88 in the Baptist theological seminary of Chicago, Ill. He was president of the Baptist state convention of Connecticut. He is now engaged in educational and literary work.

Sage, Agnes Carolyn, writer, author, was born March 17, 1854, in Brooklyn, N.Y. In 1875-1900 she lived in Brooklyn, N.Y., and is now a writer of Hackensack, N.J. She has been a writer in literary work since 1873. She is the author of Christman Elms; The Jolly Ten; A Little Colonel Dame; A Little Daughter of the Revolution; and The Boys and Girls of the White House.

Sage, Ebenezer, congressman, was born in Connecticut. In 1809-15 he was a representative from New York to the eleventh, twelfth and thirteenth congresses and served one year in the sixteenth congress. He died Jan. 20, 1834, in Sag Harbor, N.Y.

Sage, Gardner Avery, surveyor, philanthropist, was born May 3, 1813, in New York City. He built and endowed the library of the Theological seminary at New Brunswick, N.J., which bears his name, and which he presented to the general synod. His gifts amounted to nearly two hundred and fifty thousand dollars. He died Aug. 22, 1882, in Sulphur Springs, Va.

Sage, George R., lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 24, 1828, in Erie, Pa. He was prosecuting attorney three terms in Lebanon, Ohio. He returned to Cincinnati in 1865; and in 1883-98 was United States district judge for the southern district of Ohio. He died in 1898 in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Sage, Henry William, financier, state legislator, philanthropist, was born Jan. 31, 1814, in Middletown, Conn. About 1854 he built a saw mill at Lake Simcoe, in Canada. Later became a lumber operator in West Bay City, Mich.; and one of the largest owners of pine lands in that state. He gave more than one million two hundred and fifty thousand dollars to Cornell university; and Sage college for women, a chapel, a library and other buildings there are monuments to his liberality. In 1847 he was elected to the New York legislature. He died Sept. 17, 1897, in Ithaca, N.Y.

Sage, Mrs. Margaret Olivia Slocum, philanthropist, was born Sept. 8, 1828, in Syracuse, N.Y. She is the wife of Russell Sage. During 1907 she gave a million dollars to the Emma Willard seminary of Troy, N.Y.; one million dollars to the Rensselaer polytechnic institute; one hundred and fifteen thousand to a public school at Sag Harbor, N.Y.; ten million dollars to be known as the Sage foundation for social betterment, three hundred and fifty thousand dollars to the Young men's christian association of New York; one hundred and fifty thousand to the American seaman's friends society, one hundred and fifty thousand to the Northfield seminary; three hundred thousand to the Sage institute of pathology; two hundred and fifty thousand to a home for indigent women; and various other donations.

Sage, Russell, merchant, financier, congressman, was born Aug. 4, 1816, in Oneida county, N.Y. In 1841-48 he was an alderman of the city of Troy, N.Y.; and was treasurer of Rensselaer county for seven years. In 1853-57 he was a representative from New York to the thirty-third and thirty-fourth congresses; and was the first man who advocated, on the floor of congress, the purchase of Mount Vernon by the general government. For twelve years he was president and vice-president of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad; and was director in many of the largest railroads in America. He died July 22, 1906, in Lawrence, L.I.

Sage, William, banker, author, was born May 8, 1864, in Manchester, N.H. He was educated in the public schools of his native city and in France and Germany. In 1891-96 he was engaged in the railway and banking business in New York; and since 1896 has devoted himself to literature as a writer of newspaper and magazine stories and novels. He is the author of Robert Tourney; The Clay-bournes, Frenchy, The Story of A Gentleman; The District Attorney; and By Right Divine.

Sagebeer, Joseph Evans, lawyer, author, was born in 1861 in Allentown, Pa. In 1898 he was ordained to the baptist ministry; studied law, and now has a large and successful practice in Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of The Bible in Court; A First Book in Christian Doctrine; and The Appeal to Reason.

Sager, Abram, physician, donor, was born Dec. 22, 1810, in Bethlehem, N.Y. He was president of the Michigan medical society in 1850-52. His collection laid the foundation of the present museum of the university, to which he also presented the Sager Herbarium of twelve hundred species and twelve thousand specimens. He died Aug. 6, 1877, in Ann Arbor, Mich.

Sahler, Charles Oliver, physician, surgeon, was born June 23, 1854, in Ulster county, N.Y. For twenty-seven years he practiced medicine in Ulster county, N.Y.; and in 1899 founded the Sahler sanitarium of Kingston, N.Y. He is the author of Psychic Life and Law; and American Psychologist.

Sailly, Peter, congressman, was born in France. In 1805-07 he was a representative from New York to the ninth congress. He was appointed, by President Jefferson, collector of customs for the district of Champlain, holding the office until his death. He died May 2, 1826, in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Saint Gaudens, Augustus, sculptor, was born March 1, 1848, in Ireland. He was president of the Society of American artists. His more important works are statues of Admiral David G. Farragut in New York City; of Robert R. Randall at Sailor's Snug Harbor, Staten Island, N.Y.; and of Abraham Lincoln in Chicago, Ill. He died in 1907 in New York City.

Saint Gaudens, Louis, sculptor, was born Jan. 8, 1854, in New York. He has modeled a Faun, St. John, for the Church of the incarnation of New York City; and other statues. He has assisted his brother in most of his works.

Sajous, Charles Euchariste de Medici, physician, author, was born Dec. 13, 1852, at sea near France. He became clinical chief in the throat department of Jefferson college hospital of Philadelphia; and finally lecturer in the college proper. In 1888 he edited and brought to a successful issue one of the largest medical works of the time, the Annals of the Universal Medical Sciences. He is the author of Curtative Treatment of Hay Fever; and Disease of the Nose and Throat.

Sales, Francis, educator, author, was born in 1771 in France. He was instructor at Harvard in French and Spanish in 1816-39, and afterward in Spanish alone until 1854. He edited and enlarged Augustin E. Josse's Grammar of the Spanish Language; and was the author of critical and annotated editions of the Spanish dramatists; Don Quixote, and other Spanish classics; the Fables of Fontaine, with notes; and treatises on the French and Spanish languages. He died Feb. 16, 1854, in Cambridge, Mass.

Salisbury, Albert, soldier, educator, college president, author, was born Jan. 24, 1843, in Lima, Wis. In 1870 he graduated from the Milton college of Wisconsin; and received the degrees of A.M. and Ph.D. from that institution. He served as a private soldier during the civil war in the thirteenth regiment Wisconsin volunteer infantry. Since 1885 he has been president of the state normal school of Whitewater, Wis. He is the author of Phonology and Orthoepey; History of Normal Instruction in Wisconsin; and The Theory of Teaching.

Salisbury, Edward Elbridge, philologist, educator, author, was born April 6, 1814, in Boston, Mass. He was professor of Arabic at Yale university in 1841-56. He was the author of General and Biographical Monographs. He died Feb. 6, 1901, in New Haven, Conn.

Salisbury, James Henry, physician, author, was born Oct. 13, 1823, in Scott, N. Y. He assisted in establishing the Charity Hospital Medical college of Cleveland, Ohio; and was president of the institute of Micrology. He was the author of a prize essay on the Anatomy and History of Plants; and one on the Chemical and Physiological Examinations of the Maize Plant during the Various Stages of Its Growth. He died in 1905 in Cleveland, Ohio.

Salisbury, Rollin D., educator, government official, was born in 1859 in Spring Prairie, Wis. Since 1884 he has been connected with the United States geological survey; and since 1905 he has been on the state geological survey of Illinois. Since 1902 he has been professor of geology and geography; and since 1898 has been dean of the Ogden graduate school of science in the university of Chicago.

Salisbury, Willard, lawyer, jurist, United States senator. He was chancellor of Delaware. He served as United States senator from Delaware. He died June 6, 1892, in Dover, Del.

Salley, Alexander Samuel, lawyer, author, was born June 16, 1871, in Orangeburg county, S.C. He is secretary of the historical commission of South Carolina. He is the author of History of Orangeburg County, S.C.; and Bibliography of William Gilmore Simms.

Sallmon, William Henry, educator, clergyman, college president, author, was born Sept. 6, 1866, in Canada. In 1902 he was pastor of the South Congregational church of Bridgeport, Conn. Since 1903 he has been president of Carlton college of Northfield, Minn. He is the author of Studies in the Life of Jesus; and other religious works.

Salm, Felix Prince, soldier, was born in Germany. In 1862 he was colonel in the eighth regiment New York infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He was killed Aug. 18, 1870, in the Franco-Prussian war.

Salmon, Alvah Glover, musician, pianist, composer, was born Sept. 23, 1868, in Southold, N.Y. In 1881 he graduated from the New England conservatory of music; and made supplementary studies in Germany and Russia. He has made extensive tours; and is especially known as an exponent and authority on the new Russian school of music. He is a composer of numerous works, principally for the pianoforte.

Salmon, Daniel Elmer, veterinarian, author, was born July 23, 1850, in Mount Olive, N.J. In 1884-1905 he was chief of the United States bureau of animal industry; and since 1906 he has been director of the veterinary department of the university of Montevideo. In 1898 he was president of the United States veterinarian medical association. He is the author of Diseases of Poultry.

Salmon, Joshua S., lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 2, 1846, in Mount Olive, N.J. In 1873 he graduated from the Albany law school; and in 1875 began the practice of law at Boontown, N.J. In 1893-98 he was prosecutor of the pleas for Morris county; and in 1877 was elected to the New Jersey state legislature. He was one of the organizers of the Boontown national bank; and was a director of the bank. In 1899-1903 he was a representative from New Jersey to the fifty-sixth and fifty-seventh congresses as a democrat. He died May 6, 1902, in Boontown, N.J.

Salomon, Charles Eberhard, soldier, was born in Prussia. In 1861 he was captain in the fifth regiment Missouri infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Jan. 9, 1881.

Salomon, Edward, lawyer, governor, was born in 1828, in Prussia. He became a lawyer; was the sixth governor of Wisconsin in 1862-63; and then practiced law in New York City.

Salomon, Edward S., governor. In 1870-72 he was territorial governor of Washington.

Salomon, Edward Selig, soldier, was born in Germany. In 1861 he was first lieutenant in the twenty-fourth regiment Illinois infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted colonel and brigadier-general of volunteers. He was honorably mustered out in 1865.

Salomon, Frederick, soldier, surveyor, was born April 7, 1826, in Prussia. He served through the civil war; and received the brevet of major-general in 1865. He was subsequently for several years surveyor-general of Utah territory.

Salomon, Haym, financier, was born about 1740, in Prussian Poland. He negotiated all the war subsidies obtained during that struggle from France and Holland, which he indorsed and sold in bills to American merchants at a credit of two and three months on his personal security, receiving for his commission one quarter of one per cent. He also acted as paymaster-general of the French forces in the United States; and for some time lent money to the agents or ministers of several foreign states when their own sources of supply were cut off. It is asserted that over one hundred thousand dollars thus advanced has never been repaid. To the United States government he lent about six hundred thousand dollars in specie, and at his death four hundred thousand of this amount had not been returned. He died in 1785 in Philadelphia, Pa.

Salpointe, Jean Baptist, clergyman, archbishop, was born Feb. 21, 1825, in France. He was appointed vicar-general of Arizona in 1866. He was consecrated by the title of bishop in 1869. He died July 16, 1898, in Tucson, Arizona.

Salt, Enoch John, musician, composer, was born April 9, 1857, in Covington, Ky. In 1876 he was an organist at the Centennial exhibition, and later of Columbus, Ohio. He is the composer of many beautiful songs, church music, and several sonatas for the piano. He is also an expert advertisement writer of Columbus, Ohio; and the author of Helps Over Rough Places; Nuggets; and other books on the art of advertising.

Salter, Moses Buckingham, merchant, clergyman, bishop, was born Feb. 13, 1841, in Charleston, S.C. He was educated at the Wilberforce university of Ohio. He is by trade a watchmaker and gold refiner; and for a number of years followed that profession. He has always been identified with the church as a class leader, minister and presiding elder; and is now bishop of the African Methodist Episcopal church of Charleston, S.C.

Salter, Richard, clergyman, philanthropist, jurist, author, was born in 1723, in Boston, Mass. In 1754 he was associate justice of the supreme court of New Jersey. In 1781 he gave to Yale college a farm which was sold for two thousand dollars, for the purpose of promoting the study of Hebrew and other oriental languages. He was the author of an Election Sermon; and began a Commentary on the New Testament. He died April 14, 1780, in Mansfield, Conn.

Salter, Sumner, musician, composer, was born June 24, 1856, in Burlington, Iowa. He is a noted organist and director; president of New York state music teachers' association in 1897-98; and in 1900 warden of American guild of organists. He is the author of a number of songs and church music.

Salter, William, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 17, 1821, in Brooklyn, N.Y. Since 1846 he has been pastor of the Congregational church of Burlington, Iowa. In 1850-63 he was a trustee of Iowa college. He is the author of The Life of James W. Grimes; Life of Henry Dodge; and Sixty Years, Sermons and Addresses.

Salter, William D., naval officer, was born in 1794 in New York City. He entered the navy as midshipman in 1809; became lieutenant in 1814; and commodore on the retired list in 1862. He died Jan. 3, 1869, in Elizabeth, N.J.

Salter, William Mackintire, lecturer, author, was born Jan. 30, 1853, in Burlington, Iowa. He was lecturer of the society for ethical culture of Chicago in 1883-92 and 1897-1907. He is the author of On a Foundation for Religion; Die Religion der Moral; Ethical Religion; An Inquiry in Fundamental Politics; Anarchy or Government; First Steps in Philosophy; and other works.

Saltonstall, Dudley, naval officer, was born Sept. 8, 1738, in New London, Conn. He was a commodore in the continental navy. He died in 1796 in the West Indies.

Saltonstall, Gurden, clergyman, colonial governor, philanthropist, was born March 27, 1666, in Haverhill, Mass. He was colonial governor of Connecticut in 1708-25. He bequeathed one thousand pounds to the university of Haverhill to educate students for the ministry. He died Oct. 1, 1724, in Connecticut.

Saltonstall, Leverett, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born June 13, 1783, in Haverhill, Mass. He was a state senator in 1831; and was mayor of Salem in 1836-38. He was a presidential elector in 1837; and frequently served in the state legislature. In 1837-43 he was a representative from Massachusetts to the twenty-fifth, twenty-sixth and twenty-seventh congresses. He died May 8, 1845, in Salem, Mass.

Saltonstall, Leverett, lawyer, genealogist, was born March 16, 1825, in Salem, Mass. In 1885 he was appointed collector of customs for the port of Boston and Charlestown; compiled a genealogical history of his family. He died April 15, 1895, in Boston, Mass.

Saltonstall, Richard, lawyer, jurist, was born June 24, 1703, in Haverhill, Mass. In 1728 he was chosen to represent Haverhill in the general court. In 1736-56 he was a judge of the superior court. He was chairman of a commission that was appointed in 1737 to trace the boundary line between Massachusetts and New Hampshire. He died Oct. 20, 1756, in Haverhill, Mass.

Saltus, Edgar Evertson, author, was born June 8, 1858, in New York City. He is the author of Balzac: a Study; The Philosophy of Disenchantment; The Anatomy of Negation; Mr. Incoul's Misadventure; The Truth About Tristram Varick; Eden; A Transaction in Hearts; When Dreams Come True; The Pace That Kills; Mary Magdalen; Imperial Purple; and The Lords of the Ghostland.

Saltus, Francis Saltus, poet, was born in 1849, in New York. He was a poet, much of whose life was passed abroad. He was the author of Honey and Gall; Shadows and Ideals; The Witch of Endor; Romance of the Opera; Kings of Song; The Bayadere, and Other Sonnets. He died June 25, 1889.

Salway, William, lawyer, jurist. In 1693 he was an associate justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania.

Salzmann, Joseph, clergyman, college president, was born Aug. 17, 1819, in Austria.

He succeeded Archbishop Henni as president of the theological seminary of St. Francis. He was one of the founders of the Scebote, a German periodical published at Milwaukee. He died Jan. 17, 1874, in Milwaukee, Wis.

Samford, William James, soldier, lawyer, congressman, governor, was born Sept. 16, 1844, in Greenville, Ga. He was a delegate to the state constitutional convention of Alabama in 1875; and was a presidential elector in 1876. In 1879-81 he was a representative from Alabama to the forty-sixth congress as a democrat. In 1882 he was a member of the lower branch of the Alabama general assembly; and in 1884-87 and 1892-95 was a member of the state senate, being president of that body in 1886-87. In 1900-01 he was the twenty-ninth governor of Alabama. He died June 11, 1901, in Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Sammann, Detlef, painter, artist, was born Feb. 28, 1857, in Germany. During President Harrison's administration he decorated several rooms in the White house. Since 1895 he has resided in Pasadena, Cal.; and has added to his fame by his tapestry paintings on account of their close resemblance to the French woven gobelins.

Sammons, Thomas, congressman, was born in Montgomery county, N.Y. In 1803-07 and 1809-13 he was a representative to the eighth, ninth, eleventh and twelfth congresses. He died in Johnstown, N.Y.

Sampey, John Richard, educator, theologian, author, was born Sept. 27, 1863, in Fort Deposit, Ala. Since 1892 he has been professor of old testament interpretation in the Southern baptist theological seminary of Louisville, Ky. He is the author of Syllabus for Old Testament Study and Literature, History of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary; and Lecture Notes on Old Testament.

Sample, Robert Fleming, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 19, 1829, in Corning, N.Y. He was a member of various church boards; and a director of the McCormick theological seminary of Chicago, Ill. In 1899 he was moderator presbyterian general assembly; and filled pastorates in New York City. He was the author of Memoir of Rev. John C. Thom; and Beacon Lights of Reformations. He died in 1905, in New York City.

Sample, Samuel C., congressman, was born in Maryland. In 1843-45 he was a representative from Indiana to the twenty-eighth congress. He died in South Bend, Ind.

Sampson, Clark Hamilton, merchant, manufacturer, was born Sept. 17, 1850, in Hatfield Mass. He entered the employ of the Corticello silk mills; and for some time represented them in New York City. In 1879 he opened a wholesale establishment for the company. He also organized the Colonial trust company of St. Louis, Mo., and is its president.

Sampson, Archibald J., soldier, lawyer, lecturer, diplomat, was born June 21, 1839, near Cadiz, Ohio. He was educated at Mount Union college Cleveland law school. He became city, county and district attorney. In 1873 he moved to Colorado; and in 1876 was elected attorney-general of that state. He subsequently settled in Phoenix, Ariz.; in 1889 was appointed consul to Paso del Norte, Mexico; in 1896 was elected department commander of the grand army of the republic of Arizona; and in 1897-1907 was envoy and minister to Ecuador, South America. He has delivered lectures upon Mexico; Music of the War; Music and Musicians; Lincoln; and other subjects.

Sampson, Ezekiel S., soldier, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born Dec. 6, 1831, in Huron county, Ohio. In 1856-58 he was prosecuting attorney of Sigourney, Iowa. He was captain in the fifth Iowa infantry in 1861-62; and lieutenant-colonel in 1863-64. He was a state senator in 1866; and was judge of the sixth judicial district of Iowa in 1867-75. In 1875-79 he was a representative from Iowa to the forty-fourth and forty-fifth congresses as a republican.

Sampson, Ezra, clergyman, journalist, author, was born Feb. 12, 1749, in Middleborough, Mass. In 1775-95 he was a congregational clergyman at Plympton, Mass.; and subsequently a journalist in Hartford. He was the author of Beauties of the Bible; The Historical Dictionary; The Sham Patriot Unmasked; and The Brief Remarker on the Ways of Men. He died Dec. 12, 1823, in New York City.

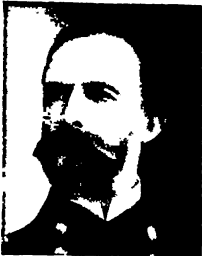

Sampson, Francis Asbury, lawyer, scientist, author, was born Feb. 6, 1842, in Harrison county, Ohio. He is a noted lawyer of Sedalia, Mo.; and vice-president of the Missouri trust company. He has been active in natural science matters; and sixteen species of fossils and shells have been named for him. He is the author of Bibliography of the Geology of Missouri; Bibliography of Missouri Authors; History and Bibliography of the Missouri Horticultural Society; and other works.

Sampson, John Patterson, lawyer, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 13, 1837, in Wilmington, N.C. He is a clergyman of the African methodist church; and prior to 1882 a lawyer in Washington. He is the author of Common Sense Physiology; The Disappointed Bride; Temperament and Phrenology of Mixed Races; Jolly People; and Illustrations in Theology.

Sampson, Thornton Rogers, missionary, college president, was born Oct. 9, 1852, in Prince Edward, Va. In 1878-92 he was engaged in mission work among the Greeks in Athens and Thessalonica. In 1897-1900 he was president of Austin college of Sherman, Texas; in 1900-05 was president of the Austin presbyterian theological seminary; and is now Luther professor of church history and polity and chairman of the faculty of the latter institution.

Sampson, William, lawyer, author, was born Jan. 17, 1764, in Ireland. He was a noted lawyer of New York City. He was the author of Sampson Against the Philistines, or the Reform of Lawsuits; and Memoir of William Sampson. He died Dec. 27, 1836, in New York City.

Sampson, William Thomas, naval officer, was born Feb. 9, 1840, in Palmyra, N.Y. He came out of the naval academy in 1860 and went into service on the frigate Potomac. He was made master in 1861, lieutenant in 1862, and served on the practice ship John Adams for one year. After that he was a lieutenant on the ironclad Patapsco with the South Atlantic blockading squadron. He escaped luckily from that ship when she was destroyed in Charleston harbor on Jan. 15, 1865. After the war Captain Sampson served on the flagship Colorado and became lieutenant-commander in 1866. He got his commission as commander in 1874. In 1898 he was made rear-admiral for his services during the Spanish-American war. He is commandant of navy yard at Boston, Mass. He died May 6, 1902, in Washington, D.C.

Sampson, Zabdiel, lawyer, congressman, was born about 1783, in Plympton, Mass. In 1817-20 he was a representative from Massachusetts to the fifteenth and sixteenth congresses; and in 1820 was appointed collector of customs at Plymouth. He died July 19, 1828, in Plymouth, Mass.

Samson, Deborah, patriot, was born Dec. 17, 1760, in Plympton, Mass. At the outbreak of the revolution she assumed male attire and enlisted in the army under the name of Robert Shirtleff. Accustomed to out-door labor, she was able to fulfill the duties of a soldier. She was twice wounded. Washington, on being apprised of her sex, called her to him, and without speaking to her, handed her a discharge. She afterward married Benjamin Gannett. She died April 29, 1827, in Sharon, Mass.

Samson, George Whitefield, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 20, 1819, in Harvard, Mass. He was a baptist clergyman and educator of New York City; and president of Rutgers female college from 1871. He was the author of Elements of Art Criticism; Physical Media in Spiritual Manifestations; The Atonement; The Divine Law as to Wines; Idols of Fashion and Culture; Tested Truths as to Relations of Capital and Labor; Outlines of the History of Ethics; Spiritualism Tested; Guide to Self-Education; The Bible Revisers' Greek Text; and Guide to Bible Interpretation. He died in 1896, in New York City.

Samson, Harry G., business man, director, was born July 11, 1870, in Pittsburgh, Pa. He was educated in the public schools of his native city; and at the university of Western Pennsylvania. He began his business career in 1888; and is now funeral director and owner and operator of a crematory. He is a trustee of Alleghany college; a trustee of Oakland methodist episcopal church; a director of the Pittsburgh free dispensary; and treasurer of the Methodist episcopal church union of Pittsburgh. He is prominently identified with the business and public affairs of Pittsburgh, Pa.; is a well known member of the republican party; and a member of Sons of the American revolution.

Samson, Simeon, naval officer, was born Aug. 24, 1736, in Kingston, Mass. In 1870 he was promoted to the ship Mars, a large vessel in which he fought several battles; and captured the British flagship Trial. He died June 22, 1789, in Plympton, Mass.

Samuel, Bunford, librarian, bibliographer, was born Sept. 16, 1857, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1878 he has been assistant librarian of the Library company of Philadelphia, Pa., and in charge of its Ridgeway branch. In 1880 he projected a general index of printed portraits; and compiled an index of about seventy thousand subjects.

Samuel, Edmund William, physician, business president, congressman, was born Nov. 27, 1857, in Wales. He was educated in the public schools of Ashland, Pa.; and in 1880 received the degree of M.D. from the Jefferson medical college. Since 1880 he has practiced medicine at Mount Carmel, Pa.; and since 1889 he has been engaged in the drug business. He is president of the Rich Hill coal company; president of the Real estate exchange; and president of the Brush valley lumber and timber company. In 1905-07 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the fifty-ninth congress as a republican.

Samuel, Green B., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1794 in Virginia. In 1839-41 he was a representative from Virginia to the twenty-sixth congress; and was for eleven years judge of the supreme court of appeals. He died Jan. 5, 1859, in Richmond, Va.

Samuels, Adelaide Florence, was born Sept. 24, 1845, in Boston, Mass. She is the author of Dick and Daisy Series; Dick Travers Abroad Series; and Daisy Travers.

Samuels, Edward Augustus, naturalist, author, was born July 4, 1836, in Boston, Mass. He was assistant secretary of the Massachusetts state board of agriculture in 1860-80; and for seven years was president of the Massachusetts fish and game protective association. He is the author of Ornithology and Oölogy of New England; Among the Birds; Mammalogy of New England; and The Living World.

Samuels, Samuel, inventor, author, was born March 14, 1823, in Philadelphia, Pa. He organized the Steam Heating company of New York City in 1881. He is the author of From Forecastle to Cabin.

Samuels, Mrs. Susan Blagge, author, was born Oct. 21, 1848, in Dedham, Mass. She is the author of The Golden Rule Series.

Sanborn, Alvan Francis, journalist, author, was born July 8, 1866, in Marlboro, Mass. He has been associate editor with D. Lathrop company, publishers of Boston, Mass.; and in 1901 was an associate editor of the National Encyclopedia. In 1891-92 he edited the Cottage Hearth. In 1899-1902 he was a regular Paris correspondent to the Boston Transcript; was on the staff of the Atlantic Monthly and Boston Traveler; and since 1906 has been special correspondent of the Boston Transcript. In 1892-96 he was a resident worker for South end house of Boston, Mass. He is the author of Moody's Lodging House, and Other Tenement Sketches; Meg McIntyre's Raffle, and Other Stories; and Paris and the Social Revolution.

Sanborn, Arthur Loomis, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 17, 1850, in Brasher Falls, N.Y. In 1880-1905 he was engaged in the practice of law; and since 1905 has been United States district judge for the western district of Wisconsin.

Sanborn, Charles Henry, physician, state legislator, author, was born Oct. 9, 1821, in Hampton Falls, N.H. He was active in the political revolt of the independent democrats of New Hampshire in 1845, which ended in detaching the state from its pro-slavery position. In 1854-55 he was a member of the state legislature. He was the author of The North and the South. He died May 17, 1899.

Sanborn, Edwin David, educator, author, was born May 14, 1808, in Gilmanton, N.H. He was professor of literature at Dartmouth college in 1863-85. He was the author of a History of New Hampshire. He died Dec. 29, 1885, in Hanover, N.H.

Sanborn, Frank Berry, educator, civil engineer, author, was born Jan. 15, 1865, in Hampton Falls, N.H. Since 1901 he has been professor of civil engineering at Tufts college; and has lectured at Dartmouth college and at the university of Illinois. He is the inventor of hydraulic devices. He is the author of Mechanics' Problems for Engineering Students.

Sanborn, Franklin Benjamin, journalist, author, was born Dec. 15, 1831, in Hampton Falls, N.H. In 1855 he graduated from Harvard university. He has been a lecturer at Cornell, Smith and Wellesley universities; and taught school of philosophy at Concord, Mass. In 1876-97 he was editor of the Boston Commonwealth; the Springfield Republican; and the Journal of Social Science; and has also edited twenty state reports on charities and labor. In 1880-81 he was president of the National conference of charities; and in 1865-97 was chairman of the American social science association; and in 1879-89 he was Massachusetts inspector of charities. He is the author of biographies of Emerson, Thoreau, Alcott, John Brown; and Dr. Earle; Personality of Thoreau; Personality of Emerson; and History of New Hampshire.

Sanborn, Helen Josephine, educator, author, was born Oct. 6, 1857, in Greene, Maine. She is the author of A Winter in Central America, a volume of travels.

Sanborn, Henry F., farmer, educator, state senator, was born Feb. 26, 1819, in Epsom, N.H. For many years he taught school; was selectman of his native town for many years; an administrator of several estates; and the guardian of many children. He was a member of the New Hampshire state legislature in 1855; and for two terms was a state senator in 1866 and 1867. In 1882 he moved to Princeton, Mass., where he was superintendent of schools. He died March 26, 1898, in Princeton, Mass. His son, Walter H. Sanborn, is now United States circuit judge at St. Paul, Minn.; and another son, Edward P. Sanborn, is an attorney of that city.

Sanborn, Herbert Charles, educator, author, was born Feb. 18, 1873, in Winchester, Mass. In 1902-06 he was head master of German at Bancroft school of Worcester, Mass. He is the author of Eckstein; Wittenbruch; Newson Sudermann; and Schiller.

Sanborn, John Benjamin, soldier, lawyer, state senator, was born Dec. 5, 1826, in Epsom, N.H. As adjutant-general and quartermaster-general he organized and sent the Minnesota troops to the civil war in 1861; was colonel of the fourth Minnesota in 1862. He served to the close of the civil war, becoming brigadier-general and brevet major-general. He was member of the Minnesota state legislature; and a member of the state senate. He died in 1904 in St. Paul, Minn.

Sanborn, Katherine Abbott, educator, author, poet, was born July 11, 1839, in Hanover, N.H. She was professor of English literature at Smith college prior to 1886. She is the author of Home Pictures of English Poets; Vanity and Insanity of Genius; Adopting an Abandoned Farm; Abandoning an Adopted Farm; A Truthful Woman in Southern California; My Literary Zoo; The Wit of Women; Favorite Lectures; Round Table Series of Literary Lessons; and Purple and Gold, and Grandmother's Garden.

Sanborn, Mrs. Mary Farley, litterateur, author, was born May 8, 1853, in Manchester, N.H. She is the wife of Fred C. Sanborn of Boston, Mass. She has done book reviewing and studied vocal music for the concert stage. She is the author of Sweet and Twenty; It Came to Pass; Paula Ferris's Revelation of Herself; and Lynette and the Congressman.

Sanborn, Nathan, physician, genealogist, was born March 7, 1791. He had a wide practice in New Hampshire. He was much interested in genealogical research; and has been styled the father of the Sanborn Genealogy. He died Dec. 15, 1858, in Henriker, N.H.

Sanborn, V. C., genealogist. He is the author of the Sanborn Genealogy.

Sanborn, William, soldier, was born in Maine. In 1862 he was major in the twenty-second regiment Michigan infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died June 26, 1876.

Sanborn, Walter Henry, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 19, 1845, in Epsom, N.H. He was educated in the district schools and academies; and in 1867 graduated from Dartmouth college. In 1859 he began teaching school; and in 1867-70 was principal of the high school at Milford, N. H. In 1871 he was admitted to the practice of law; and since that time has practiced his profession in St. Paul, Minn. In 1878-80 and 1885-92 he was a member of the city council of St. Paul; in 1865-92 he was treasurer of the state bar association; and in 1890-91 was president of the St. Paul bar association; and president of the Union league. In 1892 he was commissioned United States circuit judge and ex-officio judge of the United States circuit court of appeal of the eighth circuit; and in 1903 became senior and presiding circuit judge.

Sandelands, James, merchant, jurist, was born in 1636. He was captain of a company of militia, and practiced as attorney in Upland court. In 1681 he was appointed a justice of that court and a member of the first provincial council. In 1688-90 he represented Chester county in the general assembly of Pennsylvania. He died April 12, 1692, in Chester, Pa.

Sandels, M. H., lawyer, jurist. He was an associate justice of the supreme court of Arkansas in 1889-1890.

Sandeman, Robert, founder of a sect, author, was born in 1718 in Scotland. He was the founder of the Sandemanian sect. He came to America in 1764 and gathered a church at Danbury, Conn. He was the author of Letters on Theron and Aspasio; and Thoughts on Christianity. He died April 2, 1771, in Danbury, Conn.

Sander, Enno, soldier, educator, pharmacist, founder, was born Feb. 27, 1822, in Germany. He served in the civil war as major and brigade quartermaster. In 1871-74 he was professor of materia medica and botany in the St. Louis college of pharmacy; in 1902 was elected professor emeritus. For thirty years he conducted an analytical laboratory in St. Louis, Mo. He erected a mineral water factory of his own design; and he is president and treasurer. He has patented a veterinary medicine chest; a chemical fire extinguisher; and an aerated water still.

Sanders, Addison Hiatt, soldier, was born in Ohio. In 1862 he was lieutenant-colonel in the sixteenth regiment Ohio infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He was resigned in 1865.

Sanders, Billington, McCarter, educator; college president, was born Dec. 2, 1789, in Columbia county, Ga. In 1833-39 he was the first president of Mercer university. He died May 12, 1852, in Penfield, Ga.

Sanders, Blueford B., soldier, merchant, educator, clergyman, was born Sept. 19, 1840, near Carrollton, Ala. In 1861 he enlisted as a confederate soldier; and served four years. He taught school for eight years; and then entered mercantile business until 1886, when he became a minister of the gospel. He is now pastor of the First christian church of Austin, Texas, which has one of the largest congregations of that church in the state. For eight years he was an evangelist and served under the auspices of the Texas state missionary board of the christian church.

Sanders, Dallas, lawyer, public official, was born Jan 13, 1848, in Philadelphia, Pa. For three years he was a student at the university of western Pennsylvania; studied law with Judge George M. Dallas; and in 1869 was admitted to the bar. For several years he was editor of the Legal Intelligencer of Philadelphia, Pa. In 1878-81 he was assistant district attorney for Philadelphia county, Pa.; in 1882-84 was a member of the common councils of Philadelphia, Pa., and chairman of the survey committee. He has been a delegate to many democratic city and state conventions; in 1880 was a national delegate; and in 1887 was state chairman. In 1893 he was appointed, practically for life, as a member of the board of city trusts, which has charge of all bequests and charities of the city of Philadelphia, especially Girard college and the Wills eye hospital.

Sanders, Daniel Clarke, clergyman, educator, author, was born May 3, 1768, in Sturbridge, Mass. He was president of the university of Vermont in 1800-14; and subsequently pastor at Medfield, Mass. He was the author of A History of the Indian Wars with the First Settlers of the United States, which he published in 1812. He died Oct. 18, 1850, in Medfield, Mass.

Sanders, Daniel Jackson, educator, college president, was born Feb. 15, 1847, near Winnsboro, S.C. In 1879 he became editor and proprietor of the Africo-American Presbyterian. In 1891 he was elected president of Biddle university, Charlotte, N.C. He died in 1907 in Charlotte, N.C.

Sanders, Mrs. Elizabeth Elkins, litterateur, author, was born in 1762 in Salem, Mass. She was the author of Conversations. Principally on the Aborigines of North America; First Settlers of New England; and Reviews. She died Aug. 10, 1851, in Salem, Mass.

Sanders, Frederic William, educator, author, was born Jan. 17, 1864, in Westchester county, N.Y. He has received the degrees of A.B., A.M. and Ph.D. In 1888-91 he practiced law in Tennessee; and in 1892-93 was minister of the unitarian church of Asheville, N.C. In 1893-95 he was assistant editor of Unity. In 1899-1901 he was president of the New Mexico college of agricultural and mechanical arts; and since 1905 has been principal of the high school of Lincoln, Neb. He is the author of The Standard of Living in Relation to Economic Theory; and Land Nationalization.

Sanders, Frank Knight, educator, archaeologist, author, was born June 5, 1861, in Ceylon. In 1901-05 he was professor of biblical history and archaeology and dean in the divinity school of Yale university; and is now secretary of the congregational Sunday school and publishing society. He is the author of The Messages of the Later Prophets; Historical Series for Bible Students, in ten volumes; The Messages of the Bible, in twelve volumes; The Teacher's Life of Christ; and The Messages of the Sages.

Sanders, Henry Martin, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 20, 1849, in New York City. He is a baptist clergyman of New York City. He is the author of People's Praise Book; and Bible Readings.

Sanders, Horace T., soldier, was born in New York. In 1862 he was colonel in the nineteenth regiment Wisconsin infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Oct. 7, 1865.

Sanders, Jared Young, state legislator, governor, was born Jan. 29, 1869, in St. Mary's Parish, La. In 1892-1904 he was a member of the Louisiana state house of representatives; and in 1900-04 was speaker of that body. In 1904-08 he was lieutenant-governor; and in 1908 became governor of the state of Louisiana for the term ending in 1912.

Sanders, John, civil engineer, author, was born in 1810 in Lexington, Ky. He was employed in the improvements on Delaware bay and river, and in constructing Fort Delaware. He was the author of Memoirs on the Resources of the Valley of the Ohio. He died July 29, 1858, in Fort Delaware, Del.

Sanders, John Chapin, educator, physician, college president, was born July 2, 1825, in Peru, Ohio. In 1857 he began the practice of medicine in Cleveland, Ohio; and for nearly half a century was prominent with the professional and social life of that city. In 1860-68 he was president of the Homœopathic hospital college of Cleveland, Ohio; and in 1900 was made professor emeritus of that institution.

Sanders, Joseph M., lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 26, 1866, in Wythe county, Va. In 1896-1904 he was a circuit judge; and since 1905 has been judge of the supreme court of appeals of West Virginia for a term of twelve years.

Sanders, Thomas Jefferson, educator, college president, author, was born Jan. 18, 1855, near Burbank, Ohio. In 1891-1901 he was president of Otterbein university of Westerville, Ohio; and is still professor of philosophy in that institution. He is the author of Philosophy of the Christian Religion; Transcendentalism; The Unconscious in Education; and other works.

Sanders, Wilbur Fisk, soldier, lawyer, United States senator, was born May 2, 1834, in Leon, N.Y. He was the republican candidate for delegate to congress in 1864, 1867, 1880 and 1886; was delegate to the republican national conventions of 1868, 1872, 1876 and 1884; and was a member of the legislative assembly of Montana in 1872-80. In 1889-93 he was United States senator. He died July 7, 1905, in Helena, Mont.

Sanders, William Price, soldier, was born Aug. 12, 1833, in Lexington, Ky. He engaged in the battles of Yorktown, Williamsburg, Mechanicsville and Hanover Court-House during the Virginia peninsular campaign; and became brigadier-general of volunteers in 1863. He died Nov. 18, 1863, in Knoxville, Tenn.

Sanderson, Austin A., lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 4, 1848, in New York City. In 1891-97 he was judge of the superior court of San Francisco. He is one of the ablest of San Francisco's many judges.

Sanderson, Ezra Dwight, educator, entomologist, author. In 1902-04 he was professor of entomology at the Texas agricultural and mechanical college; in 1904-07 has been professor of zoology at the New Hampshire college; and since 1907 has been a director of the New Hampshire agricultural experimental station. He is state entomologist of Texas. He is the author of Insects Injurious to Staple Crops.

Sanderson, John, educator, author, was born in 1783 in Carlisle, Pa. He was an educator of Philadelphia; and classical professor in the high school in 1836-44. He was the author of The American in Paris; The American in England; and the first two volumes of the Biography of the Signers of the Declaration of Independence. He died April 5, 1844, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Sanderson, John Philip, soldier, author, was born Feb. 13, 1818, in Lebanon county, Pa. In 1861 he became chief clerk of the United States war department; and in 1864 became provost marshal-general of the department of the Missouri. He was the author of Views and Opinions of American Statesmen on Foreign Immigration; and Republican Landmarks. He died Oct. 14, 1864, in St. Louis, Mo.

Sanderson, Joseph, clergyman, author, was born May 23, 1823, in Ireland. He has filled pastorates in Rhode Island, Connecticut and New York. Since 1895 he has been secretary for the church extension committee of the New York presbytery. He is the author of Jesus on the Holy Mount; Manual for Funerals; New York City as a Mission Field; and Man's Seal to God's Word.

Sanderson, Lillian, musician, composer, was born Oct. 13, 1867, in Milwaukee, Wis. In 1890 she made her debut as concert-singer at Berlin, Germany; and since then has made successful tours of the chief cities of Europe. She is the wife of Herr Rummel, and lives in Berlin.

Sanderson, Robert Louis, educator, author, was born July 12, 1851, in France. In 1885-95 he was professor of French at Harvard university; and since 1890 has been professor of French at Yale university. He is the author of Through France and the French Syntax.

Sanderson, Sibyl, musician, composer, was born in 1869, in Sacramento, Cal. In 1889

she very successfully made her debut at the Opera-Comique as a soprano opera singer.

Sanderson, Silas W., lawyer, jurist. In 1834-70 he was chief justice of the supreme court of California. He died June 24, 1886, in San Francisco, Cal.

Sanderson, Thomas Wakefield, soldier, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1861 he was first lieutenant and adjutant in the second regiment Ohio cavalry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He was honorably mustered out in 1865.

Sanford, Edward, lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born Sept. 22, 1809, in Ovid, N. Y. In 1842 he was appointed judge of the criminal court of New York City. He was a member of the New York state senate in 1843. He died Sept. 27, 1854, at sea.

Sanford, Edward Sewall, soldier, was born in New York. In 1862 he was colonel in the New York infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Sept. 9, 1882.

Sanford, Lewis Halsey, lawyer, jurist, author, was born June 8, 1807, in Ovid, N.Y. He removed to New York City in 1833; and in 1843 was chosen assistant vice-chancellor of the first circuit. He became vice-chancellor in 1846; in 1847-52 was associate justice of the superior court of New York. He was the author of Catalogue of the New York Law Institute; New York Chancery Reports; and New York Superior Court Reports. He died July 27, 1852, in Toledo, Ohio.

Sanford, Thomas, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1762 in Westmoreland county, Va. He was a member of the state constitutional convention of 1799; and was several times a member of the Kentucky legislature. In 1803-07 he was a representative from Kentucky to the eighth and ninth congresses. He was drowned Dec. 10, 1808, in the Ohio river.

Sanford, William, lawyer, jurist. In 1705 he was an associate justice of the supreme court of New Jersey.

Sandidge, John M., planter, state legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 7, 1817, in Franklin county, Ga. He served as a member of the legislature of Louisiana in 1846-55; and was speaker in 1854-55. In 1855-59 he was a representative from Louisiana to the thirty-fourth and thirty-fifth congresses. He died in Louisiana.

Sandiford, Ralph, author, was born in 1693 in England. He was the author of A Brief Examination of the Practice of the Times, by the Foregoing and Present Dispensation. He died May 28, 1733, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Sandison, George Henry, journalist, editor, author, was born Jan. 4, 1850, in Aberdeen, Scotland. He was educated in his native city. In 1871-77 he was general manager of the American press association; and during the same time was managing editor of the Times of Albany, N.Y.

In 1877-83 he was city editor, and later became managing editor of the New York Star. In 1886 he became night editor of the New York World; and has been special New York correspondent for various daily papers throughout the United States. Since 1890 he has been managing editor of the Christian Herald, with offices in New York City. In 1881 he successfully conducted a crusade for the reform of the prisoners of New York which resulted in legislation remedying evils in New York and ten other states. He is the author of numerous short stories; and is a contributor to various newspapers and magazines.

Sands, Alexander Hamilton, lawyer, author, was born May 2, 1828, in Williamsburg, Va. He was a lawyer of Richmond, Va.; and entered the baptist ministry a short time before his death. He was the author of History of a Suit in Equity; Recreations of a Southern Barrister; Practical Law Forms; and Sermons by a Village Pastor. He died Dec. 22, 1887, in Richmond, Va.

Sands, Benjamin Franklin, naval officer, was born Feb. 11, 1811, in Baltimore, Md. He entered the navy in 1828; served in the Mexican and civil wars; was commissioned rear-admiral in 1871; and placed on the retired list three years later. He died June 30, 1883, in Washington, D.C.

Sands, Henry Berton, physician, surgeon, author, was born Sept. 27, 1830, in New York City. For many years he was connected with the New York college of physicians and surgeons; and had a high reputation as a successful operating surgeon. He was the author of Esmarch's Bloodless Method; and many other medical works. He died Nov. 18, 1888, in New York City.

Sands, James Hoban, naval officer, was born July 12, 1845, in Washington, D.C. In 1863 he was promoted ensign; in 1880 he was promoted commander; and in 1902 was advanced to the rank of rear-admiral. In 1898-1901 he was governor of the naval home of Philadelphia, Pa.; in 1905-07 was superintendent of the Naval academy; and in 1907 was retired. He died Oct. 27, 1911, in Washington, D.C.

Sands, John Drozier, clergyman, chaplain, was born Feb. 8, 1815, in England. He is an eminent congregational clergyman; and during the civil war was chaplain in the nineteenth regiment Iowa volunteer infantry. He has filled pastorates in Essex, Vt.; and several churches in Iowa. He now fills the pastorate in the congregational church of Belmond, Iowa.

Sands, Joshua, soldier, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born in 1758 in Queens county, N.Y. During the war of 1775 he was a member of the Brooklyn home guards; in 1797 was appointed collector of customs for the port of New York; and was at one time a magistrate in Kings county. He also took an active part in the revolutionary war to its close. He was a member of the New York state senate in 1792-99; and in 1803-05 and 1825-27 he was a representative from New York to the eighth and nineteenth congresses. He died Sept. 13, 1835, in Queens county, N.Y.

Sands, Joshua Ratoon, naval officer, was born May 15, 1795, in Brooklyn, N.Y. In 1812 he became a midshipman; lieutenant in 1818; commander in 1840; captain in 1854; and commodore on the retired list in 1862. He died about 1880.

Sands, Robert Charles, journalist, author, poet, was born May 11, 1799, in Flatbush, L.I. He was the author of Life of Paul Jones; The Talisman; and co-author with Eastburn of the once noted poem Yamoyden. He died in December, 1832, in Hoboken, N.J.

Sandt, George Washington, educator, journalist, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 22, 1854, in Belfast, Pa. He filled pastorates in Catasauqua, Weissport and Wilkesbarre, Pa., and was professor of English in Augustana college of Rock Island, Ill. Since 1907 he has been editor-in-chief of the Lutheran. He is the author of How to Become a Christian; and Ninety-Five Theses for Protestant Church Doors.

Sandys, Edwyn William, editor, author, was born June 9, 1860, in Canada. He is editor of Outing of New York City. He is the author of Upland Game Birds; Trapper Jim; Sportsman Joe; and Sporting Sketches.

Sanford, Albert Hart, educator, author, was born June 21, 1866, in Platteville, Wis. Since 1886, with the exception of four years spent in the university of Wisconsin and Harvard university, he has been engaged in teaching; and is now instructor in history and civics at the state normal school at Stevens Point, Wis. In 1901-02 he was president of the North central history teachers' association. He is the joint author of Government in State and Nation; Our Government and American History, a textbook for high schools.

Sanford, Charles W., lawyer, was born May 5, 1796, in Newark, N.J. In 1867 he was retired by Governor Reuben E. Fenton, after being at the head of the military organization in New York City for more than thirty years. On him devolved the responsibility of directing the troops that were called out to suppress the Astor place, Flour, Street-preachers', and Draft riots. He was in command at Harper's Ferry during the battle of Bull Run. He died July 25, 1878, in Newark, N.J.

Sanford, Daniel Sammis, educator, founder, was born April 10, 1859, in Redding Ridge, Conn. In 1891-1905 he was head master of the high school of Brookline, Mass. In 1905 he founded the Stanford school of Redding Ridge, Conn.

Sanford, David, clergyman, chaplain, was born Dec. 11, 1737, in Milford, Conn. He was pastor of the Congregational church at Medway. He served as a chaplain in the revolutionary army. He died April 7, 1810, in Medford, Mass.

Sanford, Edmund Clark, educator, psychologist, author, was born Nov. 10, 1859, in Oakland, Cal. He is professor of experimental and comparative psychology in Clark university of Massachusetts. He is the author of A Course in Experimental Psychology.

Sanford, Edward, journalist, state senator, poet, was born July 8, 1805, in Albany, N.Y. In 1838 he was made assistant naval officer at the port of New York; and also held the office of secretary to the commission to restore the duties on goods that had been destroyed by the great fire of 1835. In 1843 he was elected to the state senate. He was the author of a poetical address to Black Hawk; and The Loves of the Shell-Fishes. He died Aug. 28, 1876, in Gowanda, N.Y.

Sanford, Elias Benjamin, clergyman, author, was born June 6, 1843, in Westbrook, Conn. In 1869-94 he filled pastorates in congregational churches of Cornwall, Thomaston and Westbrook, Conn. In 1900 he organized; and has since been general secretary of the National federation of churches and christian workers. He is the author of History of Connecticut.

Sanford, Ezekiel, litterateur, author, was born in 1796 in Ridgefield, Conn. He was the author of A History of the United States before the Revolution; and a novel entitled The Humors on Utopia. He died in 1822 in Columbia, S.C.

Sanford, Fernando, educator, author, was born Feb. 12, 1854, in Taylor, Ill. Since 1891 he has been professor of physics in Stanford university of California. He is the author of Variation of Resistance of Copper Wires in Various Dielectrics; Experiments in Electric Photography; An Acoustic Pyrometer; Rain Making; and other works.

Sanford, Henry C., lawyer, legislator, was born Sept. 11, 1833, in Maine. He received a thorough education; read law; and in 1870 was admitted to practice that profession. He soon attained eminence as a practicing attorney of Akron, Ohio, and is well known throughout the state. This prominent lawyer has been prosecuting attorney of his city and county; and for two terms has served as a member of the Ohio state legislature and served on various committees.

Sanford, Frank Goodwin, educator, artist, author, was born March 3, 1874, in Medford, Mass. Since 1903 he has been a teacher of training and manual arts at the Allendale farm school for boys at Lake Villa, Ill. He is the author of Arts and Crafts for Beginners.

Sanford, Heman Howes, educator, genealogist, was born Sept. 29, 1829, in Madison, N.Y. For many years he was a classical teacher in Cortland academy of Homer, N.Y.; became professor of Latin in Syracuse university in 1872; and of Latin and English literature in the university of Chicago in 1878. He now resides in Syracuse, N.Y. He is the author of Genealogies of the John Howes and the William Sanford Families.

Sanford, Henry R., educator, author, was born in 1837. In 1869 he became a teacher of science in the Fredonia normal school; and in 1874 was superintendent of schools at Middletown. He has been an institute instructor in several states; and in 1875 was president of the New York state teachers' association. He is the author of The World Method in Number; and A Limited Speller.

Sanford, Henry Shelton, diplomat, founder, was born June 15, 1823, in Woodbury, Conn. In 1849-54 he was secretary of the United States legation in Paris; and in 1861-69 he was United States minister to Belgium. He died May 21, 1891, in Healing Springs, Va.

Sanford, James T., agriculturist, congressman, philanthropist, was born in Virginia. In 1823-25 he was a representative from Tennessee to the eighteenth congress. Having acquired a large property in the pursuits of agriculture, he appropriated a part of his wealth to the establishment of Jackson college. He died about 1880 in Tennessee.

Sanford, John, colonist, public official, was born about 1600 in England. In 1653 he was chosen president of Portsmouth and Newport; and took an active part in the war with the Dutch. He was attorney-general and recording secretary of the state of Rhode Island. He died about 1670 in Rhode Island.

Sanford, John, manufacturer, congressman, was born Jan. 18, 1851, in Amsterdam, N.Y. In 1872 he graduated from Yale university. In 1889-93 he was a representative from New York to the fifty-first and fifty-second congresses as a republican. After his retirement from congress he was engaged in the manufacture of carpets at Amsterdam, N.Y.

Sanford, John, state senator, congressman, was born in New York. In 1841-43 he was a representative to the twenty-seventh congress; and was a member of the New York state senate in 1851. He died Oct. 7, 1857, in Amsterdam, N.Y.

Sanford, Jonah, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1789 in Cornwall, Vt. In 1829-30 he represented his county in the New York state legislature; and was a representative to the twenty-first congress to fill a vacancy in 1830-31. He was one of the associate judges of the court of common pleas. He died Dec. 23, 1867, in Hopkinton, N.Y.

Sanford, Laura G., litterateur, author. She is the author of a History of Erie county, Pennsylvania.

Sanford, Maria L., educator, lecturer, was born Dec. 19, 1836, in Saybrook, Conn. In 1855 she graduated from the state normal school of New Britain, Conn. In 1852 she began educational work. In 1870-79 she was professor of history at Swarthmore college of Pennsylvania; and since 1880 has been professor of rhetoric and elocution in the university of Minnesota. She is a successful lecturer upon literature and history of art; and occasionally contributes articles on these subjects to the periodical press.

Sanford, Moon Green, lawyer, jurist, author, was born May 30, 1807, in Grafton, N.Y. In 1837 he began the practice of law in Owosso, Mich.; and in 1843-46 he was a member of the Michigan state senate. In 1848-57 he was an associate justice of the state supreme court of Michigan; and subsequently was for many years circuit judge for the Bay City district. He revised the statute laws of Michigan. He was the author of Crime, Its Nature, Cause, Treatment and Prevention. He died Aug. 13, 1901, in Bay City, Mich.

Sanford, Nathan, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born Nov. 5, 1777, in Bridgehampton, L.I. He was United States commissioner of bankruptcy for New York in 1802; and was United States district attorney for New York in 1803-16. He was speaker of the state assembly in 1811; and was afterward state senator. In 1815-21 and 1825-31 he was United States senator. He was chancellor of New York in 1823-25. He died Oct. 17, 1838, in Flushing, N.Y.

Sanford, Stephen, manufacturer, congressman, was born May 26, 1826, in Mayfield, N.Y. He was educated in the public schools; at the academy of Amsterdam, N.Y.; at the Georgetown college of the District of Columbia; and for two years was a student at West Point. In 1884 he entered the carpet manufacturing business, now one of the largest establishments of its kind in the country. He founded the Amsterdam reservoir company, by which a thousand acres of land have been flooded by the waters of the Chuctanunda creek, supplying water power for its own and other manufactories. He is president of the Amsterdam reservoir company; president of the Amsterdam national bank; president of the Chuctanunda gas light company; and president of the Greenhill cemetery association. He is an agriculturist and a breeder of horses and cattle. In 1869-71 he was a representative from New York to the forty-first congress as a republican. He founded a home for elderly women of Montgomery county; and presented it to the city of Amsterdam, N.Y. He also built the Children's home; and has been a large contributor to the hospitals and churches of his community.

Sanford, Peleg, colonial governor. In 1680-83 he was colonial governor of Rhode Island.

Sanford, Thaddens, journalist, banker, was born in 1791 in Connecticut. In 1828 he became the editor and proprietor of the Mobile Register. He continued to conduct that journal, with the exception of the period between 1837 and 1841, for twenty-six years. In 1833 he was elected president of the bank of Mobile; and in 1853 he was appointed collector of the port. He died April 30, 1867, in Mobile, Ala.

Sanger, George Partridge, lawyer, journalist, author, was born Nov. 27, 1819, in Dover, Mass. He was for many years the editor of The American Almanac; and also edited the Boston Law Reporter. He edited, with George Minot, the United States Statutes at Large, Treaties, Proclamations, etc.; and in 1862-63, with John G. Locke, revised and consolidated the city ordinances of Boston, and collated the state municipal laws. He died July 3, 1890, in Swampscott, Mass.

Sanger, Joseph Prentice, soldier, inspector-general, was born May 4, 1840, in Detroit, Mich. He served through the civil war; and was twice brevetted for gallantry. In 1895-98 he was principal assistant to the inspector-general of the army; and in 1901 became inspector-general. In 1899 he served in the Spanish-American war as brigadier-general in the United States volunteers.

Sanger, William Cary, soldier, author, was born May 21, 1853, in Brooklyn, N.Y. He was lieutenant-colonel of the two hundred and third regiment in the volunteer service of the United States in the Spanish-American war. In 1901-03 he was assistant secretary of war. He is the author of Sea Coast Defenses and the Organization of Sea Coast Artillery Forces; and Organization and Training of a National Reserve.

Sanger, William Wallace, physician, author, was born Aug. 10, 1819, in Hartford, Conn. He was assistant at Bellevue hospital, and subsequently was the first resident physician at Blackwell's island. During this seven years' tenure of that office he made an investigation of the "social evil," the results of which he embodied in a work characterized by laborious research and comprehensiveness. He was the author of the History of Prostitution. He died May 8, 1872, in New York City.

Sangster, Mrs. Margaret Elizabeth, journalist, author, poet, was born Feb. 22, 1838, in New Rochelle, N.Y. She has been editor of Harper's Bazar since 1889. Her poetical writings comprise, On the Road Home; Easter Bells; Poems of the Household; Home Fairies and Heart Flowers. She is also the author of a Manual of Missions of the Reformed Church; Hours with Girls; Home and Heaven; Splendid Times; Five Happy Weeks; May Stanhope and Her Friend; Miss Dewbury's School; Little Knights and Ladies; Maidie's Problems; and The Joyful Life.

Sankey, Ira Allan, publisher, author, was born Aug. 30, 1874, in Scotland. He is a son of Ira D. Sankey, the evangelist. In 1897 he graduated from the Princeton university; and took special studies in civil engineering and architecture. Since 1898 he has been in the music publishing business; and is president of Biglow and Main company in New York City. He is the author of The Male Quartet; and Hallowed Hymns, New and Old; and is a composer of sacred songs, including the famous Never Give Up.

Sankey, Ira David, evangelist, vocalist, author, was born Aug. 28, 1840, in Edinburgh, Pa. He was a musical evangelist; and co-laborer of Dwight L. Moody for twenty-eight years. He was the author of several popular sacred songs, including The Ninety and Nine; and When the Mists Have Rolled Away; and is one of the compilers of the book entitled Gospel Hymns. He died Aug. 13, 1908, in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Sanno, James Madison Johnston, soldier, was born Dec. 10, 1840, in New Hampton, N.J. In 1858 he was assistant sergeant-at-arms in the New Jersey state senate. In 1863 he graduated from West Point military academy. He served in the civil war as first lieutenant; and became colonel in 1899. In 1903 he was retired as brigadier-general of the United States army. He died in 1907.

Santayana, George, educator, author, poet, was born Dec. 16, 1863, in Spain. He is an assistant professor in philosophy at Harvard university. He is the author of Sonnets and Other Poems; The Sense of Beauty; being the Outlines of Aesthetic Theory; Lucifer, a Theological Tragedy; Interpretations of Poetry and Religion; and The Life of Reason.

Santelmann, William Henry, musician, director, was born Sept. 24, 1863, in Hanover, Germany. He graduated from the Leipzig conservatory of music in practical and theoretical music. In Leipzig he was a member of a symphony orchestra; and a member of the infantry regiment band. In 1887-95 he was a member of the United States marine band; and in 1895-98 was leader of the orchestra at Columbia theater of Washington, D.C. In 1898 he was appointed leader of the band in the United States marine corps.

Santee, Ellis Monroe, physician, surgeon, author, was born Aug. 13, 1863, in Hughesville, Pa. In 1900-08 he was health commissioner of Cortland, N.Y.; has been coroner of Cortland county; and is a lecturer on sanitation for the New York state agricultural department. He served seven years in the New York national guard, ending as commanding officer of the forty-fifth company; and is now a supernumerary officer. He is the author of Repertory of Convolutions; and Santee Genealogy.

Sapp, Oscar, lawyer, college president, was born May 5, 1860, in Kernersville, N.C. He has been mayor of his native town; and in 1891-92 was president of the Enfield collegiate institute.

Sapp, William Fletcher, soldier, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 20, 1824, in Danville, Ohio. In 1861 he was appointed adjutant-general of Nebraska territory; and subsequently elected to the territorial legislature. He served in the union army as lieutenant-colonel. He moved to Iowa; and was a state representative in 1865. He was United States district attorney in 1869-73. In 1877-81 he was a representative from Iowa to the forty-fifth and forty-sixth congresses as a republican. He died Nov. 3, 1890, in Council Bluffs, Iowa.

Sapp, William R., congressman, was born in Ohio. In 1853-57 he was a representative from Ohio to the thirty-third and thirty-fourth congresses. He died in Ohio.

Sargeant, Nathaniel Peaslee, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 2, 1731, in Methuen, Mass. He was a delegate to the provincial congress in 1775, and was a representative in the Massachusetts legislature in 1776. He was judge of the supreme court of the state; and became chief justice in 1789. He died Oct. 12, 1791, in Haverhill, Mass.

Sargent, Charles Sprague, journalist, botanist, educator, author, was born April 24, 1841, in Boston, Mass. Since 1879 he has been Arnold professor of arboriculture at Harvard university; and editor of Garden and Forest since 1888. He is the author of The Silva of North America; Report on the Forests of North America; The Woods bank of Northwood, N.D.; vice-president of the Northwestern trust company of Grand Forks, N.D.; and secretary and treasurer of the Valley lumber company of Hillsboro, N.D.

Sartain, Emily, painter, artist, was born March 17, 1841, in Philadelphia, Pa. She is the principal of the Philadelphia school of design for women. She gained a medal in 1876 at the Centennial exhibition for her painting entitled Reproof; and has won a number of prizes.

Sartain, John, engraver, artist, was born Oct. 24, 1808, in London, England. In 1830 he brought the art of mezzo tinting to the United States. He edited and published Campbell's Foreign Semi-Monthly and Sartain's Magazine in New York City; and attained national reputation as a successful engraver. His most noted plates are Christ Rejected; The Ironworker and King Solomon; Civil War in Missouri; Home- stead of Henry Clay; and The Battle of Gettysburg. For sixty-seven years he lived in Philadelphia; was director of the Academy of fine arts for twenty-three years; was chief of the bureau of art at the Centennial exposition; and received thirty decorations and medals. His children inherit their father's genius: Samuel is an engraver of portraits; William is a New York painter and president of the Art club of that city, and his daughter Emily is an artist etcher, engraver and art critic of note, and was a member of the international jury of awards of the World's Columbian exposition at Chicago. He died Oct. 25, 1897, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Sartain, Samuel, designer, engraver, was born Oct. 8, 1830, in Philadelphia, Pa. His prints include Clear the Track; Christ Blessing Little Children; One of the Chosen; Christ Stilling the Tempest; The Song of the Angels; Evangeline; and various portraits after Thomas Sully, John Neagle, and others. He died in 1906 in Philadelphia, Pa.

Sartain, William, educator, artist, was born Nov. 21, 1843, in Philadelphia, Pa. He became an associate in the National academy of design. He has been professor in various art institutes; and received a silver medal from Boston and from the Pennsylvania academy of fine arts. His pictures have a place in public art galleries, the principal of which are The Young Musician; A Sweet Woman; and Solitude.

Sartori, Louis Constant, naval officer, was born June 13, 1812, in Bloomsbury, N.J. In 1829 he entered the navy as mid-shipman; served during the Mexican war; and in 1861-66 was in the blockading service during the civil war. In 1873 he was promoted to the rank of commodore. He died in 1899 in Philadelphia, Pa.

Sartorius, John, merchant, state senator, was born in 1863 in St. Louis, Mo. He was educated in the public and private schools of St. Louis, Mo.; and is a successful grocer of that city. He has been deputy sheriff; for eight years was a member of the democratic city central committee; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. He is a member of the Missouri state senate for the thirtieth district for the term of 1903-07.

Sartwell, Henry Parker, physician, botanist, author, was born April 1, 1792, in Pittsfield, Mass. From 1840 he devoted his attention to the genus Carex. His herbarium of more than eight thousand specimens is in Hamilton college. He was the author of Carices Americanae Exsiccatae. He died Nov. 15, 1867, in Penn Yan, N.Y.

Sasnett, William Jacob, clergyman, educator, was born April 29, 1820, in Hancock, Ga. In 1849-57 he was professor of English in Emory college of Georgia; president of Lagrange female college in 1858; and in 1859 became principal of East Alabama college in Auburn. He died Nov. 3, 1865, in Montgomery, Ala.

Sass, George Herbert, author, poet, was born Dec. 24, 1845, in Charleston, S.C. He contributes verses to the leading periodicals; and for many years was literary editor of Sunday News and Courier of Charleston, S.C. He is master in equity of Charleston county, S.C. He is the author of The Heart's Quest, poems.

Sater, John Elbert, lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 16, 1854, in Hamilton county, Ohio. For two years he was president of the board of education of Columbus, Ohio; and since 1907 has been judge of the United States district court for the southern district of Ohio.

Satolli, Francis, clergyman, cardinal, was born July 21, 1831, in Italy. In 1893-96 he was apostolic delegate to United States with plenary powers.

Satterfield, David Junkin, clergyman, educator, college president, was born Oct. 16, 1844, in Pulaski, Pa. He received his education in the Princeton college of New Jersey and the Western theological seminary of Allegheny, Pa. During 1873-85 he was pastor of the presbyterian church of Beaver, Pa.; and since 1886 has been president of the Scotia seminary of Concord, N.C.

Satterlee, Francis Le Roy, physician, author, was born June 15, 1847, in New York City. He was educated in the New York university and university medical college. For many years he was lecturer on physiology and hygiene in University medical college; and since 1869 has been professor of chemistry, materia medica and therapeutics in the New York college of Dentistry, and is the author of The Treatment of Erysipelas; and a Treatise on Gout and Rheumatism.

Satterlee, George Reese, physician, author, was born Nov. 3, 1873, in Dobbs Ferry, N.Y. Since 1907 he has been pathologist to the Gouverneur and Washington Heights hospitals of New York City. He is the author of Outlines of Human Embryology.

Satterlee, Henry Yates, bishop, author, was born Jan. 11, 1843, in New York City. In 1887 he was elected bishop coadjutor of Ohio; and in 1889 bishop of Michigan. He is the first protestant episcopal bishop of Washington, D.C. He is the author of A Creedless Gospel and the Gospel Creed; Christ and His Church; and Life Lessons From the Prayer Book. He died Feb. 22, 1908, in Washington, D.C.

Satterlee, Herbert Livingston, lawyer, author, was born Oct. 31, 1863, in New York City. He is president of the naval reserve association. He is the author of Political History of the Province of New York.

Satterlee, Livingston, soldier. He served throughout the civil war and attained the rank of brigadier-general. He died April 3, 1902, in New York City.

Satterlee, Richard Sherwood, soldier, surgeon, was born Dec. 6, 1798, in Fairfield, N.Y. He was United States medical purveyor in 1853-65; and in 1864 was brevetted lieutenant-colonel, colonel, and brigadier-general. He became lieutenant colonel and chief medical purveyor in 1866; and was retired in 1869. He died Nov. 10, 1880, in New York City.

Satterlee, Richard Smith, soldier, was born in New York. In 1862-65 he served in the civil war; and in 1875 was brevetted brigadier-general. He died Nov. 10, 1880.

Satterlee, Walter, painter, artist, was born Jan. 18, 1844, in Brooklyn, N.Y. He became an associate in the national academy of design. In 1886 he gained the Clarke prize at the academy. Among his works are the oil paintings Contemplation, in Smith college, Northampton, Mass.; Extremes Meet, and The Convent Composer; Autumn; Good-bye Summer; and Fortune by Tea Leaves. His pencil has been frequently employed in book illustration; and he is also well known as a teacher.

Satterthwaite, Thomas Edward, physician, surgeon, author, was born March 26, 1843, in New York City. He filled the chair of surgery in the college of physicians and surgeons of New York City. He is the author of A Manual of Histology; Practical Bacteriology; and Diseases of the Heart and Aorta.

Sattler, Eric Ericson, physician, author, was born Nov. 4, 1859, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He limits his practice to diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat; and was one of the earliest practicing physicians of Cincinnati, Ohio. He is the author of History of Tuberculosis.

Sauerhering, Edward, pharmacist, congressman, was born June 24, 1864, in Mayville, Wis. In 1895-99 he was a representative from Wisconsin to the fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses as a republican.

Saul, George W., railroad president, was born Oct. 16, 1858, in Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1889-92 he was president of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad; and he has also been president of various other railroad corporations at Cleveland, Ohio.

Saulsbury, Gove, governor, was born in Delaware. In 1865-71 he was the twenty-fifth governor of Delaware.

Saulsbury, Willard, lawyer, United States senator, was born June 2, 1820, in Kent county, Del. He was educated at the academy in Denton, Md., and at the Delaware and Dickson colleges. He completed his legal studies at Dover, Del. and began the practice of law at Georgetown, Del. In 1850 he was appointed attorney-general of Delaware, holding the office five years. In 1859 he was elected a senator in congress for the term ending in 1865; and was re-elected to the senate for the term ending in 1871. In 1873 he was appointed chancellor of the state of Delaware. He died April 6, 1892, in Dover, Del.

Saulsbury, Eli, lawyer, legislator, United States senator, was born Dec. 29, 1817, in Kent county, Del. He was a member of the state legislature of Delaware in 1853-54; and in 1871-80 he was United States senator. He died March 22, 1893, in Dover, Del.

Saulsbury, Willard, statesman, lawyer, financier, was born in Delaware, April 17, 1861. He attended the university of Virginia. He consolidated all Wilmington, Del., street railways and electric light companies; and organized the Equitable guarantee and trust Co., of which he is a director. Since 1913 he has been United States senator from Delaware.

Saunders, Alvin, merchant, banker, governor, United States senator, was born July 12, 1817, in Fleming county, Ky. For seven years he was postmaster at Mount Pleasant, Iowa. He was a state senator for eight years, and was one of the commissioners appointed by congress to organize the Pacific railroad company. He was governor of territory of Nebraska in 1864-67; and in 1877-83 he was a United States senator from Nebraska. He died Nov. 1, 1899, in Omaha, Neb.

Saunders, Charles G., lawyer, chancellor, was born Oct. 3, 1847, in Lawrence, Mass.

He is president of the Harvard musical association; chancellor of St. Paul's cathedral of Boston; and president of Harvard club at Lawrence. He has attained prominence at the bar; and has filled important positions in the protestant episcopal church in Massachusetts.

Saunders, Edward Watts, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Oct. 25, in 1860, in Franklin county, Va. He was educated in the Bellevue classical school of Bedford county, Va.; and in 1882 received the degree of LL.B. from the law department of the university of Virginia. In 1882 he was admitted to the practice of law. In 1887-1901 he was a member; and in 1899-1901 was speaker of the house of the Virginia legislature. In 1901-06 he was judge of the circuit court. In 1906 he was elected to the fifty-ninth congress to fill a vacancy; and in 1907-15 was a representative from Virginia to the sixtieth, sixty-first, sixty-second and sixty-third congresses as a democrat.

Saunders, Ephraim Dod, clergyman, philanthropist, was born Sept. 30, 1808, in Brookside, N.J. In 1871 he gave the buildings and grounds valued at one hundred thousand dollars to found, as a memorial of his son Courtland, the Presbyterian hospital, towards whose endowment he raised one hundred thousand dollars more by his personal efforts. He died Sept. 13, 1872, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Saunders, Eugene Davis, lawyer, jurist, author, was born July 25, 1853, in Campbell county, Va. He has been professor of common law and equity at the Tulane university; and practices law in New Orleans, La. Since 1907 he has been judge of the United States district court for the eastern district of Louisiana. He is the author of Saunders on Taxation; Saunders' Edition Civil Code of Louisiana; and Notarial and Judicial Forms.

Saunders, Frederick, librarian, author, was born Aug. 14, 1807, in England. He was the librarian of the Astor library of New York City in 1876-96. He was the author of New York in a Nut-Shell; Salad for the Solitary and Salad for the Social; Memoirs of the Great Metropolis; The Story of Some Famous Books; Story of the Discovery of the New World by Columbus; Pastime Papers; Stray Leaves of Literature; and Character Studies. He died in 1902, in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Saunders, Margaret Marshall, litterateur, author, was born in 1861 in Canada. She is the author of Beautiful Joe, for which she received a prize of two hundred dollars from the American humane educational society. Her other works are: The King of the Park; For His Country; For the Other Boy's Sake, and Other Stories; Nita; Princeas Sukey; and Alpatok, the Story of an Eskimo Dog.

Saunders, Ripley Dunlap, journalist, author, was born Dec. 17, 1856, in Ripley, Miss. Since 1903 he has been on the editorial staff of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. He is the author of John Kenadie.

Saunders, Robert, educator, college president, was born Jan. 25, 1805, in Williamsburg, Va. He was fourteenth president of the William and Mary college; and president of the York river railroad. He died Sept. 11, 1868, in Virginia.

Saunders, Romulus Mitchell, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, diplomat, congressman, was born March 3, 1791, in Caswell county, N.C. In 1821-27 and 1841-45 he was a representative from North Carolina to the seventeenth, eighteenth, nineteenth, twenty-seventh and twenty-eighth congresses. In 1828 he was attorney-general of the state. In 1835 he was elected a judge of the state supreme court; and in 1846-50 was minister to Spain. On his return was again elected to the legislature of North Carolina; and afterward devoted much attention to the railroad improvements of the state. He died April 21, 1867, in Raleigh, N.C.

Saunders, William Laurence, author, was born July 30, 1835, in Raleigh, N.C. He was the author of Colonial Records of North Carolina. He died April 2, 1891, in Raleigh, N.C.

Savage, Albert R., lawyer, state senator, jurist, was born Dec. 8, 1847, in Ryegate, Vt. He was educated at Lancaster, N.H.; and in 1871 graduated from Dartmouth college. In 1881-85 he was county attorney of Androscoggin county, Maine; and in 1885-89 was judge of probate for that county. In 1889-91 he was mayor of Auburn, Maine. In 1891-93 he was a member of the Maine state legislature; the latter year was speaker of the house; and in 1895-97 he was a member of the Maine state senate. Since 1897 he has been associate justice of the supreme judicial court of Maine.

Savage, Edward, painter, artist, was born Nov. 26, 1761, in Princeton, Mass. He produced the well known Family Group at Mount Vernon. This was for a long time exhibited in the museum that Savage established in New York; and is now in the Boston museum. His portraits of Washington and Henry Knox were frequently engraved by the artist himself and by others. He died July 6, 1817, in Princeton, Mass.

Savage, Edward Hartwell, lawyer, jurist, author, was born May 18, 1812, in Alstead, N.H. He was a Boston policeman and justice of the peace. He is author of Boston Police Recollections; and Five Thousand Boston Events, 1630-1880.

Savage, Ezra Perin, soldier, lawyer, governor, was born in 1842 in Connorsville, Ind. He lived in Iowa until 1879. He served in the civil war as a soldier and scout.

He was the first mayor of Omaha, Neb. In 1883 he laid out the town of Sargent, Neb.; and served as a member of the Nebraska state legislature. In 1901-03 he was governor of Nebraska. He is now engaged in the lumber business at Eatonville, Wash.

Savage, George Martin, clergyman, educator, college president, was born Feb. 5, 1849, in Tishomingo county, Miss. In 1890-1904 and 1906-07 he was president of the Southwestern baptist university of Jackson, Tenn.; and for thirty years has been pastor of various baptist churches.

Savage, James, lawyer, genealogist, author, was born July 13, 1784, in Boston, Mass. He is best known as the author of a Genealogical Dictionary of the First Settlers of New England, upon which he expended twenty years of labor. He died March 8, 1873, in Boston, Mass.

Savage, James Woodruff, soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born Feb. 2, 1826, in Bedford, N.H. In 1861 he was commissioned captain in the regular army and assigned as aide-de-camp to the staff of General Fremont. He was subsequently promoted to major, lieutenant-colonel, and became colonel of the twelfth New York volunteer cavalry. In 1867 he moved to Omaha, Neb.; and in 1875-83 was judge of the third judicial district. In 1885 he was appointed a government director of the Union Pacific railway company.

Savage, John, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1779 in New York. He was a member of the New York assembly in 1814; and in 1815-19 he was a representative from New York to the fourteenth and fifteenth congresses. He subsequently held the positions of district attorney, comptroller of the state, chief justice of the supreme court of New York, and treasurer of the United States for New York. He was a presidential elector in 1845. He died Oct. 19, 1863, in Utica, N.Y.

Savage, John, journalist, author, poet, was born Dec. 13, 1828, in Ireland. He was a journalist of New York City; and subsequently of Washington. He was the author of Poems; Picturesque Ireland; Lays of the Folkstead; Modern Revolutionary History of Ireland; Our Living Representative Men; Life of Andrew Johnson; Fenian Heroes and Martyrs; Sibyl, a tragedy; and several other plays. He died Dec. 13, 1828, in Dublin, Ireland.

Savage, John Houston, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 9, 1815, in McMinnville, Tenn. He was promoted to lieutenant-colonel in the Mexican war. He was attorney-general of the fourth district of Tennessee in 1841-47. In 1849-53 and 1855-59 he was a representative to the thirty-first, thirty-second, thirty-fourth and thirty-fifth congresses. In 1861-63 he commanded the sixteenth Tennessee infantry. He was subsequently elected several times to the state legislature of Tennessee.

Savage, Minot Judson, clergyman, author, poet, was born June 10, 1841, in Norridgewock, Maine. He has been a congregational missionary in California; has been pastor of the several prominent churches; and in 1874-96 was pastor of the church of the Unity of Boston, Mass. He is the author of Christianity the Science of Mankind; Beliefs About Man; Belief in God; Life Questions; Poems; The Religion of Evolution; The Religion of Morals; Talks About Jesus; The Modern Sphinx; Man, Woman and Child; Social Problems; My Creed; Religious Reconstruction; Signs of the Times; Helps for Daily Living; Four Great Questions Concerning God; The Evolution of Christianity; Is This a Good World?; Jesus and Modern Life; A Man; Light on the Cloud; Bluffton, a novel; The Minister's Handbook; and Life's Dark Problems.

Savage, John Simpson, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 30, 1841, in Clermont county, Ohio. In 1875-77 he was a representative from Ohio to the forty-fourth congress.

Savage, Philip Henry, author, poet, was born in 1868 in Massachusetts. He was the author of First Poems and Fragments; and a second volume of Poems. He died in 1899 in Boston, Mass.

Savage, Richard Henry, soldier, lawyer, diplomat, author, poet, was born June 12, 1846, in Utica, N.Y. He was the author of My Official Wife; For Life and Love; A Daughter of Judas; The Anarchist; Delilah of Harlem; In the Old Chateau; The Little Judge of Lagunitas; The Masked Venus; The Flying Halcyon; Miss Devereux of the Mariquita; and After Many Years, and Other Poems. He died Oct. 11, 1903, in New York City.

Savidge, Eugene Coleman, physician, author, was born Oct. 21, 1863, in Maryland. He is gynecologist on the staff of the Roosevelt hospital of New York City. He is the author of Wallingford; Gallery of Eminent Men; The American in Paris; and The Life and Times of Brewster.

Savidge, Frank Raymond, lawyer, author, was born May 22, 1866, in Hancock, Md. He is solicitor of numerous corporations, municipal and others, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Law of Boroughs in Pennsylvania; and Corporations in Pennsylvania.

Savitz, Jerohn Joseph, educator, was born Jan. 1, 1866, in Easton, Pa. He attended the Kutztown normal school, Fayette college for three years, and took a course at the Illinois wesleyan university, and at Wooster, Ohio. Since 1882 he has been engaged in educational work, and for the past seven years has been supervising principal of schools of Slatington, Pa. He received the degree of A.M. from Ursinus university in 1893.

Savory, George Washington, clergyman, lecturer, author, was born March 29, 1856, in Warner, N.H. Since 1893 he has been engaged in lecturing and evangelistic work with the stereopticon. He is the author of Marriage, its Science, and Ethics, or Love's Consummation.

Sawin, Theophilus Parsons, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 14, 1841, in Lynn, Mass. In 1888-1906 he was pastor of the first presbyterian church of Troy, N.Y. He was the author of The Transfiguring of the Cross; and Liberty in the Presbyterian Church. He died Nov. 13, 1906, in Troy, N.Y.

Sawtelle, Charles Greene, soldier, was born May 10, 1834, in Norridgewock, Maine. In 1864 he was in charge of steam transportation in the department of the gulf; and was chief quartermaster in the military division of west Mississippi in 1864-65. He was quartermaster-general in Washington; and retired in 1897 with the rank of brigadier-general.

Sawtelle, Cullen, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born in Norridgewock, Maine. He served eight years as register of probate; and was a state senator in 1843-44. In 1845-47 and 1849-51 he was a representative from Maine to the twenty-ninth and thirty-first congresses. He died in Maine.

Sawtelle, Henry Allen, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 11, 1832, in Sidney, Maine. He was a baptist clergyman of San Francisco and elsewhere. He was the author of Open Communion; and Things to Think Of. He died Nov. 22, 1885, in Waterville, Maine.

Sawtelle, Lelia Robinson, lawyer, author, was born July 23, 1850, in Boston, Mass. She was the author of Law Made Easy; and The Law of Husband and Wife. She died Aug. 10, 1891, in Boston, Mass.

Sawyer, Andrew J., educator, lawyer, statesman, was born Nov. 18, 1834, in Caroline, N.Y. He received an academical education; and for seven years was engaged in educational work. He removed to Michigan in 1857; was admitted to the bar in 1860; and since that time has been engaged in the practice of his profession at Ann Arbor. He was a representative of the Michigan state legislature in 1877-79; served a second term in 1897-98; and was a member on several important committees. He still practices law in Ann Arbor, Mich.

Sawyer, Mrs. Caroline Mehetabel, litterateur, author, was born Dec. 8, 1812, in Newton, Mass. For many years she was editor of The Ladies' Repository. She was the author of The Poetry of Hebrew Tradition. She died May 19, 1894, in Cottage Hill, Mass.

Sawyer, Charles Henry, manufacturer, legislator, governor, was born March 30, 1840, in Watertown, N.Y. He was a woolen manufacturer of Dover, N.H. In 1869-70 and 1876-77 he was a member of the New Hampshire state legislature. In 1884 he was a delegate to the national republican convention. In 1887-89 he was governor of New Hampshire. He died in 1908 in Dover, N.H.

Sawyer, Claude Epaminondas, soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born Aug. 24, 1851, at Sawyers Mills, S.C. For four years he served as a member of the South Carolina legislature; was presidential elector in 1888; and has filled various other public positions of honor. He was a member of this historic Wallace house in 1876, and took a prominent part in behalf of peace in quelling the riots of 1876. He was subsequently a colonel on Wade Hampton's staff, and on the staffs of several succeeding governors. While a member of the legislature he took an important part in the deliberations of that body. For many years he was official reporter and state's attorney of the second judicial circuit; is the editor of a monthly magazine; grandmaster of masons, two terms; captain in the Spanish-American war in the first South Carolina regiment; and captain of the thirty-eighth infantry United States volunteers in the Philippines. In 1901 resumed his practice of law at Aiken, S.C. In 1904 he was a member of the National democratic convention. He is one of the leaders in the prohibition campaign.

Sawyer, Edward, civil engineer, was born June 24, 1828, in Warner, N.H. In 1849 he was head draughtsman of the Amoskeag machine shop; and in 1851 became engaged as surveyor of railroads.

Sawyer, Elbert H., soldier, clergyman, educator, college president, author, was born Dec. 18, 1843, in Milford, Mich. He received his education in the public schools, Fenton seminary, Kalamazoo college, the La Grange college of Missouri, and the Theological seminary of Chicago. For a quarter of a century he has been a clergyman; for ten years a college professor and president; for four years was president of the Baptist convention of Colorado; in 1889 was president of the baptist ministers' conference at St. Louis; and now resides in Kirkwood, Mo. During the civil war he served as a private soldier in the eighth regiment Michigan volunteer infantry; was wounded by shell in his right hand at Antietam; and was conspicuous in the charge of the slope and in protecting regimental colors.

Sawyer, Franklin, soldier, was born in Ohio. In 1861 he was captain in the eighth regiment Ohio infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Aug. 22, 1892.

Sawyer, Frederick Adolphus, educator, United States senator, was born Dec. 12, 1822, in Boston, Mass. In 1859 he went to Charleston, S.C.; and had charge of the normal school there until 1861. In 1867-73 he was United States senator from South Carolina; and was subsequently appointed assistant secretary of the treasury. He died July 31, 1891, in Sewanee, Tenn.

Sawyer, Frederick William, lawyer, author, was born April 22, 1810, in Saco, Maine. In 1838 he moved to Boston, Mass.; began to practice law in 1840; and established the Pawner's bank. He was the author of Merchant's and Shipmaster's Guide; Plea for Amusements; and Hits at American Whims. He died in 1875 in Boston, Mass.

Sawyer, H. B., governor. In 1837-39 he was the thirty-ninth governor of New Hampshire.

Sawyer, Horace Bucklin, naval officer, was born Feb. 22, 1797, in Burlington, Vt. In 1856 the legislature of Vermont gave him a handsome sword for his services in the second war with Great Britain. He died Feb. 14, 1860, in Washington, D.C.

Sawyer, John Gilbert, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born June 5, 1825, in Brandon, Vt. He was a justice of the peace in Albion in 1852-58; was district attorney of Orleans county in 1863-66; and was judge and surrogate of Orleans county in 1868-84. In 1885-91 he was a representative from Vermont to the forty-ninth, fiftieth and fifty-first congresses as a republican. He died Sept. 5, 1898, in Albion, N.Y.

Sawyer, John T., clergyman, journalist, author, was born Feb. 4, 1843, in Ann Arbor, Mich. In 1873 he was ordained to the ministry; and in 1874 became a member of the Louisiana conference of the methodist episcopal church south. He was the editor of the Christian Advocate of New Orleans, La. He was the author of The World in the Church.

Sawyer, Joseph Henry, educator, was born May 29, 1842, in Davenport, N.Y. In 1865 he received the degree of A.B. from Amherst college; in 1868 received the degree of A.M. from that institution; and in 1902 received the honorary degree of L.D. For one year he taught in Monson academy of Massachusetts; in 1866-84 was a teacher of mathematics; in 1884-86 was acting principal; and since 1896 has been principal of the Williston seminary of East Hampton, Mass.; and since 1896 has been a trustee of that institution. He is a trustee of the American international college of Springfield, Mass.; is a member of the American philological association; a member of the National geographical society; a member of the American academy of political and social science; and a member of several fraternities.

Sawyer, Josephine Caroline, writer, author, was born Sept. 5, 1878, in Watertown, N.Y. She is the author of Every Inch a King.

Sawyer, Leicester Ambrose, educator, clergyman, author, was born July 28, 1807, in Pinckney, N.Y. He was pastor of various churches in New York and Connecticut; and in 1842-47 was president of Central college, Ohio. He was the author of Elements of Biblical Interpretation; Mental Philosophy; Moral Philosophy; A Critical Exposition of Baptism; Organic Christianity; and Reconstruction of Bible Theories. He made a translation of the Scriptures, of which the New Testament was published. He died Dec. 29, 1898, in Whitesborough, N.Y.

Sawyer, Lemuel, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, author, was born in 1777 in North Carolina. He was in the North Carolina state legislature in 1801; and in 1807-13, 1817-23 and 1825-29 he was a representative from North Carolina to the tenth, eleventh, twelfth, fifteenth, sixteenth, seventeenth, nineteenth and twentieth congresses. About 1850 he moved to Washington, and held a clerkship in one of the departments. He was the author of Life of John Randolph; and an Autobiography. He died Jan. 9, 1852, in Washington, D.C.

Sawyer, Lorenzo, lawyer, jurist, was born May 23, 1820, in Le Roy, N.Y. In 1854 he was elected attorney for San Francisco; and was afterward appointed judge of the district court for the state. In 1863 he was elected one of the justices of the supreme court of the state; was chief justice in 1868-70; and in 1870-92 was United States circuit judge for the ninth circuit. He died in San Francisco, Cal.

Sawyer, Lucy Sargent, clergyman, missionary, was born April 3, 1840, in Belfast, Maine. Her whole life has been spent in mission work; and in 1882 she was elected president of the Woman's Home Missionary society.

Sawyer, Moses Havens, lawyer, author, was born June 6, 1827, in Mystic, Conn. In 1886 he was appointed United States consul at Trinidad and Tobago. He is the author of Lieutenant Colburn; History of Annexation of Tobago; Judicature; Mortgages; Desertion of Seamen, Immigration and Ornithology.

Sawyer, Samuel L., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Nov. 27, 1813, in Mount Vernon, N.H. He moved to Missouri in 1838; and was circuit attorney in 1848-56. He was elected a circuit judge in 1871, and re-elected in 1874. In 1879-81 he was a representative from Missouri to the forty-sixth congress. He died March 29, 1890, in Independence, Mo.

Sawyer, Philetus, merchant, state legislator, congressman, United States senator, was born Sept. 22, 1816, in Whiting, Vt.

He was elected to the legislature of Wisconsin in 1857 and 1861; and in 1863-64 was mayor of Oshkosh. In 1865-75 he was a representative from Wisconsin to the thirty-ninth, fortieth, forty-first, forty-second and forty-third congresses. In 1881-93 he was United States senator from Wisconsin. In 1896 he was chairman of the republican convention at St. Louis, Mo., that nominated William McKinley for president of the United States. He died March 29, 1900, in Oshkosh, Wis.

Sawyer, Samuel T., journalist, congressman, was born in 1800 in Chowan county, N.C. In 1837-39 he was a representative from North Carolina to the twenty-fifth congress. He was appointed collector of customs at Norfolk, Va.; and was subsequently editor of the Norfolk Argus. He died Nov. 29, 1865, in New Jersey.

Sawyer, Sylvanus, inventor, was born April 15, 1822, in Templeton, Mass. His inventions have entirely revolutionized the chair-cane business; and in 1853 he invented improvements in rifle and cannon projectiles. He died Oct. 25, 1895, in Templeton, Mass.

Sawyer, Thomas Jefferson, educator, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 9, 1804, in Reading, Vt. In 1869 he became a professor of theology at Tufts college; and became dean. He was the author of Doctrine of Eternal Salvation; Who Is God?; and Endless Punishment in the Very Words of Its Advocates. He died July 24, 1899, in Medford, Mass.

Sawyer, Wesley Caleb, educator, author, was born Aug. 26, 1839, in Harvard, Mass. He was educated in the country schools.

In 1854-55 he was a student at Wilbraham academy. In 1855-56 studied in Clabrack seminary of New York; in 1856-57 he was at the Lawrence academy of Groton, Mass.; and graduated from Harvard university with the degrees of A.B. and A.M. In 1861 he was engaged in recruiting service with General Henry Wilson; and was commissioned captain of the twenty-third regiment Massachusetts volunteer infantry. In 1862 he engaged in the battle of Roanoke Island; in 1862 organized and drilled the fifty-third Massachusetts infantry at Groton Junction, Mass.; and the same year was honorably discharged from volunteer service. In 1883-95 he was professor, vice-president, acting president and dean of the university of the Pacific; in 1895-98 he was master in French and German in Belmont school; in 1901-03 he was a lecturer on Teutonic mythology in the university of the Pacific; and since 1903 has been professor of French and German in that institution. He is the author of Practical German Grammar; Complete German Manual; and Teutonic Legions in the Nibelungen Lied and Nibelungen Ring.

Sawyer, Walter Leon, journalist, author, was born Oct. 23, 1862, in Cumberland, Maine. Since 1892 he has been assistant editor of Youth's Companion of Boston, Mass. He is the author of An Outland Journey; and A Local Habitation.

Sawyer, Willard S., musician, composer, was born Sept. 4, 1860, in New York City. He is a teacher of the piano and violin in Brooklyn, N.Y. He is the author of Sawyer's Piano Student's Practice Records.

Sawyer, William, congressman, was born in St. Marys, Ohio. In 1845-59 he was a representative from Ohio to the twenty-ninth and thirtieth congresses. He died in Ohio.

Sawyers, John Lasalle, bank president, was born in July, 1856, in Unionville, Iowa. He is prominently identified with the business and public affairs of Centerville, Iowa, and has filled various positions of trust and honor. He is president of the Centerville National bank; vice-president of the Centerville Savings bank; vice-president of the Southern Iowa traction company; and is also identified with various other industrial and financial business enterprises.

Saxe, Jacob Bradford, clergyman, journalist, author, was born Nov. 10, 1819, in Greenfield, N.Y. Since 1843 he has been a successful clergyman of the universalist church; and now fills a pastorate in Fort Scott, Kan. He is the author of a volume entitled The Organic Laws.

Saxton, Charles Terry, lawyer, jurist, lieutenant-governor, was born July 2, 1846, in Clyde, N.Y. He enlisted during the civil war in the nineteenth New York infantry, and mustered out as sergeant-major; and has held high office in the Grand army of the republic. In 1867 he was admitted to the bar, and after practicing his profession for awhile in Grand Rapids, Mich., he opened an office in his native city, where he has acquired prominence as a counsel learned in the law. In 1887-89 he was a member of the New York state assembly; a state senator in 1890-94; and was inaugurated lieutenant-governor of his state on Jan. 1, 1895. He introduced the Australian ballot system in New York; in 1894 he appointed the Lexow committee; and has always taken an active part in reform legislation. He received the degree of doctor of laws from the Union university, and in 1892 was elected chancellor of that institution. In 1898 he became presiding judge of the New York state court of claims for a term of six years. In 1900 he was a delegate to the republican national convention. He was a fluent and forcible writer; and contributed to the North American Review and other current publications. He died in 1903 in Clyde, N.Y.

Saxe, John Godfrey, lawyer, journalist, poet, was born June 2, 1816, in Highgate, Vt. He was educated in New England. He was a lawyer and journalist of Vermont, and subsequently of New York; and widely known as a humorous poet. He was the author of Progress; A New Rape of the Lock; The Proud Miss McBride; The Money King; Clever Songs of Many Nations; The Masquerade; Leisure Day Rhymes; and Fables and Lyrics in Rhyme. He died March 31, 1887, in Albany, N.Y.

Saxton, Joseph, manufacturer, inventor, was born March 22, 1799, in Huntington county, Pa. He made the clock which still marks the time from the belfry of Independence hall in Philadelphia, when he was but eighteen, and subsequently added many ingenious devices to science. He was one of the original incorporators of the National academy of science. He died Oct. 26, 1873, in Washington, D.C.

Saxton, Rufus, soldier, was born Oct. 19, 1824, in Greenfield, Mass. He served through the civil war as brigadier-general; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general in the United States army and major-general United States volunteers. In 1882 he was promoted to colonel and assistant quartermaster-general. In 1862 he received the congressional medal of honor; and in 1863-66 was military governor of the department of the south. He retired from the army in 1888. He died Feb. 23, 1908, in Washington, D.C.

Saxton, Townsend, inventor, was born in 1730. He invented one of the first bicycles ever used in America. He later invented the first folding bed. He died Jan. 10, 1901, in Babylon, N.Y.

Say, Benjamin, physician, congressman, was born in 1756 in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1787 he was a founder of the College of physicians of Philadelphia; and treasurer in 1791-1809. In 1807-11 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the tenth and eleventh congresses. He died April 3, 1813, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Say, Thomas, zoölogist, author, was born July 27, 1787, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was the first curator of the Philadelphia academy of natural sciences. In 1825 he removed to New Harmony, Ind.; and was the agent of the Owen socialist colony there. He was the author of Vocabularies of Indian languages; American Conchology; and American Entomology. His Complete Writings on Conchology have been edited by Binney, and those on Entomology by Le Conte. He died Oct. 10, 1834, in New Harmony, Ind.

Say, Thomas, merchant, founder, was born Dec. 16, 1709, in Philadelphia, Pa. He helped to found the Pennsylvania hospital; and was one of the founders of the House of employment. He died in 1796 in Philadelphia, Pa.

Sayers, Joseph Draper, soldier, lawyer, congressman, governor, was born Sept. 23, 1841, in Grenada, Miss. In 1861-65 he served in the confederate states army; and in 1866 was admitted to the practice of law. He served as a member of the Texas state senate in the session of 1873; and was lieutenant-governor of Texas in 1879-80. In 1885-98 he was a representative from Texas to the forty-ninth, fiftieth, fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third, fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses as a democrat; and in 1889-1903 was governor of Texas.

Sayle, William, colonial governor. In 1670-71 he was colonial governor of South Carolina.

Sayler, Henry B., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born March 31, 1836, in Montgomery county, Ohio. He enlisted in the army as lieutenant; and was promoted to major of the one hundred and eighteenth Indiana infantry. In 1873-75 he was a representative from Indiana to the forty-third congress as a republican. He died June 18, 1900, in Huntington, Ind.

Sayler, James Knox Polk, educator, author, was born June 21, 1839, in Romeo, Tenn. In 1892-98 he was president of Ottaway college; in 1878-97 taught school in the Green county normal institute; and in 1879-83 president of the Green county teachers' association. He is the author of Memory; and United States Government, Its Administration.

Sayler, Joseph Henry, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 9, 1846, in Farmington, Ill. He served during the civil war as a private soldier in the sixty-first and eighty-third regiments Illinois volunteer infantry. He is an able lawyer of Marysville, Mo., of which city he has served as mayor for three terms. He is now probate judge of his county.

Sayler, Milton, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 4, 1831, in Lewisburg, Ohio. He was a member of the Ohio state legislature in 1862-63; and of the city councils in 1864-65. In 1873-81 he was a representative from Ohio to the forty-third, forty-fourth, forty-fifth and forty-sixth congresses as a democrat.

Sayles, Frederick Clark, manufacturer, was born July 17, 1835. He became the partner of his brother in 1863; and was an active co-laborer with him in the development of the Moshassuck bleachery and nearly all the other milling enterprises controlled by the Sayles family. He has served as mayor of Pawtucket, R.I.

Sayles, John, educator, lawyer, jurist, author, was born March 9, 1825, in Vernon, N.Y. He was professor in Baylor university in 1880-97. He was the author of Practice in the District and Supreme Courts of Texas; Civil Jurisdiction of Justices of the Peace in the State of Texas; Principles of Pleading in Civil Actions in the Courts of Texas; Probate Laws of Texas; Laws of Business; Constitution of Texas, with Notes; and Notes on Texan Reports. He died May 22, 1897, in Texas.

Sayre, David Austen, merchant, banker, philanthropist, was born March 12, 1793, in Bottle Hill, N.J. He removed in early life to Lexington, where he became a successful merchant and banker. He gave about five hundred thousand dollars to benevolent objects during his lifetime, including one hundred thousand dollars to found the Sayre institute. He died Sept. 11, 1870, in Lexington, Ky.

Sayre, Eminus Kitchell, educator, lawyer, jurist, was born March 20, 1810, in Battle Hill, N.J. He attended the schools of Elizabethtown, N. J.; received the degree of A.B. from Amherst college in 1826, and the degree of A.M. in 1831 from the same institution; and the degree of LL.B. from the Transylvania college in 1833. In 1828-31 he was a professor in the Washington institute, New York; during 1833-52 was a lawyer in Lexington, Ky.; and was a farmer in Missouri. In 1861-63 he was a member of the Missouri state constitutional convention; and filled various other public positions of honor in Lewis county and the state of Missouri. He died in Lewis county, Mo.

Sayre, Ira T., lawyer, banker, statesman, was born March 6, 1858, in Hector, N.Y. He was educated at the common schools, at agricultural college of Lansing, and at the university of Michigan. He is a successful lawyer of Flushing, Mich.; has been a justice of the peace and village president; and has filled various other public positions of honor. In 1898-1901 he was a member of the Michigan state senate; and in 1901-06 was a member of the state tax commission and board of railway assessors of Michigan. Since then he has been engaged in banking and lumbering.

Sayre, Lewis Albert, educator, physician, surgeon, author, was born Feb. 29, 1820, in Bottlehill, N.J. He was educated at a local academy; at an academy at Deckertown, N.J.; at the Transylvania university, and at a college of physicians and surgeons in New York City. In 1842-52 he was professor to the professor of surgery in the latter college. He is a distinguished surgeon of New York City, and professor of orthopædic surgery in Bellevue hospital college. He is the author of a Practical Manual of the Treatment of Club-Foot; Lectures on Orthopædic Surgery; and Spinal Curvature and Its Treatment. He died in 1900 in New York City.

Sayre, Lucius Elmer, pharmacist, author, was born in 1847 in Bridgeton, N.J. Since 1885 he has been dean of the department of pharmacy in the university of Kansas. He is the author of Chart of Materia Medica; Essentials of Pharmacy; and Organic Materia Medica and Pharmacognosy.

Sayre, Reginald Hall, physician, surgeon, was born Oct. 18, 1859, in New York City. He is a successful physician of New York City; and was president of the American orthopædic association. He is the author of Immediate Reduction of Deformity After Tenotomy; and other medical works.

Sayre, Stephen, patriot, was born in 1734 on Long Island, N.Y. He was employed by Benjamin Franklin on some important missions; was his private secretary for a period; and went to Copenhagen, Stockholm, and St. Petersburg, and received ample supplies to support the cause of the independence of the United States. In 1795 he was an active opponent of Washington's administration. He died Sept. 27, 1818, in Virginia.

Sayre, Theodore Burt, playwright, dramatic critic, author, was born Dec. 18, 1874, in New York City. He is a critic and reader for Charles Frohman. He is the author of Two Summer Girls; Tom Moore; Two Rogues and a Romance; A Classical Cowboy; and Manon Lescaut.

Sayres, Edward Stalker, soldier, lawyer, financier, was born July 30, 1850, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1872-73 he was recorder of the law academy of Philadelphia, Pa. He has been first lieutenant of company D, first regiment infantry Pennsylvania national guard; and served in the labor riots in 1875 and 1877, resigning his commission in 1880. He has attained eminence as a lawyer; has been a director in the Merchants trust company; treasurer of the Pennsylvania civil service reform association; recording secretary of the genealogical society of Pennsylvania; treasurer of the general military order of foreign wars; and secretary of the society of colonial wars in Pennsylvania.

Sayward, William Henry, organizer, was born Feb. 20, 1845, in Boston, Mass. He is chief founder and secretary of the Master builders' association of Boston, Mass.; and in 1887 he organized the National association of builders. He is notable as an organizer of a system of co-operation between employers and workmen in building trades. In 1907 he organized the Massachusetts society of brick and stone mason masters and craftsmen.

Sbarretti, Donatus, clergyman, archbishop, was born Nov. 12, 1856, in Italy. In 1883-1900 he was first auditor of the apostolic legation at Washington. In 1900 he was consecrated Roman catholic bishop of Havana; and in 1907 became titular archbishop of Ephesus.

Scadding, Charles, clergyman, bishop, author, was born Nov. 25, 1861, in Canada. He has filled pastorates in New York and Middletown, N.Y.; Toledo, Ohio; and La Grange, Ill. In 1906 he was consecrated protestant episcopal bishop of Oregon. He is the author of Doat Thou Believe; and Direct Answers to Plain Questions.

Scaffer, Frederick Ferdinand, manufacturer, financier, was born June 12, 1853, in Prussia. He was first employed in one of the mills of the New Brunswick rubber company. In 1876 he became superintendent of the entire works of the Goodyear India rubber glove manufactory of Naugatuck, Conn. In 1891 he became first selectman of the town.

Scaife, Walter Bell, lecturer, author, was born Sept. 10, 1858, in Pittsburgh, Pa. He is the author of American Geographical History; and Florentine Life During the Renaissance.

Scales, Alfred Moore, Jr., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, governor, was born Nov. 26, 1827, in Reidsville, N.C. He was elected to the legislature of North Carolina in 1852 and 1856. He was a presidential elector in 1861; and in 1857-59 and 1875-85 he was a representative to the thirty-fifth, forty-fourth, forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh and forty-eighth congresses. In 1885 he was the thirty-fourth governor of North Carolina. He died Nov. 9, 1892, in Greensboro, N.C.

Scammell, Alexander, soldier, was born in 1748 in Milford, Mass. In 1776 he became colonel of the third New Hampshire regiment; and was transferred later to the first regiment. He was appointed adjutant-general of the American army; and consequently became a member of General Washington's military family. He died Oct. 6, 1781, in Williamsburg, Vt.

Scales, John, educator, journalist, author, was born Oct. 6, 1835, in Nottingham, N.H. He was fitted for college at the Colby academy; and graduated from Dartmouth college in 1863. He then engaged in educational work as principal of the Wolfeborough and Gilmanton academies till 1869; and during 1869-83 was principal of the Franklin academy of Dover, N.H. Since 1883 he has been editor of the Dover Daily Republican, the leading republican journal in New Hampshire; has contributed to various publications; and is the author of several works. He has been trustee of the state normal school; and is a member of the school committee of Dover. He is prominent in political affairs; member of the New Hampshire society sons of American Revolution; New Hampshire society of colonial wars; a knight templar and thirty-second degree mason; and a member of various fraternal orders.

Scammon, Charles Melville, navigator, author, was born May 28, 1825, in Pittston, Maine. He engaged in the whale-fishery; and discovered the habitat of the gray whale in a bay on the coast of California, which was named Scammon bay. He is the author of a work on The Marine Mammals of the Northwestern Coast of America and the American Whale Fishery.

Scammon, Eliakim Parker, soldier, educator, author, was born Dec. 27, 1816, in Whitefield, Maine. In 1856-58 he was professor in Mount St. Mary's college of Cincinnati, Ohio; and president of the Polytechnic college of that city in 1859-61. He became colonel of the twenty-third Ohio regiment in 1861; served in western Virginia and Maryland; and was promoted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Dec. 7, 1894, in Audubon Park, N.Y.

Scammon, John F., merchant, banker, state senator, congressman, was born Oct. 24, 1786, in Saco, Maine. He served in the Maine legislature in 1817, 1820 and 1821. He was collector of customs at Saco in 1829-41. In 1845-47 he was a representative from Maine to the twenty-ninth congress; and was a state senator in 1855. He died May 23, 1858, in Saco, Maine.

Scanlan, Lawrence, clergyman, bishop, was born Sept. 20, 1843, in Ireland. He was educated in the common schools; and in 1868 graduated from the college of Dublin, Ireland; in 1868 he was ordained to the priesthood; in 1868-70 he was assistant pastor of St. Patrick's church; and in 1870-71 was assistant pastor of St. Mary's cathedral of San Francisco, Cal. For three months he filled a pastorate in Woodland, Cal.; and for a short time preached in Piche, Nev.; and Petaluma, Cal. In 1873 he was appointed pastor of Salt Lake City and of the whole territory of Utah; and in 1887 was consecrated bishop of Laranda and vicar apostolic of Utah. In 1891 he was appointed first bishop of Salt Lake City.

Scammon, Jonathan Young, pioneer, lawyer, journalist, banker, founder, was born July 27, 1812, in Whitefield, Maine. He was one of the main organizers and directors of the first railroad west of Lake Michigan, now the Northwestern. He laid the foundation of the first successful public school system in Chicago. He was one of the founders of the Chicago Astronomical society, and its first president. In 1872 he established the Chicago Inter-Ocean as a republican paper. He founded the Hahnemann hospital and other institutions. He was a member of the Illinois state legislature. He died March 17, 1890, in Chicago, Ill.

Scannell, Richard, clergyman, bishop, was born May 12, 1845, in Ireland. In 1887 he was consecrated first Roman catholic bishop of Concordia, Kan.; and in 1891 was transferred to the see of Omaha, Neb.

Scarborough, John, clergyman, bishop, was born April 25, 1831, in Ireland. He has filled pastorates in Troy and Poughkeepsie, N.Y., and in Pittsburgh, Pa.; and in 1875 was consecrated protestant episcopal bishop of New Jersey.

Scarborough, John Catre, soldier, educator, college president, was born Sept. 22, 1841, in Wake county, N.C. In 1877-85 and 1893-97 he was state superintendent of public instruction for North Carolina. He is now president of the Chowan baptist female institute of Murfreesborough, N.C.

Scarborough, Robert Bethea, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Oct. 20, 1861, in Chesterfield, S.C. Since 1884 he has practiced law in Conway, S.C. In 1896 he was elected to the South Carolina state senate; and became president of the senate and lieutenant-governor of South Carolina. In 1901-05 he was a representative from South Carolina to the fifty-seventh and fifty-eighth congresses as a democrat.

Scarborough, William, planter, inventor was born Feb. 18, 1776, in Lower Three Runs, S.C. He built the first ocean steamboat, The Savannah, that crossed the Atlantic in 1819. He died June 11, 1838, in New York.

Scarborough, William Saunders, educator, college president, author, was born Feb. 16, 1852, in Macon, Ga. In 1875 he graduated from Oberlin college with the honorary degrees of A.M., Ph.D. and LL.D., and for a short time was a student at the Oberlin theological seminary. In 1891-95 he was professor of Greek in the Payne theological seminary of Wilberforce, Ohio; for nineteen years he was professor of classical Greek; and is now vice-president of Wilberforce university. He is exegetical editor of the Sunday school publication of the African methodist episcopal church. He is the author of First Lessons in Greek; Theory and Functions of the Thematic Vowel in the Greek Verb; Our Political Status; Birds of Aristophanes, a Theory of Interpretation.

Scarritt, Winthorpe, broker, author, was born June 17, 1857, in Dorchester, Ill. In 1903-05 he was president of the Commonwealth trust company of New York City; and since 1906 has been engaged as a bond broker. He is the author of Three Men in a Motor Car.

Scates, Walter Bennett, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 18, 1808, in South Boston, Va. He was attorney-general of Frankford, Ill.; and in 1836 became judge of the third judicial district. In 1841-47 he was justice of the supreme court of Illinois; and in 1853 was again elected to the supreme court bench. He served in the civil war; and in 1866 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Oct. 26, 1887, in Chicago, Ill.

Schadle, Jacob E., physician, educator, author, was born June 23, 1849, in Clinton county, Pa. He began to practice medicine in Shenandoah, Pa.; and in 1870 moved to St. Paul, Minn. He became an instructor of laryngology at the university of Minnesota; and in 1897 became professor in that institution. He is the author of Adenoidal Growth in Children; and Relationship Between the Diseases of the Nose and Throat and General Diseases.

Schaeffer, Charles Ashmead, educator, chemist, college president, was born Aug. 14, 1843, in Harrisburg, Pa. For many years he was professor of chemistry in Cornell university; and was president of the state university of Iowa. He died in 1898 in Iowa.

Schaeffer, Charles Frederick, educator, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 3, 1807, in Germantown, Pa. He was professor of systematic theology in the Lutheran theological seminary at Philadelphia in 1864-76. He was the author of A System of Lutheran Theology, one of several important works, which he translated from the German. He died Nov. 23, 1879, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Schaeffer, Charles William, educator, clergyman, author, was born May 5, 1813, in Hagerstown, Md. He was professor of church history in the Philadelphia Lutheran seminary in 1864-96. He was the author of History of the Lutheran Church in the United States; and Family Prayers. He died March 15, 1896, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Schaeffer, David Frederick, clergyman, author, was born July 22, 1787, in Carlisle, Pa. In 1808-37 he was pastor of the Lutheran church in Frederick, Md. He was the author of Historical Address on the Reformation. He died in May, 1837, in Frederick, Md.

Schaeffer, Frederick Christian, educator, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 12, 1792, in Germantown, Pa. He filled pastorates in Harrisburg and New York City; and in 1830 was professor of German language and literature in Columbia college. He was the author of Parables and Parabolic Sayings. He died in March, 1831, in New York City.

Schaeffer, Frederick David, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 15, 1760, in Germany. He became pastor of Lutheran congregations at Carlisle and other places; and in 1812-34 was the colleague of Reverend Helmut in Philadelphia, Pa. He was the author of two works in German. He died Jan. 27, 1836, in Frederick, Md.

Schaeffer, Nathan C., educator, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 3, 1849, in Berks county, Pa. Since 1893 he has been state superintendent of public instruction of Pennsylvania. He is the author of Thinking and Learning to Think; and History of Education in Pennsylvania.

Schaff, David Schley, educator, clergyman, was born in 1852 in Mercersburg, Pa. In 1897-1903 he was professor of church history at the Lane seminary; and since 1903 has been professor of church history at the Western theological seminary of Allegheny, Pa. He is the author of Life of Philip Schaff; and Commentary on Acts.

Schaff, David T., clergyman, author, was born Oct. 17, 1852, in Mercersburg, Pa. He is now a pastor of the Presbyterian church in Jacksonville, Ill. He was the co-editor of the Schaff-Herzog Religious Encyclopedia, in four volumes.

Schaff, Philip, educator, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 1, 1819, in Switzerland. He was a distinguished German reformed divine. In 1844-63 he was professor of church history in the seminary of Mercersburg, Pa. In 1873 he became professor of sacred literature in Union seminary in New York City. He was the author of Principles of Protestantism; History of the Christian Church; Creeds of Christendom; Theological Propædæutics; Christ and Christianity; Critical Edition of the Heidelberg Catechism; Bible Revision; Through Bible Lands; Progress of Religious Freedom; Church and State in the United States; The Person of Christ; Literature and Poetry; and edited the Schaff-Herzog Encyclopædia of Religious Knowledge; and Lange's Commentary. He died Oct. 20, 1903, in New York City.

Schaffer, Charles A., educator, college president, was born Aug. 14, 1843, in Harrisburg, Pa. In 1862-65 he was an instructor of chemistry in the Lawrence scientific school at Harvard university; and from there went to the Union college of Schenectady, N.Y. For nineteen years he was professor of analytical chemistry and mineralogy at Cornell university. In 1887 he became president of the Iowa state university. He died Sept. 13, 1898, in Iowa City, Iowa.

Schaller, Albert, lawyer, statesman, was born May 20, 1856, in Chicago, Ill. He received a thorough education in St. Vincent's college of Cape Girardeau, Mo.; in France; and at the St. Louis law school. During 1880-91 he was county attorney of Duluth county, Minn.; during 1891-96 was city attorney of Hastings, Minn.; and also in 1895-96 he city attorney of South St. Paul. During 1895-98 he served with distinction as a state senator in the Minnesota legislature, and took an active part in the deliberations of that body. He is one of the foremost lawyers of the northwest, and has a large practice in Hastings, Minn.

Schampert, Thomas Edgar, physician, surgeon, founder, was born Oct. 15, 1866, in Caddo Parish, La. He practiced medicine in Greenwood, La.; and in 1891 he was elected assistant surgeon to the Charity hospital. In 1899 he founded the Shreveport sanitarium and training school for nurses at Shreveport, La.

Schanck, John Stilwell, physician, educator, was born Feb. 24, 1817. He received his education in the schools of Middletown and Freehold, N.J.; then at the celebrated academy at Lenox, Mass.; and in 1840 graduated at the Princeton college of New Jersey. In 1843 he received his medical degree from the university of Pennsylvania, and practiced medicine from that time in Princeton, N.J. For nearly fifty years he has delivered a course of lectures on anatomy, physiology and zoology in the Princeton college; and from 1856-93 he also filled the chair of chemistry in the same institution. He has served that noted college under four presidents with great distinction. He died Dec. 16, 1898, in Princeton, N.J.

Scharf, John Thomas, author, was born May 1, 1843, in Baltimore, Md. In 1878 he was a member of the Maryland legislature; and in 1884 was commissioner of the land office of Maryland. He was the author of Chronicles of Baltimore; History of Maryland; History of Baltimore; History of Western Maryland; History of the City of St. Louis; History of Philadelphia; History of the Confederate Navy; and History of Delaware. He died Feb. 28, 1898, in Baltimore, Md.

Schauffler, Adolph Frederick, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 7, 1845, in Constantinople, Turkey. In 1873-87 he was pastor of Olivet church of New York City. He is president of the New York City missions. He was elected chairman of the New York Sunday school association in 1899; and is secretary of the international Sunday school lesson committee. He is the author of Ways of Working; The Teacher, the Child and The Book; and other works.

Schauffler, William Gottlieb, missionary, author, was born Aug. 22, 1798, in Germany. He was a congregational missionary in Turkey well known as a linguist. He translated the Bible into Hebrew, Spanish and Turkish; and was the author of Essay on the Right Use of Property; and Meditations on the Last Day of Christ. He died Jan. 27, 1883, in New York City.

Schayer, Mrs. Julia Thompson, litterateur, author, was born in January, 1842, in Portland, Maine. She is a Washington writer; and the author of Tiger Lily and Other Stories.

Schachter, Solomon, theologian, college president, was born in 1849 in Roumania. He was sent by the university of Cambridge to examine Hebrew literature; and made various discoveries. Since 1902 he has been president of the Jewish theological seminary of America.

Scheffauer, Herman George, author, poet, was born Feb. 3, 1876, in San Francisco, Cal. He was engaged for several years with architects of San Francisco as a designer and water colorist; but is now engaged in literary work. He is the author of Of Both Worlds, poems; Looms of Life, Poems; The Sons of Baldur, a Forest Drama; and Niagara, a Romance.

Scheffer, Emil, educator, discoverer, was born in 1822. He was the discoverer of pepsin. He died Jan. 22, 1902, in Louisville, Ky.

Schell, Richard, merchant, state senator, congressman, was born in May, 1810, in Rhinebeck, N.Y. In 1873-75 he was a representative from New York to the forty-third congress to fill a vacancy. He died March 27, 1884, in New York City.

Schell, William Elias, educator, clergyman, college president, was born Oct. 25, 1861, in Carroll county, Ind. In 1876 he began teaching; and since 1890 has been a clergyman of the church of United Brethren in Christ. He is president of York college of Nebraska.

Schelling, Felix Emanuel, educator, author, was born Sept. 3, 1858. He is John Welsh centennial professor of English literature in the university of Pennsylvania. He is the author of Edition of Ben Jonson's Discoveries; Literary and Verse Criticism of the Reign of Elizabeth; Life and Works of George Gascoigne; A Book of Elizabethan Lyrics; A Book of Seventeenth Century Lyrics; The English Chronicle Play; History of Elizabethan Drama, in two volumes; and other works.

Schem, Alexander Jacob, statistician, author, was born March 16, 1826, in Prussia. He was assistant superintendent of schools in New York City in 1874-81. He was the author of Latin English Dictionary; Statistics of the World; and Cyclopædia of Education. He died May 21, 1881, in Hoboken, N.J.

Schenck, Abraham H., manufacturer, congressman, was born in 1777 in Dutchess county, N.Y. He was a member of the New York assembly in 1804-06; and in 1815-17 he was a representative from New York to the fourteenth congress. He died Feb. 20, 1831, in New York.

Schenck, Carl Alwin, forester, author, was born March 25, 1868, in Germany. He is director of the Biltmore forest school; and is forester to George W. Vanderbilt's Biltmore estate. He is the author of Our Yellow Poplar; Forest Utilization; Forest Management; Forest Policy; Forest Finance; and Forest Protection.

Schenck, Ferdinand S., physician, jurist, congressman, was born Feb. 11, 1790, in Middlesex county, N.J. In 1829-31 he was a member of the New Jersey state legislature. In 1833-37 he was a representative from New Jersey to the twenty-third and twenty-fourth congresses. He was a justice of the court of errors and appeals for eight years. He died May 17, 1860, in Camden, N.J.

Schenck, Ferdinand Schureman, clergyman, theologian, author, was born Aug. 6, 1845, in Platteville, N.Y. In 1865 he graduated from Princeton college; graduated from the Albany law school in 1867; graduated from the New Brunswick theological seminary in 1872; and has received the degrees of A.M. and D.D. He has been pastor of reformed churches in Clarks-town, Montgomery, Hudson and University Heights, N.Y. Since 1899 he has been professor of practical theology in the New Brunswick theological seminary; and in 1904-07 was a professor of Rutgers college. For several years he lectured on Literary Study of the English Bible in the New York university. He is the author of The Bible Reader's Guide; The Ten Com- mandments and the Lord's Prayer; and Modern Practical Theology.

Schenck, James Findlay, naval officer, was born June 11, 1807, in Franklin, Ohio. In 1825 he entered the navy as midshipman; was promoted to commodore in 1863; and to rear-admiral in 1868. He died Dec. 21, 1882, in Dayton, Ohio.

Schenck, Noah Hunt, clergyman, journalist, author, was born June 30, 1805, in Pennington, N.J. He founded and edited The Western Churchman during his pastorate in Chicago; and in 1867 became co-editor of The Protestant Churchman of New York. He was the author of numerous published sermons and addresses, a collection of which has appeared in book form. He died Jan. 4, 1885, in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Schenck, Robert Cumming, soldier, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 4, 1809, in Franklin, Ohio. In 1840 he was elected a representative to the Ohio legislature; and was re-elected in 1842. In 1861 he served as brigadier and major-general in the union army. In 1843-51 and 1863-71 he was a representative from Ohio to the twenty-eighth, twenty-ninth, thirtieth, thirty-first, thirty-eighth, thirty-ninth, fortieth and forty-first congresses. In 1870 he was appointed minister to England; and on his return practiced law in Washington. He died March 23, 1890, in Washington, D.C.

Schenck, William Edward, clergyman, author, was born March 29, 1819, in Princeton, N.J. In 1865 he became vice-president of the Pennsylvania colonization society; and vice-president of the American colonization society since 1877. He was the author of Historical Account of the First Presbyterian Church of Princeton, N.J.; Aunt Fanny's Home; Children in Heaven; Nearing Home; The Fountain for Sin; and Church Extension for Cities. He died in 1904 in Philadelphia, Pa.

Schenk, David, lawyer, author, was born in 1835 in North Carolina. He is the author of The Battle of Guilford Court House; North Carolina; and Railroad Law in North Carolina.

Scheppegrell, William, physician, inventor, author, was born Sept. 22, 1860, in Germany. He first practiced in Charleston, S. C.; removed to New Orleans in 1890; and became assistant surgeon of the eye, ear, nose and throat hospital of that city. He is the inventor of many appliances in ear, nose and throat specialty. He was president of the American academy of ophthalmology and otology. He is the author of Electricity in Diseases of the Nose, Throat and Ear; and other works.

Scherer, James Augustin Brown, educator, clergyman, lecturer, college president, author, was born May 22, 1870, near Salisbury, N.C. Since 1904 he has been president of Newberry college of South Carolina. He is the author of Four Princes; The Growth of a Kingdom; Japan To-Day; Young Japan; The Holy Grail; and What Is Japanese Morality?

Scherer, John Bunyan, educator, clergyman, college president, author, was born July 19, 1832, in Appomattox county, Va. He graduated from Hampton-Sidney college of Virginia; graduated from the university of Virginia; and studied in the Union theological seminary. In 1858-62 he was pastor of the presbyterian church of Chapel Hill, N.C.; and in 1863-70 filled a pastorate in Springhill, Va. In 1866-70 he was principal of the Cluster Spring high school; and in 1870-75 was professor of biblical instruction and law philosophy and president of the Steward college of Clarksville, Tenn. In 1875-79 he was president of the Southwest presbyterian university. In 1879-88 he was professor of biblical instruction in that institution. Since 1888 he has been professor of biblical instruction; in 1888-1901 he was president; and since 1901 has been vice-president of Davidson college of North Carolina. He is the author of Bible Course Syllabus; Modern Mysticism; Sermon on the Mount; and Studies in the Life of Christ.

Scherer, John Jacob, clergyman, educator, college president, was born Feb. 7, 1830, in Wythe county, Vt. He was educated in public and private schools of the south; and attended various theological seminaries. He is a clergyman of the lutheran church; and is prominent as an educator. For twenty years he was president of Colorado college, Texas; is president of Marion female college, Virginia; and president of the general synod south of the lutheran church.

Scherer, Melancthon G., clergyman, college president, was born March 16, 1861, in Catawba county, N.C. He is a clergyman of the evangelical lutheran church.

Since 1896 he has been president of the North Carolina college at Mount Pleasant, N.C.

Schereschewsky, Samuel Isaac Joseph, clergyman, bishop, author, was born May 6, 1831, in Russia. He was third protestant episcopal bishop of the China mission. He was consecrated in 1877; resigned his office in 1883 and lived for some years in Cambridge; and from 1895 lived at Shanghai. He was the author of a translation of the Bible into Chinese. He died in 1906 in Japan.

Scherger, George Lawrence, educator, lecturer, author, was born Oct. 21, 1874, in Lawrenceburg, Ind. In 1899-1901 he was instructor in history; in 1901-03 was assistant professor; and since 1903 has been professor of history at the Armour institute of technology of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of The Evolution of Modern Liberty.

Schermerhorn, Abraham M., congressman, was born in Rochester, N.Y. In 1849-53 he was a representative from New York to the thirty-first and thirty-second congresses. He died Aug. 22, 1855, in Rochester, N.Y.

Schermerhorn, Martin Kellogg, clergyman, author. He is a clergyman of Poughkeepsie, N.Y.; and is honorary pastor of the Channing memorial church. He is the author of Ancient Sacred Scriptures.

Schermerhorn, Simon J., farmer, banker, state legislator, congressman, was born Sept. 26, 1827, in Rotterdam, N.Y. In 1862 he was elected without opposition to the New York state legislature. He was on the Cleveland electoral ticket in 1888. In 1893-95 he was a representative from New York to the fifty-third congress as a democrat. He died July 21, 1901, in Rotterdam, N.Y.

Scherzer, Albert H., civil engineer, inventor, was born July 22, 1865, in Peru, Ill. For some years he was engaged in the practice of law in Chicago, Ill. He is president and chief engineer of the Scherzer rolling lift bridge company of Chicago, Ill. He has designed and built many large important railways and high bridges in the United States and abroad; and has invented improvements in bridges.

Scheve, Edward Benjamin, educator, musician, author, was born Feb. 13, 1865, in Germany. In 1892-1906 he was a concert organist and director of the Conservatory of music in Chicago, Ill.; and since 1900 has been professor of the theory of composition and an instructor of the organ in the Iowa college school of music. He is the author of The Oratorio Death and Resurrection of Christ; and also numerous sacred compositions.

Schick, John Michael, clergyman, author, was born in Richmond, Va. In 1876 he was ordained a clergyman in the reformed church; and is now pastor of Grace reformed church of Washington, D.C., of which Colonel Roosevelt is a member. He is the author of The Catechumens' Counselor.

Schiedt, Richard Francis Conrad, educator, zoologist, author, was born Sept. 21, 1859, in Prussia. Since 1887 he has been professor of natural sciences at the Franklin and Marshall college of Lancaster, Pa. He is the author of Principles of Zoology; Laboratory Guide in Zoology; Plant Morphology; and On the Threshold of a New Century.

Schiffelin, Samuel Bradhurst, merchant, author, was born Feb. 24, 1811, in New York City. He was the author of Message to the Ruling Elders; Foundations of History; Words to Christian Teachers; The Church in Ephesus and the Presbyterian and Reformed Churches; People's Hymn Book; and other works. He died in 1900 in New York City.

Schieren, Charles Adolph, merchant, manufacturer, banker, inventor, was born Feb. 28, 1842, in Germany. In 1882 he established the present firm of Charles A. Schieren and company of Brooklyn, N.Y., manufacturers of leather belting; and was one of the organizers of the hide and leather national bank, and of which he has been vice-president since 1891. He is also president of the Germania savings bank; and president and director of the Brooklyn academy of music. He was the inventor of the electric belt, consisting of a coating of composition spread over the belt to preserve the leather. In 1894-98 he was mayor of Brooklyn, N.Y.; and during his administration he secured for that city the East river bridge; Forrest park, comprising five hundred acres; and Wallabout market, covering twenty-six acres. In 1898 he was appointed by President McKinley treasurer of the Cuban relief committee.

Schiff, Jacob Henry, banker, philanthropist, was born in 1847 in Germany. He is president of the Montefiore home for chronic invalids; and founded the Jewish theological seminary; founded the Semitic museum; and founded the Harvard nurses' settlement in New York. In 1907 he gave fifty thousand dollars to the Hebrew sheltering home in New York City.

Schiller, Madeline, musician, composer, was born in London, England. On her return from a successful Australian tour she married Marcus Elmer Bennett of Boston, Mass. A second tour in Australia was followed by a season of concertizing in Europe. At present she is in New York City. She has won general recognition by her spirited and refined interpretations of classic and modern pianoforte literature.

Schilling, George A., organizer, author, was born in 1850 in Germany. He is active in labor organizations in Chicago, Ill.; and was secretary of the Illinois state department of labor in 1893-97; and in 1905-07 was president of the Local board of improvements. He is the author of Street Railways of Chicago and Other Cities.

Schimmelfenning, Alexander, soldier, was born in Prussia. In 1861 he was colonel in the seventy-fourth regiment Pennsylvania infantry; and in 1862 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Sept. 7, 1865.

Schimpf, Henry William, educator, physician, author, was born Feb. 14, 1868, in New York City. He was educated in the public schools of New York. In 1887 graduated from the New York college of pharmacy; and in 1897 graduated from the Long Island hospital medical college. In 1882 he was engaged in the practice of pharmacy. In 1892 he was professor of inorganic chemistry; and in 1902 was professor of analytic chemistry in the Brooklyn college of pharmacy. In 1894-95 he was food inspector of the Brooklyn health department; and since 1897 has been engaged in the practice of medicine. He is the author of Textbook of Volumetric Analysis; Qualitative Chemical Analysis; and Essential of Volumetric Analysis.

Schindler, Solomon, clergyman, author, was born April 24, 1842, in Germany. For many years he had charge of Temple Adath Israel, Boston. He is the author of Young West, a sequel to Looking Backward; Messianic Expectations and Modern Judaism; and Dissolving Views on the History of Judaism.

Schinner, Augustin Francis, clergyman, bishop, was born May 1, 1863, in Milwaukee, Wis. He was vicar-general of Milwaukee arch diocese for several years. Since 1905 he has been Roman catholic bishop of Superior, Wis.

Schirm, Charles Reginald, manufacturer, legislator, congressman, was born Aug. 12, 1864, in Baltimore, Md. In 1898-1900 he was a member of the general assembly of Maryland. Since 1899 he has been president of the Maryland league of republican clubs. In 1901-03 he was a representative from Maryland to the fifty-seventh congress as a republican; and served on important committees.

Schleicher, Gustave, civil engineer, state senator, congressman, was born Nov. 19, 1823, in Germany. He moved to Texas in 1847; served in the state legislature in 1853-54; and in 1859-61 served in the state senate. In 1875-79 he was a representative from Texas to the forty-fourth and forty-fifth congresses as a democrat. He died Jan. 10, 1879, in Washington City, Pa.

Schleif, William, physician, author, was born Sept. 28, 1868, in Milwaukee, Wis. He practiced medicine for eleven years; and since 1890 has been instructor in pharmacy at the university of Pennsylvania. He is the author of Administration of Drugs; and Materia Medica and Therapeutics.

Schleich, Newton, soldier, was born in Ohio. In 1861 he was brigadier-general of Ohio volunteers.

Schley, Grant Barney, banker, railway president, was born Feb. 25, 1845, in Chapinville, N.Y. He is a senior member of the banking firm of Moore and Schley of New York City; and is president of the Chihuahua and Pacific railroad company; and has other large financial interests.

Schley, William, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, governor, author, was born Dec. 15, 1786, in Frederick, Md. In 1825 he was elected a judge of the superior court of the middle district of Georgia; and was elected to the state legislature in 1830. In 1833-35 he was a representative from Georgia to the twenty-third congress; and was the eighteenth governor of Georgia in 1835-37. At the time of his death he was president of the Medical college of Georgia. He was the author of Digest of the English Statutes. He died Nov. 20, 1858, in Augusta, Ga.

Schley, Winfield Scott, naval officer, explorer, author, was born Oct. 9, 1839, near Frederick, Md. He attended the naval academy during 1856-60; and was promoted to master in 1861. He was in all the engagements which led to the capture of Port Hudson in 1863. In 1866 he was commissioned a lieutenant-commander; and commander in 1874. During 1880-83 he was light-house inspector; in 1884 was in charge of the Greely expedition; and in 1885-89 was chief of the bureau of equipment and recruiting. He was promoted to captain in 1888; and in 1898 gained distinction during the Spanish-American war in the destruction and capture of the Spanish fleet; and in 1899 was promoted to rear-admiral. Retired from active service in 1901. He was the author of The Rescue of Greely; and Forty-Five Years Under the Flag. He died Oct. 2, 1911, in New York.

Schmauk, Theodore Emanuel, journalist, critic, author, was born May 30, 1860, in Lancaster, Pa. He has been president of the Pennsylvania German society; and chancellor of the Pennsylvania Chautauqua. He is editor-in-chief of The Lutheran Review and half-a-dozen church and school publications. He is the author of The Negative Criticism; The Art of Conversation; The Voice in Speech and Song; and The Christian Kindergarten.

Schmidt, Arthur P., musician, publisher, composer, was born April 1, 1846, in Germany. In 1876 he established a business of his own in Boston, Mass.; and now has branches in New York and Leipzig.

Schmidt, Edward August, brewer, banker, was born July 6, 1863, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is president of the C. Schmidt and Sons Brewery company; president of the Robert Smith Ale Brewing company; president of the Northwestern national bank; and is also president of the United States brewers' association.

Schmidt, Frederick Augustus, educator, clergyman, journalist, author, was born Jan. 3, 1837, in Germany. He has for years been a leader among the Norwegian Lutherans. In 1873 he was sent as delegate from the Norwegian synod to the general assembly of the Norwegian Mission society at Christiania, Norway. In 1864-65 he was editor of the Lutheran Watchman in Decorah, Iowa. In 1872-76 he was professor of theology in Concordia seminary of St. Louis; and since 1890 at seminary of the United Norman Lutheran church of Minneapolis.

Schmidt, Friedrich George Gottlob, educator, author, was born Nov. 17, 1868, in Bavaria. Since 1897 he has been professor of modern languages at the university of Oregon. He is the author of several works in German.

Schmidt, Gustavus, lawyer, author, was born June 16, 1795, in Sweden. In 1842 he began a series of lectures on civil law in New Orleans, La. He edited the Louisiana Law Journal in 1842-43. He was the author of The Civil Law of Spain and Mexico, with Notes and References. He died Sept. 20, 1877, in Sweet Springs, W. Va.

Schmidt, Henry Immanuel, educator, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 21, 1806, in Nazareth, Pa. He was a Lutheran clergyman; and professor of German in Columbia college in 1848-80. He was the author of History of Education; The Lutheran Doctrine of the Lord's Supper; and Course of Ancient Geography. He died Feb. 11, 1880, in New York City.

Schmidt, Joseph M., educator, clergyman, college president, was born March 25, 1846, in Altenburg, Mo. He has filled pastorates in Dallas and Saginaw, Mich. Since 1903 he has been professor of Hebrew and history; and in 1894-1903 was president at Concordia college at Fort Wayne, Ind.

Schmidt, Julian G., banker, statesman, was born Dec. 28, 1855, in Monroe, Wis.

He was educated in Carleton college of Northfield. In 1872-89 he was engaged in the hardware business in Faribault, Minn. He is now president of the Northfield national bank, president of the Bank of Denison, president of the Bank of Hampton and president of the National bank of West Concord, all in Minnesota. He is a trustee of Carlton college and a prominent mason.

Schmidt, Nathaniel, educator, author, was born May 22, 1862, in Sweden. He received his elementary and gymnasium education in Sweden. He was a student in the universities of Stockholm, Colgate and Berlin. In 1888-96 he was professor of Semitic languages and literatures of Colgate university; and in 1904-05 he was a director of the American school of archaeology in Jerusalem. Since 1906 he has been professor of Semitic language and literature at Cornell university. He is a member of the American institute of archaeology; and a member of the Society of biblical literature. He is the author of Introduction to the Hexateuch; Biblical Criticism and Theological Belief; Syllabus of Oriental History; The Republic of Man; Outline of a History of Egypt; Outline of a History of India; Outline of a History of Syria; and The Prophet of Nazareth.

Schmidt, William, theologian, author, was born July 26, 1855, in Germany. Since 1886 he has been professor of theology; and now fills that chair in the evangelical Lutheran seminary of St. Paul, Minn. He is the author of The Sighard, the Centurion; and Ramuldu.

Schmidt, William Andrew, soldier, was born in Illinois. In 1861 he was captain in the twenty-seventh regiment Illinois infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He was honorably mustered out in 1864.

Schmitt, William P., manufacturer, planter, publisher, business president, was born Jan. 25, 1862, in New York City. He graduated from the New York grammar school; and then pursued a course of study with the view of entering the naval academy at Annapolis. In 1881 he graduated from the United States brewers' academy; then after the old German custom for five years he traversed the United States, Mexico and Canada, making his own livelihood. He returned home and became brew-master in the establishment of Schmitt and Schwanenfluege, of which his father was senior partner; and in 1892 became general manager of a brewery in the West Indies. For several years he managed a tobacco plantation of six hundred acres in Florida; and subsequently became editor and proprietor of the Eufaula Sun of Alabama. On his father's death in 1897 he took charge of his father's business in New York City; and is now vice-president of that concern. In 1903 he was appointed executive of the department of parks of the borough of the Bronx; and has been a member of the grand jury. He is now extensively interested in real estate in the borough of the Bronx. He is vice-president of the Wyandotte club; a member of the metropolitan museum of art, the Nassau boat club, and of various other societies and clubs.

Schmütz, John Peter, merchant, physician, surgeon, lecturer, author, was born Feb. 24, 1834, in Germany. In 1855 he emigrated to America and engaged in mercantile pursuits. In 1875 he entered the Cooper Medical college of San Francisco; and subsequently attended the California Medical college, graduating therefrom in 1881, and has since attained prominence as a successful physician of San Francisco, and a noted lecturer and teacher of physiology to medical students, having held the chair of physiology in the California Medical college since 1886. He is the author of a work on Human Physiology, Analysis and Digest, for the use of Medical Students and Practitioners; and valuable papers and pamphlets on the cause of diphtheria and croup have appeared from his pen.

Schmucker, Beale Melancthon, clergyman, historian, hymnist, was born Aug. 26, 1827, in Gettysburg, Pa. He was one of the foremost liturgical scholars of the Lutheran church. He was editor of a Collection of Hymns; and one of the editors of The Common Service of the Lutheran Church. He died Oct. 18, 1888, in Pottstown, Pa.

Schmucker, John George, clergyman, author, poet, was born Aug. 18, 1771, in Germany. He was the author of Prophetic History of the Christian Religion, or Explanation of the Revelation of St. John. He died Oct. 7, 1854, in Williamsburg, Pa.

Schmucker, Samuel D., soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 26, 1844, in Gettysburg, Pa. In 1863 he was sergeant of the twenty-sixth Pennsylvania regiment in the union army. He practiced law in Baltimore for thirty-two years. He was president of the bar association; and was one of the commission which prepared the present charter of Baltimore City. Since 1898 he has been judge of the court of appeals of Maryland.

Schmucker, Samuel Mosheim, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 12, 1823, in New Market, Va. He was a Lutheran minister early in life. He was the author of Errors of Modern Infidelity; The Spanish Wife, a play; History of the Four Georges; History of All Religions; Court and Reign of Catherine II; Lives of Washington, Hamilton, Jefferson, Webster, Clay, Dr. Kane, Fremont; Morable Scenes in French History; History of the Modern Jews; History of Napoleon Third; Arctic Explorations; and History of the Civil War in the United States. He died May 12, 1863, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Schmucker, Samuel Simon, educator, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 28, 1799, in Hagerstown, Md. He was a Lutheran clergyman; professor in the Theological seminary at Gettysburg in 1826-64; and founder of Pennsylvania college. He was the author of forty-four books, the principal of which are Elements of Popular Theology; Psychology; Lutheran Manual; Lutheran Symbols, or American Lutheranism Vindicated; Church of the Redeemer; and The United of Christ's Church. He died July 26, 1873, in Gettysburg, Pa.

Schnakenberg, Daniel, insurance broker, was born Feb. 21, 1852, in Bremen, Germany. He is president of Hagedorn and company, now one of the largest firms in the marine insurance business. He is a member of the cotton, consolidated and produce exchanges. He is a trustee of the German savings bank; a director of the German-American bank; and treasurer of the German society.

Schneck, Benjamin Shroder, clergyman, author, was born March 14, 1806, in Upper Bern, Pa. He was a Lutheran clergyman; and pastor at Chambersburg in 1855-74. He was the author of Die deutsche Kanzel; The Burning of Chambersburg; and Mercersburg Theology. He died April 19, 1874, in Chambersburg, Pa.

Schneebeli, Gustav Adolph, United States congressman from Pennsylvania, was born May 23, 1853, in Neusalz, Prussia. In 1886 founded the knit goods industry of the Nazareth waist company; in 1888 he established the Lace manufacturing company at Nazareth, Pa., of which he is the sole owner; and is identified with several other industries in the town and vicinity. He is vice-president of the First national bank; and president of the Bethlehem, Nazareth and Slate Belt trolley system. In 1905-07 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the fifty-ninth congress.

Schneider, Albert, educator, botanist, author, was born April 13, 1863, in Granville, Ill. In 1903-05 he was professor of botany and materia medica in the Northwestern university school of pharmacy of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of A Text-book of General Lichenology; Guide to the Study of Lichens; Microscopy and Micro-Tech- nique; Hints on Drawing for Students of Biology; and Medicinal Plants of California. and was mayor of that city. He died Feb. 3, 1913.

Schneider, Charles Conrad, civil engineer, author, was born April 24, 1843, in Saxony. Since 1903 he has been a consulting engineer of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of General Specifications for Highway Bridges, and General Specifications for Structural Steel Work in Buildings.

Schneider, George, journalist, diplomat, in Ohio. In 1861 he was major in the eighth regiment Kansas infantry; and in 1865 was colonel and brigadier-general of volunteers. He died July, 1871, in Kansas.

Schneider, Edward F., soldier, was born banker, was born Dec. 14, 1823, in Bavaria. In 1850 he founded a German newspaper in St. Louis, Mo. In 1851 he began editing a German paper, which was the first Sunday paper published in Chicago; and was the first paper to oppose the Nebraska bill and spread anti-slavery doctrines. In 1856 he was a member of the national republican convention. In 1861 he was appointed United States consul to Denmark. He was then appointed collector of international revenue for the first district of Illinois. In 1863-71 he was president of the State savings bank of Illinois; and for twenty-five years was president of the National bank of Illinois.

Schober, William Bush, educator, chemist, author, was born Nov. 28, 1864, in Cumberland, Md. He is assistant professor of organic chemistry and chemical philosophy in Lehigh university of South Bethlehem, Pa. He is the author of several monographs; and is the translator of Gattermann's Practical Methods of Organic Chemistry.

Schodde, George Henry, educator, clergyman, author, was born April 15, 1854, in Allegheny, Pa. He has been professor at Capital university since 1880; editor Lutheran Standard since 1880; and editor Theological magazine since 1895. He is the author of The Protestant Church in Germany; and has translated several works.

Schoellkopf, Arthur, manufacturer, banker, business president was born June 13, 1856, in Buffalo, N.Y. He was educated in the public schools, at St. Joseph's college of Buffalo at Bryant and Stratton's business college, and studied four years in Germany. He was president of the Niagara Falls mill company, Cliff paper company, Gluck realty company, and the Niagara Falls brewing company. He was also secretary treasurer and general manager of the Niagara Falls hydraulic power and manufacturing company of Niagara Falls, N.Y.;

Schoen, Charles T., inventor, capitalist, was born in 1844. He has invented the pressed steel coal and freight railway cars; and invented the solid forged and rolled steel car wheel.

Schoeneck, Edward, lawyer, statesman, was born Aug. 6, 1875, in Syracuse, N.Y. He was educated at the Syracuse high school; and received the degree of LL.B. from the law school of the Syracuse university. He is a successful lawyer of the law firm of White, Bond and Schoeneck of Syracuse, N.Y.; and has been a member of the board of supervisors. In 1902-05 he served four terms as a representative in the New York state legislature. He is still a member of the assembly of the New York state legislature.

Schoenefeld, Henry, musician, composer, was born Oct. 4, 1857, in Milwaukee, Wis. After a pianist tour through northern Germany he settled in Chicago as a teacher and composer. He is the author of numerous compositions.

Schoenefeld, Hermann, educator, journalist, author, was born in 1861, in Prussia. Since 1894 he has been professor of Germanics at the Columbia university of Washington, D.C. Since 1899 he has been Ottoman consul-general in Washington, D.C. He is the author of Higher Education in Poland; History of Teutonic Women; and other works.

Schoenhof, Jacob, political economist, author, was born in 1839, in Germany. He was the author of Destructive Influence of the Tariff upon Manufactures and Commerce; Wages and Trade; The Economy of High Wages; Technical Education in Europe; and History of Money and Prices.

Schoepf, Albin Francisco, soldier, was born March 1, 1822, in Hungary. In 1858 he became an assistant examiner in the patent-office. He was appointed brigadier-general of volunteers; was appointed principal examiner in the patent-office, which post he continued to fill until his death. He died Jan. 15, 1886, in Hyattsville, Md.

Schoff, Hannah Kent, founder philanthropist, was born in Upper Darby, Pa. In 1872 she married Frederic Schoff; and resides in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1890-1902 she was the first president of the Penn congress of mothers. In 1902-11 she served three terms as president of the National congress of mothers. She organized and led the movement to obtain a juvenile court and probation system in Pennsylvania; and has had charge of probation in Philadelphia since 1901. She compiled the laws of every state in the union concerning dependent and delinquent children.

Schoff, Stephen Alonzo, engraver, artist, was born Jan. 10, 1818, in Danville, Vt. He engaged in bank-note work in New York City; and soon was employed upon his first important work, Caius Marius on the Ruins of Carthage, after Vanderlyn. This plate was issued about 1843; and to expedite its publication and aid the young artist, the master American engraver, Asher Brown Durand, engraved the head and gave some touches to the figure. He later turned his attention to etching, producing some beautiful plates. He died in 1904, in Newtonville, Mass.

Schofield, George Wheeler, soldier, was born in New York. In 1861 he was first lieutenant in the first regiment New York infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted colonel and brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Sept. 17, 1882.

Schofield, John McAllister, soldier, cabinet officer, was born Sept. 29, 1831, in Chautauqua county, N.Y. In 1853 he graduated from the United States Military Academy; was assigned to the first regiment of artillery, and during 1855-60 was professor of natural philosophy. In 1861 he was commissioned captain. During the civil war he served as major of the first Missouri volunteers; was appointed chief of staff, and the same year became brigadier-general of the Missouri militia. In 1862 he was appointed major-general of volunteers, and in 1864, for his services at the battle of Franklin, he was made brigadier-general and brevet major-general in the regular army. In 1868-69 he was secretary of war; and in 1869 he was appointed major-general. During 1876-81 he was superintendent of the United States military academy; during 1888-95 commanded the United States army; in 1895 was retired from active service; and was made lieutenant-general by special act of congress. He died March 4, 1906, in St. Augustine, Fla.

Schofield, W. Elmer, painter, artist, was born in 1867, in Philadelphia, Pa. He has received many prizes and medals. He is a national academician; and a member of the Philadelphia art club. He is represented in permanent collections at the Philadelphia academy of fine arts and at the Cincinnati museum.

Schofield, William Henry, educator, author, was born April 6, 1870, in Canada. Since 1906 he has been professor of comparative literature at Harvard university. In 1907-08 he was Harvard visiting professor at the university of Berlin. He is the author of History of English Literature from the Norman Conquest to Chaucer; and other works.

Schofield, John, lawyer, jurist. He was a justice of the supreme court of Illinois. He died Feb. 13, 1893, in Marshall, Ill.

Scholte, Henry P., clergyman, lawyer, founder, was born Sept. 25, 1805, in The Netherlands. In 1846 he became president of an organization to promote emigration to America; and the same year four ships sailed for Baltimore. The emigrants located in Marion county, Iowa, and founded the city of Pella. He was the first postmaster of Pella; and donated five acres of land to the Iowa central university. He died Aug. 25, 1868, in Pella, Iowa.

Schoolcraft, Henry Rowe, ethnologist, geologist, author, poet, was born March 29, 1793, in Albany county, N.Y. Thirty years of his life were spent among the Indians, chiefly at Mackinaw. He discovered the source of the Mississippi in 1832. He was the author of View of the Lead Mines of Missouri; Algic Discoveries; Historical Information Concerning the Indian Tribes; Narrative of an Expedition to Itasca

Lake; Oneota, reissued as The Indian and His Wigwam; The Myth of Hiawatha; Personal Memoirs of Thirty Years' Residence with Indian Tribes; Scenes and Adventures in the Ozark Mountains; Life of General Cass; and several volumes of poems. He died Dec. 10, 1864, in Washington, D.C.

Schoolcraft, John L., merchant, banker, congressman, was born in Albany, N.Y. He was for many years president of the Commercial bank of Albany. In 1849-53 he was a representative from New York to the thirty-first and thirty-second congresses. He died in May, 1860, in Canada.

Schoolcraft, Mrs. Mary Howard, litterateur, author, was born in Beaufort, S.C. She is the author of The Black Gauntlet, a Tale of Plantation Life.

Schoonmaker, Augustus, lawyer, statesman, was born March 2, 1828, in Rochester, N.Y. In 1876-77 he was a member of the New York state senate and in 1878-79 was attorney-general of New York. He died April 10, 1894, in Kingston, N.Y.

Schoonmaker, Cornelius C., congressman, was born in June, 1745, in Rochester, N.Y. In 1791-93 he was a representative from New York to the second congress; and for fourteen years, before and after the above term was a member of the New York assembly from the county of Ulster. He died in 1796, in Shawangunk, N.Y.

Schoonmaker, Marius, lawyer, congressman, author, was born April 24, 1811, in Kingston, N.Y. In 1851-53 he was a representative to the thirty-second congress. In 1854 he was auditor of the canal department; and in 1855-56 he served as superintendent of the bank department of the state of New York. He was the author of Public Lands; The Slave Question; and a History of Kingston From Its First Settlement to 1820. He died Jan. 5, 1894, in Kingston, N.Y.

Schoonmaker, Martinus, clergyman, was born in 1737, in Rochester, N.Y. In 1784 he fixed his residence at Flatbush; and assumed charge of the six congregations in Kings county. He died in 1824, in Flatbush, N.Y.

Schott, Charles Antony, civil engineer, author, was born Aug. 7, 18—, in Germany. He entered the service of the United States coast survey; and from 1856 was an assistant in United States coast and geodetic survey. He was the author of works on meteorology. He died in 1901, in Washington, D.C.

Schotter, Julius John, merchant, was born July 9, 1858, in St. Louis, Mo. In 1898 he became manager and sole proprietor of a coffee and tea house in St. Louis, Mo.

Schouler, James, educator, lawyer, historian, author, was born March 20, 1839, in Arlington, Mass. He is a lawyer and historian of Boston; and professor in the law school of Boston university. He is the author of The Law of Bailments; The Law of Personal Property; the Law of The Domestic Relation; Law of Executors and Administrators; Law of Wills; A History of the United States Under the Constitution;

Life of Thomas Jefferson; Historical Briefs; Americans of 1776; and Ideals of the Republic.

Schouler, John, naval officer, was born Nov. 30, 1846, in Lowell, Mass. During the civil war he became lieutenant. In 1895-97 he was chief of staff of the North Atlantic fleet; and in 1899 was retired with the rank of rear-admiral.

Schouler, William, journalist, author, was born Dec. 31, 1814, in Scotland. He was a journalist of Boston; and in 1860-66 was adjutant-general of Massachusetts. He was the author of A History of Massachusetts during the civil war. He died Oct. 24, 1872, in West Roxbury, Mass.

Schoyer, Alfred M., railway official, was born Nov. 1, 1859, in Allegheny City, Pa. In 1872 he entered railway service and has filled positions of telegraph operator, train dispatcher and superintendent of telegraph. In 1902-12 he was general superintendent of the northwest system of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh; and since 1913 has been general manager of the Vandalia railroad at St. Louis.

Schrader, Frederick Franklin, journalist, author, was born Oct. 27, 1857, in Germany. For several years he was a manager of theaters. In 1898 he compiled and edited the republican campaign textbook. In 1900-07 he was dramatic editor of the Washington Post. He is the author of Jose, a novel; and several plays.

Schrakamp, Josepha, educator, author, was born in Germany. He has taught in the New York schools. He is the author of Conversational Exercises; and several works in German and French.

Schreiber, Anthony, business president, was born Jan. 12, 1864, in Polish Germany. For over twenty-nine years he has been actively engaged in business in the United States, during sixteen years of which he was connected with a concern engaged in the manufacture of glycerine in New York City. In 1899 he organized and has since been president and general manager of the A. Schreiber Brewing company of Buffalo.

Schreier, George Otto, manufacturer, inventor, was born June 14, 1843, in Nuremberg, Germany. He has invented a machine that will produce seventy thousand eyelets a minute; and many other devices such as, water meters and multiplex telegraphy machine. In 1882 he organized a company for the manufacture of goods under his own patent rights.

Schrenk, Herman Von, botanist, author, was born March 12, 1873, in College Point, N.Y. He was in charge of the investigations on timber diseases and timber preservation; and was special agent of the Bureau of forestry for the United States department of agriculture; and is consulting timber engineer for several railroads. He is the author of Decay of Timber and Methods for Preventing It; and Seasoning of Timber.

Schreyvogel, Charles, painter, artist, was born Jan. 4, 1861, in New York City. In 1900 he received first prize from the National academy of design for the oil painting entitled My Bunkie; and has received several medals. In 1901 he was elected an associate of the National academy of design.

Schrivver, Edmund, soldier, was born Sept. 16, 1812, in York, Pa. He served in the Florida, Mexican and civil wars; and was brevetted major-general of the United States army in 1865. He died Feb. 10, 1899, in Washington, D.C.

Schroeder, A. T., lawyer, lecturer, author, was born Sept. 17, 1864, in Horicon, Wis. He successfully conducted the case against congressman elect Brigham W. Roberts; and is a noted anti-Mormon lecturer. He is the author of Mormonism.

Schroeder, Frederick A., merchant, statesman, was born March 9, 1833, in Germany. In 1871 he was comptroller of Brooklyn, N.Y., and in 1876-78 he was mayor of that city. In 1879-81 he was a member of the New York state senate. He died in 1899 in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Schroeder, John Frederick, educator, clergyman, author, was born April 8, 1800, in Baltimore, Md. He was an episcopal clergyman and educator of Flushing, L.I. He was the author of Life of Washington; Maxims of Washington; Class Book of Astronomy; and Sunday Addresses. He died Feb. 26, 1857, in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Schroeder, Seaton, naval officer, governor, author, was born in Aug. 17, 1849, in Washington, D.C. He graduated from the naval academy of Annapolis. He served through the Spanish-American war as lieutenant-commander; and in 1899 he became commander. In 1890 he was appointed governor of Guam; and has shown executive ability of a high order in the government of that island in a most satisfactory manner. He is now connected with the war department in Washington, D.C. He is the author of Fall of Maximilian's Empire.

Schroers, John, journalist, publisher, was born in 1838 in Germany. In 1877 he became a reporter for the Anzeiger des Westens; and in 1884 became editor and business manager. He bought out two rival German dailies and consolidated them with the Westliche Post. He is president of the St. Louis board of education.

Schuetz, Conrad Herman Louis, educator, clergyman, author, was born June 17, 1843, in Germany. In 1865-72 he was pastor at Delaware, Ohio; and has been professor of mathematics and natural science in Capitol university since 1872. Since 1895 he has been general president of the Lutheran synod of Ohio and other states. He has been editor-in-chief of the Columbus Theological magazine since 1886. He is the author of The Church Member's Manual; The State, The Church, and the School; and Before the Altar.

Schulte, Mrs. Mary Jemina, poet, was born in 1847 in England. She is a poet of Jersey City, N.J. She is the author of Bide a Wee, and Other Poems.

Schultz, Alfred Reginald, educator, geologist, was born March 26, 1876, in Tomah, Wis. In 1902 he was professor of sciences; and in 1902-04 was research assistant in Wausau high school. In 1902 he was an associate editor of the Wisconsin handbook of track and field athletes; in 1903 he was chief of an exploration party in Ontario, Canada; and in 1903 was resident hydrologist in Wisconsin. In 1904-05 he was a fellow in the university of Chicago; and since 1905 has been a geologist in the United States geological survey.

Schultz, Emanuel, manufacturer, congressman, was born July 25, 1819, in Berks county, Pa. In 1875 he was elected a member of the Ohio house of representatives. In 1881-83 he was a representative from Ohio to the forty-seventh congress. He died in Miamisburg, Ohio.

Schultz, Jackson S., merchant, was born in 1815 in Dutchess county, N.Y. In 1837 he succeeded to the leather business of his father, which he continued until 1883. In 1873 he was appointed by President Grant a commissioner to the Vienna international exposition. He died March 1, 1891, in New York City.

Schultz, James Willard, journalist, author, was born Aug. 26, 1860, in Boonville, N.Y. He is a contributor to Forest and Stream; Outing; and other magazines. He is the author of My Life as an Indian.

Schultze, Arthur, educator, inventor, author, was born March 30, 1861, in Germany. Since 1905 he has been a professor of the New York university. He is the inventor of the dynamic heater. He is the author of Propagation of Heat in a Homogeneous Rectangular Parallelopiped; Graphic Algebra; and other works.

Schultze, Augustus, educator, theologian, college president, was born Feb. 3, 1840, in Germany. In 1870 he became a professor; and since 1885 has been president of Moravian college and theological seminary in Bethlehem, Pa. He is the author of The History of Moravian Missions; Grammar and Vocabulary of the Eskimo Language of Northwestern Alaska; The Theology of Peter and Paul; and Christian Doctrine and Systematic Theology.

Schultze, Carl Emil, illustrator, artist, author, was born May 25, 1866, in Lexington, Ky. He introduced the Foxy Grandpa Series published in the New York Herald in 1900; and in the New York American since 1902. He is the author of The Adventures of Foxy Grandpa; The Further Adventures of Foxy Grandpa; The Many Adventures of Foxy Grandpa; and The New Adventures of Foxy Grandpa; Foxy Grandpa up to Date; Foxy Grandpa's Mother Goose; Foxy Grandpa's Surprises; and Foxy Grandpa's Frolics.

Schulze, John Andrew, governor, was born July 19, 1775, in Tulpehocken, Pa. In 1823-29 he was governor of Pennsylvania. He died Nov. 18, 1852, in Lancaster, Pa.

Schumacher, James Madison, banker, state senator, railroad president, was born Nov. 18, 1843, in Mohawk, N.Y. For one term he was a member of the Florida state senate. In 1890-93 he was president of the State bankers' association; was president of the Jacksonville and Atlantic railroad; and was vice-president of the Maine street electric railroad.

Schumacker, Samuel D., lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 26, 1844, in Gettysburg, Pa. In 1863 he was sergeant of the twenty-sixth Pennsylvania regiment in Baltimore for thirty-two years. He was president of the bar association; and was one of the commission which prepared present charter of Baltimore city. Since 1898 he has been associate justice of the state supreme court of appeals for Maryland, and is now serving the term of 1903-09.

Schumaker, John Godfrey, lawyer, congressman, was born June 27, 1826, in Claverack, N.Y. He was educated at Claverack academy and the academy at Lenox, Mass. In 1856 he was elected district attorney for Kings county; and in 1862 and 1864 was elected corporation counsel for the city of Brooklyn. In 1869-71 and 1875-77 he was a representative from New York to the forty-first, forty-third and forty-fourth congresses as a democrat. He was a member of the State constitutional conventions to revise the constitution of New York in 1867-68 and in 1894.

Schumann, Walter, diplomat, author, was born July 1, 1870, in New York City. In 1897 he was appointed United States consul to Mainz, Germany; and in 1907 was transferred to Odessa, Russia. He is the author of The Law of Marriage and Divorce of the German Empire; and History of American Literature.

Schuneman, Martin G., congressman, was born in Ulster county, N.Y. In 1805-07 he was a representative from New York to the ninth congress. He died in New York.

Schureman, James, merchant, congressman, United States senator, was born Feb. 12, 1757, in New Brunswick, N.J. In 1786-87 he was a delegate from New Jersey to the continental congress; and in 1780-91, 1797-99 and 1813-15 he was a representative from New Jersey to the first, fifth and thirteenth congresses; and in 1799-1801 he was United States senator. He was at one time mayor of New Brunswick. He died Jan. 23, 1824, in New Brunswick, N.J.

Schureman, Melancthon Freeman, manufacturer, genealogist, was born Aug. 31, 1820, in New Brunswick. He was proprietor of two planing mills in New York City; and was engaged with planing mills for fifty years. For forty years he was vestryman of the parish of St. John the evangelist. He published the Schureman Genealogy. He died in New York City.

Schurz, Carl, soldier, journalist, diplomat, cabinet officer, United States senator, author, was born March 2, 1829, near Cologne, Germany. He came to the United States in 1852. In 1861 he was selected by President Lincoln as minister to Spain; and was then appointed a brigadier-general, then major-general, of volunteers. In 1865-66 he was Washington correspondent for the New York Tribune; and subsequently connected with the press of Detroit and St. Louis. In 1869-75 he was United States senator from Missouri. In 1877-81 he was secretary of the interior. He was afterwards editor of the New York Evening Post, in which position he continued until 1884. He was the author of Speeches; Life of Henry Clay; and Abraham Lincoln, an essay. He died May 14, 1906, in New York City.

Schurman, Jacob Gould, educator, college president, author, was born May 22, 1854, in Canada. For many years he was a successful Canadian educator; and since 1892 has been president of Cornell university of Ithaca, N.Y. He is the president of the Association of colleges and preparatory schools of the United States and Maryland. He is the author of Kantian Ethics and the Ethics of Evolution; The Ethical Import of Darwinism; Belief in God; and Agnosticism and Religion.

Schussele, Christian, painter, artist, was born April 16, 1824, in Alsace. He worked at chromo-lithography; and later he devoted himself almost entirely to painting. His best-known works are Clear the Track; Franklin before the Lords in Council; Men of Progress, in Cooper Institute of New York City; The Iron-Worker and King Solomon; Washington at Valley Forge; and Home on Furlough; and McClennan at Antietam. He died Aug. 20, 1879, in Merchantville, N.J.

Schuyler, Aaron, educator, college president, author, was born Feb. 7, 1828, in Seneca county, N.Y. For twelve years he was president of Baldwin university; for six years was president of the Kansas wesleyan university; and for twenty-five years was professor of philosophy; and later of higher mathematics and philosophy in the Kansas wesleyan university at Salina. He is the author of Higher Arithmetic; Complete Algebra; Surveying; The Principles of Logic; Outlines of Psychology; and Systems of Ethics.

Schuyler, Anthony, clergyman, author, was born July 8, 1816, in Geneva, N.Y. Since 1868 he has been rector of Grace church at Orange, N.J. He is author of Household Religion; and The Incarnate World. He died in 1900 in East Orange, N.J.

Schuyler, Eugene, diplomat, author, was born Feb. 26, 1840, in Ithaca, N.Y. He entered the diplomatic service of the United States in 1866; was consul at Moscow in 1867-69; was consul at Reval in 1869-70; and was secretary of legation at St. Petersburg in 1870-76. He became secretary of legation and consul-general in Constantinople in 1876. He is the author of Turkestan, Notes of a Journey in Russian Turkestan, Khokand, Bokhara, and Kuldja; and Peter the Great.

Schuyler, George Lee, author, was born June 9, 1811, in Rhinebeck, N.Y. He was active in yachting matters; and in 1882 the America's cup was returned to him, as its sole surviving donor, by the New York yacht club. He was the author of Correspondence and Remarks upon Bancroft's History of the Northern Campaigns in 1877; and the Character of Major-General Philip Schuyler. He died July 31, 1890, in New York City.

Schuyler, George Washington, state legislator, author, was born Feb. 2, 1810, in Stillwater, N.Y. In 1863-65 he was treasurer for the state of New York; superintendent of the banking department of New York in 1866-70; and was elected to the state assembly in 1875. He was the author of Colonial New York; and Philip Schuyler and His Family. He died Feb. 1, 1888, in Ithaca, N.Y.

Schuyler, James Dix, hydraulic engineer, author, was born May 11, 1848, in Ithaca, N.Y. In 1863-68 he attended Friend's college; and also further studied under private tutors. In 1869-73 he was engaged in railroad construction. In 1878-82 he was assistant state engineer of California; and in 1882-84 was chief engineer and superintendent of the Cinaloa and Durango railroad in Mexico. In 1884-85 he built a section of the sea-wall in San Francisco; in 1887-88 built Sweetwater dam; has built waterworks in Denver and Portland; various irrigation works in the west; and is now a successful hydraulic engineer of Los Angeles, Cal. He is the author of Reservoirs for Irrigations; Water Power and Domestic Water Supply.

Schuyler, Montgomery, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 9, 1814, in New York City. He was rector of Christ church in 1854-96. He was the author of The Church: Its Ministry and Worship; and The Pioneer Church. He died March 10, 1896, in St. Louis, Mo.

Schuyler, Montgomery, journalist, author, was born Aug. 19, 1843, in Ithaca, N.Y. In 1865-83 he was connected with the New York World; and is now on the staff of The Times. He is the author of Studies in American Architecture; and Westward the Course of Empire.

Schuyler, Montgomery, diplomat, author, was born Sept. 2, 1877, in Stamford, Conn. Since 1904 he has been United States consular-general at Bangkok, Siam. He is the author of Bibliograph of the Sanskrit Drama.

Schuyler, Peter, soldier, merchant, colonial governor, was born Sept. 17, 1657, in Albany, N.Y. He was a successful merchant of Albany, and its first mayor. In 1710-20 he was colonial governor of New York. He died Feb. 19, 1724, in Albany, N.Y.

Schuyler, Philip J., congressman, was born in 1768 in Dutchess county, N.Y. In 1817-19 he was a representative from New York to the fifteenth congress. He died Feb. 21, 1835, in New York City.

Schuyler, Philip, soldier, congressman, United States senator, was born Nov. 22, 1733, in Albany, N.Y. He was appointed major-general in the army of the revolution in 1775; and was dispatched to the fortifications of the north of New York, to prepare for the invasion of Canada. In 1775 and 1778-81 he was a delegate from New York to the continental congress; and in 1789-91 and 1797-99 he was United States senator. He died Nov. 18, 1804, in Albany, N.Y.

Schuyler, Richard, soldier, legislator, was born in 1733 in Albany, N.Y. He was a captain under Sir William Johnson; and was in active public service until the revolution. He was a general in the patriot army; and was a legislator after the war. He died in 1804.

Schuyler, William, educator, author, was born May 4, 1855, in St. Louis, Mo. Since 1875 he has been engaged as a teacher, lecturer and writer on general and pedagogical subjects. Since 1895 he has been assistant principal of a high school in St. Louis, Mo. He is the author of An Ambassador of Christ; and Under Pontius Pilate; and has composed songs and music.

Schuyler, William Henry, educator, clergyman, was born Oct. 15, 1848, in Hartleton, Pa. He was instructor in Lafayette college; principal of the Lewistown and New Bloomfield academies; and in 1887-99 was pastor of the presbyterian church in Everett, Pa. He is now pastor of the presbyterian church of Schellsburg, Pa.

Schwab, Charles M., civil engineer, manager, founder, was born April 18, 1862, in Williamsburg, Pa. He became president of the Carnegie steel company; and on the organization of the United States steel corporation became president of that institution. He built the new catholic church at Loretta, Pa.; and established the industrial school of Homestead, Pa.

Schwab, John Christopher, educator, librarian, author, was born in 1865, in New York City. Since 1898 he has been professor of political economy; and since 1905 has been librarian at Yale university. He is the editor of the Yale Review of New Haven, Conn. He is the author of History of New York Property Tax; and The Confederate States of America.

Schwamb, Peter, educator, mechanical engineer, author, was born Feb. 13, 1858, in Arlington, Mass. Since 1883 he has been in charge of the department of mechanic arts at the Massachusetts institute of technology; and since 1901 has been professor of machine design in that institution. He is the author of Elements of Mechanism.

Schwan, Theodore, soldier, was born July 9, 1841, in Germany. In 1857-58 he served in the United States army in the Utah expedition; and for gallant and meritorious service in the civil war in 1861-65 was brevetted captain and major; and was also awarded a medal of honor. In 1865-67 he served on the frontier and on various duties. In 1898-1901 he was brigadier-general of volunteers; and commanded the expedition which expelled the Spanish forces from western Porto Rico after twice defeating the army. He also commanded the expedition which scattered the insurgent troops in Caviti province; and in 1900 commanded Schwan's expeditionary brigade; and captured and occupied twenty towns and thus ended the insurrection in several provinces. He was assigned to duty as president of the board of brevities and medals of honor and was retired in 1901.

Schwartz, John, soldier, congressman, was born Oct. 27, 1793, in Berks county, Pa. He served as lieutenant in the last war with Great Britain. In 1859-60 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-sixth congress. He died in July, 1860, in Reading, Pa.

Schwartz, Jacob, librarian, author, was born March 13, 1846, in New York City. In 1863 he entered the Apprentices library of New York, of which he became chief librarian in 1871. The method of management that is followed there was devised by him. He has contributed to the Library Journal and other periodicals.

Schwartz, Julia Augusta, litterateur, author, was born Feb. 3, 1873, in Albany, N.Y. She is the author of Vassar Studies, Five Little Strangers; Famous Pictures of Children; and Beatrice Leigh at College.

Schwartz, Karl, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 21, 1862, in New York City. He graduated from Syracuse university and from Berkeley divinity school. In 1889-91 he was rector of the Trinity protestant episcopal church of Lowville, N.Y.; and in 1891-98 was assistant rector of the church of Zion and St. Timothy of New York City. In 1898-99 he was chaplain of the first regiment New York volunteers in the Spanish-American war, with the rank of captain. Since 1899 he has been rector of the church of the Saviour at Syracuse, N.Y. He is the author of A Catechism; A Message; and Inherited Criminal Tendencies and How Nature Deals with Them.

Schwarz, George Frederick, forester, author, was born April 13, 1868, in Baltimore, Md. In 1899-1904 he was an expert in the forest service in the United States department of agriculture; and is now engaged as a consulting forester. He is the author of Forest Trees and Forest Scenery; The Rock River and Its Relation to the Surrounding Forests, and The Longleaf Pine in Virgin Forest.

Schwarzburger, Carl, designer, engraver, was born July 7, 1850, in Germany. In 1874 he came to New York to illustrate the books entitled Picturesque Australasia.

Schwatka, Frederick, naval officer, explorer, author, was born Sept. 29, 1849, in Galena, Ill. He was a naval officer and explorer. He was the author of In the Land of Cave and Cliff Dwellers; Nimrod in the North; Along Alaska's Great River; and The Children of the Cold. He died Nov. 2, 1892, in Portland, Oregon.

Schwatt, Isaac J., educator, author, was born June 18, 1867, in Russia. He is assistant professor of mathematics in the university of Pennsylvania. He is the author of series of Textbooks of Mathematics.

Schwebach, James, clergyman, bishop, was born Aug. 15, 1747, in Luxemburg. He came to America in 1864. In 1892 he was consecrated bishop of the diocese of La Crosse, having for ten years previous been its vicar-general.

Schwedtman, Ferdinand Charles, electrical engineer, was born May 13, 1865, in Germany. He received a high school education in Hanover and Amsterdam. He then spent two years in South America; settled in New York in 1881; and there studied electrical and mechanical engineering. He was with the Edison electric company of New York; and later was superintendent of water service of the Cotton Belt railway in Arkansas. In 1889 he moved to St. Louis; and became chief engineer of the Missouri electric light and power company of that city. He was one of the organizers of the Wagner electric manufacturing company of St. Louis, and its manager until 1904. He is now president of the Louisiana contracting company; president of the Citizen's industrial association of St. Louis; and vice-president of the National association of manufacturers. He is a member of the American institute of electrical engineers; a member of the St. Louis engineers' club, and a member of the Mercantile club, University club and Oasis club of St. Louis, Mo.

Schweinfurth, Charles Frederick, designer, architect, was born in 1856 in Auburn, N.Y. Since 1883 he has practiced as an architect in New York City. His works have been mostly in residence, collegiate and church structures.

Schweinitz, Edmund Alexander, bishop, college president, author, was born March 20, 1825, in Bethlehem, Pa. He was a Moravian bishop in Pennsylvania; and president of the Moravian college in 1867-84. He was the author of The Moravian Manual; The Moravian Episcopate; Life of Zeisberger, the Western Pioneer and Apostles to the Indians; Some of the Fathers of the American Moravian Church; History of the Church Known as the Unitas Fratrum; and Systematic Benevolence. He died Dec. 18, 1887, in Bethlehem, Pa.

Schweinitz, Emil Alexander De, chemist, bacteriologist, author, was born Jan. 18, 1866, in Salem, N.C. He entered the chemical division of the agricultural department in Washington; and became in 1890 director of the Biochemic laboratory of the agricultural department. He was also professor of chemistry in the Columbian university medical school, of which faculty he was dean. He was the author of A Chemical Study of the Osage Orange as a Substitute for the Mulberry in Rearing Silkworms; The Poisons Produced by the Hog Cholera Germ; The Production of Immunity to Swine Plague by Use of the Products of the Germs; The Use of Mallein and its Active Principles; A Preliminary Study of the Poisons of the Tuberculosis Bacillus and the Practical Value and Use of Tuberculin; Artificial Media for Bacterial Cultures; The Effect of Tuberculin on the Milk of Cows; The Chemical Composition of the Tuberculosis and Glanders Bacilli; A Hygienic Study of Oleomargarine; and The War with the Microbes. He died in 1904 in Washington, D.C.

Schweinitz, George Edmund De, physician, author, was born in 1858 in Philadelphia, Pa. He is a physician of Philadelphia, Pa.; and is professor of ophthalmology in the university of Pennsylvania. He is the author of Diseases of the Eye; Diseases of the Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat; and Toxic Amblyopias.

Schweinitz, Lewis David De, clergyman, botanist, author, was born Feb. 13, 1780, in Bethlehem, Pa. He was a Moravian clergyman of Bethlehem, Pa.; and a famous botanist. He was the author of Conspicuum Fungorum Lusatie; Synopsis Fungorum Carolinae Superioris; Synopsis Fungorum Americae; and Boreali Media Digentium. He died Feb. 8, 1834, in Bethlehem, Pa.

Scidmore, Eliza Ruhamah, litterateur, author, was born Oct. 14, 1856, in Madison, Wis. She is foreign secretary of the national geographical society. She is the author of Westward to the Far East; From East to West; Guide to Alaska and the Northwest Coast; and Java, the Garden of the East.

Scidmore, George Hawthorne, diplomat, author, was born Oct. 12, 1854, in Dubuque, Iowa. Since 1907 he has been American consulor to Nagasaki. He is the author of American Consulor Courts in Japan.

Scofield, Edward, soldier, state senator, governor, was born March 28, 1842, in Clearfield, Pa. During the civil war he served in the eleventh Pennsylvania reserved; and received the brevet of major. In 1886 he was elected state senator for four years; and in 1897-1901 was the seventeenth governor of Wisconsin. He is a lumber manufacturer of Oconto, Wis.

Scofield, Glenni William, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born March 11, 1817, in Chautauqua county, N.Y. In 1850-51 he was a member of the Pennsylvania assembly; and in 1857-59 was in the state senate. In 1861 he was appointed president judge of the eighteenth judicial district of the state. In 1863-75 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-eighth, thirty-ninth, fortieth, forty-first, forty-second and forty-third congresses as a republican. He was register of the treasury of the United States in 1878-81; and in 1881-91 was an associate justice of the United States court of claims. He died Aug. 30, 1891, in Warren, Pa.

Scofield, Levi Tucker, soldier, architect, sculptor, was born Nov. 9, 1842, in Cleveland, Ohio. He served throughout the civil war; and in 1864 attained the rank of captain. Since 1867 he has been engaged in erecting buildings in Cleveland, Ohio, and other cities. He designed the Soldiers' and sailors' orphan home at Xenia, Ohio; the Cleveland house of correction; and the Athens and Columbus asylums for the insane. He designed the Cuyahoga county soldiers' and sailors' monument of Cleveland, Ohio.

Scofield, Walter Keeler, naval officer, was born April 28, 1839, in Stamford, Conn. In 1861 he was appointed assistant surgeon in the United States navy; and in 1866 was promoted surgeon; in 1883 became medical inspector; in 1890 was advanced to medical director; and in 1901 was retired with the rank of rear-admiral.

Scollard, Clinton, educator, author, poet, was born Sept. 18, 1860, in Clinton, N.Y. He was professor of English literature and Anglo-Saxon at Hamilton college in 1889-96; and is a well-known poet. His poetical writings are Pictures in Song; With Reed and Lyre; Old and New World Lyrics; Songs of Sunrise Lands; Hills of Song; Skenandoa; A Boy's Book of Rhyme; and Giovio and Guilia. In prose he has published Under Summer Skies; On Sunny Shores; A Man-at-Arms; Easter Song; and other works.

Scott, Abraham M., governor. He was the fifth governor of Mississippi in 1831-33. He died in Mississippi.

Scott, Alexander H., soldier, physician, surgeon, was born Sept. 19, 1840, in Schoolcraft, Mich. He graduated from the medical department of the university of Michigan. In 1861-66 he was surgeon in the United States army. He is one of the foremost physicians and surgeons of Michigan at St. Joseph; has been director of the Union school for twelve years; was alderman for seven terms; and for three terms was mayor of St. Joseph, Mich.

Scott, Andrew, lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 6, 1788, in Virginia. He was the first presiding judge of the supreme court of the territory of Arkansas in 1820-28. He killed Judge Joseph Selden in a duel, and also General Edward Hogan. He died in 1859 in Pope county, Ark.

Scott, Angelo Cyrus, educator, state senator, college president, was born Sept. 25, 1857, in Franklin, Ind. He graduated from the university of Kansas; and graduated from the Columbian university law school; and has received the degrees of A.M. and LL.M. In 1885-97 he practiced law in Iola, Kan., and in Oklahoma City, Okla. In 1893 he was executive commissioner for Oklahoma to the World's columbian exposition; and in 1896-97 was a member of the Oklahoma territorial senate as a republican. In 1897-99 he was professor of English language and literature at the Oklahoma agricultural and mechanical college at Stillwater, Okla.; and since 1899 has been president of that institution.

Scott, Austin, educator, college president, was born Aug. 10, 1848, in Maumee, Ohio. In 1872-73 he was private secretary to George Bancroft, the historian. In 1873-75 he taught German in the university of Michigan. In 1883-90 he was professor of history, political economy and constitutional law in Rutgers college; in 1890-1906 was president of that institution; and since 1906 has been professor of history and political science at Rutgers college.

Scott, C. C., lawyer, jurist. In 1848 he was an associate justice of the supreme court of Arkansas.

Scott, Charles, soldier, governor, was born in 1733 in Cumberland county, Va. He was appointed colonel of the third Virginia battalion in 1776; and was made brigadier-general in 1777. He was the fourth governor of Kentucky in 1808-12. He died Oct. 23, 1813.

Scott, Charles, soldier, lawyer, banker, was born Nov. 7, 1847, in Jackson, Miss. At the age of fifteen he joined the confederate army, and served with distinction. He is one of the leading lawyers of the south at Rosedale, Miss.; the president of the bank of Rosedale; prominent in the public affairs of his city, county and state; and for many years was president of the Mississippi levee commissioners.

He is possessed of a constructive talent which places him in the front rank of law-makers; and his name has several times been mentioned in connection with the senatorship of his state.

Scott, Charles, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Nov. 12, 1811, in Knoxville, Tenn.

He was a lawyer of Jackson, Miss. He was for many years chancellor of the superior court of chancery of the state of Mississippi. He was the author of Analogy of Ancient Craft Masonry to Natural and Revealed Religion; and The Keystone of the Masonic Arch. He died May 30, 1861, in Jackson, Miss.

Scott, Charles Angus, educator, author, was born in 1858 in England. Since 1885 he has been a professor of mathematics at Bryn Mawr college of Pennsylvania. He is the author of Certain Modern Ideas in Plane Analytical Geometry.

Scott, Charles Felton, electrical engineer, was born Sept. 19, 1864, in Athens county, Ohio. He is consulting engineer of the Westinghouse electric and manufacturing company. In 1902 he was president and is now a member of the Engineers society of Western, Pa.; and in 1902-03 was president of the American institute of electrical engineers.

Scott, Charles Frederick, journalist, congressman, was born Sept. 7, 1860, near Iola, Kansas. He received the rudiments of his education in the common schools of his native county, and at the Kansas state university. Since 1882 he has been the owner and editor of The Register of Iola, Kan. In 1891 he was appointed member of the board of regents of the state university, to which position he has been thrice reappointed; was president of the Kansas State editorial association in 1893; president of the Kansas state republican league in 1895; and a candidate for presidential elector in 1896. In 1892-96 he was a member of the senate of the Kansas state legislature. In 1901-11 he was a representative-at-large from Kansas to the fifty-seventh, fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth, sixtieth and sixty-first congresses. He is the author of In the Far East; and other works.

Scott, Charles Lewis, soldier, lawyer, jurist, diplomat, congressman, was born Jan. 23, 1827, in Richmond, Va. In 1849 he went to California; and in 1857-61 he was a representative from California to the thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth congresses. He left his seat in congress in 1861; went to Alabama and enlisted in the confederate army; and was elected major of his regiment. In 1877 he removed to Monroe county, Ala., and engaged in planting. In 1881 he resumed the practice of his profession at Monroeville, Ala.; and in 1885 was appointed United States minister to Venezuela. He died April 30, 1899, in Mt. Pleasant, Ala.

Scott, Charles Winfield, physician, author, was born in October, 1849, in Johnson, Vt. In 1863, when thirteen years of age, he enlisted in the union army; at fourteen years of age he was chief bugler and dispatch carrier in the second brigade of the first division second corps army of the Potomac; was one of the youngest soldiers of the civil war; and was wounded at the battle of Cold Harbor, Va. He is the author of a work entitled Key Notes of Health and a Century of Life; and several medical papers on Hygiene and Health.

Scott, Charlotte Angas, educator, mathematician, author, was born June 8, 1858, in England. In 1885 she came to the United States as head of the department of mathematics in Bryn Mawr college of Pennsylvania. She is the author of An Introductory Account of Certain Modern Ideas and Methods and Plane Analytical Geometry; and Arithmetic for Schools.

Scott, Eben Greenough, political economist, author, was born June 15, 1836, in Wilkes-Barre Pa. He is the author of The Interstate Law of Pennsylvania; and Development of Constitutional Liberty.

Scott, Ebenezer Greenough, litterateur, author, was born in 1836, in Pennsylvania. He is the author of Development of Constitutional Liberty in the English Colonies of America; Commentaries upon the Interstate System of Pennsylvania; and Reconstruction During the Civil War in the United States of America.

Scott, Edward, lawyer, author, was born in 1774, in Virginia. He was a Tennessee lawyer; and prominent in the state's early history. He was the author of Laws of the State of Tennessee in 1822. He died in 1852, in Tennessee.

Scott, Elmon, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 6, 1853, on Isle La Motte, Vt. He was educated in the public schools of Michigan. In 1877 he began the practice of law in Charlotte, Mich.; and served one term as city attorney of that city. In 1882 he entered the practice of law at Pomeroy, Wash.; and was several times mayor of that city. In 1889-98 he was associate justice of the supreme court of Washington. Since 1898 he has been engaged in practicing law at Bellingham, Wash.; and is also interested in mining enterprises in the Mount Baker mining district.

Scott, Emily M., painter, artist, was born Aug. 27, 1832, in Springwater, N.Y. In 1895 she was awarded a medal at the Atlantic exposition, and in 1902 received a prize on water color pictures from the Romance art club.

Scott, Francis Markoe, lawyer, jurist, was born March 14, 1848, in New York City. Since 1897 he has been justice of the supreme court of New York for term ending in 1911.

Scott, Frank Jesup, architect, author, was born Feb. 7, 1828, in Columbia, S.C. He is the author of The Art of Beautifying Home Grounds; and The Ornamental Trees, Shrubs and Plants of the United States.

Scott, Fred Newton, educator, author, was born Aug. 20, 1860, in Terre Haute, Ind. Since 1900 he has been professor of rhetoric in the university of Michigan. He is the author of Aesthetics, Its Problems and Literature; Principles of Style; Guide to Literature of Aesthetics; and other works.

Scott, George, educator, college president, was born May 10, 1849, in New York City. He was educated in the public schools; and in 1877 graduated from Alfred university. He has received the honorary degrees of Litt.D. from Alfred university; and LL.D. and Ph.D. from Yale university. In 1878-80 he was professor of Latin and Greek; in 1880-88 he was professor of Latin in Alfred university. In 1888-1901 he was professor of Latin in Otterbein university of Westerville, Ohio; and since 1901 has been president of the latter institution. In 1890 he traveled and studied in Greece and Italy.

Scott, Frederick R., railroad president, was born in 1830, in Ireland. Since 1873 he has been president of Richmond and Petersburg railroad of Virginia.

Scott, George Cromwell, lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 8, 1864, in Monroe county, N.Y. He began the practice of law in 1887. In 1911-15 he was a representative from Iowa to the sixty-second and sixty-third congresses.

Scott, George Washington, soldier, was born in New York. In 1861 he was second lieutenant in the sixty-first regiment New York infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He was honorably mustered out in 1865.

Scott, George Winfield, educator, lawyer, was born Aug. 25, 1875, in Adams, N.Y. He has been law librarian of congress and the supreme court. In 1906-07 he was professor of international law at the university of Pennsylvania.

Scott, Gustavus, farmer, lawyer, congressman, was born in Prince William county, Va. In 1784-85 he was a delegate from Maryland to the continental congress. He died in 1801, in Washington, D.C.

Scott, Gustavus Hall, naval officer, was born June 13, 1812, in Fairfax county, Va.

He served in the civil war; and attained the rank of rear-admiral, United States navy. He died March 23, 1882, in Washington, D.C.

Scott, Guy Charles, lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 14, 1863, in Henderson county, Ill. In 1906-07 he was chief justice; and in 1903 became justice of the supreme court of Illinois. He died May 24, 1909, in Galesburg, Ill.

Scott, Harriet Maria, educator, author. In 1886-99 she was principal of the Detroit normal training school. She was the author of Organic Education. She died in 1906, in Ann Arbor, Mich.

Scott, Harvey D., congressman, was born in Ohio. In 1855-57 he was a representative from Indiana to the thirty-fourth congress as a republican. He died in Indiana.

Scott, Harvey W., journalist, publisher, was born Feb. 1, 1838, near Peoria, Ill. He received the rudiments of his education in various schools in Oregon, and graduated from the Pacific university. In 1864 he moved to Portland, Ore., intending to follow the profession of law, but took up writing for the press. Since 1865 he has been the editor; and later bought an interest of the Oregonian, the leading daily newspaper of that state. To this publication he has since devoted his attention. He is a clear and forcible writer, and a man of executive ability and untiring energy.

Scott, Henry Wilson, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Jan. 26, 1866, in Berlin, Ill. He was educated in the common and high schools and by private tutors. In 1883 he was admitted to the practice of law; and in 1888 was appointed registrar in the United States land office at Larned, Kan. In 1889 he was democratic candidate for judge of the sixteenth judicial district of Kansas; and in 1893 was appointed

United States district judge for Oklahoma territory. He resigned to resume the practice of law in New York City. He is the author of Scott's Probate Law and Practice; Distinguished American Lawyers; History and Development of Courts of the State of New York. The Evolution of Law, Historical Review, The Evolution of Law, Commentary; Laws of Nations, Scott's Police Powers; The Evolution of Corporations and Corporate Laws; and Uniform Marriage and Divorce.

Scott, Henry Lee, soldier, author, was born in 1814, in North Carolina. He served in the Mexican and civil wars. He was the author of A Military Dictionary. He died in 1886.

Scott, Hugh McDonald, clergyman, theologian, author, was born March 31, 1848, in Canada. Since 1881 he has been professor of ecclesiastical history in the Chicago theological seminary. He is the author of The Nicene Theology.

Scott, Hugh Reid, lawyer, banker, state senator, was born in 1855, in Rockingham county, N.C. In 1878 he was prosecuting attorney of his native country; and in 1881-84 was a member of the North Carolina state senate. In 1885 he organized the Citizens bank of Reidsville; of which he is president. He ranks high in the profession of law; and takes an active part in the business and public affairs of his city, county and state.

Scott, Irving Murray, mechanical engineer, inventor, was born Dec. 25, 1837, in Hebron Mills, Md. He has invented numerous appliances connected with engines; and also in mining machinery. He was president of the Mechanics' institute and of the Art institute of San Francisco, Cal. He was at the head of the Union iron works; and built the battleship Oregon. He died April 28, 1903, in San Francisco, Cal.

Scott, Isaiah Benjamin, clergyman, college president, bishop, was born Sept. 30, 1854, in Woodford county, Ky. In 1893-96 he was president of Wiley university of Marshall, Texas; and in 1896-1904 was editor of the Southwestern Christian Advocate of New Orleans, La. Since 1904 he has been a methodist episcopal bishop of Africa.

Scott, James, lawyer, jurist. In 1813 he was appointed an associate justice of the United States court for the territory of Indiana. He died in Indiana.

Scott, James, clergyman, author, poet, was born in 1806, in Scotland. He was pastor at German Valley and Newark, N.J. He was the author of a dissertation on the genius of Robert Pollok in his Life; and a narrative poem called The Guardian Angel. He died in 1857, in Newark, N.J.

Scott, James Brown, educator, lawyer, author, was born June 3, 1866, in Canada. In 1894-99 he practiced law in Los Angeles, Cal.; and in 1896 organized the Los Angeles law school, now the law department of the university of Southern California of which he was dean in 1896-99. In 1899-1903 he was dean of the college of law at the university of Illinois; and since 1903 has been professor of law at the Columbia law school of New York City. He is the author of Cases on International Law; and Cases on Equity Pleading.

Scott, James Hutchison, naval officer, railroad manager, was born Feb. 11, 1868, in East Liberty, Pa. He received the thanks of congress and medals and medallion for gallantry during the Spanish-American war. He was navigator on the United States steamship Gresham when she received the Portuguese bark Fraternidada, saving over one hundred lives.

Scott, James W., journalist, publisher, was born June 26, 1849, in Walworth county, Wis. He was the editor and owner of the Chicago Herald, Times and Evening Post; and part owner of Daily National Hotel Reporter. He died April 14, 1895, in New York City.

Scott, Job, educator, clergyman, founder, was born Oct. 18, 1751, in Providence, R.I. He taught in a private school near Lansdale, R.I. He was an early promoter and vigorous advocate for the better education of the Friends. He was one of the founders of the methodist episcopal Friends' yearly meeting boarding school. He died Nov. 22, 1793, in Ireland.

Scott, John, congressman, was born in 1782, in Hanover county, Va. In 1815-21 he was a territorial delegate from Missouri to the fourteenth, fifteenth and sixteenth congresses; and in 1821-27 he was a representative from Missouri to the seventeenth, eighteenth and nineteenth congresses. He died June 9, 1861, in St. Genevieve, Mo.

Scott, John, congressman, was born in Huntingdon county, Pa. In 1829-31 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the twenty-first congress. He died in Pennsylvania.

Scott, John, soldier, author, was born April 23, 1820, in Fauquier county, Va. In 1841 he was admitted to the practice of law; and in 1850 edited the Richmond Whig. He entered the confederate service; and became a colonel. He was the author of The Lost Principles of the Federal Government at the Sectional Equilibrium. He died Nov. 29, 1896, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Scott, John, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 27, 1820, in Washington county, Pa. In 1879-89 he edited the Methodist Recorder of Pittsburgh, Pa. He is the author of Pulpit Echoes; and The Land of Sojourn. He died March 22, 1889, in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Scott, John, soldier, journalist, author, was born April 24, 1824, in Jefferson county, Ohio. He served in the Mexican and civil wars; and was promoted colonel of the thirty-second infantry in 1864. In 1867-69 he was lieutenant-governor of Iowa. He is the author of Genealogy of Hugh Scott; and The Story of the Thirty-Second Iowa Volunteers.

Scott, John, lawyer, United States senator, was born July 14, 1824, in Alexandria, Pa. He was a prosecuting attorney in 1846-49; was for ten years solicitor for the Pennsylvania railroad company; and in 1862 was elected to the state legislature. In 1869-75 he was United States senator from Pennsylvania. He died Nov. 30, 1896, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Scott, John G., manufacturer, congressman, was born Dec. 26, 1819, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1862 he was elected a representative from Missouri to the thirty-eighth congress as a democrat. He died in Missouri.

Scott, John Hart, clergyman, college president, was born Jan. 4, 1847, in Northville, Mich. In 1874-81 he was pastor in Cleveland and Ypsilanti; and in 1897-1905 was president of the Indiana university of Indiana territory.

Scott, John Joseph, soldier, physician, surgeon, was born Oct. 23, 1837, at Scott's Ferry, S.C. In 1857 he was appointed surgeon to General William Walker's expedition to Nicaragua. During the civil war he was in the confederate service; and in 1862 was made acting surgeon of the sixteenth regiment Louisiana volunteers. He then enlisted as a private soldier; and participated in the battles of Farmington and in the fight at Boonville. He then again became assistant surgeon; and subsequently until 1865 he was assistant surgeon to the sixteenth Texas regiment. He was the author of Monograph on the Indirect Toxicological Action of Strichnia. He died Dec. 1, 1907, in Shreveport, La.

Scott, John Loughran, clergyman, lecturer, author, was born in 1846, in Bovina, N.Y. Since 1891 he has been pastor of the McDowell memorial presbyterian church of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Age of Fable; Memoir of Tennyson; Memoir of Burns; and The Age of Chivalry.

Scott, John M., lawyer, jurist, was born in 1823. He was justice of the supreme court of Illinois. He died Jan. 21, 1897, in Bloomington, Ill.

Scott, John Morin, congressman, was born in 1730, in New York. He was secretary of the state of New York in 1778-79; and in 1780-83 he was a delegate from New York to the continental congress. He died Sept. 14, 1784, in New York.

Scott, John Morin, soldier, lawyer, was born Oct. 25, 1789, in New York City. He was for many years a member of the Philadelphia city councils; a delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1837; and in 1841-44 served as mayor. He died April 3, 1858, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Scott, John Reed, lawyer, author, was born Sept. 8, 1869, in Gettysburg, Pa. In 1891 he began the practice of law in Gettysburg, Pa. He is the author of The Colonel of the Red Hussars; and Beatrix of Clare.

Scott, John Rudolph, actor, was born Oct. 17, 1809, in Philadelphia, Pa. He first appeared at the New York Park theater in the part of Malcolm in Macbeth. He rose to distinction in leading tragic roles. He died March 2, 1856, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Scott, John T., lawyer, jurist, was born May 6, 1831, in Glasgow, Ky. He removed to Terre Haute, Ind. In 1868 he was elected judge of the court of common pleas; and was again elected to the judgeship in 1872.

Scott, John Witherspoon, educator, clergyman was born Jan. 22, 1800, in Beaver county, Pa. He taught school for a number of years; and in 1824-81 filled the chair of natural science and mathematics in various institutions. In 1830 he was ordained a clergyman in the presbyterian church; and during the Harrison administration he was a member of the president's family at the White house. He founded Belmont college of Ohio; and also Oxford female college, of which he was for ten years president. His son, John Neal Scott, is a noted lawyer of Port Townsend, Wash.; and his daughter is the wife of ex-President Benjamin Harrison. He died Nov. 29, 1892, in Washington, D.C.

Scott, Joseph, lawyer, publicist, was born July 18, 1867, in Penrith, Cumberland county, England. He received the degree of A.M. from St. Bonaventure's college of Allegheny, N.Y.; and subsequently received the degree of Ph.D. from the Santa Clara college of California. Since 1893 he has practiced law in California; and was a member of the Los Angeles revision commission in 1902. In 1906-11 he was president of the board of education; and has been president of the Los Angeles chamber of commerce. For seven years he has been vice-president of the southwest museum; and is honorary vice-president of the Panama-Pacific International exposition company.

Scott, Julian, painter, artist, was born Feb. 14, 1846, in Johnson, Vt. Among his works, mostly pictures of army life, are Rear-Guard at White Oak Swamp, owned by the Union League club; Battle of Cedar Creek, in the state-house at Montpelier, Vt.; Battle of Golding's Farm; The Recall; and On Board the Hartford. He died July 4, 1901, in Plainfield, N.J.

Scott, Lawrence W., journalist, clergyman, author, poet, was born May 29, 1846, in Monongalia county, Vt. In his youth he learned the printer's trade in Texas, and was local editor of the Daily Leader of Covington, Ky. In 1866 he entered the ministry, and became somewhat distinguished as a theological disputant. In 1872 he returned to Texas, where he published the Olive Branch, which was afterward consolidated with the Southern Christian Weekly. He is the author of Paradox, and other poems, and several prose works.

Scott, Levi, clergyman, bishop, was born Oct. 11, 1802, near Odessa, Del. In 1826 he was licensed as a local preacher; and after filling several pastorates he was appointed presiding elder. In 1840-42 he was principal of the Dickinson grammar school; and in 1852 he was ordained bishop of the methodist episcopal church. He died July 13, 1882, in Odessa, Del.

Scott, Martin, soldier, was born Jan. 17, 1788, in Bennington, Vt. He was appointed a lieutenant in the army in 1814; was brevetted major in 1846; and was brevetted lieutenant-general for services at Monterey, where he was killed. He died Sept. 8, 1847, near Molino Del Rey, Mexico.

Scott, Mary Augusta, educator, author. She is professor of English at Smith college at Northampton, Mass. She is the author of Elizabethan Translations From the Italian.

Scott, Nathan Bay, soldier, manufacturer, banker, United States senator, was born Dec. 18, 1842, in Guernsey county, Ohio. In 1862-65 he served as a soldier in the civil war. He then engaged in the manufacture of glass at Wheeling, W.Va.; is president of the Central glass works; and president of the Dollar savings bank. In 1882-90 he served as a member of the West Virginia state senate. In 1899-1911 he was United States senator from West Virginia.

Scott, Orange, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 13, 1800, in Brookfield, Vt. He was the author of An Appeal to the Methodist Episcopal Church. He died July 31, 1847, in Newark, N.J.

Scott, Owen, lawyer, journalist, congressman, was born July 6, 1848, in Effingham, Ill. For eight years he was superintendent of schools for Effingham county, Ill. He practiced law for ten years; and then engaged in newspaper work. He published the Effingham Democrat, leaving it to become proprietor and manager of the Bloomington Daily and Weekly Bulletin; and is one of the publishers of Decatur Daily Herald. He was elected city attorney and mayor of Effingham; and in 1891-93 he was a representative from Illinois to the fifty-second congress as a democrat.

Scott, Richard A., lawyer, jurist. He is an associate justice of the supreme court of Wyoming.

Scott, Robert Eden, lawyer, statesman, was born April 22, 1808, in Fauquier county, Va. He was elected commonwealth's attorney; and for many consecutive years represented his county in the Virginia state legislature. In 1850 he was a member of the Virginia state constitutional convention; and in 1861 of the secession convention. He was a vehement advocate of the Union up to the time that Virginia seceded. He was a member of the provisional congress of the confederate states. He died May 3, 1862, near Salem, Va.

Scott, Robert Kingston, soldier, physician, governor, was born July 8, 1826, in Armstrong county, Pa. He was in Sherman's operations before Atlanta, and in the march to the sea. He was assistant commissary in 1865-68; and was the fortieth governor of South Carolina in 1869-73. He died Aug. 11, 1900, in Napoleon, Ohio.

Scott, Robert Nicholson, soldier, author, was born Jan. 21, 1838, in Winchester county, Tenn. He was an army officer; and in charge of the publication of war records at Washington in 1877-87. He was the author of Digest of the Military Laws of the United States. He died March 5, 1887, in Washington, D.C.

Scott, Rufus, soldier, was born in New York. He served throughout the civil war; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Oct. 16, 1896.

Scott, Rufus Leonard, lawyer, was born March 31, 1835, in Lanesborough, Mass. In 1861 he was admitted to the bar, and has since continued the practice of law in the city of New York, residing in Brooklyn. In 1877 he was elected registrar of arrears for the city of Brooklyn; and he was instrumental in having the plan of advertising the tax sales in pamphlet form for distribution, with a reference notice in the daily papers, instead of advertising in detail through the press; and this measure subsequently became a law. He has been a member of the board of aldermen; a member of the board of education; was a leader in securing rapid transit for the city; one of the promoters and founders of the Bushwick and East Brooklyn dispensary; and also one of the founders of the Bushwick savings bank.

Scott, Samuel Parsons, lawyer, author, was born July 8, 1846, in Hillsboro, Ohio. In 1869-75 he practiced law. He is the author of Through Spain; and History of the Moorish Empire in Europe.

Scott, Sutton Selwyn, lawyer, farmer, statesman, author, was born Nov. 26, 1826, in Huntsville, Ala. In 1857-60 he was a member of the Alabama state legislature from Madison county. In 1875 he was a delegate to the Alabama state constitutional convention; and in 1880 was a delegate to the national democratic convention. He was a member of the Alabama state legislature from Russell county in 1884 and 1890. He is the author of Southbooke, Southern Tales and Sketches; and The Mobilians.

Scott, Thomas Alexander, soldier, railroad president, was born Dec. 28, 1824, in London, Pa. He was commissioned colonel of the District of Columbia volunteers; and a few weeks later was appointed in charge of all government railways and telegraphs. In 1861 he was appointed assistant secretary of war; and in 1863 became colonel and assistant quartermaster on the staff of General

Hooker. In 1871-72 he was president of the Union Pacific railway company; in 1872 was elected president of the Texas Pacific railway company; and in 1873 was elected president of the Atlantic and Pacific railway company. In 1874 he was elected president of the Pennsylvania railroad company. He died May 21, 1881, in Darby, Pa.

Scott, Thomas, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1780-91 and 1793-95 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the first and third congresses. He died in Pennsylvania.

Scott, Thomas Fielding, clergyman, bishop, was born March 12, 1807, in Iredell county, N.C. In 1854 he was consecrated missionary bishop of Oregon and Washington territories. He died July 14, 1867, in New York City.

Scott, Thomas Gibney, clergyman, missionary, was born Aug. 2, 1824, in Uniontown, Pa. He has attained success as an eminent clergyman and home missionary; and has filled pastorates in Westfield, Pa., in Mechanicstown and Beech Springs, Ohio; and now fills a pastorate in Champaign, Ill.

Scott, Thomas Morton, soldier, business man, was born June 25, 1824, in Cadiz, Ohio. He is engaged in business in Melissa, Texas. He served in the Mexican war. He was captain in the confederate service. In 1896 he was brevetted major-general of the United confederate veterans.

Scott, Thomas W., soldier, banker, was born near Danville, Ill. He served nearly four years in the civil war. For a while he was engaged in mercantile pursuits in Olney, Ill.; and in 1873 moved to Fairfield. In 1888 and 1904 he was a delegate to the republican national conventions. He has been commissioner of the southern Illinois penitentiary; and in 1903 was appointed adjutant-general, with the rank of brigadier-general. He is president of the First national bank of Fairfield, Ill.

Scott, Walter, founder, author, was born Oct. 31, 1796, in Scotland. He was one of the founders of the Disciples or Campbellites. He was the author of The Gospel Restored; and The Great Demonstration. He died April 23, 1861, in May's Lick, Ky.

Scott, Walter Dill, educator, author, was born May 1, 1869, in Cooksville, Ill. Since 1901 he has been professor of psychology and pedagogy at the Northwestern university of Evanston, Ill. He is the author of The Theory of Advertising; The Psychology of Public Speaking; Die Psychologie der Triebe.

Scott, Walter Quincy, soldier, educator, clergyman, college president, was born in 1841, in Dayton, Ohio. He served throughout the civil war in the Union army. He filled pastorates in Philadelphia, Pa.; and in Albany, N.Y. In 1881-83 he was president of the Ohio state university at Columbus. In 1884-89 he was principal of the Phillips Exeter academy of New Hampshire.

Scott, William, lawyer, jurist. In 1841-43 and 1851-57 he was judge of the state supreme court of Missouri. He died in Cole, Mo.

Scott, William A., founder, donor, was born Dec. 18, 1818, in Crawford county, Ind. In 1845 he was the owner of the land on which East Des Moines has been built. He built the first bridge along the Des Moines river and laid out the city of East Des Moines on his farm. He donated most of the land on which the permanent state house stands. The Governor's square and other ground amounting to fifteen acres. He died June 23, 1859, in Colorado.

Scott, William Amasa, educator, author, was born April 17, 1862, in Clarkson, N.Y. He was educated at the state normal school of Brockport, N.Y.; university of Rochester; and Johns Hopkins university. He has filled the chair of history and political science in various institutions, principally in the university of South Dakota. Johns Hopkins university, and since 1892 in the university of Wisconsin, where he now fills the chair of economic history and theory. He is the author of Repudiation of State Debts; and various articles on economic subjects.

Scott, William Anderson, clergyman, educator, author, was born Jan. 31, 1813, in Rock Creek, Tenn. He was a professor in the Theological seminary of San Francisco in 1871-85. He was the author of The Bible and Politics; Strauss and Re- nan; Daniel, a Model for Young Men; Achan in El Dorado; The Giant Judge; The Church in the Army; The Christ of the Apostles' Creed; and Trade and Letters. He died Jan. 14, 1885, in San Francisco, Cal.

Scott, William Berryman, educator, geologist, author, was born Feb. 12, 1858, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He is professor of geology and paleontology in Princeton university of New Jersey. He is the author of An Introduction to Geology.

Scott, William Cowper, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 13, 1817, in Martinsburg, Va. He was the author of a work on Genius and Faith, or Poetry and Religion in their Mutual Relations. He died Oct. 23, 1854, in Bethesda, Va.

Scott, William Earl Dodge, curator, ornithologist, author, was born April 22, 1852, in Brooklyn, N.Y. In 1874-85 he was curator at Princeton university; and since 1897 has been curator in the department of ornithology of that institution. He is the author of Bird Studies; Story of Bird Lover; and Birds of Patagonia.

Scott, William Forse, soldier, lawyer, author, was born Dec. 27, 1844, in Dayton, Ohio. In 1861-65 he served from private to adjutant in the fourth Iowa cavalry. He is now a successful lawyer of New York City. He is the author of The Story of A Cavalry Regiment; and of a Historical Roster of the Fourth Iowa Cavalry Veterans.

Scott, William Henry, educator, college president, was born Sept. 14, 1840, in Chauncey, Ohio. He filled the chair of Greek in the Ohio university at Athens in 1869-72; and was its president in 1872-83. In 1883-95 he was president of the Ohio state university at Columbus, in which institution he now fills the chair of philosophy.

Scott, Winfield, soldier, lawyer, author, was born June 13, 1786, in Petersburg, Va. He joined the army in 1808; was made lieutenant-colonel in 1812; and passed through the war that ensued with great honor to himself and his company. He was brevetted major-general in 1814; and was made general-in-chief of the army in 1841, being the fourteenth commander of the United States army. He was made lieutenant-general in 1855. He was voted a gold medal for his service in the war of 1812. He was a candidate for the presidency in 1852. He was the author of General Regulations of the Army; System of Infantry and Rifle Tactics; and Autobiography. He died May 29, 1866, in West Point, N.Y.

Scott, William Lawrence, manufacturer, congressman, was born July 2, 1828, in Washington, D.C. He was a page in the national house of representatives in 1840-46; and in 1848 settled at Erie, Pa. As president or director he was interested in twenty-two thousand miles of completed road. He was elected mayor of Erie in 1866, and 1871. In 1885-89 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-ninth and fiftieth congresses as a democrat. He died Sept. 19, 1891, in Erie, Pa.

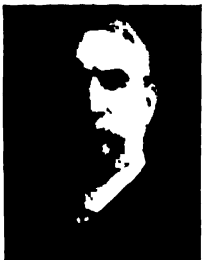

Scottow, Joshua, colonist, was born in 1615, in England. He was the author of Old Men's Fears for their Own Declensions; and a Narrative of the Planting of Massachusetts Colony. He died Jan. 20, 1698, in Boston, Mass.

Scouler, James Brown, clergyman, author, was born July 12, 1820, near Newville, Pa. He was the author of Manual of the United Presbyterian Church; History of the United Presbyterian Church; and Calvanism: Its History and Influence. He died Sept. 11, 1899, in Newville, Pa.

Scovel, Charles Woodruff, lawyer, insurance president, was born Aug. 16, 1862, in Springfield, Ohio. In 1883 he graduated from the Western university of Pennsylvania with the degree of A.B.; attended the Columbia university law school in 1883-84; and attended the university of Berlin in 1884-85. In 1886-97 he practiced law in Pittsburgh, Pa.; and since 1897 has been manager for western Pennsylvania of the Provident savings life assurance society of New York. In 1901-02 he was president of the Pittsburgh life underwriters' association; and in 1905-06 was president of the national association of life underwriters.

Scovel, Sylvester Fithian, educator, clergyman, college president, author, was born Dec. 29, 1835, in Harrison, Ohio. In 1853 he graduated from the college of Hanover, Ind., with the degree of A.M. In 1866-83 he was pastor of the first Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh, Pa.; and in 1883-98 was president of the university of Wooster, Ohio, where he also fills the chair of professor of morals and sociology.

He is the author of Centennial History of the First Presbyterian Church of Pittsburgh.

Scovell, Josiah Thomas, soldier, educator, author, was born July 29, 1841, in Vermontville, Mich. He was four months in the Union army in 1866, in the one hundred and fiftieth Ohio regiment. He is the author of Lessons in Geography; Lessons in Physiology; and Practical Lessons in Science.

Scoville, Jonathan, manufacturer, congressman, was born in Salisbury, Conn.

In 1860 he removed to Buffalo, N.Y.; and engaged in the manufacture of car wheels. In 1879-83 he was a representative from New York to the forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses.

Scoville, Joseph A., journalist, author, was born in 1811, in Connecticut. He was a journalist of New York City; clerk of the common council; and at one period private secretary to Calhoun. He was the author of Adventures of Clarence Bolton, or Life in New York; The Old Merchants of New York; Vigor, a novel; and Marion. He died in 1864, in New York City.

Scoville, Wilbur Lincoln, educator, author, was born Jan. 22, 1865, in Bridgeport, Conn. In 1892-1904 he was professor in the Massachusetts college of pharmacy. He is the author of Art of Compounding.

Scranton, George Whitefield, manufacturer, congressman, was born May 11, 1811, in Madison, Conn. With his brother he built furnaces for smelting ore, in Slocum, Pa., which was subsequently named Scranton in honor of the brothers. In 1859-61 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-sixth congress. He died March 24, 1861, in Scranton, Pa.

Scranton, Joseph, A., journalist, congressman, was born July 26, 1838, in Madison, Conn. He was collector of internal revenue in 1862-66; and in 1867 founded the Scranton Republican newspaper. In 1881-83, 1885-87, 1889-91 and 1893-97 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-seventh, forty-ninth, fifty-first, fifty-third, and fifty-fourth congresses as a republican. He died Oct. 12, 1908, in Scranton, Pa.

Screven, James, soldier, was born about 1744, in Georgia. He early espoused the patriot cause; and in 1774 was one of the committee that drew up articles of association for the defense of liberty in Georgia. He died Nov. 24, 1778, in Midway, Ga.

Screven, William, clergyman, author, was born in 1629, in England. He came to America about 1640; settled about sixty miles north of Charleston; and was the original proprietor of the land on which the town of Georgetown was built. He was the author of An Ornament for Church Members, published after his death. He died in 1713, in Georgetown, S.C.

Scribner, Benjamin Franklin, soldier, was born in Indiana. In 1861 he was colonel in the thirty-eighth regiment Indiana infantry; and in 1864 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Nov. 29, 1900.

Scribner, Charles, publisher, was born Feb. 21, 1821, in New York City. In 1865 he began the publication of Hours at Home in New York City, a monthly magazine; and in 1870 it was merged in Scribner's Monthly, under the editorship of Josiah G. Holland. He died Aug. 26, 1871, in Switzerland.

Scribner, Charles, journalist, publisher, was born Oct. 18, 1854, in New York City. He founded Scribner's magazine of New York City; and is president of Morristown school of New York City.

Scribner, Frank Kimball, journalist, author, was born Feb. 22, 1867, in New York City. He is the author of Honor of a Princess; The Love of the Princess Alice; The Fifth of November; and A Maid of the Colonies.

Scribner, Frederick Howard, farmer lecturer, was born Nov. 4, 1854, in Rosendale, Wis. He was educated in the common and graded schools of his native state. He is a successful farmer and breeder of registered Jersey cattle in Fond du Lac county, Wis. He is president of the Wisconsin Jersey breeders' association; and secretary of the Wisconsin live stock breeders' association. He is also Farmers' institute lecturer for Wisconsin.

Scribner, Gilbert Hilton, lawyer, author, was born June 23, 1831, in Monroe county, N.Y. In 1880-93 he was president of the Central Park North and East River railroad company; and in 1863 became president of the Palisade bank of Yonkers, N.Y. Since 1888 he has been president of the Fortnightly club for the study of anthropology. He is the author of Where Did Life Begin.

Scribner, Harvey, lawyer, author, was born March 19, 1850, in Mount Vernon, Ohio. He studied law in his father's office; since 1871 has practiced his profession in Toledo, Ohio; and has been identified with many of the important legal cases of that city. He has been president of the Toledo public library board; a director in the National bank of commerce; and is prominent in democratic politics. He is the author of The Mystery of an Express Robbery; My Mysterious Clients; A Messenger From Santa Claus; and other works.

Scripps, James Edmund, journalist, philanthropist, author, was born March 19, 1835, in London, England. In 1844 he moved with his parents to a farm in Illinois; and in 1857 began his journalistic career on the Chicago Tribune. In 1859 he moved to Detroit, Mich.; and there founded the Evening News in 1873. He subsequently participated in the establishment of the Cleveland Press, the Cincinnati Post and the St. Louis Chronicle; and in 1895 became a stockholder in Chicago Journal. In 1884 he was largely instrumental in the establishment of the Detroit museum of art; was four years a commissioner of parks boulevards; and was one of the board of public library commissioners of the city of Detroit, Mich. He was the author of Five Months Abroad; and Memorials of the Scripps Family. He died May 29, 1906, in Detroit, Mich.

Scripps, John L., journalist, public official. He was one of the founders of the Chicago Tribune; and during Lincoln's administration was postmaster of Chicago, Ill.

Scripture, Edward Wheeler, scientist, inventor, author, was born May 21, 1863, in Mason, N.H. For ten years he was director of the psychological laboratory of Yale university; and since 1906 has been assistant neurologist for the Carnegie institution of New York City. He has discovered a method of measuring hallucinations and imaginations; and has discovered a method of producing anesthesia by electricity. He has invented a color-sight tester. He is the author of Thinking, Feeling and Doing; Researches in Experimental Phonetics; and other works.

Scripture, William Ellis, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 2, 1843, in Westmoreland, N.Y. In 1867 he entered the practice of law. In 1896 he became associate justice of the supreme court of New York for the fifth district, his present term expiring in 1909.

Scroggy, Thomas Edmund, soldier, lawyer, jurist congressman, was born March 18, 1843, in Harveysburg, Ohio. He attended the public schools. At the age of eighteen years he enlisted in the civil war; was severely wounded; and in 1865 was honorably discharged. In 1865 he was engaged in the grocery business; in 1869 was justice of the peace; and in 1871 was admitted to the practice of law. He served three terms as clerk and three terms as solicitor for the city of Xenia, Ohio. In 1898-1905 he was judge of the court of common pleas for the second judicial district. In 1907-09 he was a representative from Ohio to the fifty-ninth congress as a republican.

Scruggs, William Lindsay, journalist, lawyer, diplomat, author, was born Sept. 14, 1836, in Knoxville, Tenn. He was editor of the Columbus Sun in 1861-64; and in 1865 became editor of the New Era of Atlanta, Ga. In 1872 he was appointed United States assessor of internal revenue for the district of Georgia. In 1872-77 he was minister of the United States to the United States of Colombia; in 1877-81 was United States consul in China; and in 1881-93 was minister to Venezuela; and legal advisor to that government. He is the author of Lord Salisbury's Mistakes; Origin and Meaning of the Monroe Doctrine; and other works.

Scrymser, James Alexander, organizer, capitalist, was born in 1839, in New York City. In 1865 he organized the International ocean telegraph company; and in 1881 established the Mexican telegraph company; and the Central and South American telegraph company, which connects the United States with sixteen nationalities in Mexico.

Scudder, Charles Locke, physician, surgeon, author, was born in 1860, in Kent, Conn. He is a successful physician of Boston, Mass; and is surgeon to the Massachusetts general hospital. He is the author of Treatment of Fractures; and Stenosis of Pylorus in Infants.

Scudder, David Coit, missionary, was born Oct. 27, 1835, in Boston, Mass. He was given the Periakulum station in the Madura district of southern India, where he labored until his death. He died Nov. 19, 1862, in India.

Scudder, Doremus, clergyman, missionary, author, was born Dec. 15, 1858, in New York City. He was educated in the public and private schools of San Francisco; in 1875 graduated from Adelphi academy of Brooklyn, N.Y.; received the degree of A.B. from Yale university; and was a student at the Union theological seminary, the College of physicians and surgeons of New York City and the Chicago go medical college. In 1884 he was commissioned missionary to Japan; and in 1889 returned to the United States. In 1890-92 he filled a pastorate in Chicago, Ill.; in 1892-95 was pastor of the East congregational church of Brooklyn; and in 1895-1901 was a pastor of Woburn, Mass. In 1902-04 he was a missionary of the Hawaiian board as superintendent of Japanese work; and since 1904 he has been secretary and general superintendent of all the congregational missions. He is the author of Our Children for Christ.

Scudder, Edward W., lawyer, jurist. In 1869-90 he was an associate justice of the supreme court of New Jersey.

Scudder, Eliza, litterateur, poet, was born in 1821, in Massachusetts. She was the author of Hymns and Sonnets. She died in 1896, in Massachusetts.

Scudder, Henry Joel, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1825, in Northport, N.Y. He was admitted to the bar of New York City in 1848. In 1873-75 he was a representative from New York to the forty-third congress as a republican. He died Feb. 12, 1886, in New York City.

Scudder, Henry Martyn, clergyman, missionary, author, was born Feb. 5, 1822, in Ceylon. He was pastor in Chicago in 1883-87; and from 1887 a missionary in Japan. He was the author of The Bazaar Book; Sweet Savors of Divine Truth; and Spiritual Teaching. He died June 4, 1895, in Winchester, Mass.

Scudder, Horace Elisha, historian, author, was born Oct. 16, 1838, in Boston, Mass. He was editor of The Atlantic Monthly in 1890-98. He is the author of Seven Little People and Their Friends; Dream Children; Stories from my Attic; The Dwellers in Five Sisters' Court; Stories and Romances; Boston Town; Life of Noah Webster; A History of the United States; A Short History of the United States; The Book of Fables; The Book of Folk Stories; The Book of Legends; Fables and Folk Stories; George Washington; Men and Letters, a volume of essays; Childhood in Literature and Art; Recollections of Samuel Breck; The Bodley Books, a series of popular juveniles; and Life of James Russell Lowell, in two volumes. He died Jan. 11, 1902, in Cambridge, Mass.

Scudder, Isaac W., lawyer, congressman, was born in 1818 in Elizabeth, N.J. He was twice prosecutor of the court of common pleas for Hudson county. In 1873-75 he was a representative from New Jersey to the forty-third congress. He died in Jersey City, N.J.

Scudder, Jared Waterbury, missionary, author, was born in 1830, in Ceylon. He was ordained a missionary to India under the reformed Dutch church; and since 1857 has held native charges there. He has published translations from the Tamil of Henry M. Scudder's Spiritual Teaching, and his Bazaar Book; and a History of the Arcot Mission.

Scudder, John, missionary, physician, author, was born Sept. 3, 1793, in Freehold, N.J. He was missionary of the Dutch Reformed church; and physician in Ceylon in 1820-39. He was the author of Letters from the East; Letters to Pious Young Men; and Promises for Passing Over Jordan. He died Jan. 13, 1855, in Africa.

Scudder, John A., physician, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1767 in New Jersey. He served a number of years in the New Jersey state assembly. In 1809-11 he was a representative from New Jersey to the eleventh congress to fill a vacancy. He died in Nov. 6, 1836, in Indiana.

Scudder, John Milton, physician, author, was born Sept. 14, 1829, in Harrison, Ohio. He was editor of the Eclectic Medical Journal in 1863-94. He was the author of Specific Medication; Specific Diagnosis; Principles of Medicine; Practice of Medicine; Materia Medica; Diseases of Children; Diseases of Women; Venereal; and Medicated Inhalations. He died Feb. 17, 1894, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Scudder, Moses Lewis, railroad president, author, was born in 1843, in Massachusetts. He is president of the Lincoln traction company of St. Louis, Mo.; and is president of the South Bend and Southern railway. He is the author of Brief Honors, a romance; Almost an Englishman; National Banking; Congested Prices; and The Labor Value Fallacy.

Scudder, Nathaniel, congressman, was born May 10, 1733, in near Huntington, N.Y. In 1777-78 he was a delegate from New Jersey to the continental congress and was one of the signers of the articles of confederation. He died Oct. 17, 1781, in Shrewsbury, N.J.

Scudder, Samuel Hubbard, naturalist, author, was born April 13, 1837, in Boston, Mass. He was assistant librarian in Harvard in 1879-82; and was paleontologist of the United States geological survey in 1886-92. He is the author of The Butterflies of the Eastern United States and Canada; Butterflies, their Structure, Changes, and Life Histories; Brief Guide to the Commoner Butterflies; The Life of a Butterfly; Frail Children of the Air; Excursions into the World of Butterflies; A Century of Orthoptera; and The Fossil Insects of North America. He died May 17, 1911, in Cambridge, Mass.

Scudder, Townsend, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born July 26, 1865, in Northport, N.Y. He has made a specialty of municipal law; and has served four terms as counsel for Queens county, N.Y. In 1899-1901 and 1903-05 he was a representative from New York to the fifty-sixth and fifty-eighth congresses as a democrat. In 1907 he became a justice of the supreme court of New York for the term ending in 1920.

Scudder, Treadwell, state legislator, congressman, was born in Ishp, N.Y. He was for six years a member of the New York assembly; and in 1817-19 he was a representative from New York to the fifteenth congress. He died in New York.

Scudder, Vida Dutton, educator, author, was born Dec. 15, 1861, in India. In 1887 she became an instructor in Wellesley college. She is the author of How the Rain Sprites were Freed; The Life of the Spirit in the Modern English Poets; The Witness of Denial; The Prometheus Unbound of Shelley; and The Disciple of a Saint.

Scudder, Zeno, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Aug. 18, 1807, in Barnstable, Mass. He was president of the Massachusetts state senate; and in 1851-55 he was a representative from Massachusetts to the thirty-second and thirty-third congresses. He died June 26, 1857, in Barnstable, Mass.

Scull, Edward, journalist, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1818, in Pittsburgh, Pa. He published and edited the Somerset Herald since 1852. In 1887-93 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the fiftieth, fifty-first and fifty-second congresses as a republican. He died in Somerset, Pa.

Scully, James Wall, soldier, was born Feb. 19, 1838, in Ireland. In 1856-61 he served from private to sergeant in the United States artillery; served through the civil war; and attained the rank of captain in 1865. In 1900 he was retired as colonel; and in 1904 was advanced to the rank of brigadier-general in the United States army. He is past department commander of the Grand army of the republic.

Scully, John, clergyman, educator, college president, was born Sept. 23, 1846, in Brooklyn, N.Y. In 1888-91 he was president of St. John's college of Fordham, N.Y.; and is now pastor of St. Joseph's church of Philadelphia, Pa.

Scully, Thomas J., congressman, was born in South Amboy, N.J., Sept. 19, 1868. In 1900-10 he was mayor of South Amboy. In 1911-15 he was a representative from New Jersey to the sixty-second and sixty-third congresses.

Scurry, Richardson, congressman, was born in Tennessee. In 1851-53 he was a representative from Texas to the thirty-second congress. He died in Tennessee.

Seabrook, Harry Hartshorne, physician, ophthalmologist, author, was born Oct. 23, 1850, in Keyport, N.J. In 1901-07 he was ophthalmological surgeon to the New York eye and ear infirmary. He is the author of Heterophoria of Insufficiency.

Seabrook, Whitmarsh B., state senator, congressman, governor, was born in 1795 in South Carolina. He served in the South Carolina state senate; was president of the State agricultural society; and was the twenty-ninth governor in 1848-50. He died April 16, 1855, in St. Luke's Parish, S.C.

Seabrooke, Thomas Q., actor, was born Oct. 20, 1860, in Mount Vernon, N.Y. He has played with various companies and in comedy roles. Since 1892 he has appeared at the head of his own and other opera and comedy companies.

Seabury, Samuel, clergyman, was born July 8, 1706, in Groton, Conn. In 1743-64 he was pastor of St. George's church of Hemstead, N.Y. He died June 15, 1764, in Long Island, N.Y.

Seabury, George J., manufacturer, author, was born Nov. 10, 1844. He will be known in history as the father and organizer of his branch of pharmaceutical chemistry; and chiefly for his original work, inventions and improvements on old methods. His firm have invariably received the highest awards over all American and European competitors, notably in Paris, London, Vienna, Philadelphia, New York, Chicago, Liverpool, Melbourne, Montreal, and at many other world's exhibitions, forty-nine gold medals and special diplomas having been awarded them. He is the author of Political, Economic and Commercial works.

Seabury, Samuel, clergyman, bishop, author, was born Nov. 30, 1729, in Groton, Conn. He was the first protestant episcopal bishop of Connecticut. During the early days of the American revolution he attracted much attention by his pamphlets signed A. W. Farmer, which sharply criticized the actions of the patriots. They include, Free Thoughts on the Proceedings of the Continental Congress; The Continental Congress Canvassed; and View of the Controversy between Great Britain and her English Colonies. His sermons have been issued in three volumes. He died Feb. 25, 1796, in New London, Conn.

Seabury, Samuel, clergyman, author, was born June 9, 1801, in New London. He was an episcopal clergyman of New York City; rector of the church of the Annunciation in 1838-64; editor Churchman in 1833-49; and professor in the General theological seminary in 1862-72. He was the author of Continuity of the Church of England; Mary the Virgin; Historical Sketch of Augustine of Hippo; Supremacy of Conscience; American Slavery Justified; Theory and Use of the Calendar; and Discourses on the Nature and Work of the Holy Spirit. He died Oct. 10, 1872, in New York City.

Seabury, Samuel, lawyer, jurist. In 1907 he became justice of the supreme court of New York for the term ending in 1920.

Seabury, William Jones, clergyman, educator, author, was born Jan. 25, 1837, in New York City. He is an episcopal clergyman of New York City; rector of the church of the Annunciation in 1868-98; and professor in the General theological seminary since 1873. He is the author of Suggestions in Aid of Devotion; Introduction to the Study of Ecclesiastical Polity; and other works.

Seager, Henry Rogers, educator, economist, author, was born July 21, 1870, in Lansing, Mich. Since 1905 he has been professor of political economy at the university of Pennsylvania. He is the author of Introduction to Economics.

Seal, Roderick, lawyer, congressman, was born in Harrison county, Miss. He was a member of the state legislature; and in 1875 was elected a representative from Mississippi to the forty-fourth congress. He died in Mississippi.

Sealsfield, Charles, litterateur, author, was born March 3, 1793, in Moravia. He was the author of Tokiah, or the White Rose; The Viceroy and the Aristocrat; The Cabin Book, or Life in Texas; and Scenes and Adventures in Central America. He died May 26, 1864.

Sealy, George, soldier, banker, government official, was born Jan. 9, 1835, in Kingston, Pa. He served in the civil war. In 1877 he organized a syndicate to build the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe railway company; and became its president.

Seaman, Albert Owen, soldier, accountant, was born Feb. 7, 1877, in Greenville, Ill. He was educated at the Greenville college and at the Gem city business college. He is by profession an expert accountant. In 1900 he was first lieutenant in the Porto Rico regiment; and in 1901 became second lieutenant in the eleventh infantry. Since 1903 he has held the rank of first lieutenant in the fifteenth infantry; and is now stationed on the transport Meade as quartermaster United States army.

Seaman, Ezra Champion, comptroller, author, was born Oct. 14, 1805, in Chatham, N.Y. He was the comptroller of the treasury in 1849-53; and subsequently inspector of the Michigan state prisons. He was the author of Essays on the Progress of Nations; Commentaries on the Constitution, Laws, People, and History of the United States; The American System of Government; and Views of Nature. He died July 1, 1880, in Ann Arbor, Mich.

Seaman, Henry J., congressman, was born in New York. In 1845-47 he was a representative from New York to the twenty-ninth congress. He died in New York.

Seaman, Louis Livingston, physician, surgeon, author, was born Oct. 17, 1851, in Newburg, N.Y. Since 1876 he has practiced medicine in New York City. He was superintendent of the state emigrant insane asylum in 1879-81; and chief of staff of the various hospitals and the training school for nurses. He was major-surgeon of the first regiment United States volunteer engineers in the Spanish-American war. He is the author of The Social Waste of a Great City.

Seaman, Valentine, physician, author, was born April 2, 1770, in Hempstead, L.I. He was a prominent physician of New York City; and active in introducing the practice of vaccination. He was the author of Waters of Saratoga; Midwife's Monitor; and On Vaccination. He died July 3, 1817, in New York City.

Seaman, William Henry, educator, chemist, scientist, was born Nov. 1, 1837, in New York City. In 1872 he received the degree of B.L. from Columbian university; and in 1883 received the degree of M.D. from Howard university. In 1869-79 he was engaged in museum work in the United States department of agriculture; and since 1879 has been examiner in the United States patent office. In 1891 he was president of the Washington microscopical society; and in 1894 was president of the Washington chemical society. He has made valuable researches on the microscopical anatomy of plants.

Seaman, William Henry, soldier, jurist, was born Nov. 15, 1842, in New Berlin, Wis. In 1893-1905 he was United States judge of the eastern district of Wisconsin; and since 1905 has been judge of the United States circuit court for the seventh circuit.

Search, Preston Willis, educator, lecturer, author, was born April 10, 1853, in Marion, Ohio. He was educated in the university of Wooster, Ohio; and was a student in Clark university of Worcester, Mass., and in the universities of Switzerland and Germany. In 1874-75 he was a principal of an academy of Millersburg, Ohio; in 1870-73 he was superintendent of public schools of West Liberty, Ohio;

in 1883-88 was a superintendent of Sidney. In 1884-04 he taught in Pueblo, Col. In 1894-95 was an educator of Los Angeles, Cal.; and in 1896-99 was superintendent of the public schools of Holyoke, Mass. He has been a traveler and student of education in many lands; and has founded industrial schools, musical festival associations, students aid societies and travel clubs. He was president of local and state Young men's christian association; president of the European school of travel, study and conference for American young people; and organizer and promoter of civil improvement clubs, art and music clubs. He is a music and art critic and lectures before educational institutions, literary societies and lyceums. He founded the Pueblo plan of individual instruction and edited the Advance in Education. He is the author of An Ideal School.

Search, Theodore Corson, educator, manufacturer, founder, was born March 20, 1841, in Feasterville, N.J. He was educated in the Pennsylvania state normal school in Lancaster county; and at the Crozier normal and high school at Chester, Pa. He taught school for seven years; for two years was principal of the high school at Middletown, Pa.; and for two years had charge of the academy in that city. In 1868 he became a merchant of Philadelphia and a manufacturer of woolen and worsted yarns. In 1872 a second factory was built at Tacony, Pa., placing the business in the front rank of their department of manufacture in the United States. In 1883 he founded a textile school, which was consolidated with the Pennsylvania museum and school of industrial art.

Searight, James Allison, banker, genealogist, author, was born Sept. 13, 1836, in Fayette county, Pa. He received an academic education at Dunlap Creek presbyterian academy of Fayette county, Pa.; and in 1863 graduated from Kenyon college of Gambier, Ohio. He has been engaged in Uniontown in the banking business, the steel business, the timber business, and in the real estate and insurance business; and also in general business such as the settling up of estates. He assisted in obtaining a charter for the People's bank of Fayette county, was its cashier, and in 1889 became president of that institution. He is the author of A Record of the Searight Family in America, which has become recognized as a standard genealogical work. His brother, Thomas B. Searight, a collegemate of James G. Blaine, was a representative and state senator in the Pennsylvania state legislature; was surveyor-general of the territory of Colorado under General Grant; was the author of The History of the National Road; and resided in Uniontown until his death in 1899. Mr. James A. Searight is still president of the People's bank of Fayette county, Pa.

Searight, Thomas B., lawyer, legislator, author, was born Feb. 20, 1827, in Fayette county, Pa. He is a noted lawyer of Uniontown, Pa.; and has served as a representative in both houses of the Pennsylvania state legislature. He is the author of The History of the National Road; Letters on States' Rights; and various other valuable contributions to historical literature.

Searight, Thomas B., lawyer, legislator, author, was born Feb. 20, 1827, in Fayette county, Pa. He is a noted lawyer of Uniontown, Pa.; and has served as a representative in both houses of the Pennsylvania state legislature. He is the author of The History of the National Road; Letters on States' Rights; and various other valuable contributions to historical literature.

Searight, Thomas B., lawyer, legislator, author, was born Feb. 20, 1827, in Fayette county, Pa. He is a noted lawyer of Uniontown, Pa.; and has served as a representative in both houses of the Pennsylvania state legislature. He is the author of The History of the National Road; Letters on States' Rights; and various other valuable contributions to historical literature.

Searight, Thomas B., lawyer, legislator, author, was born Feb. 20, 1827, in Fayette county, Pa. He is a noted lawyer of Uniontown, Pa.; and has served as a representative in both houses of the Pennsylvania state legislature. He is the author of The History of the National Road; Letters on States' Rights; and various other valuable contributions to historical literature.

Searight, Thomas B., lawyer, legislator, author, was born Feb. 20, 1827, in Fayette county, Pa. He is a noted lawyer of Uniontown, Pa.; and has served as a representative in both houses of the Pennsylvania state legislature. He is the author of The History of the National Road; Letters on States' Rights; and various other valuable contributions to historical literature.

Searle, Arthur, astronomer, author, was born Oct. 21, 1837, in London, England. Since 1887 he has been professor of astronomy in Harvard university. He is the author of Outlines of Astronomy.

Searle, Charles J., lawyer, jurist, was born May 16, 1865, in Ft. Smith, Ark.: He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools; attended Campbell normal university of Holton, Kan.; and graduated from the state university of Iowa. For sixteen years he has been actively engaged in the practice of law; has been state's attorney for Rock Island county, Ill.; and filled various other positions of trust and honor. For several years he has been president of the board of trustees of the Western Illinois state normal school. He is now judge of the court of claims of Illinois.

Searle, E. J., lawyer, jurist. In 1872 he was an associate justice of the supreme court of Arkansas.

Searle, George Mary, astronomer, educator, clergyman, author, was born June 27, 1839, in England. In 1862-64 he was assistant professor United States naval academy; in 1866-68 he was assistant in the Harvard observatory, when he joined the Paulists, and was ordained as a priest in 1871. He has had charge of the science teaching of the seminary that forms part of the home in New York. In 1895 he was appointed chief professor of mathematics in the Catholic university of Washington, D.C. In 1904-09 he was superior-general of the Paulists fathers. He is the author of Elements of Geometry; Plain Facts for Fair Minds; and How to Become a Catholic.

Searle, James, merchant, congressman, was born about 1730 in New York City. He settled in Philadelphia about 1763. He signed the non-importation agreement of 1765; and was one of the managers of the United States lottery in 1776-78. In 1778-80 he was a delegate from Pennsylvania to the continental congress. He died Aug. 7, 1797, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Searle, John Preston, educator, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 12, 1854, in Schuylerville, N.Y. Since 1893 he has been professor of systematic theology at the New Brunswick theological seminary; and since 1902 has been president of the faculty. He is the author of An Outline of Theological Encyclopedia.

Searle, Nathaniel, lawyer, jurist. In 1768-70 he was an associate justice of the supreme court of Rhode Island.

Searles, John Ennis, railroad president, was born in 1822. He is president of the Tennessee northern railway company and other corporations; and resided in New York City. He died Oct. 24, 1908, in London, England.

Searles, William Henry, civil engineer, author, was born June 4, 1837, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He was educated in private schools; at the Wesleyan university; and in 1860 graduated from the Rensselaer polytechnic institute; in 1862-64 he was professor of geodesy and road engineering at the Rensselaer polytechnic institute; in 1864-85 was engaged in locating and constructing railways in Ohio, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Indiana and New York; in 1876-78 he was engineer of the New York state canals; and since 1880 has been a consulting engineer in general practice. He is the author of Field Engineering; and The Railway Spiral.

Searls, Niles, lawyer, jurist. In 1887 he was chief justice of the supreme court of California.

Sears, Barnas, clergyman, educator, author, was born Nov. 19, 1802, in Sandisfield, Mass. He was professor at Newton theological seminary in 1836-48; and president of Brown university in 1855-67. He was the author of Life of Luther; The Ciceronian or Prussian Mode of Instruction in Latin; and Essays on Classical Literature. He died July 6, 1880, in Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

Sears, Edmund Hamilton, clergyman, author, poet, was born in 1810 in Sandisfield, Mass. He was a unitarian clergyman and religious poet; and pastor at Weston in 1865-76. He wrote the familiar Christmas hymn, Calm on the Listening Ear of Night. He was the author of Regeneration; Foregleams and Foreshadows of Immortality; The Fourth Gospel the Heart of Christ; Christ in the Life; Sermons and Songs of the Christian Life; Pictures of the Olden Time; and That Glorious Song of Old. He died Jan. 14, 1876, in Weston, Mass.

Sears, Edward I., journalist, educator, author, was born in 1819 in Ireland. He was professor of languages in Manhattan college. He became editor and proprietor of the National Quarterly in 1860, and conducted it until his death. Under the pen-name of H. E. Chevalier he was the author of Legends of the Sea. He died Dec. 7, 1876, in New York City.

Sears, George W., soldier, author, was born in 1821 in Massachusetts. He served in the federal army during the civil war. He is the author of Woodcraft; and Forest Runes, poems.

Sears, Isaac, soldier, congressman, patriot, was born in 1729 in Norwalk, Conn. On the passage of the stamp act he ardently engaged in the patriot cause; and became an active member of the Sons of liberty. He was a member of the provincial congress of New York in 1783; and of the assembly in the same year. He died Oct. 28, 1786, in China.

Sears, Joseph Hamblen, litterateur, author, was born April 10, 1865, in Boston, Mass. He is a writer of New York City. He is the author of The Governments of the World To-Day; None but the Brave; and A Box of Matches.

Sears, Lorenzo, clergyman, educator, author, was born April 18, 1838, in Sears-and since 1905 has been judge of the United States circuit court for the seventh circuit.

Search, Preston Willis, educator, lecturer, author, was born April 10, 1853, in Marion, Ohio. He was educated in the university of Wooster, Ohio; and was a student in Clark university of Worcester, Mass., and in the universities of Switzerland and Germany. In 1874-75 he was a principal of an academy of Millersburg, Ohio; in 1870-73 he was superintendent of public schools of West Liberty, Ohio;

in 1883-88 was a superintendent of Sidney. In 1884-94 he taught in Pueblo, Col. In 1894-95 was an educator of Los Angeles, Cal.; and in 1896-99 was superintendent of the public schools of Holyoke, Mass. He has been a traveler and student of education in many lands; and has founded industrial schools, musical festival associations, students aid societies and travel clubs. He was president of local and state Young men's christian association; president of the European school of travel, study and conference for American young people; and organizer and promoter of civil improvement clubs, art and music clubs. He is a music and art critic and lectures before educational institutions, literary societies and lyceums. He founded the Pueblo plan of individual instruction and edited the Advance in Education. He is the author of An Ideal School.

Search, Theodore Corson, educator, manufacturer, founder, was born March 20, 1841, in Feasterville, N.J. He was educated in the Pennsylvania state normal school in Lancaster county; and at the Crozier normal and high school at Chester, Pa. He taught school for seven years; for two years was principal of the high school at Middletown, Pa.; and for two years had charge of the academy in that city. In 1868 he became a merchant of Philadelphia and a manufacturer of woolen and worsted yarns. In 1872 a second factory was built at Tacony, Pa., placing the business in the front rank of their department of manufacture in the United States. In 1883 he founded a textile school, which was consolidated with the Pennsylvania museum and school of industrial art.

Searight, James Allison, banker, genealogist, author, was born Sept. 13, 1836, in Fayette county, Pa. He received an academic education at Dunlap Creek presbyterian academy of Fayette county, Pa.; and in 1863 graduated from Kenyon college of Gambier, Ohio. He has been engaged in Uniontown in the banking business, the steel business, the timber business, and in the real estate and insurance business; and also in general business such as the settling up of estates. He assisted in obtaining a charter for the People's bank of Fayette county, was its cashier, and in 1889 became president of that institution. He is the author of A Record of the Searight Family in America, which has become recognized as a standard genealogical work. His brother, Thomas B. Searight, a collegemate of James G. Blaine, was a representative and state senator in the Pennsylvania state legislature; was surveyor-general of the territory of Colorado under General Grant; was the author of The History of the National Road; and resided in Uniontown until his death in 1899. Mr. James A. Searight is still president of the People's bank of Fayette county, Pa.

Searing, Annie E. P., litterateur, author, was born March 12, 1857, in Brooklyn, N. Y. She is the author of The Land of Rip Van Winkle; and A Social Experiment.

Searight, Thomas B., lawyer, legislator, author, was born Feb. 20, 1827, in Fayette county, Pa. He is a noted lawyer of Uniontown, Pa.; and has served as a representative in both houses of the Pennsylvania state legislature. He is the author of The History of the National Road; Letters on States' Rights; and various other valuable contributions to historical literature.

Searing, John A., agriculturist, congressman, was born May 14, 1814, in Queens county, N.Y. In 1857-59 he was a representative from New York to the thirty-fifth congress as a democrat. He died May 6, 1876, in Minneola, N.Y.

Searing, Mrs. Lura Catherine, author, poet, was born Feb. 9, 1840, in Somerset, Md. In 1866-67 she was correspondent for the New York Times in Italy; and in 1868-76 was on the staff of The New York Mail. She is the author of Sounds from Secret Chambers; Poems; Idyls of Battle; Brother and Sister; and Notable Men in the House of Representatives.

Searle, Arthur, astronomer, author, was born Oct. 21, 1837, in London, England. Since 1887 he has been professor of astronomy in Harvard university. He is the author of Outlines of Astronomy.

Searle, Charles J., lawyer, jurist, was born May 16, 1865, in Ft. Smith, Ark. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools; attended Campbell normal university of Holton, Kan.; and graduated from the state university of Iowa. For sixteen years he has been actively engaged in the practice of law; has been state's attorney for Rock Island county, Ill.; and filled various other positions of trust and honor. For several years he has been president of the board of trustees of the Western Illinois state normal school. He is now judge of the court of claims of Illinois.

Searle, E. J., lawyer, jurist. In 1872 he was an associate justice of the supreme court of Arkansas.

Searle, George Mary, astronomer, educator, clergyman, author, was born June 27, 1839, in England. In 1862-64 he was assistant professor United States naval academy; in 1866-68 he was assistant in the Harvard observatory, when he joined the Paulists, and was ordained as a priest in 1871. He has had charge of the science teaching of the seminary that forms part of the home in New York. In 1895 he was appointed chief professor of mathematics in the Catholic university of Washington, D.C. In 1904-09 he was superior-general of the Paulists fathers. He is the author of Elements of Geometry; Plain Facts for Fair Minds; and How to Become a Catholic.

Searle, James, merchant, congressman, was born about 1730 in New York City. He settled in Philadelphia about 1763. He signed the non-importation agreement of 1765; and was one of the managers of the United States lottery in 1776-78. In 1778-80 he was a delegate from Pennsylvania to the continental congress. He died Aug. 7, 1797, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Searle, John Preston, educator, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 12, 1854, in Schuylerville, N.Y. Since 1893 he has been professor of systematic theology at the New Brunswick theological seminary; and since 1902 has been president of the faculty. He is the author of An Outline of Theological Encyclopedia.

Searle, Nathaniel, lawyer, jurist. In 1768-70 he was an associate justice of the supreme court of Rhode Island.

Searles, John Ennis, railroad president, was born in 1822. He is president of the Tennessee northern railway company and other corporations; and resided in New York City. He died Oct. 24, 1908, in London, England.

Searles, William Henry, civil engineer, author, was born June 4, 1837, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He was educated in private schools; at the Wesleyan university; and in 1860 graduated from the Rensselaer polytechnic institute; in 1862-64 he was professor of geodesy and road engineering at the Rensselaer polytechnic institute; in 1864-85 was engaged in locating and constructing railways in Ohio, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Indiana and New York; in 1876-78 he was engineer of the New York state canals; and since 1880 has been a consulting engineer in general practice. He is the author of Field Engineering; and The Railway Spiral.

Searls, Niles, lawyer, jurist. In 1887 he was chief justice of the supreme court of California.

Sears, Barnas, clergyman, educator, author, was born Nov. 19, 1802, in Sandisfield, Mass. He was professor at Newton theological seminary in 1836-48; and president of Brown university in 1855-67. He was the author of Life of Luther; The Ciceronian or Prussian Mode of Instruction in Latin; and Essays on Classical Literature. He died July 6, 1880, in Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

Sears, Edmund Hamilton, clergyman, author, poet, was born in 1810 in Sandisfield, Mass. He was a unitarian clergyman and religious poet; and pastor at Weston in 1865-76. He wrote the familiar Christmas hymn, Calm on the Listening Ear of Night. He was the author of Regeneration; Foregleams and Foreshadows of Immortality; The Fourth Gospel the Heart of Christ; Christ in the Life; Sermons and Songs of the Christian Life; Pictures of the Olden Time; and That Glorious Song of Old. He died Jan. 14, 1876, in Weston, Mass.

Sears, Edward L., journalist, educator, author, was born in 1819 in Ireland. He was professor of languages in Manhattan college. He became editor and proprietor of the National Quarterly in 1860, and conducted it until his death. Under the pen-name of H. E. Chevalier he was the author of Legends of the Sea. He died Dec. 7, 1876, in New York City.

Sears, George W., soldier, author, was born in 1821 in Massachusetts. He served in the federal army during the civil war. He is the author of Woodcraft; and Forest Runes, poems.

Sears, Isaac, soldier, congressman, patriot, was born in 1729 in Norwalk, Conn. On the passage of the stamp act he ardently engaged in the patriot cause; and became an active member of the Sons of liberty. He was a member of the provincial congress of New York in 1783; and of the assembly in the same year. He died Oct. 28, 1786, in China.

Sears, Joseph Hamblen, litterateur, author, was born April 10, 1865, in Boston, Mass. He is a writer of New York City. He is the author of The Governments of the World To-Day; None but the Brave; and A Box of Matches.

Sears, Lorenzo, clergyman, educator, author, was born April 18, 1838, in Sears-ville, Mass. In 1861 he graduated from Yale; and in 1864 from the general theological seminary. Until 1885 he was rector of parishes in Connecticut, Rhode Island and New Hampshire. He then took the chair of rhetoric and English literature in the university of Vermont; and in 1890-95 was professor of rhetoric in Brown university; and in 1895-1906 filled the chair of American literature in the same institution. He is the author of The History of Oratory; The Occasional Address, Its Composition and Literature; Principles and Methods of Literary Criticism; American Literature in the Colonial and National Periods; Seven Natural Laws of Literary Composition; and The Making of American Literature.

Sears, Nathaniel Clinton, lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 23, 1854, in Gallipolis, Ohio. He received his preparatory education in the academy of Elgin, Ill.; in 1875 graduated from Amherst college with the degree of A.M.; and was a law student in the university of Berlin. He received the honorary degree of LL.D. from the Northwestern university; and in 1878 was admitted to the practice of law. In 1893 he was elected judge of the superior court of Cook county, Ill. In 1897 he was appointed an associated justice of the appellate court of Illinois; and in 1903 resigned to take up the practice of law. In 1897 he was a republican candidate for mayor of Chicago, Ill.

Sears, Robert, publisher, was born June 28, 1810, in St. John, N.B. His books were among the first of the now well-known class of books sold exclusively by subscription. He died Feb. 17, 1892, in Toronto, Canada.

Sears, Schuyler Earl, clergyman, poet, was born April 7, 1868, in Sharon, Ohio. He graduated from the Baldwin university and the Drew theological seminary, and has received the degrees of B.A., Ph.D., and A.B. He now fills a pastorate in the methodist episcopal church at Creston, Ohio. He is the author of more than a hundred poems, which have appeared in the Cleveland Leader, and other current periodicals.

Seaton, Charles William, soldier, statistician, inventor, author, was born July 22, 1831, in Norfolk, N.Y. In 1861 he recruited company F, first regiment sharpshooters; was first lieutenant; and afterward was promoted to captain. He resigned his commission in 1864; and was then employed by the sanitary commission in the pension department. In 1870 he was chief clerk in the census office. He was the inventor of a tabulating machine; and in 1884 invented a matrix printing apparatus. He was the author of Census Reports of the State of New York; and United States Census Reports.

Seaton, William Winston, journalist, regent, was born Jan. 11, 1785, in King William county, Va. He became connected with the Register, in Raleigh; in 1812 went to Washington city and joined his brother-in-law in the management of the National Intelligencer, with which he was most honorably identified until his death. He was frequently elected mayor; was a regent of the Smithsonian institution; and in conjunction with Mr. Gales, was one of the public printers for very many years. He died June 16, 1866, in Washington, D.C.

Seaver, Ebenezer, legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 8, 1763, in Roxbury, Mass. He was a member of the state legislature in 1794-1802; and was a member of the state constitutional convention of 1820. In 1803-13 he was a representative from Massachusetts to the eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth congresses. He died March 1, 1844, in Roxbury, Mass.

Seaver, Edwin Pliny, educator, author, was born Feb. 24, 1838, in Northborough, Mass. In 1880-1904 he was superintendent of the public schools of Boston, Mass. He is the author of The Franklin Arithmetic, Algebra, Trigonometry; and a Mathematical Handbook.

Seaver, Joel F., soldier, was born in New York. In 1861 he was captain in the sixteenth regiment New York infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Dec. 2, 1899.

Seawell, Molly Elliott, author, was born Oct. 23, 1865, in Gloucester county, Va. She is the author of The Sprightly Romance of Marsac; Hale Weston, a novel; Quarterdeck and Fok'sle; The Loves of the Lady Arabella; The History of the Lady Betty Stair; The House of Egremont; The Secret of Toni, and several plays.

Seawell, Thomas, soldier, was born in Illinois. In 1861 he was first lieutenant in the tenth regiment Missouri infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died in Missouri.

Seawell, Washington, soldier, was born in 1802 in Virginia. He served in the Florida, Mexican and civil wars; and attained the rank of brigadier-general in 1865. He died about 1899.

Seay, Thomas, governor. In 1886-90 he was the twenty-fifth governor of Alabama. He died March 30, 1896, in Greensboro, Ala.

Seay, William A., lawyer, jurist, educator, state legislator, diplomat, was born April 19, 1831, near Burkeville, Va. He was a professor in the Louisiana state military school; and was an engineer officer in the confederate army under General Price. He was elected a representative to the Louisiana legislature in 1881, and again in 1884. In 1884 he was appointed commissioner to revise the statute laws of the state; and in 1885 was appointed United States minister to Bolivia.

Seay, Abraham J., soldier, lawyer, jurist, governor, was born Nov. 28, 1832, in Amherst county, Va. He worked on his father's farm in Osage county, Mo.; and attended Steelville academy. In 1858 he was elected county commissioner; and afterward studied law. In 1861-66 he was in the union service from private to colonel in the thirty-second regiment Missouri volunteer infantry.

In 1890-92 he was supreme judge of Oklahoma. In 1891-93 was governor of the territory of Oklahoma. He is now president of four banks.

Sebastian, William King, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born in 1814 in Vernon, Tenn. He was appointed prosecuting attorney, and held the office until 1837. He was circuit judge in 1840-42; and in 1843 was associate justice of the supreme court of Arkansas. He was a state senator, and president of the state senate in 1846; and was a presidential elector in 1848. In 1847-61 he was United States senator from Arkansas. He was expelled for disloyalty in 1861. He died May 20, 1866, in Memphis, Tenn.

Sechler, Thomas Mackey, soldier, manufacturer, was born Oct. 25, 1841, in Milton, Pa. He was educated in the high schools of Ironton and Cincinnati, Ohio; and in 1863 graduated from Marietta college where he subsequently received the degrees of A.B. and A.M. In 1863-65 he served in the civil war; and was promoted through the various grades of first lieutenant, acting assistant quartermaster and acting assistant adjutant-general and provost-marshal. In 1866-69 he was engaged in the iron business in Cincinnati, Ohio; and in 1869-71 was in the same business in Montgomery county, Tenn. In 1877-88 he was a carriage manufacturer of Cincinnati, Ohio; and since 1897 has been engaged in the manufacture of carriages, corn planters and other planting tools and implements. He is president of two carriage companies; president of the Wright carriage body company; director of the Mutual wheel company; director of the American harvesting company; and until 1907 was vice-president of the state savings bank and trust company of Moline, Ill. He was a director of the Cincinnati technical school; and for a time was trustee of the Moline public library.

Seccomb, John, clergyman, author, was born April 25, 1708, in Medford, Mass. He was a congregational minister at Harvard in 1733-57; and after 1763 at Chester, Nova Scotia. He was the author of Father Abbey's Will, a once extremely popular piece of doggerel, which was followed by The Letter to the Widow Abbey. He died in January, 1793, in Nova Scotia.

Seccomb, Joseph, clergyman, author, was born in 1706 in Medford, Mass. In 1837-60 he was a congregational minister at Kingston, N.H. He was the author of A Plain and Brief Rehearsal of the Operations of Christ as God. He died in 1760 in Kingston, N.H.

Seddon, James Alexander, lawyer, congressman, was born July 13, 1815, in Falmouth, Va. In 1845-47 and 1849-51 he was a representative from Virginia to the twenty-ninth and thirty-first congresses. He was a member of the confederate government as a representative in congress in 1861, having previously been a delegate to the peace congress of that year. In 1862 he became the confederate secretary of war. He died Aug. 19, 1880, in Virginia.

Sedgwick, Anne Douglas, writer, author, was born March 28, 1873, in Englewood, N.J. She is the author of The Dull Miss Archinard; The Confounding of Camelia; The Rescue; and Paths of Judgment; The Shadow of a Life; and The Fountain Sealed.

Sedgwick, Catharine Maria, educator, author, was born Dec. 28, 1780, in Stockbridge, Mass. Her name was for a time the foremost among those of American literary women. For a half century she was principal of a school for girls in Stockbridge, Mass., her native town. She was the author of Hope Leslie; Redwood; The New England Tale; The Traveler; Clarence; La Bossu; the Lanwoods; Married or Single, include her novels. Other works for older readers are, Letters from Abroad; and Historical Sketches of the Old Painters. Her juvenile moral tales are Live and Let Live; Poor Rich Man and Rich Poor Man; Means and Ends, and Morals and Manners. She died July 31, 1867, near Roxbury, Mass.

Sedgwick, Arthur George, lawyer, author, was born Oct. 6, 1844, in New York City. He is a lawyer of New York City. He is, jointly with F. S. Wait, the author of Principles and Practice Governing the Trial of Title to Land; and Elements of Damages.

Sedgwick, Charles B., lawyer, congressman, was born in March, 1815, in Pompey, N.Y. In 1859-63 he was a representative from New York to the thirty-sixth and thirty-seventh congresses. In 1863 he was appointed a commissioner to look after certain naval affairs. He died in New York.

Sedgwick, Mrs. Elizabeth Buckminster, educator, author, was born in 1791 in Massachusetts. She was the author of Beatitudes and Pleasant Sundays; Lesson Without Books; A Talk with My Pupils; and Stories of the Spanish Conquest. She died in 1864 in Massachusetts.

Sedgwick, Ellery, journalist, author, was born Feb. 27, 1872, in New York City. In 1900-05 he was editor of Frank Leslie's Popular monthly; in 1906-07 edited the American magazine; and since 1907 has been associated with McClure's magazine. He is the author of Life of Thomas Paine.

Sedgwick, Henry Dwight, lawyer, author, was born in 1785 in Sheffield, Mass. He was a noted opponent of slavery. He was the author of English Practice of the Common Law. He died Dec. 23, 1831, in Stockbridge, Mass.

Sedgwick, Henry Dwight, lawyer, author, was born Aug. 16, 1824, in Stockbridge, Mass. In 1846 he began the practice of law in New York City. He was the author of Sedgwick on Damages; and Sedgwick's Leading Cases on Damages. He died in 1903 in New York City.

Sedgwick, Henry Dwight, lawyer, author, was born Sept. 24, 1861, in Stockbridge, Mass. In 1885-98 he practiced law. He is the author of Life of Samuel Champlain; Essays on Great Writers; and A Short History of Italy.

Sedgwick, John, soldier, was born Sept. 13, 1813, in Cornwall, Conn. In 1837 he graduated from the United States military academy at West Point: was appointed second lieutenant; and was first engaged in the Seminole war. In 1846 he entered the Mexican war as first lieutenant of artillery; and for his gallantry received the brevets of captain and of major. In 1862 he was made colonel of the first regular cavalry; was commissioned brigadier-general of the United States volunteers; and subsequently became major-general. He was general in command at the battle of Fredericksburg in 1863. He was killed in 1864 by a bullet from a sharpshooter. A monument was erected to his memory in 1868 upon the grounds of the United States Military academy at West Point.

Sedgwick, John, lawyer, jurist, was born June 2, 1829, in New York City. He was assistant district attorney of New York in 1856-61; and in 1872-90 was judge of the superior court of the city of New York. He died in 1897 in New York City.

Sedgwick, Robert, soldier, was born about 1590 in England. He was employed to expel the French from Penobscot in 1654; and was engaged in the expedition against the Spanish West Indies in 1655. He became major-general. He died May 24, 1656, in the West Indies.

Sedgwick, Samuel H., lawyer, jurist, was born March 12, 1848, in Bloomingdale, Ill. He was educated at Wheaton college of Illinois. He has been judge of the fifth district court of Nebraska; supreme court commissioner; in 1902-06 was an associate justice of the supreme court of Nebraska; and in 1906-08 was chief justice. He now practices law in York, Neb.

Sedgwick, Mrs. Susan Livingston, litterateur, author, was born about 1789. She was the author of Walter Thornley; The Morals of Pleasure; The Young Emigrants; Allen Prescott; and Alida, or Town and Country. She died in 1867.

Sedgwick, Theodore, lawyer, jurist, congressman, United States senator, was born May 9, 1746, in Hartford, Conn. He was a zealous patriot in the revolutionary war; and in 1785-88 he was a delegate from Massachusetts to the continental congress; and in 1789-97 and 1799-1801 he was a representative from Massachusetts to the first, second, third, fourth and sixth congresses; and in 1799-1801 he was speaker of the house in the sixth congress. In 1795-99 he was United States senator. In 1802-13 he was a justice of the supreme court of Massachusetts. He died Jan. 24, 1813, in Boston, Mass.

Sedgwick, Theodore, lawyer, legislator, author, was born Dec. 31, 1780, in Sheffield, Mass. He received a thorough education in the public schools and graduated with the degree of LL.D. He was a member of the Massachusetts legislature in 1824, 1825 and 1827, and served on various committees. He was a lawyer of Albany, and from 1819 a resident of Stockbridge, Mass. He was the author of Public and Private Economy; and Hints to My Countrymen, and was a contributor to periodicals. He died Nov. 7, 1830, in Pittsfield, Mass.

Sedgwick, Theodore, lawyer, author, was born Jan. 27, 1811, in Albany, N.Y. He was a lawyer of New York City. He was the author of Rules which Govern the Interpretation and Application of Statutory and Constitutional Law; and Treatise on the Measure of Damages. He died Dec. 9, 1859, in Stockbridge, Mass.

Sedgwick, William Thompson, educator, biologist, author, was born Dec. 29, 1855, in West Hartford, Conn. He is professor of biology in the Massachusetts institute of technology. In 1900 he was president of the Boston civil service reform association. He is the author of General Biology; Principles of Sanitary Science and Public Health; and Human Mechanism.

Sedley, Henry, journalist, author, was born April 4, 1831, in Boston, Mass. He practiced civil engineering in San Francisco, Cal.; and later was engaged in journalism on the editorial staff of the Times; the Evening Post and the Commercial Advertiser of New York City. He was the author of Danger Fields Rest; Marion Rooke; and The Quest for Fortune. He died in 1890 in New York City.

Sedley, William Henry, actor, was born Dec. 4, 1806, in Wales. His first appearance in New York was at the old Chatham street theater in 1840, when he acted Edgar to the Lear of Junius Brutus Booth. He also appeared acceptably as Laertes, Gratiano, and Marc Antony. His last professional appearance in New York was made at the Winter garden in 1865. He died Jan. 17, 1872, in San Francisco, Cal.

See, Horace, engineer, naval architect, inventor, was born July 17, 1835, in Philadelphia, Pa. He designed the United States cruisers Yankee, Dixie, the hospital ship Solace. He invented the cylindrical mandrel for facing bearings; invented the double furnace water tube boiler; invented the pneumatic siphon fire hydrant; and invented the hydro pneumatic ash ejector. He died Dec. 13, 1909, in New York City.

Seeger, Eugene, diplomat, author, was born May 1, 1853, in southern Germany. He was educated in Germany, France and England. In 1873 he helped establish the Daily Freie Presse; and he was chief and managing editor of the California Demokrat, a general daily paper in San Francisco, Cal. He converted it into a republican organ and became chief editor and manager of a German daily at Newark, N. J. In 1886 he was appointed city scaler of Chicago, Ill.; and later was chief statistician and factory inspector. In 1897-1906 he was American consul-general to Brazil; and in 1908 was appointed United States commissioner for the Brazilian national exhibition. He owns a large tract of land in Brazil and is an exporter of cacao and cabinet woods. He is the author of Chicago, the Wonderful City.

See, Thomas Jefferson Jackson, astronomer, mathematician, physicist, author, was born Feb. 19, 1866, near Montgomery City, Mo. He graduated from the university of Missouri with the degrees of A.B., L.B. and S.B.; and in 1892 graduated from the university of Berlin with the degrees of A.M. and Ph.D. In 1887-89 he was in charge of the observatory at the university of Missouri; in 1893-96 organized and had charge of Yerkes observatory, and in 1896-98 was astronomer at the Lowell observatory. Since 1899 he has been professor of mathematics in the United States navy, in charge of the naval observatory at Mare Island, Cal. He has examined two hundred thousand fixed stars; and computed about fifty orbits of double stars. He is the author of Researches on the Evolution of the Stellar Systems; and various other works and researches on astronomical subjects.

Seeley, Elias P., governor. He was the eleventh governor of New Jersey for a part of the year 1833. He died in New Jersey.

Seeley, John E., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Aug. 1, 1810, in Ovid, N.Y. He was county judge and surrogate in 1851-55; and was a presidential elector in 1860 and 1864. In 1871-73 he was a representative from New York to the forty-second congress. He died in Ovid, N.Y.

Seeley, Levi, educator, author, was born Nov. 21, 1847, in North Harpersfield, N.Y. He was educated in the district school; in 1871 graduated from the Albany normal school; and received the honorary degrees of M.A. from Williams college and Ph.D. from the university of Leipzig. In 1871-74 he was principal of the public school of Orient, N.Y.; in 1874-75 he was principal of the school of New Hamburg, N.Y.; in 1875-81 he was an educator of Patchogue, N.Y.; in 1881-83 he was superintendent of schools at Lansingburg, N.Y.; in 1883-86 he was a student in Germany; in 1886-87 he was principal of the public schools of Cobleskill, N.Y.; and in 1887-94 was principal of Ferry Hall seminary of Lake Forest, Ill. In 1894-95 he traveled and studied in Europe. He is the author of The American Common School System; The Grube System of Numbers; The Grube Idea; The German Common School System and Its Lessons to America; History of Education; The Foundations of Education; A New School Man- agement; Seeley's Question Book; and Elementary Pedagogy.

Seely, Edward Howard, litterateur, author, was born in 1856 in New York. He was the author of A Lone Star Bo-peep, and Other Tales of Texan Ranch Life; A Ranchman's Stories; A Nymph of the West; The Jonah of Lucky Valley, and Other Stories; and A Border Leander. He died in 1894 in New York City.

Seelye, Mrs. Elizabeth Eggleston, author, was born Dec. 15, 1858, in St. Paul, Minn. She is the wife of Elwyn Seelye. She is the author of The Story of Columbus; Montezuma; Brandt and Red Jacket; Pocahontas; Tecumseh (with E. Eggleston); The Story of Washington; Lake George in History; and Saratoga and Lake Champlain in History.

Seelye, Julius Hawley, clergyman, college president, congressman, author, was born Sept. 14, 1824, in Bethel, Conn. He was pastor of the Dutch reformed church of Schenectady in 1853-58; became professor at Amherst college in 1858; and was its president in 1876-90. In 1875-77 he was a representative from Massachusetts to the forty-fourth congress. He was the author of Natural Religion; The Way, the Truth, and the Life; Christian Missions; and Duty. He died May 12, 1895, in Amherst, Mass.

Seelye, Laureus Clark, clergyman, college president, was born Sept. 20, 1837, in Bethel, Conn. For eight years he was professor of English literature and rhetoric in Amherst college; and since 1873 has been president of the Smith college for women of Northampton, Mass.

Seemuller, Mrs. Annie Moncure, author, was born in 1838 in Maryland. She was the author of Emily Chester; Reginald Archer; and Opportunity. She died in 1872 in New York City.

Seerley, Homer Horatio, educator, author, was born Aug. 13, 1848, in Indianapolis, Ind. He attended the elementary schools of Keokuk county, was prepared; in 1873 received the degree of Ph. B. from the state university of Iowa; and in 1876 the degree of A.M. from the same institution. He has also received the degrees of LL.D. from Penn college and from the state university of Iowa. In 1875-86 he was superintendent of city schools of Oskaloosa, Iowa. In 1884 he was president of the Iowa state teachers' association. Since 1886 he has been president of the Iowa state normal school. He is the author of History and Civil Government of Iowa.

Seerley, John J., lawyer, congressman, was born March 13, 1852, in Toulon, Ill. For six years he was city solicitor of Burlington, Iowa. In 1891-93 he was a representative from Iowa to the fifty-second congress as a democrat.

Seevers, William H., lawyer, jurist. He was chief justice of the supreme court of Iowa. He died March 24, 1895, in Oskaloosa, Iowa.

Sefton, Frederick, physician, bank director, was born July 29, 1859, in England. He was a member of the board of education of the city of Auburn. He is a director of Cayuga county national bank.

Sefton, John, actor, was born Jan. 15, 1805, in England. He gained great popularity in New York as Jemmy Twitcher in the Golden Farmer. He died Sept. 19, 1868, in New York City.

Segar, Joseph E., state legislator, congressman, was born June 1, 1804, in King William county, Va. In 1836 he was elected to the house of delegates of Virginia, and continued to serve for several years; and was again elected to the same position in 1848, and continued to serve almost uninterruptedly until the state rebelled against the union. In 1861-63 he was a representative from Virginia to the thirty-seventh congress. He died in 1855 in Virginia.

Sebers, C. J., clergyman, archbishop. In 1886 he became Roman catholic archbishop of Oregon.

Seguin, Edouard, physician, author, was born Jan. 20, 1812, in France. He came to the United States in 1848; and made a specialty of training of idiots. He did much for the feeble-minded. He was the author of New Facts Concerning Idiocy; Family Thermometer, Medical Thermometry; and Idiocy and Its Treatment by the Physiological Methods. He died Oct. 28, 1880, in New York City.

Segur, Seth Willard, clergyman, author, was born in 1831 in Vermont. He was a congregational clergyman of Ohio, and subsequently of Massachusetts. He was the author of Relation and Responsibilities of Pastor and People; The True Manhood; The Nation's Hope; and National Blessings and Duties. He died in 1875 in Massachusetts.

Seiber, William, manufacturer, public official, was born Feb. 5, 1869, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He was educated in the public and private schools of Cincinnati, Ohio. He is a successful business man and manufacturer of Central City, W.Va.; proprietor of the Central veneer company; and prominently identified with the business and public affairs of his city. He has filled various positions of trust and honor; and as mayor of his city has shown great business and executive ability. Since 1900 he has filled the office of mayor of Central City, W.Va.

Seidenbush, Rupert, clergyman, bishop, was born Oct. 30, 1830, in Bavaria. The northern part of Minnesota was erected into a vicariate apostolic by a papal brief in 1875; and he was appointed its vicar apostolic, under the title of Roman catholic bishop of Halia in partibus. He died June 3, 1895, in Richmond, Va.

Seip, Theodore Lorenzo, educator, college president, author, was born June 25, 1842, in Easton, Pa. In 1886 he became president of the Muhlenberg college, Pa. He was the author of History of the College Association of Pennsylvania. He died in 1903 in Allentown, Pa.

Seiss, Joseph Augustus, clergyman, author, was born March 18, 1823, near Graceham, Md. He was an eminent lutheran clergyman of Philadelphia; pastor of the Church of the holy communion; and for twelve years editor of The Lutheran. He was the author of Lectures on the Gospels and Epistles of the Church Year, in five volumes; Beacon Lights; The Gospel in the Stars; The Miracle in Stone, a restatement of Piazzi Smyth's famous theory of the Pyramid; Lectures on the Apocalypse, in three volumes; Lectures on the Epistle to the Hebrews; Luther and the Reformation; The Lutheran Church; Recreation Songs; Life After Death; Right Life; The Children of Silence, the Story of the Deaf; Christ's Descent into Hell; The Last Times; Voices from Babylon; Letters of Jesus; and Uriel. He died in 1904 in Philadelphia, Pa.

Seitz, Don Carlos, journalist, author, was born Oct. 24, 1862, in Portage, Ohio. He is business manager of the New York World. He is the author of Discoveries in Every-Day Europe.

Selby, Thomas Jefferson, journalist, lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 4, 1840, in Delaware county, Ohio. For two terms he was mayor of Jerseyville, Ill. He moved to Calhoun county in 1884; and was state's attorney in 1888-94. In 1901-03 he was a representative from Illinois to the fifty-seventh congress as a democrat.

Selden, Dudley, lawyer, congressman. He was a prominent member of the New York bar; and in 1833-34 he was a representative from New York to the twenty-third congress. He died Nov. 7, 1855, in Paris, France.

Selden, Edwin Van Deusen, oil producer, was born Dec. 23, 1858, in Lawrenceville, Allegheny county, Pa. He is a descendant of Colonel Samuel Selden, who was captured by the British at the battle of Long Island, and died in a prison in 1774. He was educated in the public and private schools of Meadville, Pa.; and at the Episcopal academy of Philadelphia, Pa. He is a well-known oil refiner and producer; is connected with the Crystal oil works of Oil City, Pa.; president of the Oil City oil exchange; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. He has been quartermaster of the sixteenth regiment national guard of Pennsylvania, and in 1898 became colonel of the twenty-first regiment infantry. He is lieutenant-colonel and inspector of rifle practice for the Pennsylvania division of the Pennsylvania national guard.

Selden, Henry Rogers, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Oct. 14, 1805, in Lyme, Conn. In 1862-64 he was a judge of the court of appeals. He was the author of Reports, New York Court of Appeals, 1851-54, in six volumes. He died Sept. 18, 1885, in Rochester, N.Y.

Selden, Joseph, lawyer, jurist. He was an early emigrant to Arkansas; and in 1820-24 he was judge of the United States court for the territory of Arkansas. He died in May, 1824, in Little Rock, Ark., being killed in a duel with Judge Scott of the same court.

Selden, Samuel Lee, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 12, 1800, in Lyme, Conn. In 1825 he began to practice law in Rochester, N. Y.; was chancery clerk and first judge of common pleas in Monroe county for many years; and in 1847 was elected justice of the supreme court. In 1856-62 he was judge of the court of appeals. He died Sept. 20, 1876, in Rochester, N.Y.

Seldomridge, Harry Hunter, congressman, was born Oct. 1, 1864, in Philadelphia, Pa. He has been a member of the Colorado state senate. In 1913-15 he was a representative from Colorado to the sixty-third congress.

Selfridge, James Lercon, soldier, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1861 he was lieutenant-colonel in the forty-sixth regiment Pennsylvania; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died May 19, 1887.

Selfridge, Thomas Oliver, naval officer, was born April 24, 1804, in Boston, Mass. He entered the navy in 1818, was commissioned lieutenant in 1827; commander in 1844; was made captain in 1855; and commodore in 1862. He became a rear-admiral on the retired list in 1866. He died Oct. 15, 1902, in Waverly, Mass.

Seligman, Edwin Robert Anderson, educator, author, was born April 25, 1861, in New York City. In 1879 he graduated from Columbia and received the honorary degrees of LL.B., Ph. D. and LL.D. He studied three years in foreign universities. Since 1891 he has been a professor of political economy and finance in Columbia university; and since 1886 one of the editors of Political Science monthly. He is president of the Tenement house building company; and in 1906 was special state tax commissioner for New York. He is the author of Chapters on Mediæval Guilds in England; Owen and the Christian Socialists; Railway Tariffs; Shifting and Incidence of Taxation; Progressive Taxation in Theory and Practice; and Essays in Taxation.

Selfridge, Thomas Oliver, naval officer, was born Feb. 6, 1836, in Charlestown, Mass. He was actively engaged in the civil war; in 1870 was the commander of the Darien exploring expedition; and became commander-in-chief of naval forces, European station; and attained the rank of rear-admiral. In 1895-97 he was commander-in-chief of the European squadron; and was retired in 1898.

Selkirk, Edward, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 13, 1800, in Waterbury, Conn. He was rector of Trinity church of Albany in 1844-84. He was the author of An Address on the Laying of the Corner-Stone of Trinity Church; and History of Trinity Church. He died Feb. 14, 1891, in Albany, N. Y.

Sell, Edward Herman Miller, physician, surgeon, founder, author, was born Aug. 16, 1832, in Lehigh county, Pa. In 1876 he was one of the seven organizers of the American academy of medicine; and has spent more than six years abroad in the interest of medicine. He is the author of several medical monographs; and in 1869-80 was editor of the Physician and Pharmacist.

Sell, Henry Thorne, clergyman, lecturer, author, was born Sept. 30, 1854, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He graduated from Yale university. In 1873-74 he was professor of mathematics and German in a college of Randolph, N. Y.; and in 1874-86 filled pastorates in Lysander and Cortland, N. Y. In 1901-03 he was editor of the Advance of Chicago, Ill. He has held two pastorates in Chicago; and is now pastor of Plymouth congregational church of Fort Wayne, Ind. He is the author of Supplemental Bible Studies, Bible Study by Books; Life of Christ, Life of Paul; Church History; and other works.

Selleck, Willard Chamberlain, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 20, 1856, in Ogdensburg, N. Y. He was educated in the rural schools of St. Lawrence county, N. Y.; and at the state normal school of Potsdam, N. Y. In 1881 he graduated from the theological school of St. Lawrence university. Since 1881 he has been in the universalist ministry. He is secretary of the Rhode Island temperance league; vice-president of the Providence society for organizing charity; and director of the Rhode Island federation of churches. He is the author of The Spiritual Outlook; and A New Appreciation of the Bible.

Sellers, Coleman, civil engineer, was born Jan. 28, 1827, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1889 he was called upon to advise as to the development of the water power of Niagara Falls, and chiefly upon his advice was that work undertaken; and he was president and chief engineer of the Niagara Falls power company. He occupied the position of president of the Franklin institute, Pa.; and of the Pennsylvania museum and school of industrial art. He died in 1907 in Philadelphia, Pa.

Sellers, John, merchant, manufacturer, was born July 27, 1826, in Upper Darby, Pa. In 1849 he established an iron foundry in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1885 he became president of the Milbourne mill company, known as Sellers mill of Philadelphia, Pa. He was one of the founders of the Nation of New York City.

Sellers, William, civil engineer, manufacturer, was born Sept. 19, 1824, in Delaware county, Pa. In 1847 he started in business now known as William Sellers and company of which he was president and engineer. He was also president of the Edge Moor iron company since 1868; and was president of the Midvale steel company in 1873-87. In 1864 he read a paper before the Franklin Institute on Screw Threads and Nuts, which has since become the standard for the United States. He died in 1905 in Philadelphia, Pa.

Sellew, Walter Ashbel, clergyman, bishop, was born Feb. 27, 1844, in Gowanda, N. Y. He received his preparatory education in the academy of Fredonia, N. Y.; and in 1866 graduated from Dartmouth college where he subsequently received the degree of A. M. In 1872 he entered the ministry of free methodist church; in 1887-98 as presiding elder; and since 1898 has been general superintendent. He is treasurer of the Gerry home for aged persons; treasurer of the Gerry orphanage of New York; and president and treasurer of the American methodist Cheseborough seminary of North Clith of New York. He is a member of the executive committee; and a member of other boards of the free methodist church and has made a missionary tour of inspection around the world. In 1880 he was a prohibition candidate for congress.

Sells, Sam R., congressman, was born Aug. 2, 1871, in Bristol, Tenn. He served one term in the Tennessee Senate; and was private in the Spanish-American war. In 1911-15 he was a representative from Tennessee to the sixty-second and sixty-third congresses.

Sellstedt, Lars Gustaf, artist, author, was born April 30, 1819, in Sweden. In 1875 he became a member of the National academy of design of New York City. He has devoted himself chiefly to portraiture; and his works in that line including Solomon G. Haven; George W. Clinton; Millard Fillmore; Grover Cleveland; and others. He is the author of From Forecastle to Academy.

Selva, Thomas Henry, lawyer, orator, state senator, was born April 22, 1857, in Orient, Maine. He is a noted lawyer of Eureka, Cal.; has been district attorney of Humboldt county; secretary of the Humboldt chamber of commerce; and took an active part as a platform speaker during the presidential election of 1896 for McKinley and Hobart. In 1900 he was elected a member of the California state senate. Since 1906 he has been postmaster of Eureka, Cal.

Selye, Lewis, manufacturer, congressman, was born July 11, 1808, in Chittenango, N.Y. He became extensively engaged in the manufacturing business in Rochester, N.Y.; and for seven years was treasurer of the county. In 1867-69 he was a representative from New York to the fortieth congress. He died in Rochester, N.Y.

Selyns, Henricus, clergyman, author, poet, was born in 1636, in Holland. In 1682-1701 he was pastor of the First Dutch Reformed church of New York City. His Poems, written in Dutch, have been translated. He died in July, 1701, in New York City.

Semelroth, William James, religious editor, author, was born Nov. 28, 1858, in Peoria, Ill. Since 1896 he has been editor of the International Sunday School Evangel; and since 1903 has been president of the Evangel publishing company of St. Louis, Mo. He is the author of Rules of Order; and The Complete Normal Manual for Bible Study.

Semling, Conrad Knute, journalist, lawyer, was born June 8, 1865, in Norway. He was educated at the Willmar academy of Minnesota; and attended the university of Minnesota. He has been engaged in journalistic work; was in the insurance business; and is now a lawyer by profession. He is now clerk of the district court for Norman county.

Semmes, Alexander Aldebaran, naval officer, was born June 8, 1825, in Washington, D.C. He entered the navy as a midship-man in 1841. In 1880 he was president of the board of inspection, after which he was commandant of the navy yard at Washington. He was commissioned commodore in 1882; and was in command of the navy yard at the time of his death. He died Sept. 22, 1885, in Hamilton, Va.

Semmes, Alexander Jenkins, clergyman, surgeon, college president, author, was born Dec. 17, 1828, in Georgetown, D.C. He was a surgeon in the confederate navy; became a Roman catholic clergyman; and since 1886 has been president of Pio Nono college of Macon, Ga. He is the author of Medical Sketches of Paris; Gunshot Wounds; and Notes from a Surgical Diary.

Semmes, Benedict J., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 1, 1780, in Charles county, Md. In 1821 he was elected to the Maryland state legislature; was again elected in 1825, 1827 and 1828; and during one session was chosen speaker of the house of delegates. In 1829-33; he was a representative from Maryland to the twenty-first and twenty-second congresses; and served in the state legislature in 1842-43. He died in Maryland.

Semmes, Raphael, naval officer, author, was born Sept. 27, 1809, in Charles county, Md. He was a celebrated naval officer in the confederate service during the civil war as commander of the Alabama. He was the author of Service Afloat and Ashore During the Mexican War; Campaign of General Scott in the Valley of Mexico; The Cruise of the Alabama; and Memoirs of Service

Afloat During the War Between the States. He died Aug. 30, 1877, in Mobile, Ala.

Semmes, Thomas Jenkins, lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 16, 1824, in Georgetown, D.C. He was a noted lawyer of New Orleans, La.; and represented his state in the confederate senate. In 1873-79 he filled the chair of civil law in the university of Indiana. In 1887 he was president of the American bar association. He died June 23, 1909, in New Orleans, La.

Semple, Ellen Churchill, scientist, author, was born in 1863, in Louisville, Ky. She is the author of American History and Its Geographic Conditions.

Semple, Eugene, lawyer, governor, was born June 12, 1840, in Bogota, New Granada, South America. In 1864 he was a practicing lawyer in Portland, Ore.; editor of the Daily Oregon Herald in 1869; and state printer of Oregon in 1872. He was governor of Washington territory in 1888-89. He was harbor line commissioner of the state in 1891; and in 1897 became president of the Seattle and Lake Washington Waterway company. He died in 1908, in Olympia, Wash.

Semple, James, soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, United States senator, was born Jan. 5, 1798, in Greene county, Ky. He was colonel of an Illinois regiment in the Black Hawk war; and brigadier-general of the militia. He was speaker of the house of representatives, attorney-general, chief justice of the supreme court; and in 1843-47 he was United States senator from Illinois. He was minister to New Granada from the United States. He took a prominent part in the agitation for settling and holding the Oregon country; made speeches in that behalf in the Mississippi valley in 1842; and in 1844 introduced in the United States senate a resolution directing the president of the United States to give notice to his Britannic majesty of the desire of this country to abrogate the treaty by which the two countries jointly occupied the Pacific coast. He died Dec. 20, 1866, in Elsie Landing, Ill.

Semple, Robert Baylor, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 20, 1769, in Virginia. He was a noted baptist clergyman of Virginia. He was the author of A History of the Virginia Baptists; and other works. He died Dec. 25, 1831, in Fredericksburg, Va.

Seneff, Michael Burns Loo, educator, clergyman, college president, was born Jan. 27, 1862, in Fayette county, Pa. Since 1895 he has been president of Westfield college, Ill.

Sener, James Beverly, journalist, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born May 18, 1837, in Fredericksburg, Va. He was sergeant of the city of Fredericksburg in 1863; was army correspondent of the southern associated press with General Lee's army during the civil war; and from 1865 was editor of the Fredericksburg Ledger. In 1873-75 he was a representative from Virginia to the forty-third congress. He was appointed chief justice of the supreme court of the territory of Wyoming in 1879.

Seney, George Ebbert, lawyer, jurist, congressman, author, was born May 20, 1832, in Uniontown, Pa. In 1857-62 he was elected judge of the common pleas court. He served as a commissioned officer in the Union army during the civil war. He was a delegate to the democratic national convention of 1876. In 1883-91 he was a representative from Ohio to the forty-eighth, forty-ninth, fiftieth and fifty-first congresses. In 1887 he was chairman of the democratic state convention of Ohio. He was the author of Seney's Code of Procedure. He died in 1903, in Tiffin, Ohio.

Seney, George Ingraham, philanthropist, banker, was born May 12, 1826, in Astoria, L.I. He rose from the post of paying teller in the Metropolitan bank of New York City, to the presidency of that institution, holding the latter office in 187-84. He founded the Seney scholarship; and largely endowed Wesleyan university. He has contributed to miscellaneous charities more than four hundred thousand dollars.

Seney, Joshua, congressman, was born in 1750 on eastern shore of Maryland. In 1787-88 he was a delegate from Maryland to the continental congress; and in 1789-92 he was a representative from Maryland to the first and second congresses. He was presidential elector in 1792. He died in 1799 in Maryland.

Senn, Nicholas, physician, surgeon, author, was born Oct. 31, 1844, in Switzerland. In 1890 he was appointed surgeon-general of Wisconsin; and held the same position in Illinois. During the Spanish-American war of 1898 he served as surgeon with the rank of lieutenant-colonel. He was the author of The Surgical Bacteriology; Intestinal Surgery; Principles of Surgery; Syllabus of Practical Surgery; Experimental Surgery; Pathology and Surgical Treatment of Tumors; Practical Surgery; and Medico-Surgical Aspects of the Spanish-American War. He died Jan. 2, 1908, in Chicago, Ill.

Sensenig, David Martin, educator, author, was born Dec. 17, 1840, in Lancaster county, Pa. Since 1879 he has been professor of mathematics at the West Chester state normal school of Pennsylvania. He is the author of Numbers Symbolized; An Elementary Algebra; Numbers Universalized; A Complete Advanced Algebra; Key to Elementary Algebra; Key to Advanced Algebra; The New Complete Arithmetic; and Essentials of Arithmetic.

Senter, De Witt C., governor was born in 1834. He was the seventeenth governor of Tennessee in 1860-71. He died June 15, 1898, in Morristown, Tenn.

Senter, Isaac, physician, surgeon, author, was born in 1755 in New Hampshire. He was a surgeon in the revolutionary army. He accompanied Benedict Arnold's expedition to Quebec, an interesting account of which he published in the Bulletin of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania. He died Dec. 20, 1799, in Newport, R.I.

Senter, John Henry, lawyer, public official, statesman, was born Nov. 11, 1848, in Cabot, Vt. He was superintendent of schools of Montpelier, Vt.; was a justice of the peace; was United States bank examiner; and served as United States district attorney; and was mayor of his city. In 1900 he was the democratic candidate for governor of Vermont; in 1903-04 was state's attorney; and in 1906 became a member of the Vermont state legislature. He is now engaged in the practice of law in Montpelier, Vt.

Senter, William T., congressman, was born in 1802, in Granger county, Tenn. In 1843-45 he was a representative to the twenty-eighth congress. He died Aug. 28, 1849, in Tennessee, at Panther Springs, Tenn.

Sergeant, John, missionary, was born in 1710, in Newark, N.J. A short time before his death he established a manual-training school at Stockbridge that was in successful operation several years. He translated into the Indian language parts of the Old Testament and all of the New except the book of Revelation. He died July 27, 1749, in Stockbridge, Mass.

Sergeant, John, lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 5, 1770, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1815-23, 1827-29 and 1837-43 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the fourteenth, fifteenth, sixteenth, seventeenth, twentieth, twenty-fifth, twenty-sixth and twenty-seventh congresses. He was especially famous for his part in the great Missouri compromise in 1820. In 1832 he was the whig candidate for vice-president, being upon the same ticket with Henry Clay. He died Nov. 25, 1852, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Sergeant, Jonathan Dickinson, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1746, in Newark, N.J. In 1776-77 he was a delegate from New Jersey to the continental congress; and took his seat a few days after the declaration of independence. In 1777 he became attorney-general of Pennsylvania. He died Oct. 8, 1793, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Sergeant, Thomas, lawyer, jurist, state legislator; was born Jan. 14, 1782, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a member of the state legislature in 1812-14; was attorney-general in 1819-20; postmaster of Philadelphia in 1828-32; and in 1834 was associate justice of the supreme court. He was the author of Treatise on the Law of Pennsylvania Relating to Proceedings by Foreign Attachment; Constitutional Law; View of the Land Laws of Pennsylvania; and Sketch of the National Judiciary Powers. He died May 8, 1860, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Serrell, David, lawyer, jurist. He was judge of the United States district court sometime prior to 1884.

Serrell, Edward Wellman, civil engineer, inventor, was born abroad Nov. 5, 1826, of American parents. He accompanied the expedition that in 1848 located the route of the railroad between Aspinwall and Panama; and a year later was engaged in building the suspension-bridge across the Niagara river at Lewiston; also that at St. John, N.B. At the beginning of the civil war he organized the first New York engineers; was lieutenant-colonel; soon became its colonel; and served as chief engineer of the tenth army corps in 1863. Many valuable improvements of guns and processes, that proved of practical service during the civil war, were suggested by him; and the brevet of brigadier-general of volunteers was conferred on him in 1865. He died in 1906, in Washington, D.C.

Service, Francis G., lawyer, jurist. He was judge of one of the United States territorial courts sometime prior to 1884.

Service, Francis G., lawyer, jurist, was born in New Jersey. He removed to Ohio, from which state he was appointed an associate justice for the territory of Montana. He died in Virginia City, Nev.

Serviss, Garrett Putnam, journalist, lecturer, author, was born March 24, 1851, in Sharon Springs, N.Y. He is the author of Astronomy With an Opera Glass; Edison's Conquest of Mars; and The Moon, a Popular Treatise.

Servoss, Thomas Lowery, merchant, founder, was born Oct. 14, 1786, in Philadelphia, Pa. He built in 1831 the first five packet ships that ran regularly between New York and New Orleans, and was agent of the line. He was active in charitable enterprises, and held office in various benevolent societies. He presented a series of historical reminiscences to the New York historical society in 1858. He died Nov. 30, 1866, in New York City.

Sessinghaus, Gustave, congressman. He successfully contested a seat in the forty-eighth congress and served in 1883-85.

Session, Walter L., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born in Brandon, Vt. He was commissioner of schools for several years; was a member of the New York assembly in 1853-54; and was a member of the state senate in 1859-65. In 1871-75 and 1885-87 he was a representative from New York to the forty-second, forty-third and forty-fourth congresses as a republican. He died May 7, 1897, in New York.

Sessums, Davis, clergyman, bishop, was born July 7, 1858, in Houston, Texas. In 1883-87 he was assistant and later rector Calvary church of Memphis, Tenn.; and in 1887-91 was rector of Christ church of New Orleans, La. In 1891 he was consecrated protestant episcopal bishop of Louisiana. He has published various metaphysical theses, together with some episcopal addresses, lectures and sermons.

Setchell, William Albert, educator, botanist, author, was born April 15, 1864, in Norwich, Conn. Since 1895 he has been professor of botany at the university of California. He is the author of Laboratory Practice for Beginners in Botany.

Seth, James, educator, author, was born in 1860, in Scotland. He has been a professor of moral philosophy in Cornell university since 1896. He is the author of A Study of Ethical Principles.

Seton, Mrs. Elizabeth Ann, author, was born Aug. 28, 1774, in New York City. She was the founder and first superior of the order of Sisters of Charity in the United States. She was the author of Memoirs of Mrs. Seton, written by Herself; A Fragment of Real History, which was published in 1817. She died Jan. 4, 1821, in Emmettsburg, Md.

Seton, Ernest Thompson, lecturer, naturalist, artist, author, was born Aug 14, 1860, in England. In 1866-70 he lived in the backwoods of Canada; and in 1882-87 lived on the western plains. He is now well known as an animal painter and illustrator; and was a very successful lecturer. He was one of the chief illustrators of the Century Dictionary. He is the author and illustrator of Wild Animals I Have Known; Wild Animal Play for Children; and other works.

Seton, Grace Gallatin, designer, author, was born Jan. 28, 1872, in Sacramento, Cal. She is the wife of Ernest T. Seton. In 1897 she began making books, designing covers and title pages. Since 1898 she has been president of the Pen and Brush club. She is the author of A Woman Tenderfoot; Nimrod's Wife; and also a serial of A B C Zoo Sketches; and a song.

Seton, Robert, clergyman, bishop, was born Aug. 28, 1839, in New York. For over a quarter of a century he was rector of St. Joseph church of Jersey City, N.J.; and is dean of all the monsignori in the United States. Since 1903 he has been an archbishop of Rome. He is the author of Memoir, Letters and Journal of Elizabeth Seton; Roman Essays; The Dignity of Labor; and an Old Family.

Seton, William, naval officer, author, poet, was born Jan. 28, 1835, in New York City. He is the author of Romance of the Charter Oak; The Pride of Lexington; Rachel's Fate, and Other Tales; The Poor Millionaire; The Shamrock Gone West; Moida, a Tale of the Tyrol; and The Pioneer, a poem.

Settle, Evan E., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Dec. 1, 1848, in Frankfort, Ky. In 1878 he was elected county attorney from Owenton, Ky.; and was re-elected in 1882 and in 1886. He was twice elected to the Kentucky legislature, and served in 1887-88 and 1889-90. In 1897-99 he was a representative to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat. He died Nov. 16, 1899, in Owenton, Ky.

Settle, Thomas, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1791, in Rockingham county, N.C. He was a representative in the North Carolina state legislature in 1815 and 1826-28. In 1817-21 he was a representative to the fifteenth and sixteenth congresses; in 1832-52 was judge of the superior court of law and equity. He died Aug. 5, 1857, in Rockingham county, N.C.

Settle, Thomas, soldier, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born Jan. 23, 1831, in Rockingham county, N.C. In 1854-60 he was a representative in the North Carolina legislature; serving as speaker of the house during his last term. In 1859-65 he was solicitor of the fourth circuit. In 1865 he was elected a member of the state constitutional convention; and the same year was elected a state senator. In 1868 he was elected a judge of the supreme court of North Carolina; and in 1872 was appointed a judge of the supreme court of North Carolina, to fill a vacancy. In 1877-89 he was United States district judge for the northern district of Florida. He died Dec. 2, 1888, in North Carolina.

Settle, Thomas, lawyer, diplomat, congressman, was born March 10, 1865, in Rockingham county, N.C. Under president Grant he was envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Peru. He was elected to congress in 1892; and in 1893-97 he was a representative from North Carolina to the fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses.

Settle, Warner Ellmore, lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 21, 1850, in Greensburg, Ky. In 1871-92 he practiced law. In 1892-1902 he was circuit judge of the eighth judicial district of Kentucky; and since 1902 has been judge of the Kentucky court of appeals.

Sever, Anne Elizabeth Parsons, benefactor, was born May 29, 1810, in Boston, Mass. She bequeathed one hundred thousand dollars to Harvard to build a hall for undergraduates which should be called by her name; and twenty thousand dollars for the purchase of books for its library. She also willed ten thousand dollars to the Boston children's hospital, and five thousand dollars each to five benevolent institutions in that city; five thousand dollars to the New England historic-genealogical society; and an equal sum to the General theological library, to the Boston training school for nurses, and the Connecticut retreat for the insane. She died Dec. 15, 1879, in Boston, Mass.

Sever, George Francis, educator, electrical engineer, author, was born July 30, 1866, in Cambridge, Mass. Since 1900 he has been a professor of electrical engineering at Columbia university of New York City; and since 1902 has been consulting engineer of the New York department of water supply, gas and electricity. He is the author of Laboratory and Factory Tests in Electrical Engineering.

Severance, Mrs. Caroline Seymour, philanthropist, writer, founder, was born Jan.

12, 1820, in Canandaigua, N.Y. In 1840

she married Theodorice C. Severance, a banker of Cleveland, Boston, and later of Los Angeles, Cal. In 1868 she was one of the founders and first president of the New England woman's club of Boston, which was organized a few weeks before the Sorosis club of New York City; and therefore she is sometimes called the mother of women's clubs. She has been active in woman's suffrage agitation; has presented numerous memorials and appeals for suffrage; and has lectured on that subject. She has also founded clubs in Santa Barbara, and Los Angeles, Cal.

Severance, Frank Hayward, journalist, lecturer, author, was born Nov. 28, 1856, in Manchester, Mass. In 1886-1902 he was managing editor of the Illustrated Buffalo Express. He is the author of Old Trails on the Niagara Frontier; and The Song of Joncaire.

Severance, Luther, journalist, state senator, congressman, was born Oct. 28, 1797, in Montague, Mass. He was the founder of the Kennebec Journal, and its editor in 1825-49. In 1843-47 he was a representative from Maine to the twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth congresses; and was frequently a member of the Maine legislature, serving five years in the assembly and two years in the state senate. He died Jan. 25, 1855, in Augusta, Maine.

Severance, Mark Sibley, college president, author, was born Oct. 28, 1846, in Cleveland, Ohio. He was assistant librarian of congress. President Santa Barbara college, Cal.; and director chamber of commerce of Los Angeles. He is the author of Hammer-smith: his Harvard Days, a novel.

Severens, Henry Franklin, lawyer, jurist, was born May 11, 1835, in Rockingham, Vt. In 1857 he graduated from Middlebury college of Vermont with the degree of LL.D.; and in 1897 received that degree from the university of Michigan. In 1859 he was admitted to the practice of law in Vermont; and in 1860 moved to Michigan; and practiced his profession until 1886. In 1886-90 he was United States district judge for the western district of Michigan; and since 1890 he has been United States circuit judge for the United States judicial circuit.

Severy, Melvin Linwood, inventor, author, was born Aug. 5, 1863, in Melrose, Mass. Since 1882 he has been an inventor; and in 1898 was awarded the John Scott medal of the Franklin institute for the invention known as the Severy process of printing. He is the author of Fleur-de-lis and Other Stories; The Darrow Enigma; The Mystery of June Thirteenth; and Gillette's Social Redemption.

Sevier, Ambrose Hundley, lawyer, congressman, United States senator, was born Nov. 4, 1801, in Green county, Tenn. He was a member of the Arkansas state legislature in 1823 and in 1825. In 1827-35 he was a territorial delegate from Arkansas to the twentieth, twenty-first, twenty-second and twenty-third congresses. In 1836 when the territory became a state, and in 1835-48 he was a United States senator. He died Dec. 21, 1848, in Little Rock, Ark.

Sevier, Clara Driscoll, litterateur, author, was born April 2, 1881, in St. Mary's, Texas. She was honored by the Daughters of the republic of Texas with the title of custodian of the Alamo, on account of her successful efforts to save the historical site to the state. She is the author of The Girl of La Gloria; In the Shadow of the Alamo; and has written a comic opera.

Sevier, John, soldier, congressman, governor, was born Sept. 23, 1745, in Rockingham county, Tenn. In 1789-91 and 1811-15 he was a representative from North Carolina to the first congress and from Tennessee to the twelfth and thirteenth congresses. In 1796-1801 and 1803-09 was the first governor of Tennessee. He was then appointed one of the commissioners to ascertain the boundary line of the Creek territory. He died Sept. 24, 1815, in Fort Decatur, I.T.

Sevilla, Jose, philanthropist, was born about 1820, in South America. He settled in New York City late in life; and bequeathed his property, valued at upward of one million dollars, for the establishment of an unsectarian home for unfortunate children. He died in March, 1888, in New York City.

Sewall, Arthur, shipbuilder, was born Nov. 25, 1835, in Bath, Me. In 1893 his shipyards were equipped for the construction of steel sailing vessels. He had connections with various railroads in Maine, and in the western states and Mexico, as director and president; and was also president of the Bath national bank. In 1893 he was the nominee of his party for United States senator against Eugene Hale. At the Chicago convention of 1896 he was nominated vice-president on the democratic ticket headed by William Jennings Bryan. He died in 1900, in Bath, Me.

Sewall, Charles S., legislator, congressman, was born in Elkton, Md. In 1832-33 and 1843 he was a representative from Maryland to the twenty-second and twenty-seventh congresses to fill vacancies.

Sewall, David, lawyer, state legislator, jurist, was born Oct. 7, 1735, in York, Maine. He was representative for York in 1776; was chosen a member of the council of Massachusetts; and in 1777-80 was a justice of the supreme court. In 1789-1818 he was United States district judge for the district of Maine. He died Oct. 22, 1825, in York, Maine.

Sewall, Frank, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 24, 1837, in Bath, Maine. He is a Swedenborgian clergyman of Washington, D.C. He is the author of Moody Mike, or the Power of Love; The Hem of His Garment; The Pillow of Stones; The New Ethics; The New Metaphysics; Angelo and Ariel; Latin Speaker; and Reason in Relief.

Sewall, Frederic Dummer, soldier, was born in Maine. In 1862 he was colonel in the nineteenth regiment Maine infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He was honorably mustered out in 1868.

Sewall, Harold Marsh, lawyer, state senator, diplomat, was born Jan. 3, 1860, in Bath, Maine. In 1896 and 1903-07 he was a member of the Maine house of representatives; and in 1907-09 was a member of the state senate. In 1897 he was United States minister to Hawaii.

Sewall, Mrs. Harriett Winslow, litterateur, poet, was born in 1819, in Maine. She was a religious poet of Boston, Mass. A collection of her Poems, with Memoir by Mrs. E. Cheney, appeared in 1880. She died in 1869, in Boston, Mass.

Sewall, John Smith, clergyman, author, was born March 20, 1830, in New Castle, Maine. He was a member of Commodore Perry's Japan expedition. In 1859-67 he was pastor of the Congregational church of Widham, Mass. In 1864 he was chaplain of the eighth regiment Massachusetts volunteers. In 1867-75 he was professor of rhetoric, oratory and English literature at Bowdoin college; and since 1875 has been professor of homiletics and sociology at the Bangor theological seminary, where he is now professor emeritus. He is the author of Logbook of the Captain's Clerk.

Sewall, Jonathan Mitchell, lawyer, poet, was born in 1748, in Salem, Mass. He was a lawyer of Portsmouth, N.H., popular in his own day as a verse writer. His verse is for the most part forgotten, but his song War and Washington is yet remembered. He died March 29, 1808, in Portsmouth, N.H.

Sewall, Joseph Addison, educator, college president, was born in 1830, in Maine. In 1877-88 he was the first president of the university of Colorado.

Sewall, Jotham, clergyman, theologian, was born Jan. 1, 1760, in York, Maine. His ministry extended over a period of fifty years, and in this time he preached four and a half times on an average every week. His field was confined chiefly to Maine and parts of New Hampshire and Rhode Island. He died Oct. 3, 1850, in Chesterville, Maine.

Sewall, Jotham Bradbury, clergyman, educator, was born Oct. 3, 1825, in New-castle, Maine. In 1854-64 he filled a pastorate in Lynn, Mass. In 1865-77 he was professor of Greek at Bowdoin college. In 1877 he was appointed to organize Thayer academy of Braintree, Mass.; and was its head until 1896.

Sewall, May Wright, educator, lecturer, author, was born May 27, 1844, in Milwaukee, Wis. She has been president of the National council of Women of the United States; president of the Propalrum association of Indianapolis; and president of the Ramabai circle of Indianapolis. She has contributed to the press on historical, literary and reform subjects; a large number of pamphlets and monographs on educational and reform topics; and her public addresses have been very numerous. She is now engaged in educational work in Indianapolis, Ind.; and has charge of the Girls' classical school of that city, of which her husband was the founder. In 1890 she became president of the International council of women; and commissioner to the congresses convened at Paris in connection with the Paris exposition. She is the author of Historical Resume of the Worlds Congress of Representative Women.

Sewall, Rufus King, lawyer, author, was born Jan. 21, 1814, in Edgecomb, Maine. He was a lawyer of Wiscasset, Maine. He was the author of Lectures on the Holy Spirit; Sketches of St. Augustine; Ancient Dominions of Maine; and Ancient Voyages to the Western Continent. He died in 1903, in Wiscasset, Maine.

Sewall, Samuel, lawyer, jurist, author, was born March 28, 1652, in England. He was a noted jurist of Boston; and is best remembered for his connection with the Salem witchcraft trials. He was the author of The Selling of Joseph; Answer to Queries Respecting America; Accomplishment of Prophecies; Memorial Relating to the Kennebec Indians; and Description of the New Heaven. He died Jan. 1, 1730, in Boston, Mass.

Sewall, Samuel, civil engineer, inventor, was born in 1724, in York, Maine. He is said to have been the first to drive piles as a foundation for bridges, introducing this device at York in 1761. In 1786 he erected the Charlestown bridge on this plan. He died July 28, 1815, in York, Maine.

Sewall, Samuel, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Dec. 11, 1757, in Boston, Mass. In 1797-1800 he was a representative from Massachusetts to the fifth and sixth congresses. In 1800-14 he was a justice of the supreme court of Massachusetts; and in 1813 was chief justice. He died June 8, 1814, in Wiscasset, Maine.

Sewall, Samuel, clergyman, author, was born June 1, 1785, in Marblehead, Mass. He was pastor of the congregational church at Burlington, Mass. in 1814-68. He was fond of antiquarian studies, and left a History of Woburn, Mass., from the Grant of Its Territory to Charlestown, in 1640 to 1860. He died Feb. 18, 1868, in Burlington, Mass.

Sewall, Stephen, lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 18, 1704, in Salem, Mass. He was appointed a judge of the supreme court of Massachusetts; and in 1752-60 he was chief justice. He died Sept. 10, 1760, in Massachusetts.

Sewall, Stephen, scholar, educator, author, was born April 4, 1734, in York, Maine. He was professor of Hebrew at Harvard college in 1765-85. He was the author of Hebrew Grammar; Scripture Account of the Shechinah; and Carmina Sacra quæ Latine Græceque condidit America. He died July 23, 1804, in Boston, Mass.

Sewall, Theodore Loret, educator, was born Sept. 20, 1853, in Germantown, Ohio. In 1874 he opened the Boys' classical school at Indianapolis; and in 1882 founded the Girls' classical school in the same city, of which his wife, Mrs. May Wright Sewall, is principal. For ten years he was secretary of the Indianapolis literary club, and was one year its president. For five years he was secretary of the Contemporary club; founder and secretary of the Indiana Harvard club; and is interested in various reforms, civil service reform, higher education, and in the political enfranchisement of women. He died in 1896, in Indianapolis, Ind.

Sedwall, Thomas, physician, educator, author, was born April 16, 1786, in Augusta, Maine. He was a Washington physician; and professor of anatomy in Columbian university from 1821. He was the author of The Pathology of Drunkenness, which had a wide circulation. He died April 10, 1845, in Washington, D.C.

Seward, Augustus Henry, soldier, was born Oct. 1, 1826, in Auburn, N.Y. He served as paymaster during the civil war; and received the brevets of lieutenant-colonel and colonel at its close. He died Sept. 11, 1876, in Montrose, N.Y.

Seward, Clarence Armstrong, lawyer, was born Oct. 7, 1828, in New York City. He was judge-advocate-general of the state of New York in 1856-60. After the attempted assassination of Secretary Seward and his son he was appointed acting assistant secretary of state. He died July 24, 1897, in Geneva, N.Y.

Seward, Frederick William, journalist, lawyer, author, was born July 8, 1830, in Auburn, N.Y. He was associate editor of the Albany Evening Journal until 1861, when he was appointed assistant secretary of state, which office he held for the eight years that his father was secretary; and again in 1877-81. He was a member of the New York legislature in 1875. In 1904 he was a member of the international arbitration conference held in Washington, D.C. He is the author of the Life and Letters of his father.

Seward, George Frederick, diplomat, author, was born Nov. 8, 1840, in Florida, N.Y.; and was a nephew of W. H. Seward. He was minister to China in 1875-80. In 1861-64 he was consul at Shanghai; and consul-general during 1864-75. He is now president of the Fidelity and Casualty company of New York. He is the author of Chinese Immigration in Its Social and Economical Aspects.

Seward, James L., lawyer, congressman, was born in Georgia. In 1836 he was elected to the Georgia state legislature, serving several years. In 1853-59 he was a representative from Georgia to the thirty-third, thirty-fourth and thirty-fifth congresses. He died in Georgia.

Seward, Theodore Frelinghuysen, editor, author, was born Jan. 25, 1835, in Florida, N.Y. He was for many years the editor of the New York Musical Gazette, and the Musical Reform; and for many years was professor of Music Teacher's college of New York City. He was the founder of the Brotherhood of Christian Unity, of East Orange, N.J.; and is still its manager. He was the author of The School of Life; Heaven Every Day; and of many music books for church and social use. He died Aug. 31, 1902, in Orange, N.J.

Seward, William, soldier, was born Aug. 19, 1837, in New Hackensack, N.Y. In 1861-63 he served in the civil war; and attained the rank of adjutant-general. In 1893 he was brevetted brigadier-general. He died in 1905, in St. George's S.C.

Seward, William Henry, lawyer, state senator, cabinet officer, governor, author, was born May 16, 1801, in Florida, N.Y.

He was educated in the common schools; and in 1820 graduated from Union college. He studied law; and in 1823 began the practice of his profession at Auburn, N.Y. In 1830-44 he was a member of the New York state senate; and in 1839-43 was the twelfth governor of the state of New York. In 1849-61 he was a member of the United States senate; and in 1861-69 was a member of President Lincoln's cabithe Chicago Chronicle company in 1895-1906. He is the author of Government and Company, Limited.

Seymour, Horatio, lawyer, legislator, governor, was born May 31, 1810, in Pompey Hill, N.Y. He was a member of the New York state assembly in 1841; was mayor of Utica in 1842; and was speaker of the lower house of the legislature in 1845. He was the eighteenth governor of New York in 1853-55 and 1863-65. In 1868 he was nominated for the presidency of the United States; received only eighty electoral votes; and was defeated by General Grant. He died Feb. 12, 1886, in Utica, N.Y.

Seymour, John, colonial governor. In 1704-09-14 he was colonial governor of Maryland. He died July 30, 1709.

Seymour, Mrs. Mary Harrison Browne, author, was born Sept. 7, 1835, in Oxford, Conn. Her writings are mainly for juvenile readers. She was the author of Mollie's Christmas Stocking; Sunshine and Starlight; Recompense; Through the Darkness; and Ned, Nellie, and Amy. She died June 26, 1913.

Seymour, Moses, soldier, state legislator, was born July 23, 1742, in Hartford, Conn. He held the office of town-clerk of Litchfield for thirty-seven years consecutively in 1789-1826; was elected annually to the legislature in 1795-1811; and was active in the affairs of the protestant episcopal church. He died Sept. 17, 1826, in Litchfield, Conn.

Seymour, Origen Storrs, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born Feb. 9, 1804, in Litchfield, Conn. He served in the Connecticut state legislature, and was speaker in 1850. In 1851-55 he was a representative from Connecticut to the thirty-second and thirty-third congresses; and in 1855-63 was judge of the superior court. In 1870 he was appointed a judge of the supreme court of errors; and in 1873 was appointed chief justice of the same. He died Aug. 12, 1881, in Litchfield, Conn.

Seymour, Robert G., clergyman, author, was born Feb. 27, 1841, in New York City. In 1864 he entered the baptist ministry. During the civil war he was second lieutenant in the seventy-ninth United States colored infantry. He is the author of Light for the Journey; Pastoral Companion; and Fresh Water from Old Wells.

Seymour, Thomas Day, educator, author, was born April 1, 1848, in Hudson, Ohio. He was professor of Greek at Yale university. He was the author of Homeric Vocabulary; School Iliad; Selected Odes of Pindar, with Notes; Introduction to the Language and Verse of Homer; and Homer's Iliad. He died in 1907 in New Haven, Conn.

Seymour, Thomas Hart, soldier, journalist, lawyer, jurist, diplomat, congressman, governor, was born in 1808 in Hartford, Conn. In 1843-45 he was a representative from Connecticut to the twenty-eighth congress. In 1846 he went to Mexico as a major of the New England regiment. In 1850-53 he was the eighteenth governor of Connecticut. He was subsequently appointed minister to Russia. He died Sept. 3, 1868, in Hartford, Conn.

Seymour, Truman, soldier, was born Sept. 25, 1824, in Burlington, Vt. He served in the Mexican and civil wars; and attained the brevet of major-general in the United States army. He died Oct. 30, 1891, in Florence, Italy.

Seymour, William, state legislator, congressman, was born in Connecticut. He served as a member of the New York assembly in 1832 and 1834; and in 1835-37 he was a representative to the twenty-fourth congress. He died in Binghamton, N.Y.

Seymour, William, actor, stage manager, was born Dec. 19, 1855, in New York City. In 1862 he began his career as an actor; and in 1872 became stage manager of Varieties theater of New Orleans, La. He has adapted and arranged many plays, the latest being entitled The Crust of Society.

Seymour, Mrs. William Wood, author. She is the author of Christmas Holidays at Cedar Grove; Easter Holidays; and other works.

Shackleford, Dorsey W., lawyer, jurist, statesman, was born Aug. 27, 1853, in Saline county, Mo. In 1879 he began the practice of law in Booneville, Mo.; and in 1882-86 served as prosecuting attorney of Cooper county. In 1892-99 he was judge of the fourteenth judicial circuit of Missouri. In 1899-1915 he was a representative from Missouri of the fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh, fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth, sixtieth, sixty-first, sixty-second and sixty-third congresses.

Shackleford, Edward Madison, educator, college president, was born Feb. 1, 1863, in Alabama. In 1885-89 he was captain of the Alabama state militia. In 1887-99 he was professor of English and civics at the state normal school at Troy, Ala.; and since 1899 has been president of that institution.

Shackelford, James M., soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born July 7, 1827, in Lincoln county, Ky. He served as a lieutenant in the Mexican war; and in the civil war he became brigadier-general in 1863. The same year he captured the confederate General John H. Morgan and command. In 1889-93 he was judge of the United States court of Indian territory; became attorney for the Choctaw nation; and practices law in Muscogee, I.T.

Shackelford, John W., congressman. In 1881-83 he was a representative from North and lieutenant-governor in 1873-77. In 1877-79 he was a representative from Indiana to the forty-fifth congress as a republican.

Sexton, Pliny Titus, lawyer, banker, regent, was born June 12, 1840, in Palmyra, N.Y. He is president of the First national bank of Palmyra, of which village he was president for four years. He has been president of the board of education for six years; and in 1890 was elected regent of the university of the state of New York, which is a life position.

Sexton, Samuel, otologist, inventor, was born in 1833, in Xenia, Ohio. During the first year of the civil war he served as a surgeon, and in 1869 he made his home in New York City. He was appointed chief surgeon of the West Side eye and ear infirmary in 1877; and later was a lecturer in the New York eye and ear infirmary. He died July 11, 1896, in New York City.

Seybert, Adam, chemist, congressman, author, was born May 16, 1773, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a Philadelphia chemist. In 1809-15 and 1817-19 he was a representative to the eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth and fifteenth congresses. He was the author of The Statistical Annals of the United States, 1789-1818. It was in a notice of this book for The Edinburgh Review that Sydney Smith made the famous query, Who reads an American book? He died May 2, 1825, in Paris, France.

Seyffarth, Gustavus, scientist, educator, author, was born July 13, 1796, in Saxony. He was professor of oriental archæology at Leipzig university in 1825-55; and was professor at Concordia seminary in St. Louis in 1855-71. The remainder of his life was passed in New York City. He was the author of Rudimenta Hieroglyphica; Grammatica Ægyptiaca; and Egyptian Theology according to a Paris Mummy Coffin. He died Nov. 17, 1885, in New York City.

Seymour, Augustus Sherrill, lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born Nov. 30, 1836, in Ithaca, N.Y. He moved to Newberne, N.C.; and was appointed criminal judge of that city in 1868. He was a representative in the state legislature in 1868-70; was a member of the state constitutional convention of 1871; and state senator in 1872-74. He was judge of the state superior court in 1874-82; and in 1882-97 was United States district judge for the Eastern district of North Carolina.

Seymour, Charles B., journalist, author, was born in 1829 in England. In 1849 he became connected with the New York Times; and served as musical and dramatic editor until his death. He was correspondent for the Times at the Paris exposition of 1867, where his services as one of the American commission procured him a medal from the emperor. He was the author of Self-Made Men. He died May 2, 1869, in New York City.

Seymour, David Lowrey, state legislator, congressman, was born Dec. 2, 1903, in Wethersfield, Conn. In 1836 he was a member of the New York state legislature; and was a master in chancery. In 1843-45 and 1851-53 he was a representative from New York to the twenty-eighth and thirty-second congresses. He died Oct. 11, 1867, in Lanesborough, Mass.

Seymour, Edward Woodruff, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born Aug. 30, 1832, in Litchfield, Conn. He was a representative in the Connecticut state legislature in 1859-60 and 1870-71. In 1875 he moved to Bridgeport; in 1876 was a state senator; and in 1888 he was appointed one of the justices of the supreme court of Connecticut. In 1883-87 he was a representative from Connecticut to the forty-eighth and forty-ninth congresses as a democrat. He died Oct. 16, 1892, in Litchfield, Conn.

Seymour, Henry, merchant, state senator, was born May 30, 1780, in Litchfield, Conn. He served in both branches of the New York legislature; and was mayor of Utica; canal commissioner; and president of the Farmers' loan and trust company. He died Aug. 26, 1837, in Utica, N.Y.

Seymour, George Franklin, clergyman, bishop, author, was born Jan. 5, 1829, in New York City. He was the founder of St. Stephen's college of Annandale, N.Y. For many years he was dean and professor of ecclesiastical history in the General Theological seminary of New York City. In 1878 he was consecrated protestant episcopal bishop of Springfield, Ill., to which high office he was re-elected three times. He was the author of Modern Romanism Not Catholicity. He died Dec. 8, 1906, in Springfield, Ill.

Seymour, Henry William, lawyer, manufacturer, state senator, congressman, was born July 21, 1834, in Brockport, N.Y. He was educated at the Brockport collegiate institute and at the Canandaigua academy; and in 1855 graduated from Williams college. In 1856 he began the practice of law; and subsequently became interested in the lumber business at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. In 1881-82 he was a representative in the Michigan state legislature; and in 1888-80 was a representative from Michigan to the fiftieth congress to fill a vacancy. He died April 7, 1906, in Washington, D.C.

Seymour, Horatio, lawyer, United States senator, was born May 31, 1778, in Litchfield, Conn. He was a judge of probate; and a member of the council of Vermont. In 1821-33 he was United States senator from Vermont. He died Nov. 21, 1857, in Middlebury, Vt.

Seymour, Horatio Winslow, publisher, author, was born in 1854 in Cayuga county, N.Y. He was publisher of the Chicago Chronicle; and secretary and treasurer of Burlington, Vt.; served in the legislature; and in 1842-49 was secretary of state. Removing to Wisconsin in 1849, he served in the state legislature; and was its speaker. In 1852 he removed to California; served in the California state senate in 1861-62 and 1863-64. He died Aug. 30, 1892, in San Francisco, Cal.

Shafter, Oscar Lovell, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 19, 1812, in Athens, Vt. In 1854 he removed to California, and practiced his profession there until 1864; and in 1864-67 he was associate justice of the state supreme court. He died Jan. 2, 1873, in Florence, Italy.

Shafter, William Rufus, soldier, was born in 1835 in Kalamazoo county, Mich. He served in the civil war as first lieutenant of the seventh Michigan infantry; was a major and lieutenant colonel of the nineteenth Michigan infantry; and was colonel of the seventeenth United States colored regiment. He was engaged in a dozen hotly contested battles, the principal ones being the siege of Yorktown; the battle of Fair Oaks, Va.; the seven days' battle in Virginia; the battle of Nashville and the battle of Thompson's station, Tenn.; and in numerous skirmishes. He was brevetted colonel for gallant and meritorious services in the battle of Fair Oaks, Va.; was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers for gallant and meritorious services during the war; and was given a medal of honor for most distinguished gallantry at the battle of Fair Oaks in 1862. In 1866 he was commissioned lieutenant colonel of the forty-first infantry; became colonel in 1879; brigadier-general United States army 1897; and major-general of the United States volunteers in 1898. During the Spanish war he was in command of the United States forces in Cuba, and won international fame for his brilliant capture of Santiago. He died Nov. 12, 1907, near Bakersfield, Cal.

Shahan, Thomas Joseph, educator, author, was born Sept. 11, 1857, in Manchester, N.H. In 1891-1909 he was professor of church history and patrology and lecturer on Roman law in the Catholic university of America; and in 1909 became rector of that institution. He is the author of The Blessed Virgin in the Catacombs; The House of God and Other Addresses and Studies.

Shakespeare, Edward Oram, physician, inventor, was born May 19, 1846, in Dover, Del. He spent six months in studying cholera, and made his report to congress. He was a member of several medical societies of Philadelphia, Pa.; and devised for clinical purposes a new ophthalmoscope and ophthalmometer. He died in 1900 in Philadelphia, Pa.

Shaler, Alexander, soldier, engineer, author, was born March 19, 1827, in Haddam, Conn. He was commissioned brigadier-general of volunteers in 1863; and brevetted major-general of volunteers in 1865. he was consulting engineer to the Chicago board of police and fire in 1874-75, being charged with the reorganization and instruction of the fire department in that city. In 1867-86 he was major-general of the first division of the national guard of New York; and was an organizer and president of the National Rifle association of the United States. In 1899-1900 he was mayor of Ridgefield, N.J. He is the author of Manual of Arms for Light Infantry Using the Rifle Musket.

Shaler, Charles, soldier, was born May 23, 1843, in Pittsburgh, Pa. In 1861 he enlisted as a surgeon in the twelfth regiment Pennsylvania volunteer infantry; and in 1867 was commissioned second lieutenant in the fifth United States infantry. In 1905 he was retired at his own request with the rank of brigadier-general.

Shaler, Nathaniel Southgate, geologist, educator, author, was born Feb. 20, 1841, in Newport, Ky. He was professor of paleontology at Harvard university in 1868-87; and of geology in 1887-1905. He was the author of Kentucky Geological Reports; Kentucky, a Pioneer Commonwealth; The Nature of Intellectual Property and Its Importance to the State; The Interpretation of Nature; The Story of Our Continent; Illustrations of the Earth's Surface; The United States of America; a Study of the American Commonwealth; First Book in Geology; Nature and Man in America; Sea and Land; Features of Coasts and Oceans, Aspects of the Earth; Fossil Branchiopods of the Ohio Valley; American Highways; and Domesticated Animals; Their Relation to Man. He died April 10, 1906, in Cambridge, Mass.

Shaler, William, diplomat, author, was born in 1778. He was United States consul-general at Algiers, and negotiated a treaty with that power in 1815. In 1826 he published Sketches of Algiers, which was very serviceable to the French in their operations against that country. He also published a paper on the language of the Berbers in Africa. He died March 29, 1833, in Havana, Cuba.

Shallenberger, Ashton C., stockman, banker, congressman, governor, was born in 1862 in Toulon, Ill. He moved to Nebraska in 1881; and in 1887 engaged in banking and stock-growing in Alma, Neb. In 1901-03 he was a democratic representative from Nebraska to the fifty-seventh congress. In 1909-11 he was governor of Nebraska.

Shallenberger, William Shadrach, soldier, merchant, legislator, was born Nov. 24, 1839, in Mt. Pleasant, Pa. He received his education in the Mt. Pleasant academy and the Bucknell university. During the war he served with distinction as adjutant in the one hundred and fortieth regiment Pennsylvania volunteer infantry, and subsequently until 1876 was a successful merchant. In 1877-83 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses as a republican. Since 1883 he has been in the banking business; and has been treasurer of various corporations; was appointed by Governor Beaver of Pennsylvania as a member of the Lake Erie and Ohio river ship canal; and in 1897 was appointed second assistant postmaster-general. He was a director of the chamber of commerce of Pittsburgh; vice-president of the National association of manufacturers for Pennsylvania for the first year and president of the Pennsylvania baptist mission society for several years. In 1897-1907 he was second assistant postmaster-general of the United States. In 1904-07 he was president of the American baptist home mission society.

Shambaugh, Benjamin Franklin, educator, historian, author, was born Jan. 29, 1871, in Elvira, Iowa. In 1897 he was professor of political science at the university of Iowa; and editor of the Iowa Journal of history and politics. He is the author of History of the Constitutions of Iowa.

Shamleffer, William F., business man, railroad promoter, public official, was born Jan. 23, 1843, in Baltimore, Md. He was educated in the public and private schools of Uniontown and Reisterstown, Md. For many years he has been interested in the loan and insurance business; and is a successful real estate dealer and railroad promoter of Kansas. He has been alderman of Council Grove, Kan.; was mayor of that city in 1905-07; and has filled the office of county treasurer. He has been treasurer and director in several railroad companies; is now secretary of the commercial club; and vice-president of a railroad company. He is a member of the democratic state central committee; a member of the fourth district congressional committee; and a prominent factor in the public and political affairs of the state of Kansas.

Shanafelt, Thomas M., clergyman, missionary, author, was born April 30, 1840, in Brinkerton, Pa. Since 1888 he has been state superintendent of missions for South Dakota; and in 1893 was chaplain-in-chief of the Grand army of the republic. Since 1901 he has been president of the board of commissioners of the South Dakota soldiers' home. He is the author of Baptist History of Michigan; Baptist History of South Dakota; and Baptist History of North Dakota.

Shanahan, Jeremiah Francis, bishop, was born July 17, 1834, in Silver Lake, Pa. He was consecrated Roman catholic bishop of Harrisburg, Pa. He died Sept. 24, 1886, in Harrisburg, Pa.

Shanahan, John W., clergyman, bishop. Since 1899 he has been Roman catholic bishop of Harrisburg, Pa.

Shanklin, Arnold, lawyer, diplomat, was born Jan. 29, 1869, in Carrollton, Mo. He graduated from the public schools of his native city; and has received the degree of LL.B. from Washington university and LL.D. from the upper Iowa university at Fayette, Iowa. In 1889 he was admitted to the practice of law; in 1904 was a commissioner of the St. Louis exposition to Mexico. Since 1905 he has been American consul-general to Panama. On July 4, 1909, he delivered the oration of the day and it was the first time in history that an orator on such an occasion had delivered any part of his address in Spanish. He is a thirty-second degree mason; and a member of several clubs.

Shanklin, Charles S., journalist, lawyer, author, was born Sept. 2, 1857, in Linn county, Iowa. He is a member of the Iowa bar, being admitted at the age of twenty years. For four years he was editor and proprietor of the Springville New Era; for two years of the Cedar Rapids Standard; is now the editor and owner of The Saturday Argus of Marion, Iowa; also editor of the political pages of the Marion Sentinel; and is a contributor to various periodicals.

Shanklin, George S., congressman, was born in Kentucky. He was a presidential elector in 1864; and in 1865-67 he was a representative from Kentucky to the thirty-ninth congress as a democrat. He died in Kentucky.

Shanklin, John Gilbert, journalist, public official, was born in Evansville, Ind. In 1871-81 he was secretary of state of Indiana; and was a candidate for governor. In 1871-97 he edited the Evansville Daily Courier. He died in 1903 in Evansville, Ind.

Shanklin, William Arnold, educator, clergyman, college president, was born April 18, 1864, in Carrollton, Mo. In 1889 he was ordained to the methodist episcopal ministry; and has filled pastorates in Kansas, Washington, Iowa and Pennsylvania. Since 1905 he has been president of the upper Iowa university at Fayette.

Shanklin, John H., soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born Nov. 2, 1824, in Monroe county, W. Va. For many years he was engaged in educational work; judge of Grundy county; and in 1851 began the practice of law in Trenton, Mo.; and is now retired. He served in the Mexican war; and in 1861 was commissioned division inspector, with the rank of colonel. He served in the twenty-third regiment Missouri volunteer infantry; subsequently mustered in two battalions of Missouri militia, and in 1862 began to organize the third regiment Missouri state militia. He was commissioned lieutenant-colonel; and subsequently organized the thirtieth regiment enrolled militia of Missouri; and was commissioned as colonel of the same. He was a member of the constitutional convention which framed the existing constitution of Missouri. In 1869-71 he was president of the Chillicothe and Des Moines City railroad company. He is president of the Grundy county coal company; president of the Trenton handle manufacturing company; and for many years was president of the Trenton gas and electric light company.

Shanks, William Franklin Gore, journalist, was born April 20, 1837, in Shelbyville, Ky. In 1861-65 he was war correspondent of the New York Herald; and in 1867-69 was managing editor of Harper's Weekly. He was city editor of the New York Times in 1869; and foreign editor in 1871-80. In 1891 he established the Daily and Weekly Bond Buyer, which he edited and owned. He was the author of Recollections of Distinguished Generals; A Noble Treason, a tragedy; and The Ring Master. He died in 1905 in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Shanks, John P. C., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born June 17, 1826, in Martinsburg, Va. He was a member of the Indiana legislature in 1853-54; and in 1861-63 and 1867-75 was representative from Indiana to the thirty-seventh, fortieth, forty-first, forty-second and forty-third congresses as a republican. He visited the field of Bull Run in July, 1861, as a spectator, but became a participant.

He was a delegate to the Pittsburgh soldiers' convention of 1866. In 1875 he was appointed an Indian agent. He died June 22, 1901, in Indiana.

Stanley, John, clergyman, bishop, author, was born Jan. 4, 1852, in Albion, N.Y. Since 1889 he has been Roman catholic bishop of Fargo, N.D.

Shanly, Charles Dawson, journalist, author, poet, was born in 1811 in Ireland. He was a journalist and poet of New York City. The Walker in the Snow is his best-known poem. He was the author of A Jolly Bear and His Friends; The Monkey of Porto Bello; and The Truant Chicken. He died in 1875 in New York City.

Shannon, Peter C., lawyer, jurist, was born in Pennsylvania. He was appointed from that state chief justice of the supreme court for the territory of Dakota.

Shannon, Richard Cutts, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born Feb. 12, 1839, in New London, Conn. He was educated at the public schools and at Colby university, from which he was graduated as a member of the class of 1862. In 1885 he graduated from the law school of Columbia university; and in 1886 was admitted to the New York bar. He enlisted as a private in company H, fifth Maine volunteers in 1861, and was promoted to second sergeant, and in 1861 commissioned first lieutenant of the same company. In 1862 he was commissioned captain and assistant adjutant-general of volunteers, serving continuously until the end of the war, receiving the brevets of major and lieutenant-colonel of volunteers. In 1871 he was appointed by President Grant secretary of the United States legation at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, and served until 1875, when he resigned. In 1876 he took charge of the Botanical garden railroad company, an American enterprise in Brazil, of which he subsequently became the vice-president and general manager, and finally the president. In 1891 he was appointed envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to the republics of Nicaragua, Costa Rica, and Salvador and served until 1893. In 1895-99 he was a representative from New York to the fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses as a republican.

Shannon, Robert Thomas, lawyer, author was born May 5, 1860, in Perry county, Tenn. He received his education at the Cloverdale seminary, Vanderbilt university, and the Cumberland university. He is a prominent lawyer of Nashville, Tenn., and the author of The Code of Tennessee, Annotated; A Code Supplement; is the editor of the fifth edition of the Tennessee Form Book; A Digest of Tennessee Decisions; and three volumes of Tennessee Cases.

Shannon, Thomas, congressman. In 1826-27 he was a representative from Ohio to the nineteenth congress to fill a vacancy. He died in Barnesville, Ohio.

Shannon, Thomas B., merchant, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1827 in Westmoreland county, Pa. In 1854-61 he was engaged in merchandising in California. He served four sessions in the California state legislature; and in 1863-65 he was a representative from California to the thirty-eighth congress. He was collector of customs at San Francisco, Cal. He died in San Francisco, Cal.

Shannon, Wilson, lawyer, diplomat, congressman, governor, was born Feb. 24, 1802, in Belmont county, Ohio. In 1835 he was prosecuting attorney for the state of Ohio; was the thirteenth governor of Ohio in 1838-40 and 1842-44; and in 1844 was appointed United States minister to Mexico. In 1853-55 he was a representative from Ohio to the thirty-third congress; and in 1855-56 was governor of the territory of Kansas. He died Aug. 31, 1877, in Lawrence, Kan.

Shantz, Homer Le Roy, educator, botanist, author, was born Jan. 24, 1876, in Kent county, Mich. He is the author of A Study of the Vegetation of the Mesa Region East of Pike's Peak; and various other scientific monographs.

Shapleigh, Alfred Lee, soldier, merchant, was born Feb. 16, 1862, in St. Louis, Mo. He enrolled in the Missouri militia; served as captain and adjutant of the first regiment; and aided in quelling strike riots. In 1885 he became secretary of a hardware company; and in 1901 was elected treasurer of a hardware company.

Shapleigh, Frank Henry, painter, artist, was born March 7, 1842, in Boston, Mass. He spent his professional life in his native city. His paintings include Venice; Yosemite Valley; Mirror Lake; Cathedral Rocks, Mount Washington; Cohasset Harbor; Northern Peaks; and The White Mountains. He died in 1906 in Boston, Mass.

Shapley, Rufus Edmonds, lawyer, author, was born Aug. 4, 1840, in Carlisle, Pa. He is the author of The Library of Wit and Humor; The Overcrowding of the Learned Professions; and Solid for Mulhooly.

Sharkey, Mrs. Emma Augusta, journalist, author, was born Sept. 15, 1858, in Rochester, N.Y. She is a successful journalist and story writer; and is the author of nearly a hundred serial stories and novels, and over one thousand sketches; besides numerous poems. Her writings generally appear under the nom de plume of E. Burke Collins. Her novels chiefly represent life in the south, more especially the pine woods of Louisiana, her hitherto and also untrodden field of literature. In 1884 she married Robert R. Sharkey, a Mississippi cotton planter.

Sharkey, William Lewis, lawyer, jurist, governor, was born in 1797 in Mussel Shoals, Tenn. For many years he was engaged in the practice of law. He was presiding judge of the high court of errors in Mississippi, and was provisional governor of Mississippi in 1865-66. He was one of the foremost lawyers and jurists of his time; was a delegate to all the leading political conventions; and active in all public affairs which tended to the benefit of the state of Mississippi. He died April 29, 1873, in Washington, D.C.

Sharon, William, United States senator, was born Jan. 9, 1821, in Smithfield, Ohio. On removing to Nevada he became largely interested in mining operations. In 1875-81 he was United States senator. He was largely interested in the financial affairs of the Pacific slope; and was trustee of the bank of California. He died Nov. 13, 1885, in San Francisco, Cal.

Sharp, Dallas Lore, educator, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 13, 1870, in Halesville, N.J. Since 1902 he has been assistant professor of English at the Boston university. He is the author of Wild Life Near Home; Roof and Meadow, and other works.

Sharp, Daniel, clergyman, journalist, was born Dec. 25, 1783, in England. In 1809 he was pastor of the Baptist church of Newark, N.J.; and in 1812-53 was pastor of the Charles street church of Boston, Mass. He was the editor of the American Baptist Magazine; and was the author of Recognition of Friends in Heaven. He died April 29, 1853, in Baltimore, Md.

Sharp, H. A., lawyer, jurist. In 1800 he became associate justice of the state supreme court of Alabama.

Sharp, Jacob, capitalist, founder, was born in 1817, in Montgomery county, N.Y. In 1850 he conceived the scheme of a street railroad to be constructed on Broadway and in 1884 he succeeded in his object. He died April 5, 1888, in New York City.

Sharp, Joseph Henry, painter, artist, was born Sept. 27, 1859, in Bridgeport, Ohio. He is an Indian painter and painted eleven portraits of famous Indians which now belong to the Smithsonian institution.

Sharp, Kate D., litterateur, poet. She is the author of a volume of poems entitled Eleanor's Courtship.

Sharp, Katharine Lucinda, lecturer, librarian, was born in 1865 in Elgin, Ill. In 1891 she was a library organizer in Wheaton, Ill. In 1896 she was a lecturer on library economy at the university of Chicago. In 1898-1907 she was vice-president of the Illinois state library association; and in 1903-04 she was president of the Illinois library association. Since 1897 she has been head librarian and director of the state library school of the university of Illinois.

Sharp, Robert, educator, author, was born Oct. 24, 1851, in Lawrenceville, Va. Since 1884 he has been professor of Greek and English in the Tulane university of New Orleans, La. He is the author of Anglo-Saxon literature.

Sharp, Solomon P., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1780 in Virginia. He served a number of years in the Kentucky state legislature; and was attorney-general of the state. In 1813-17 he was a representative from Kentucky to the thirteenth and fourteenth congresses. He died by the hand of an assassin, while a member of the legislature, Nov. 13, 1835, in Kentucky.

Sharp, Solomon Z., educator, college president, author, was born Dec. 21, 1835, in Allensville, Pa. He has been state geologist of Kansas; was president of McPherson college of that state for nine years; and since 1896 has been president of Plattsburg college, Mo. He is the author of History of the Brethren.

Sharp, William Graves, manufacturer, congressman, was born March 17, 1859, in Mount Gilead, Ohio. He was educated in the public schools of Elyria, Ohio; and at the university of Michigan. In 1881 he was admitted to the practice of law; and in 1885 became prosecuting attorney of Lorain county. He is extensively engaged in the manufacture of charcoal pig iron. In 1909-15 he was a representative from Ohio to the sixty-first, sixty-second and sixty-third congresses as a democrat.

Sharpe, Alfred Clarence, soldier, was born Sept. 12, 1850, in Delaware, Ohio. He received his education in the public schools; attended Ohio Wesleyan university; and graduated from the United States military academy of West Point, N.Y. In 1876 he served in the campaign against the Sioux Indians in Montana; and was brevetted first-lieutenant for gallantry in that state against Indians under Sitting Bull. In 1877 he was acting-adjutant of command during the railway riots at Wilkes-Barre, Pa. In 1879 he was admitted to the bar; in 1879-82 served in Texas; and in 1882-84 served in Colorado. In 1884-88 he was professor of military science and tactics at the university of Worcester, Ohio. In 1890-91 he served in the campaign during which Sitting Bull was killed; and in 1893-97 was judge-advocate for the departments of Arizona and Colorado. During the Spanish-American war he became a lieutenant-colonel; and was in the battle at San Juan hill and in front of Santiago De Cuba. He was later judge-advocate and secretary of justice of Porto Rico; and since 1901 has been major and adjutant-general in the department of the Colorado.

Sharpe, George Henry, soldier, lawyer, state legislator, was born Feb. 26, 1828, in Kingston, N.Y. He served upon the staffs of Generals Hooker, Meade and Grant; was brevetted brigadier-general in 1864; and major-general in 1865. In 1870-73 he was United States marshal for the southern district of New York; and took the census that demonstrated the great election frauds of 1868 in New York City, which led to the enforcement of the federal election law for the first time in 1871. He was surveyor of customs for New York in 1873-78. He was a member of the assembly in 1879-83, and in 1880-81 was the speaker. He died in 1900 in New York City.

Sharpe, Henry Augustus, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born June 10, 1848, near Decatur, Ala. He graduated from the law department of the Cumberland university of Lebanon, Tenn. In 1878-79 he was a member of the Alabama general assembly from Morgan county. In 1884-98 and since 1907 he was judge of the city court of Birmingham, Ala. In 1898-1904 he was an associate justice of the state supreme court of Alabama.

Sharpe, Henry Granville, soldier, was born in April, 1858, in Kingston, N.Y. In 1880 he was appointed second lieutenant in the fourth infantry; in 1895 he was promoted major; and in 1905 attained the rank of brigadier-general and commissioner-general in the United States army.

Sharpe, Horatio, colonial governor. In 1753-69 he was colonial governor of Maryland. He died in Maryland.

Sharpe, Jacob, soldier, was born July 31, 1835, in Kingston, N.Y. In 1865 he was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers for gallant and meritorious service at the battle of Winchester, Va. He died April 27, 1892, in Detroit, Mich.

Sharpe, Peter, state legislator, congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in the New York legislature in 1814-20. In 1823-25 he was a representative from New York to the eighteenth congress; and in 1827 was a member of the tariff convention. He died in New York.

Sharpe, William, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 13, 1742, in Cecil county, Md. He was a delegate to the provincial congress in 1775-76; was aide to General Rutherford in the Indian campaign of 1776; and was one of the commissioners who made a treaty with them in 1777. In 1779-82 he was a representative from North Carolina to the continental congress. He died July 1, 1818, in Iredell county, N.C.

Sharpe, William C., journalist, author, was born about Oct. 3, 1839, in Southbury, Conn. For ten years he was engaged in educational work; and since 1871 has been editor and publisher of the Seymour Record. He is the author of History of Seymour; Histories of Oxford and South Britain; and the Chatfield, Washburn, Dart, and Sharpe Genealogies.

Sharpe, William Hamilton, orange grower, legislator, was born May 5, 1833, in Lowndes county, Ga. In 1866 he was a delegate to the reconstruction convention; in 1878-86 he was a member of the Florida state senate and was a delegate to the interstate agricultural convention at Atlanta, Ga. For many years he has been chairman of the board of county commissioners of Brevard county, Fla.; is a successful orange grower of Sharpe's Indian River, Fla.; and the president of the orange growers' association of Indian River at City Point, Fla.

Sharples, Stephen Paschall, chemist, author, was born April 21, 1842, in West Chester, Pa. In 1880 he was expert on census; and a judge of awards at the World's Columbian exposition in 1893. In 1875-93 he was professor of chemistry at the Boston dental college; and in 1885-1902 was inspector and assayer of liquors for Massachusetts. He is the author of Chemical Tables.

Sharpless, Isaac, educator, college president, author, was born Dec. 16, 1848, in Chester county, Pa. Since 1887 he has been president of Haverford college of Pennsylvania. He is the author of Astronomy; Geometry; English Education; and Quakerism and Politics.

Sharpless, James, painter, artist, was born about 1751, in England. He attained high rank as an artist of New York. He died Feb. 26, 1811, in New York City.

Sharpless, Joseph, philanthropist, author, was born in 1772 in New Jersey. He was a Quaker philanthropist of Burlington, N. J. He was the author of The Story of Joseph and His Brethren; A Family Record; and A Sharpless Genealogy. He died in 1861 in Burlington, N. J.

Sharps, Christian, manufacturer, inventor, was born in 1811 in New Jersey. His principal invention was the Sharps breech-loading rifle. In 1854 he removed to Hartford, Conn., to superintend the manufacture of this rifle. He died March 13, 1874, in Vernon, Conn.

Sharpstein, John R., lawyer, jurist. In 1880-92 he was an associate justice of the supreme court of California. He died Dec. 28, 1892, in San Francisco, Cal.

Sharswood, George, lawyer, jurist, author, was born July 7, 1810, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1837-38 and 1842-43 he served in the state legislature; and in 1845 the governor commissioned him as judge of the district court of Philadelphia. In 1867-78 he was associate justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania; and in 1878-82 was chief justice. He was author of Professional Ethics; Popular Lectures on Common Law; Lectures on Commercial Law; and Sharswood's Blackstone. He died May 28, 1883, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Sharswood, William, litterateur, author, was born in 1836 in Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Studia Physica, a series of monographs; Elenore, a drama; and The Miscellaneous Writings of William Sharswood.

Shartel, Cassius M., lawyer, congressman, was born April 27, 1860, in Crawford county, Pa. He was educated in the common schools and spent one year in college. In 1887 he moved to Nevada, Mo., and was engaged in the farm loan business; continuing that business when he moved to Neosho, Mo. In 1905-07 he was a representative from Missouri to the fifty-ninth congress as a republican.

Sharts, Joseph William, soldier, lawyer, author, was born Sept. 14, 1875, in Hamilton, Ohio. In 1899-1905 he practiced law in Cincinnati and Dayton, Ohio. He removed to Chicago in 1906. During the Spanish-American war he served as corporal of company C, first regiment Ohio volunteer infantry. He is the author of Ezra Caine: The Romance of A Rogue; and The Hills of Freedom.

Shattuc, William B., soldier, state senator, congressman, was born June 11, 1841, in North Hector, N.Y. He was a commissioned officer in the union army during the civil war, in the army of the frontier. For thirty years previous to 1895 he was an officer in the railway traffic service; and is now retired from business, residing near Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1895 he was Ohio state senator; and in 1897-1903 he was a representative from Ohio to the fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth and fifty-seventh congresses as a republican.

Shattuck, Aaron Draper, artist, inventor, was born March 9, 1832, in Francetown, N.H. The first picture that he exhibited at the academy was a Study of Grasses and Flowers. The following year he was elected an associate in the National academy of design; and in 1861 became a member. In 1867 he held the post of recording secretary. He invented in 1883-85 a stretcher-frame with keys, a great improvement on the old methods of tightening canvases.

Shattuck, Erasmus D., lawyer, jurist. In 1862-66 and 1874-78 he was an associate justice of the supreme court of Oregon; and in 1866-68 he was chief justice.

Shattuck, Frederick Cheever, educator, physician, was born about 1842. He was professor of clinical medicine at Harvard university and visiting physician to the Massachusetts general hospital.

Shattuck, George Cheyne, physician, author, was born July 17, 1783, in Templeton, Mass. He contributed largely to Dartmouth college; and built its observatory, which he furnished with valuable instruments. Shattuck school, at Faribault, Minn., a collegiate boarding-school under the auspices of the protestant episcopal church, of which Dr. Shattuck was a liberal patron, was named for him. He was the author of two Boylston prize dissertations, entitled Structure and Physiology of the Skin; and Causes of Biliary Secretions; and Yellow Fever of Gibraltar in 1828. He died March 18, 1854, in Boston, Mass.

Shattuck, Mrs. Harriette Robinson, educator, lawyer, author, was born Dec. 4, 1850, in Lowell, Mass. She is the author of The Story of Dante's Divine Comedy; Little Folks East and West; Woman's Manual of Parliamentary Law; and Shattuck's Advanced Rules of Parliamentary Law.

Shattuck, Joseph Cummings, educator, legislator, was born Feb. 28, 1835, in Marlborough, N.H. He was the first superintendent of public instruction of Colorado and held the office three terms; he wrote and secured the passage of the first school law enacted by the state, and all amendments thereto up to the end of his term of service; at his suggestion and by his efforts Colorado was the first state to adopt uniform questions for examination of teachers, the questions being furnished by the state superintendent to all county superintendents; was professor of pedagogics and dean of the faculty of the college of liberal arts of the university of Denver for three years, of which institution he is now secretary of board of trustees and business manager. He was one of the first settlers of Greeley, Col., an officer of the corporation and a member of the Colorado territorial legislature.

Shattuck, Lemuel, state legislator, author, was born Oct. 15, 1793, in Ashby, Mass. He was for several years a representative in the legislature. In 1844 he was one of the founders of the New England Historic-Genealogical society; and was its vice-president for five years. He was the author of History of Concord, Mass.; Vital Statistics of Boston; The Census of Boston; Report on the Sanitary Condition of Massachusetts, and Memorials of the Descendants of William Shattuck. He died Jan. 17, 1859, in Boston, Mass.

Shauck, John Allen, lawyer, jurist, was born March 26, 1841, in Ohio. In 1866 he graduated from Otterbein university, receiving from that institution the degrees of A.M. and LL.D.; and graduated in law from the university of Michigan. For ten years he was judge of the circuit court of Ohio. Since 1895 he has been associate-justice of the state supreme court of Ohio; and in 1906-07 was chief justice.

Shaughnessy, Sir Thomas George, railroad president, financier, was born Oct. 6, 1853, in Milwaukee, Wis. In 1869 he entered railway service; and is now president of the Canadian Pacific railway; president of the Montreal and western railway; and has other large business interests.

Shaver, George Frederick, business president, engineer, inventor, was born Nov. 4, 1855, in Ripley, N.Y. He has invented an improved mechanical telephone; a self-righting and self-bailing life-boat; an automatic mail catcher; and invented an automatic screw-driver. He is president of the Pocahontas coal and timber company; and is president of a firm of builders of steam and sailing yachts.

Shaver, Edwin, soldier, business man, was born Sept. 3, 1841, in Salisbury, N.C. He was educated at the free school of Salisbury, N.C.; attended the Allison school of Salisbury, N.C.; studied at the Hallowell high school of Alexandria, Va.; attended Princeton college of New Jersey; and graduated from Harvard university of Cambridge Mass. During the civil war he served as a private in the first North Carolina cavalry; and participated in numerous battles and skirmishes. He served in General Robert E. Lee's army of North Virginia and in General Fitzhugh Lee's division. He was chairman of the North Carolina prohibition state executive committee; and a member of the national prohibition committee. He was a ruling elder in the first presbyterian church of Salisbury, N.C. For many years he was identified with the real estate business of Salisbury, N.C. He died in 1909, in Salisbury, N.C.

Shaver, Leonidas, lawyer, jurist. He was an early emigrant to Utah; and in 1853 was appointed an associate justice of the United States court for the territory of Utah. He died in Utah.

Shaw, Aaron, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1811 in Orange county, N.Y. He served several terms in the state legislature. He was then elected circuit judge and served six years. In 1857-59 and 1883-85 he was representative from Illinois to the thirty-fifth and forty-eighth congresses as a democrat. He died Jan. 8, 1887, in Illinois.

Shaw, Adele Marie, litterateur, author, was born in Concord, N.H. She is part author of The Coast of Freedom; and The Lady of the Dynamos.

Shaw, Albert, journalist, author, was born July 23, 1857, in Shandon, Ohio. He edited the Minneapolis Daily Tribune for several years; and in 1891 he founded The American Review of Reviews, of which he is sole editor. He is the author of Icaria, a Chapter in the History of Communism; Local Government in Illinois; Co-operation in a Western City; Municipal Government in Great Britain; and Municipal Government in Continental Europe.

Shaw, Annie Cornelia, painter, artist, was born Sept. 16, 1852, in West Troy, N.Y. She is a well-known artist of Chicago, Ill.

Shaw, Albert Duane, soldier, state legislator, diplomat, was born Dec. 27, 1841, in Lyme, N.Y. He served in the thirty-fifth New York regiment in 1861-63; and was elected to the New York state legislature in 1867. In 1867 he was appointed colonel of the thirty-sixth regiment New York national guard. He was appointed United States consul at Toronto, and in 1878-86 was consul at Manchester, England.

In 1890-1901 he was president of the Canadian Niagara power company. In 1896 he was elected department commander for the state of New York, and in 1899-1900 commander in chief of the Grand army of the republic. In 1900 he was elected to the fifty-seventh congress. He died Feb. 10, 1901, in Watertown, N.Y.

Shaw, C. Austin, painter, artist, was born Oct. 24, 1840, in West Milton, Ohio. He was a successful landscape painter of Providence, R.I.; and afterward edited a magazine entitled Language and Thought. In 1871 he entered the signal service, and held positions in Minnesota, Dakota, Madison, Wis., and Erie, Pa. In 1887 he retired from public service and devoted his time entirely to literature. He was the author of a number of meritorious essays, which have been a valuable acquisition to current literature.

Shaw, Charles, lawyer, author, was born in 1782 in Bath, Maine. He removed to Alabama, and was judge of a court in Montgomery at the time of his death. He was the author of A Topographical Description of Boston from Its First Settlement. He died in 1828, in Montgomery, Ala.

Shaw, Charles Gray, educator, author, was born June 23, 1871, in Elizabeth, N.J. In 1894 he graduated from Cornell university with the degree of B.L.; in 1897 he graduated from the New York university as Ph.D.; and in 1897 received the degree of B.D. from Drew theological seminary. He was a student of philosophy at Jena in Berlin. Since 1899 he has been professor of philosophy in the New York university; and is constantly engaged in the work of public lecturing. He is a member of the American philosophical association; a member of the religious education association; a member of the Society of colonial wars; a member of the Sons of the revolution. He is the author of Christianity and Modern Culture; The Precinct of Religion; and The Development of Philosophy.

Shaw, Edward Richard, educator, author, was born in 1855 in Bellport, N.Y. He was professor of pedagogy in the New York university. He was the author of Physics by Experiment; English Composition by Practice; and Legends of Fire Island Beach. He died in 1903 in New York City.

Shaw, Frank T., lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 7, 1841, in Woodsborough, Md. He received a common school education; and in 1864 graduated from the medical department of the university of Maryland. Until 1873 he practiced medicine at Uniontown, Md. In 1873-84 he was clerk of the circuit court for Carroll county, Md. In 1885-89 he was a representative from Maryland to the forty-ninth and fiftieth congresses as a democrat. In 1890 he was a member of the Maryland state legislature; in 1890-94 was state tax commissioner; and in 1894 became collector of customs at the port of Baltimore, Md.

Shaw, George B., manufacturer, public official, congressman, was born March 2, 1854, in Alma, N.Y. He was engaged in the manufacture of lumber; and in 1888-89 was mayor of Eau Claire, Wis. In 1890-92 he was supreme chancellor of the Knights of Pythias of the world. In 1893-95 he was a representative from Wisconsin to the fifty-third congress as a republican. He died Aug. 27, 1894, in Wisconsin.

Shaw, George G., lawyer, was born Jan. 29, 1866, in Homer, La. He taught school for a while; and is now a prominent lawyer of Kaufman, Texas. He is prominent in masonry and other fraternal orders; and in 1896 was elected mayor of Kaufman, Texas.

Shaw, Henry, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1788, in Windham county, Vt. In 1817-21 he was a representative from Massachusetts to the fifteenth and sixteenth congresses. He was a member of the Massachusetts legislature for eighteen years; and was also a member of the governor's council. In 1848 he moved to New York, and resided at Fort Washington, on the Hudson. He was a member of the board of education in New York City; and two years in the common council. In 1853 he was elected a member of the New York assembly. He died Oct. 17, 1857, in Peekskill, N.Y.

Shaw, Henry, philanthropist, was born July 24, 1800, in England. In 1885 he gave to Washington university improved real estate that yields five thousand dollars yearly income, which was used in organizing and maintaining a school of botany as a department of the university. At the same time the Missouri botanical garden and arboretum were placed in such relation to the school as to secure their full uses for scientific study and investigation to the professor and students for all time to come. He died Aug. 25, 1889, in St. Louis, Mo.

Shaw, Henry M., soldier, physician, state senator, congressman, was born Nov. 20, 1819, in Newport, R.I. He moved to North Carolina; and was a state senator in 1852. In 1853-55 and 1857-59 he was a representative from North Carolina to the thirty-third and thirty-fifth congresses. During the civil war he served as a colonel in the confederate army. He died Feb. 23, 1864, in Newberne, N.C.

Shaw, Henry Wheeler, Josh Billings, humorist, author, was born April 21, 1818, in Lanesborough, Mass. He was the author of Josh Billings's Sayings; Everybody's Friend; Josh Billings's Trump Cards; and Josh Billings's Spice Box. He died Oct. 14, 1885, in Monterey, Cal.

Shaw, James, clergyman, author, was born about 1825, in Ireland. He was educated in Ireland; in 1854 came to America; and was at once received into the ministry. For ten years he was agent for collection of funds for the Irish Wesleyan college at Belfast, Ireland. He preached over a quarter of a century; and has filled pastorates in Old Town, Bloomington, university, Petersburg, Clinton, Rushville, Charleston, Urbana and other Illinois cities and towns. He is the author of Twelve Years in America; The History of the Great Temperance Reform of the Nineteenth Century; The Roman Conflict; and other works.

Shaw, James, soldier, was born in Rhode Island. In 1862 he was lieutenant in the tenth regiment Rhode Island infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers.

Shaw, James Dickson, soldier, clergyman, journalist, was born Dec. 27, 1841, in Walker county, Texas. He served four years as a soldier in the confederate army, and surrendered at the close of the war as a second lieutenant. For twelve years he was a clergyman in the methodist episcopal church south, and since 1883 has been editor of The Independent Pulpit of Waco, Texas.

Shaw, John, naval officer, was born in Ireland. In 1798 he entered the United States navy as a lieutenant; and attained the rank of commander. He died Sept. 17, 1823, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Shaw, John, physician, surgeon, poet, was born May 4, 1778, in Annapolis, Md. He was appointed surgeon in the fleet that was sent to Algiers in 1798. He was a contributor to The Portfolio. His poems, with a memoir, and extracts from his foreign correspondence and journals, were published in 1810. He died Jan. 10, 1809, at sea.

Shaw, John Balcom, clergyman, author, was born May 12, 1860, in Bellport, N.Y. In 1885 he graduated from Lafayette college; in 1888 graduated from the Union theological seminary; and has received the honorary degrees of A.M. and D.D. from Lafayette college and D.D. from Hamilton college. In 1888 he was ordained to the ministry. In 1888-1904 he was pastor of the West End presbytery of New York City; and is now pastor of the Second presbyterian church of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of Four Great Questions. Secret of Soul Winning; Where the Shadows Lie; The Difficult Life; Soul Rewinning; One Step at a Time; The Work that Wins; Life that Follows Life; Vision and Service; and The Outlook for the Average Man.

Shaw, John G., business man, lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 16, 1859, near Fayetteville, N.C. He located at Fayetteville, N.C.; and was county attorney for Cumberland county in 1890-94. He was a democratic presidential elector in 1892. In 1895-97 he was a representative from North Carolina to the fifty-fourth congress as a democrat.

Shaw, Lemuel, lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 9, 1781, in Barnstable, Mass. He drafted the charter of the city of Boston; and for twenty-seven years was one of the corporation of Harvard college. In 1830-60 he was chief justice of the supreme court of Massachusetts. He died March 30, 1861, in Boston, Mass.

Shaw, Leslie Mortier, lawyer, financier, cabinet officer, governor, was born Nov. 2, 1848, in Morris town, Vt. He was educated in the public schools; studied at the People's academy of Morrisville, Iowa; and in 1874 graduated from Cornell college of Mount Vernon, Iowa with the degree of M. S. In 1876 he graduated from the Iowa college of law; and has received the honorary degrees of LL.D. from Simpson college; LL.

D. from Cornell college of Iowa; and LL.D. from the Wesleyan university. In 1876 he was admitted to the practice of law; and began the practice of his profession at Denison, Iowa. He is engaged in banking at Denison, Manilla and Charter Oak, Iowa; and has loaned over two million dollars on Iowa farms. He is prominent in the conferences of the methodist church. In 1898-1902 he was governor of the state of Iowa; and in 1902-07 was secretary of the United States treasury. Since 1907 he has been president of the Carnegie trust company of New York.

Shaw, Lucien, lawyer, jurist, was born March 1, 1845, in Vevay, Ind. In 1869-89 he practiced law; and in 1889-1902 was judge of the superior court for Los Angeles county, Cal. Since 1903 he has been an associate-justice of the state supreme court of California.

Shaw, Milton Gilman, lumberman, legislator, was born Dec. 31, 1820, in Industry, Maine. In 1841 he began life in the lumber business at Greenville, then almost in the heart of the pine forests of Maine; and he now owns an immense area of timber lands including several townships. He has filled different public offices, and was a member of the legislature in 1859.

Shaw, Oliver, musician, composer, was born in 1776. He composed Home of My Soul, and other popular pieces of music. He died Dec. 31, 1848, in Providence, R.I.

Shaw, Robert Gould, merchant, philanthropist, was born June 4, 1776, in Gouldsborough, Maine. He bequeathed over a hundred thousand dollars to philanthropic purposes which was put at interest until it should amount to four hundred thousand dollars; and is known as the Shaw fund; and is to be devoted to the support of an asylum for mariners' children. He died May 3, 1853, in Boston, Mass.

Shaw, Robert Gould, soldier, was born Oct. 10, 1837, in Boston, Mass. He became colonel of the fifty-fourth Massachusetts, the first regiment of colored troops from a free state that was mustered into the United States service. He died July 18, 1863, in Fort Wagner, S.C.

Shaw, Samuel, soldier, merchant, was born Oct. 2, 1754, in Boston, Mass. He served in the revolutionary war; and attained the rank of major and aide-de-camp to General Henry Knox. He died May 30, 1804, at sea.

Shaw, Thomas, mechanic, inventor. He invented a steam gauge. He died in 1901, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Shaw, Samuel, physician, surgeon, state legislator, congressman, was born in December, 1768, in Dighton, Mass. In 1790 he was returned as a member of the Vermont legislature; and was for some time a member of the state council. In 1807-13 he was a representative from Vermont to the tenth, eleventh and twelfth congresses. On his retirement from congress he was appointed surgeon in the army, and removed to the city of New York. He died Oct. 22, 1827, in Clarendon, Vt.

Shaw, Thomas, educator, author, was born Jan. 3, 1843, in Canada. He was educated in the common schools of Canada. In 1866-

93 he was professor of agriculture in the Guelph agricultural college of Ontario, Canada. He is the editor of the Farmer of St. Paul, Minn. Since 1893 he has been professor of animal husbandry in the university of Minnesota. He is the author of First Principles of Agriculture;

Weeds and Modes of Eradicating Them; Forage Crops Other Than Grasses; The Study of Breeds; Sheep Husbandry in Minnesota, Soiling Crops and the Silo; Animal Breeding, Clovers and How to Grow Them; and Feeding Farm Animals.

Shaw, Thompson Darrah, naval officer, was born Aug. 20, 1801, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was retired in 1862 on his own application, after more than forty years' service. He was continued on special duty at New York, Philadelphia, and Boston in 1863-67; and was promoted to commodore on the retired list in 1867. He died July 26, 1874, in Germantown, Pa.

Shaw, Tristram, congressman, was born in 1787, in Exeter, N.H. In 1839-43 he was a representative from New Hampshire to the twenty-sixth and twenty-seventh congress. He died March 14, 1843, in Exeter, N.H.

Shaw, William Smith, lawyer, philanthropist, born Aug. 12, 1776, in Haverhill, Mass. He was admitted to the bar in 1804; and in the same year became treasurer of the Anthology society, the nucleus of the Boston Athenæum. He devoted much of his time to the collection of its library, and became known as Athenæum Shaw. He was the first to suggest making the library public, and connecting with it a reading room. After the incorporation of the institution he was its secretary and librarian until 1823. At his death he left it collections of coins, pamphlets and books to the value of ten thousand dollars. He died April 25, 1826, in Boston, Mass.

Shea, George, lawyer, jurist, author, was born June 10, 1826, in Ireland. He was chief justice of the city court of New York. He was the author of Alexander Hamilton: a Historical Study; and Nature and Form of the American Government. He died Jan. 15, 1895, in New York City.

Shea, Daniel William, educator, legislator, scientist, author, was born Nov. 27, 1859, in Portsmouth, N.H. He was educated in the public schools of Greenland; at Brackett academy of New Hampshire; and at Harvard university, from which institution he received the degrees of A.B. and A.M. He subsequently studied in Berlin; and in 1892 received the degree of Ph.D. from Friedrich-Wilhelm's university.

In 1886-88 he was a member of the New Hampshire state legislature from Greenland. In 1889-92 he was assistant in physics at Harvard university; in 1892-94 filled the same chair in the university of Illinois; and was professor of physics in that institution in 1894-95. Since 1895 he has been professor of physics at the Catholic university of America at Washington, D.C. In 1897-1903 he was general secretary of the Catholic university of America; and is a member of the American physical society and other scientific associations. He is the author of several scientific works in German.

Shea, John Augustus, journalist, poet, was born in 1802, in Ireland. He came to America in 1827; and was a journalist in New York City. He was the author of Adolph; Parnassian Wild Flowers; Rudolphi, an Eastern Romance, in verse; and Clontarf, a poem. He died Aug. 15, 1845, in New York City.

Shea, John Dawson Gilmary, journalist, author, was born July 22, 1824, in New York City. He was an historical writer of note; for a number of years editor of Frank Leslie's Chimney Corner of New York City. He was the author of The Catholic Church in the United States; Legendary History of Ireland; History of Catholic Indian Missions; Discovery and Exploration of the Mississippi Valley; Early Voyages Up and Down the Mississippi; Novum Belgium, an Account of New Netherlands, 1633-44; The Operations of the French Under De Grasse; Life of Pius Ninth; The Catholic Church in Colonial Days; The Catholic Hierarchy of the United States; and Life and Times of Archbishop Carroll. He died Feb. 22, 1892, in Elizabeth, N.J.

Shea, Joseph, educator, college president, was born Dec. 31, 1829, in Fordham, N.Y. For six years he was president of St. John's college, Fordham, N.Y. He died Dec. 5, 1881, in New York City.

Sheafe, James, congressman, United States senator, was born Nov. 16, 1735, in Portsmouth, N.H. In 1799-1801 he was a representative from New Hampshire to the sixth congress, and in 1801-02 he was United States senator. He died Dec. 5, 1829, in Portsmouth, N.H.

Sheafe, Mark Wentworth, soldier, banker, stockman, was born May 18, 1844, in Brooklyn, N.Y. In 1885-91 and 1893-97 he was registrar in the United States land office at Watertown, S.D. Since 1889 he has been president of the Watertown national bank and six times was mayor of Elk Point, S.D. In 1874-75 he was a member of the territorial senate; and in 1890 was a member of the South Dakota state senate.

Sheaffer, Peter Wernick, mining engineer, was born March 31, 1819, in Halifax, Pa. In 1848 he settled in Pottsville, devoted his attention to mining engineering, and has been specially active in the development of the coal and iron interests of that district. He resided in 1875, under the auspices of the Pennsylvania historical society, a map of Pennsylvania as it was in 1775. He died in Pennsylvania.

Sheaffer, Samuel G., lawyer, jurist, statesman, was born May 13, 1841, near Shippensburg, Pa. He received his education in the common schools and the Shippensburg academy. He has been postmaster, justice of the peace, clerk of the courts of Ness county, police judge of Ness city, and filled various other public positions of honor. He is a successful lawyer and promoter of patriotic associations and public enterprises; and is adjutant-general battalion of America.

Sheakley, James, public official, legislator, governor, congressman, was born April 24, 1830, in Sheakleyville, Pa. When nineteen years of age he went to California, and for three years was engaged in the mining of gold. He then returned to Sheakleyville and bought the old homestead. He embarked in the drygoods business in Greenville, in 1860; was one of the pioneers in the oil excitement in western Pennsylvania, and for nearly twenty years was extensively engaged in the production and shipping of petroleum. In 1875-77 he was a representative to the forty-fourth congress as a democrat. In 1887 he was appointed by President Cleveland as United States commissioner of Alaska, and the educational department made him superintendent of schools for southeastern Alaska; and in 1892 he was a delegate from Alaska to the democratic national convention at Chicago. In 1893-97 he was governor of the territory of Alaska, and served in that high office with distinction. In 1898 he resigned the governorship and returned to Pennsylvania.

Sheard, Titus, manufacturer, state senator, was born Oct. 4, 1841, in England. In 1878-79 he represented Herkimer county in the New York state assembly; and was state senator in 1890-91. He was a manufacturer of knitted cotton and woolen underwear, and president of the Utica Herald publishing company. He died in 1904 in Little Falls, N.Y.

Shearer, James, designer, architect, banker, was born July 12, 1823, in Albany, N.Y.

He designed and erected some of the finest business blocks and private residences in Detroit, Mich.; in 1867 he became president of the First national bank of Bay City, Mich.; and in 1880-88 was regent of the university of Michigan. He died Oct. 14, 1893, in Bay City, Mich.

Shearer, John Bunyan, clergyman, college president, author, was born July 19, 1832, in Appomattox county, Va. He is a presbyterian clergyman; professor of biblical instruction and moral philosophy; and in 1870-75 was president of the Stewart college of Clarksville, Tenn. For thirteen years he was president of the Southwestern Presbyterian university; in 1888-1901 was president; and since 1901 has been vice-president of Davidson college of North Carolina. He is the author of Bible Course Syllabus; Modern Mysticism; Sermon on the Mount; and Studies in the Life of Christ.

Shearman, Sylvester G., lawyer, jurist. In 1854-68 he was an associate justice of the supreme court of Rhode Island. He died Jan. 3, 1868.

Shearman, Thomas Gaskell, lawyer, author, was born Nov. 25, 1834, in England. He is a lawyer and political economist of New York City. He was the author of Law of Practice and Pleadings; Law of Negligence; Talks on Free Trade; Does Protection Protect? Pauper Labor of Europe; The Single Tax; National Taxation; Henry George's Mistake; Crooked Taxation; Distribution of Wealth; and Who Own the United States? He died Sept. 29, 1900, in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Sheats, Charles Christopher, state legislator, congressman, was born April 10, 1839, in Walker county, Ala. He was elected to the Alabama state legislature in 1861; in 1861 was a member of the secession convention; was a member of the constitutional convention in 1865; was mayor of Decatur in 1867-69; and was United States commissioner in 1866-96; and he was a presidential elector in 1868. In 1869-72 he was United States consul to Denmark; in 1876-78 was appraiser of merchandise for the port of Mobile; and in 1878-85 was collector of internal revenue. In 1873-75 he was a representative from Alabama to the forty-third congress. In 1875 he was appointed sixth auditor of the United States treasury. He died in 1904 in Decatur, Ala.

Sheats, William Nicholas, educator, founder, was born March 5, 1851, in Auburn, Ga. In 1873 he graduated from Emory college of Oxford, Ga. He then taught in the Fletcher institute in 1873-74; and in various other institutions until 1881. In 1881-93 he was superintendent of public instruction of Alachua county, Fla. Since 1893 he has been state superintendent of public instruction of Florida. In 1885 he was elected a member of the state constitutional convention; and was the author of the article on education adopted by that body, which laid the foundation of the state's educational system, and placed Florida in the lead in public education among all her southern sisters.

Sheatsley, Jacob, clergyman, author, was born June 20, 1859, in Paris, Ohio. Since 1887 he has been a clergyman in the Lutheran church; and now fills a pastorate in Delaware, Ohio. He is the author of The Holy Service; To My Sunday School Teachers; Luther's Marriage Ring; Teacher's Annual; and The Primary Teacher.

Shcut, John Linnaeus Edward Whitridge, physician, scientist, author, was born Dec. 4, 1770, in Beaufort, S.C. He was the author of Flora Carolinensis; Medical and Philosophical Essays; Elements of Natural Philosophy; and A New Theory of the Earth. He died in 1836 in Charleston, S.C.

Shedd, Joel Herbert, civil engineer, author, was born May 31, 1834, in Pepperell, Mass. He is an eminent civil engineer of Providence, and his most important professional labor is the Providence waterworks. He has written a work on Sewerage; and several important professional papers.

Shedd, Mrs. Julia Ann Clark, author, was born Aug. 8, 1834, in Newport, Maine. She was the author of Famous Painters and Paintings; Famous Sculptors and Sculpture; The Ghiberti Gates; and Raphael, His Madonnas and Holy Families. She died April 7, 1897.

Shedd, Kendrick P., educator, linguist, was born Sept. 26, 1866, in Lima, N.Y. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools of Rochester, N.Y.; in 1889 graduated from the university of Rochester; and for one season studied at the Berlin university of Germany. In 1889-90 he was a teacher in the Canandaigua academy; and in 1890-91 was an instructor at the university of Berlin, Germany. Since 1891 he has been professor of German in the modern language department of the university of Rochester, N.Y.

Shedd, Warren, soldier, was born in New Hampshire. In 1861 he was captain in the thirtieth regiment Illinois infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Aug. 20, 1891.

Sheedy, Morgan M., priest, writer, lecturer, was born Oct. 8, 1853, in Ireland. He was ordained in the Pittsburg cathedral in 1876. He was immediately assigned as professor of theology and history in Saint Michael's seminary, where he continued until the closing of that institution. As a successful pastor he became widely known through his work on educational lines with young men. In Pittsburg the school, hall and free library that he established were centers of the very best influence felt in the whole community. He was the founder of the Pittsburgh polytechnic society and is a member of the Writers' club, the Academy of Science, the Western Pennsylvania historical society, and other literary bodies. He has always been one of the leaders in the temperance movement and for four years was the vice-president of the Catholic total abstinence union of America. He is the author of Christian Unity; and of a work entitled Social Problems. He helped to organize the Catholic summer school of America, and was its first president. He is the author of Christian Unity; Social Problems; and Briefs for Our Times.

Shedd, William Greenough Thayer, educator, clergyman, theologian, author, was born June 21, 1820, in Acton, Mass. He was a presbyterian clergyman of New York City; professor in Union seminary in 1863-90; and a theologian of a very conservative type. He was the author of History of Christian Doctrine; Sermons to the Natural Man; Homiletics and Pastoral Theology; Theological Essays; Sermons to the Spiritual Man; Endless Punishment; Dogmatic Theology; The Pro-Revision of the Westminster Standards; Calvinism Pure and Mixed; and Literary Essays. He died Nov. 17, 1894, in New York City.

Sheehan, John Charles, lawyer, contractor, was born Aug. 5, 1848, in Buffalo, N.Y. He is prominent as a tammany hall leader; and in 1892-95 was police commissioner of New York City.

Sheehan, William Francis, lawyer, legislator, lieutenant-governor, was born Nov. 6, 1850, in Buffalo, N.Y. He received his education in the public schools; and graduated from St. Joseph's college of Buffalo, N.Y. He attained prominence as one of the foremost lawyers of his state; and has been prominently identified with local and national politics. In 1885-91 he was a member of the state assembly of New York; and in 1891 was speaker of the state assembly. In 1892-94 he was lieutenant-governor of the state of New York; and in 1904 was chairman of the executive committee of the democratic national committee in the campaign of 1904. He now practices law in New York City; and is a director of several large corporations.

Sheeleigh, Matthias, clergyman, author, poet, was born Dec. 29, 1821, in Charleston, Pa. Since 1860 he has edited the Lutheran Sunday School Herald of Fort Washington, Pa. He is the author of American Ecclesiast; A Gettysburgiad; Luther: a Song Tribute; Brief History of Luther; and Outlines of Old and New Testament History.

Sheets, Benjamin Franklin, soldier, was born in New York. In 1862 he was lieutenant-colonel in the ninety-second regiment Illinois infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He resigned in 1864.

Sheetz, Josiah A., soldier, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1861 he was second lieutenant in the eighth regiment Illinois infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Jan. 8, 1883.

Sheffer, Daniel, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1837-39 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the twenty-fifth congress. He died in York, Pa.

Sheffey, Daniel, lawyer, banker, congressman, was born in 1770 in Frederick, Md. He was for many years a member of the Virginia state legislature. In 1809-17 he was a representative from Virginia to the eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth and fourteenth congresses. He died Dec. 3, 1830, in Augusta, Va.

Sheffield, Devello Z., clergyman, missionary, author, was born Aug. 13, 1841, in Gainesville, N.Y. Since 1869 he has been missionary in and near Peking, China; and has been president of the college in Peking. He is the author of Systematic Theology, in Chinese; and other works.

Sheffield, James Rockwell, lawyer, statesman, was born Aug. 13, 1864, in Dubuque, Iowa. He graduated from Yale university with the degree of A.B., and from the Harvard law school. In 1893-94 he was a member of the New York state assembly. In 1895-98 he was president of the board of fire commissioners of New York City; and is now a trustee of the Chestnut Hill academy and other institutions. He has been an occasional contributor of articles to current magazines.

Sheffield, Joseph Earle, merchant, philanthropist, was born June 19, 1793, in Southport, Conn. His donations to Yale have been munificent. In 1860 the name of its scientific department, which was reorganized and placed on a firm basis by his liberality, was changed to the Sheffield scientific school in his honor. Its two buildings are called respectively Sheffield hall and North Sheffield hall. He gave to other colleges, seminaries, and religious institutions; and his gifts amounted to more than one million dollars. He died Feb. 16, 1877, in New Haven, Conn.

Sheffield, William Paine, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, United States senator, author, was born Aug. 30, 1819, on Block Island, R.I. In 1845 he was elected a member of the Rhode Island state assembly. Removing his residence to Tiverton, he was again elected to the assembly in 1849, where he continued to serve until 1853, when he resigned his seat, and settled in Newport; and represented that city in the assembly in 1857-61. In 1861-63 he was a representative from Rhode Island to the thirty-seventh congress; and in 1869 was appointed one of the commissioners to revise the laws of Rhode Island. In 1884-85 he was United States senator to fill a vacancy. He was the author of Rhode Island Privateers; and other works. He died June 2, 1907, in Newport, R.I.

Shegogue, James Henry, painter, artist, was born about 1810. He devoted himself mainly to portraiture, but produced also landscape and genre pieces. He died April 7, 1879, in New York City.

Shelabarger, Samuel, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born Dec. 10, 1817, in Clarke county, Ohio. He was a member of the Ohio state legislature in 1852-53. In 1800-10 he was a representative from Ohio to the thirty-seventh congress. In 1865-71 he was a representative from Ohio to the thirty-ninth, forty-first and forty-second congresses. He died in Ohio.

Shelby, David D., lawyer, state senator, jurist, was born Oct. 24, 1847, in Madison county, Ala. In 1882-84 he was a member of the Alabama state senate. Since 1899 he has been United States circuit judge for the fifth circuit of Alabama.

Shelby, Isaac, soldier, surveyor, legislator, governor, cabinet officer, was born Dec. 11, 1750, near Hagerstown, Md. He became a surveyor in western Virginia. In 1774 he was lieutenant in his father's company at the battle of Point Pleasant, Va.; was a captain in 1776; and was made commissary in 1777. He was a member of the legislature in 1779; was commissioned a major by Governor Jefferson; and in 1780 was made colonel, and defeated Major Ferguson at the battle of King's Mountain. He was a member of the legislature of North Carolina in 1781-82. In 1788 he settled at Travelers' Rest, Kentucky; was the first governor of Kentucky in 1792-96 and 1812-16; and in 1813 joined General Harrison. In 1817 he was secretary of war. In 1818 he was a commissioner, with General Jackson, to treat with the Cherokee Indians. A county in Kentucky and a college in Shelbyville were named for him. He died July 18, 1826, near Stanford, Ky.

Shelby, Evan, pioneer, was born in 1732 in Wales. In the old French war he rose from the rank of private to that of captain. In 1779 he led a successful expedition against the Chickamauga Indians. He subsequently served with the Virginia army on the seaboard, rising to the rank of colonel, and then to that of general. He died Dec. 4, 1794; in Bristol, Tenn.

Shelby, Joseph, soldier, was born in 1831 in Kentucky. He served through the civil war; and attained the rank of brigadier-general.

Shelby, Joseph Orville, soldier, was born June 10, 1831, in Lexington, Ky. He was an active proslavery leader in the Kansas-Missouri border conflicts; and early in the civil war raised and equipped a company of confederate cavalry. Soon afterward he was made colonel of the 5th Missouri cavalry; and later was commissioned brigadier-general. He died Feb. 12, 1897, near Adrian, Mo.

Shelby, William Read, railroad official, was born Dec. 4, 1842, in Lincoln county, Ky. He was president of the Cincinnati, Richmond and Fort Wayne railroad company; and president of the Muskegon, Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad company. He has been also extensively engaged in wheat raising in the northwest; and since 1875 has managed the Cass farm, a portion of which is more generally known as the great Dalrymple farm.

Sheldon, A. W., soldier, journalist, lawyer, jurist, was born July 18, 1842, in Granville, Ohio. In 1875-81 he was judge advocate of the first division of the national guard of the state of New York, with the rank of colonel; and in 1877-78 was judge advocate of the department of New York, grand army of the republic. In 1881 he moved to Baltimore, and became editor of the Baltimore Herald. In 1883 he was appointed associate justice of the supreme court of Arizona territory.

Sheldon, Alexander, physician, legislator, jurist, was born Oct. 23, 1766, in Suffield, Conn. He was speaker of the New York assembly in 1804, 1806, and 1812; and a judge of the county court. He was a regent of the University of New York state. He died Sept. 10, 1736, in Montgomery county, N.Y.

Sheldon, Carlos Douglas, soldier, congressman, was born June 10, 1840, in Walworth, Wis. He served throughout the civil war in the twenty-third regiment Michigan infantry. In 1892-96 he was a member of the Michigan state legislature. In 1897-1903 he was a representative from Michigan to the fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth, and fifty-seventh congresses as a republican. He died in 1904 in Houghton, Mich.

Sheldon, Caroline, educator, author, was born Jan. 22, 1860, in Potsdam, N.Y. Since 1906 she has been an instructor in French; and since 1907 has been dean of women at the Iowa college at Grinnell. She is the author of Princess and Pilgrim in England.

Sheldon, Charles H., soldier, governor, was born in 1840 in Johnson, Vt. For ten years he lived in southern Illinois; in Kentucky three years; and in 1881 moved to Dakota. He was a member of the territorial council of 1887; and in 1893-97 was the second governor of South Dakota. He died Oct. 20, 1897, in Deadwood, S.D.

Sheldon, Charles Monroe, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 26, 1857, in Wells-ville, N.Y. Since 1889 he has been pastor of the Central congregational church of Topeka, Kan. He is the author of In His Steps; and other religious works.

Sheldon, Charles S., soldier, was born in New Jersey. In 1861-64 he served in the civil war; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Jan. 2, 1900.

Sheldon, Cleason Parmenter, clergyman, theologian, was born May 9, 1813, in Bernardston, Mass. In 1845 he graduated from the Madison university of Hamilton, N.Y. He became an eminent clergyman of the baptist church; filled pastorates in Whitesboro, Hamilton, Buffalo, and for nineteen years in Troy, N.Y. He died Oct. 25, 1888, in Troy, N.Y.

Sheldon, David Newton, clergyman, college president, author, was born June 26, 1807, in Suffield, Conn. He was a baptist clergyman; and became a unitarian in 1856. He was president of Colby university in 1843-53. He was the author of Sin and Redemption. He died Oct. 4, 1889, in Waterville, Me.

Sheldon, Edward Austin, educator, author, was born Oct. 4, 1823, in Perry Centre, N.Y. He is a noted educator of Oswego, and organizer and principal of the normal school there in 1862-97. He was author of Manual of Elementary Training; and Lessons on Objects. He died Aug. 26, 1897, in Oswego, N.Y.

Sheldon, Edward Stevens, educator, author, was born Nov. 21, 1851, in Waterville, Maine. He has been professor of Romance philology at Harvard university since 1884; and the author of Short German Grammar and monographs.

Sheldon, George Lawson, soldier, farmer, banker, governor, was born May 31, 1870, in Nehawka, Neb. He received the rudiments of his education in the common schools; received the degree of B.L. from the university of Nebraska; and the degree of A.B. from Harvard university. He has been a member of the republican state committee from the fourth district of Nebraska; is the president of the Nehawka bank; and was captain of company A, Nebraska university cadets. During the Spanish-American war he was captain of the third regiment Nebraska volunteer infantry. In 1907-09 he was governor of Nebraska.

Sheldon, George William, journalist, author, was born Jan. 28, 1843, in Summer-ville, S.C. He was a journalist and art critic of New York City; and for ten years was in charge of the London office of D. Appleton and Company, publishers. He is the author of American Painters; The Story of the Volunteer Fire Department of New York City; Hours with Art and Artists; Selections in Modern Art; Recent Ideals of American Art; Artistic Homes; Artistic Country Seats; and Ideals of Life in France.

Sheldon, Grace Carew, journalist, founder, author, was born in Buffalo, N.Y. In 1886 she founded and ever since has been head of the woman's exchange of Buffalo, N.Y., which accepts work only from self-supporting women. She is the author of As We Saw It in '90; and From Pluckemin to Paris.

Sheldon, Henry Davidson, educator, author, was born Oct. 3, 1874, in Salt Lake City, Utah. Since 1900 he has been professor of philosophy and education at the university of Oregon. He is the author of Student Life and Customs; and State Normal School Systems in the United States.

Sheldon, Henry L., lawyer, author. He is a successful lawyer of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of Notes on the Nicaragua Canal.

Sheldon, Henry Clay, educator, clergyman, author, was born March 12, 1845, in Martinsburg, N.Y. In 1867 he graduated from the theological department of Boston university; and was also a student at Lowville academy and Leipsig university. He is a minister of the methodist episcopal church. For twenty years he was professor of historical theology; and since 1895 has been professor of systematic theology in Boston university. He is the author of History of Christian Doctrine; History of the Christian Church, in five volumes; System of Christian Doctrine; and History of Unbelief in the Nineteenth Century.

Sheldon, Henry L., librarian, founder, was born Aug. 15, 1821, in Middleburg, Vt. He is the founder and librarian of the Sheldon art museum of Middlebury, Vt. He was city clerk for twenty-five years and an expert accountant and bookkeeper.

Sheldon, Henry Newton, soldier, jurist, author, was born June 28, 1843, in Waterville, Maine. In 1866-94 he practiced law in Boston, Mass.; in 1894-1905 he was justice of the superior court of Massachusetts; and since 1905 has been justice of the supreme court of Massachusetts. He is the author of The Law of Subrogation.

Steldon, Lionel Allen, soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, governor, was born Aug. 30, 1831, in Worcester, N.Y. He served one term as judge of probate in Lorain county, Ohio. In 1861 he entered the volunteer army as a captain; was soon promoted to the rank of lieutenant-colonel; and at the close of the war was brevetted a brigadier-general. He subsequently settled in New Orleans, La., and devoted himself to law. In 1869-75 he was a representative from Louisiana to the forty-first, forty-second and forty-third congresses. In 1881-85 he was governor of the territory of New Mexico.

Sheldon, Mary Downing, educator, author, was born Sept. 15, 1850, in Oswego, N.Y. She was professor of history in Wellesley in 1876-78; and subsequently occupied the same chair in the state normal school of Oswego, N.Y. She was the author of Sheldon's General History; and Sheldon's United States History. She died Aug. 27, 1898, in London, England.

Sheldon, Porter, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 29, 1831, in Victor, N.Y. In 1862 he was a member of the constitutional convention of Illinois. In 1869-71 he was a representative from New York to the forty-first congress as a republican.

Sheldon, Samuel, electrical engineer, educator, author, was born March 8, 1862, in Middlebury, Vt. Since 1889 he has been professor of physics and electrical engineering at the Brooklyn polytechnic institute. He is the author of Dynamo Electric Machinery.

Sheldon, Smith, publisher, founder, was born Sept. 13, 1811, in Montgomery county, N.Y. He acquired a fortune in the dry-goods trade in Albany, N.Y. In 1854 he established the publishing-house of Sheldon and company of New York City. He was the original corporator of Vassar college; and an incorporator of Madison university. He died Aug. 30, 1884, in Nyack, N.Y.

Sheldon, Walter L., lecturer, founder, author, was born Sept. 5, 1858, in West Rutland, Vt. He was the founder and since 1866 lecturer of the Ethical society of St. Louis, Mo. He was the author of An Ethical Movement; and An Ethical Sunday School; and Story of the Bible. He died June 5, 1907, in St. Louis, Mo.

Sheldon, William Evarts, educator, journalist, was born Oct. 22, 1832, in Dorset, Vt. He has attained success as an educator, and his life has been devoted to teaching, school supervision, and educational journalism. In 1863-64 he was president of the Massachusetts teachers' association; was president of the American institute of instruction in 1867; president of the National educational association in 1887; and in 1884-1900 was a member of the national council of education. He was the editor of The Journal of Education; Current History; American Primary Teacher; and Modern Methods; all of Boston, Mass. He died April-10, 1900, in Boston, Mass.

Shell, George W., soldier, congressman, was born Nov. 13, 1831, in Laurens county, S.C. He entered the confederate army in 1861; and remained in the service until the surrender at Appomattox. He served as private, lieutenant, and captain. For six years he served as clerk of court for Laurens, S.C. In 1891-95 he was a representative from South Carolina to the fifty-second and fifty-third congresses as a democrat. He died Dec. 15, 1899, in Laurens, S.C.

Shellabarger, Samuel W., lawyer, state legislator, diplomat, congressman, was born Dec. 10, 1817, in Clarke county, Ohio. He was a member of the first legislature in Ohio that met under the present constitution; and in 1861-63, 1865-69 and 1871-73 he was a representative to the thirty-seventh, thirty-ninth, fortieth and forty-second congresses. He was United States minister to Portugal in 1869-70; and in 1874-75 was one of the civil service commission. He died Aug. 6, 1896, in Washington, D.C.

Shelley, Charles M., soldier, architect, congressman, was born Dec. 28, 1833, in Sullivan county, Tenn. He entered the confederate army in 1861; and rose to the rank of brigadier-general. In 1877-85 he was a representative from Alabama to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, and forty-eighth congresses. In 1885 he was appointed fourth auditor in the United States treasury at Washington, D.C. He died in 1907 in Selma, Ala.

Shelley, Harry Rowe, musician, composer, was born June 8, 1858, in New Haven, Conn. He is a successful organist of New York City. He is the author of The Inheritance Divine; Gems for the Organ; and orchestral pieces.

Shelley, Henry Charles, journalist, author, was born in Sussex, England. Since 1905 he has been literary and dramatic editor of the Boston Herald. He is the author of The Story of Bothwell Castle; The Homes and Haunts of Thomas Carlyle; The Songs of Burns; and John Harvard and His Times.

Shelton, Charles Eldred, educator, lawyer, college president, was born June 16, 1859, in Mount Pleasant, Iowa. In 1880 he was admitted to the bar; for a year he did educational missionary work in Brazil; and since 1899 has been president of Simpson college of Indianola, Iowa.

Shelton, Don Odell, missionary, secretary, author, was born May 5, 1867, in Odessa, N.Y. Since 1903 he has been secretary of the congregational home missionary society. He is the author of The Public Views of the Bible; Heroes of the Cross in America; and Raising the Average.

Shelton, Frederick William, clergyman, author, poet, was born in 1814 in Jamaica, 1906 she has been an instructor in French; and since 1907 has been dean of women at the Iowa college at Grinnell. She is the author of Princess and Pilgrim in England.

Sheldon, Charles H., soldier, governor, was born in 1840 in Johnson, Vt. For ten years he lived in southern Illinois; in Kentucky three years; and in 1881 moved to Dakota. He was a member of the territorial council of 1887; and in 1893-97 was the second governor of South Dakota. He died Oct. 20, 1897, in Deadwood, S.D.

Sheldon, Charles Monroe, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 26, 1857, in Wells-ville, N.Y. Since 1889 he has been pastor of the Central congregational church of Topoka, Kan. He is the author of In His Steps; and other religious works.

Sheldon, Charles S., soldier, was born in New Jersey. In 1861-64 he served in the civil war; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Jan. 2, 1900.

Sheldon, Clesson Parmenter, clergyman, theologian, was born May 9, 1813, in Bernardston, Mass. In 1845 he graduated from the Madison university of Hamilton, N.Y. He became an eminent clergyman of the baptist church; filled pastorates in Whitesboro, Hamilton, Buffalo, and for nineteen years in Troy, N.Y. He died Oct. 25, 1888, in Troy, N.Y.

Sheldon, David Newton, clergyman, college president, author, was born June 26, 1807, in Suffield, Conn. He was a baptist clergyman; and became a unitarian in 1856. He was president of Colby university in 1843-53. He was the author of Sin and Redemption. He died Oct. 4, 1889, in Waterville, Me.

Sheldon, Edward Austin, educator, author, was born Oct. 4, 1823, in Perry Centre, N.Y. He is a noted educator of Oswego, and organizer and principal of the normal school there in 1862-97. He was author of Manual of Elementary Training; and Lessons on Objects. He died Aug. 26, 1897, in Oswego, N.Y.

Sheldon, Edward Stevens, educator, author, was born Nov. 21, 1851, in Waterville, Maine. He has been professor of Romance philology at Harvard university since 1884; and the author of Short German Grammar and monographs.

Sheldon, George Lawson, soldier, farmer, banker, governor, was born May 31, 1870, in Nehawka, Neb. He received the rudiments of his education in the common schools; received the degree of B.L. from the university of Nebraska; and the degree of A.B. from Harvard university. He has been a member of the republican state committee from the fourth district of Nebraska; is the president of the Nehawka bank; and was captain of company A. Nebraska university cadets. During the Spanish-American war he was captain of the third regiment Nebraska volunteer infantry. In 1907-09 he was governor of Nebraska.

Sheldon, George William, journalist, author, was born Jan. 28, 1843, in Summerville, S.C. He was a journalist and art critic of New York City; and for ten years was in charge of the London office of D. Appleton and Company, publishers. He is the author of American Painters; The Story of the Volunteer Fire Department of New York City; Hours with Art and Artists; Selections in Modern Art; Recent Ideals of American Art; Artistic Homes; Artistic Country Seats; and Ideals of Life in France.

Sheldon, Grace Carew, journalist, founder, author, was born in Buffalo, N.Y. In 1886 she founded and ever since has been head of the woman's exchange of Buffalo, N.Y., which accepts work only from self-supporting women. She is the author of As We Saw It in '90; and From Pluckemin to Paris.

Sheldon, Henry Davidson, educator, author, was born Oct. 3, 1874, in Salt Lake City, Utah. Since 1900 he has been professor of philosophy and education at the university of Oregon. He is the author of Student Life and Customs; and State Normal School Systems in the United States.

Sheldon, Henry I., lawyer, author. He is a successful lawyer of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of Notes on the Nicaragua Canal.

Sheldon, Henry Clay, educator, clergyman, author, was born March 12, 1845, in Martinsburg, N.Y. In 1867 he graduated from the theological department of Boston university; and was also a student at Lowville academy and Leipsig university. He is a minister of the methodist episcopal church. For twenty years he was professor of historical theology; and since 1895 has been professor of systematic theology in Boston university. He is the author of History of Christian Doctrine; History of the Christian Church, in five volumes; System of Christian Doctrine; and History of Unbelief in the Nineteenth Century.

Sheldon, Henry L., librarian, founder, was born Aug. 15, 1821, in Middleburg, Vt. He is the founder and librarian of the Sheldon art museum of Middlebury, Vt. He was city clerk for twenty-five years and an expert accountant and bookkeeper.

Sheldon, Henry Newton, soldier, jurist, author, was born June 28, 1843, in Waterville, Maine. In 1866-94 he practiced law in Boston, Mass., in 1894-1905 he was justice of the superior court of Massachusetts; and since 1905 has been justice of the supreme court of Massachusetts. He is the author of The Law of Subrogation.

Steldon, Lionel Allen, soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, governor, was born Aug. 30, 1831, in Worcester, N.Y. He served one term as judge of probate in Lorain county, Ohio. In 1861 he entered the volunteer army as a captain; was soon promoted to the rank of lieutenant-colonel; and at the close of the war was brevetted a brigadier-general. He subsequently settled in New Orleans, La., and devoted himself to law. In 1869-75 he was a representative from Louisiana to the forty-first, forty-second and forty-third congresses. In 1881-85 he was governor of the territory of New Mexico.

Sheldon, Mary Downing, educator, author, was born Sept. 15, 1850, in Oswego, N.Y. She was professor of history in Wellesley in 1876-78; and subsequently occupied the same chair in the state normal school of Oswego, N.Y. She was the author of Sheldon's General History; and Sheldon's United States History. She died Aug. 27, 1898, in London, England.

Sheldon, Porter, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 29, 1831, in Victor, N.Y. In 1862 he was a member of the constitutional convention of Illinois. In 1869-71 he was a representative from New York to the forty-first congress as a republican.

Sheldon, Samuel, electrical engineer, educator, author, was born March 8, 1862, in Middlebury, Vt. Since 1889 he has been professor of physics and electrical engineering at the Brooklyn polytechnic institute. He is the author of Dynamo Electric Machinery.

Sheldon, Smith, publisher, founder, was born Sept. 13, 1811, in Montgomery county, N.Y. He acquired a fortune in the dry-goods trade in Albany, N.Y. In 1854 he established the publishing-house of Sheldon and company of New York City. He was the original corporator of Vassar college; and an incorporator of Madison university. He died Aug. 30, 1884, in Nyack, N.Y.

Sheldon, Walter L., lecturer, founder, author, was born Sept. 5, 1858, in West Rutland, Vt. He was the founder and since 1866 lecturer of the Ethical society of St. Louis, Mo. He was the author of An Ethical Movement; and An Ethical Sunday School; and Story of the Bible. He died June 5, 1907, in St. Louis, Mo.

Sheldon, William Evarts, educator, journalist, was born Oct. 22, 1832, in Dorset, Vt. He has attained success as an educator, and his life has been devoted to teaching, school supervision, and educational journalism. In 1863-64 he was president of the Massachusetts teachers' association; was president of the American institute of instruction in 1867; president of the National educational association in 1887; and in 1884-1900 was a member of the national council of education. He was the editor of The Journal of Education; Current History; American Primary Teacher; and Modern Methods; all of Boston, Mass. He died April-10, 1900, in Boston, Mass.

Shell, George W., soldier, congressman, was born Nov. 13, 1831, in Laurens county, S.C. He entered the confederate army in 1861; and remained in the service until the surrender at Appomattox. He served as private, lieutenant, and captain. For six years he served as clerk of court for Laurens, S.C. In 1891-95 he was a representative from South Carolina to the fifty-second and fifty-third congresses as a democrat. He died Dec. 15, 1899, in Laurens, S.C.

Shellabarger, Samuel W., lawyer, state legislator, diplomat, congressman, was born Dec. 10, 1817, in Clarke county, Ohio. He was a member of the first legislature in Ohio that met under the present constitution; and in 1861-63, 1865-69 and 1871-73 he was a representative to the thirty-seventh, thirty-ninth, fortieth and forty-second congresses. He was United States minister to Portugal in 1869-70; and in 1874-75 was one of the civil service commission. He died Aug. 6, 1896, in Washington, D.C.

Shelley, Charles M., soldier, architect, congressman, was born Dec. 28, 1833, in Sullivan county, Tenn. He entered the confederate army in 1861; and rose to the rank of brigadier-general. In 1877-85 he was a representative from Alabama to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, and forty-eighth congresses. In 1885 he was appointed fourth auditor in the United States treasury at Washington, D.C. He died in 1907 in Selma, Ala.

Shelley, Harry Rowe, musician, composer, was born June 8, 1858, in New Haven, Conn. He is a successful organist of New York City. He is the author of The Inheritance Divine; Gems for the Organ; and orchestral pieces.

Shelley, Henry Charles, journalist, author, was born in Sussex, England. Since 1905 he has been literary and dramatic editor of the Boston Herald. He is the author of The Story of Bothwell Castle; The Homes and Haunts of Thomas Carlyle; The Songs of Burns; and John Harvard and His Times.

Shelton, Charles Eldred, educator, lawyer, college president, was born June 16, 1859, in Mount Pleasant, Iowa. In 1880 he was admitted to the bar; for a year he did educational missionary work in Brazil; and since 1899 has been president of Simpson college of Indianola, Iowa.

Shelton, Don Odell, missionary, secretary, author, was born May 5, 1867, in Odessa, N.Y. Since 1903 he has been secretary of the congregational home missionary society. He is the author of The Public Views of the Bible; Heroes of the Cross in America; and Raising the Average.

Shelton, Frederick William, clergyman, author, poet, was born in 1814 in Jamaica, N.Y. He was the author of The Troll-piad, or the Traveling Gentleman in America; The Rector of St. Bardolph's; Peeps from the Belfry, or the Parish Sketch-Book; Salander and the Dragon, a romance; Up the River, a collection of rural sketches; Chrystalline, a romance; The Gold Mania; and Use and Abuse of Reason. He died June 20, 1881, in Carthage Landing, N.Y.

Shelton, Jane De Forest, writer, author, was born in Derby, Conn. She is the author of By the Way; and other works.

Shelton, William Henry, soldier, artist, author, was born Sept. 4, 1840, at Allen's Hill, N.Y. He was educated in Canandaigua academy. He served in the army of the Potomac during the civil war; and participated in all the battles from second Bull Run to the battle of the Wilderness; at Cedar Mountain, Rappahannock Station and Groveton before reaching Bull Run. He served in Rennels Rochester battery L of the first state artillery; was captured at the Wilderness and was a prisoner at Macon, Ga., Charleston and Columbia, S.C., for ten months; and escaped four times, finally reaching the Union lines in 1865. He is the author of A Man Without a Memory; The Last Three Soldiers; The Three Prisoners; and Capture and Escape.

Shepard, Alexander R., governor. In 1873 he was governor of District of Columbia.

Shepard, Charles B., congressman, was born Dec. 5, 1807, in Newbern, N.C. In 1837-41 he was a representative from North Carolina to the twenty-fifth and twenty-sixth congresses. He died Oct. 31, 1843, in Newbern, N.C.

Shepard, Charles Upham, educator, geologist, author, was born June 29, 1804, in Little Compton, R.I. He was professor of geology at Amherst college. He was the author of Report on the Geology of Connecticut. He died May 1, 1886, in Charleston, S.C.

Shepard, Charles Upham, chemist, donor, was born Oct. 4, 1842, in New Haven, Conn. In 1887 he presented the second cabinet of minerals that was left by his father, numbering more than ten thousand specimens to the collection of Amherst; and his cabinet of two hundred different meteorites has been deposited in the United States National museum of Washington, D.C.

Shepard, Edward Morse, lawyer, author, was born in 1850 in New York. He was a lawyer of Brooklyn, N.Y. He was the author of A Life of Martin Van Buren. He died July 28, 1911, at Lake George, N.Y.

Shepard, Edward Martin, educator, geologist, author, was born May 15, 1854, in West Winstead, Conn. He was educated in Russell's collegiate and military institute of New Haven, Conn., at Williams college and at the Waynesburg college of Pennsylvania. In 1878 he was professor of natural science in Waynesburg college. Since 1879 he has been professor of biology and geology; in 1893-94 he was acting president; and since 1903 has been dean of Drury college; in 1894-95 he was special assistant of the Missouri geological survey; and since 1903 has been field assistant in the department of hydrology in the United States geological survey. Since 1893 he has been a member of the board of managers; in 1903-06 he was vice-president; and since 1906 has been secretary of the Missouri bureau of geology and mines. He is the author of Systematic Mineral Record.

Shepard, Edwin M., naval officer, was born Sept. 16, 1843, in Oswego, N.Y. In 1859-61 he attended the United States naval academy. He served in the civil war. In 1866 he was commissioned lieutenant-commander; and in 1893 was promoted to captain. In 1901 he was promoted rear admiral. He died in 1904 in Washington, D.C.

Shepard, Elihu Hotchkiss, educator, author, was born in 1795 in Vermont. He was an educator of St. Louis, Mo. He was the author of Autobiography; and Early History of St. Louis and Missouri. He died in 1876 in St. Louis, Mo.

Shepard, Elliott Fitch, soldier, lawyer, journalist, founder, was born July 25, 1833, in Jamestown, N.Y. He was instrumental in raising the fifty-first New York regiment, which was named for him the Shepard rifles. He was the founder of the New York state bar association in 1876, which has formed the model for the organization of similar associations in other states. In 1888 he purchased the New York Mail and Express. He died Mar. 24, 1893, in New York City.

Shepard, Frank Hartson, musician, composer, was born Sept. 20, 1863, in Bethel, Conn. In 1891 he established the Shepard school of music of Orange, N.J.; and is the organist and musical director of Grace church. He is the author of Piano Touch and Scales; Church Music and Choir Training; How to Modulate; Harmony Simplified; and Children's Harmony.

Shepard, Frederick Job, journalist, librarian, historian, was born Jan. 23, 1850, in Essex, Conn. In 1873-97 he was engaged in journalism; and since 1897 has been reference librarian at the Buffalo public library. He is the author of several college Shepherd, Oliver Lathrop, soldier, was born Aug. 15, 1815, in Chifton, Pa. He served in the Florida, Mexican and civil wars; and in 1863 was brevetted brigadier-general. In 1870 he was retired from the army. He died April 16, 1894, in New York City.

Shepherd, Russell Benjamin, soldier, was born in Maine. In 1862 he was first lieutenant-adjutant in the first regiment Maine artillery; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He was honorably mustered out in 1865.

Shepherd, Theodosia Burr, seed grower, florist, originator, was born Oct. 14, 1845, in Keosauqua, Iowa. In 1885 she became engaged in growing seeds; and was called the pioneer flower seed grower of California. She created new varieties of plants; and wrote articles on flowers and floral culture for current publications. She died in 1906 in Ventura, Cal.

Shepherd, William, soldier, congressman, was born Dec. 1, 1737, in Massachusetts. In 1783 he was chosen a brigadier-general, having fought in twenty-two battles; and was subsequently a major-general of militia. He was a representative in congress from Massachusetts in 1797-1803. He died Nov. 11, 1817, in Westfield, Mass.

Shepherd, William Robert, educator, author, was born June 12, 1871, in Charleston, S.C. He is a professor of Columbia university. He is the author of History of Proprietary Government in Pennsylvania; and The Battle of Harlem Heights.

Shepley, Ether, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, United States senator, was born Nov. 2, 1789, in Groton, Mass. He was in the Massachusetts legislature in 1819; was a member of the convention that framed the first constitution of Maine in 1820; and was for thirteen years attorney of the United States for Maine. In 1833-37 he was United States senator from Maine. In 1836-48 he was associate justice of the supreme court of Maine; and in 1848-55 was chief justice. He died Jan. 15, 1877, in Portland, Maine.

Shepley, George Forster, soldier, lawyer, jurist, governor, was born Jan. 1, 1819, in Saco, Maine. He removed to Portland, Maine; and was appointed by President Polk United States district attorney, which position he held until 1861. When the civil war broke out he became colonel of the twelfth Maine volunteers. He was made brigadier-general; and was military governor of Louisiana in 1862-64. He was military governor of Richmond on its surrender in 1865. In 1871 he was United States circuit judge of the first circuit. He died July 20, 1878, in Portland, Maine.

Shepley, George Foster, designer, architect, was born Nov. 7, 1800, in St. Louis, Mo. Among the buildings his firm designed are the Ames building, chamber of commerce, southern terminal station, new congregational house, mercantile buildings, all of Boston; and the new public library and the art institute of Chicago, Ill. He died in 1903 in Brookline, Mass.

Shepley, John, lawyer, legislator, was born Oct. 16, 1787, in Groton, Conn. He served in the Massachusetts state legislature; was a member of the convention for amending the state constitution; and in 1825 went to Maine. For many years he was reporter of the decisions of the supreme court of Maine. He was the author of Maine Reports. He died Feb. 9, 1857, in Saco, Maine.

Shepler, Matthias, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1837-39 he was a representative from Ohio to the twenty-fifth congress. He died in Bethlehem, Ohio.

Shepp, Daniel B., publisher, author, was born March 6, 1863, in Berks county, Pa. He is a publisher of Philadelphia, Pa.; and is interested in street railways. He is the author of Shepp's Photographs of the World; Shepp's Giant Library; and Shepp's Library of Fine Art.

Sheppard, Francis Henry, naval officer, author, was born in 1846 in Missouri. He is a retired lieutenant-commander in the United States navy. He is the author of Love Afloat, a novel.

Sheppard, Francis Marion, physician, statesman, was born Dec. 22, 1868, in Monticello, Miss. After receiving the rudiments of his education in the common schools, he attended the university of Louisville, Ky., graduating therefrom in 1893. He is a noted physician of Waynesboro, Miss.; and in 1896-1900 was a representative in the lower house of the Mississippi state legislature.

Sheppard, Furman, lawyer, author, was born Nov. 21, 1823, in Bridgeton, N.J. He was district attorney of Philadelphia in 1868-71; and again in 1874-77. He was the author of The Constitutional Text-Book; and other works. He died Nov. 3, 1893, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Sheppard, George, journalist, actuary, author, was born Jan. 5, 1819, in England. In 1872-82 he was on the staff of the New York Times. He was an active figure in Canadian politics. He was the author of Glimpses of the Far West.

Sheppard, Isaac A., manufacturer, financier, was born July 11, 1827, in Cumberland county, N.J. He was educated in the grammar schools. In 1844 he began to learn the trade of stove molding; and for three years worked in this business. In 1831 he was one of the founders of the Savings and building association of Philadelphia, Pa. In 1860 he was one of the organizers of the Excelsior stove works of

Philadelphia; and became general manager and senior partner. In 1858 he was elected to the state legislature; and served three terms. In 1870 he was one of the founders of the national security bank; and in 1885 became president of that institution.

Sheppard, John Hannibal, lawyer, author, poet, was born March 17, 1789, in England. In 1817-34 he was register of probate for Lincoln county; and in 1842 settled in Boston, Mass. He was the author of occasional poems; of Reminiscences of the Vaughan Family; and The Life of Samuel Tucker, Commodore in the American Revolution. He died June 25, 1873, in Boston, Mass.

Sheppard, John Levi, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born April 13, 1852, in Bluffton, Ala. In 1879 he began the practice of law at Daingerfield, Texas; was district attorney of the fifth judicial district in 1882-88; and in 1888-96 he was district judge. In 1899-1903 he was a representative from Texas to the fifty-sixth and fifty-seventh congresses as a democrat. He died Oct. 11, 1902, in Eureka Springs, Texas.

Sheppard, Moses, abolitionist, philanthropist, was born in 1771 in Philadelphia, Pa. He took an active interest in the question of American slavery, and his influence prevented the passing of a law to banish free negroes from Maryland. His fortune was bequeathed to found the Sheppard asylum for the insane in Baltimore, Md. He died Feb. 1, 1857, in Baltimore, Md.

Sheppard, Morris, sovereign banker, congressman, was born May 28, 1875, in Wheatville, Texas. He entered the university of Texas in 1891, taking the degrees of A.B. and LL.B. He was Columbus day orator at the university of Texas. He entered Yale university in 1897, taking the degree of LL.M. in 1898. He was elected sovereign banker, or national treasurer of the Woodmen of the world in 1899, and re-elected at Milwaukee in 1903. He was elected the first president of the Texas fraternal congress at Dallas in 1901; was representative of Texas fraternal congress in National fraternal congress at Milwaukee in 1903. In 1902-11 he was a representative from Texas to the fifty-seventh, fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth, sixtieth and sixty-first congresses. Since 1913 he has been United States senator from Texas.

Sheppard, Nathan, educator, journalist, author, was born Nov. 9, 1834, in Baltimore, Md. He was a special correspondent of The Cincinnati Gazette during the Franco-German war. He was the author of Shut Up in Paris During the Siege; Darwinism Stated by Himself; Before an Audience; and Saratoga Chips. He died Jan. 24, 1888, in New York City.

Sheppard, Robert Dickinson, educator, was born July 23, 1840, in Chicago, Ill. He is a professor of the Northwestern university; and is treasurer of the Garrett biblical institute.

Sheppard, Warren W., painter, artist, was born April 10, 1855, in Greenwich, N.J. His works include the paintings Restless Sea; Desdemona's Palace, Venice; Zucchelli Garden; Under the Southern Cross; Trackless Ocean; Grand Canal, Venice; and The Sea.

Sheppard, William B., lawyer, jurist. In 1903-07 he was United States district attorney; and since 1907 has been judge of the United States district court for the northern district of Florida.

Shepperd, Augustus H., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born in Surry county, N.C. He served in the house of commons of North Carolina in 1822-26; and in 1827-39, 1841-43 and 1847-51 he was a representative in the twentieth to the twenty-fifth, twenty-seventh, thirtieth and thirty-first congresses. He died in North Carolina.

Shepperson, Sister M. Fides (Isabel), educator, writer, was born Dec. 23, 1867, in Danville, Pa. She received the degrees of B.A. and M.A. from Duquesne university of Pittsburgh. She has been head of the English department at Mount Mercy academy; and is now a teacher of Latin, history and English in the cathedral high school of Pittsburgh. She is a writer for the Pittsburgh Sunday Dispatch of a series of historical sketches under the headings of Flashlights of History and Battles of Destiny. She is also the author of Cloister Chords and other works.

Shera, John Fletcher, broker, business man, was born April 13, 1865, in New York City. He was noted for his skill as an accountant. At the beginning of his career he discovered an error of one million dollars which brought opportunities for engagements with many prominent firms.

Sherburne, Andrew, sailor, clergyman, was born Sept. 30, 1765. He became a baptist-clergyman. He received a pension for his services in the navy during the revolution. He was the author of Memoirs. He died in 1831, in Augusta, N.Y.

Sherburne, John Henry, government official, author, was born in 1794 in Portsmouth, N.H. He was a register of the navy in Washington, D.C. He was the author of Osceola, a tragedy; Erratic Poems; Life of John Paul Jones; The Tourist's Guide in Europe; and A Suppressed History of the Administration of John Adams. He died in 1850 in Europe.

Sherburne, John Samuel, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1757 in Portsmouth, N.H. In 1793-97 he was a representative from New Hampshire to the third and fourth congresses; was United States district attorney in 1803; and district judge of the United States district court in 1803-30. He died Aug. 2; 1830, in Portsmouth, N.H.

Sherburne, Moses, lawyer, jurist. He was an early emigrant to Minnesota; and in Shepherd, Oliver Lathrop, soldier, was born Aug. 15, 1815, in Clifton, Pa. He served in the Florida, Mexican and civil wars; and in 1863 was brevetted brigadier-general. In 1870 he was retired from the army. He died April 16, 1894, in New York City.

Shepherd, Russell Benjamin, soldier, was born in Maine. In 1862 he was first lieutenant-adjutant in the first regiment Maine artillery; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He was honorably mustered out in 1865.

Shepherd, Theodosia Burr, seed grower, florist, originator, was born Oct. 14, 1845, in Keosauqua, Iowa. In 1885 she became engaged in growing seeds; and was called the pioneer flower seed grower of California. She created new varieties of plants; and wrote articles on flowers and floral culture for current publications. She died in 1906 in Ventura, Cal.

Shepherd, William, soldier, congressman, was born Dec. 1, 1737, in Massachusetts. In 1783 he was chosen a brigadier-general, having fought in twenty-two battles; and was subsequently a major-general of militia. He was a representative in congress from Massachusetts in 1797-1803. He died Nov. 11, 1817, in Westfield, Mass.

Shepherd, William Robert, educator, author, was born June 12, 1871, in Charleston, S.C. He is a professor of Columbia university. He is the author of History of Proprietary Government in Pennsylvania; and The Battle of Harlem Heights.

Shepley, Ether, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, United States senator, was born Nov. 2, 1789, in Groton, Mass. He was in the Massachusetts legislature in 1819; was a member of the convention that framed the first constitution of Maine in 1820; and was for thirteen years attorney of the United States for Maine. In 1833-37 he was United States senator from Maine. In 1836-48 he was associate justice of the supreme court of Maine; and in 1848-55 was chief justice. He died Jan. 15, 1877, in Portland, Maine.

Shepley, George Forster, soldier, lawyer, jurist, governor, was born Jan. 1, 1819, in Saco, Maine. He removed to Portland, Maine; and was appointed by President Polk United States district attorney, which position he held until 1861. When the civil war broke out he became colonel of the twelfth Maine volunteers. He was made brigadier-general; and was military governor of Louisiana in 1862-64. He was military governor of Richmond on its surrender in 1865. In 1871 he was United States circuit judge of the first circuit. He died July 20, 1878, in Portland, Maine.

Shepley, George Foster, designer, architect, was born Nov. 7, 1860, in St. Louis, Mo. Among the buildings his firm designed are the Ames building, chamber of commerce, southern terminal station, new congregational house, mercantile buildings, all of Boston; and the new public library and the art institute of Chicago, Ill. He died in 1903 in Brookline, Mass.

Shepley, John, lawyer, legislator, was born Oct. 16, 1787, in Groton, Conn. He served in the Massachusetts state legislature; was a member of the convention for amending the state constitution; and in 1825 went to Maine. For many years he was reporter of the decisions of the supreme court of Maine. He was the author of Maine Reports. He died Feb. 9, 1857, in Saco, Maine.

Sheplor, Matthias, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1837-39 he was a representative from Ohio to the twenty-fifth congress. He died in Bethlehem, Ohio.

Shepp, Daniel B., publisher, author, was born March 6, 1863, in Berks county, Pa. He is a publisher of Philadelphia, Pa.; and is interested in street railways. He is the author of Shepp's Photographs of the World; Shepp's Giant Library; and Shepp's Library of Fine Art.

Sheppard, Francis Henry, naval officer, author, was born in 1846 in Missouri. He is a retired lieutenant-commander in the United States navy. He is the author of Love Afloat, a novel.

Sheppard, Francis Marion, physician, statesman, was born Dec. 22, 1868, in Monticello, Miss. After receiving the rudiments of his education in the common schools, he attended the university of Louisville, Ky., graduating therefrom in 1893. He is a noted physician of Waynesboro, Miss.; and in 1896-1900 was a representative in the lower house of the Mississippi state legislature.

Sheppard, Furman, lawyer, author, was born Nov. 21, 1823, in Bridgeton, N.J. He was district attorney of Philadelphia in 1868-71; and again in 1874-77. He was the author of The Constitutional Text Book; and other works. He died Nov. 3, 1893, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Sheppard, George, journalist, actuary, author, was born Jan. 5, 1819, in England. In 1872-82 he was on the staff of the New York Times. He was an active figure in Canadian politics. He was the author of Glimpse of the Far West.

Steppard, Isaac A., manufacturer, financier, was born July 11, 1827, in Cumberland county, N.J. He was educated in the grammar schools. In 1844 he began to learn the trade of stove molding; and for three years worked in this business. In 1831 he was one of the founders of the Savings and building association of Philadelphia, Pa. In 1860 he was one of the organizers of the Excelsior stove works of Philadelphia; and became general manager

1836, in Phelps, N.Y. He received his education in the Union school of his native city, and the academy of Elmira, N.Y. During the war he served as captain in the thirteenth regiment Iowa volunteer infantry, and was severely wounded at the battle of Shiloh on April 6, 1862. He moved to Iowa in 1855, first to Tama county, thence in 1859 to Benton, where he resided at the time of his election as governor in 1881. He served with distinction as governor of Iowa; was re-elected and served until 1885. For several years he was a clerk of the district court of Benton county; then served as county judge; and for three terms during 1875-80 he was auditor of the state of Iowa; stepping directly from that position into the executive chair. In 1882-86 he was the eleventh governor of Iowa. His knowledge of the law, and his public services to the state admirably qualified him for the position of governor; and he was always found to be equal to great emergencies. He died in 1904 in Vinton, Iowa.

Sherman, Charles Taylor, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 3, 1811, in Norwalk, Conn. In 1866 he became one of the first government directors of the Union Pacific railroad company; and in 1867 was appointed United States district judge for the northern district of Ohio. He died Jan. 1, 1879, in Cleveland, Ohio.

Sherman, Elijah Bernis, soldier, lawyer, orator, critic, was born June 18, 1832, in Fairfield, Vt. In 1860 he graduated from Middlebury college; and he has received the honorary degrees of A.M. and LL.B. from the university of Chicago; and LL.D. from Middlebury college. In 1861-62 he was a principal of Brandon seminary. In 1862-63 he served as lieutenant in the ninth regiment of the Vermont infantry. In 1864 he was admitted to the practice of law; and in 1876-80 was a member of the Illinois state legislature. In 1877-84 he was lieutenant-colonel and judge advocate of the first brigade in the Illinois national guard. In 1877-87 he was attorney for the auditor of public accounts of Illinois; and in 1884-95 was chief supervisor of election for the northern district of Illinois. Since 1892 he has been a trustee of Middlebury college; and since 1897 has been master in chancery of the United States circuit court. He has been grand master of the Grand lodge of Odd fellows of Illinois; is a thirty-second degree mason; and is vice-president of the American bar association.

Sherman, Francis Trowbridge, soldier, was born in Connecticut. He served throughout the civil war and attained the ranks of major and colonel. In 1865 he was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died in 1905.

Sherman, Frank Asbury, soldier, educator, was born Oct. 4, 1841, in Knox, Maine. In 1862-65 he served in the civil war; and lost an arm in the battle of the Wilderness. In 1870-71 he was an instructor in mathematics at the Worcester polytechnic institute; and since 1871 has been professor of mathematics at the Dartmouth college.

Sherman, Frank Dempster, educator, author, was born May 6, 1860, in Peekskill, N.Y. He is a lyricist of New York City; and adjunct professor of architecture at Columbia university. He is the author of Madrigals and Catches; Lyrics for a Lute; Little-Folk Lyrics; and New Waggings of Old Tales.

Sherman, Henry, lawyer, jurist, author, was born March 6, 1808, in Albany, N.Y. In 1861-68 he was employed in the United States treasury department in Washington, D.C.; and served as judge of the territorial court. He was the author of An Analytical Digest of the Laws of Marine Insurance to the Present Time; The Governmental History of the United States; and Slavery in the United States. He died March 28, 1879, in Washington, D.C.

Sherman, Henry Clapp, educator, scientist, author, was born Oct. 16, 1875, in Ash Grove, Va. Since 1907 he has been professor of organic analysis at Columbia university; and since 1904 has lectured on chemistry of nutrition. He is the author of Methods of Organic Analysis.

Sherman, John, clergyman, was born Dec. 26, 1613, in England. He was chosen a magistrate of Connecticut colony. In 1644-85 he was pastor of the congregational church of Watertown, Mass. He published several almanacs, to which he appended pious reflections. He died Aug. 8, 1685, in Watertown, Mass.

Sherman, James Schoolcraft, vice-president of the United States, was born Oct. 24, 1855, in Utica, N.Y. He was educated in preparatory schools and Hamilton college; studied law, and was admitted to the bar and practiced until 1906. He is president of the Utica trust and deposit company and is interested in several other business enterprises; is a regular attendant of the Dutch reformed church of Utica, treasurer of the church, and chairman of its board of trustees; is a member of the Fort Schuyler club, of Utica, the Metropolitan club, of Washington, and also a member of the Royal arcenum and of the Order of elks; is a trustee of Hamilton college, which gave him the degree of LL.D.; is also a member of the Union league, transportation, and republican clubs of New York City. He presided over the New York state conventions of 1895, 1900, and 1908; was elected mayor of Utica in 1884; delegate to the republican national convention in 1892; was chairman of the national republican congressional committee in 1906; has made frequent appearances in campaigns, not only in his own district but throughout the United States. In 1887-91 and 1893-1909 he was a representative from New York to the fiftieth, fifty-first, fifty-third, fifty-fourth, fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh, fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth and sixtieth congresses as a republican. In the course of his twenty years' service he became one of the prominent members of the house, in his last term being a member of the committee on rules. His principal work, however, was done on the committees on interstate and foreign commerce and on Indian affairs, of the latter of which he was chairman. He was frequently mentioned for speaker of the house, but never made an active canvass for the place. As a presiding officer his ability is recognized in both branches of congress. He was elected vice-president on the ticket with William H. Taft, and entered upon the duties of his office in 1909.

Sherman, John, clergyman, author, was born in 1772 in New Haven, Conn. He was a unitarian clergyman of Trenton Falls, N.Y., where he conducted an academy. In 1797-1805 he was a congregational minister at Mansfield, Conn. He was the author of One God in One Person Only, the first noteworthy defense of unitarianism in America; Philosophy of Language Illustrated; and A Description of Trenton Falls. He died Aug. 2, 1828, in Trenton Falls, N.Y.

Sherman, John, lawyer, statesman, United States senator, congressman, cabinet officer, was born May 10, 1823, in Lancaster, Ohio. He is of Anglo-Saxon ancestry. He received an academic education; studied law, and was admitted to the bar May 11, 1844. He was a delegate in the national whig conventions of 1848 and 1852, and presided over the first republican convention in Ohio in 1855.

In 1855-61 he was a representative to the thirty-fourth, thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth congresses, and was the republican candidate for speaker in the winter of 1859-60. In 1861-77, 1881-87, 1887-97 he was United States senator. In 1877-81 he was secretary of the treasury. He was president of the senate from 1885 to 1887; and in 1897-98 he was secretary of state. He was the author of Recollections of Forty Years in the House, Senate and Cabinet; and Selected Speeches and Reports on Taxation, 1859-78. He died Oct. 22, 1900, in Washington, D.C.

Sherman, Judson W., congressman, was born in New York. In 1857-59 he was a representative from New York to the thirty-fifth congress. He died in New York.

Sherman, Lucius Adelno, educator, author, was born Aug. 28, 1847, in Douglas, Mass. Since 1882 he has been professor of English literature in the university of Nebraska. He is the author of Analytics of Literature; and What is Shakespeare.

Sherman, Philemon Tecumseh, lawyer, author, was born Jan. 9, 1867, in St. Louis, Mo. In 1888-89 he was an alderman of New York City. He is the author of Inside the Machine.

Sherman, Roger, signer of the declaration of independence, was born April 19, 1721, in Newton, Mass. He was judge of the county, superior and supreme courts for a period of twenty-three years. In 1774-84 he was a delegate from Connecticut to the continental congress. He signed the declaration of independence in 1776, and also the articles of confederation and the constitution. In 1780-91 he was a representative from Connecticut to the first congress. In 1791-93 he was United States senator. He died July 23, 1793, in New Haven, Conn.

Sherman, Roger Minot, lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born May 22, 1773, in Woburn, Mass. He was a member of the Connecticut general assembly in 1798; and was a member of the state senate in 1814-18. He was a judge of the superior court and the supreme court of errors in 1840-42. He died Dec. 30, 1844, in Fairfield, Conn.

Sherman, Sidney, soldier, pioneer, was born in March, 1805, in Massachusetts. In 1839 he was elected major-general of the Texan republic; in 1842 he served in its congress; and in 1862-63 in the state legislature. He died in 1873 in Galveston, Texas.

Sherman, Socrates N., congressman, was born in Vermont. In 1861-63 he was a representative from New York to the thirty-seventh congress. He died in New York.

Sherman, Thomas West, soldier, was born March 26, 1813, in Newport, R.I. He served in the Florida, Mexican and civil wars; and attained the rank of brigadier-general. He died March 16, 1879, in Newport, R.I.

Sherrard, Thomas Herrick, forester, author, was born May 17, 1874, in Brooklyn, Mich. Since 1903 he has been assistant forester in charge of forest management in the United States, department of agriculture. He is the author of A Working Plan for Forest Lands in South Carolina.

Sherman, William Tecumseh, soldier, author, cabinet officer, was born Feb. 8, 1820, in Mansfield, Ohio. In 1861 he was appointed a colonel of infantry in the United States army and commanded a brigade at Bull Run. He was made brigadier-general of volunteers; and had command of the Kentucky department. He was made major-general; and in 1864 made one of the most famous military marches of modern times, going from Atlanta to Savannah, with sixty thousand men, which great enterprise soon brought the war to a conclusion. He was made brigadier-general in the United States army in 1863, major-general in 1864, lieutenant-general in 1866, and general-in-chief of the army in 1869, being the eighteenth commander of the United States army. In 1869 he was secretary of war. He was one of the recognized commanders of modern times. A Memoir of His Life and Campaigns has been published; and also his The Military Lessons of the War. He died Feb. 14, 1891, in New York City.

Sherred, Jacob, philanthropist, was born Jan. 23, 1756, in Germany. Through his efforts and those of others St. Philip's protestant episcopal church of New York City was built as a place of worship for colored people; and he contributed generously toward its support. He also left a large sum to the orphan asylum in New York City. He died March 30, 1821, in New York City.

Sherrick, Fannie L., poet, was born in St. Louis, Mo. She was the author of a volume of poems entitled Star Dust.

Sherrill, Eliakim, soldier, congressman, was born in New York. In 1847-49 he was a representative from New York to the thirtieth congress. He served as an officer in the civil war; and was killed at the battle of Gettysburg.

Sherrill, Miles Osborne, librarian, jurist, statesman, was born July 26, 1841, at Sherrill's Ford, Catawba county, N.C. He was educated in the country schools; attended the B. institute at Taylorsville; and attended the Catawba high school at Newton, N.C. In 1861-65 he filled various positions in the army during the civil war. He successfully engaged in farming and as a merchant; and in 1868-82 was judge of probate and clerk of the superior court for Catawba county, N.C., serving for fourteen years. He served one term as a representative in the North Carolina state legislature; and in 1884-85 and 1893-94 served two terms as a member of the North Carolina state senate. For four years he was cashier in the collector's office, internal revenue, during Cleveland's first administration. He is identified with the democratic party; is a prominent member of the methodist episcopal church south; has repeatedly been elected a delegate to the annual conferences; and was also elected a delegate to the general conference of his church. Since 1899 he has been state librarian of North Carolina; and resides in Raleigh, N.C.

Sherrill, Joseph Elijah, journalist, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 19, 1852, in Putnam county, Ind. Since 1878 he has been proprietor of the Normal publishing house of Danville, Ind. He has been editor of The Normal Teacher since 1890; and is the author of The Normal Question Book. He is well-known throughout the educational world as the editor of The Normal Teacher, and for his valuable contributions to educational literature.

Sherrod, William C., soldier, planter, state legislator, congressman, was born Aug. 17, 1835, in Courtland, Ala. He served in the state legislature of Alabama in 1859-60, and was an officer in the confederate army during the civil war. In 1869-71 he was a representative from Alabama to the forty-first congress as a democrat.

Shertzer, A. Trego, naval officer, physician, surgeon, genealogist, author, was born May 16, 1844, in Lancaster county, Pa. He was educated at Grinton academy and at Belton academy; and in 1860 graduated with the degree of M.D. from the school of medicine in the university of Maryland at Baltimore, Md. In 1862 he entered the medical corps of the United States navy; and during the civil war was in the South Atlantic squadron. Later he was fleet-surgeon in the United States service in the West Indies and in South America; and in 1878 resigned to take charge of the government hospital for disabled veterans. He has a successful practice in Baltimore, Md. He is the author of The History of the Trego Family.

Sherwin, John, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 6, 1852, in Erie county, Ohio. For twelve years he was judge of the twelfth district court of Iowa; and since 1900 has been judge of the supreme court of Iowa.

Sherwin, John C., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 8, 1838, in Saint Lawrence, N.Y. He was twice elected county clerk of Kane county, Ill.; and was city attorney of Aurora. He served three years in the union army during the civil war. In 1879-83 he was a representative from Illinois to the forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses as a republican.

Sherwin, Thomas, educator, author, was born March 28, 1799, in Westmoreland, N. H. He was a noted educator of Boston; and master of the high school in 1838-69. He was the author of treatises on algebra. He died July 23, 1860, in Dedham, Mass.

Sherwin, Thomas, soldier, business president, was born July 11, 1839, in Boston, Mass. In 1861 he was commissioned first lieutenant and adjutant in the twenty-second regiment Massachusetts infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of United States volunteers for distinguished gallantry at the battle of Gettysburg. He is president of the New England telephone and telegraph company; and president of the southern Massachusetts telephone company.

Sherwood, Adiel, educator, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 3, 1791, in Fort Edward, N.Y. In 1841 he was elected president of Shurtleff college, Alton, Ill.; in 1848-49 was president of the Masonic college of Lexington, Mo.; and in 1857 went to Georgia and became president of Marshall college at Griffin. He was the author of Gazetteer of Georgia; Christian and Jewish Churches; and Notes on the New Testament. He died Aug. 18, 1879, in St. Louis, Mo.

Sherwood, Andrew, geologist, author, was born July 16, 1848, in Mansfield, Pa. He was connected with the geological surveys of Ohio and New York; and was assistant state geologist in the second geological survey of Pennsylvania. He had charge of the Pennsylvania mineral exhibit at the World's Columbian exposition at Chicago in 1893; and led an expedition to the Yukon in 1898. He is now United States deputy mineral surveyor for Idaho, Oregon and Arizona; and is the author of geological reports and maps published by the state of Pennsylvania. He is the author of songs, sacred and sentimental, several of which have been set to music by such eminent composers as Root, Towner and Stebbins.

Sherwood, Henry, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 9, 1817, in Bridgeport, Conn. He devoted himself to the practice of law during twenty-four years; and in 1871-73 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-second congress as a democrat. He attained prominence as one of the foremost lawyers of Pennsylvania; is also noted as an eloquent speaker, and contributes valuable articles to the leading newspapers and magazines of the United States.

Sherwood, Edgar Harmon, soldier, musician, composer, was born Jan. 29, 1846, in Lyons, N.Y. In 1862-65 he served in the union army; and then chose music as his profession. In 1895 he was national music director of the union veterans' union. He has published over one hundred compositions for pianoforte and for voice.

Sherwood, Mrs. Emily Lee, journalist, author, was born in 1843 in Indiana. She is a Washington journalist. She is the author of Willis Peyton, a novel.

Sherwood, Isaac R., soldier, journalist, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Aug. 13, 1835, in Stanford, N.Y. He established the Williams County Gazette of Bryan, Ohio; and in 1859 was elected probate judge of Williams county, which position he resigned to enter the army in 1861. He was commissioned major in 1863; was promoted to lieutenant-colonel in 1864; and commanded his regiment to the close of the war, receiving a brevet of brigadier-general for gallant and meritorious services. He has been a leading Ohio journalist since the war, and is a reformer of the independent type. He was elected secretary of state for Ohio in 1868; and re-elected in 1870. In 1873-75 and 1907-11 he was a representative from Ohio to the forty-third, sixtieth, sixty-first, sixty-second and sixty-third congresses as a republican. He is the author of a volume entitled Army Grayback, a book of humorous verse.

Sherwood, James Manning, clergyman, journalist, author, was born Sept. 29, 1814, in Fishkill, N.Y. In 1883-90 he was editor of the Homiletic Review and the Missionary Review. He was the author of A Plea for the Old Foundations; The History of the Cross; and Books and Authors. He died Oct. 22, 1890, in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Sherwood, Mrs. Kate Brownlee, journalist, author, poet, was born Sept. 24, 1841, in Poland, Ohio. She is a poet and journalist of Toledo, Ohio; and has been especially successful as a writer of army lyrics and poems for military occasions. She is the author of Camp Fire and Memorial Poems; and Dream of the Ages. She has been editor of the woman's department of the National Tribune, published at Washington, D.C., in the interest of the union soldiers; and is now president of the Ohio centennial association.

Sherwood, John D., soldier, author, was born Oct. 15, 1818, in Fishkill, N.Y. He served with the army of the Potomac until the close of the war. He was the author of Comic History of the United States; and The Case of Cuba. He died April 30, 1891, in Englewood, N.J.

Sherwood, Margaret Pollock, educator, author, was born Nov. 1, 1864, in Ballston, N.Y. Since 1889 she has been a college instructor; and since 1898 associate professor of English literature at Wellesley college of Massachusetts. She is the author of An Experiment in Altruism; A Puritan Bohemia; Henry Worthington, Idealist; and The Princess Pourquoi.

Sherwood, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth, litterateur, author, was born about 1830 in Keene, N.H. She was the author of The Sarcasm of Destiny; A Transplanted Rose; Amenities of Home; Home Amusements; Manners and Social Usages; Royal Girls and Royal Courts; Sweet Brier; Roxobel; and The Art of Entertaining. She died in 1903 in Washington, D.C.

Sherman, Lawrence Y., United States senator, was born Nov. 8, 1858, in Miami county, Ohio. In 1905-1909 he was lieutenant governor of Illinois. In 1913-15 he was a United States senator from Illinois.

Sherwood, Rosina Emmet, illustrator, artist, was born in 1854 in New York City. He has received medals from many expositions; and is a member of the American water color club; and other clubs and societies. He is an associate national academician.

Sherwood, Samuel, lawyer, congressman, was born in New York. In 1813-15 he was a representative from New York to the thirteenth congress. He died Nov. 8, 1862, in New York City.

Sherwood, Samuel B., congressman, was born in 1767 in Connecticut. In 1817-19 he was a representative from Connecticut to the fifteenth congress. He died April 27, 1833, in Saugatuck, Conn.

Sherwood, Sidney, educator, scientist, author, was born May 28, 1860, in Saratoga county, N.Y. He was professor of political economy in Johns Hopkins university of Baltimore, Md. He was the author of History and Theory of Money. He died in 1901 in Baltimore, Md.

Sherwood, Thomas Adiel, lawyer, jurist, was born June 2, 1834, in Eatonton, Ga. In 1872-1902 he was a justice of the supreme court of Missouri; and in 1891-1903 was chief justice of that court.

Sherwood, Thomas R., lawyer, jurist, In 1882-87 he was associate justice of the state supreme court of Michigan; and in 1887-89 he served as chief justice.

Sherwood, William H., musician, composer, was born Jan. 31, 1854, in Lyons, N.

Y He is a concert and recital pianist and lecturer and a teacher of music and composer, and recognized as a representative American pianist. He is the author of Music Study and the Mutual Relations of Interpretation and Technic. He has also contributed valuable compositions to various current publications and standard books of music.

Sherzer, Jane, educator, author, college president, was born in Franklin, Ohio. Since 1905 she has been professor of English and president of Oxford college for women in Ohio. She is the author of The Ile of Ladies.

Shew, Joel, physician, author, was born Nov. 13, 1816, in Providence, N.Y. He was a hydropathic physician of New York state. He was the author of Hydropathy, or the Water Cure; Cholera Treated by Water; and The Hydropathic Family Physician. He died Oct. 6, 1855, in Oyster Bay, N.Y.

Shibley, George Henry, business man, lawyer, sociologist, founder, author, was born Sept. 4, 1861, in Randall, Wis. He was educated at the Union college of law; and at the university of Chicago. He is a student and writer on the money question, monopoly problem, referendum and initiative. In 1899 he founded the bureau of economical research; and founded the National initiative and referendum league. He is the author of Elements of Law, The Money Question; The Monopoly Question; Outline of Social Evolution; The University and Social Problems; The Trust Problem Solved; and The People's Rule in Place of Machine Rule.

Shiel, George K., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born about 1815 in Ireland. In 1854-61 he practiced law in Salem, Ore. In 1861-63 he was a representative from Oregon to the thirty-seventh congress. He died Dec. 14, 1893, in Salem, Ore.

Shields, Benjamin G., congressman, diplomat. In 1841-43 he was a representative from Alabama to the twenty-seventh congress. In 1845-50 he was charge d'affaires to Venezuela.

Shields, Charles Woodruff, educator, clergyman, author, was born April 4, 1825, in New Albany, Ind. He was an episcopal cler-gyman; and professor of the harmony of science and revealed religion at Princeton college since 1865. He is the author of The Presbyterian Book of Common Prayer According to the Revision of the Westminster Divines; Philosophia Ultima, or Science of the Sciences; The Order of the Sciences; Religion and Science in Their Relations to Philosophy; Essays on Church Unity; The Historic Episcopate; The Question of Unity; and The United Church of the United States. He died in 1904 in Princeton, N.J.

Shields, Ebenezer J., congressman, was born in Georgia. In 1835-39 he was a representative from Tennessee to the twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth congresses. He died May 20, 1846, in Pulaski, Tenn.

Shields, G. O., soldier, journalist, lecturer, author, was born Aug. 26, 1846, in Batavia, Ohio. He founded Recreation of New York City; and now publishes Shield's Magazine. In 1898 he organized the league of American sportsmen; and was president of same in 1898-1909. He is the author of The Big Game of North America; Cruisings in the Cascades; American Game Fishes; Hunting in the Great West; The American Book of the Dog; Camping and Camp Outfits; and The Battle of the Big Hole.

Shields, James, congressman. In 1829-31 he was a representative from Ohio to the twenty-first congress. He died July 17, 1831, in Butler county, Ohio.

Shields, James, soldier, lawyer, jurist, governor, United States senator, was born in 1810 in Ireland. In 1836 he was elected a member of the Illinois legislature; was elected auditor of the state in 1839; and in 1843 was appointed judge of the supreme court of Illinois. In 1845 he was appointed commissioner of the general land office in the department of the interior at Washington. At the commencement of the Mexican war he was appointed brigadier-general in the United States army; and was promoted to the rank of brevet major-general. In 1848 he was appointed governor of Oregon territory; and in 1849-55, 1857-59 and 1877-79 was United States senator from Illinois. He subsequently took up his residence in the territory of Minnesota. He subsequently settled in Missouri. He died June 1, 1879, in Ottumwa, Iowa.

Shields, John C., lawyer, jurist. In 1885 he was appointed chief justice of the supreme court of the territory of Arizona for the term of four years; resided at Prescott, Ariz.

Shields, John K., lawyer, jurist, senator, was born Aug. 15, 1858, in Clinchdale, Tenn. In 1892-94 he was chancellor of the twelfth chancery division of Tennessee; and in 1902 was elected an associate justice of the supreme court of Tennessee for the term ending in 1910. Since 1913 he has been United States senator from Tennessee.

Shields, Mary, philanthropist, was born Jan. 12, 1820, in Philadelphia, Pa. She was active in benevolent work; and bequeathed one million four hundred thousand dollars for charitable purposes. She died Oct. 8, 1880, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Shields, Moses, stone dealer, business president, was born April 24, 1853, in Wales. He attended the parochial schools in Wales and Tallmadge academy of Tallmadge, Ohio. Since 1874 he has been a stone dealer of Nicholson, Pa.; and is president and treasurer of the Moses Shields stone company. He is vice-president of the Lackawana company; a director of the Shifler novelty works; and a director of the Nicholson light, heat and power company. In 1905-06 and 1907 he represented Wyoming county in the Pennsylvania legislature; and served as a member of the state capitol investigation commission. In 1908 he was elected a member of the state senate for a term of four years.

Shine, Francis Eppes, physician, surgeon, was born Jan. 13, 1871, in St. Augustine, Fla. In 1901-02 he was instructor of surgery in the medical department of Cornell university. He is chief surgeon to the El Paso and Southwestern railroad; and chief surgeon to the Copper Queen consolidated mining company of Bisbee, Ariz.

Shields, Patrick Henry, lawyer, jurist, was born May 16, 1773, in York county, Va. In 1808 he was commissioned judge of Harris county, Ind. He fought in the battle of Tippecanoe; and his house was often the headquarters of the territorial authorities. In 1816 he was a member of the constitutional convention at Corydon; and held judicial offices until the time of his death. He died June 6, 1848, in New Albany, Ind.

Shields, Mrs. Sarah Annie, litterateur, author. She is the author of Parlor Charades and Proverbs; Laws and By-Laws of American Society; The Art of Dressing Well; Almost a Woman; and Sunshine for Rainy Days.

Shields, William Bayard, lawyer, jurist. He was an early emigrant to Mississippi; and in 1818 was appointed district judge of the United States court for the district of Mississippi. He died in Mississippi.

Shields, Robert, banker, poet, was born Nov. 21, 1825, in Edinburgh, Scotland. He took part in the first surveys of the Milwaukee and Prairie du Chien railway, which is now known as the Milwaukee and St. Paul railway. In 1861 he organized the bank of Neenah, which four years later became the National bank of Neenah, of which he is president. He has been president of the city public library since its commencement. He is the author of The Story of the Token as Belonging to the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

Shillaber, Benjamin Penhallow (Mrs. Partington), journalist, author, was born July 12, 1814, in Portsmouth, N.H. He was a journalist of Boston; and once widely known as a humorist, whose latest years were spent in Chelsea, Mass. He was the author of Life and Sayings of Mrs. Partington; Partingtonian Patchwork; Mrs. Partington's Mother Goose; Ike Partington Stories; Lines in Pleasant Places; Wide Swath, a volume of collected poems; Rhymes with Reason; Cruises with Captain Bob; and The Double-Runner Club. He died Nov. 25, 1890, in Chelsea, Mass.

Shimeall, Richard Cunningham, clergyman, author, was born in 1803 in New York City. He was an episcopal clergyman who adopted reformed Dutch tenets in 1834; and subsequently became a presbyterian. He was the author of The End of Prelacy; Christ's Second Coming; Prophetic Career and Destiny of Napoleon III; Unseen World; and Political Economy of Prophecy. He died March 19, 1874, in New York City.

Shimer, Frances A. Wood, educator, college president, was born Aug. 31, 1826, in Milton, N.Y. She was the founder and president of the Mount Carroll seminary and conservatory of music of Mount Carroll, Ill., which institution she founded in 1852. She died in Mount Carroll, Ill.

Shimmell, L. S., educator, author, was born in 1852 in Quakertown, Pa. In 1886 while superintendent of the schools at Huntingdon, he established the School Gazette, which he has edited ever since. Since 1893 he has been instructor in the high school of Harrisburg, Pa. He is the author of The Pennsylvania Citizen; A History of Pennsylvania; and Our State and Nation.

Shindler, Mrs. Mary Stanley Bunce, litterateur, poet, was born Feb. 15, 1810, in Beaufort, S.C. She was the author of The Northern Harp; The Southern Harp; The Parted Family, and Other Poems; The Temperance Lyre; and several prose works, including Charles Martin, or the Young Patriot; The Young Sailor; Forecastle Tom; and A Southerner Among the Spirits. She died in 1883 in Nacogdoches, Texas.

Shine, John W., lawyer, jurist, was born April 3, 1801, in Courtland, Ontario, Canada. When about a year old he with his parents moved to Port Austin, Mich. He received his primary schooling at the high school of Port Crescent, Mich., and after finishing his education took up the study of the law. In 1888 he located in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.; and continued the study of the law, and was called to the bar in 1890. He has been engaged in the practice of his profession at Sault Ste. Marie where he enjoys a large and lucrative practice. He has been connected with some of the most important cases tried in the state and federal courts of that state. He served three terms as corporation counsel for the city, and many of the most wholesome and beneficial legislation of the city was framed and enacted at his suggestion. He has traveled extensively in the Holy Land and Egypt and other Mediterranean countries.

Shinn, Asa, clergyman, author, was born May 3, 1781, in New Jersey. In 1833, when the Pittsburgh conference was formed, he was chosen president. He was the author of Essay on the Plan of Salvation; and Benevolence and Rectitude of the Supreme Being. He died in February, 1853, in Brattleboro, Vt.

Shinn, Charles Howard, author, was born April 29, 1852, in Austin, Texas. In 1890-1901 he was inspector of the California experiment station; and was head forest ranger of the United States department of the interior. He is the author of Mining Camps, a Study in American Frontier Government; The Story of the Mine; and California Rural Handbook.

Shinn, Earl, journalist, author, was born in 1837 in Pennsylvania. He was a New York journalist; and at one period art critic of The Nation. He is the author of The New Hyperion; From Paris to Marly by Way of the Rhine; and Studies in Modern French Art.

Shinn, Everett, painter, artist, was born Nov. 6, 1873, in Woodstown, N.J. He has exhibited at general exhibitions and at his own exclusive exhibition in New York galleries. He painted the mural decorations for the Stuyvesant theater of New York City.

Shinn, Florence Scovel, designer, illustrator, was born in 1874 in Camden, N.J. She is the wife of Everett Shinn of New York City. Since 1897 she has been engaged as an illustrator. She has illustrated The Flight of Pony Baker; The New Boy at Dale; Lovey Mary; and Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch.

Shinn, George Wolfe, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 14, 1839, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1875-1906 he was rector of Grace church of Newton, Mass. He is the author of Friendly Talks About Marriage; Manual of the Prayer Book; Manual of Church History; Questions about Our Church History; Questions that Trouble Beginners in Religion; Stories for Christmas Time; and Some Modern Substitutes for Christianity.

Shinn, Milicent Washburn, journalist, author, was born April 15, 1858, in Niles, Cal. In 1883-94 she was editor of the Overland Monthly. She is the author of Notes on the Development of a Child; and The Biography of a Baby.

Shinn, William N., farmer, congressman, was born in New Jersey. In 1833-37 he was a representative from New Jersey to the twenty-third and twenty-fourth congresses. He died in New Jersey.

Shinn, William Powell, civil engineer, was born May 4, 1834, in Burlington, N. J. Since 1886 he has been vice-president of the New York and New England railroad company. In 1873-79 he had charge of the construction and management of the Edgar Thompson steel works in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Shipherd, John J., founder, was born March 28, 1802, in West Granville, N.Y. He was the founder of Oberlin college. He died in 1844 in Oberlin, Ohio.

Shipherd, Zebulon R., congressman, was born in Washington county, N.Y. In 1813-15 he was a representative from New York to the thirteenth congress. He died in Moriah, N.Y.

Shipley, George, educator, journalist, author, was born March 13, 1867, in Baltimore, Md. Since 1897 he has been editor of the Baltimore American. He is the author of The Genitive Case in Anglo-Saxon.

Shipley, George F., lawyer, jurist. He was judge of the United States circuit court sometime prior to 1884.

Shipman, Benjamin Johnson, lawyer, author, was born Sept. 29, 1853, in Haddam, Conn. He is a successful lawyer of St. Paul, Minn. He is the author of Common Law Pleading; Equity Pleading; and Practice and Forms, Minnesota.

Shipman, George Elias, physician, journalist, was born March 4, 1820, in New York City. In 1846 he removed to Chicago, where he soon had a large and lucrative practice. In 1865 he became editor of the United States Medical and Surgical Journal; and the next year published The Homœopathic Guide. He died Jan. 20, 1893, in Chicago, Ill.

Shipman, Louis Evan, journalist, author, was born Aug. 2, 1869, in Brooklyn, N.Y. He is editorial writer on Leslie's Weekly; and is a contributor to Life and Collier's Weekly. He is the author of Urban Dialogues; A Group of American Theatrical Caricatures; D'Arcy of the Guards; Predicaments; On Parole; and The Admiral.

Shipman, Nathaniel, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born Aug. 22, 1828, in Southbury, Conn. In 1851 he engaged in the practice of the law at Hartford, Conn; was a representative in the state legislature in 1857; and was executive secretary of Governor William A. Buckingham in 1858-62. In 1873-92 he was United States district judge for the district of Connecticut; and in 1892 became United States judge for the second circuit. He died in 1906 in Hartford, Conn.

Shipman, William Davis, lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 29, 1818, in Chester, Conn. In 1853 he was sent to the Connecticut state assembly; and in 1853-67 served as United States district judge for Connecticut. He died Sept. 24, 1898, in Astoria, N.Y.

Shipp, Albert Micajah, clergyman, educator, author, was born Feb. 15, 1819, in Stokes county, N.C. He was professor of theology in Vanderbilt university in 1874-87. He was the author of The History of Methodism in South Carolina. He died in 1887 in South Carolina.

Shipp, Bernard, poet, was born April 30, 1813, near Natchez, Miss. He is the author of Fame, and Other Poems; and Progress of Freedom, and Other Poems.

Shippen, Edward, lawyer, jurist. In 1699 he was an associate justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania.

Shippen, Edward, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 16, 1729, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was judge of the admiralty court for the province; in 1791-99 was associate justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania; and in 1799-1806 was chief justice. He died April 16, 1806, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Shippen, Edward, lawyer, diplomat, was born Nov. 16, 1821. He was for many years a member of the board of public education in Philadelphia, Pa.; and in 1864-69 was its president. He has been a delegate to several national educational conventions. He is one of the founders of the teachers' institute and of the teachers' benevolent association of Philadelphia, Pa. During the civil war he was chief of the education department of the sanitary commission. During the centennial exposition in 1876 he was the president of the Chilean commission. He is the president of the art club of Philadelphia, Pa. He is consul at Philadelphia for the Argentine Republic, Chili, and Ecuador; and has filled these posts for many years. Several of his addresses on educational subjects have been published.

Shippen, Edward, medical director, author, was born June 18, 1826, in New Jersey. In 1845 he graduated from Princeton; received the degree of A.M. from that institution; and received the degree of M.D. from the university of Pennsylvania. In 1849 he was appointed as assistant-surgeon in the United States navy; and in 1861 was commissioned surgeon. In 1876 he was promoted medical director with the rank of rear-admiral and was retired in 1888. His principal naval service was in China, on the coasts of Africa and South America; and was four years in the European squadron, part of it as fleet surgeon. He was on the Congress when destroyed by the Merrimac; was attached to the New Ironsides in both the battles of Fort Fisher; and was at Bermuda Hundred, defending Grant's right flank. He has been chief medical officer of the Naval academy at Annapolis; was fleet surgeon of the European squadron; and for seven years was in charge of the naval hospital of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Thirty Years at Sea; and A Christmas at Sea.

Shippen, Joseph, educator, lawyer, was born Sept. 10, 1839, in Meadville, Pa. He was educated in the public and private schools; at Allegheny college of Pennsylvania; and graduated from Harvard university with the degree of A.B. and A.M. He was commissioned by the state of Pennsylvania to visit, relieve and report as to sick and wounded Pennsylvania soldiers in the civil war. He was agent and secretary of the United States sanitary commission for western Pennsylvania at Pittsburgh. For one year he taught in a high school of Worcester, Mass.; and was master in chancery of the United States circuit court for the eastern district of Missouri.

Shippen, Rush Rhees, educator, clergyman, was born Jan. 18, 1828, in Meadville, Pa. He attended the Allegheny college where he received the degrees of A.B. and A.M.; and in 1849 graduated from the Theological school of Meadville, Pa. For a while was engaged in educational work. In 1849-57 he was pastor of the First unitarian church of Chicago, Ill.; and in 1858-71 of the Unity church of Worcester, Mass.

Then for ten years he was secretary of the American unitarian association. In 1881-95 he was a pastor of All Souls church of Washington, D.C.; in 1895-1905 was pastor of the Unity church of Brockton, Mass.; and later preached in Atlanta, Ga.

Shippen, William, physician, congressman, was born Oct. 1, 1712, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a member of the junto, and aided in founding the Pennsylvania hospital, of which he was the physician in 1763-1778. In 1778-80 he was a delegate from Pennsylvania to the continental congress. He died Nov. 4, 1801, in Germantown, Pa.

Shippen, William, physician, lecturer, was born Oct. 21, 1736, in Philadelphia. In 1762 he entered on the practice of his profession in Philadelphia, Pa.; and in the same year began the first course of lectures on anatomy that was ever delivered in this country. He died July 11, 1808, in Germantown, Pa.

Shiras, Alexander Eakin, soldier, was born Aug. 10, 1812, in Philadelphia, Pa. A large share of the credit for the manner in which the national armies were supplied during the civil war is due to him. At the close of the war he was brevetted brigadier-general and major-general, United States army. He died April 14, 1875, in Washington, D.C.

Shiras, George, lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 26, 1832, in Pittsburg, Pa. He was once a candidate for the United States senate. He practiced law successfully in Pittsburg until 1892; and in 1892-1903 was an associate justice of the United States supreme court.

Shiras, George, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 1, 1859, in Allegheny, Pa. Since 1883 he has been engaged in the practice of law. In 1889-90 he was a member of the Pennsylvania state legislature. In 1903-05 he was a republican representative from Pennsylvania to the fifty-eighth congress.

Shiras, Oliver Perry, soldier, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Oct. 22, 1833, in Pittsburg, Pa. He removed to Dubuque, Iowa; and was there admitted to the bar in 1856. He was aide and judge advocate on the staff of General Herron in the army of the frontier in 1862-63; and in 1882-1903 he was United States district judge for the northern district of Iowa. He is the author of Equity Practice in Circuit Courts of United States.

Shirk, Joseph, mechanic, inventor. He was the inventor of Colt's revolver and a grain cradle. He died in 1902, in East Earl, Pa.

Shirk, Milton Smith, educator, clergyman, college president, was born Nov. 29, 1818, in Butler county, Ohio. For over sixty years he was engaged as a teacher in the various grades of school; and for over fifty years was engaged in the ministry in various cities, and at the Coliseum Place Baptist church of New Orleans, La. He was president of the Pearl River institute; president of the Amite female seminary of Mississippi; and president of the Shreveport university of Louisiana.

Shirlaw, Walter, painter, artist, was born Aug. 6, 1838, in Scotland. He first exhibited at the National academy in 1861; and subsequently decided to devote himself altogether to art. He was elected an academican of the Chicago academy of design in 1868; and in 1888 became a member of the National academy of design.

Shirley, John Milton, lawyer, legislator, author, was born Nov. 16, 1831, in Sanborn-ton, N.H. He was a member of the legislature in 1859-60; and was postmaster of Andover in 1856-60. He was the author of The Early Jurisprudence of New Hampshire; Complete History of the Dartmouth College Case; and Reports of Cases in Supreme Judicial Court. He died May 21, 1887, in Andover, N.H.

Shirley, Moses Gage, farmer, poet, was born May 15, 1865, in Goffstown, N.H. He is a farmer in the place of his nativity. He is the author of A Book of Poems.

Shirley, Paul, naval officer, was born Dec. 19, 1820, in Kentucky. In 1839, he entered the United States navy; and was fleet captain of the north Pacific squadron. In 1869-70 he was in charge of the receiving ship Independence at Mare Island. He died Nov. 24, 1876, in Columbus, Ohio.

Shirley, William, soldier, colonial governor, author, was born in 1693, in England. He was a noted colonial soldier; and planned the conquest of Cape Breton. He was colonial governor of Massachusetts in 1740-57. He was the author of Electra, a tragedy; The Birth of Hercules, a masque; Letter to the Duke of Newcastle, with Journal of the Siege of Louisburg; and The Conduct of General Shirley Briefly Stated. He died March 24, 1771, in Roxbury, Mass.

Shively, Benjamin F., educator, lawyer, congressman, senator, was born March 20, 1857, in St. Joseph county, Ind. In 1874-80 he taught school; and then engaged in journalism. He was elected to the forty-eighth congress to fill a vacancy. In 1887-93 he was a representative from Indiana to the fiftieth, fifty-first and fifty-second congresses as a democrat. Since 1909 he has been United States senator from Indiana.

Shober, Francis E., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born March 12, 1831, in Salem, N.C. In 1853 he located in Salisbury, N.C. In 1862 he was elected to the state assembly as a conservative, and continued in that position until the close of the war. He subsequently served one session in the the state senate. In 1869-73 he was a representative from North Carolina to the forty-first and forty-second congresses. He was acting secretary of the United States senate in 1881-83.

Shober, Francis E., educator, clergyman, journalist, congressman, was born Oct. 24, 1860, in Salisbury, N.C. For some years he was engaged in the ministerial and educational work in Dutchess county, N.Y.; then entered journalistic work; and for ten years was on the editorial staff of the New York World. In 1903-05 he was a democratic representative from New York City to the fifty-eighth congress.

Shober, Gottlieb, clergyman, manufacturer, philanthropist, was born Nov. 1, 1756, in Bethlehem, Pa. He built the first paper mill south of the Potomac. He was a founder of the general synod of the Lutheran church, of which he was president in 1825. In 1825 he was a director of the theological institution which adopted measures for the formation of the seminary at Gettysburg, Pa., to which he left three thousand acres of land. He died June 27, 1838, in Salem, S.C.

Shock, William Henry, naval officer, was born June 15, 1821, in Baltimore, Md. In January, 1845, he entered the United States naval service. He served under Commodore Perry during the Mexican war; and under Admiral Farragut during the civil war. In 1877 he was appointed engineer-in-chief of the United States navy; and retired in June, 1883. He is the author of Steam Boilers, Their Design, Construction and Management. He died Dec. 18, 1905, in Washington, D.C.

Shoemaker, Charles Chalmers, business man, author, was born March 2, 1860, in West Newton, Pa. He is manager and treasurer of the Pennsylvania publishing company of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Holiday Entertainments; Humorous Dialogues; and One Hundred Choice Selections.

Shoemaker, George Washington, manufacturer, inventor was born Dec. 14, 1861, near Williamsport, Pa. Having mechanical ability, he made various improvements in his father's woolen mill; and in 1886 invented a ring-machine, by which wool spinning may be carried on continuously.

Shoemaker, Henry Francis, soldier, banker, railroad president, born March 28, 1845, in Schuylkill county, Pa. He served in the civil war as lieutenant in the twenty-seventh regiment Pennsylvania volunteers. In 1887 he was elected president of the Mineral Range railroad; in 1889 president of the Cincinnati, Dayton and Ironton railroad; and in 1888 he bought a large interest in the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railroad, and later, with others, became one of the dominant spirits in the company and was made chairman of its executive committee. He has been successful in his undertakings and is now president of the Dayton and Union and the Cincinnati, Dayton and Ironton railroads. He was also at one time engaged in the mining of bituminous coal in the Kanawha valley, W.Va.

Shoemaker, Henry Wharton, banker, diplomat, author, poet, was born Feb. 24, 1881, and is the son of Henry F. and Blanche Quiggle Shoemaker. He was educated in Dr. Lyon's classical school of

New York; and in 1901 graduated from Columbia college. In 1901-03 he was private secretary to chairman of the B. C. H. V. D. railway. In 1903 he was secretary to the American legation at Lisbon, Portugal; and in 1904 was third secretary to the American embassy at Berlin, Germany. Since 1905 he has been a member of the banking house of Shoemaker and Bates of New York City. Since 1905 he has also been president of the Herald publishing company of Jersey Shore, Pa.; and is a constant contributor to magazines. He is the author of Immaterial Verses; Random Thoughts, in verse; and Wild Life in Pennsylvania.

Shoemaker, Jacob W., educator, inventor, artist, author, was born April 18, 1842, in West Overton, Pa. He received a thorough education in the public and private schools of his native state. He was the founder and president of the National school of elocution and oratory of Philadelphia, Pa. He died May 15, 1880, in Philadelphia, Pa. His wife, Rachel H. Shoemaker, is an instructor and principal of the National school of elocution and oratory.

Shoemaker, John Vietch, physician, surgeon, author, was born March 18, 1852, in Chambersburg, Pa. He was educated at Dickinson college of Carlisle, Pa.; and at the Jefferson medical college of Philadelphia, Pa. He was surgeon-general of the Pennsylvania national guard. In 1874-86 he was connected with the faculty of the Jefferson medical college as lecturer on anatomy; and was afterward professor of materia medica and therapeutics at the medico-chirurgical college of Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1879 he has been editor of the Medical Bulletin; and was one of its founders. He is the author of Poisons and Antidotes; A Treatise on Materia Medica and Therapeutics; A Text-book on Diseases of the Skin; and other works.

Shoemaker, Lazarus D., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Nov. 5, 1819, in Kingston, Pa. He was educated in the public schools; and in 1840 graduated from Yale university. He studied law; and began the practice of his profession at Wilkesbarre, Pa. In 1866-68 he was a member of the Pennsylvania state senate; and filled other positions of trust and honor. In 1871-75 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-second and forty-third congresses as a republican. During the forty-third congress he served as chairman of the committee on revolutionary pensions, and served on the committee on claims.

Shoemaker, Michael Myers, author, was born June 26, 1853, in Covington, Ky. He is the author of Eastward to the Land of Morning; The Kingdom of the White Woman, a volume of Mexican travel; Trans-Caspia, the Sealed Provinces of the Czar; Islands of the Southern Seas; Quaint Corners of Ancient Empires; and Palaces and Prisons of Mary, Queen of Scots.

Shoemaker, Rachel Hinkle, elocutionist, educator, founder, author, was born Oct. 1, 1838, in Plumstead, Pa. She attended the state normal school of Millersville, Pa., and later specialized in elocution, platform delivery, German, French and literature. She is the wife of J. W. Shoemaker. In 1880 she established and since then has been an instructor and principal of the National school of elocution and oratory of Philadelphia, Pa. She is the author of Delsartian Pantomimes; and Advanced Elocution. She has compiled fifteen volumes of Best Selections; two volumes of Young Folks' Recitations and Class Dialogues.

Shoemaker, Robert M., mechanic, railroad president, was born Oct. 21, 1815, in Mohawk, N.Y. He was a railroad surveyor; and was chief engineer of the Mad River and Lake Erie railroad; and chief engineer of the Little Miami railroad. In 1870 he constructed the Cincinnati and Springfield railroad; and became president of that corporation. He died in Ohio.

Shoemaker, William Lukens, philologist, poet, was born July 19, 1822, in Georgetown, D.C. He is of Quaker descent. He graduated in medicine but never practiced his profession. His poems, bird songs, translations from the German of Heine and others, are distinguished by rare perfection of form and melody. He is best known for his Sweet-heart Bird Song, set to music by Balfe, the English composer.

As a linguist and poet he holds a masterly rank.

Sholes, Charles Clark, journalist, state senator, was born Jan. 8, 1816, in Norwich, Conn. In 1847 he settled in Kenosha, Wis.; of which place he was several times mayor. He has frequently represented Kenosha county both in the assembly and state senate; and in one session was chosen speaker of the former body. He died Oct. 5, 1867, in Kenosha, Wis.

Sholes, Christopher Latham, journalist, inventor, was born Feb. 14, 1819, in Mooresburg, Pa. In addition to his work as a journalist, which has been his profession when not holding office, he has interested himself in inventions, the most important of which is the typewriting machine that was introduced through the firm of E. Remington and Sons. In 1873 this invention passed into the hands of the Remingtons for manufacture, since which time many minor improvements have been added to it, increasing its usefulness. He died Feb. 17, 1890, in Milwaukee, Wis.

Sholl, Anna McClure, writer, author, was born in Philadelphia, Pa. She is the author of The Law of Life; and The Port of Storms.

Shonk, George W., lawyer, congressman, was born April 26, 1850, in Plymouth, Pa. He was admitted to the bar of Luzerne county, Pa., in 1876; and has practiced his profession at Wilkesbarre since. In 1891-93 he was a representative to the fifty-second congress as a republican.

Shonta, Theodore Perry, railroad president, government official, was born May 5, 1856, in Crawford county, Pa. In 1876 he went into the banking business at Centerville, Iowa; and for four years practiced law. In 1882 he became engaged in railway construction; and for some years was chief owner of the Indiana, Illinois and Iowa railroad. He is president of the Toledo and western railway; president of the Interborough metropolitan system; and president of the Chicago and Alton railway.

Shope, Simeon P., lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 3, 1837, in Akron, Ohio. He taught in the district schools; and practiced law in Metamora and Lewiston, Ill. In 1877-85 he was judge of the circuit court for the tenth Illinois circuit; and in 1885-94 was judge of the state supreme court of Illinois. Since 1894 he has practiced law in Chicago, Ill.

Shorey, Paul, educator, lawyer, author, was born Aug. 3, 1857, in Davenport, Iowa. In 1874 he graduated from the Chicago high school; and received the degree of A.B. from Harvard university. He was a student at the universities at Leipsig and Bonn; and in 1882-83 took a course of classical studies in Athens. He has received the honorary degrees of Ph.D. from the university of Munich; and LL.D. from Iowa college. In 1880 he was admitted to the practice of law. In 1885-92 he was professor of Greek at Bryn Mawr college; and since 1892 has been professor of Greek and head of the department at the university of Chicago. He is the author of The Idea of Good in Plato's Republic; the Odits and Epodes of Horace; and the Unity of Plato's Thought.

Short, Charles, educator, college president, author, was born May 28, 1821, in Haverhill, Mass. In 1863 he became seventh president of the Kenyon college. He was the author of On the Order of Words in Attic-Greek Prose; and Mitchell's Ancient Geography. He died Dec. 24, 1886, in New York City.

Short, Alfred, manufacturer, legislator, was born Jan. 1, 1847, in Sharon, Pa. He attended the Richburg academy, the Friendship academy, and the Alfred academy, in the state of New York. He is a successful manufacturer of North East, Pa.; has been mayor of his city, and president of the school board. In 1878-79 he served with distinction as a member of the state assembly of Pennsylvania. In 1880 he was democratic candidate for congress. In 1888 he was a delegate to the democratic national convention at St. Louis; and has always taken an active part in political affairs. He is president of the People's Savings institution of Erie county, and president of the Eureka Tempered Copper works of North East, Pa.

Short, Charles Wilkins, educator, botanist, author, was born Oct. 6, 1794, in Woodford county, Ky. In 1838 he moved to Louisville Ky., where he was associated with several others in founding the medical department of the university of Louisville; and continued to hold a chair in that institution until 1849. He then devoted himself to the collection of plants and flowers; and with Dr. Robert Peter and Henry A. Griswold, prepared Plants of Kentucky. He died March 7, 1863, in Louisville, Ky.

Short, Oscar Jackson, physician, surgeon, was born Jan. 15, 1861, in Buena Vista, Ga. He practiced medicine at Manhattan, N.Y.; and was for three years physician and surgeon at the Manhattan ear and eye hospital.

Short, William, diplomat, was born Sept. 30, 1759, in Spring Garden, Va. In 1792 he was commissioner plenipotentiary to treat with the Spanish government concerning the Florida and Mississippi boundaries, the navigation of the Mississippi, commercial privileges and other open questions. In 1794 he concluded the negotiations, which resulted in the treaty of friendship. He died Dec. 5, 1849, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Shortall, John George, humanitarian, was born Sept. 20, 1838, in Ireland. He entered upon the business of making records of abstracts of title to lands in Cook county, Ill. He did great service in the collection and preservation of his valuable abstracts of title. For ten years he was director and for three terms president of the Chicago public library. He is president of the Illinois humane society, and is associated with the national and state humane associations.

Shorter, Eli S., lawyer, congressman, was born March 15, 1823, in Monticello, Ga. In 1843 he graduated from Yale college; and practiced law at Eufaula, Ga. He was also engaged as a planter. In 1855-59 he was a representative from Alabama to the thirty-fourth and thirty-fifth congresses.

Shorter, James Alexander, bishop, was born Feb. 4, 1817, in Washington, D.C. He was elected bishop of the African-American methodist episcopal church in 1868. As president of the Missionary society of his church, he has succeeded in opening the work in Hayti and Africa, whither missionaries have been sent. He died in the south.

Shorter, John Gill, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, governor, was born in 1818 in Jasper county, Ga. He was for several years a state senator from Alabama. In 1855-61 was circuit judge for his district. He was a member of the confederate congress; and was the fifteenth governor of Alabama in 1861-63. He died May 29, 1872, in Eufaula, Ala.

Shortlidge, Joseph, soldier, educator, jurist, founder, college president, was born Aug. 1, 1832, in Chester county, Pa. He received a thorough academic education; and in 1863 graduated from Yale college, from which institution he received the degree of master of arts. He taught in the public school of Pennsylvania; and was principal of the Putnam academy of New York; and principal of Fairville institute of Pennsylvania. In 1862 he founded Maplewood institute. In 1863 he was sworn in as a volunteer when General Lee invaded Pennsylvania. In 1865-68 in addition to his duties as a teacher, he took a three-years' course in chemical analysis. In 1880 he became president of the Pennsylvania state college. He has just completed a large gymnasium for Maplewood institute. In addition to his duties as principal of Maplewood institute, he has for seventeen years served as a justice of the peace in Concordville, Pa.; and in 1904 was re-elected for another term of five years as justice of the peace. He is a member of Bradbury post, grand army of the republic.

Shortridge, E. C. D., governor. In 1893-95 he was governor of North Dakota. He died in 1908 in North Dakota.

Shortz, Robert Packer, civil engineer, author. He is the author of The Passing Emperor; The Gift of Bonaparte; and The Girdle of the Gods.

Shotwell, Ambrose Milton, educator, genealogist, author, was born May 30, 1853, in Elba, N.Y. He has been a successful teacher in schools for the blind; and is librarian of the free lending library; and is now embosser of literature for the blind at Saginaw. He is the author of Annals of Our Colonial Ancestors and Their Descendants; and other works.

Shoup, Francis Asbury, soldier, clergyman, educator, author, born March 22, 1834, in Laurel, Ind. He was an episcopal clergyman and educator of Sewanee, Tenn.; and professor of metaphysics in the university of the south. He was a confederate officer in the civil war. He was the author of Infantry Tactics; Artillery Division Drill; and Elements of Algebra. He died Sept. 1, 1896, in Columbia, Tenn.

Shoup, George Laird, soldier, merchant, governor, United States senator, was born June 15, 1836, in Kittanning, Pa. He enlisted in Captain Backus's independent company of scouts, and was soon thereafter commissioned second lieutenant, and was commissioned colonel of the third Colorado cavalry in 1864. He engaged in the mercantile business in Virginia City, Mont., in 1866, and during the same year established a business at Salmon City, Idaho; and since 1866 has been engaged in mining, stock raising, mercantile, and other business in Idaho. He was a member of the territorial legislature during the eighth and tenth sessions. He was United States commissioner for Idaho at the World's cotton centennial exposition at New Orleans, La., in 1884-85, and was again placed on the republican national committee in 1888, re-elected in 1892 and again in 1896. He was governor of Idaho territory in 1889-90. In 1889-1901 he was United States senator. He died in 1904 in Boise City, Idaho.

Shoup, James M., lawyer, state senator, statesman, was born in 1849 in Armstrong county, Pa. He was educated in the public and private schools, studied law and was admitted to the bar. He filled several county offices in Idaho; was a member of the first state senate; and in 1892 was a delegate to the republican national convention. Since 1897 he has been United States marshal for the first district of Alaska; and is now serving his third term of 1904-08.

Shoup, Samuel Newton, soldier, was born in Illinois. In 1862 he was captain in the one hundred and fourteenth regiment Illinois infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted colonel and brigadier-general of volunteers. He died March 10, 1885.

Showalter, J. W., lawyer, jurist. In 1895-99 he was judge of the United States circuit court; and in 1898-99 was also judge of the United States court of appeals for the seventh district of Illinois.

Showalter, Joseph Baltzell, educator, state senator, congressman, was born Feb. 11, 1851, near Smithfield, Pa. He taught school in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Indiana, and Illinois. In 1886-88 he was a member of the Pennsylvania house of representatives; and in 1888-92 he was state senator. In 1897-1903 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth and fifty-seventh congresses.

Shower, Jacob, congressman, was born in Maryland. In 1853-55 he was a representative to the thirty-third congress from Maryland.

Shrady, Henry Merwin, designer, sculptor, was born Oct. 24, 1871, in New York City. He designed an equestrian statue for Brooklyn; and the Grant memorial for Washington. In 1903 he was commissioned by the Holland society of New York to make an equestrian statue of William, the silent.

Shrady, John, physician, author, was born March 13, 1830, in New York City, N. Y. He is a prominent physician of New York City. He is the author of Transactions; The Psychical Aspects of Insanity; The Shadow Line of Insanity; Signs of the Moribund Condition; and Two Hundred Years of Medicine.

Shrader, Otto, lawyer, jurist. He was judge of one of the territorial courts of the United States sometime prior to 1884.

Shreve, Henry Miller, inventor, born Oct. 21, 1785, in Burlington county, N. J. In 1815 he ascended the Mississippi to Louisville, the first steam vessel that ever performed that voyage; and subsequently he built the Washington on a plan of his own invention, with improvements that made it superior to Robert Fulton's boat. In 1817 his vessel made its first trip laden with passengers and ville in the Enter-freight, and demonstrated its superiority. When its success was thoroughly shown, Fulton and his associates, having the exclusive right to navigate all vessels propelled by fire and steam in the rivers of said territory, entered suit against him and seized his boats; but the case was decided in his favor. In 1826-41 he was superintendent of western river improvements. He died March 6, 1854, in St. Louis, Mo.

Shreve, Milton W., congressman, was born in Venango county, Pa. He has been a member of the state legislature. In 1913-15 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the sixty-third congress.

Shreve, Samuel Henry, civil engineer, author, was born Aug. 2, 1829, in Trenton, N. J. He was the author of The Strength of Bridges and Roofs. He died Nov. 27, 1884, in New York City.

Shreve, Thomas H., merchant, journalist, author, poet, was born in 1808, in Alexandria, Va. In 1838 he established himself as a merchant in Louisville, Ky.; and subsequently became one of the editors of the Louisville Journal. He was the author of Drayton, an American Tale; and Poems. He died Dec. 23, 1853, in Louisville, Ky.

Shriver, Alfred Jenkins, lawyer, author, was born June 5, 1867, in Baltimore, Md. In 1891 he graduated from Johns Hopkins university with the degree of A. B.; and in 1893 graduated from the law school of the university of Maryland. Since 1893 he has been engaged in the practice of law in Baltimore, Md.; and has been prominently identified with states and will cases. He is secretary of the general alumni association of the Johns Hopkins university; and protector of St. Mary's female orphan asylum of Roland Park, Md. He is the author of Res Gestae as a Rule of Evidence; Law of Wills and Personal Property in Maryland Prior to August 1, 1884; Status of Preferred Stock of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad company; and other legal publications.

Shriver, John Shultz, journalist, author, was born June 17, 1857, in Baltimore, Md. He is Washington correspondent of the New York Mail and the Baltimore American. He is the author of Through the South and West with President Harrison.

Shubrick, Edward Rutledge, naval officer, was born in 1794, in South Carolina. He was commissioned commander in 1828; and became captain in 1837. He died March 12, 1844, at sea.

Shubrick, John Templar, naval officer, was born Sept. 12, 1788, on Bull's Island, S. C. In 1812 he was commissioned lieutenant and was attached to the Constitution. He received three silver medals and votes of thanks from congress for assisting in the capture of the Guerriere, Java and Peacock. He died in 1815 at sea.

Shubrick, William Bradford, naval officer, was born Oct. 31, 1790, on Bull's Island, S. C. He served through the Mexican and civil wars; and attained the rank of rear-admiral. He died May 27, 1874, in Washington, D. C.

Shuck, Mrs. Henrietta Hall, author, was born Oct. 28, 1817, in Kilmarnock, Va. She was the wife of a missionary in China. She was the author of Scenes in China. She died Nov. 27, 1844, in Hong Kong, China.

Shuck, Jehu Lewis, clergyman, missionary, was born Sept. 4, 1812, in Alexandria, Va. He began his labors in Macao, where he baptized the first Chinese converts, met with success also at Hong Kong, whither he removed in 1842, and subsequently settled at Canton. He was the author of Port-folio Chinensis, or a Collection of Authentic Chinese State Papers. He died Aug. 20, 1863, in Barnwell, S. C.

Shuey, Edwin Longstreet, educator, publisher, manufacturer, author, was born Jan.

3, 1857, in Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1881-85 he was professor in Otterbein university; and since 1885 has been a publisher and manufacturer of paint at Dayton, Ohio. He is the author of Handbook of The United Brethren in Christ; and Factory People and Their Employers.

Shuey, Mrs. Lillian Hinman, educator, author, poet, was born March 22, 1853, in Toulon, Ill. In 1875 she graduated as B.S. from Napa college of California. She is the wife of M. N. Shuey. For several years she has been engaged as a teacher in the public schools of California. She is the author of California Sunshine, verse; Hulda, a Story of the West; Don Luis' Wife, a Romance of the West Indies; The Little Lady of the Cobweb Palace; and numerous short stories, sketches and poems for magazines and periodicals in California.

Shufeldt, Robert Wilson, naval officer, was born Feb. 21, 1832, in Red Hook, N.Y. He became a midshipman in 1839; served in the Mexican and civil wars; was promoted to rear-admiral in 1883, and retired the following year. He died Nov. 7, 1895, in Washington, D.C.

Shuey, William John, journalist, litterateur, was born Feb. 9, 1827, in Miamisburg, Ohio. He was educated in the public and private schools of his native state; and became a successful journalist. He became connected with the the United brethren publishing house of Dayton, Ohio; and since 1866 has been its sole agent. In this capacity he has become well known throughout the United States in the religious world; and has held various positions of trust and honor. He has contributed extensively to religious and educational publications on current topics; and still resides in Dayton, Ohio.

Shufeldt, Robert Wilson, surgeon, biologist, author, was born Dec. 1, 1850, in New York City. He was educated at Cornell university; and in 1876 graduated from the medical school in Columbian university. In 1864-65 he served in the civil war under his father, Admiral Shufeldt. In 1876-81 he was surgeon in the frontier Indian wars; in 1882 was curator in the army medical museum; and in 1895-97 was curator in the Smithsonian institution. He is the author of The Anatomy of Birds; The Negro, several works in natural history; and hundreds of articles on medicine, science and travel.

Shuford, Alonzo Craig, agriculturist, congressman, was born March 1, 1858, in Catawba county, N.C. He was made county lecturer and later district lecturer of the Alliance; was elected delegate to the labor conference in St. Louis in 1892; and was delegate for the state at large to the populist convention in Omaha the same year. He was elected vice-president of the state alliance in 1894. In 1895-99 he was a representative from North Carolina to the fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses.

Shull, Joseph H., educator, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Aug. 17, 1848, in Northampton county, Pa. Since 1879 he has been a successful lawyer of Stroudsburg, Pa. In 1886-91 he was a member of the Pennsylvania state senate. In 1903-05 he was a democratic representative from Pennsylvania to the fifty-eighth congress.

Shultz, Emanuel, manufacturer, state legislator, congressman, was born July 25, 1819, in Berks county, Pa. He was a member of the Ohio state legislature in 1875-76, and served two years. In 1881-83 he was a representative to the forty-seventh congress as a republican. He died in Ohio.

Shultz, Joseph S., educator, author, poet, was born March 13, 1863, in DeGraff, Ohio. For many years he was professor of mathematics and English literature in Wilder college. He is the author of Observations in the Northwest; and Looking Upward.

Shultz, Theodore, missionary, translator, was born Dec. 17, 1770, in Germany. He entered the foreign mission field of the Moravian church in 1799; and was sent to Surinam, South America, where he served seven years. He revised and improved a Dictionary; and translated a Harmony of the Gospels into the Arrawak language. He died Aug. 4, 1850, in Salem, N.C.

Shulze, John Andrew, state legislator, governor, was born July 19, 1775, in Tulpehocken, Pa. He represented Lebanon county for several years in the state legislature. He was the sixth governor of Pennsylvania in 1823-29. He died Nov. 19, 1852, in Lancaster, Pa.

Shuman, Abraham, merchant, philanthropist, was born May 31, 1839, in Prussia. He received his education in the district school near Newburgh, N.Y.; in 1859 opened a clothing store in Roxbury, Mass. He was a member of the Boston chamber of commerce from its foundation. He was the founder and first vice-president of the Boston merchants' association. He built a hospital for contagious patients; and also built the relief station on Haymarket square in Boston, Mass.

Shuman, Edwin Llewellyn, journalist, author, was born Dec. 13, 1863, in Lancaster county, Pa. In 1889-90 he was editor of the Evanston Press of Illinois; in 1895-1901 was editorial writer on the Chicago Tribune; and since 1901 has been literary editor on the Chicago Record-Herald. He is the author of Steps Into Journalism; and Practical Journalism.

Shumway, Edgar Solomon, educator, author, was born June 6, 1856, in Belcherstown, Mass. He was educated in Williston academy; and in 1879 graduated from Amherst college, where he subsequently received the degree of A.M. and Ph.D. and studied Roman law in Berlin and Marburg universities. In 1883-1900 he was adjunct professor of Latin languages and literature at Rutgers college. He purchased the Rutgers art collection. In 1904 he lectured on Roman law in the university of Pennsylvania; and since 1904 has been head of the classical department of the manual training high school of Brooklyn, N.Y. He is a university extension lecturer for New York and New Jersey on Greek Hellenistic Roman art. He is the author of A Day in Ancient Rome; Latin Synonyms; Syllabus of Classical Archæology; and Synopsis of Sources, Literature and Language of Roman Art.

Shumway, Henry Cotton, soldier, artist, was born July 4, 1807, in Middletown, Conn. For many years he followed his profession as a miniature-painter successfully in New York City and other cities. Among the numerous eminent men that sat to him were Henry Clay, Daniel Webster, and Prince Napoleon. He died May 6, 1884, in New York City.

Shumway, Herbert Hartwell, cotton manufacturer, capitalist, was born March 23, 1857, in Palmer, Mass. He was educated at the Utica commercial college. In 1895 he organized and built the Corr Manufacturing company of Taunton, and was treasurer and agent until 1905, when he retired. He is now president of the Atlas Buckram company. For three years he was president of the Taunton board of trade.

Shunk, David, soldier, was born in Maryland. In 1861 he was second lieutenant in the fifth regiment Indiana infantry; and in 1865 he was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Feb. 21, 1865.

Shunk, Francis Rawn, soldier, lawyer, governor, was born Aug. 7, 1778, in Trappe, Pa. He established himself for the practice of law in Pittsburgh. He was the tenth governor of Pennsylvania in 1845-48. He died July 30, 1848, in Harrisburg, Pa.

Shunk, William Findlay, civil engineer, author, was born Sept. 6, 1830, in Harrisburg, Pa. In 1846-50 he was a midshipman in the United States navy; and in 1861-65 was a clerk in the state department at Washington, D.C. In 1867-1902 he was engaged as chief engineer in the construction of various railroads. He was the author of Shunk on Railway Curves; and The Field Engineer. He died in 1907 in Harrisburg, Pa.

Shurter, Edwin Du Bois, educator, lawyer, author, was born Oct. 24, 1863, in Samsonville, N.Y. In 1896-99 he was a practicing attorney of Ithaca, N.Y.; and since 1899 has been professor of public speaking in the university of Texas. He is the author of The Modern American Speaker; Public Speaking; Masterpieces of Modern Oratory; Extempore Speaking; Oratory of the South; and The Rhetoric of Oratory.

Shurtleff, Benjamin, physician, philanthropist. He donated ten thousand dollars to the Baptist college of Upper Alton, Ill. The name of this institution was changed in 1836 to Shurtleff college in his honor. He died in Illinois.

Shurtleff, Ernest Warburton, clergyman, author, poet, was born April 4, 1862, in Boston, Mass. He is a congregational clergyman and poet. He is the author of Poems; Easter Gleams; Song of Hope; When I Was a Child; New Year's Peace; Shadow of the Angel; and Easter in Heaven.

Shurtleff, Fred Cazeaux, surgeon, was born Oct. 18, 1867, in Somerset, Mass. He began the practice of his profession in Boston, Mass., making a specialty of surgery. He moved to Los Angeles as a practitioner. He became connected with a chartered association; founded a college for physicians and surgeons in 1904. He now holds the chair of surgery in this institution; and that of vice-president of the board of trustees.

Shurtleff, George Augustus, physician, author, was born Aug. 5, 1819, in Carver, Mass. In 1872-83 he was president of the State medical society of California. He is the author of Medical Jurisprudence of Insanity; The Obscure Forms of Epilepsy and The Responsibilities of Epileptics; and Suicide.

Shurtleff, Giles Waldo, soldier, was born in Canada. In 1861 he was captain in the seventh regiment Ohio infantry; and in 1865 he was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He was honorably discharged in 1865. He died in 1904.

Shurtleff, Nathaniel Bradstreet, antiquarian, author, was born June 29, 1810, in Boston, Mass. He was an antiquarian of Boston. He was the author of Elements of Phrenology; A Perpetual Calendar of Old and New Style; Topographical Description of Boston; and Passengers of the Mayflower in 1620. With D. Pulsifer he edited The Records of the Colony of New Plymouth, in twelve volumes. He died Oct. 17, 1874, in Boston, Mass.

Shurtleff, Roswell Morse, artist, was born June 14, 1838, in Rindge, N.H. In 1890 he became a member of the National academy of design. His animal paintings first gained him distinction; and of these the best known are The Wolf at the Door, and A Race for Life. Among his later works in oil, most of which are scenes in the Adirondacks, are On the Alert; Autumn Gold; Gleams of Sunshine; and A Song of Summer Woods.

Shute, Daniel Kerfoot, physician, author, was born Oct. 22, 1858, in Alexandria, Va. Since 1888 he has been professor of anatomy in Columbia university at Washington, D. C. He is the author of A First Book in Organic Evolution.

Shute, Henry A., lawyer, jurist, author, was born in 1857 in Exeter, N.H. For the past twenty years he has been judge of the local court of Exeter, N.H. He is the author of Real Diary of a Real Boy; Sequil; Letters to Beany and Love Letters of Plupy Shute; Real Boys; A Few Neighbors; and A Profane and Somewhat Unreliable History of Exeter.

Shute, Samuel, colonial governor, was born in 1653 in England. In 1716-28 he was colonial governor of Massachusetts; and in 1728-30 was colonial governor of New Hampshire. He died April 15, 1742, in England.

Shute, Samuel Moore, clergyman, educator, author, was born Jan. 24, 1823, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1859 he became professor of the English language and literature in Columbian university of Washington, D.C. He was the author of a Manual of Anglo-Saxon. He died in 1902 in Kerfoote, Va.

Shutter, Marion Daniel, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 4, 1853, in New Philadelphia, Ohio. In 1876 he graduated from the university of Wooster; and in 1881 graduated from the the Baptist theological seminary of Chicago, Ill. He has been pastor of the Olivet baptist church of Minneapolis, Minn.; and is now pastor of the First universalist church of that city. He is the author of Wit and Humor of the Bible; Justice and Mercy; Child of Nature; Applied Evolution; How the Preachers Pray; and Life of James Harvey Tuttle.

Sibler, Wilhelm, clergyman, author, was born in 1801 in Prussia. He was a Lutheran clergyman of Missouri. He was the author of Sermons on the Epistles and Gospels of the Christian Year. He died in Missouri.

Sibler, William Bienhauser, college president, was born Nov. 22, 1826, in New York City. In 1870-71 he was president of Albion college of New York City. He is the author of Progressive Lessons in Greek; Elementary Latin Grammar; A History of St. James Methodist Episcopal Church at Harlem of New York City; and Parallel Classics.

Sibley, Edwin Day, lawyer, author. He is the author of Stillman Gott, Farmer and Fisherman.

Sibley, George Champlain, explorer, philanthropist, was born in April, 1782, in Great Barrington, Mass. He was an employe of the United States Indian bureau; and explored the Grand Saline and Salt mountain. He surveyed a road from Missouri to New Mexico; and made several treaties with the Indian tribes. He and his wife were the founders of Lindenwood college of St. Charles, Mo., giving the land on which it is built. He died Jan. 31, 1863, in Elma, Mo.

Sibley, Frank J., mine owner, manager, prohibitionist, author, was born Aug. 11, 1847, in Royalton, N.Y. He was educated in the common and high schools of New York; and graduated from the university of Arizona. He is a successful mine owner and manager; president and general manager of the Cooper creek mining company; and treasurer and general manager of the Blue Jewel copper company. In 1876-

77 he was secretary of the New York state prohibition committee; in 1880-81 was secretary of the Kansas state prohibition committee; in 1884 was chairman of the Nebraska state prohibition committee; and in 1899-1900 was chairman of the California state prohibition committee. He is a member of the prohibition national committee for Arizona for the term of 1904-08. He is the author of What Prohibition Did for Kansas; Life of John B. Finch; and Templar at Work.

Sibley, Henry Hastings, soldier, congressman, governor, was born Feb. 20, 1811, in Detroit, Mich. In 1847-53 he was a territorial delegate from Minnesota; to the thirtieth, thirty-first and thirty-second congresses; and in 1858 was the first governor. He was a brigadier-general of volunteers during the civil war. He commanded an expedition against the Minnesota Indians in 1863; and was subsequently brevetted a major-general of volunteers. He died Feb. 18, 1891, in St. Paul, Minn.

Sibley, Henry Hopkins, soldier, was born May 25, 1816, in Nachitoches, La. He served in the Florida war; in the expedition against the Seminoles; and took part in all the principal operations of the Mexican war. He served for several years on the Texas frontier; and in 1861 received a commission as brigadier-general in the confederate service. He invented a tent for troops modelled after the wigwams of the Indians. He died Aug. 23, 1886, in Fredericksburg, Va.

Sibley, Hiram, seedsman, financier, philanthropist, was born Feb. 6, 1807, in North Adams, Mass. He was instrumental in obtaining from congress an appropriation in aid of Morse's experiments; and interested himself in telegraphy from the beginning. His telegraphs eventually extended over thirteen states; were consolidated under the name of the Western Union Telegraph company, of which he was president for seventeen years. He became the largest owner of improved lands in the United States, owning the Burr Oaks farm of nearly forty thousand acres in Illinois; and the Howland Island farm of Cayuga, N.Y. He gave a one hundred thousand dollar building to hold a public library and the collections of the Rochester university; and various other sums were donated by him. He died July 12, 1888, in Rochester, N.Y.

Sibley, Hiram Luther, soldier, lawyer, jurist, author, was born May 4, 1836, in Gustavus, Ohio. In 1878 he received the degree of M.A. from Marietta college; and in 1895 received the honorary degree of LL.D. from Clatlin university. In 1860 he was elected county clerk of Meigs county, Ohio. In 1862-65 he was lieutenant in the one hundred and sixteenth regiment Ohio volunteer infantry. In 1865 he was admitted to the practice of law and in 1866 began to practice at Marietta, Ohio. In 1883-97 he was judge of the court of common pleas; and in 1897-1903 was judge of the circuit court. In 1906 he was appointed a member of the commission to revise and consolidated the laws of Ohio. He is the author of Rights and Cause for Action.

Sibley, Hiram Watson, capitalist, was born in Rochester, N.Y. He was educated at Heidelberg university and at Columbia university, receiving the degrees of Ph.D. and LL.B. In 1869-81 he was interested and active in the management of southern railroads, with residence in New York City. Since then he has been interested in iron mines, timber lands and lumbering operations in the west and south, and in banking, with residence in Rochester. He is a trustee of the Rochester Savings bank and other institutions.

Sibley, John Langdon, librarian, author, was born Dec. 29, 1804, in Union, Maine. He was the librarian of Harvard university in 1841-77. He was the author of History of the Town of Union, Maine; and Biographical Sketches of Harvard University Graduates. He died Dec. 9, 1885, in Cambridge, Mass.

Sibley, Jonas, state legislator, congressman, was born March 17, 1762, in Sutton, Mass. In 1806-23 he was a member of the Massachusetts legislature; was an elector for president in 1820; and served again in both houses of the legislature. In 1823-25 he was a representative from Massachusetts to the eighteenth congress. He died Feb. 10, 1834, in Sutton, Mass.

Sibley, Mrs. Louise Lyndon, writer, author, was born in Brooklyn, N.Y. For several years she lived at Lighthouse in Boston Harbor, where her father was keeper. She is the author of A Lighthouse Village.

Sibley, Joseph Crocker, manufacturer, congressman, was born Feb. 18, 1850, in Friendship, N.Y. He is extensively engaged in farming and stock raising; is a manufacturer of lubricating and signal oils; and interested in various other manufacturing and business enterprises. He has been mayor of Franklin, Pa.; and president of the Pennsylvania state dairymen's association. In 1893-95 and 1899-1907 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the fifty-third, fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh, fifty-eighth and fifty-ninth congresses; and in 1896 his name was put forward for the presidency of the United States by the silver party of the east.

Sibley, Mark Hopkins, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born in 1796 in Great Barrington, Mass. He was a member of the New York assembly in 1834-35. In 1837-39 he was a representative to the twenty-fifth congress; and was subsequently a state senator; and in 1846 a county judge. He died Sept. 8, 1852, in Canandaigua, N.Y.

Sibley, R. A., merchant, philanthropist. He is a successful merchant of Rochester, N.Y.

Sibley, Solomon, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 7, 1769, in Sutton, Mass. In 1797 he moved to Detroit, Mich., and in 1799 was elected to the first territorial legislature of the north-western territory. In 1819-23 he was a territorial delegate from Michigan to the sixteenth and seventeenth congresses; and in 1824-37 was associate justice of the supreme court of the territory of Michigan. He died April 4, 1846, in Detroit, Mich.

Sicard, Montgomery, naval officer, was born Sept. 30, 1836, in New York City. In 1851-55 he was a student at the United States naval academy. In 1870 he was appointed commander; in 1894 became commodore; and in 1897 attained the rank of rear admiral. In 1897-98 he was commander-in-chief of the United States naval force of the north Atlantic squadron; and was president of the naval war board during the Spanish-American war. He died in 1900 in Westerville, N.Y.

Sickel, Horatio Gates, soldier, was born April 2, 1817, in Belmont, Pa. He entered the United States service in 1861 as colonel of the third regiment of the Pennsylvania reserve corps; and succeeded General George G. Meade in the command of the brigade. He died April 18, 1890, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Sickels, David Banks, banker, diplomat, author, was born Feb. 8, 1837, in New York City. During the civil war he was war correspondent for eastern and western newspapers. He is the author of Leaves of the Lotus; and Land of the Lotus, or Life and Scenes in the Far East.

Sickles, Daniel Edgar, soldier, lawyer, state senator, diplomat, congressman, was born Oct. 20, 1825, in New York City. In 1847 he was elected to the assembly of New York; and in 1856 to the state senate. He served in the union army during the civil war; lost a leg in battle; and attained the rank of major-general of volunteers. He was subsequently appointed a colonel in the regular army; in 1867 was brevetted a major-general for gallant and meritorious services at Gettysburg; and retired from active service about 1886. In 1857-61 and 1893-95 he was a representative to the thirty-fifth, thirty-sixth and fifty-third congresses as a democrat. In 1869-73 he was United States minister to Spain.

Sickles, Hiram Franklin, soldier, was born in New York. In 1861 he was major in the ninth regiment Illinois cavalry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died May 23, 1892.

Sickles, Nicholas, congressman, was born in Kinderhook, N.Y. In 1835-37 he was a representative to the twenty-fourth congress. He died May 13, 1846, in Kingston, N.Y.

Sidell, William Henry, soldier, civil engineer, was born Aug. 21, 1810, in New York City. He was employed by the United States government on surveys of the delta of Mississippi river. He received the brevets of colonel and brigadier-general in 1865. He died June 30, 1873, in New York City.

Sidney, Edward William, litterateur, author. He is the author of Pseudonym of Nathaniel Beverly Tucker.

Sidwell, Thomas Watson, educator, founder, was born May 16, 1859, in Johnsville, Md. In 1883 he founded and has since been principal of the Friends school of Washington, D.C.

Siebecker, Robert G., lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 17, 1854, in Sauk county, Wis. In 1890-1903 he was circuit judge of the ninth judicial circuit of Wisconsin; and since 1903 has been justice of the supreme court of Wisconsin.

Siebert, John Selmar, designer, architect, was born Sept. 28, 1864, in Germany. He has been instructor in civil engineering in Lehigh university; and in the Pennsylvania state college. He has been inspector of the United States light house service; and is a practicing architect of Cumberland, Md, in which city the best business houses and residences have been built from his designs.

Siebert, Wilbur Henry, educator, author, was born Aug. 30, 1866, in Columbus, Ohio. He attended the public schools of Columbus; graduated from the Ohio state university in 1888; graduated from Harvard university two years later; and studied for one year in the universities of Germany. For many years he has taught history and political science in the Ohio state university; and since 1898 has been professor of European history in that institution. He is the author of The Underground Railroad from Slavery to Freedom; The Government of Ohio; and various historical monographs.

Siefert, Henry Otto Rudolf, educator, author, was born Feb. 11, 1841, in Prussia. He came to the United States in 1855; and in 1896-1904 was superintendent; and since 1904 has been principal of schools of Milwaukee, Wis. He is the author Principles of Arithmetic.

Siegfried, Daniel F., pharmacist, business man, was born Nov. 4, 1845, in Coatsauqua, Pa. He was educated in the public and private schools of Bethlehem, Pa. For three years he was trustee of the normal school at Valley City; has been trustee of the soldiers' home at Lisbon; for four years served as county commissioner of Barnes county, N.D.; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. He is a successful druggist of Sanborn, N.D.; and prominently identified with the business and public affairs of that city. He has all the masonic degrees up to the thirty-second degree; and has always been a great worker in the rite. He is department commander of the Grand army of the republic for North Dakota for the term of 1905.

Sigel, Franz, soldier, was born Nov. 18, 1824, in Germany. In 1852 he came to the United States. In 1852-58 he taught and published a military magazine in New York City. In 1858-61 he was a teacher and lecturer in the public schools of St. Louis, Mo. At the beginning of the civil war he organized a regiment and a battery; in 1861 he was commissioned brigadier-general; and in 1862 attained rank of major-general. In 1862 he commanded the troops at Harper's Ferry. In 1863 he commanded the reserved army at Pennsylvania; and in 1864 commanded a department of the army at West Virginia. In 1865-67 he edited the Baltimore Wecker. In 1871 he was appointed colonel of the internal revenue of New York City; and in 1871-74 was register of the city of New York. For many years he edited the New York Monthly. He died Aug. 21, 1902, in Mott Haven, N.Y.

Sigfried, Joshua K., soldier, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1861 he was captain in the sixth regiment Pennsylvania infantry; and in 1864 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died July 19, 1896.

Sigmund, Frederick Lester, educator, college president, was born Dec. 8, 1866, in Shimersville, Pa. Since 1890 he has filled pastorates in the evangelical lutheran church in Indiana, Ohio and Illinois. Since 1900 he has been president of Carthage college of Illinois; and has also been professor of mental and moral philosophy in that institution.

Sigourney, Mrs. Lydia Howard, author, poet, was born Sept. 1, 1791, in Norwich, Conn. She was one of the most popular of the earlier American writers. Among her prose writings are Myrtis; Post Meridian; Letters to My Pupils; Letters to Young Ladies; Traits of the Aborigines in America; and Letters of Life. Other works are Pocahontas; Moral Pieces in Prose and Verse; Poetry for Children; and Zinzendorf, and Other Poems. She died June 10, 1865, in Hartford, Conn.

Sihler, Ernest Gottlieb, educator, author, was born Jan. 2, 1853, in Fort Wayne, Ind. Since 1892 he has been professor of Latin and lecturer in the graduate school in New York university. He is the author of Lexicon to Latinity of Cæsar's Gallic War.

Sigsbee, Charles Dwight, naval officer, author, was born Jan. 16, 1845, in Albany, N.Y. In 1859-63 he attended the naval academy and served in the civil war in the west gulf squadron. He was in the battle of Mobile bay, and at both attacks at Fort Fisher; and in the final assault on same. In 1867 he was commissioned lieutenant, and lieutenant-commander in 1868. During 1869-71 he was on duty at the naval academy; and was promoted to commander in 1882. He was in command of the warship Maine, which was destroyed by a sub-marine mine in Havana harbor. He rendered important service during the Spanish-American war of 1898, being in command of the swift cruiser St. Paul, which was called Harvard, and is now retired. He is the author of Deep Sea Sounding and Dredging; and Personal Narrative of the Battleship Maine.

Sikes, Enoch Walter, educator, author, was born in 1868, in Union county, N.C. He is professor of history and political economy at Wake Forest college of North Carolina. He is the author of From Colony to Commonwealth; Joseph Hewes; and other works.

Sikes, Mrs. Olive Logan, lecturer, actress, author, was born April 22, 1839, in Elmira, N.Y. She was the author of Photographs of Paris Life; Chateau Frissac, or Home Scenes in France; John Morris's Money; Somebody's Stockings; Apropos of Women and Theaters; Before the Footlights and Behind the Scenes; The Mimic World; Get Thee Behind Me, Satan; and They Met by Chance, a novel. She died in April, 1909, in London, England.

Sikes, William Wirt, journalist, author, was born in 1836 in Watertown, N.Y. He was a journalist of New York City; and in 1876-83 was consul at Cardiff, Wales. He was the author of British Goblins; Welsh Folk-Lore; One Poor Girl; Ramblers and Studies in Old South Wales; and Studies of Assassination. He died Aug. 19, 1883, in London, England.

Silkman, James Bailey, lawyer, spiritualist, was born Oct. 9, 1819, in Bedford, N.Y. Prior to the civil war he caused much excitement by introducing resolutions against slavery in the New York diocesan convention of the protestant episcopal church. He became converted to spiritualism, and remained until his death one of its foremost adherents. He died Feb. 4, 1888, in New York City.

Silkman, Theodore Hannibal, lawyer, public official, was born March 25, 1858, in New York City. He received his education in Hooper's academy of Yonkers, N.Y. In 1879 he was admitted to the bar and has since practiced law continuously in New York City. He has been United States commissioner for the city of Yonkers; police commissioner for six years; and is now president of the board. In 1895 he began a term of six years as surrogate of West Chester county, N.Y.

Sill, Edward Rowland, educator, poet, was born April 29, 1841, in Windsor, Conn. He was professor in the university of California in 1874-82. He was the author of The Hermitage, and Later Poems; and Poems. He died Feb. 27, 1887, in Cleveland, Ohio.

Sill, John Mahelm Berry, educator, college president, author, was born Nov. 23, 1831, in Black Rock, now a part of Buffalo, N.Y. He was president of Michigan state normal school; and for fourteen years was superintendent Detroit public schools. In 1893-97 he was minister resident and consul-general of the United States for Korea. He was the author of Synthesis of the English Sentence; and Practical Lessons in English. He died April 6, 1901, in Detroit, Mich.

Sill, Joshua Woodrow, soldier, was born Dec. 6, 1831, in Chillicothe, Ohio. At the beginning of the civil war he was commissioned assistant adjutant-general of Ohio. He was commissioned colonel of the thirty-third Ohio volunteers; and attained the rank of brigadier-general. He died Dec. 31, 1862, in Murfreesboro, Tenn.

Sill, Louise Morgan, author, poet, was born in Honolulu, H.I., during the consul-generalship of her late father, Major General Morgan L. Smith. She was educated at Mrs. Pairo's school the Mt. Vernon institute of Washington, D. C. She married George Imbrie Sill of Albany, N.Y. She is on the editorial staff of Harper and brothers of New York City; and is a contributor to magazines. She is the author of In Sun or Shades, a volume of poems.

Sill, Thomas H., lawyer, congressman, was born in Connecticut. In 1825-27 and 1829-31 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the nineteenth and twenty-first congresses. He died in Pennsylvania.

Sille, Nicasia de, lawyer, statesman, was born about 1600 in Holland. He was commissioned by the Dutch West India company in 1633 as first councillor in their provincial government of New Amsterdam. He built the first stone house in New Utrecht; and left a brief history of the settlement of that town. He died in New York.

Silliman, Augustus Ely, banker, financier, author, was born April 11, 1807, in Newport, R.I. He was president of the Merchants' bank of New York City in 1857-68. He was the author of A Gallop Among American Scenery. He died May 30, 1884, in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Silliman, Benjamin, educator, chemist, author, was born Dec. 4, 1816, in New Haven, Conn. He was a professor of chemistry at Yale university in 1846-85; and editor of Silliman's Journal. He was the author of First Principles of Chemistry; American Contributions to Chemistry; and Principles of Physics. He died Jan. 14, 1885, in New Haven, Conn.

Silliman, Benjamin, educator, naturalist, author, was born Aug. 8, 1779, in North Stratford, Conn. He was a chemist of distinction; and professor of chemistry at Yale university in 1802-55. He was the founder in 1818 of Silliman's Journal of Science and Art. He was the author of Journal of Travels in England; Narrative of a Visit to Europe; Elements of Chemistry; and Consistency of Modern Geology with Sacred History. He died Nov. 24, 1864, in New Haven, Conn.

Silliman, Gold Selleck, soldier, was born May 7, 1732, in Fairfield, Conn. At the beginning of the revolutionary war he was colonel of cavalry in the local militia; and during the greater part of the war he held the rank of brigadier-general. He was charged with the defense of the southwestern frontier of Connecticut; which, owing to the long occupation of New York City by the British, was a duty that required much vigilance. He died July 31, 1790, in Fairfield, Conn.

Silliman, Benjamin Douglas, lawyer, state legislator, was born Sept. 14, 1805, in Newport, R.I. In 1824 he graduated from Yale college and in 1829 began the practice of law in New York City. He was elected to the New York legislature in 1838. In 1865 he was appointed United States attorney for the eastern district of New York. In 1873 he received the honorary degree of LL.D. from Columbia and Yale colleges. He was president of the Brooklyn club; president of the Yale alumni association of Long Island; and president of the New England society in the city of Brooklyn. He died Jan. 24, 1901, in New York City.

Silliman, Justus Mitchell, mining engineer, inventor, was born Jan. 25, 1842, in New Canaan, Conn. In 1870 he was called to the charge of the department of mining engineering and graphics in Lafayette college. He has invented an instrument for orthographic, clinographic, and crystallographic projection, also a water manometer and anemometer. He died in 1896 in Lafayette, Ala.

Silliman, Reuben Daniel, lawyer, jurist, was born May 17, 1871, in Hudson, Wis. In 1894-98 he practiced law in Duluth, Minn.; and in 1900 was appointed judge of the circuit court of the Hawaiian Islands.

in 1894-1900 was chief justice. He died in 1905 in Atlanta, Ga.

Simmons, Wallace Delafield, merchant, director, was born Nov. 24, 1867, in St. Louis, Mo. He graduated from Yale university. Since 1890 he has been engaged in the hardware business, becoming director of the Simmons hardware company in 1892, and since 1898 has been president. He is also director of the National bank of commerce of St. Louis. He is vice-president of the chamber of commerce of the United States of America.

Simmons, William Hayne, poet, author, was born about 1875 in South Carolina. He published anonymously an Indian poem entitled Onea. He is also the author of A History of the Sem notes.

Simms, Jephtha Root, merchant, author, was born Dec. 31, 1807, in Canterbury, Conn. In 1829 he began the retail dry goods business in New York City; and three years later continued the business in Schoharie county, N.Y. After 1842 he filled the office of toll collector, and for nine years was ticket agent. His spare hours were employed in collecting an assortment of fossils, which he sold for five thousand dollars to the state of New York for the Geological museum of Albany. He was the author of A History of Schoharie County; The American Spy; Nathan Hale; Trappers of New York; and The Frontiersmen. He died May 31, 1883, in Fort Plain, N.Y.

Simmons, William Johnson, clergyman, author, was born June 29, 1849, in Charleston, S.C. In 1879 he was called to a church in Lexington, Ky.; and in 1880 he was elected president of the state university. He was the author of a work entitled Men of Mark. He died Dec. 30, 1890, in Lexington, Ky.

Simms, Joseph, physiognomist, lecturer, author, was born Sept. 3, 1833, in Plainfield Center, N.Y. In 1854-84 he delivered lectures in all parts of the world, his principal lecture being How to Rise in the World. He taught school in New York, New Jersey, Wisconsin, and Illinois, later studied medicine and surgery; and practiced his profession for a short time. He is the author of A Physiognomical Chart, Nature's Revelations of Character; Book of Scientific Lectures; Health and Character; and Practical and Scientific Physiognomy.

Simms, Joseph Milburn, naval officer, was born Sept. 19, 1841, in Patuxent, Md. He was educated in the public schools of the District of Columbia. In 1861 he served in the sixth battalion District of Columbia volunteers; in 1863 was appointed a master in the United States navy; and in 1863 was promoted acting ensign. He served in the north Atlantic blockading squadron and on waters of the southern Pacific. In 1865 he was wounded in a land attack on Fort Fisher; and in 1868 resigned from the navy. In 1868 he was commissioned third lieutenant in United States revenue cutter service; and has served in various states from Maine to the Gulf of Mexico. In 1895 he was retired as first lieutenant; and was advanced to captain on the retired list on the United States revenue cutter service for meritorious acts and wounds received in the United States service.

Simms, William E., congressman, was born in Kentucky. In 1859-61 he was a representative from Kentucky to the thirty-sixth congress. He died in Kentucky.

Simms, William Gilmore, lawyer, author, poet, was born April 17, 1806, in Charleston, S.C. He was the author of The Partisan; The Yemassee; Guy Rivers; Martin Faber; Border Beagles; Beauchampe; and twelve volumes of verse; Atlantis; Lays of the Palmetto; and Areytos, or Songs and Ballads of the South. Other works of his include A History of South Carolina; and Lives of Marion, General Greene, Captain John Smith, and Chevalier Bayard. He died June 11, 1870, in Charleston, S.C.

Simon, Charles E., physician, surgeon, author, was born Sept. 23, 1866, in Baltimore, Md. In 1897 he opened the first clinical laboratory in Baltimore, Md.; and is a teacher of clinical laboratory methods to post-graduates in medicine; and is a professor of the Baltimore medical college. He is the author of Clinical Diagnosis; and Physiological Chemistry.

Simon, Joseph, lawyer, United States senator, was born in 1851 in Germany. Since 1872 he has practiced law in Portland, Ore. In 1892 he was delegate to the national republican convention. In 1880-98 he was a state senator of Oregon; and president of the state senate in 1889, 1891, 1895, 1897 and the special session of 1898. In 1899-1903 he was United States senator from Oregon.

Simon, William, chemist, author, was born Feb. 20, 1844, in Germany. In 1870-1907 he was chemist to the Baltimore chrome works; in 1872-1902 was professor of chemistry in the Maryland college of pharmacy; and is now professor of chemistry in the College of physicians and surgeons of Baltimore, Md.; and in the Baltimore college of dental surgery. He is the author of Manual of Chemistry.

Simonds, Frederic William, educator, geologist, author, was born July 3, 1853, in Charlestown, Mass. In 1875 he graduated from Cornell university with the degree of B.S.; and subsequently received the degrees of M.S., Ph.D. and D.S.C. In 1877-81 he was professor of geology, zoology and botany in the university of North Carolina; and in 1887-90 was professor of geology and biology in the university of Arkansas. Since 1895 he has been professor of geology in the university of Texas. He is a fellow of the American association for the advancement of science. He is the author of Annual Reports of the Geological Survey of Arkansas; A Record of the Geology of Texas for the Decade Ending in 1896; The Geography of Texas; Physical and Political, and other works.

Simonds, William, journalist, author, was born Oct. 30, 1822, in Charleston, Mass. He was a Boston journalist; and was a very popular writer for young people. He was the author of The Aimwell Stories; The Boys' Own Guide; and Boys' Book of Morals and Manners. He died July 7, 1859, in Winchester, Mass.

Simonds, William Edgar, soldier, lecturer, congressman, author, was born Nov. 25, 1841, in Collinsville, Conn. He practiced law in Hartford, Conn. During 1884-93 he filled the lectureship on patent law in the Yale law school; and for three years in 1891-93 filled the same chair in the Columbia university of Washington, D.C. In 1882 he was elected a member of the Connecticut state legislature; and in 1885 received the re-election and was made speaker. In 1889-91 he was a representative to the fifty-first congress; and was United States commissioner of patents in 1891-93. He was author of Design Patents; Digest of Patent Office Decisions; Digest of Patent Cases; and Summary of Patent Law. He died March 1914, in Hartford, Conn.

Simonds, William Edward, educator, author, was born Sept. 10, 1860, in Peabody, Mass. In 1883 he graduated from Brown university; and took post-graduate studies in the universities of Berlin and Strassburg. In 1883-85 he taught in the Providence high schools; in 1888-89 was an instructor of German at Cornell university; and since 1889 has been professor of English literature in Knox college of Galesburg, Ill. He is the author of Sir Thomas Wyatt and His Poems; An Introduction to the Study of English Fiction; and A Student's History of English Literature.

Simons, Algie Martin, editor, lecturer, author, was born Oct. 9, 1870, in North Freedom, Wis. Since 1900 he has been editor of the International Socialist Review of Chicago, Ill.; and also edits the Chicago Daily Socialist. He is the author of The American Farmer; and Class Struggles in America.

Simons, Michael Laird, journalist, author, was born Sept. 7, 1843, in Philadelphia, Pa. He edited Stoddard's Review; condensed D'Aubigne's History of the Reformation; published Half-Hours with the Best Preachers; and continued Duyckinck's Cyclopædia of American Literature. His last work was an extensive History of the World. He died Nov. 17, 1880, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Simons, Samuel, congressman, was born in 1792, in Bridgeport, Conn. In 1843-46 he was a representative from Connecticut to the twenty-eighth congress. He died Jan. 13, 1847, in Bridgeport, Conn.

Simons, Thomas Young, soldier, journalist, lawyer, state legislator, was born Oct. 1, 1828, in Charleston, S.C. In 1854-60 he was a member of the South Carolina legislature; and in 1860 a presidential elector. He was also a member of the convention that passed the ordinance of secession in December, 1860. In the civil war he served as captain of the twenty-seventh South Carolina regiment; and later as judge-advocate. He died April 30, 1878, in Charleston, S.C.

Simonsen, John Smith, soldier, was born June 2, 1796, in Uniontown, Pa. At the opening of the civil war he was made superintendent of the volunteer recruiting service at Indianapolis, Ind; and he continued on active military duty till 1869. In 1865 he was brevetted brigadier-general United States army for long and faithful service. He died Dec. 5, 1881, in New Albany, Ind.

Simonton, Charles Bryson, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 8, 1838, in Tipton county, Tenn. He was a member of the state house of representatives in 1877-78. In 1879-83 he was a representative from Tennessee to the forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses.

Simonton, Charles H., soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born July 11, 1829, in Charleston, S.C. In 1858-86 he was a member of the South Carolina state legislature, except during the civil war and reconstruction period. He served in the confederate army as captain of the Washington light infantry; and later was colonel of the twenty-fifth regiment South Carolina volunteers. In 1887-93 he was United States district judge for the district of South Carolina and in 1893 became United States circuit judge for the fourth circuit of South Carolina. He was the author of Lectures on Jurisdiction and Practice of United States Courts; and Digest of the Equity Decisions, State of South Carolina. He died in 1904 in Charleston, S.C.

Simonton, James William, journalist, founder, was born Jan. 30, 1823, in Columbia county, N.Y. He was one of the original proprietors of the New York Times. His letters, entitled The History of Legislation, were really a record of the times. He became part owner in 1859 of the Evening Bulletin in San Francisco, and subsequently of the Morning Call of that city. He died Nov. 2, 1882, in Napa, Cal.

Simonton, John Wiggins, lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 2, 1826, in Hanover township, Pa. In 1881 he became presiding judge for the twelfth judicial district of Pennsylvania. In 1895 he was president of the Pennsylvania state bar association. He died in 1903 in Harrisburg, Pa.

Simonton, William, congressman, was born in Hummelstown, Pa. In 1839-43 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the twenty-sixth and twenty-seventh congresses. He died May 18, 1846, in Hanover, Pa.

Simpkins, John, state senator, congressman, was born June 27, 1862, in New Bedford, Mass. He attended the public school of Yarmouth, Mass.; was prepared for college at St. Mark's school of Southboro, Mass.; and in 1885 graduated from the Harvard university. In 1890-91 he was a member of Massachusetts state senate. In 1892 he was presidential elector for Harrison and Reid. In 1892-93 he was president of the republican club of Massachusetts; and in 1892, 1893 and 1894 was a member of Massachusetts republican state committee. In 1895-99 he was a representative from Massachusetts to the fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses as republican. He died March 27, 1898, in Yarnville, Mass.

Simpson, Albert B., clergyman, founder, author. He founded and is president and general superintendent of the christian and missionary alliance of New York City. He has sent out hundreds of foreign missionaries; and is pastor of the Gospel tabernacle of New York City. He is the author of Christ in the Bible, in six volumes; and several other religious works.

Simpson, Charles Torrey, zoologist, scientist, author, was born June 3, 1846, in Tiskilwa, Ill. In 1889-1902 he was connected with the United States national museum. He is the author of Geographical Distribution of the Land and Fresh Water Mollusca of the West Indies; Synopsis of the Naiades, or Pearly Fresh Water Mussels; Mollusca of Porto Rico; Unionidae of Florida; and various scientific papers.

Simpson, Cyrus M., lawyer, statesman, was born Dec. 9, 1844, in Rockville, Ind. He served in the civil war in the Kansas cavalry. He is now a member of the law firm of Simpson, Moody and Simpson of Pasadena. He was formerly clerk of the district court and mayor of Iola, Iowa; and in 1877-86 was postmaster of that city. In 1892 he was a member of the California state assembly; and in 1895-1903 was a member of the state senate.

Simpson, Edward, naval officer, author, was born March 3, 1824, in New York City. He was a naval officer of prominence; and in 1884 became rear-admiral. In 1886 he was president of the board of inspection. He was the author of Ordnance and Naval Gunnery; The Naval Mission to Europe; and Report of the Gun Foundry Board. He died Dec. 2, 1888, in Washington, D.C.

Simpson, George Bennett, railway official, was born Sept. 1864, in Rock Island, Ill. He entered railway service in 1878 in the superintendent's office of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad. In 1884-87 was a clerk in the general freight office of the Wabash and St. Louis and Pacific railway at St. Louis. In 1887-89 he was chief clerk of the general freight department of the Wabash railway at Chicago, and in 1889-97 was in charge of the tariff department at St. Louis. Since 1899 he has been assistant general freight agent of the Chicago and Alton railroad at Kansas City.

Simpson, George Semmes, pioneer, was born May 7, 1818, in St. Louis, Mo. After various experiences in Wyoming, Colorado, and New Mexico, he built the old fort in 1842 where the city of Pueblo now stands. He died Sept. 4, 1885, in Trinidad, Colo., and was buried in a tomb cut out of the solid rock on the summit of a mountain known as Simpson's Nest, where he had once found shelter from the Indians. A monument marks the spot.

Simpson, Harvey Strother, railroad president, was born in 1854 in Laurens, S.C. Since 1891 he has been president of the Glenn Springs railroad of South Carolina.

Simpson, Henry, legislator, author, was born in 1790 in Pennsylvania. He was a member of the Pennsylvania state legislature. He was the author of Lives of Eminent Philadelphians. He died March 25, 1869, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Simpson, James, lawyer, jurist. In 1852-67 he was chief justice of the supreme court of Kentucky.

Simpson, James Hervey, soldier, civil engineer, author, was born March 9, 1813, in New Jersey. He was a colonel of engineers; and brevet brigadier-general in the United States army. He was the author of The Shortest Route to California; and Coronado's March in Search of the Seven Cities of Cibola. He died March 2, 1883, in St. Paul, Minn.

Simpson, Jerry, sailor, farmer, congressman, was born March 31, 1842, in New Brunswick. In 1878 he settled in Kansas; and was engaged in farming and stock raising in Barber county. In 1891-95 and 1897-99 he was a representative from Kansas to the fifty-second, fifty-third and fifty-fifth congresses. He died Oct. 23, 1905, in Wichita, Kan.

Simpson, John, soldier, statesman. In 1813 he was elected to the thirteenth congress, but did not serve. He served as a captain in the war of 1812, and was massacred Jan. 22, 1813, at the River Basin.

Simpson, John, soldier, was born Jan. 21, 1840, in Bethel, Ohio. In 1862-65 he served in the fifth Ohio volunteer cavalry. In 1867 he was appointed second lieutenant in the fourth artillery; and in 1901 became colonel and assistant quartermaster-general. In 1803 he was retired with the rank of brigadier-general in the United States army.

Simpson, Joseph W., merchant, legislator, was born in 1870 in York Harbor, Maine. He was educated in the public and private schools of Kent's Hill and York, Maine. He is a provision merchant and interested in real estate at York, Maine. In 1897 he was a representative in the Maine state legislature. He has been town treasurer; and member of the county committee; and in 1905-06 was a member of the Maine state senate.

Simpson, Josiah, lawyer, jurist, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1812 he was appointed United States district judge for the territory of Mississippi. He died in Mississippi.

Simpson, Josiah, army surgeon, was born Feb. 27, 1815, in New Brunswick, N.J. In 1837 he became assistant surgeon in the United States army; and served throughout the Florida, Mexican and civil wars. He died March 3, 1874, in Baltimore, Md.

Simpson, Matthew, clergyman, bishop, author, was born June 20, 1811, in Cadiz, Ohio. He was a methodist bishop; and famous as a pulpit orator. In 1839-49 he was president of the Indiana Asbury university, now called the De Pauw university. He rendered vast services to the country during the civil war; was often sent for to visit Washington; and as early as 1861 he had suggested the necessity of an emancipation proclamation. He was the author of Lectures on Preaching; A Hundred Years of Methodism; Sermons; and Cyclopædia of Methodism. He died June 18, 1884, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Simpson, Marcus De Lafayette, soldier, was born Aug. 28, 1824, in Esperance, N.Y.

During the civil war he served in the commissary-general's office; and he was brevetted colonel, brigadier-general, and major-general in 1865. He retired from the army in 1888 with rank of brevet major-general and colonel.

Simpson, Michael, soldier, was born May 19, 1740, in Paxtang, Pa. At the beginning of the revolution he was appointed lieutenant in the first Pennsylvania battalion. He was promoted captain, commanded a company at the battle of Long Island; and also participated in the battles of Trenton, Princeton, Brandywine, Germantown, and White Plains. He was appointed brigadier-general of Pennsylvania troops under orders for the establishment of a provisional army. He died June 1, 1813, in York county, Pa.

Simpson, Michael H., manufacturer, inventor, was born Nov. 15, 1809, in Newburyport, Mass. He invented a machine for separating burrs from the wool; and invented a machine for combing the fibers. For many years he was engaged in the manufacture of bunting; and the first flag of American bunting was made in his mills near Framingham, Mass. He died in Framingham, Mass.

Simpson, Richard F., state senator, congressman, was born in South Carolina. He was a member of the South Carolina state senate. In 1843-49 he was a representative to the twenty-eighth, twenty-ninth and thirtieth congresses. He died in South Carolina.

Simpson, Robert Tennent, lawyer, jurist, was born June 5, 1837, in Florence, Ala. He began the practice of law in Camden, Ala.; and in 1870-1903 practiced his profession in Florence, Ala. Since 1903 he has been an associate justice of the supreme court of Alabama.

Simpson, Samuel, educator, clergyman, lecturer, author, was born Nov. 24, 1868, in Centerville, Mich. In 1894-96 he was pastor of the congregational church of Garner, Iowa; and in 1898-1900 was pastor at Chardon, Ohio. He is now an associate professor of American church history at the Hartford theological seminary. He is the author of Life of Ulrich, Zwingli, Swiss Patriot and Reformer.

Simpson, Samuel P., soldier, was born in Missouri. In 1862 he was lieutenant-colonel in the twelfth regiment Missouri state militia cavalry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He resigned in 1865.

Simpson, Stephen, soldier, journalist, author, was born July 24, 1789, in Philadelphia, Pa. He fought at the battle of New Orleans. He became editor and proprietor of The Portico and in 1822 established the Columbian Observer, a democratic paper in the interests of Andrew Jackson. He was the author of Life of Stephen Girard. He died Aug. 17, 1854, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Simpson, W. D., soldier, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, governor, was born June 11, 1803, in Brunswick county, Va. In 1856-60 he was a representative in the South Carolina state legislature; and was elected a state senator in 1860. He entered the confederate army as lieutenant-colonel on staff duty; and was afterward major and lieutenant-colonel in the line. In 1863 he was elected a representative in the confederate congress. He was a representative from South Carolina to the forty-first congress. In 1876-80 he was lieutenant-governor of South Carolina; and in 1879-80 was the forty-fourth governor. In 1880-86 he was chief justice of the supreme court of the state. He died Dec. 26, 1890, in Columbia, S.C.

Simpson, William, lawyer, jurist. In 1866 he was chief justice of the supreme court of Kentucky.

Simpson, William Alexander, lawyer, scientist, author, was born Jan. 24, 1836, in Knox county, Tenn. He has been county surveyor of Roane and Loudon counties, Tenn.; for sixteen years a member of the magistrate's court of Loudon county; and for twenty-three years postmaster of Stockton. He is the author of A Common Sense Commentary on the Bible.

Simpson, William Augustus, soldier, was born Feb. 11, 1854, in Brooklyn, N.Y. In 1875 he was appointed second lieutenant in the second artillery; and in 1898 was on General Merritt's staff in the Philippine expedition. Since 1905 he has been adjutant general of the department of California.

Simrall, H. F., lawyer, jurist, was born in 1817. He was a justice of the supreme court of Mississippi. He died Aug. 15, 1901, in Vicksburg, Miss.

Sims, Alexander Dromgoole, educator, lawyer, congressman, was born June 11, 1803, in Brunswick county, Va. He served in the South Carolina state legislature in 1840-42; and in 1845-49 he was a representative from South Carolina to the twenty-ninth and thirtieth congresses. He died Nov. 11, 1848, in Kingstree, S.C.

Sims, Charles Abercrombie, civil engineer, railroad contractor, was born June 5, 1866, near Memphis, Tenn. He was resident engineer in charge of building the Pennsylvania railroad's stone arch bridge over the Conemaugh river that stood the Johnstown flood of 1889. He is a member of the firm of Charles A. Sims and company, contractors who built the stone arch bridge over the Delaware river for the Pennsylvania railroad at Trenton, N.J. He is a noted civil engineer and railroad contractor of Philadelphia, Pa.

Sims, Charles N., clergyman, college president, author, was born May 18, 1835, in Union county, Ind. In 1860 he became president of Valparaiso college of Indiana; and in 1862 was appointed to a pastoral charge in Richmond, Ind. In 1880-93 he was chancellor of Syracuse university; and is now filling a pastorate in Syracuse, N.Y.

In 1882-83 he was commissioner to the Onondaga Indian nation. He is the author of a Life of Thomas M. Eddy.

Sims, Clifford Stanley, lawyer, state legislator, diplomat, author, was born Feb. 17, 1839, in Dauphin county, Pa. In 1864-69 he was judge-advocate-general of Arkansas; and in 1868-69 was a representative in the legislature. For the next nine years he was United States consul for the district of Prescott, Canada. He was the author of The Origin and Signification of Scottish Surnames. He died in 1896 in New Jersey.

Sims, Harry Marion, physician, surgeon, author, was born Feb. 27, 1851, in Montgomery, Ala. He has lectured for several years on gynecology before the New York polyclinic. He has prepared an American edition of Dr. Grailly Hewitt's work on Diseases of Women, with additions showing the later improvements in gynecology in America.

Sims, Henry Augustus, architect, was born Dec. 22, 1832, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was long the secretary for foreign correspondence of the American institute of architects. He designed many city and country residences; and among other public buildings, the Columbia avenue and second presbyterian churches in Philadelphia; the chapel at Mercersburg, Pa; the courthouse at Hagerstown, Md.; and the almshouse of Montgomery county, Pa. He died July 10, 1875, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Sims, James Marion, physician, surgeon, author, was born Jan. 25, 1813, in Lancaster county, S.C. To his influence is due the establishment of gynecology as a department of medicine. He was the author of Clinical Notes on Uterine Surgery; Ovariotomy; and The Story of My Life. He died Nov. 13, 1883, in New York City.

Sims, James Peacock, designer, architect, was born Nov. 15, 1849, in Philadelphia, Pa. He designed, besides many private residences, the building of the Royal insurance company, Christ church and Holy trinity memorial chapels, Philadelphia. He died May 20, 1882, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Sims, Leonard H., congressman, was born in North Carolina. He was a resident of Greene county, Mo.; and in 1845-47 he was a representative from Missouri to the twenty-ninth congress. He died in Springfield, Mo.

Sims, Thetus Willrette, educator, lawyer, congressman, was born April 25, 1852, in Wayne county, Tenn. In 1882-84 he was county superintendent of public instruction for Perry county, Tenn. In 1897-1915 he was a representative to the fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh, fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth, sixtieth, sixty-first, sixty-second, and sixty-third congresses as a democrat.

Sims, William Sowden, naval officer, was born in 1882 in Kansas. He was appointed midshipman of the United States navy.

In 1902 was promoted lieutenant commander; in 1907 attained the rank of commander; and since 1902 has been inspector of target practice in Washington, D.C.

Sims, Winfield Scott, soldier, inventor, was born April 6, 1844, in New York City. He served in the thirty-seventh New Jersey regiment during the civil war. He has invented various devices in electro-magnets; and was the first person to apply electricity for the propulsion and guidance of movable torpedoes for harbor and coast defense. His devise of a torpedo is a submarine boat with a cylindrical hull of copper and with conical ends, furnished with a screw propeller and a rudder, the power being electricity generated on shore or on ship-board. He has invented a boat with a speed of eighteen miles an hour to carry a two hundred and fifty pound charge of dynamite, and has also invented a wireless dirigible torpedo. He invented the Sims-Dudley gun; and is now designing a dynamite cruiser to carry a hundred tons of high explosives, controlled by an operator on ship or on shore.

Simson, Sampson, philanthropist, was born in 1870, in New York City. He was the founder of the Mount Sinai hospital; and bequeathed large sums to Jewish and general institutions, including fifty thousand dollars that, after the death of a nephew, should be paid "to any responsible corporation in this city whose permanent fund is established by its charter for the purpose of ameliorating the condition of the Jews in Jerusalem, Palestine." By decision of the state supreme court, 1888, this amount, with thirty years' interest, was paid to the North American relief society for indigent Jews in Jerusalem. He died Jan. 7, 1887, in New York City.

Sinclair, Angus, mechanical engineer, editor, author, was born in 1841 in Scotland. Since 1883 he has been engaged in editorial work in New York City; and is a recognized writer on railway and automobile subjects. He is the author of Locomotive Engine Running; Combustion in Locomotive Fireboxes; Firing Locomotive, and Development of the Locomotive Engine.

Sinclair, Brevard D., lawyer, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 31, 1859, in Charlotte, N.C. In 1877-84 he practiced law in Washington, D.C. He became a clergyman of the presbyterian church; and now fills a pastorate at Yreka, Cal. He is the author of the Crowning Sin of the Age.

Sinclair, Carrie Bell, litterateur, poet, was born May 23, 1839, in Milledgeville, Ga. She is a poet of Philadelphia, Pa. She is the author of Poems; and Heart Whispers, or Echoes of Song.

Sinclair, Charles E., lawyer, jurist, was born in Virginia. He was appointed an associate justice of the United States court for the territory of Utah. He died in Utah.

Sinclair, Lee Wiley, banker, capitalist, born Feb. 18, 1836, in Cloverdale, Ind.

He organized and is president of the West Baden springs company; and was the first person to bring West Baden into general notice. In 1902 he erected a million dollar hotel at that resort. He is president of the West Baden national bank; and since 1880 has been president of the bank of Salem, Ind.

Sinclair, Upton, founder, author, was born Sept. 20, 1878, in Baltimore, Md. In 1897 he graduated from the college of the city of New York; and did four years graduate work at Columbia university. In 1906 he assisted in the government investigation of the Chicago stock-yards. In 1906-07 he founded the Helicon home colony at Englewood, N.J. In 1906 he was a socialistic candidate for congress; and is vice-president of the intercollegiate socialist society. He is the author of Spring and Harvest; King Midas; The Journal of Arthur Sterling; Prince Ilagen, a Phantasy; Manassas, a Novel of the War; The Jungle; The Industrial Republic; and The Overman.

Sinclair, William, soldier, was born Feb. 15, 1835, near St. Clairville, Ohio. In 1857 he graduated from West Point. During the civil war he became a captain. He attained the rank of brigadier-general in the United States army in 1899; and was retired from active service after a service of forty years. He died in 1905 in Washington, D.C.

Sinclair, William Albert, educator, author, was born March 25, 1858, in Georgetown, S.C. Since 1888 he has been secretary of the Howard university at Washington, D.C. He is the author of The Aftermath of Slavery.

Singenberger, John, educator, publisher, musician, was born May 25, 1848, in Switzerland. He received a thorough musical education in America and Europe. He is now professor of music at the Catholic normal school of St. Francis, Wis.; and president of the American St. Cecilia society. He is the editor and publisher of the Cecilia, a monthly magazine devoted to catholic church music.

Singer, Frederic, naval officer, was born May 3, 1847, in Germany. In 1864 he was appointed midshipman on the United States frigate Macedonian; in 1899 he became commander; in 1904 he was appointed captain; and in 1906 was retired with the rank of rear-admiral.

Singer, Isaac Merritt, machinist, inventor, was born Oct. 27, 1811, in Oswego, N.Y. He devoted himself to the study of improving sewing-machines. After years of close application he succeeded in completing a single-thread, chain-stitch machine, for which he received a patent. He died July 23, 1875, in England.

Singer, Isidore, journalist, translator, author, was born Nov. 10, 1859, in Austria. He is managing editor of the Jewish Encyclopedia. He is the author of several published works; and numerous translations of French works into German.

Singer, Otto, musician, composer, was born July 26, 1833, in Germany. In 1873-92 he taught pianoforte and theory in the Cincinnati college of music. He was the author of The Landing of the Pilgrim Fathers; Festival Ode; and contributed to periodicals articles on historical and æsthetical subjects. He died Jan. 3, 1894, in New York City.

Singerly, William Miskey, journalist, publisher, was born Dec. 27, 1832, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1877 he bought The Philadelphia Record; and he brought the daily sales from five thousand to more than one hundred thousand copies, and made the enterprise profitable. He subsequently was connected with paper mills and a bank. He died Feb. 27, 1898, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Singiser, Theodore F., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born March 15, 1845, in Churchtown, Pa. He was employed in the United States treasury at Washington in 1875-79; and was then appointed receiver of public moneys at Oxford, Idaho. In 1880 he was appointed secretary of Idaho territory; and was acting governor of the territory during the winter of 1881-82. In 1883-85 he was a territorial delegate from Idaho to the forty-eighth congress as a republican. He died in 1907 in Boise City, Idaho.

Singleton, Esther, litterateur, author, was born in Baltimore, Md. She is the author of A Guide to the Opera; originator and editor of a series of books on art and travel, among which are Turrets, Towers and Temples; Great Pictures; Paris; Wonders of Nature; and The Furniture of Our Forefathers.

Singleton, James W., lawyer, state legislator, railroad president, congressman, was born Nov. 23, 1811, in Paxton, Va. He served six terms in the Illinois state legislature; and was a brigadier-general of state militia. He was president of the Quincy and Toledo, and Quincy, Alton and St. Louis railroads. In 1879-83 he was a representative from Illinois to the forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses a democrat. He died April 4, 1892, in Baltimore, Md.

Singleton, Otho R., soldier, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 14, 1814, in Jessamine county, Ky. He was two years in the lower house of the Mississippi legislature; and served six years in the state senate. He was a presidential elector in 1852. In 1853-55, 1857-61 and 1875-87 he was a representative from Mississippi to the thirty-third, forty-fourth, forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, forty-eighth and forty-ninth congresses as a democrat. He joined the great rebellion in 1861; and served as a representative in 1865. He died in 1889 in Forest, Miss.

Singleton, Thomas D., congressman, was born in South Carolina. He was elected to congress from South Carolina in 1833; and while on his way to Washington to take his seat in December, died at Raleigh, N.C.

Sinkler, Wharton, surgeon, neurologist, was born Aug. 17, 1868, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was educated at Gambier, Ohio; studied at the South Carolina college; and subsequently after the civil war graduated from the university of Pennsylvania with the degree of M.D. During the civil war he served in the second South Carolina cavalry in the confederate state's army. Since 1868 he has been a practicing physician of Philadelphia, Pa.; and is a specialist in nervous diseases. He has been president of the Philadelphia neurological society; and president of the Colony farm for epileptics of Pennsylvania. He has contributed extensively to text-books, cyclopedias and medical journals. He died March 16, 1910.

Sinnickson, Clement H., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 16, 1834, in Salem, N.J. In 1861 he raised a company of volunteers; and enlisted as captain in the fourth regiment of New Jersey volunteers. In 1875-79 he was a representative from New Jersey to the forty-fourth and forty-fifth congresses as a republican.

Sinnickson, Thomas, soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1745 in Salem county, N.J. He served in the revolutionary war at the battles of Trenton and Princeton in the capacity of captain. He was for many years a member of the council and assembly of New Jersey; and the presiding judge of the court of common pleas. In 1789-91 and 1797-99 he was a representative to the first and fifth congresses. He was a presidential elector in 1801. He died May 15, 1817, in Salem, N.J.

Sinnickson, Thomas, merchant, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born Dec. 13, 1786, in Salem, N.J. He was a judge of the court of common pleas for twenty years; was a member of the New Jersey legislature; and judge of the court of errors and appeals. In 1827-29 he was a representative to the twentieth congress from New Jersey. He died in Salem, N.J.

Sinnott, Nicholas J., congressman, was born Dec. 6, 1870, in The Dalles, Ore. He is a lawyer; and has been a member of the Oregon state senate. In 1913-15 he was a representative from Oregon to the sixty-third congress.

Sioussat, St. George Leakin, educator, author, was born March 13, 1878, in Baltimore, Md. Since 1904 he has been professor of history and economics at the university of the south. He is the author of Highway Legislation in Maryland; Economics and Politics in Maryland; The English Statutes in Maryland; and Virginia and the English Commercial System.

Sipe, William Allen, lawyer, congressman, was born July 1, 1844, in Harrisonville, Pa. He is a noted lawyer of Pittsburg, Pa. In 1893-95 he was a representative to the fifty-third congress as a democrat.

Sisco, Mrs. M. M., poet. She is a writer of Clinton, Iowa; and the author of a volume of poems entitled Gems of Inspiration.

Sisson, A. Elverton, lawyer, state senator, was born Jan. 12, 1851, in Dayton, N.Y. He was educated in the common schools of Kingsville, N.Y.; and graduated from the Ohio academy and seminary at North East, Pa. In 1881 he was admitted to the bar of Erie county, Pa.; in 1888-94 was district attorney for that county; and for five years was solicitor for the same county. Since 1901 he has been a member of the Pennsylvania state senate. In 1906 he was a member of the insurance investigation committee; in 1897 was a member of the capitol investigation committee, and also chairman of the commission concurrent legislation relative to fish and fishing in the Delaware for the states of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Delaware and Maryland. He is now serving his second term of 1905-09; and resides in Erie, Pa.

Sisson, Abner, poet. He is the author of Common Sense Rhymes.

Sisson, Thomas Upton, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Sept. 22, 1869, in Attala county, Miss. He attended the academy at French Camp, Miss.; and graduated from the Southwestern presbyterian university with the degree of A.B. He graduated from the law school of Cumberland university; and in 1894 was admitted to the bar. Since 1895 he has practiced law in Winona, Miss. He was a member of the state senate; and in 1903 was elected district attorney. In 1909-15 he was a representative from Mississippi to the sixty-first, sixty-second and sixty-third congresses as a democrat.

Sitgreaves, Charles, lawyer, state senator, railroad president, congressman, was born April 22, 1803, in Easton, Pa. He was a member of the New Jersey assembly in 1831 and 1833; in 1834 was a member of the legislative council; and was a member and president of the same in 1835. He was a member of the state senate in 1852-54. He was mayor of Philipsburg in 1861; was president of the Belvidere and Delaware railroad company; and was president of the bank at Philipsburg. In 1865-69 he was a representative to the thirty-ninth and fortieth congresses as a democrat. He died March 17, 1878, in Philipsburg, Pa.

Sitgreaves, John, soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born about 1740 in New Berne, N.C. He was an officer in the war of the revolution. In 1784-85 he was a delegate to the continental congress from North Carolina; and in 1790 was appointed attorney-general for that state. He soon afterwards was appointed district judge of the United States district court for the district of North Carolina. He died March 4, 1802, in Halifax, N.C.

Sitgreaves, Samuel, lawyer, congressman, was born March 16, 1764, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1795-99 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the fourth and fifth congresses; and was then appointed commissioner to treat with Great Britain. He died April 4, 1824, in Easton, Pa.

Sitterly, Charles Fremont, educator, theologian, author, was born June 4, 1861, in Liverpool, N.Y. Since 1892 he has been professor of biblical literature in the Drew theological seminary. He is the author of Praxis in Manuscripts of Greek New Testament; and History of English Bible.

Sitting Bull, Indian chief, was born in 1837 in Dakota. He was a leader among the discontented and lawless Sioux; and often opposed the chiefs who were on friendly terms with the government. He kept up a constant warfare against the settlers of the frontier; and participated in battles with Generals Custer and Terry. While resisting an attempt to arrest him when about to join a band of hostiles in the bad lands he was killed Dec. 14, 1890.

Sivārtha, Alesha, educator, scientist, author, was born May 16, 1834, in Kent, England. In 1850 he began public lecturing on the science of man. In 1859 and 1860 he made discoveries enlarging the whole field many times and rendering anthropology a positive and practical science in all its departments. His work includes the laws of the great brain-eclipse, placing mental science on the basis of mathematics; the laws of mental polarity and chords; the twelve groups of faculties and their trinities; the social organism or natural constitution of society; the plan of the New Jerusalem; the tree of life; the auropheres with their colors; the twelve fold measure of the head; the new astro-science; the new system of integral education; and the Vesona or universal language with a natural basis. These discoveries are embodied in The Book of Life; The Visona; and The Historic Growth of Man.

Siver, Datus E., railroad president, was born Oct. 15, 1840, in Milford, N.Y. Since 1888 he has been president of the Coopers-town and Charlotte Valley railroad at Coop-erstown, N.Y.

Siviter, Mrs. Anna Pierpont, author, poet, was born in Fairmont, Va. She is the author of Nehe, a Tale of the Times of Artaxerxes; The Sculptor and Other Poems; and Songs of Hope.

Sizer, Nelson, phrenologist, author, was born May 21, 1812, in Chester, Mass. He has been editor of the Phrenological Journal; and president of and teacher in the American institute of phrenology. He was the author of Forty Years in Phrenology; Choice of Pursuits; and How to Teach. He died in 1897.

Skaggs, Andrew E., physician, poet, was born April 31, 1862, in New Castle county, Del. He attended the Baltimore medical college and the Veterinary surgeon college. He is a physician of Townsend. He has contributed many poems to the periodical press; and is widely known as the Poet of Delaware.

Skeel, Adelaide, lecturer, author, was born in 1852 in Newburgh, N.Y. She is a lecturer on historical subjects, illustrated by slides and photographs. She is the author of The Three-Legged Story Teller; King Washington; and various historic papers.

Skeel, Franklin Deuel, educator, physician, scientist, was born Feb. 7, 1851, in Sterling Valley, N.Y. In 1881 he graduated from the Wesleyan university; and in 1881 graduated from the university medical college with the degree of M.D. In 1885-94 he was assistant surgeon to the New York eye infirmary; and since 1895 has been surgeon to that institution. Since 1898 he has been surgeon to the New York institution for instruction of the deaf and dumb. He has been president of the New York microscopical society.

Skelton, Charles, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1851-55 he was a representative from New Jersey to the thirty-second and thirty-third congresses. He died in New Jersey.

Skene, Alexander Johnston Chalmers, physician, author, was born June 17, 1837, in Scotland. He has been professor of gynecology in Long Island college hospital since 1884. He is the author of Diseases of the Bladder in Women; and Diseases of Women from the Standpoint of the Physician. He died in 1900 in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Skerrett, Joseph Salathiel, naval officer, was born Jan. 18, 1833, in Chillicothe, Ohio. In 1867 he was promoted commander; in 1889 commodore; and in 1893 rear-admiral. For a number of years he was in charge of the naval home in Philadelphia, Pa. He died Jan. 1, 1897, in Washington, D.C.

Skiff, Frederick James Volney, journalist, director, was born Nov. 5, 1851, in Chicopee, Mass. He was engaged in newspaper work in 1870-77, when he was appointed on the staff of the Tribune of Denver, Col. He is a director of the Field Columbian museum of natural history of Chicago, Ill. He was director of mining and metallurgy; and later director-in-chief of the United States commission to the Paris exposition in 1900. In 1904 he was made director of exhibits in the St. Louis purchase exposition. He is a member of the American association for the advancement of science.

Skiles, William Woodburn, educator, banker, congressman, was born Dec. 11, 1849, in Stoughstown, Pa. In 1878 he started practice at Shelby, Ohio. He was president of the Citizens' bank, and president of the Shelby electric company. In 1901-05 he was a representative from Ohio to the fifty-seventh and fifty-eighth congresses as a republican. He died in 1904 in Shelby, Ohio.

Skilton, Julius Augustus, physician, surgeon, diplomat, author, was born June 29, 1833, in Troy, N.Y. He served in New York City during the draft riots; and was medical director of cavalry department of the southwest in 1864-65. In 1869 he was appointed United States consul at the City of Mexico; and in 1872-78 he was consul-general. He was the author of Mining Districts of Parhuca, Real del Monte, El Chico and Star Rosa, State of Hidalgo, Republic of Mexico. He died Nov. 20, 1897, in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Skinner, Alonzo A., lawyer, jurist. In 1866-68 he was an associate justice of the supreme court of Oregon.

Skinner, Aaron Nichols, educator, astronomer, author, was born Aug. 10, 1845, in Boston, Mass. Since 1898 he has been professor of mathematics in the United States navy. Since 1871 he has been an active participant in all the meridian circle work of the United States naval observatory at Washington, D.C. He is the author of Washington Zone Observations.

Skinner, Charles Montgomery, journalist, author, was born March 15, 1852, in Victor, N.Y. He was associate editor of The Brooklyn Eagle. He was the author of Villon the Vagabond; and other plays; Myths and Legends of Our Own Land; Nature in a City Yard; Myths and Legends of Our Own Possessions; Do Nothing Days; and With Feet to the Earth. He died in 1907 in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Skinner, Charles Rufus, journalist, educator, congressman, author, was born Aug. 4, 1844, in Union Square, N.Y. He was educated in the state of New York, at Mexico academy; and at Clinton liberal institute. In 1874-94 he was a member of the board of education of Watertown, N.Y.; and was a member of the state house of representatives in 1877-1881. In 1881-85 he was a representative from New York to the forty-seventh and forty-eighth congresses as a republican. In 1886-92 he was deputy superintendent of public instruction for the state of New York; and was state superintendent of public instruction in 1895-1901. He is the author of New York Question Book; Arbor Day Manual; and Manual of Patriotism.

Skinner, Clarence Edward, physician, author, was born June 8, 1868, in New Haven, Conn. In 1900 he organized the Newhope private sanitarium of New Haven, Conn.; and since 1891 has practiced medicine in that city. He is the author of Therapeutics of Dry Hot Air.

Skinner, Frank Woodward, civil engineer, was born in 1858 in Brownville, N.Y. Since 1886 he has been practicing as a consulting and expert constructional engineer. He is associate editor of the Engineering Record. For many years he has lectured on field engineering, bridge erection and building constructions at Yale, Harvard, Princeton, McGill, Rensselaer, Brown, Columbia and at the Maine and Wisconsin state universities. He has invented many important improvements in sheet piles foundation constructions and reinforced concrete building designs and constructions. He is the author of Types and Details of Bridge Construction.

Skinner, Frederick Gustavus, soldier, journalist, author, was born March 11, 1814, in Annapolis, Md. He joined the staff of the Turf, Field and Farm in New York; and as field editor of that journal was instrumental in bringing about the first field trial, the first bench-show of dogs, and the first international gun-trial that was ever held in the United States. He died May 21, 1894, in Charlottesville, Va.

Skinner, Halcyon, inventor, was born March 6, 1824, in Mantua, Ohio. In 1874 he invented a power-loom for weaving moquette carpets, which had up to that date been woven entirely by hand. He died in 1900 in Yonkers, N.Y.

Skinner, Mrs. Henrietta Dana, educator, author, poet, was born in Cambridge, Mass. She is the daughter of Richard Henry Dana; and the wife of Henry Whipple Skinner of Detroit, Mich. She was privately educated in Boston and Germany; and for two years attended the conservatory of music at Stuttgart. In 1897-1903 she was governor-general of the order of the descendants of colonial governors. She is the author of Espirita Santo; Heart and Soul; and numerous poems, short stories and historical articles.

Skinner, Henry, physician, entomologist, was born March 27, 1861, in Philadelphia, Pa. He received his preparatory education at Rugby academy of Philadelphia, Pa.; and graduated from the university of Pennsylvania, from which institution he received the degrees of B.S. and M.D. In 1884-1900 he practiced medicine; and since 1900 has devoted his entire attention to entomology. He has been state entomologist of Pennsylvania; professor of entomology of the Pennsylvania horticultural society; and is now special curator at the academy of natural sciences of Philadelphia, Pa. He has been vice-president of the American association of economical entomologists; editor of the Entomolog- ical News; and is the author of numerous papers on original researches in entomology.

Skinner, Harry, lawyer, congressman, was born May 25, 1856, in Perquimans county, N.C. He attended the Hartford academy; and in 1874-75 read law in the Kansas university. He began the practice of his profession in Greenville, N.C.; and in 1878 was chosen town councilman. In 1890 was elected to the lower house of the North Carolina state legislature and served as chairman of the committee of the internal improvements; as a member of the judiciary committee; as chairman of the house branch of the committee on re-districting the state; served as chairman of the democratic executive committee of his county; chairman of the democratic executive committee of the first congressional district; served as a member of states central committee; and as a trustee of the state university. In 1895-99 he was a representative from North Carolina to the fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses.

Skinner, Hubert Marshall, lecturer, author, was born Jan. 15, 1855, in Valparaiso, Ind. He is the author of Schoolmaster in Literature; Reading and Folklore; The Culprit Fay; The Story of the Letters and Figures; and Timely Topics.

Skinner, James Avery, clergyman, librarian, was born Nov. 15, 1835, in Union Square, N.Y. He received his education at the Jefferson institute of Hamilton college; and at Union theological seminary. He is an eminent clergyman of the presbyterian church. He has filled pastorates in Stockton, Cal.; Cleveland, Ohio; and at Rochester and Brockport, N.Y. He has been district superintendent of the presbyterian board of publication at Syracuse, N.Y.; in 1866-72 was commissioner to the general assembly of the presbyterian church; and is librarian of the teachers library of the state of New York at Albany.

Skinner, John Stuart, journalist, author, was born Feb. 12, 1788, in Maryland. In 1816-49 he was postmaster of Baltimore; and in 1848-51 was editor of the Plough, the Loom, and the Anvil. He was the author of Nautical Education; Christmas Gift to Young Agriculturist; Agricultural Chemistry; and Youatt on the House. He died March 21, 1851, in Baltimore, Md.

Skinner, Mark, was born Sept. 13, 1813, in Manchester, Vt. He settled at Chicago in 1836; was elected city attorney in 1839; was appointed United States district attorney for Illinois in 1844; and chosen to the legislature in 1846. He became judge of Cook county court of common pleas in 1851. In 1842 he was made school inspector for Chicago, and gave much time and labor to the cause of education. The city in 1859 honored his services by naming its new school-building the Skinner school. He was president of the Illinois general hospital of the lake in 1852; of the Chicago home for the friendless in 1860; first president of the Chicago reform school; and one of the founders and patrons of the Chicago historical society. He was a founder of the New England society of Chicago. He died Sept. 16, 1887, in Manchester, Vt.

Skinner, Otis, actor, was born in 1858 in Cambridge, Mass. In 1892-95 he was leading man with Modjeska; and since then has been starring in romantic plays.

Skinner, Otis Ainsworth, clergyman, college president, author, was born July 3, 1807, in Royalton, Vt. In 1857 he was chosen president of Lombard university of Galesburg, Ill.; and in 1858 became pastor at Joliet, Ill. He was the author of Family Prayer Book; Sermons on Doctrinal Subjects; Universalism Defended; Letters on Revivals; and Moral Duties of Parents. He died Sept. 18, 1861, in Lapierville, Ill.

Skinner, Richard, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, governor, was born May 30, 1778, in Litchfield, Conn. He moved to Manchester, Vt. In 1813-15 he was a representative from Vermont to the thirteenth congress. He was elected a judge of the supreme court of Vermont in 1816; and became chief justice of that court in 1817. In 1818 he was elected to the lower branch of the legislature, and was speaker. He was the sixth governor of Vermont in 1820-23; and was reappointed chief justice in 1824. He died May 23, 1833, in Manchester, Vt.

Skinner, Robert P., journalist, diplomat, author, was born Feb. 24, 1866, in Massillon, Ohio. He was educated in his native town; and at the Woodward high school of Cincinnati, Ohio. He is a journalist by profession; served on the staff of the New York World; became editor and proprietor of the Evening Independent of Massillon, Ohio; and is now director of the Independent company. In 1897-1901 he was United States consul at Marseilles, France, and consular-general since 1901. In 1903-04 he was temporarily relieved from duty at Marseilles to proceed to Abyssinia as the president's commissioner and plenipotentiary, for the purpose of establishing diplomatic relations with the United States and as such negotiated the treaty between the United States and Ethiopia. In 1901-08 he was American consul-general to Marseilles, France; and since 1908 has been consul-general to Hamburg, Germany. He is the author of Abyssinia of Today.

Skinner, Roger, lawyer, jurist. He was judge of the United States district court sometime prior to 1884.

Skinner, Thomas Gregory, farmer, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 21, 1842, in Perquimans county, N.C. In 1883-

87 and 1889-91 he was a representative from North Carolina to the forty-eighth, forty-ninth and fifty-first congresses as a democrat. In 1898 he was elected to the North Carolina state senate.

Skinner, Thomas Harvey, educator, clergyman, author, was born March 7, 1791, in Harvey's Neck, N.C. He was professor of sacred rhetoric in Union seminary of New York City in 1848-71. He was the author of Religion of the Bible; Aids to Preaching and Hearing; Discussions in Theology; and Thoughts on Evangelizing the World. He died Feb. 1, 1871, in New York City.

Skinner Thomas J., congressman, was born in Massachusetts. In 1795-99 and 1803-05 he was a representative from Massachusetts to the fourth, fifth and eighth congresses. He died in Massachusetts.

Skinner, Wells Hawks, educator, author, was born Jan. 1, 1856, in Jefferson county, W.Va. He has been superintendent of city schools in various cities; and in 1895 was president of the Nebraska state teachers' association. He is the author of Studies in Literature and Composition.

Slack, Elijah, educator, college president, was born Nov. 24, 1794, in Lower Wakefield, Pa. In 1817 he was elected superintendent of the Literary and scientific institute of Cincinnati, Ohio; and when Cincinnati college was established in 1819 he was appointed its president, and so continued till 1828. He died May 29, 1866, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Slack, James Richard, educator, soldier, legislator, jurist, was born Sept. 28, 1818, in Bucks county, Pa. In 1842-51 he filled the office of Delaware county auditor; and for two terms was a member of the Indiana state senate. In 1858 he was again elected to the state senate and served four successive terms until 1861. He served in the civil war in the forty-seventh regiment of the Indiana volunteer infantry; was made brigadier-general in 1864; and major-general by brevet in 1866. In 1872-81 he was judge of the twenty-eighth judicial circuit of Indiana. He died July 28, 1881.

Slade, Charles, congressman, was born in Massachusetts. In 1833-34 he was a representative from Illinois to the twenty-third congress. He died in July, 1834, in Knox county, Ill.

Slade, Mrs. Emma Maleen Hardy, was born Jan. 11, 1847, in Lowell, Mass. She is the founder and organizer and first president of the National society of New England women; the president general of the United States daughters of 1812; and a prominent member of the daughters of the revolution, having held the position of director and treasurer.

Slade, Daniel Denison, physician, scientist, author, was born May 10, 1823, in Boston, Mass. He attended the Boston Latin school and graduated from the Harvard university. He was a physician and scientist, and professor of zoology at Harvard university from 1871. He was the author of Diphtheria. Its Nature and Treatment; Twelve Days in the Saddle, a Journey in New England in 1883; and Evolution of Horticulture in New England. He died Feb. 11, 1896, in Chestnut Hill, Mass.

Slade, James P., educator, college president, was born Feb. 9, 1837, in Westerlo, N.Y. In 1879-83 he was state superintendent of public instruction of Illinois; eight years president of Almira college; and six years superintendent of schools at East St. Louis, Ill.

Slade, William, journalist, lawyer, jurist, congressman, governor, author, was born May 9, 1786, in Cornwall, Vt. In 1815-23 he was secretary of state of Vermont; and also during six years officiated as judge of the Addison county court. He was subsequently state's attorney for the same county. In 1831-43 he was a representative from Vermont to the twenty-second, twenty-third, twenty-fourth, twenty-fifth, twenty-sixth and twenty-seventh congresses; and on his retirement from congress was elected reporter of the decisions of the supreme court of Vermont. In 1844-46 he was the fourteenth governor of Vermont. He was subsequently made secretary of the national board of popular education. He was the author of Vermont State Papers; Statutes of Vermont; and a volume of Vermont Reports. He died Jan. 18, 1859, in Middlebury, Vt.

Slafter, Carlos, educator, author, was born July 21, 1825, in Thetford, Vt. He received his education at the Thetford academy, and in 1849 graduated from Dartmouth college. He taught one year in the Framingham academy; and for forty years, during 1852-92, was principal of the Dedham high school, Mass. In 1865 he was admitted to deacon's orders in the episcopal church; and for three years was chaplain of the county prison at Dedham. He was author of a Compendium of English Grammar, several novels, and various addresses on patriotic, educational and historical subjects. He died in July, 1907.

Slafter, Edmund Farwell, clergyman, author, was born May 30, 1816, in Norwich, Vt. For twenty years he was superintendent for the protestant episcopal church for the American Bible society; and from 1877 devoted his time to historical studies. He was president of the Prince society of Boston, Mass.; and a member of the principal historical societies of America and Europe. He was the author of Memoir of Charles Wesley Tuttle; Memoir of the Rev. William Stoodley Bartlett; Royal Arms; The Discovery of America by the Northmen; Memoir of Fitch Edward Oliver; Memoir of Charles Henry Bell; John Checkley; and Memorial of John Slafter. He died in 1906 in Boston, Mass.

Slagle, Charles W., merchant, philanthropist, was born March 11, 1828, in Hanover, Pa. He is distinguished as a successful merchant and philanthropist of Baltimore, Md.

Slate, Charles E., legislator, musician, was born May 14, 1847, in Thorndyke, Mass. He was educated at Powers institute of Bernardston, Mass. In 1881 he was a representative to the general court of New Hampshire. For seven years he was assessor of Winchester, N.H.; and for six years was overseer of the poor. Since 1890 he has been postmaster of Winchester, N. H. He has been a teacher of over twenty brass bands; for twelve years conducted a popular orchestra under his own name; and has on numerous occasions efficiently rendered cornet solos before vast audiences.

Slater, Ernest Frederick, physician, surgeon, was born Oct. 14, 1877, in Orangeburg, S.C. He was educated at the university of Buffalo; at the university of Missouri; and at Harvard university; and received the degrees of Ph.B. and M.D. In 1899-1900 he was employed in the meat inspection work of the United States department of agriculture; and since 1900 has served as an assistant-surgeon in the United States army. His first three years service in the army was spent in the Philippine Islands, mainly on field service in the island of Luzon until the capture of Agunaldo in 1901; and then in the command under Generals Jacob H. Smith and F. D. Grant which put down the insurrection in the island of Samar. He returned to the United States in 1903; and since that time has served at the Presidio of San Francisco, Cal.; at Washington barracks, D.C.; at Fort Hancock, N.J.; and is now stationed at Fort Banks, near Boston, Mass. He is the author of Indicators in Chemical Reactions; and Practical Labor Reform.

Slater, James Harvey, lawyer, jurist, congressman, United States senator, was born Dec. 28, 1826, in Sangamon county, Ill. He was a member of the Oregon territorial assembly in 1857-58; and of the state assembly immediately after the admission of Oregon as a state. He was elected district attorney in 1866; and was a presidential elector in 1868. In 1871-73 he was a representative from Oregon to the forty-second congress; and in 1879-85 was United States senator from Oregon. In 1887 he was appointed railroad commissioner for Oregon. He died Jan. 28, 1899, in La Grande, Oregon.

Slater, John, manufacturer, banker, was born Dec. 25, 1776, in England. In 1825 he bought mill property on the banks of the Pachaug river. In 1818 the Burrillville agriculture and manufacturing bank was established; and he was its first president. He died May 27, 1843, in Slaterville, R.I.

Slater, John Fox, philanthropist, was born March 4, 1815, in Slaterville, R.I. He was early interested in the cause of education, and gave liberally for the establishment of the Norwich free academy and other objects. In 1882 he placed in the hands of trustees one million dollars, the interest of which is to be used for the education of freedmen in the south. He died May 7, 1884, in Norwich, Conn.

Slater, William Albert, philanthropist. In 1886 he transferred to the Norwich free academy a building costing one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, which he erected in memory of his father, John Fox Slater.

Slattey, Charles Lewis, educator, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 9, 1807, in Pittsburgh, Pa. In 1891 he graduated from Harvard university with the degree of A. B.; and in 1894 received the degree of D. B. from the episcopal theological school of Cambridge, Mass. He has been master in the Groton school of Massachusetts; and in 1896-1907 was dean of the cathedral of our merciful Saviour at Faribault, Minn. Since 1907 he has been rector of Christ church of Springfield, Mass. He is the author of Felix Reville Brunot; Edward Lincoln Atkinson; Occasional Sermons; and other works.

Slaughter, Christopher C., soldier, cattle raiser, founder, was born Feb. 9, 1837, in Sabine county, Texas. In 1861-65 he served in the confederate states army; and became captain of the Texas rangers and was brevetted colonel. He has raised and marketed the largest number of cattle of any individual in America; and owns over five hundred thousand acres of land in Texas. He organized the Cattle raisers' association of Texas. He founded the Baptist memorial sanitarium at Dallas, Texas; and has made large gifts to churches, colleges, and hospitals.

Slaughter, Gabriel, soldier, farmer, state legislator, governor, was born in 1767 in Virginia. He was frequently a member of the Kentucky state legislature. At the battle of New Orleans he was chosen colonel of a Kentucky regiment; and received the thanks of the legislature. He was lieutenant-governor of Kentucky; and was acting governor in 1816-20. He died Sept. 9, 1830, in Mercer county, Ky.

Slaughter, Guilford Hamilton, farmer, statesman, was born Aug. 29, 1828, in Hopkinsville, Ky. He was educated in the public schools of the south. He was postmaster for twenty-five years; and for the same period was a justice of the peace. For two terms he served as a member of the Tennessee state senate. He was a member of the Farmers' national congress; and a member of the Tennessee state board of charities. He died Sept. 10, 1897, in Nashville, Tenn.

Slaughter, James E., soldier, was born in 1823. He was a veteran of the Mexican war; and attained the rank of major-general in the confederate service during the civil war. He died Jan. 2, 1901, in Mexico.

Slaughter, Linda W., journalist, poet, was born Feb. 1, 1850, in Harrison county, Ohio. She is a writer of Bismarck, N.D.; and has been vice-president of the Woman's national press association at Washington, D. C. She is the author of a volume of poems entitled Early Efforts.

Slaughter, Philip, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 26, 1808, in Springfield, Va. He was an episcopal clergyman of Virginia; and historiographer of the diocese. He was the author of The Colonial Church in Virginia; and Man and Woman. He died June 12, 1890, in Culpeper county, Va.

Slaughter, William Bank, lawyer, author, was born April 10, 1798, in Culpeper county, Va. He was a Wisconsin lawyer of note. He was the author of Reminiscences of Distinguished People I Have Met. He died July 21, 1879, in Madison, Wis.

Slayden, James L., state legislator, congressman, was born June 1, 1853, in Graves county, Ky. He was educated in the country schools; and at the Washington and Lee university of Virginia. In 1892 he was a member of the Texas state legislature; in 1897-1905 he was a representative from Texas to the fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh, fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth, sixtieth, sixty-first, sixty-second and sixty-third congresses as a democrat.

Slaymaker, Amos, soldier, congressman, was born March 11, 1755, in London Land, Pa. He served as a soldier in the revolutionary army. In 1813-15 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirteenth congress to fill a vacancy. He died June 12, 1837, in Salisbury, Pa.

Slayton, Henry Lake, soldier, business president, founder, was born May 29, 1841, in Woodstock, Vt. He served in the civil war as first lieutenant. He practiced law in Chicago, Ill.; and in 1874 founded the Slayton lyceum bureau, of which he is president.

Sleat, John Drake, naval officer, was born in 1780 in New York City. In 1800 he entered the navy as sailing master; passed through all grades; and attained the rank of rear-admiral. He died Nov. 28, 1867, in New Brighton, N.Y.

Sledd, Andrew, educator, college president, was born Nov. 7, 1870, in Lynchburg, Va. Since 1904 he has been president of the university of Florida.

Sledd, Benjamin, educator, author, was born Aug. 27, 1864, in Bedford county, Va. Since 1888 he has been professor of English at Wake Forest college of North Carolina. He is the author of The Watchers of the Hearth; and Idylls of the Old South.

Sleeper, George Washington, merchant, abolitionist, author, was born Oct. 15, 1826, in Baltimore, Md. He was educated in the public schools of his native city. He moved to Boston, Mass., where he became a successful tea merchant. He also became widely known as a resolute champion of free speech; a lecturer on free thought; and an advocate of anti-slavery. He was the first to advance the theory that germs cause most diseases. He was an accomplished phrenologist; often declaring that the study and application of phrenology is essential to the true civilization of man; and during his career traveled all over the United States and Canada. He was the author of Education and Its Offspring, Civilization. He died Sept. 13, 1903, in Jersey City, N.J. His father was Jonathan Sleeper, of the Baltimore hussars in the war of 1812. His son, John F. Sleeper, is a noted professor of Jersey City, N.J.

Sleeper, Jacob, merchant, trustee, was born Nov. 21, 1802, in New Castle, Maine. In 1826 he established a wholesale clothing firm. He was for twelve years overseer at the Harvard university of Boston, Mass.; and was a trustee of the Wesleyan university. He died March 31, 1889, in Boston, Mass.

Sleeper, John Fremont, assayer, chemist, author, poet, was born May 19, 1864, in Providence, R.I. After a two-years' course in Professors Eaton and Main's laboratory in Brooklyn he received his diploma. He has been in the assay office of the United States government; and was chemist and assayer in the Maine state assay office. In 1887-89 was in business for himself; and in 1890-1901 was chief chemist in Lucas Pitkin's laboratory of New York City. He is the author of Civilization and the Indian; Determination of Nickel; and other scientific papers; and the first volume of The Tabular Atlas of the Chemistry of the Metals. He is also the author of The Art of the Painter; The Tocsin; Cronje's Glory;

March of Oliver; The Marion of the Free State; Zeefontein's Christmas; and Twe-bosch-Palmeitknill.

Sleeper, John Sherburne, journalist, author, was born Sept. 21, 1794, in Tyngsboro, Mass. He was a shipmaster; and editor of The Boston Journal in 1834-54. He was the author of Tales of the Ocean; Salt-Water Bubbles; Jack in the Fore-castle; and Mark Rowland, a Tale of the Sea. He died Nov. 14, 1878, in Boston Highlands, Mass.

Sleeper, William True, clergyman, poet, was born Feb. 9, 1819, in Danbury, N.H. He received his education in Exeter, N.H.; graduated from the university of Vermont in 1850; and three years later from the Andover theological seminary. For four years he was chaplain of the reform school at Westboro, Mass.; and has filled pastorates at Patten, Sherman and Fort Fairfield, Maine; and for nineteen years at Worcester, Mass. He was supervisor of schools in Aroostook county, Maine, during 1870-72; was editor and founder of the North Star of Caribou, Maine; and the projector and president of the Aroostook river railroad. Since 1853 he was engaged in the ministry, and built five churches. He was the author of a volume of poems. He died Sept. 24, 1904, in Wellesley, Mass.

Sleicher, John Albert, journalist, was born Oct. 4, 1848, in Troy, N.Y. He began his journalistic career as editor of the Troy Press; and later resumed the same position on the Troy Times. In 1883-89 he was owner of the Evening Journal of Albany, N.Y.; since 1889 has been in charge and is editor-in-chief of Leslie's Weekly of New York City; and in 1890-93 editor-in-chief of the New York Mail and Express. In 1889-1901 he was a member of the state civil service commission and was supervisor of the city records.

Sleight, Charles Lee, clergyman, author, was born April 4, 1856, in New York City. Since 1883 he has been a clergyman of the protestant episcopal church; and now fills a pastorate in Waterford, N.Y. He is the author of Prince of the Pin Elves; and The Water People.

Sleight, Mary Breck, litterateur, author, was born in New York City. She is the author of Prairie Days; Osego Chronicles; Pulpit and Easel; The House at Crague; Flag on the Mill; The Knights of Sandy Hollow; and An Island Heroine.

Slemmer, Adam J., soldier, was born in 1828 in Montgomery county, Pa. In 1850

he graduated from West Point; and served in the Seminole, Mexican and civil wars. He attained the rank of brigadier-general of volunteers in 1862; and took an active part in the battle of Murfreesboro. From 1863 to the close of the war he served on an examining board as its president. He won the brevets of colonel and brigadier-general in the United States army in 1865; and spent the balance of his life in command at Fort Laramie, Kan., where he died Oct. 7, 1868.

Slemons, William F., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born March 15, 1830, in Weakly county, Tenn. He entered the southern army in 1861; and remained in service until its close. He rose from lieutenant to brigadier-general; and commanded a division. After the war he was district attorney; and in 1875-81 he was a representative from Arkansas to the forty-fourth, forty-fifth and forty-sixth congresses as a democrat.

Slemp, Campbell, soldier, legislator, congressman, was born Dec. 2, 1839, in Lee county, Va. He served in the confederate army during the civil war; and attained the rank of colonel. In 1879-83 he was a member of the Virginia state legislature. In 1903-07 he was a representative from Virginia to the fifty-eighth and fifty-ninth congresses as a republican. He died Oct. 13, 1907, in Big Stone Gap, Va.

Slemp, Campbell Bascom, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 4, 1870, in Lee county, Va. In 1890 he graduated from the Virginia military institute. He was commandant of cadets and professor of mathematics at the Marion military institute. In 1901 he began the practice of law; and in 1905 was chairman of the republican state committee. In 1909-15 he was a representative from Virginia to the sixty-first, sixty-second and sixty-third congresses as a republican.

Slenker, Mrs. Elmina Drake, educator, author, was born Dec. 23, 1827, in La-Grange, N.Y. She is a writer living at Snowville, Va. She is the author of Studying the Bible; John's Way; The Darwins; Mary Jones; Little Lessons for Little Folks; and editor of Little Free Thinker.

Slevin, Patrick Summerville, soldier, was born in Ireland. In 1862 he was lieutenant-colonel in the one hundredth regiment Ohio infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted colonel and brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Sept. 9, 1894.

Sleyster, Aaron L., photographer, poet, was born March 11, 1856, in Waupun, Wis. He is a successful photographer of Preston, Minn.; and the author of Howard Gray and Other Poems; and Hours of Pleasure, illustrated.

Slicer, Henry, clergyman, author, was born in 1801 in Annapolis, Md. He was a methodist clergyman; and eight times was chaplain of the United States senate. He was the author of Appeal on Christian Baptism; and Discourse on Duelling. He died April 23, 1874, in Baltimore, Md.

Slicer, Thomas Roberts, clergyman, author, was born April 16, 1847, in Washington, D.C. Since 1897 he has been pastor of the unitarian church of All Souls of New York City. He is the author of The Great Affirmations of Religion; One World at a Time; and other works.

Slichter, Charles Sumner, mathematician, author, was born April 16, 1864, in St. Paul, Minn. In 1900-03 he was president of the Wisconsin academy of sciences. He is the author of School Algebra; University Algebra; and Logarithmic Tables for Rapid Computations.

Slidell, John, lawyer, congressman, diplomat, United States senator, was born about 1793 in New York City. He was appointed United States district attorney; and was frequently elected to the legislature of Louisiana. In 1843-47 he was a representative to the twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth congresses; and while in congress was appointed minister to Mexico. In 1853-61 he was United States senator. He died July 29, 1871, in London, England.

Slidell, Thomas, lawyer, jurist. In 1853-55 he was chief justice of the supreme court of Louisiana.

Slingerland, John I., agriculturist, state legislator, congressman, was born March 1, 1804, in Albany county, N.Y. He was a member of the New York legislature in 1843. In 1847-49 he was a representative from New York to the thirtieth congress. He died Oct. 26, 1861, in Albany, N.Y.

Sloan, A. Scott, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1820 in Morrisville, N.Y. He moved to Wisconsin in 1854; was elected to the Wisconsin legislature in 1856; was appointed a circuit judge in 1858. In 1861-63 he was a representative from Wisconsin to the thirty-seventh congress. He died April 8, 1895, in Beaver Dam, Wis.

Sloan, Andrew, lawyer, congressman, was born June 10, 1845, in McDonough, Ga. He moved to Savannah; and was appointed deputy collector, of customs. He was appointed United States district attorney, and held the position until 1872. In 1873-74 he was a representative from Georgia to the forty-third congress.

Sloan, Benjamin, soldier, educator, college president, was born April 15, 1836, in Pendleton, S.C. In 1855-60 he attended West Point military academy; and in 1861-65 served in the confederate army. Since 1878 he has been engaged in educational work; and since 1902 has been president of the South Carolina college.

Sloan, Charles H., congressman, lawyer, was born May 2, 1863, in Monticello, Iowa. For four years he was prosecuting attorney of Fillmore county, Neb., and has been a member of the Nebraska state senate. In 1911-15 he was a representative from Nebraska to the sixty-second and sixty-third congresses as a republican.

Sloan, George Beale, merchant, state senator, was born June 20, 1831, in Oswego, N.Y. He strongly supported the cause of the union during the civil war; and was four times elected to represent his district in the state assembly. He was also three times elected to the state senate, and served in 1886-91. He died in 1904 in Oswego, N.Y.

Sloan, Ithamar C., lawyer, congressman, was born in Madison county, N.Y. He removed to Wisconsin in 1854; and in 1858-62 was district attorney of Rock county. In 1863-67 he was a representative from Wisconsin to the thirty-eighth and thirty-ninth congress. He died in 1898 in Rock county, Wis.

Sloan, James, congressman, was born in New Jersey. In 1803-09 he was a representative from New Jersey to the eighth, ninth and tenth congresses. He died in November, 1811, in New Jersey.

Sloan, John A., soldier, author, was born July 20, 1839, in Greensboro, N.C. He served in the civil war; and attained the rank of colonel. He was the author of a History of North Carolina in the War Between the States. He died in November, 1886, near Baltimore.

Sloan, John Randolph, physician, surgeon, was born Jan. 18, 1851, in Green county, Ind. He was educated at Champaign, Ill.;

and in 1891 graduated with the degree of M.D. from the Kansas City medical college of Missouri. He is a successful physician and surgeon of Stanley, Kan.; and is medical examiner for the New York life insurance company and for the Modern woodmen of America. He is a member of several medical associations; and has filled various positions of trust and honor. His ancestors were originally from Scotland and first settled in Virginia. In 1818 his grandfather purchased a large tract of land on Indian creek, Ind.

Sloan, Richard E., lawyer, jurist, was born June 22, 1857, in Preble county, Ohio. In 1877 he graduated from Monmouth college; and in 1884 from the Cincinnati law school. In 1884 he began the practice of law in Arizona; and soon attained prominence at the bar. In 1889 he was appointed associate justice of the supreme court of Arizona.

Sloan, Samuel, architect author, was born March 7, 1815, in Chester county, Pa. He was an architect of Philadelphia. He was the author of City and Suburban Architecture; Constructive Architecture; The Model Architect; and Homestead Architecture. He died July 19, 1884, in Raleigh, N.C.

Sloan, Samuel, state senator, railroad president, was born Dec. 25, 1817, in Ireland. He served in the New York state senate in 1858-59. He was president of the Hudson river railroad, Michigan Central railroad and of various other railroads. He died Sept. 22, 1907, in Garrison, N.Y.

Sloan, William James, soldier, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1837 he was assistant surgeon; and in 1865 was brevetted lieutenant-colonel and brigadier-general. He died March 17, 1880.

Sloane, Alfred Baldwin, musician, composer, was born Aug. 28, 1870, in Baltimore, Md. Since 1890 he has composed music. He has written music for many of the late Charles Hoyt's farces including Sergeant Kitty; and The Mocking Bird. He composed the music for All Around Chicago; The Gingerbread Man; and Coming Through the Rye.

Sloane, James Renwick Wilson, educator, clergyman, college president, was born May 20, 1823, in Topsham, Vt. In 1848-50 he was president of Richmond college, Ohio; of Geneva college in 1851-56; pastor in New York during 1856-68; and professor of systematic theology and homiletics in Alleghany theological seminary in 1868-86. He died March 6, 1886, in Alleghany City, Pa.

Sloane, John, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1779 in York, Pa. He was a member of the Ohio general assembly in 1804-05, and 1805 was speaker. He was a receiver of public moneys at Canton in 1808-16; and was afterward at Wooster until 1819. He was a colonel of militia during the war of 1812. In 1819-29 he was a representative from Ohio to the sixteenth, seventeenth, eighteenth, nineteenth and twentieth congress. He was secretary of state for three years; and was treasurer of the United States under President Fillmore. He died May 15, 1856, in Wooster, Ohio.

Sloane, Jonathan, congressman, was born in Massachusetts. In 1833-37 he was a representative from Ohio to the twenty-third and twenty-fourth congresses. He died in Ohio.

Sloane, Rush Richard, lawyer, jurist, financier, was born Sept. 18, 1828, in Sandusky, Ohio. He was twice elected probate judge of Sandusky, Ohio. In 1879-81 he was mayor of Sandusky, Ohio. He has been a promoter of railroad building in Ohio; and actually built the line between Columbus and Springfield.

Sloane, Thomas O'Connor, chemist, author, was born Nov. 24, 1851, in New York City. He is a chemist of New York City; and on the editorial staff of The Scientific American. He invented a self-recording photometer. He is the author of Home experiments in Science; and Standard Electrical Dictionary; Liquid Air and Liquefaction of Gases; and Elementary Electrical Calculations.

Sloane, William Milligan, educator, author, was born Nov. 12, 1850, in Richmond, Ohio. In 1876-96 he was a professor of Princeton university; and has been a professor of history at Columbia college since 1896. He is the author of The French War and the Revolution; Life of James McCosh; and Life of Napoleon Bonaparte.

Sloat, John Drake, naval officer, was born in 1780 in New York City. He served in the war of 1812; and in the Mexican and civil wars; attaining for meritorious services the rank of rear-admiral. In 1846 he occupied Monterey, Cal., and declared that country annexed to the United States. He died Nov. 28, 1867, in New Brighton, N.Y.

Slocum, Arthur Gaylord, educator, college president, was born Oct. 10, 1847, in Steuben, N.Y. In 1876-92 he was superintendent of schools and principal of the Free academy of Corning, N.Y. Since 1892 he has been president of Kalamazoo college, Michigan.

Slocum, Charles Elihu, educator, physician, banker, author, philanthropist, was born Dec. 30, 1841, in Northville, N.Y. He was educated at the Fort Edward collegiate institute; at the university of Michigan; at the college of physicians and surgeons of New York City; at Jefferson college of Philadelphia; and at the university of Pennsylvania. He taught school in ascending grades several years previous to his medical course. In 1871 he settled in Defiance, Ohio, where he has been prominent not only as a physician, but a banker, and an authority. He founded the Charles Elihu Slocum library of the Ohio wesleyan university. He is a member of the local, state and national medical and scientific societies, before which he has read occasional papers; a member of the American microscopical society; and a member of the American association for the advancement of science. He was professor of psychology and ethics in the Cleveland college of physicians and surgeons in 1896-1900; and was a professor in Defiance college. A large stone building named the Charles Elihu Slocum library, built by him in Delaware, was dedicated in 1898 for the Ohio wesleyan university. He is the author of A History of the Slocums, Slocumbs and Slocombs of America, Genealogical and Biographical; and History of the Maumee River Basin.

Slocum, Elliott Truax, state senator, capitalist, was born May 15, 1839, in Trenton, Mich. In 1869 he was elected a state senator to the Michigan legislature; and in 1886 was appointed a member of the board of park commissioners of Detroit. He is now one of the directors of the Union trust company of Detroit.

Slocum, Frances, Indian captive, was born in 1773 in Warwick, R.I. In 1778 she was carried into captivity by the Delaware Indians. She married a Miami chief-tain; and was revered as a queen. She refused to return to her people when found by her brothers; and was an ardent worker for the well-being of the Indians. She died March 9, 1847, near Reserve, Ind., where a monument was erected to her memory.

Slocum, Henry Warner, soldier, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born Sept. 24, 1827, in New York. In 1859 he was elected to the state legislature; and in 1859-61 was instructor of artillery in the New York militia. At the commencement of the civil war he was chosen colonel of the twenty-seventh regiment of New York volunteers; and before the close of 1861 was made brigadier-general of volunteers.

In 1862 he was appointed a major-general. In 1868 he was chosen a presidential elector. In 1869-73 and 1883-85 he was a representative from New York to the forty-first, forty-second and forty-eighth congresses. He died April 14, 1894, in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Slocum, Jesse, congressman. In 1817-21 he was a representative from North Carolina to the fifteenth and sixteenth congresses. He died Dec. 20, 1820, in Washington, D.C.

Slocum, Joshua, sailor, shipmaster, author, was born Feb. 20, 1844, in Nova Scotia, Canada. His several commands were all under the flag of the United States. For fifteen years he sailed out of San Francisco to China, Australia, the Spice Islands and Japan. In 1898 he completed a voyage around the world alone in a nine-ton sloop, which he built with his own hands. He is the author of The Voyage of the Labrador from Brazil to New York; and Sailing Alone Around the World.

Slocum, Stephen Elmer, educator, author, was born June 5, 1875, in Glenville, N.Y. Since 1908 he has been professor of applied mathematics at the university of Cincinnati. He is part author of Textbook on the Strength of Materials.

Slocum, Wilard, soldier, was born in Ohio. In 1861 he was captain in the twenty-third regiment Ohio infantry; and in 1865 he was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Sept. 23, 1894, in Ashland, Ohio.

Slocum, William Frederick, clergyman, college president, was born July 29, 1851, in Grafton, Mass. He has been president State board charities and corrections. Since 1888 he has been president of Colorado college; and is also professor of philosophy in that institution.

Slocumb, Jesse, congressman, was born Aug. 20, 1780, in Dudley, N.C. He was a member of congress from North Carolina in 1817-20. He died Dec. 20, 1820, in Washington, D.C.

Slocumb, Ezekiel, soldier, legislator, was born about 1750 in Craven county, N.C. He served through the revolutionary war. He was a member of the North Carolina house of commons in 1812-18. He died July 4, 1840, near Dudley, N.C.

Sloss, Joseph H., soldier, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 12, 1826, in Somerville, Ala. He was a member of the Illinois legislature in 1858. He returned to Alabama, and joined the confederate army, in which he served until the close of the war. He was elected mayor of Tusculumbia after the civil war, and continued in that office until 1870. In 1871-73 he was a representative from Alabama to the forty-second congress.

Sloss, M. C., lawyer, jurist. He is associate justice of the state supreme court of California for the term of 1906-18.

Slosson, Mrs. Annie Trumbull, entomologist, author, was born in Stonington, Conn. Her specialty is the study of moths. She is the author of Aunt Liefy; Fishin' Jimmy; Seven Dreamers; The Heresy of Mehetabel Clark; Anna Malann; and The China Hunter's Club.

Slough, John P., soldier, state legislator, jurist, author, was born in 1829 in Cincinnati, Ohio. He was elected to the Ohio state legislature, from which he was expelled for striking a member during debate. In 1860 he removed to Denver City, Col. On the breaking out of the civil war he served with credit on the southwestern frontiers; and was made a brigadier-general and military governor at Alexandria, in Virginia. At the close of the civil war he was appointed chief justice of the territory of New Mexico. He died Dec. 16, 1867, in Santa Fe, N.M.

Slaughter, Henry, colonial governor. In 1691-92 he was colonial governor New York.

Sluter, George Ludewig, clergyman, author, was born May 5, 1837, in St. Louis, Mo. He is a lutheran clergyman and in 1881-83 was pastor of Arlington, N.J. He is the author of History of Our Beloved Church; Life of Tiberius; The Religion of Politics; History of Shelby County, Ind.; and Historical and Critical Essay on the Acta Pilate.

Small, Albion Woodbury, educator, college president, author, was born May 11, 1854, in Buckfield, Maine. In 1889-92 he was president of Colby college; and since 1892 has been head of the department of sociology at the university of Chicago; he is the author of General Sociology; Adam Smith and Modern Sociology; and The Cameralists, the Pioneers of Modern German Polity.

Small, Alvin Edmond, physician, scientist, was born March 4, 1811, in Maine. In 1856 he removed to Chicago; and soon after his arrival in that city he was called to the chair of theory and practice in Hahnemann college, which he held for life. He died Dec. 29, 1866, in Chicago, Ill.

Small, Elwood Eldenne, journalist, poet, was born July 22, 1869, in Marshall, Mich. He is a journalist of Valparaiso, Ind. He is the author of Rhymes with Reason and Without.

Small, John Humphrey, lawyer, journalist, congressman, was born Aug. 29, 1858, in Washington, N.C. In 1883-86 he was proprietor and editor of the Washington Gazette; and was for one year mayor of Washington, N.C. In 1899-1915 he was a representative from North Carolina to the fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh, fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth, sixtieth, sixty-first, sixty-second and sixty-third congresses as a democrat.

Small, Michael Peter, soldier, was born Aug. 9, 1831, in Harrisburg, Pa. He became brevet colonel of United States volunteers; and was brevetted brigadier-general in 1865 for meritorious services in the subsistence department during the civil war. From 1884 he was purchasing and depot commissary at Baltimore, Md. He died Aug. 1, 1892, in Governor's Island, N.Y.

Small, William B., congressman, was born in Limington, Maine. In 1873-75 he was a representative from New York to the forty-third congress. He died April 7, 1875, in New York City.

Smalley, Bradley Barlow, lawyer, railroad president, was born Nov. 26, 1835, in Jericho, Vt. In 1861-85 he was clerk of the United States circuit and district courts of Vermont; and in 1861-96 was United States commissioner. In 1885-89 and 1893-97 he was collector of customs for the district of Vermont. He has been president of the Montpelier and White River railroad company; president of the National car company; and the Ogdensburgh and Lake Champlain railroad company; the Montreal Province line railroad company; vice-president of the Burlington trust company, and other companies.

Smalley, Daniel Stone, educator. For many years he was interested in the public schools of Boston, Mass.; and held a professorship in the Eliot school of Jamaica Plains, Mass. In 1857 he published the first phonetic dictionary, entitled Smalley's Phonetic Dictionary. He died in 1886 in Jamaica Plain, Mass.

Smalley, David A., lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born April 6, 1809, in Middlebury, Vt. In 1842 he was elected Vermont state senator, and declined a re-election. In 1853 he was appointed collector of customs for Vermont; was a delegate to the Cincinnati convention of 1857; and in that year was appointed United States district judge for the district of Vermont. He died in Vermont.

Smalley, Eugene Virgil, journalist, author, was born July 18, 1841, in Randolph, Ohio. In 1878-82 he was correspondent and editorial writer for the New York Tribune; and is now editor of the Northwest magazine of St. Paul, Minn. He was the author of History of the Northern Pacific Railroad; and History of the Republican Party; and Political History of Minnesota. He died Dec. 30, 1899, at Kenosha, Wis.

Smalley, Frank, educator, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 10, 1846, in Towanda, Pa. Since 1894 he has filled the chairs of geology, zoology and botany in the Syracuse university; and since 1877 has filled the chair of Latin language and literature in the same institution. He is the author of Latin Analysis; Latin Verse; Latin Etymology; Latin Hymns; Commentary on Cicero's Tusculan Disputations; and other works and translations.

Smalley, George Washburn, journalist, author, was born June 2, 1833, in Franklin, Mass. He is a noted journalist; was the London correspondent of the New York Tribune in 1867-68; and from 1895 American correspondent of the London Times. He is the author of London Letters, and Some Others; Studies of Men; and Review of Bright Speeches.

Smalley, John, clergyman, author, was born June 4, 1734, in Lebanon, now Columbia, Conn. He was pastor at New Britain in 1758-1820. He was the author of National and Moral Inability; and Universal Salvation. He died June 1, 1820, in New Britain, Conn.

Smallwood, William, soldier, governor, was born in 1732 in Kent county, Md. In 1776 he was appointed brigadier-general for service during the revolutionary war and in 1780 was promoted to the rank of major-general. In 1785 he was elected to the continental congress from Maryland; and in the same year was chosen governor of Maryland. He died Feb. 14, 1792, in Prince George county, Md.

Smalls, Robert, naval officer, state senator, congressman, was born April 5, 1839, in Beaufort, S.C. He was a pilot in the navy, and captain of the steamer Planter in 1863-66. He was a member of the state constitutional convention. In 1868 he was a member of the South Carolina house of representatives; he also filled the unexpired term in the state senate for two years; and in 1872 was re-elected to that position. He was made lieutenant-colonel and brigadier-general; and afterwards major-general of state troops. In 1875-79 and 1881-87 he was a representative from South Carolina to the forty-fourth, forty-fifth, forty-seventh, forty-eighth and forty-ninth congresses as a republican. Since 1898 he has been collector of customs in port of Beaufort, S.C.

Smarius, Cornelius Francis, clergyman, author, poet, was born March 3, 1823, in Holland. In 1859-60 he filled a pastorate in St. Louis, Mo.; and in 1850-52 and 1857-58 he was vice-president of the university of St. Louis. He was the author of Points of Controversy. He died March 2, 1870, in Detroit, Mich.

Smart, Charles, soldier, physician, author, was born Sept. 18, 1841, in Aberdeen, Scotland. In 1862 he enlisted as assistant surgeon in the sixty-third regiment New York volunteers; and in 1864 was appointed assistant surgeon in the United States army. Since 1902 he has held the rank of colonel; and in 1903-05 was assistant surgeon-general in the United States army. He was the author of Driven from the Path, a novel; and Handbook for Hospital Corps. He died in 1905 in Washington, D.C.

Smart, Ephraim K., lawyer, journalist, state senator, congressman, was born in 1813 in Prospect, now Searsport, Maine. In 1841 he was elected state senator from Maine; in 1842 was aide to the governor, with the rank of lieutenant-colonel; and was re-elected to the senate the same year. In 1847-49 and 1851-53 he was a representative from Maine to the thirtieth and thirty-second congresses. In 1853-58 he was collector of customs at Belfast, Maine. In 1854 he established the Maine Free Press, and was its editor for three years; and in 1858 was again elected to the legislature. He died in Belfast, Maine.

Smart, George Thomas, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 21, 1863, in England. In 1888 he was ordained to the congregational ministry; and since 1902 has filled a pastorate in Newton Highlands, Mass. Since 1895 he has lectured on English history, philosophy and art. He is the author of Studies in Conduct.

Smart, James Henry, educator, author, college president, was born Jan. 30, 1841, in Center Harbor, N.H. For thirty years he has been a member of the state board of education of Fort Wayne, Ind.; was thrice elected state superintendent of public instruction; and became president of Purdue university in 1883. He was the author of The Indiana Schools and the Men who Work in Them; a History of Institutes in the United States; An Ideal School System for a State; The Institute System for the United States; Commentary on the School Laws of Indiana; and Books and Reading for the Young. He died Feb. 21, 1900, in Lafayette, Ind.

Smart, James S., soldier, journalist, congressman, was born June 14, 1842, in Baltimore, Md. In 1865 he took charge of the Washington County Post, published at Cambridge, N.Y. In 1873-75 he was a representative from New York to the forty-third congress as a republican.

Smart, Richard Addison, civil engineer, author, was born Nov. 18, 1872, in Fort Wayne, Ind. He is connected as mechanical engineer with the B. F. Stutavant company of Boston, Mass. He is the author of Handbook of Engineering Laboratory Practice.

Smead, Isaac David, manufacturer, inventor, was born July 31, 1849, in Coleraine, Mass. He received his education in the district schools. In 1867 he commenced the manufacture of heating and ventilating apparatus in Toledo, Ohio; and became president and superintendent of the Smead furnace and foundry company. He was a member of the board of managers of the Ohio penitentiary for nine years, and was reappointed to that position for five years. He was commissioner of mechanics and machinery for the Ohio centennial exposition; and served as colonel on the staff of Governor J. B. Foraker.

Smead, Wesley, physician, philanthropist, author, was born Dec. 23, 1800, in Westchester county, N.Y. In 1850 he founded the Widows' home in Cincinnati, to which he gave thirty-seven thousand dollars; and gave liberally to every public charity that came to his notice. Besides essays on banking, he was the author of Guide to Wealth, or Pathway to Health, Peace and Competence. He died Jan. 6, 1871, in Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

Smedes, Mrs. Susan Dabney, author, was born Aug. 10, 1840, in Raymond, Miss. She is the author of Memorials of a Southern Planter.

Smedley, Samuel Lightfoot, civil engineer, author, was born Dec. 29, 1832, in Edgmont, Pa. In 1856 he plotted a district of West Philadelphia into streets; and soon after published the first complete atlas of Philadelphia, which became the standard authority for many years. He was chief engineer and surveyor of Philadelphia for over twenty years. He died July 21, 1894, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Smedley, William Thomas, illustrator, artist, was born March 26, 1858, in Chester county, Pa. He became an associate member of the National academy of design; and is now an academician. In 1882 he was engaged by the publishers of Picturesque Canada to travel with Marquis of Lorne through west and northwest Canada and illustrate the work. He has since made several sketching tours in the United States; and in 1890 around the world. His principal productions are An Indiscreet Question; A Thanksgiving Dinner; and A Summer Occupation.

Smelt, Dennis, congressman, was born in Georgia. In 1805-11 he was a representative from Georgia to the ninth, tenth and eleventh congresses. He died in Georgia.

Smet, Peter John De, missionary, author, was born Dec. 31, 1801, in Belgium. He was the author of Oregon Missions and Travels; Western Missions and Missionaries; and the New Indian Sketches. He died Aug. 1, 1838, in Newton, Conn.

Smiley, Albert Keith, educator, philanthropist, was born March 17, 1828, in Vassalborough, Maine. For twenty years he was principal of a successful boarding-school in Providence, R.I. He then purchased, with his brother, a large property in Ulster county, N.Y., and established a unique hotel at Lake Mohonk in which there is no wine, no cards, and no dancing permitted; his twin-brother, Alfred, having a similar hotel, known as the Minnewaska, the two estates comprising seven thousand acres. For seventeen years the Lake Mohonk annual Indian conference has been hospitably entertained there; and the many members of the arbitration conference at their five annual meetings have also been his guests. His winter residence is near Redlands, Cal., where he has a large estate; and he recently presented a handsome park and substantial library building to Redlands at a cost of sixty thousand dollars.

Smiley, Elmer Ellsworth, educator, clergyman, college president, was born Aug. 6, 1862, in Syracuse, N.Y. In 1891-94 he was pastor of the Pilgrim church at Vancouver, Wash.; and in 1894-98 was pastor of the first congregational church of Cheyenne, Wyo. In 1898-1903 he was president of the university of Wyoming; and since 1903 has been pastor of the congregational church at Groton, N.Y.

Smiley, Francis Edward, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 11, 1858, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1893-1901 he was pastor of the twenty-third avenue church of Denver, Col.; and since 1901 has been an evangelist. He is the author of The Evangelization of a Great City; and The Inquirer's Guide for a Happy Christian Life.

Smiley, Sarah Frances, writer, founder, author, was born March 30, 1830, in Vassalborough, Maine. She is a biblical scholar; and founder and director of the Society for the home study of the holy scripture and church history. She is the author of Garden Graith; and Fullness of Blessing.

Smilie, John, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1741, in Ireland. He served in the legislature of Pennsylvania, his adopted state. In 1793-95 and 1799-1813 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the third and the sixth to twelfth congresses. In 1797 he was a presidential elector. He died Dec. 30, 1813, in Washington, D.C.

Smillie, George Henry, painter, artist, was born Dec. 29, 1840, in New York City. He was elected an associate of the national academy of design in 1864; an academician in 1882; and in 1892-1902 was recording secretary. He is a member and for four years was treasurer of the American water color society. Among his works in oil are A Lake in the Woods; A Florida Lagoon; A Goat Pasture; Merrimack River; On the Massachusetts Coast; and Summer Morning on Long Island.

Smillie, James, engraver artist, was born Nov. 23, 1807, in Edinburgh, Scotland, and came to America in 1821. In 1851 he was elected a member of the National academy. Among his most noted works are The Voyage of Life; Dream of Arcadia; Harvesting; Mount Washington; and Rocky Mountains. He died Dec. 4, 1885, in Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

Smillie, James David, landscape painter, etcher, was born Jan. 16, 1833, in New York City. He received an academic education in the New York university; and studied art under his father and at the schools in the National academy of design. He made a reputation as a landscape engraver before becoming a painter. In 1865 he was an associate; and in 1876 became academician of the National academy of design; and in 1894-99 was its treasurer. In 1866 he was one of the founders; in 1867-71 was treasurer and in 1871-77 was president of the American water color society. He was also a founder, secretary and later president of the New York etching club. He was one of the original members of the Painter-etching society of London, England. He has written concerning etching for periodicals. He died in 1900.

Smillie, Mrs. Nellie Sheldon Jacobs, painter, artist, was born Sept. 14, 1854, in New York. Her works include Grandmother's Old Love Letters; When the Dew is on the Grass; Priscilla; Forgotten Strain; and Family Choir.

Smillie, William Cumming, engraver, founder, was born Sept. 23, 1813, in Edinburgh. He devoted himself to banknote engraving; and was connected with several firms which were ultimately merged in the American bank note company. He was the originator of British-American bank note company, and its first president. He died in New York City.

Smiser, Butler S., educator, journalist, author, poet, was born July 6, 1862, in Oldham county, Ky. He graduated from the West Kentucky college; and for three years taught school in his native state. He was district trustee of the school in Choctaw nation, Indian Territory; was also county clerk for three years; in 1898 was appointed Choctaw townsite commissioner; and served in that position for seven years. In 1889 he established the Indian Citizen of Itoka, I.T., of which he was editor and proprietor until 1905. He was prominently identified with the business and public affairs of Indian Territory; has held numerous positions of trust and honor; and resides in Atoka, Okla.

Smith, A. Herr, lawyer, congressman, was born March 7, 1815, in Lancaster county, Pa. In 1843-44 he was a member of the house of representatives of Pennsylvania; and in 1845 was elected to the state senate. In 1873-85 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-third, forty-fourth, forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh and forty-eighth congresses as a republican. He died Feb. 16, 1894, in Lancaster, Pa.

Smith, Abner, lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 4, 1843, in Orange, Mass. He is a judge of the circuit court of Cook county, Ill., and a man whose high attainments have placed him in the front rank of the representatives of the legal profession. His ancestors on both sides of the house figure prominently in the early history of this country. On graduating from Middlebury college in 1866 he became principal of Newton academy of Vermont, but resigned in 1868, when he came to Chicago to take up the study of his chosen profession. He was admitted to the bar in 1868 at Chicago, where he still resides, and has a large practice in the state and supreme courts. In 1903-06 he was judge of the circuit court.

Smith, Abram D., lawyer, jurist. In 1853-59 he was an associate justice of the supreme court of Wisconsin.

Smith, Addison T., congressman, was born near Cambridge, Ohio. In 1913-15 he was a representative from Idaho to the sixty-third congress.

Smith, Alan Penneman, physician, surgeon, was born Feb. 3, 1840, in Baltimore, Md. He is connected with nearly all the hospitals of Baltimore as consulting physician or surgeon; and has performed the operation of lithotomy more than one hundred times, successfully in every instance. He died July 18, 1898, in Baltimore, Md.

Smith, Albert, lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 3, 1793, in Hanover, Mass. He was sent to the general court of Massachusetts in 1820. In 1830-38 he was marshal of the United States for Maine. In 1839-41 he was a representative from Maine to the twenty-sixth congress; and in 1842-47 was United States commissioner to settle the northeastern boundary, under the Ashburton treaty. He died May 29, 1867, in Boston, Mass.

Smith, Albert, state legislator, congressman, was born in Batavia, N.Y. He was a member of the New York assembly from Genesee county in 1842; and in 1843-47 he was a representative from New York to the twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth congresses. He died in Genesee county, N.Y.

Smith, Albert Edwin, educator, clergyman, college president, was born Dec. 16, 1860, in New Richmond, Ohio. In 1887 he was ordained to the methodist episcopal ministry; and has filled several pastorates in Ohio. Since 1905 he has been president of the Ohio northern university at Ada.

Smith, Albert Holmes, physician, surgeon, author, was born July 19, 1835, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1859 he began the practice of medicine; and later was attending physician to several Philadelphia hospitals. In 1876 he was a delegate to the international congress. He edited Ellis's Medical Formulary. He died Dec. 16, 1885, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Smith, Albert William, educator, author, was born Aug. 30, 1856, in Westmoreland, N.Y. In 1892-1904 he was professor of mechanical engineering at the Leland Stanford university of California. Since 1904 he has been director of the Sibley college in Cornell university of Ithaca, N.Y. He is the author of Elementary Machines Design; and Materials of Machines.

Smith, Albert William, educator, scientist, was born Oct. 4, 1862, in Newark, Ohio. He is a prominent educator of Ohio; and is a member of the American chemical society; and a member of the American institution of mining engineers. He is a fellow of the American association for the advancement of sciences. He is professor of metallurgy and analytical chemistry in the Case school of applied science of Cleveland, Ohio. He has contributed technical papers to current scientific publications.

Smith, Alexander, educator, chemist, author, was born Sept. 11, 1865, in Edinburgh, Scotland. He has received the degrees of B.Sc. from Edinburgh and Ph.D. from the university of Munich. In 1889-90 he was professor of chemistry at the university of Edinburgh; and in 1890-94 was professor of chemistry and mineralogy at Wabash college. Since 1894 he has been professor of chemistry and director of physical and general chemistry in the university of Chicago. He is the author of Laboratory Outline of General Chemistry; The Teaching of Chemistry and Physics; and Introduction to General Inorganic Chemistry.

Smith, Alexander Coke, educator, clergyman, bishop, was born Sept. 16, 1849, in Sumter county, S.C. In 1886-92 he was a professor of Wofford college and Vanderbilt university. In 1892 he returned to the ministry of the methodist church; and in 1902 was elected bishop. He died Dec. 28, 1906, in Asheville, N.C.

Smith, Alfred Baker, soldier, lawyer, was born Nov. 17, 1825, in Massena, N.Y. During the civil war he was a major in the one hundred and fiftieth regiment New York volunteer infantry; was promoted to lieutenant-colonel and colonel of same; and brevetted brigadier general by President Lincoln for gallant and meritorious services in Georgia and the Carolinas. He took part with his regiment in Gettysburg, and on every march and fight it was in; and commanded the regiment on its march to the sea. He became one of the leading lawyers of the east at Poughkeepsie, N.Y.; was its postmaster for eight years; and for thirty-eight years a member of the board of education. He died Jan. 28, 1896, in Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

Smith, Mrs. Alice Prescott, litterateur, author, was born in Wisconsin. She is a novelist of California. She is the author of The Legatee; and Off the Highway.

Smith, Allcock C., lawyer, jurist, was born in Kentucky. He moved to Washington territory, from which he was appointed a justice of the United States court for the territory of Idaho. He died in Idaho.

Smith, Allen, soldier, was born April 21, 1849, in Fort Marion, Fla. In 1866 he was appointed second lieutenant in the United States infantry; and in 1902 attained the rank of colonel in the sixth cavalry. In 1905 he was retired with the rank of brigadier-general in the United States army.

Smith, Allen John, physician, pathologist, author, was born Dec. 3, 1863, in New York City. In 1891-1903 he was professor of pathology at the university of Texas; and is now professor of the university of Chicago. He is the author of Lessons and Laboratory Exercises in Bacteriology.

Smith, Andrew J., lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 2, 1818, in Chillicothe, Ohio. In 1875-76 he was attorney general of Michigan; in 1878-87 he was judge of the second circuit. He died in Cassopolis, Mich.

Smith, Andrew Jackson, soldier, was born April 28, 1815, in Bucks county, Pa. In 1838 he graduated from West Point; served in the Mexican and civil wars; and attained the brevet of major-general in the United States army. He died Jan. 30, 1897, in St. Louis, Mo.

Smith, Andrew Robinson Giddinge, physician, surgeon, state senator, was born in May, 1841, in Bridgton, Maine. He entered military service as hospital steward; was promoted assistant surgeon; and has since been United States examining surgeon in Whitefield, Maine. He has represented his town in the state legislature; and his district in the state senate for two sessions.

Smith, Andrew Thomas, educator, lecturer, author, was born Sept. 10, 1862, in Jeffersonville, Pa. He was educated at the West Chester state normal school of Pennsylvania; attended the New York university; and was a special student in the university of Pennsylvania; and has received the degrees of A.M. and Ph.D. He has been principal of the soldiers' orphan school of Chester Springs, Pa.; and professor of pedagogy and vice-principal at the West Chester state normal school of Pennsylvania. He is now principal of the Mansfield state normal school of Pennsylvania. He is a noted institute lecturer and writer on Pedagogy. He is the author of Systematic Methodology.

Smith, Angus, merchant, pioneer, was born Dec. 16, 1822, in St. Clair county, Mich. In 1841 he became superintendent of a lumber yard at Sandusky, Ohio. In 1849 he became a commission merchant. In 1858 he erected the first elevator in Milwaukee, Wis. He died Nov. 28, 1830, in Stamford, Conn.

Smith, Mrs. Annie E., telegraph operator, was born in 1827. On May 24, 1844, she sent the first telegraphic message in the United States from Washington to Baltimore. The first words were What hath God wrought? She died Jan. 21, 1900, in New York City.

Smith, Archibald Cary, naval architect, was born Sept. 4, 1837, in New York City. In 1871 he designed for Robert Centre of New York City the cutter Vindex, which was the first iron yacht that was built in Chester, Pa. His success in this business induced him to abandon painting; and he has since devoted himself to designing and altering yachts of all kinds, among which are the schooners Intrepid, Fortuna, Norma, Harbinger, Carlotta, Iroquois, Oriole, Dream, Whim, the sloops Mischief, Rover, Kestrel, Priscilla, Cinderella, Banshee, Katrina and Meteor.

Smith, Arthur, state legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 15, 1785, in Isle of Wight county, Va. He served with credit at the head of a militia force at Norfolk in 1812; was a member of the privy council of Virginia; and subsequently a member of the state legislature. In 1821-25 he was a representative to the seventeenth and eighteenth congresses. He died March 30, 1853, in Virginia.

Smith, Arthur Arnold, soldier, was born in Ohio. In 1862 he was lieutenant-colonel in the eighty-third regiment Illinois infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Sept. 21, 1900.

Smith, Arthur Cosslett, lawyer, author, was born in 1852 in Lyons, N.Y. Since 1875 he has practiced law in Rochester, N.Y. He is the author of The Monk and the Dancer; and The Turquoise Cup.

Smith, Arthur Donaldson, explorer, author, was born in 1864 in Pennsylvania. He is an African explorer. He is the author of Through Unknown African Countries.

Smith, Arthur E., business man, poet, was born June 15, 1866, in Granville, N.Y. He was educated at the Troy conference academy of Poughkeepsie, N.Y. He is a successful merchant of Stateville, N.Y. He is the author of a volume of poems entitled Rural Legends and Lyrics.

Smith, Arthur Henderson, clergyman, missionary, author, was born July 18, 1845, in Vernon, Conn. In 1867 he graduated from Beloit college, where he subsequently received the degree of A.M. He also received the honorary degree of LL.D. from Whitman college. In 1872 he went to China; in 1872-80 was located at Tientsin; and in 1880 was appointed to the P'ang Chuang station. In 1886-87 was first acting pastor of the First congregational church of Pasadena, Cal. In 1900 he was in the siege in Peking; in 1901 was acting pastor of the Union church at Tientsin, China; and since 1906 has been missionary-at-large of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions. In 1907 was chairman of the China centenary conference. He is the author of Proverbs and Common Sayings of Chinese; Chinese Characteristics; Village Life in China; China in Convulsions; Rex Christus; An Outline Study of China; The Uplifting of China; and America and China.

Smith, Asa Dodge, clergyman, college president, author, was born Sept. 21, 1804, in Amherst, N.H. He was president of Dartmouth college in 1863-77. He was the author of several addresses and sermons. He died Aug. 16, 1877, in Hanover, N.H.

Smith, Ashbel, soldier, physician, state legislator, diplomat, author, was born Aug. 13, 1805, in Hartford, Conn. In 1836 he removed to Texas; and was appointed surgeon-general of the new republic. He was a member of the legislature for many years, and served throughout the Mexican war. He was the author of Account of the Geography of Texas; and Permanent Identity of the Human Race. He died Jan. 21, 1886, in Harris county, Texas.

Smith, Ashley Auburn, clergyman, author, poet, was born May 28, 1871, in Auburn, Maine. He fills a pastorate in Gloucester, Mass. He is the author of a volume entitled Noble Thoughts for Noble Living.

Smith, Augustus, civil engineer, director, was born July 30, 1868, in New York City. In 1887 he graduated with the degree of A.B. from the college of the City of New York; and received the degree of C.E. from Columbia university school of mines. He constructed the recreation piers on the North river of New York City; and is president of the Bergen Point iron works.

Smith, Augustus Ledyard, business man, legislator, was born April 5, 1833, in Middletown, Conn. He graduated from the university of Middletown; and subsequently took a position as tutor in the university of Wisconsin at Madison. In 1856 he became connected with the office of school lands in Wisconsin; and with the Fox and Wisconsin Improvement company, and became its secretary and treasurer. In 1861 he accepted the professorship in the United States naval academy of Annapolis; and was subsequently assigned to duty on the steam frigate Constitution. After the civil war he resumed his duties with the Fox and Wisconsin Improvement company, which was subsequently merged into the Green Bay and Mississippi canal company; and was continuously with that company until 1872. In 1870 he organized the First national bank of Appleton, and was its president for more than twenty years. In 1881 he was the leading spirit of the Appleton Edison light company; and in 1894 was elected vice-president of the National association of the Edison illuminating companies. In 1866-67 he served as state senator in the Wisconsin legislature; and in 1870 was elected mayor of Appleton. He took a leading part in the reorganization of the State university; and was regent for six successive years. In 1884 he received the nomination to congress; and was president of the Wisconsin board of World's Fair managers in 1891. He died in 1902, in Appleton, Wis.

Smith, Augustus William, educator, author, was born May 12, 1802, in Newport, N.Y. He was professor of mathematics at Wesleyan university in 1831-51; and president of that institution in 1851-57. In 1857-66 he was professor of mathematics in the United States naval academy at Annapolis, Md. He was the author of Elementary Treatise on Mechanics. He died March 22, 1866, in Annapolis, Md.

Smith, Asariah, missionary, was born in Manlius, N.Y., Feb. 16, 1817. In 1842 he embarked for western Asia as a missionary; and settled at Aintab in 1848, and taught and preached there until his death. He died June 3, 1851, in Asia Minor.

Smith, B. Holly, physician, dentist, was born March 12, 1858, in Piscataway, Md. He was demonstrator of operative dentistry at the Baltimore college of Maryland. He was the first president of the Maryland state dentist association.

Smith, Ballard, congressman. In 1815-21 he was a representative from Virginia to the fourteenth, fifteenth and sixteenth congresses. He died in Virginia.

Smith, Benjamin, state legislator, governor, philanthropist, was born in 1750, in Brunswick county, N.C. He was a member of the North Carolina state legislature in 1792; was a general of militia; and was the ninth governor of North Carolina in 1810-11. His life was one of many difficulties; was engaged in many duels; but is kindly remembered because of his donation of twenty thousand acres of land to the state university in 1789. He died Feb. 10, 1820, in Smithville, N.C.

Smith, Benjamin Bosworth, clergyman, bishop, was born June 13, 1704, in Bristol, R.I. In 1832 he became a protestant episcopal bishop of the diocese of Kentucky. His earliest work in the ministry was in Marblehead, Charlestown and Shepherds-town. He died May 31, 1884, in New York City.

Smith, Benjamin Dayton, lawyer, public official, was born May 27, 1860, in Vernon Center, Minn. He was educated in the public schools of his native state; and at the Minnesota state normal school at Mankato. He has attained success in the practice of law; and for four years was county attorney for Blue Earth county, Minn. For eight years he was a member of the board of directors of the Modern woodmen of America. Since 1903 he has been the general attorney of the Modern woodmen of America; and also chairman of the beneficiary committee of the Royal neighbors of America.

Smith, Benjamin Eli, educator, editor, was born Feb. 7, 1857, in Syria. He was managing editor of the Century Dictionary; editor of the Century Cyclopedia of Names; editor of the Century Atlas; and other works.

Smith, Benjamin Franklin, soldier, was born in New Jersey. In 1853 he graduated from the United States military academy. In 1853 he was second lieutenant in the first regiment New Jersey infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died June 22, 1868.

Smith, Benjamin Mosby, clergyman, theologian, was born June 30, 1811, in Powhatan county, Va. In 1854 he was appointed to the chair of oriental and biblical literature in the Union seminary, which office he still holds. In 1858-74 he was pastor of the Hampden-Sidney college church; and he was moderator of the general assembly of the presbyterian church in 1876. He died in Richmond, Va.

Smith, Benjamin Wilson, educator, clergyman, state legislator, author, was born Jan. 19, 1830, in Clarksburg, Va. He was president of the Valparaiso male and female college; is senior member of a school supply firm of La Fayette, Ind.; has served as a member of the Indiana state legislature for four terms; and was postmaster of Lafayette in 1890-94. He is the author of several works.

Smith, Bernard, congressman, was born in 1776, in Morristown, N.J. He was sent as a special bearer of dispatches to Europe; and was subsequently collector and postmaster at New Brunswick. In 1819-21 he was a representative from New Jersey to the sixteenth congress; and in 1821-35 was register of the land office in Arkansas. He died July 16, 1835, in Little Rock, Ark.

Smith, Boardman H., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Aug. 18, 1826, in Whitingham, Vt. He settled in New York; became judge of the Chemung county courts in 1859. He was a representative from New York to the forty-second and forty-third congresses.

Smith, Caleb Blood, journalist, congressman, jurist, cabinet officer, was born April 16, 1808, in Boston, Mass. In 1832 he established and edited a whig journal called the Indiana Sentinel. He was a member of the legislature in 1833-36. In 1843-49 he was a representative from Indiana to the twenty-eighth, twenty-ninth and thirtieth congresses; and was a presidential elector in 1840 and 1856. After leaving congress in 1849 he was appointed one of the members of the board for investigating the claims of American citizens against Mexico; and subsequently practiced his profession in Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1861-63 he was secretary of the interior. He was a member of the peace congress held in Washington in 1861; and in 1862 was appointed district judge of the United States district court for the district of Indiana. He died Jan. 8, 1864, in Indianapolis, Ind.

Smith, Buckingham, lawyer diplomat, antiquarian, author, was born Oct. 31, 1810, in Cumberland Island, Ga. He was a Spanish-American scholar and antiquary of note; twice secretary of the United States legation at Mexico; and after 1859 a lawyer in Florida. He was the author of Grammatical Sketch of the Heve Language; Grammar of the Pima, or Nevome; and Narratives of the Career of Hernando de Soto in the Conquest of Florida. He died Jan. 5, 1871, in New York City.

Smith, Calvin, soldier, was born in Massachusetts. In 1775-77 he served in the revolutionary war; and in 1783 was brevetted brigadier-general.

Smith, Carl, journalist, poet. He was on the staff of the Chicago Record. He was the author of a volume of poems entitled Where the Sun Goes Down. He was drowned in September, 1898.

Smith, Carlos Green, educator, college president, was born Dec. 18, 1813, in Lexington, Ga. In 1847-59 he had charge of the Greete academy of Huntsville, Ala. In 1859-61 he conducted a private school near Courtland, Ala. In 1874-78 he was president of the university of Alabama. He died Oct. 14, 1892, in Palatka, Fla.

Smith, Carroll Earl, journalist, state legislator, was born Dec. 25, 1832, in Syracuse, N.Y. He was associate editor on the staff of the Syracuse Chronicle; and since 1860 has edited the Syracuse Journal. In 1888 he was a member of the New York state legislature; and in 1889-93 was postmaster of Syracuse, N.Y. For thirty years he was a director and president of the Onondaga historical association; and for six years was president of the state associated press of New York.

Smith, Charles, lawyer, jurist, author, was born March 4, 1765, in Philadelphia, Pa. He became president judge in 1819 of the judicial district composed of the counties of Cumberland, Franklin and Adams; and in 1820 of the newly formed district court of Lancaster city and county. His later life was spent in Philadelphia. He was appointed by the legislature in 1810 to revise the laws of the state, and to frame a compilation of them, which he published with a Treatise on the Land Laws of Pennsylvania, in five volumes. He died March 18, 1836, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Smith, Charles, journalist, bookseller, was born in 1768 in New York. He was a bookseller in New York City; translated plays for the stage from the German of Kotzebue and Schiller; and edited the Monthly Military Repository in 1796-97. He also published a Political Pocket Almanac in 1797. He died in 1808 in New York City.

Smith, Charles, soldier, statesman, was born Dec. 24, 1839, in Wayne county, Mich. He attended the Union school at Ypsilanti until 1862, with the exception of three months' service as a private in company H, first regiment Michigan infantry. Since 1863 he has lived in Houghton county, Mich.; and for over thirty years was in the employ of copper smelting companies. He is vice-president of the First national bank of Lake Linden; director of the Northern Michigan building and loan association of Hancock; and chairman of the Miskawik development association, limited, of Keweenaw county. He has served 19 consecutive terms as supervisor of his township; and in 1895-96 was a representative in the Michigan state legislature. Since 1899 he has been a member of the Michigan state senate for the thirty-second district, and is now serving the term of 1907-08, being his seventh consecutive term in the legislature. The greatest number of terms by any former member is six.

Smith, Charles Adam, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 25, 1809, in New York City. He was a Lutheran clergyman of Rhinebeck, N.Y., and elsewhere. He was the author of The Catechumen's Guide; Men of the Olden Time; Before the Flood and After; Among the Lilies; Inlets and Outlets; Stoneridge, pastoral sketches; and Popular Exposition of the Gospels. He died Feb. 15, 1879, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Smith, Charles Alphonso, educator, author, was born May 28, 1864, in Greensboro, N.C. In 1884 he graduated from Davidson college of North Carolina, subsequently received the degree of A.M. from that institution; and in 1893 received the degree of Ph.D. from Johns Hopkins university. He also studied in the universities of Paris and Berlin. In 1893-1902 he was professor of English language and literature at the Louisiana state university; and since 1907 has been head of the English department and dean of the graduate department in the university of North Carolina; and is now Edgar Allen Poe professor of English at the university of Virginia. In 1897-99 he was president of the Modern language association of America for the central division. He is the author of Repetition and Parallelism in English Verse; Old English Grammar and Exercise Book; Elementary English Grammar; and other works.

Smith, Charles Beaman, agriculturist, author, was born Sept. 21, 1870, in Howardsville, Mich. Since 1896 he has been assistant agriculturist in the United States department of agriculture. He is the author of Farmers' Cyclopedia of Agriculture; and Farmers' Cyclopedia of Live Stock.

Smith, Charles Bennett, congressman, editor, was born Sept. 14, 1870, in Erie county, N.Y. He became managing editor of the Buffalo Times; and is the owner and editor of the Niagara Falls Journal. In 1911-15 he was a representative from New York to the sixty-second and sixty-third congresses as a democrat.

Smith, Charles Brooks, soldier, congressman, was born Feb. 24, 1844, in Wood county, W.Va. He enlisted in the union army at the age of nineteen years; and was mustered out in 1865. He was twice elected mayor of the city of Parkersburg; and in 1880-84 was sheriff and treasurer of the county of Wood. He was delegate at large to the national republican convention at Chicago in 1888; and in 1889-91 he was a representative to the fifty-first congress as a republican. He died Dec. 7, 1899, in Parkersburg, W.Va.

Smith, Charles Edward, soldier, was born in New York. In 1863 he was major in the eleventh regiment Michigan cavalry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died in 1907.

Smith, Charles Emory, journalist, diplomat, was born Feb. 18, 1842, in Mansfield, Conn. He became editor of the Albany Express in 1865, and of the Albany Journal in 1870, and since 1880 has conducted the Philadelphia Press. He was president of the New York state press association in 1874, and delivered the annual address at its meeting. He was a regent of the university of the state of New York in 1879-

80; and a delegate to the national republican conventions in 1876 and in 1888. In 1890-92 he was envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Russia. He died Jan. 19, 1908, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Smith, Charles Ferguson, soldier, was born April 24, 1807, in Philadelphia, Pa. He served at the military academy in 1829-42 as assistant instructor of infantry tactics, adjutant, and as commandant of cadets and instructor of infantry tactics. He was with the army of General Zachary Taylor in the military occupation of Texas in 1845-46; and was placed in command of four companies of artillery, acting as infantry which throughout the war that followed was famous as Smith's light battalion. He died April 25, 1862, in Savannah, Tenn.

Smith, Charles Henry, soldier, lawyer, author, was born June 15, 1826, in Lawrenceville, Ga. For twenty-seven years he practiced law in Rome, Ga. In 1861-65 he served in the confederate states army; and became major. He was the author of Bill Arp's Letters; Bill Arp's Scrap Book; The Farm and the Fireside; A Side Show of the Southern Side of the War; Fire Sketches; and Georgia as a Colony and State, under the pen name of Bill Arp. He died Aug. 24, 1903, in Cartersville, Ga.

Smith, Charles Forster, educator, author, was born June 30, 1852, in Abbeville county, S.C. In 1872 he graduated from Wofford college of South Carolina; in 1874 studied at Hartford university; and was also a student in the universities of Berlin and Leipsig. In 1875-79 he was professor of classics and German at Wofford college; in 1881-82 was assistant professor of latin and Greek in Williams college, Massachusetts; in 1882-83 was professor of modern languages; and in 1883-94 was professor of Greek in Vanderbilt university. In 1903 he was president of the American philological association. He is a contributor to philological journals and literary reviews on classical philology, on modern literature and educational topics.

Smith, Charles Henry, soldier lawyer, state senator, was born Nov. 1, 1827, in Hollis, Maine. He has been successively lawyer, soldier, state senator, and army officer; and attained the rank of brigadier-general. He died July 17, 1902, in Washington, D.C.

Smith, Charles Henry, educator, author, was born May 14, 1842, in Syria. Since 1890 he has been professor of American history at Yale university. He is the author of History of Yale University.

Smith, Charles Lee, educator, lecturer, author, was born Aug. 29, 1865, in Wilton, N.C. In 1891-1906 he was professor of history and political science in the William Jewell college; and in 1906-07 was president of Mercer university of Georgia. He is the author of History of Education in North Carolina; and The Money Question.

Smith, Charles P., merchant, banker, state legislator, was born March 4, 1847, in Canada. He is president of the Burlington savings bank; and in 1894 was elected a member of the Vermont house of representatives.

Smith, Charles Perrin, journalist, genealogist, was born Jan. 5, 1819, in Philadelphia, Pa. On attaining his majority he became proprietor and editor of The National Standard of Salem, N.J., and conducted it for eleven years. He served in the New Jersey legislature of 1852; and filled numerous public positions. He was the author of a genealogy. He died Jan. 27, 1883, in Trenton, N.J.

Smith, Charles Shaler, civil engineer, was born Jan. 26, 1836, in Pittsburg, Pa. He constructed the confederate states powder works, one of the largest that had then been built. In 1866 he organized the engineering firm which subsequently became the Baltimore bridge company, of which he was president and chief engineer. He died Dec. 19, 1886, in St. Louis, Mo.

Smith, Charles Sidney, soldier, was born Dec. 26, 1843, in St. Albans, Vt. In 1866 he was appointed second lieutenant in the fourth artillery; and in 1874 was transferred to the ordnance department. In 1898 he became major; in 1905 was promoted colonel and in 1907 was retired with the rank of brigadier-general.

Smith, Charles Spencer, clergyman, bishop, author, was born March 16, 1852, in Canada. In 1872 he became a clergyman. In 1874-76 he was a representative in the Alabama state legislature. He founded and in 1882-1900 was secretary and treasurer of the Sunday school union of the African methodist episcopal church; and since 1900 has been bishop. He is the author of Glimpses of Africa, West and Southwest Coast.

Smith, Charles Sprague, educator, lecturer, author, was born April 27, 1853, in Andover, Mass. In 1880-91 he was professor of modern languages at Columbia university of New York City; and was a lecturer. In 1895 he organized and was president of the Comparative Literature society. In 1897 he organized the Peoples institute; of which institution he was managing director. He was the author of Barbizon Days; and Working With the People. He died March 30, 1910.

Smith, Charles W., clergyman, editor, was born in January, 1840, in Fayette county, Pa. He received the degree of A.M. from Allegheny college of Meadville, Pa. Since 1884 he has been pastor and presiding elder in the methodist episcopal church at Pittsburg, Pa.; and is also editor of the Pittsburg Christian Advocate.

Smith, Clarence Beaman, journalist, author, was born Sept. 21, 1870, in Howardsville, Wis. Since 1896 he has been assistant agriculturist in the United States department of agriculture. He is the author of Farmer's Cyclopedia of Live-Stock; and other works.

Smith, Clark Allen, lawyer, jurist, was born July 29, 1846, in Rock county, Wis. In 1882-1901 he was judge of the fifteenth judicial district of Kansas; and in 1904-09 was justice of the supreme court of Kansas.

Smith, Clement Lawrence, educator, philologist, author, was born April 13, 1844, in Upper Darby, Pa. In 1870 he became tutor in latin at Harvard university; was assistant professor in 1873-1883; was professor in 1883-1904; was dean of Harvard college in 1882-1891; and dean of the faculty of arts and sciences in 1898-1902. In 1897-98 he was director of the American school of classical studies in Rome; and in 1898 was president of the American philological association. He is the author of an edition of Horace's Odes and Epodes; and of several philological and educational monographs.

Smith, Clinton De Witt, educator, agriculturist, college president, was born March 7, 1854, in Trumansburg, N.Y. In 1893-1908 he was director of the experiment station and dean in special courses at the Michigan agricultural college. In 1902 he was elected president of the New Mexico agricultural college. He originated courses and built dairy buildings at the university of Minnesota and also at Michigan agricultural college.

Smith, Columbus, educator, lawyer, real estate dealer, genealogist, was born Jan. 3, 1819. He recovered numerous estates in England for American claimants. In 1850 he took the first block of marble to London from Brandon, Vt., which was the first marble taken to Europe from the United States. He has large holdings of real estate in Vermont, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Kansas, and Texas. He is the author of Report to the Innis Association of the United States; and other works.

Smith, Cotton Mather, clergyman, chaplain, was born Oct. 28, 1731, in Suffield, Conn. In 1765-1806 he was pastor of the congregational church in Sharon. During the revolution he served as chaplain under General Schuyler in 1775-6. He died Nov. 27, 1806, in Sharon, Conn.

Smith, Daniel, United States senator, was born about 1740 in Fauquier county, Va. He was one of the earliest emigrants to Tennessee; and was a general of militia. In 1797-99 and 1805-11 he was a United States senator from Tennessee. He died July 16, 1818, in Sumner county, Tenn.

Smith, Daniel, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 16, 1806, in Salisbury, Conn. He was a methodist clergyman of New York state, and very active in the temperance cause. He was the author of Wisdom in Miniature; Gems of Female Biography; Anecdotes for the Young; Teachers' Assistant; Lectures to Young Men; Book of Manners; and Anecdotes of the Christian Ministry. He died June 23, 1852, in Kingston, N.Y.

Smith, Daniel B., educator, founder, was born July 14, 1892, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1819 he opened a drug store, and continued thereafter in active mercantile pursuits until within a few years of his death.

He was one of the founders of the Apprentices' library in 1820; and was active in the movement that led to the establishment of the College of pharmacy in 1822. In 1821 he became secretary of the preliminary organization, which office he then held until his election as vice-president in 1828, and in 1829-54 was its president. In 1826 he issued the first number of the American Journal of Pharmacy. In 1834-46 he was professor of moral philosophy, English literature, and chemistry in Haverford college. He was influential in organizing the House of refuge in 1828, and the American pharmaceutical association in 1852, and presided over its first meeting in Philadelphia. He died March 29, 1883, in Germantown, Pa.

Smith, David Eugene, educator, author, was born Jan. 21, 1860, in Cortland, N.Y. In 1881-98 he was professor of mathematics in the Michigan state normal school; and in 1898-1901 was principal of the New York state normal school. Since 1901 he has been professor of mathematics in the teachers' college of Columbia university of New York City. He is the author of History of Modern Mathematics; and Teaching of Mathematics.

Smith, David Highbaugh, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Dec. 19, 1854, in Hodgenville, Ky. He was county attorney for Larue county in 1878-82; in 1882-84 was a member of the general assembly; and a member of the state senate in 1885-93; and was president of the senate. In 1897-1907 he was a representative from Kentucky to the fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh, and fifty-eighth and fifty-ninth congresses as a democrat.

Smith, David M., state legislator, inventor, was born in 1809 in Hartland, Vt. The awl-baft as manufactured by him was similar if not identical with the one now known as the Aiken awl. In 1840-41 he represented the town of Gilsom in the New Hampshire legislature, after which he removed to Springfield, Vt. He patented a combination-lock in 1849, of which an English expert named Hobbs, who had opened all the locks that were brought to him in London, said, It cannot be picked. He died Nov. 10, 1881, in Springfield, Vt.

Smith, David Thomas, physician, lawyer, author, was born Nov. 12, 1840, in Hardin county, Ky. Since 1870 he has been a successful practicing physician of Louisville, Ky.; and is lecturer on medical jurisprudence in the university of Louisville, Ky. Since 1903 he practiced law. He is the author of Obstetric Problems; and Philosophy of Memory and Other Essays.

Smith, Dean Tyler, educator, physician, author, was born Sept. 9, 1860, in Portland, Mich. He is professor of surgery and clinical surgery in the university of Michigan homeopathic college. He is the author of Before and After Surgical Operations.

Smith, Delazon, journalist, United States senator, was born Oct. 5, 1816, in New Berlin, N.Y. He studied law, became a writer for the press, and was associated with the Rochester True Jeffersonian and the Western Empire of Dayton, Ohio. In 1846 he removed to Iowa territory; and in 1852 to Oregon territory. In 1854 he was elected to the assembly of Oregon, and was re-elected in 1855 and 1856. In 1857 he was a member of the convention which framed a state constitution; and in 1857-58 he was United States senator. He was also the editor of the Oregon Democrat. He died Nov. 17, 1860, in Portland, Ore.

Smith, Dexter, author, poet, was born in 1842 in Salem, Mass. More than one thousand poems from the pen of this poet have been set to music; and some of his songs have attained circulations running well into millions of copies, notably the lyrics, Ring the Bell Softly, There's a Crape on the Door; Cross and Crown; Put Me in My Little Bed; Darling Minnie Lee; and others. Ring the Bell Softly has been translated into several foreign languages. Since 1865 he has edited continuously various musical journals, among them the Orpheus and the Boston Musical Record, which he now conducts. A volume of his poems appeared in 1867.

Smith, Dietrich C., soldier, manufacturer, banker, congressman, was born April 4, 1840, in Hanover. He entered the union army in 1861; served throughout the war; and attained the rank of captain. He engaged in banking and manufacturing in Pekin, Ill.; and was a representative in the legislature of Illinois. In 1881-83 he was a representative from Illinois to the forty-seventh congress.

Smith, Edgar Fahs, educator, chemist, author, was born May 23, 1856, in York, Pa. In 1874 he graduated from Pennsylvania college with the degree of B.S.; and in 1876 graduated from the university of Goettingen with the degree of Ph.D. In 1876-81 he was instructor in chemistry in the university of Pennsylvania; in 1881-83 filled the same chair in Muhlenberg college; also filled the same chair in 1883-88 in Wittenberg college; and since 1888 has filled the chair of chemistry in the university of Pennsylvania. In 1895-96 he was president of the American chemical society; and in 1896 was vice-president of the American association for the advancement of science. In 1893 he was a member of the jury of awards of the Chicago columbian exposition; and in 1896 and 1901 served on the United States assay commissions. He is the author of several volumes on Experiments in Chemistry; and other scientific works. He is also the translator of Richter's Inorganic and Organic Chemistries; and other works.

Smith, Edgar Moncena, educator, clergyman, college president, was born Aug. 4, 1846, in Livermore, Maine. In 1875-80 he filled pastorates in Providence and Newport, R.I. In 1892-93 he was president of Wesleyan university and female college at Kent Hill, Maine; and since 1898 has been president of the Illinois Wesleyan university at Bloomington.

Smith, Edmund Kirby, soldier, was born May 16, 1824, in St. Augustine, Fla. During the civil war he attained the rank of brigadier-general in the confederate service. He died March 28, 1893, in Sewanee, Tenn.

Smith, Edward Curtis, lawyer, governor, was born Jan. 5, 1854, in St. Albans, Vt. In 1875 he graduated from Yale university; and also graduated from the Columbia law school. In 1877 he was admitted to the practice of law; and in 1898-1900 was republican governor of the state of Vermont.

Smith, Edward Delafield, lawyer, author, poet, was born May 8, 1826, in Rochester, N.Y. He was United States attorney for the southern district of New York in 1861-65; and in 1871-75 was corporation counsel of New York City. He was the author of Avidæ, a poem; Destiny, a poem; Oratory, a poem; Reports of Cases in the New York Court of Common Pleas; and Addresses to Juries in Slave Trade Trials. He died April 13, 1878, in Shrewsbury, N.J.

Smith, Edward E., lawyer, state senator, was born May 5, 1861, in Spring Valley, Minn. He was a member of the Minnesota state legislature in 1895-97; and was a member of the state senate in 1898-1902.

Smith, Edward M., lawyer, legislator, was born Feb. 6, 1838, in Alstead, N.H. He received a thorough education, attended the academy of Alstead; and in 1860 graduated from the Albany law school, New York. He has attained success in the profession of law; is one of the foremost lawyers of New England, and still practices in the city of his nativity. He has served with distinction as a member of the New Hampshire state legislature; was superintendent of the school committee for twelve years; has been tax collector for eleven years; and is moderator of Alstead, N.H. He is prominent in the public affairs of his city, county and state; and an active member in several fraternal orders.

Smith, Edward Henry, farmer, congressman, was born in 1809 in Smithtown, N.Y. In 1861-63 he was a representative from New York to the thirty-seventh congress. He died in New York.

Smith, Edward M., railroad president, was born Jan. 5, 1854, in St. Albans, Vt. Since 1896 he has been president of the Central Vermont railroad.

Smith, Edward Parmelee, clergyman, college president, was born June 3, 1827, in South Britain, Conn. In 1871 he was appointed an Indian agent among the Chippewas in Minnesota; in 1873 he was appointed commissioner of Indian affairs; and in 1875 was appointed president of Howard university. He died June 15, 1876, in Africa.

Smith, Edward Robinson, librarian, artist, was born Jan. 3, 1854, in Beirut, Syria. In 1876 he graduated with the degree of A.B. from Amherst college; and studied sculpture in Munich, Florence and Paris. Since 1895 he has been reference librarian of the Henry O. Avery memorial architectural library at Columbia university of New York City.

Smith, Edward Worthington, soldier, was born in Vermont. In 1861 he was first lieutenant in the fifteenth regiment Illinois infantry; and in 1865 attained the rank of brigadier-general of volunteers. He died May 21, 1883.

Smith, Edwin, civil engineer, astronomer, author, was born April 13, 1851, in New York City. Since 1870 he has been connected with the United States coast and geodetic survey, with the exception of 1895-97, when he was with the New York state land survey. In 1874 he was astronomer in charge of a party to observe the transit of Venus at Chatham Islands, and in 1882 at Auckland. The results of his work can be found in the publications of the United States coast and geodetic survey and the United States naval observatory.

Smith, Edwin Bradbury, lawyer, state legislator, was born in October, 1832, in Kennebunkport, Maine. He practiced law in Saco, Maine; frequently served in the state legislature; and was chosen speaker in 1871. He was subsequently the official reporter of the supreme court; and in 1875 was appointed first assistant in the office of the attorney-general of the United States.

Smith, Egbert Watson, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 15, 1862, in Greensboro, N.C. In 1893-06 he was pastor of the first presbyterian church of Greensboro, N.C. Since 1906 he has been pastor of the second presbyterian church at Louisville, Ky. He is the author of The Creed of Presbyterians.

Smith, Eldridge, soldier, poet. He served as a colonel in the United States army during the civil war; and took part in the defence of Baltimore during the raid of General Early in 1864. He is the author of a volume of poems entitled Songs of the Morning. His wife is also the author of a volume of poems entitled Beautiful Builders.

Smith, Eli, missionary, author, was born Sept. 13, 1801, in Northfield, Conn. He was a congregational missionary at Beirut. He was the author of Missionary Researches in Armenia; and an Arabic translation of the Bible. He died Jan. 11, 1867, in Syria.

Smith, Elias, clergyman, author, was born June 17, 1769, in Lyme, Conn. He was a congregational clergyman of Massachusetts. He was the author of The Clergyman's Looking-Glass; History of Anti-Christ; and Sermons on the Prophecies. He died June 29, 1846, in Lynn, Mass.

Smith, Elihu Hubbard, physician, author, poet, was born Sept. 4, 1771, in Litchfield, Conn. He was a physician and poet of New York City. He was the author of Edwin and Angelina, an opera; and American Poems, Original and Selected. He died Dec. 10, 1798, in New York City.

Smith, Elijah, railroad president, was born April 23, 1840, in Poughkeepsie, N.Y. Since 1895 he has been president of the Oregon improvement company; and has also been president of the Detroit, Hillsdale and South Western railroad.

Smith, Mrs. Elizabeth Lee Allen, composer, author, was born in 1817 in New Hampshire. She was the wife of the late Henry Boynton Smith, a presbyterian clergyman. She was the author of several hymns and other verse; and edited The Life and Work of Henry Boynton Smith. She died in 1898.

Smith, Mrs. Elizabeth Oakes, author, poet, was born Aug. 12, 1806, in North Yarmouth, Maine. She was a prominent writer of prose and poetry, and was the first woman lecturer in America. Her later years were passed in Hollywood, S.C. She was the author of The Sinless Child, and Other Poems; The Newsboy, which first directed public attention to a hitherto neglected class; Riches Without Wings; Old New York, or Jacob Leisler, a tragedy; Woman and Her Needs; Bertha and Lily; and The Western Captive. She died Nov. 15, 1893, in Hollywood, N.C.

Smith, Mrs. Ellen M. Cyr, educator, author, was born in Montreal, Canada. For fifteen years she taught in Cambridge, Mass. She is the author of Cyr's Readers. Several of her books have been translated into Spanish, Japanese, and the Braille type for the blind.

Smith, Mrs. Ellen M. Cyr, educator, author, was born in Montreal, Canada. For fifteen years she taught in Cambridge, Mass. She is the author of Cyr's Readers. Several of her books have been translated into Spanish, Japanese, and the Braille type for the blind.

Smith, Mrs. Ellen M. Cyr, educator, author, was born in Montreal, Canada. For fifteen years she taught in Cambridge, Mass. She is the author of Cyr's Readers. Several of her books have been translated into Spanish, Japanese, and the Braille type for the blind.

Smith, Ellison D., United States senator, planter, and was born Aug. 1, 1868, at Lynchburg. He was a member of the legislature from Sumter county in 1896-1900. He is a merchant and planter; and began the cotton movement in 1901, which resulted in the organization of the Farmers' protective association. Since 1909 he has been United States senator from South Carolina.

Smith, Ellison G., lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 5, 1849, in Ohio. He has been United States district attorney; and is noted as an eminent jurist of South Dakota at Yankton. For twelve years he has served his state as circuit judge.

Smith, Elmer Boyd, illustrator, artist, author, was born May 31, 1880, in Canada. He is the author of My Village; The Story of Noah's Ark; and The Story of Pocahontas and Captain John Smith.

Smith, Erasmus Darwin, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 10, 1806, in De Ruyter, N.Y. He became a master in chancery in 1832; and was a justice of the supreme court of New York in 1855-77. He served on the court of appeals in 1862-70; and was general term justice in 1872-77. He died Nov. 11, 1883, in Rochester, N.Y.

Smith, Erasmus Peshine, educator, lawyer, jurist, author, was born March 2, 1814, in New York City. He was professor of mathematics in the university of Rochester in 1850-52, when he became superintendent of public instruction at Albany. In 1857 he was appointed reporter of the court of appeals of the state of New York. He was the author of Manual of Political Economy. He died Oct. 21, 1882, in Rochester, N.Y.

Smith, Erasmus Gilbert, educator, chemist, author, was born April 30, 1855, in South Hadley, Mass. Since 1881 he has been professor of chemistry at Beloit college of Wisconsin. He is the author of Determination of the Rock-Forming Minerals.

Smith, Mrs. Erminnie Adelle, ethnologist, scientist, author, was born Feb. 20, 1836, in Marcellus, N.Y. She was the author of an Iroquois-English dictionary. She died June 9, 1886, in Jersey City, N.J.

Smith, Ernest Ellsworth, physician, chemist, was born Dec. 20, 1867, in New Haven, Conn. He graduated from Yale university and from Bellevue hospital medical college. He was assistant in physiological chemistry in Yale university; and is now engaged in laboratory practice in New York City; and is a professor of the Fordham university medical school of New York. He has appeared as a medical-legal expert and toxicologist in many important criminal cases and civil litigations. His father, the late Henry Ellsworth Smith of New Haven, Conn., was a prominent business man, and during the civil war was a member of company K, fifteenth regiment Connecticut volunteers.

Smith, Erwin E., educator, pathologist, author, was born Jan. 21, 1854, in Gilbert's

Mills, N.Y. Since 1889 he has been an assistant pathologist in the United States department of agriculture; and is now in charge of the laboratory of plant pathology in the bureau of plant industry. He is the author of Bacteria in Relation to Plant Diseases.

Smith, Ethan, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 19, 1762, in Belchertown, Mass. He was city missionary of Boston in 1832-40. He was the author of A View of the Trinity; and A View of the Hebrews, in which the origin of the American Indians was traced to the ten tribes of Israel. He died Aug. 29, 1849, in Pompey, N.Y.

Smith, Eugene, civil engineer, zoologist, author, was born Nov. 25, 1860, in New York City. He is city surveyor and civil engineer of Hoboken, N.J. He is the author of The Home Aquarium; and several Monographs.

Smith, Eugene Allen, educator, geologist, was born Oct. 27, 1841, in Autauga county, Ala. In 1862 he graduated from the university of Alabama; he attained one semester in Berlin and one in Göttingen; and received the degree of Ph.D. from Heidelberg university. In 1868-71 he was assistant state journalist of Massachusetts; and since 1871 has been professor of geology at the university of Alabama. He is vice-president and chairman of a section of the American association for the advancement of science. He is the author of numerous geological papers and reports.

Smith, Eugene Hanes, dentist, dean, was born Oct. 23, 1853, in Oldtown, Maine. He is a successful dentist of Boston, Mass. He is dean of the dental department in Harvard university; and professor of dentistry in that institution.

Smith Eugene Riley, physician, surgeon, was born Oct. 4, 1851, in Fagundus, Forest county, Pa. He was educated at Knox college and at Westfield college of Illinois; and received the degree of M.S. from Western college of Iowa. In 1876 he graduated with the degree of M.D. from Rush medical college of Chicago, Ill.; and subsequently took post-graduate courses in the Chicago medical school, Chicago ophthalmic college, the Chicago polyclinic and in other institutions. He has been lecturer on physiology and hygiene at the Western college; has attained prominence as an eminent physician and surgeon of Toledo, Iowa; and is surgeon and director to the Home medical and surgical infirmary of Toledo, Iowa. He has been examining physician-surgeon to the forty-ninth regiment Iowa volunteer infantry; has been surgeon to several railroad and insurance companies; and has been United States examining surgeon. He has been vice-president of the Iowa central state medical society; holds diplomas from a number of institutions; and is a member of numerous learned societies. For a quarter of a century he has been a member of the executive committee of the Western college; for twenty years has been president of the board of trustees of the United brethren church; and for twelve years has been president of their publishing house at Dayton, Ohio.

Smith, Mrs. Eugenia M., litterateur, author, was born in 1852 in Vermont. She is a writer of Dubuque, Iowa. She is the author of Winsome but Wicked; The Parson's Sin; and Our Money-Makers, a poultry book.

Smith, Mrs. Eva Munson, composer, poet, author, was born July 12, 1843, in Monkton, Vt. She is the author of Woman in Sacred Song, a representative work of what woman has done in hymnology. She is the author of a large number of temperance songs and other works, which have become very popular. Her poems appear in Poets of America and other standard works. Her best known productions are, Woodland Warblings; American Rifle Team March; and I Will Not Leave You Comfortless.

Smith, Ezekiel Ezra, educator, clergyman, diplomat, was born May 23, 1852, in Duplin county, N.C. In 1880 he became a major in the North Carolina national guard. In 1888-90 he was United States minister to Liberia. In 1892-93 he was president of the state industrial association. In 1898-99 he was an adjutant in the third regiment North Carolina infantry. He has edited the Carolina Enterprise; and has been principal of the State colored normal school at Fayetteville, N.C. Since 1900 he has filled a pastorate in that city; and has been president of the Farmers' building and loan association.

Smith, Florence, poet, was born in 1845, in New York City. She was the author of Piero's Painting, and Other Poems. She died in 1871 in New York City.

Smith, Francis Asbury, soldier, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Nov. 29, 1837, in East Salisbury, Mass. He served two years in the civil war as second lieutenant in the third infantry New York volunteers. In 1864 he began the practice of law; and in 1879-91 was county judge of Essex county, N.Y. He is the author of The Critics Versus Shakespeare.

Smith, Francis Gurney, physician, author, was born March 8, 1818, in Philadelphia, Pa. During the civil war he was physician in charge of a military hospital. He founded and established the first laboratory in which physiology was taught experimentally and by demonstration in the university of Pennsylvania; was the first president of the Philadelphia obstetrical society; and vice-president of the American medical association in 1870. For nine years he was an editor of the Philadelphia Medical Examiner. He contributed frequently to medical literature; translated and edited Barth and Roger's Manual of Auscultation and Percussion; edited Daniel Drake's Systematic Treatise; and was the author of Domestic Medicine, Surgery, and Materia Medica. He died April 8, 1878, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Smith, Francis Henney, soldier, educator, author, was born Oct. 18, 1812, in Norfolk, Va. He was a confederate officer. He was professor of mathematics at Hampden Sidney college in 1837-39, and superintendent of the Virginia military institute in 1839-61 and 1865-90. He was the author of Best Methods of Conducting Common Schools; College Reform; and a series of algebras. He died March 21, 1890, in Lexington, Va.

Smith, Francis Henry, educator, author, was born Oct. 14, 1829, in Leesburg, Va. In 1853-1907 he was professor of natural philosophy at the university of Virginia. He is the author of Thoughts on the Discord and Harmony of Science and the Bible; Outlines of Physics; and Christ and Science.

Smith, Francis Marion, manufacturer, capitalist, was born Feb. 2, 1846, in Richmond, Wis. He was educated in the common schools; and at Milton college of Wisconsin. His early life was spent on his father's farm; and in 1867 he went west; in 1872 he discovered Teel's marsh borax mines in Nevada. He is president of the Pacific coast borax company; and president of the Realty syndicate of Oakland, Cal. He is a member of the Sons of the American revolution; a member of the New York art and Union league clubs; and a member of the Pacific union of San Francisco, Cal. He was a presidential elector for California.

Smith, Francis Hopkinson, civil engineer, artist, author, was born Oct. 23, 1838, in Baltimore, Md. He laid the foundation and pedestal for the Bartholdi statue of liberty. He is the author of Well-Worn Roads of Spain, Holland and Italy; Old Lines in New Black and White; A White Umbrella in Mexico; Colonel Carter of Cartersville; a novel; A Day at Laguerre's, and Other Days; American Illustrators; Venice of To-Day; A Gentleman Vagabond, and Some Others; Tom Grogan; and The Romance of an Old Fashioned Gentleman.

Smith, Frank, educator, zoologist, scientist, was born Feb. 18, 1857, in Winneconne, Wis. He was educated at Hillsdale college and Harvard university; and has received the degrees of Ph.B. and A.M. Since 1893 he has been instructor and later associate professor of zoology in the university of Illinois. He is a fellow of the American association for the advancement of science; and has made special researches in zoology.

Smith, Frank B., lawyer, jurist, was born March 6, 1861, near Leavenworth, Kan. He held the office of state's attorney for six years; and that of county judge for two years. He is now circuit judge of the fourth judicial circuit of South Dakota.

Smith, Francis Osmond Jon, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Nov. 23, 1806, in Brentwood, N.H. He was educated in New England. He was elected to the assembly of Maine in 1831; was president of the state senate in 1833; and in 1833-39 he was a representative from Maine to the twenty-third, twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth congresses. He was a brilliant orator and parliamentarian. He died Oct. 14, 1876., in Deering, Maine.

Smith, Franklin Guest, soldier, was born Feb. 16, 1840, in Blossburg, Pa. He served throughout the civil war; and attained the rank of captain in 1898. In 1901 he was colonel of the artillery corps; and in 1903 was retired as brigadier-general.

Smith, Frank Hill, painter, artist, was born Oct. 15, 1842, in Boston, Mass. His work in oil includes portraits, figure-pieces and landscapes. Some of his Venetian pictures belong to the Somerset club of Boston. He has decorated the Windsor hotel and the opera-house at Holyoke, Mass., and numerous public and private buildings in Boston, Cambridge and other cities.

Smith, Frank L., portrait painter, artist, was born Dec. 21, 1860, in Ripon, Wis. Early in life he had a penchant for art; studied under the best masters, and has attained a national reputation as an eminent portrait painter.

Smith Frank O., congressman, merchant, was born Aug. 27, 1859, in Calvert county, Md. For twenty years he was engaged in merchandising and packing. In 1913-

15 he was a representative from Maryland to the sixty-third congress.

Smith, Franklin C., soldier, was born in Mississippi. In 1862 he was lieutenant-colonel in the one hundred and second regiment Illinois infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Aug. 28, 1891.

Smith, Frederick, lawyer, jurist. In 1828 he was an associate justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania.

Smith, Frederick A., lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 11, 1844, in Norwood Park, Ill. In 1903 he was elected judge of the superior court. In 1903-09 he was judge of the circuit court of Cook county; and in 1904 was assigned to the appellate court of Illinois.

Smith, Frederick R., physician, surgeon, was born Aug. 31, 1870, in Penn Yan, N.Y. He was educated at the Penn Yan free academy; attended the Dundee preparatory school; and graduated from the Hahnemann medical college of Philadelphia, Pa. He is a successful physician and surgeon of Rochester, N.Y.; and a member of the leading medical societies. He has been a member of the board of all the masonic bodies in Rochester, N.Y.

Smith, George, banker, was born March 8, 1808, in Scotland. He was a noted banker; and one of the foremost financiers of the nineteenth century. He died Oct. 7, 1899, in London, England.

Smith, George, congressman. In 1809-13 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the eleventh and twelfth congresses. He died in Pennsylvania.

Smith, George, lawyer, jurist, state senator, author, was born Feb. 12, 1804, in Delaware county, Pa. He served in the Pennsylvania state senate in 1832-36. He was an associate judge of the court of common pleas of Delaware county in 1836-57 and 1861-66. He was chosen the first superintendent of the Delaware county common schools in 1854; and for the subsequent twenty-five years was president of the school board of Upper Darby school district. He also devoted much attention to scientific pursuits, especially to geology. He was a founder of the Delaware county institute of science; and its president in 1833-82; and presented it with his valuable herbarium about 1875. He was the author of A History of Delaware County, Pa., from the Discovery of the Territory Included Within Its Limits to the Present Time. He died March 10, 1882, in Upper Darby, Pa.

Smith, George C., soldier, was born in 1829. He was a veteran of the civil war; and attained the rank of brigadier-general. He died Aug. 2, 1897, in St. Paul, Minn.

Smith, George Carson, railroad president, was born March 4, 1855, in Granville, N.Y. In 1877-81 he was private secretary to the governor of Michigan; president of the Atlanta and West Point railroad, and also of the Western railway of Alabama. He is president of the Lackawanna and Wyoming valley railroad; and president of the Grand Rapids, Grand Haven and Muskegon railroad.

Smith, George Handy, United States senator, was born July 21, 1836, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1871 he was chosen a member of the Pennsylvania state legislature; was twice re-elected; and in 1875 was elected a state senator. He was United States senator in 1877-89; and in 1885 and 1887 was chosen president pro tem. of the senate.

Smith, George J., educator, author, was born Oct. 7, 1866, in Lebanon, Ohio. Since 1878 he has been engaged in examining and licensing of teachers and principals for public school system of New York City. He is the author of Synopsis of English and American Literature; Writing in English; Longman's Briefer Grammar; and Longman's English Lessons.

Smith, George Joseph, manufacturer, banker, congressman, was born Nov. 7, 1859, in Kingston, N.Y. Since 1879 he has been engaged in the manufacturing and banking business in Kingston, N.Y. In 1900 he was a delegate to the republican national convention. In 1903-05 he was a republican representative from New York to the fifty-eighth congress.

Smith, George L., soldier, merchant, journalist, congressman, was born Dec. 11, 1840, in Hillsborough county, N.H. He served in the army; settled in Louisiana at the close of the civil war; and engaged in mercantile business. He was elected a member of the assembly in 1870 and 1872. He was proprietor of the Shreveport Southwestern Telegram; and was president of a savings bank and trust company. In 1873-75 he was a representative from Louisiana to the forty-third congress to fill a vacancy.

Smith, George M., educator, author, was born May 30, 1847, in Belgrade, Maine. He was educated in the grammar schools; and at Colby college of Waterville, Maine. In 1888-89 he was a student at Giessen, Germany. Until 1891 he was engaged in teaching in secondary schools. In 1891 he became professor of Greek; in 1894-1906 was professor of pedagogy; in 1889-1901 was professor of modern languages; and is now professor of German and the romance languages in the university of South Dakota. He is the author of Vocabulary to Caesar, Book 2; Outlines of Civics for South Dakota; The State and the Nation; History and Civil Government of South Dakota; and Outlines of Pedagogy. He is editor of the South Dakota Educator; and among his published addresses is The Ethical Mission of the State University.

Smith, George P., agriculturist, author, was born Nov. 25, 1858, and is a son of Rufus Smith. He is a prominent citizen of Sunderland, Mass.; and in 1900 was a delegate to the farmers' national congress. In 1898-1901 he was a member of the Massachusetts state board of agriculture. He is the author of An Essay on The Evolution of Farm Machines in Massachusetts Agriculture.

Smith, George W., lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 18, 1846, in Putnam county, Ohio. In 1870 he was admitted to the practice of law by the supreme court of Illinois; and resided in Murphysboro. In 1880 he was the republican elector for his congressional district, and cast the vote of the district for Garfield and Arthur. In 1889-1907 he was a representative from Illinois to the fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third, fifty-fourth, fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh, fifty-eighth and fifty-ninth congresses as a republican. He died in 1907 in Murphysboro, Ill.

Smith, George R., congressman, jurist, was born May 28, 1864, in St. Cloud, Minn. He served two terms as judge of the probate court. In 1913-15 he was a representative from Minnesota to the sixty-third congress.

Smith, George Theodore, banker, was born April 29, 1855, in New York City. He was educated in the college of the city of New York. In 1872-1909 he was in the service of the Pennsylvania railroad company, becoming general agent of the company in New York. Since 1909 he has been president of the First national bank of Jersey City; and is also president of the Joseph Dixon crucible company, the American graphite company, the New Jersey title guarantee and trust company and the West New York trust company. He is also vice-president and director of the Colonial life insurance company of America and various other corporations.

Smith, George W., physician, merchant, banker, was born Dec. 10, 1846, in Hillsdale county, Mich. In 1867 he moved to Owosso, Mich., engaged in the drug business, and there studied medicine. He practiced that profession for a while, and then engaged in the wholesale and retail grocery business. In 1878 he moved to Geneva, Neb., and a year later organized the Geneva exchange bank, now the First national bank of Geneva, of which he is president. He was elected mayor of his city in 1890.

Smith, George Washington, founder, author, was born Aug. 4, 1800, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a founder of the Pennsylvania historical society; for many years one of its councillors; and at his death senior vice-president. He possessed a large estate, of which he gave liberally to benevolent objects. He was the author of Facts and Arguments in Favor of Adopting Railroads in Preference to Canals; Defense of the Pennsylvania System in Favor of Solitary Confinement of Prisoners; and edited Nicholas Wood's Treatise on Railroads. He died April 22, 1876, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Smith, George Washington, soldier, was born Jan. 8, 1837, in Brooklyn, N.Y. He entered the union army as captain of Illinois infantry in 1862, being promoted successively as major, lieutenant-colonel, colonel, and brigadier-general, before being honorably mustered out in 1865. In 1866-67 he was state treasurer of Illinois; was president of the union league club of Chicago; and for fourteen years vice-president of the Chicago historical society. He was also president of the Chicago industrial school for girls and a member of the Loyal legion. He died Sept. 16, 1898, in Chicago, Ill.

Smith, George William, governor. He was the ninth governor of Virginia in 1811-12. He lost his life at the burning of the Richmond theater, Dec. 26, 1811, in Virginia.

Smith, George Williamson, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 21, 1836, in Catskill, N.Y. He was ordained deacon in 1860, and priest in 1864, in the protestant episcopal church, and was an assistant at various churches in Washington, D.C. He was acting professor of mathematics in the United States naval academy at Newport in 1864-65; chaplain at the Annapolis academy in 1865-68; and chaplain on the United States steamship Franklin in 1868-71. In 1872-81 he was rector of Grace church, Jamaica, L.I.; and in 1881-83 of the Church of the Redeemer of Brooklyn, N.Y.; and in 1883-1904 he was president of Trinity college, and is now professor emeritus. He has published occasional sermons and papers.

Smith, Gerrit, philanthropist, congressman, author was born March 6, 1797, in Utica, N.Y. He was one of the leaders of the Anti-Slavery society; and was noted for his philanthropy. Having inherited one of the largest landed estates in America, he distributed nearly two hundred thousand acres of it among the poor. In 1853-55 he was a representative from New York to the thirty-third congress. He was the author of Speeches in Congress; Sermons and Speeches; The Religion of Reason; The Theologies; and Nature the Basis of a Free Theology. He died Dec. 28, 1874, in New York City.

Smith, Gerrit, musician, composer, was born Dec. 11, 1859, in Hagerstown, Md. He began his professional career as organist and choirmaster of St. Paul's church of Buffalo, N.Y. He is professor in the union theological seminary; and a noted concert-organist. He is the author of over fifty songs; pianoforte pieces, a cantata, carols, Te Deum, anthems, and male and female choruses.

Smith, Gertrude, litterateur, author, was born Nov. 7, 1862, in California. She is an Atlanta writer, whose early life was spent in the west. She is the author of The Rousing of Mrs. Potter, and Other Stories; The Arabella and Araminta Stories; Dedora Heywood; Boys of Marmiton Prairie; Ten Little Comedies; The Wonderful Stories of Jane and John; and Little Girl and Philip.

Smith, Giles Alexander, soldier, was born Sept. 29, 1829, in Jefferson county, N.Y. He became captain in the eighth Missouri volunteers in 1861; and in 1863 was promoted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Nov. 5, 1876, in Bloomington, Ill.

Smith, Goldwin, litterateur, author, was born Aug. 13, 1823, in England. In 1854 he graduated from Oxford university as

M.A. In 1858-66 was regius professor of modern history at Oxford university. During the civil war he was an active champion of the north. In 1868 he came to the United States and in 1868-71 was engaged as a lecturer. He was an honorary professor of English and constitutional history at Cornell university. Since 1871 he has lived in Canada; and is president of the Modern language association. He is the author of Irish History and Irish Character; Lecture on Modern History; The Civil War in America; Three English Statesmen; William Cowper; The Political Destiny of Canada; History of the United States; Lines of Religious Inquiry; My Memory of Gladstone; Irish History and the Irish Question; and Labor and Capital.

Smith, Green Clay, soldier, clergyman, congressman, governor, was born July 2, 1830, in Richmond, Ky. He was a school commissioner in 1853-57; and established a great number of schools. He served as second lieutenant in the Mexican war; and after the breaking out of the civil war in 1861 had command of the fourth Kentucky cavalry. He was elected to the state legislature; was appointed a brigadier-general in 1862; was subsequently promoted to the rank of major-general; and was present at the battle of Ball's Bluff and about fifty other engagements. In 1863-67 he was a representative from Kentucky to the thirty-eighth and thirty-ninth congresses. In 1868-69 he was governor of the territory of Montana. He subsequently became a preacher in the baptist church in Frankfort, Ky. In 1876 he was the candidate of the prohibition party for the presidency of the United States. He died June 20, 1895, in Washington, D.C.

Smith, Gustavus A., soldier, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1861 he was colonel in governor of Michigan; president of the Atlanta and West Point railroad, and also of the Western railway of Alabama. He is president of the Lackawanna and Wyoming valley railroad; and president of the Grand Rapids, Grand Haven and Muskegon railroad.

Smith, George Handy, United States senator, was born July 21, 1836, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1871 he was chosen a member of the Pennsylvania state legislature; was twice re-elected; and in 1875 was elected a state senator. He was United States senator in 1877-89; and in 1885 and 1887 was chosen president pro tem. of the senate.

Smith, George J., educator, author, was born Oct. 7, 1866, in Lebanon, Ohio. Since 1888 he has been engaged in examining and licensing of teachers and principals for public school system of New York City. He is the author of Synopsis of English and American Literature; Writing in English; Longman's Briefer Grammar; and Longman's English Lessons.

Smith, George Joseph, manufacturer, banker, congressman, was born Nov. 7, 1859, in Kingston, N.Y. Since 1879 he has been engaged in the manufacturing and banking business in Kingston, N.Y. In 1900 he was a delegate to the republican national convention. In 1903-05 he was a republican representative from New York to the fifty-eighth congress.

Smith, George L., soldier, merchant, journalist, congressman, was born Dec. 11, 1840, in Hillsborough county, N.H. He served in the army; settled in Louisiana at the close of the civil war; and engaged in mercantile business. He was elected a member of the assembly in 1870 and 1872. He was proprietor of the Shreveport Southwestern Telegram; and was president of a savings bank and trust company. In 1873-75 he was a representative from Louisiana to the forty-third congress to fill a vacancy.

Smith, George M., educator, author, was born May 30, 1847, in Belgrade, Maine. He was educated in the grammar schools; and at Colby college of Waterville, Maine. In 1888-89 he was a student at Giessen, Germany. Until 1891 he was engaged in teaching in secondary schools. In 1891 he became professor of Greek; in 1894-1906 was professor of pedagogy; in 1899-1901 was professor of modern languages;

and is now professor of German and the romance languages in the university of South Dakota. He is the author of Vocabulary to Caesar, Book 2; Outlines of Civics for South Dakota; The State and the Nation; History and Civil Government of

South Dakota; and Outlines of Pedagogy. He is editor of the South Dakota Educator; and among his published addresses is The Ethical Mission of the State University.

Smith, George P., agriculturist, author, was born Nov. 25, 1858, and is a son of Rufus Smith. He is a prominent citizen of Sunderland, Mass.; and in 1900 was a delegate to the farmers' national congress. In 1898-1901 he was a member of the Massachusetts state board of agriculture. He is the author of An Essay on The Evolution of Farm Machines in Massachusetts Agriculture.

Smith, George W., lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 18, 1846, in Putnam county, Ohio. In 1870 he was admitted to the practice of law by the supreme court of Illinois; and resided in Murphysboro. In 1880 he was the republican elector for his congressional district, and cast the vote of the district for Garfield and Arthur. In 1889-1907 he was a representative from Illinois to the fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third, fifty-fourth, fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh, fifty-eighth and fifty-ninth congresses as a republican. He died in 1907 in Murphysboro, Ill.

Smith, George R., congressman, jurist, was born May 28, 1864, in St. Cloud, Minn. He served two terms as judge of the probate court. In 1913-15 he was a representative from Minnesota to the sixty-third congress.

Smith, George Theodore, banker, was born April 29, 1855, in New York City. He was educated in the college of the city of New York. In 1872-1909 he was in the service of the Pennsylvania railroad company, becoming general agent of the company in New York. Since 1909 he has been president of the First national bank of Jersey City; and is also president of the Joseph Dixon crucible company, the American graphite company, the New Jersey title guarantee and trust company and the West New York trust company. He is also vice-president and director of the Colonial life insurance company of America and various other corporations.

Smith, George W., physician, merchant, banker, was born Dec. 10, 1846, in Hillsdale county, Mich. In 1867 he moved to Owosso, Mich., engaged in the drug business, and there studied medicine. He practiced that profession for a while, and then engaged in the wholesale and retail grocery business. In 1878 he moved to Geneva, Neb., and a year later organized the Geneva exchange bank, now the First national bank of Geneva, of which he is president. He was elected mayor of his city in 1890.

Smith, George Washington, founder, author, was born Aug. 4, 1800, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a founder of the Pennsylvania historical society; for many years one of its councillors; and at his death senior vice-president. He possessed a large estate, of which he gave liberally to benevolent objects. He was the author of Facts and Arguments in Favor of Adopting Railroads in Preference to Canals; Defense of the Pennsylvania System in Favor of Solitary Confinement of Prisoners; and edited Nicholas Wood's Treatise on Railroads. He died April 22, 1876, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Smith, George Washington, soldier, was born Jan. 8, 1837, in Brooklyn, N.Y. He entered the union army as captain of Illinois infantry in 1862, being promoted successively as major, lieutenant-colonel, colonel, and brigadier-general, before being honorably mustered out in 1865. In 1866-67 he was state treasurer of Illinois; was president of the union league club of Chicago; and for fourteen years vice-president of the Chicago historical society. He was also president of the Chicago industrial school for girls and a member of the Loyal legion. He died Sept. 16, 1898, in Chicago, Ill.

Smith, George William, governor. He was the ninth governor of Virginia in 1811-12. He lost his life at the burning of the Richmond theater, Dec. 26, 1811, in Virginia.

Smith, George Williamson, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 24, 1836, in Catskill, N.Y. He was ordained deacon in 1860, and priest in 1864, in the protestant episcopal church, and was an assistant at various churches in Washington, D.C. He was acting professor of mathematics in the United States naval academy at Newport in 1864-65; chaplain at the Annapolis academy in 1865-68; and chaplain on the United States steamship Franklin in 1868-71. In 1872-81 he was rector of Grace church, Jamaica, L.I.; and in 1881-83 of the Church of the Redeemer of Brooklyn, N.Y.; and in 1883-1904 he was president of Trinity college, and is now professor emeritus. He has published occasional sermons and papers.

Smith, Gerrit, philanthropist, congressman, author was born March 6, 1797, in Utica, N.Y. He was one of the leaders of the Anti-Slavery society; and was noted for his philanthropy. Having inherited one of the largest landed estates in America, he distributed nearly two hundred thousand acres of it among the poor. In 1853-55 he was a representative from New York to the thirty-third congress. He was the author of Speeches in Congress; Sermons and Speeches; The Religion of Reason; The Theologies; and Nature the Basis of a Free Theology. He died Dec. 28, 1874, in New York City.

Smith, Gerrit, musician, composer, was born Dec. 11, 1859, in Hagerstown, Md. He began his professional career as organist and choirmaster of St. Paul's church of Buffalo, N.Y. He is professor in the union theological seminary; and a noted concert-organist.

Smith, Gertrude, litterateur, author, was born Nov. 7, 1862, in California. She is an Atlanta writer, whose early life was spent in the west. She is the author of The Rousing of Mrs. Potter, and Other Stories; The Arabella and Araminta Stories; Dedora Heywood; Boys of Marmiton Prairie; Ten Little Comedies; The Wonderful Stories of Jane and John; and Little Girl and Philip.

Smith, Giles Alexander, soldier, was born Sept. 29, 1829, in Jefferson county, N.Y. He became captain in the eighth Missouri volunteers in 1861; and in 1863 was promoted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Nov. 5, 1876, in Bloomington, Ill.

Smith, Goldwin, litterateur, author, was born Aug. 13, 1823, in England. In 1854 he graduated from Oxford university as

M.A. In 1858-66 was regius professor of modern history at Oxford university. During the civil war he was an active champion of the north. In 1868 he came to the United States and in 1868-71 was engaged as a lecturer. He was an honorary professor of English and constitutional history at Cornell university. Since 1871 he has lived in Canada; and is president of the Modern language association. He is the author of Irish History and Irish Character; Lecture on Modern History; The Civil War in America; Three English Statesmen; William Cowper; The Political Destiny of Canada; History of the United States; Lines of Religious Inquiry; My Memory of Gladstone; Irish History and the Irish Question; and Labor and Capital.

Smith, Green Clay, soldier, clergyman, congressman, governor, was born July 2, 1830, in Richmond, Ky. He was a school commissioner in 1853-57; and established a great number of schools. He served as second lieutenant in the Mexican war; and after the breaking out of the civil war in 1861 had command of the fourth Kentucky cavalry. He was elected to the state legislature; was appointed a brigadier-general in 1862; was subsequently promoted to the rank of major-general; and was present at the battle of Ball's Bluff and about fifty other engagements. In 1863-67 he was a representative from Kentucky to the thirty-eighth and thirty-ninth congresses. In 1866-69 he was governor of the territory of Montana. He subsequently became a preacher in the baptist church in Frankfort, Ky. In 1876 he was the candidate of the prohibition party for the the United States. He died in Washington, D.C.

us A., soldier, was born in n 1861 he was colonel in the thirty-fifth regiment Illinois infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Dec. 11, 1885.

Smith, Gustavus Woodson, soldier, author, was born Jan. 1, 1822, in Scott county, Ky. He was a confederate general; and lived in New York City after 1876. He was the author of Notes on Life Insurance; and Confederate War Papers. He died June 23, 1896, in New York City.

Smith, H. Boardman, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Aug. 18, 1826, in Whittingham, Vt. He became judge of the Chemung county courts in 1859. In 1871-75 he was representative to the forty-second and forty-third congresses as a republican.

Smith, Hamilton Lamphere, educator, author, was born Nov. 5, 1818, in New London, Conn. He was professor of natural philosophy at Kenyon college of Ohio and Hobart college from 1851. He was the author of Natural Philosophy for Schools and Academies; and First Lessons in Astronomy and Geology. He died in 1903 in Yonkers, N.Y.

Smith, Mrs. Harriette Knight, litterateur, author, was born Oct. 28, 1855, in Hudson, Ohio. She is the author of History of the Lowell Institute.

Smith, Harlan Ingersoll, anthropologist, author, was born Feb. 17, 1872, in East Saginaw, Mich. In 1891 he was assistant at the Peabody museum of Harvard university; and in 1891-92 was field assistant in the department of anthropology at the World's Columbian exposition. He was archaeologist on the Jesup north Pacific expedition; and since 1895 has been archaeologist; since 1896 has been a member of the faculty; and 1900 has been assistant curator of archaeology at the American museum of natural history of New York City. He is the author of Michigan Archaeology; Archæology of Lytton, B.C.; Archæology of the Thompson River Region; Cairns of British Columbia and Washington; Shell Heaps of the Lower Fraser River, British Columbia; and Archæology of the Gulf of Georgia and Puget Sound.

Smith, Harold Babbitt, educator, electrical engineer, author, was born May 23, 1869, in Barre, Mass. In 1891 he graduated from Cornell university with the degree of M.E. In 1892 he was professor of electrical engineering at the Arkansas state university; and in 1893-96 filled the same chair at Purdue university. Since 1893 he has been consulting electrical engineer; and since 1896 has been professor of electrical engineering and director of the electrical engineering department at the Worcester polytechnic institute. He is a member of the leading mechanical and electrical engineering societies of Europe and America. He is the author of about forty Monographs and contributions to scientific publications.

Smith, Harry Bache, critic, author, was born in 1860 in Buffalo, N.Y. He is the author of Robin Hood; Rob Roy; The Little Corporal; The Fortune Teller; The Highwayman; The Serenade; Wizard of the Nile; The Idol's Eye; Half a King; The Fencing Master; The Knickerbockers; The Three Dragoons; The Begum; Jupiter; The Tar and the Tartar; The Tzigane; Boccalio; Clover; The Crystal Slipper; Sinbad and other librettos.

Smith, Harry H., statistician, author, was born July 31 1842, in Fairport, N.Y. In 1870 he was special marshal of the Michigan census. He has been United States national bank examiner. He is a parliamentary author, writer and expert; bank and tariff statistical expert, and magazine writer. He prepared a codification of the rules of the senate, which code was substantially adopted; and Senate Manual, as revised by him was printed. He is the author of Digest and Manual; and has prepared the parliamentary history of congress, the manuscript of which will be purchased by congress, in accordance with unanimous recommendations of committees of both houses of congress.

Smith, Helen Evertson, journalist, author, was born Aug. 22, 1839, in Sharon, Conn. She is the author of Colonial Days and Ways.

Smith, Henry, governor. In 1805-06 he was acting governor of Rhode Island.

Smith, Henry, educator, missionary. For several years after graduation from Bowdoin college, he taught in the Portsmouth academy. After three years at Andover he became a successful missionary in western New York. For eleven years he filled a pastorate in the presbyterian church at Camden, N.Y. The theological school of Auburn, N.Y., was largely benefited by the funds which he raised for it. He was also noted for his great philanthropy and kindness to the poor. He died in July, 1826, in New York.

Smith, Henry, police commissioner, was born Oct. 20, 1820, in Amsterdam, N.Y. He was a member of the New York board of councilmen in 1854-57; supervisor in 1862-68 and president of the board of police in 1868-74. He died Feb. 23, 1874, in New York.

Smith, Henry, millwright, congressman, was born July 22, 1838, in Baltimore, Md.

The year of his birth he removed with his parents to Massillon, Ohio; and since 1844 has resided in Milwaukee, Wis. He was a member of the common council of Milwaukee in 1868-72; was a member of the Wisconsin legislature in 1878; and was again a member of the common council in 1880-82. He was city comptroller in 1882-84; and in 1884-87 a member of the common council. In 1887-89 he was a representative to the fiftieth congress.

Smith, Henry Boynton, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 21, 1815, in Portland, Maine. He was a presbyterian clergyman of eminence as a theologian and professor of systematic theology in Union seminary of New York City in 1854-74. He was the author of Faith and Philosophy; Apologetics; Chronological History of the Church of Christ; Introduction to Christian Theology; and System of Christian Theology. He died Feb. 7, 1876, in New York City.

Smith, Henry Cassette, lawyer, congressman, was born June 2, 1859, in Canandaigua, N.Y. In 1881-83 he was prosecuting attorney of Canandaigua, N.Y. In 1899-1902 he was a representative from Michigan to the fifty-sixth and fifty-seventh congresses.

Smith, Henry Erskine, litterateur, author, was born in New York City. He is the author of On and Off the Saddle, Characteristic Sights and Scenes From the Great Northwest to the Antilles; Love's Diplomacy; and Circumstantial Evidence.

Smith, Henry H., soldier, statistician, author, was born July 31, 1842, in Fairport, N.Y. He served in the army during the civil war in 1862-65; and then in the treasury department until 1870. For fifteen years he was general clerk of the national house of representatives; and has repeatedly been special United States bank examiner. He prepared two codifications of the rules of the house and one of the senate. In 1892-94 he was assistant and acting register of the treasury. He is the author of Digest and Manual of the revised rules and practice of the national house of representatives; and a Parliamentary History of Congress.

Smith, Henry Hollingsworth, surgeon, author, was born Dec. 10, 1815, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1855-71 he was professor of surgery in the medical department of the university of Pennsylvania; and in 1871 he became professor emeritus. He was the author of Minor Surgery; System of Operative Surgery; Practice of Surgery; and Professional Visit to London and Paris. He died April 11, 1890, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Smith, Henry Louis, educator, college president, was born July 30, 1859, in Greensboro, N.C. In 1887-1901 he was professor of physics; and since 1901 has been president of the Davidson college of North Carolina. He took the first X-ray photographs south of Johns Hopkins university, and has done much work in that line.

Smith, Henry Preserved, educator, clergyman, theologian, author, was born Oct. 23, 1847, in Troy, Ohio. He is a congregational clergyman; in 1874-93 he was professor of old testament literature at the Lane theological seminary of Cincinnati, Ohio; in 1898-1906 was professor of biblical literature and history at Amherst college. He is the author of Biblical Scholarship and Inspiration; Inspiration and Inerrancy; The Bible and Islam; An Old Testament History; and other works.

Smith, Herbert Eugene, physician, chemist. In 1882 he graduated from the university of Pennsylvania; and is now a well known physician of New Haven, Conn. He is dean of the faculty and professor of chemistry at Yale university; and a member of the American physiological society, the Connecticut medical society, and several scientific associations.

Smith, Herbert Huntington, naturalist, author, was born Jan. 21, 1852, in Manlius, N.Y. He has traveled extensively and his zoological and botanical collections numbering over five hundred thousand specimens are in every important museum in the world. He is the author of Brazil; and The Amazons and The Coast.

Smith, Hezekiah, clergyman, was born April 21, 1737, on Long Island. In 1765-1805 he was pastor of the Baptist church at Haverhill, Mass. In 1776-80 he filled the office of chaplain in the American army. He died Jan. 22, 1805, in Haverhill, Mass.

Smith, Hezekiah Bradley, merchant, congressman, inventor, was born July 24, 1816, in Bridgewater, Vt. He learned the trade of a cabinetmaker; and became an inventor and manufacturer of wood machinery. In 1871 he established a wood manufactory in Smithville, N.J. In 1879-81 he was a representative from New Jersey to the forty-sixth congress. He died Nov. 3, 1887, in Smithville, N.J.

Smith, Hezekiah Wright, engraver, artist, was born in 1828 in Edinburgh, Scotland. His most important plates are a full-length of Daniel Webster, after Chester Harding; a three-quarter length Edward Everett, after Moses Wright; and Washington.

Smith, Hiram Y., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born March 22, 1843, in Piqua, Ohio. He was district attorney of the fifth judicial district of Iowa in 1875-79; and was a member from Des Moines of the state senate in 1882. In 1883-85 he was a representative from Iowa to the forty-eighth Congress to fill a vacancy. He died Nov. 4, 1894, in Des Moines, Iowa.

Smith, Hoke, journalist, United States senator, publisher, governor, cabinet officer, was born Sept. 2, 1855, in Newton, N.C. He was educated in a preparatory school conducted by his father; and in 1872 moved to Georgia. He taught school and studied law; beginning the practice of his profession in Atlanta, Ga., in 1873. In 1887 he purchased the Atlanta Journal; and much of the credit for Cleveland's victory in 1892 was attributed to his paper and his personal efforts. In 1881 he was president of the Young men's library of Atlanta, Ga.; and for many years was president of the Atlanta board of education. In 1893-96 was secretary of the interior in President Cleveland's staff. In 1907-09 was governor of the state of Georgia. Since 1911 he has been United States senator from Georgia.

Smith, Homer J., educator, clergyman, lecturer, was born Aug. 31, 1846, in Fayette county, Pa. Since 1870 he has been a clergyman of the methodist episcopal church. He was a successful educator; and one of the founders of the Ohio anti-saloon league. He is one of the foremost lecturers on scientific and general topics, and now fills a pastorate in Zanesville, Ohio.

Smith, Horace, manufacturer, inventor, was born Oct. 28, 1808, in Cheshire, Mass. In 1846-49 he was privately engaged in the manufacture of guns. In 1852 he became a co-inventor and co-partner of Daniel B. Wesson, and with him manufactured pistols and metallic cartridges. They invented metallic cartridges; and valuable improvements for the pistol. He died Jan. 15, 1893, in Springfield, Mass.

Smith, Horace Strong, manufacturer, was born Dec. 28, 1826, in Dunstable, N.H. He was master mechanic of the Chicago and Alton railroad at Bloomington. In 1875 he was manager of the Joliet iron and steel company. In 1879 he was vice-president; and in 1894 retired from active business. He introduced many improvements in the plant; and did more to build up the town of Joliet than any other man. He died Oct. 17, 1899, in Chicago, Ill.

Smith, Horace Wemyss, journalist, author, was born Aug. 15, 1825, in Philadelphia county, Pa. He was the author of Nuts for Future Historians to Crack; Yorktown Orderly Book; and Life of Reverend William Smith. He died Dec. 9, 1891, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Smith, Huntington, journalist, publisher, author, was born Dec. 4, 1857, in Hudson, N.Y. In 1898-1903 he was editor and publisher of the Boston Beacon. He is the translator of Tolstoi's My Religion. He is the author of A Century of American Literature.

Smith, Ira B., merchant, was born June 6, 1852, in Lake, Dodge county, Wis. He began his business career with a grocery firm, and later became president of the firm. He is president of the Merchants' and manufacturers' association; and president of the Wisconsin wholesale grocers' association.

Smith, Isaac, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1736 in Trenton, N.J. In 1793-97 he was a representative from New Jersey to the fourth congress; and was appointed a commissioner to treat with the Seneca Indians. In 1777 he was associate justice of the supreme court of New Jersey. He died Aug. 29, 1807, in Trenton, N.J.

Smith, Isaac, legislator, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1813-15 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirteenth congress.

Smith, Isaac Townsend, merchant, banker, consul-general, diplomat, was born March 12, 1813, in Boston, Mass. He settled in New York City, where as a merchant and ship owner he conducted business for several years. He was an incorporator and for twenty-five years president of the Metropolitan savings bank; and was a commissioner of immigration for the state of New York several years. He was a presidential elector in 1864 when Abraham Lincoln was re-elected. He has lectured extensively on the struggles of the early settlers for American independence. For over half a century he has been in friendly and official touch with Siam as financial agent, consul and consul-general to the United States, which latter position he still fills. He joined the Union league of New York City in 1864, and now ranks as the oldest man in that club.

Smith, Mrs. Isabel E., painter, artist, was born in Ohio. In 1895 she married Carl F. Smith, an artist of Washington, D. C. She has painted a miniature of President McKinley on the brooch daily worn by Mrs. McKinley; a miniature of Queen Wilhelmina of Holland from life; a miniature of Queen Victoria; a miniature of President Faure of France; and miniatures of other notables.

Smith, Israel, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, governor, congressman, was born April 4, 1759, in Suoeld, Conn. He was sent to the Vermont state legislature from Rutland; and in 1791-97 and 1801-03 he was a representative to the second, third, fourth and seventh congresses. He was appointed chief justice of the supreme court of Vermont in 1797. In 1803-07 he was United States senator. He was governor of Vermont in 1807-08. He died Dec. 2, 1810, in Rutland, Vt.

Smith, Israel Canton, soldier, was born in 1839 in Michigan. He was a veteran of the civil war; and attained the rank of brigadier-general. He was prominent in the public affairs of Michigan. He died Nov. 27, 1899, in Grand Rapids, Mich.

Smith, J. Allen, educator, author, was born May 5, 1860, in Pleasant Hill, Mo. Since 1897 he has been professor of political economy in the university of Washington. He is the author of Multiple Money Standard.

Smith, Mrs. Jane Luella Dowd, educator, author, poet, was born June 16, 1847, in Sheffield, Mass. At the age of eighteen she graduated from Westfield normal school. After teaching school for a year, she entered the ladies' seminary of North Granville, N.Y., where she graduated valedictorian of the class of 1868. She attained success in educational work; was principal of the South Hampton high school, Sheffield high school, Stamford high school, and the South Egremont academy. In 1875 she was married to Dr. H. Hadley Smith of Hudson. She is an earnest temperance worker, holding important positions in the woman's christian temperance union and in the woman suffrage reforms. She is the author of three volumes of verse, entitled Wayside Leaves; Wind Flowers; Flowers From Foreign Fields; and a strong temperance book, entitled Ways to Win.

Smith, J. Moreau, banker. He is president of the Rochester trust and safe deposit company of Rochester, N.Y.; and has filled various positions of trust and honor; and is a member of several noted institutions.

Smith, Jackson L., lawyer, jurist, was born in Callaway county, Mo. In 1877-81 he was attorney-general; and was fish commissioner in 1885-89. In 1888 he was elected judge of the Kansas City court of appeals; and in 1892 was re-elected for a full term, which position he still fills.

Smith, Jacob, educator, public official, jurist, was born Oct. 26, 1868, in Bradley county, Tenn. He was educated in the public schools of his native county; attended Chatata high school; and graduated from the U. S. Grant university of Athens, Tenn. In 1889-1902 he taught school; has been justice of the peace; and in 1902-04 was county judge for Bradley county, Tenn. He is now county court clerk for Bradley county, Tenn.

Smith, Jacob Hurd, soldier, was born Jan. 29, 1840, in Jackson, Ohio. He served in the civil war from 1861 to its close. In 1867-68 he served in Indian wars; was in the Spanish-American war; and served in the Philippine war. In 1900 he was made brigadier-general in the United States army; and in 1901 was retired.

Smith, James, soldier, was born in New York. In 1861 he was captain in the eighth regiment New York infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Dec. 5, 1869.

Smith, James, signer of the declaration of independence, was born about 1720 in Ireland. On the approach of the revolutionary war he took an active part in public affairs; raised a company and commanded it in the field; was made a colonel, and also took an active part in raising additional troops. In 1776-78 he was a delegate to the continental congress from Pennsylvania; was a signer of the declaration of independence; and in 1780 entered the state legislature. He was the author of The Constitutional Power of Great Britain over the Colonies in America, which materially aided the cause of the patriots. He died July 11, 1806, in York, Pa.

Smith, James, pioneer, author, was born in 1737 in Franklin county, Pa. He was a noted Kentucky pioneer. He was the author of Shakerism Developed; Shakerism Detected; Remarkable Adventures in the Life of Colonel James Smith; and Mode and Manner of Indian War. He died in 1812 in Washington county, Ky.

Smith, James, manufacturer, banker, United States senator, was born June 12, 1851, in Newark, N.J. He is one of the largest manufacturers in the world of patent and enameled leather. In 1883-87 he was alderman of Newark, N.J.; and declined the nomination for mayor. He was a delegate to the national democratic convention of 1884, 1892 and 1896. In 1893-99 he was a member of the United States senate. He is president of the Federal trust company of Newark, N.J.

Smith, James Allwood, diplomat, was born Nov. 3, 1865, in Grand Rapids, Mich. In 1891 he was manager of extensive marble property in Vermont. In 1897-1907 he was American consul at Leghorn, Italy; and since 1907 has been consul-general at Boma, Kongo free state.

Smith, James Argyle, soldier, educator, public official, was born July 1, 1831. Until 1861 he served on the western frontier and on the Pacific coast. He then resigned and entered the confederate service as first lieutenant; and passed through all grades until appointed brigadier-general in 1863. In 1878-86 he was state superintendent of education of Mississippi; in 1893-97 was in the United States Indian service; and was marshal of the state supreme court of Mississippi. He died in 1901 in Jackson, Miss.

Smith, James Francis, soldier, governor, was born Jan. 28, 1859, in San Francisco, Cal. He was educated at the Santa Clara college, and at Hastings law school. He attained success in the practice of law. In 1898 he was colonel first California volunteer infantry; in 1899 became brigadier-general United States volunteers; and the same year was made military governor of the Island of Negros, P.I. In 1900 he was collector of customs for the Philippine Islands; and in 1901 became associate justice of the supreme court of the Philippine Islands. In 1903 he was secretary of public instruction; since 1906 has been governor-general of the Philippine Islands.

Smith, James Henry Oliver, clergyman, reformer, was born Dec. 27, 1857, in Waynes-congress to fill a vacancy. He died Nov. 4, 1894, in Des Moines, Iowa.

Smith, Hoke, journalist, United States senator, publisher, governor, cabinet officer, was born Sept. 2, 1855, in Newton, N.C. He was educated in a preparatory school conducted by his father; and in 1872 moved to Georgia. He taught school and studied law; beginning the practice of his profession in Atlanta, Ga., in 1873. In 1887 he purchased the Atlanta Journal; and much of the credit for Cleveland's victory in 1892 was attributed to his paper and his personal efforts. In 1881 he was president of the Young men's library of Atlanta, Ga.; and for many years was president of the Atlanta board of education. In 1893-96 was secretary of the interior in President Cleveland's staff. In 1907-09 was governor of the state of Georgia. Since 1911 he has been United States senator from Georgia.

Smith, Homer J., educator, clergyman, lecturer, was born Aug. 31, 1846, in Fayette county, Pa. Since 1870 he has been a clergyman of the methodist episcopal church. He was a successful educator; and one of the founders of the Ohio anti-saloon league. He is one of the foremost lecturers on scientific and general topics, and now fills a pastorate in Zanesville, Ohio.

Smith, Horace, manufacturer, inventor, was born Oct. 28, 1808, in Cheshire, Mass. In 1846-49 he was privately engaged in the manufacture of guns. In 1852 he became a co-inventor and co-partner of Daniel B. Wesson, and with him manufactured pistols and metallic cartridges. They invented metallic cartridges; and valuable improvements for the pistol. He died Jan. 15, 1893, in Springfield, Mass.

Smith, Horace Strong, manufacturer, was born Dec. 28, 1826, in Dunstable, N.H. He was master mechanic of the Chicago and Alton railroad at Bloomington. In 1875 he was manager of the Joliet iron and steel company. In 1879 he was vice-president; and in 1894 retired from active business. He introduced many improvements in the plant; and did more to build up the town of Joliet than any other man. He died Oct. 17, 1899, in Chicago, Ill.

Smith, Horace Wemyss, journalist, author, was born Aug. 15, 1825, in Philadelphia county, Pa. He was the author of Nuts for Future Historians to Crack; Yorktown Orderly Book; and Life of Reverend William Smith. He died Dec. 9, 1891, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Smith, Huntington, journalist, publisher, author, was born Dec. 4, 1857, in Hudson, N.Y. In 1898-1903 he was editor and publisher of the Boston Beacon. He is the translator of Tolstoi's My Religion. He is the author of A Century of American Literature.

Smith, Ira B., merchant, was born June 6, 1852, in Lake, Dodge county, Wis. He began his business career with a grocery firm; and later became president of the firm. He is president of the Merchants' and manufacturers' association; and president of the Wisconsin wholesale grocers' association.

Smith, Isaac, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1736 in Trenton, N.J. In 1793-97 he was a representative from New Jersey to the fourth congress; and was appointed a commissioner to treat with the Seneca Indians. In 1777 he was associate justice of the supreme court of New Jersey. He died Aug. 29, 1807, in Trenton, N.J.

Smith, Isaac, legislator, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1813-15 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirteenth congress.

Smith, Isaac Townsend, merchant, banker, consul-general, diplomat, was born March 12, 1813, in Boston, Mass. He settled in New York City, where as a merchant and ship owner he conducted business for several years. He was an incorporator and for twenty-five years president of the Metropolitan savings bank; and was a commissioner of immigration for the state of New York several years. He was a presidential elector in 1864 when Abraham Lincoln was re-elected. He has lectured extensively on the struggles of the early settlers for American independence. For over half a century he has been in friendly and official touch with Siam as financial agent, consul and consul-general to the United States, which latter position he still fills. He joined the Union league of New York City in 1864, and now ranks as the oldest man in that club.

Smith, Mrs. Isabel E., painter, artist, was born in Ohio. In 1895 she married Carl F. Smith, an artist of Washington, D. C. She has painted a miniature of President McKinley on the brooch daily worn by Mrs. McKinley; a miniature of Queen Wilhelmina of Holland from life; a miniature of Queen Victoria; a miniature of President Faure of France; and miniatures of other notables.

Smith, Israel, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, governor, congressman, was born April 4, 1759, in Suoeld, Conn. He was sent to the Vermont state legislature from Rutland; and in 1791-97 and 1801-03 he was a representative to the second, third, fourth and seventh congresses. He was appointed chief justice of the supreme court of Vermont in 1797. In 1803-07 he was United States senator. He was governor of Vermont in 1807-08. He died Dec. 2, 1810, in Rutland, Vt.

Smith, Israel Canton, soldier, was born in 1839 in Michigan. He was a veteran of the civil war; and attained the rank of brigadier-general. He was prominent in the public affairs of Michigan. He died Nov. 27, 1899, in Grand Rapids, Mich.

in Troy, N.Y.; and in Edinburgh, Scotland. She married Prof. Horace E. Smith, dean of the Albany law school, who died in 1902. She lived a number of years in Scotland; and has contributed extensively to British and American periodicals. She is a member of the Society of American authors; and now resides in Johnstown, N.Y. She is the author of Day Lilies, a volume of poems; Mayor of Kanemeta; Donald Moncrief; Story of Blackie; and various other stories and poems.

Smith, Jedediah K., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1770 in New Hampshire. In 1807-09 he was a representative from New Hampshire to the tenth congress. He held the office of judge and chief judge of the court of common pleas for Hillsborough county in 1810-14; and was also a state counselor. He died in 1828 in New Hampshire.

Smith, Jeremiah, lawyer, jurist, congressman, governor, was born Nov. 29, 1759, in Peterborough, N.H. In 1791-99 he was a representative from New Hampshire to the second, third, fourth and fifth congresses; and was one of the last survivors of the distinguished men who participated with Washington in the administration of the government. He was the fourth governor of New Hampshire in 1809-10; served as a presidential elector in 1809; and was for several years chief justice of the superior court of New Hampshire. He died Sept. 21, 1842, in Dover, N.H.

Smith, Jeremiah, educator, lawyer, jurist. For fifteen years he was professor of the Harvard law school; and has since been justice of the supreme court of New Hampshire.

Smith, Jerome Van Crowninshield, physician, author, was born July 20, 1800, in Conway, N.H. He was a physician of Boston, where he was mayor in 1854; and subsequently practiced medicine in New York City. He was the author of Class Book of Anatomy; Life of Andrew Jackson; Natural History of the Fishes of Massachusetts; Pilgrimage to Palestine; Turkey and the Turks; and The Ways of Women. He died Aug. 21, 1879, in New York City.

Smith, Jesse C., soldier, lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born July 18, 1808, in Butternuts, N.Y. He was surrogate of Kings county in 1850-55; and state senator in 1862. At the beginning of the civil war he was instrumental in the reorganization of the national guard; and in forming the one hundred and thirty-ninth regiment of New York volunteers. He commanded the eleventh brigade of the national guard at the battle of Gettysburg. After the civil war he practiced law in Brooklyn; and became judge of the state supreme court of New York. He died in 1900, in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Smith, Job Lewis, physician, author, was born Oct. 15, 1827, in Spafford, N.Y. He was a professor in Bellevue medical college; and physician to the New York charity hospital and the New York foundling and infant asylums. He was the author of a Treatise on Diseases of Children. He died June 11, 1897, in New York City.

Smith, John, one of the founders of Virginia, was born in 1579 in England. He was a celebrated sea captain and adventurer; was one of the founders of Virginia; and of the company which settled at Jamestown in 1607. In 1608-10 he was colonial governor of Virginia. He was a forceful, vigorous writer, much given to magnifying his own exploits; and not always to be trusted in the absence of other testimony. He was the author of A True Relation of Virginia; The Generall Historie of Virginia, which is partly original and partly compiled; A Map of Virginia, with a Description of the Country; A Description of New England; An Accidence, or Pathway to Experience; A Sea Grammar; and The True Travels of Captain John Smith. He died in 1631 in Virginia.

Smith, John, colonial governor. In 1649-50 he was colonial governor of Rhode Island.

Smith, John, merchant, founder, government official, was born March 20, 1722, in Burlington, N.J. He was one of the founders of the Philadelphia hospital. In 1758 he became a member of the governor's council. In 1761 he was a commissioner to try pirates. He died March 26, 1771, in Burlington, N.J.

Smith, John, United States senator, was born in 1735 in Hamilton county, Ohio. In 1803-09 he was United States senator from Ohio. He was a warm personal friend of Aaron Burr, and though for a time suspected, was in reality innocent of treasonable designs. He died June 10, 1816, in Hamilton county, Ohio.

Smith, John, soldier, congressman, United States senator, was born Feb. 12, 1752, near Brookhaven, N.Y. He was a general of militia in New York. He was a member of the state legislature in 1784-99; and was a member of the convention which adopted the constitution. In 1799-1805 he was a representative from New York to the sixth, seventh and eighth congresses. In 1803-13 he was United States senator; and in 1813 was appointed United States marshal for New York. He died Aug. 12, 1816, in Brookhaven, N.Y.

Smith, John, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 21, 1752, in Newbury, Mass. He was a congregational minister; and was professor of languages at Dartmouth college and college pastor in 1778-1809; as well as librarian of the college for some thirty years. He was the author of Hebrew, Greek and Latin grammars, as well as some minor publications. He died April 30, 1809, in Hanover, N.H.

Smith, John, congressman, was born in Virginia. In 1801-15 he was a representative from Virginia to the seventh, eighth, ville, Ohio. In 1884 he graduated from Butler university as A.M.; and has received the honorary degrees of D.D. and LL.D. In 1885-88 he was state evangelist of the Christian church of Indiana; and edited the Central Christian. In 1888-95 he was pastor of the Christian church at Valparaiso, Ind.; and later was pastor of the Union christian church of Chicago, Ill. He lectured in California and Texas; and was interested in reforms to benefit labor. In 1893 he was president of the Christian endeavor union of Indiana; and is now pastor of the Christian church of Oklahoma City, Okla.

Smith, James Irwin, clergyman, college president, author, was born March 31, 1827, in Mercer county, Pa. In 1881-88 he was pastor at Galesville, Wis. He became professor, and then president of Galesville university. He is the author of Parents' Part With Baptized Children.

Smith, James Madison W., educator, journalist, jurist, was born June 20, 1835, in Celina, Tenn. He received a thorough education, and attended Mt. Vale academy. He is the editor and owner of the Southern Recorder of Tompkinsville, Ky; has been city marshal, police judge, and filled various other public positions of trust.

Smith, James Milton, soldier, lawyer, governor, was born Oct. 24, 1823, in Twiggs county, Ga. He entered the confederate army in 1861 as major in the thirteenth Georgia regiment; and became colonel in 1862. He was a member of the confederate congress from that year until the close of the civil war. He served in the legislature in 1871-72; was speaker, and in 1872-77 was the twenty-eighth governor of Georgia. He died Nov. 25, 1890 in Georgia.

Smith, James S., physician, state legislator, congressman, was born in Orange county N.C. In 1817-21 he was a representative from North Carolina to the fifteenth and sixteenth congresses, and served in the legislature of North Carolina in 1821. He died in North Carolina.

Smith, James Stewart, clergyman, author, was born in Norfolk, Va. Since 1875 he has been engaged in the ministry; and since 1891 has been rector of St. Mary's church at Kansas City, Mo. He is the author of Prayers for the Dead; Abiding Presence; Prayers for the Faithful; Symbolism; and other works.

Smith, James Thomas, soldier, journalist, was born May 4, 1847, in Ireland. He received his education in the preparatory schools of Connecticut. During 1861-65 he was a lieutenant in the union forces, and up to 1870 served in the regular army. He has been city clerk and city auditor of Denver, Col.; and since 1876 has been secretary and director of the state school of mines. He has also been editor of the Rocky Mountain News since 1878.

Smith, James Tinker, litterateur, poet, was born in 1816, in St. Mary's Parish, La. He translated into English the Meditations of Lamartine; and was the author of a volume of poems. He died Aug. 10, 1854, in Franklin, La.

Smith, James Wheaton, clergyman, author, was born June 26, 1823, in Providence, R.I. In 1853-70 he was pastor of the Spruce street baptist church in Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of a Life of John P. Crosier. He died in Philadelphia, Pa.

Smith, James Youngs, manufacturer, state legislator, governor, was born Sept. 15, 1809, in Groton, Conn. In 1838 he was a cotton manufacturer in Willimantic, Conn., and at Woonsocket, R.I. He was afterward a member of the legislature of Rhode Island for several years. He was mayor of Providence in 1855 and 1857; and was the twenty-sixth governor of Rhode Island in 1863-66. He died March 26, 1876, in Providence, R.I.

Smith, Mrs. Jane Luella Dowd, educator, author, poet, was born June 16, 1847, in Sheffield, Mass. At the age of eighteen she graduated from the Westfield normal school. After teaching school for a year, she entered the Ladies' seminary of North Granville, New York, where she graduated valedictorian of the class in 1868. She attained success in educational work; was principal of the Southampton high school, Sheffield high school, Stamford high school, and the South Egremont academy. In 1875 she was married to Dr. H. Hadley Smith of Hudson, N.Y. She is an earnest temperance worker, holding important positions in the Woman's christian temperance union and Woman's suffrage reforms. She is the author of three volumes of poems, entitled Wayside Leaves; Wind Flowers; Flowers from Foreign Fields; and one prose work, Twelve Talks Teaching Temperance.

Smith, Jared Augustine, soldier, was born July 6, 1840, in Wilton, Maine. In 1862-65 he served in the civil war; and since the war has been engaged in the construction of coast and harbor defenses, in river and harbor improvements and as light-house engineer. He is a retired brigadier general in the United States army.

Smith, Mrs. Jeanie Oliver, author, poet, was born in Troy, N.Y. She was educated of Spain, Holland and Italy; Old Lines in New Black and White; A White Umbrella in Mexico; Colonel Carter of Cartersville; a novel; A Day at Laguerre's, and Other Days; American Illustrators; Venice of To-Day; A Gentleman Vagabond, and Some Others; Tom Grogan; and The Romance of an Old Fashioned Gentleman.

Smith, Frank, educator, zoologist, scientist, was born Feb. 18, 1857, in Winneconne, Wis. He was educated at Hillsdale college and Harvard university; and has received the degrees of Ph.B. and A.M. Since 1893 he has been instructor and later associate professor of zoology in the university of Illinois. He is a fellow of the American association for the advancement of science; and has made special researches in zoology.

Smith, Frank B., lawyer, jurist, was born March 6, 1861, near Leavenworth, Kan. He held the office of state's attorney for six years; and that of county judge for two years. He is now circuit judge of the fourth judicial circuit of South Dakota.

Smith, Francis Osmond Jon, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Nov. 23, 1806, in Brentwood, N.H. He was educated in New England. He was elected to the assembly of Maine in 1831; was president of the state senate in 1833; and in 1833-39 he was a representative from Maine to the twenty-third, twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth congresses. He was a brilliant orator and parliamentarian. He died Oct. 14, 1876, in Deering, Maine.

Smith, Franklin Guest, soldier, was born Feb. 16, 1840, in Blossburg, Pa. He served throughout the civil war; and attained the rank of captain in 1898. In 1901 he was colonel of the artillery corps; and in 1903 was retired as brigadier-general.

Smith, Frank Hill, painter, artist, was born Oct. 15, 1842, in Boston, Mass. His work in oil includes portraits, figure-pieces and landscapes. Some of his Venetian pictures belong to the Somerset club of Boston. He has decorated the Windsor hotel and the opera-house at Holyoke, Mass., and numerous public and private buildings in Boston, Cambridge and other cities.

Smith, Frank L., portrait painter, artist, was born Dec. 21, 1860, in Ripon, Wis. Early in life he had a penchant for art; studied under the best masters, and has attained a national reputation as an eminent portrait painter.

Smith Frank O., congressman, merchant, was born Aug. 27, 1859, in Calvert county, Md. For twenty years he was engaged in merchandising and packing. In 1913-

15 he was a representative from Maryland to the sixty-third congress.

Smith, Franklin C., soldier, was born in Mississippi. In 1862 he was lieutenant-colonel in the one hundred and second regiment Illinois infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Aug. 28, 1891.

Smith, Frederick, lawyer, jurist. In 1828 he was an associate justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania.

Smith, Frederick A., lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 11, 1844, in Norwood Park, Ill. In 1903 he was elected judge of the superior court. In 1903-09 he was judge of the circuit court of Cook county; and in 1904 was assigned to the appellate court of Illinois.

Smith, Frederick R., physician, surgeon, was born Aug. 31, 1870, in Penn Yan, N.Y. He was educated at the Penn Yan free academy; attended the Dundee preparatory school; and graduated from the Hahnemann medical college of Philadelphia, Pa. He is a successful physician and surgeon of Rochester, N.Y.; and a member of the leading medical societies. He has been a member of the board of all the masonic bodies in Rochester, N.Y.

Smith, George, banker, was born March 8, 1808, in Scotland. He was a noted banker; and one of the foremost financiers of the nineteenth century. He died Oct. 7, 1899, in London, England.

Smith, George, congressman. In 1809-13 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the eleventh and twelfth congresses. He died in Pennsylvania.

Smith, George, lawyer, jurist, state senator, author, was born Feb. 12, 1804, in Delaware county, Pa. He served in the Pennsylvania state senate in 1832-36. He was an associate judge of the court of common pleas of Delaware county in 1836-57 and 1861-66. He was chosen the first superintendent of the Delaware county common schools in 1854; and for the subsequent twenty-five years was president of the school board of Upper Darby school district. He also devoted much attention to scientific pursuits, especially to geology. He was a founder of the Delaware county institute of science; and its president in 1833-82; and presented it with his valuable herbarium about 1875. He was the author of A History of Delaware County, Pa., from the Discovery of the Territory Included Within Its Limits to the Present Time. He died March 10, 1882, in Upper Darby, Pa.

Smith, George C., soldier, was born in 1829. He was a veteran of the civil war; and attained the rank of brigadier-general. He died Aug. 2, 1897, in St. Paul, Minn.

Smith, George Carson, railroad president, was born March 4, 1855, in Granville, N.Y. In 1877-81 he was private secretary to the governor of Michigan; president of the Atlanta and West Point railroad, and also of the Western railway of Alabama. He is president of the Lackawanna and Wyoming valley railroad; and president of the Grand Rapids, Grand Haven and Muskegon railroad.

Smith, George Handy, United States senator, was born July 21, 1836, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1871 he was chosen a member of the Pennsylvania state legislature; was twice re-elected; and in 1875 was elected a state senator. He was United States senator in 1877-89; and in 1885 and 1887 was chosen president pro tem. of the senate.

Smith, George J., educator, author, was born Oct. 7, 1868, in Lebanon, Ohio. Since 1888 he has been engaged in examining and licensing of teachers and principals for public school system of New York City. He is the author of Synopsis of English and American Literature; Writing in English; Longman's Briefer Grammar; and Longman's English Lessons.

Smith, George Joseph, manufacturer, banker, congressman, was born Nov. 7, 1859, in Kingston, N.Y. Since 1879 he has been engaged in the manufacturing and banking business in Kingston, N.Y. In 1900 he was a delegate to the republican national convention. In 1903-05 he was a republican representative from New York to the fifty-eighth congress.

Smith, George L., soldier, merchant, journalist, congressman, was born Dec. 11, 1840, in Hillsborough county, N.H. He served in the army; settled in Louisiana at the close of the civil war; and engaged in mercantile business. He was elected a member of the assembly in 1870 and 1872. He was proprietor of the Shreveport Southwestern Telegram; and was president of a savings bank and trust company. In 1873-75 he was a representative from Louisiana to the forty-third congress to fill a vacancy.

Smith, George M., educator, author, was born May 30, 1847, in Belgrade, Maine. He was educated in the grammar schools, and at Colby college of Waterville, Maine. In 1888-89 he was a student at Giessen, Germany. Until 1891 he was engaged in teaching in secondary schools. In 1891 he became professor of Greek; in 1894-1906 was professor of pedagogy; in 1888-1901 was professor of modern languages;

and is now professor of German and the romance languages in the university of South Dakota. He is the author of Vocabulary to Caesar, Book 2; Outlines of Civics for South Dakota; The State and the Nation; History and Civil Government of

South Dakota; and Outlines of Pedagogy. He is editor of the South Dakota Educator; and among his published addresses is The Ethical Mission of the State University.

Smith, George P., agriculturist, author, was born Nov. 25, 1858, and is a son of Rufus Smith. He is a prominent citizen of Sunderland, Mass.; and in 1900 was a delegate to the farmers' national congress. In 1898-1901 he was a member of the Massachusetts state board of agriculture. He is the author of An Essay on The Evolution of Farm Machines in Massachusetts Agriculture.

Smith, George W., lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 18, 1846, in Putnam county, Ohio. In 1870 he was admitted to the practice of law by the supreme court of Illinois; and resided in Murphysboro. In 1880 he was the republican elector for his congressional district, and cast the vote of the district for Garfield and Arthur. In 1889-1907 he was a representative from Illinois to the fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third, fifty-fourth, fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh, fifty-eighth and fifty-ninth congresses as a republican. He died in 1907 in Murphysboro, Ill.

Smith, George R., congressman, jurist, was born May 28, 1864, in St. Cloud, Minn. He served two terms as judge of the probate court. In 1913-15 he was a representative from Minnesota to the sixty-third congress.

Smith, George Theodore, banker, was born April 29, 1855, in New York City. He was educated in the college of the city of New York. In 1872-1909 he was in the service of the Pennsylvania railroad company, becoming general agent of the company in New York. Since 1909 he has been president of the First national bank of Jersey City; and is also president of the Joseph Dixon crucible company, the American graphite company, the New Jersey title guarantee and trust company and the West New York trust company. He is also vice-president and director of the Colonial life insurance company of America and various other corporations.

Smith, George W., physician, merchant, banker, was born Dec. 10, 1846, in Hillsdale county, Mich. In 1867 he moved to Owosso, Mich., engaged in the drug business, and there studied medicine. He practiced that profession for a while, and then engaged in the wholesale and retail grocery business. In 1878 he moved to Geneva, Neb., and a year later organized the Geneva exchange bank, now the First national bank of Geneva, of which he is president. He was elected mayor of his city in 1890.

Smith, George Washington, founder, author, was born Aug. 4, 1800, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a founder of the Pennsylvania historical society; for many years one of its councillors; and at his death senior vice-president. He possessed a large estate, of which he gave liberally to benevolent objects. He was the author of Facts and Arguments in Favor of Adopting Railroads in Preference to Canals; Defense of the Pennsylvania System in Favor of Solitary Confinement of Prisoners; and edited Nicholas Wood's Treatise on Railroads. He died April 22, 1876, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Smith, George Washington, soldier, was born Jan. 8, 1837, in Brooklyn, N.Y. He entered the union army as captain of Illinois infantry in 1862, being promoted successively as major, lieutenant-colonel, colonel, and brigadier-general, before being honorably mustered out in 1865. In 1866-67 he was state treasurer of Illinois; was president of the union league club of Chicago; and for fourteen years vice-president of the Chicago historical society. He was also president of the Chicago industrial school for girls and a member of the Loyal legion. He died Sept. 18, 1898, in Chicago, Ill.

Smith, George William, governor. He was the ninth governor of Virginia in 1811-12. He lost his life at the burning of the Richmond theater, Dec. 26, 1811, in Virginia.

Smith, George Williamson, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 21, 1836, in Catskill, N.Y. He was ordained deacon in 1860, and priest in 1864, in the protestant episcopal church, and was an assistant at various churches in Washington, D.C. He was acting professor of mathematics in the United States naval academy at Newport in 1864-65; chaplain at the Annapolis academy in 1865-68; and chaplain on the United States steamship Franklin in 1868-71. In 1872-81 he was rector of Grace church, Jamaica, L.I.; and in 1881-83 of the Church of the Redeemer of Brooklyn, N.Y.; and in 1883-1904 he was president of Trinity college, and is now professor emeritus. He has published occasional sermons and papers.

Smith, Gerrit, philanthropist, congressman, author was born March 6, 1797, in Utica, N.Y. He was one of the leaders of the Anti-Slavery society; and was noted for his philanthropy. Having inherited one of the largest landed estates in America, he distributed nearly two hundred thousand acres of it among the poor. In 1853-55 he was a representative from New York to the thirty-third congress. He was the author of Speeches in Congress; Sermons and Speeches; The Religion of Reason; The Theologies; and Nature the Basis of a Free Theology. He died Dec. 28, 1874, in New York City.

Smith, Gerrit, musician, composer, was born Dec. 11, 1859, in Hagerstown, Md. He began his professional career as organist and choirmaster of St. Paul's church of Buffalo, N.Y. He is professor in the union theological seminary; and a noted concert-organist. He is the author of over fifty songs; pianoforte pieces, a cantata, carols, Te Deum, anthems, and male and female choruses.

Smith, Gertrude, litterateur, author, was born Nov. 7, 1862, in California. She is an Atlanta writer, whose early life was spent in the west. She is the author of The Rousing of Mrs. Potter, and Other Stories; The Arabella and Araminta Stories; Dedora Heywood; Boys of Marmiton Prairie; Ten Little Comedies; The Wonderful Stories of Jane and John; and Little Girl and Philip.

Smith, Giles Alexander, soldier, was born Sept. 29, 1829, in Jefferson county, N.Y. He became captain in the eighth Missouri volunteers in 1861; and in 1863 was promoted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Nov. 5, 1876, in Bloomington, Ill.

Smith, Goldwin, litterateur, author, was born Aug. 13, 1823, in England. In 1854 he graduated from Oxford university as

M.A. In 1858-66 was regius professor of modern history at Oxford university. During the civil war he was an active champion of the north. In 1868 he came to the United States and in 1868-71 was engaged as a lecturer. He was an honorary professor of English and constitutional history at Cornell university. Since 1871 he has lived in Canada; and is president of the Modern language association. He is the author of Irish History and Irish Character; Lecture on Modern History; The Civil War in America; Three English Statesmen; William Cowper; The Political Destiny of Canada; History of the United States; Lines of Religious Inquiry; My Memory of Gladstone; Irish History and the Irish Question; and Labor and Capital.

Smith, Green Clay, soldier, clergyman, congressman, governor, was born July 2, 1830, in Richmond, Ky. He was a school commissioner in 1853-57; and established a great number of schools. He served as second lieutenant in the Mexican war; and after the breaking out of the civil war in 1861 had command of the fourth Kentucky cavalry. He was elected to the state legislature; was appointed a brigadier-general in 1862; was subsequently promoted to the rank of major-general; and was present at the battle of Ball's Bluff and about fifty other engagements. In 1863-67 he was a representative from Kentucky to the thirty-eighth and thirty-ninth congresses. In 1866-69 he was governor of the territory of Montana. He subsequently became a preacher in the baptist church in Frankfort, Ky. In 1876 he was the candidate of the prohibition party for the presidency of the United States. He died June 29, 1895, in Washington, D.C.

Smith, Gustavus A., soldier, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1861 he was colonel in derman and a member of the Michigan constitutional convention of 1908. In 1911-15 he was a representative from Michigan to the sixty-second and sixty-third congresses.

Smith, John Montgomery, educator; lawyer, statesman, was born Feb. 26, 1834, in Bedford Springs, Pa. In 1838 he moved with his parents to Wisconsin, settling in Mineral Point. He there received his education, studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1862. In 1864 he was superintendent of schools, district attorney of Iowa county in 1868-70; mayor of Mineral Point in 1879, 1880 and 1885. He was a delegate to the democratic national conventions of 1880 and 1888; was city attorney in 1891-92; a member of the county board in 1892; presidential elector in the same year, and was also elected a member of the assembly of the Wisconsin state legislature in 1892.

Smith, John Quincy, farmer, state senator, congressman, was born Nov. 5, 1824, in Warren county, Ohio. He was a member of the Ohio state senate in 1860 and 1872; and was a member of the state house of representatives in 1862-63. In 1873-75 he was a representative from Ohio to the forty-third congress as a republican; in 1875 was appointed commissioner of Indian affairs; and subsequently was one of the first managers of the Ohio reformatory at Mansfield, Ohio.

Smith, John Spear, was born about 1790 in Baltimore, Md. He was a member of the Internal improvement convention of Maryland in 1825; and upon the formation of the Maryland historical society in 1844 was made its first president, which post he held until his death. He was at one time judge of the orphans' court; and in 1833 was a presidential elector. He died Nov. 17, 1866, in Baltimore, Md.

Smith, John Speed, lawyer, congressman, was born July 31, 1792, in Jessamine county, Ky. He served as a soldier under General Harrison; was at the battle of Tippecanoe; and was aide to the same general at the battle of the Thames in 1813. In 1819 he was elected to the legislature of Kentucky. In 1821-23 he was a representative from Kentucky to the seventeenth congress; and in 1827 was again elected to the state legislature, and was made speaker of the house. He subsequently served several terms both in the house and state senate; and was appointed United States attorney for the district of Kentucky. He was superintendent of public works in Kentucky for several years. He died June 6, 1854, in Madison county, Ky.

Smith, John T., congressman, was born in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1843-45 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the twenty-eighth congress. He died in Pennsylvania.

Smith, John Talbot, clergyman, author. Born Sept. 22, 1855, in Saratoga, N.Y.

He is a Roman catholic clergyman; and in 1889-92 edited the New York Catholic Review. He is the author of History of Ogdensburg Diocese; A Woman of Culture, a novel; Solitary Island, a novel; Prairie Boy, a juvenile tale; Our Seminaries, an essay on Clerical Training; and History of Catholics in New York.

Smith, John Walter, state senator, congressman, governor, was born Feb. 5, 1845, in Snow Hill, Md. In 1889-99 he was a member; and in 1894 was president of the Maryland state senate. In 1895 he was chairman of the state democratic committee; and in 1896 was a nominee for United States senator. In 1899-1901 he was a representative from Maryland to the fifty-sixth congress. In 1900-04 he was governor of the state of Maryland. In 1909 he was elected to the United States senate for the term ending in 1915.

Smith, Jonathan Bayard, congressman, was born Feb. 21, 1742, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1777-78 he was a delegate from Pennsylvania to the continental congress; and was a signer of the articles of confederation. He died June 16, 1812, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Smith, Joseph, naval officer, was born March 2, 1790, in Boston, Mass. He served in the civil war; and in 1862 attained the rank of rear-admiral. He was chief of bureau of lands and docks. He died Jan. 17, 1877, in Washington, D.C.

Smith, Joseph, clergyman, author, was born July 15, 1796, in Westmoreland county, Pa. He was a noted presbyterian clergyman in western Pennsylvania. He was the author of History of Jefferson college; and Old Redstone, or Historical Sketches of Western Presbyterianism. He died Dec. 4, 1868, in Greensburg, Pa.

Smith, Joseph, founder of the mormon sect, was born Dec. 23, 1805, in Sharon, Vt. After failing to start a colony of his sect in Ohio and Missouri, he at last settled in Nauvoo, Ill. But this failed as all others had, on account of the opposition of the people to the peculiar doctrines of the mormons. Joseph and his brother being confined in jail, were surrounded by a mob and both killed June 27, 1844, in Carthage, Ill.

Smith, Joseph, editor, clergyman, was born Nov. 6, 1832, in Kirtland, Ohio. He was educated in the public schools and at Nauvoo, Ill. For one term he was president of the board of trustees of Plano, Ill.; and served four terms as a member of the board. Since 1860 he has been editor-in-chief of the Saints' Herald; and also since 1860 has been president of the reorganized church of Jesus Christ of latterday saints.

Smith, Joseph, soldier, journalist, author, was born Aug. 15, 1853, in Dublin, Ireland. In 1873-78 he was in the United States cavalry service in New Mexico, Arizona and Texas. In 1892 he established and edited the Sunday Arena of Lowell, Mass.; and is now associate editor of the Boston Traveler. He is the author of The Scotch-Irish.

Smith, Joseph Adams, naval officer, was born Sept. 1, 1837, in Machias, Maine. In 1861 he was appointed assistant paymaster; and in 1866-67 was paymaster of a fleet of the gulf squadron. In 1879 he was promoted pay inspector; and in 1891 was promoted pay director. In 1899 he was retired with the rank of rear-admiral.

Smith, Joseph Edward Adams, Godfrey Greylock, author, was born in 1822. He was the author of Taghsonic, the Romance and Beauty of the Hills; and A History of Paper. He died in 1896, in Pittsfield, Mass.

Smith, Joseph Fielding, journalist, clergyman, legislator, was born Nov. 13, 1838, in Far West, Mo. He drove an ox-team in the exodus of 1846; and in 1848 drove an ox-team to Salt Lake City valley. In 1854-58 he was a missionary to the Sandwich Islands. In 1858-59 was a sergeant-in-arms in the Utah legislature. In 1860-63, 1874-75 and 1877 he was a missionary to Great Britain, and the Sandwich Islands. In 1866 he was ordained an apostle; in 1880-1901 was second counselor in the first presidency of the church; and since 1900 has been president of the church of Jesus Christ of latterday saints. He has been a member of the city council of Salt Lake City; and in 1882 was a member of Utah legislature. He is president of Zion's co-operative mercantile institution; president of the State bank of Utah; president of Zion's savings bank and trust company; president of the Utah sugar company; and president of the Consolidated wagon and machine company. He is senior editor of the Juvenile Instructor; and editor of the Improvement Era.

Smith, Joseph Lee, lawyer, jurist, was born May 28, 1776, in New Britain, Conn. Having become a resident of Florida, he was appointed United States district judge for that territory, serving as such until 1832. He died May 27, 1846, in St. Augustine, Fla.

Smith, Joseph Lee Kirby, soldier, was born in 1836, in New York City. He was brevetted major, United States army, for the capture of Island No. 10, April 7, 1862; served on the expedition to Fort Pillow; fought at the siege of Corinth in May of that year, and was brevetted lieutenant-colonel in the United States army for repelling a confederate sortie from that city. He was mortally wounded at Corinth while charging "front forward" to repel a desperate attack on Battery Robinett. He died Oct. 12, 1862, in Corinth, Miss.

Smith, Joseph Lindon, painter, artist, was born Oct. 11, 1863, in Pawtucket, R.I. He executed the mural decorations in the public library of Boston, Mass.; and executed the mural decorations on the exterior of the horticultural hall of Philadelphia, Pa.

Smith, Joseph Mather, physician, author, was born March 14, 1789, in New Rochelle, N.Y. In 1826-66 he was a professor in the New York college of physicians and surgeons. He was the author of Elements of the Etiology and Philosophy of Epidemics; and Illustrations of Medical Phenomena in Public Life. He died April 22, 1866, in New York City.

Smith, Joseph Otis, journalist, soldier, legislator, author, was born April 24, 1839, in Weston, Maine. He was a lieutenant in the Union army in 1865. He has been a member of the Maine house of representatives; and was secretary of state. He is the author of an essay, The Practical and Ethical in Journalism.

Smith, Joseph Rowe, soldier, was born Sept. 8, 1802, in Stillwater, N.Y. During the Mexican war he was brevetted major and lieutenant-colonel. He became chief mustering officer of Michigan in 1862; military commissary of musters in 1863; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general, United States army, for long and honorable service. He died Sept. 3, 1868, in Monroe, Mich.

Smith, Joseph Rowe, soldier, surgeon, was born April 18, 1831, in Madison Barracks, N.Y. In 1847 he was engaged as a civil engineer; in 1850 laid out the boundary line between the Creeks and Cherokee Indian tribes; and in 1851 laid out territorial roads in Minnesota. In 1854-58 he served in the United States army on expeditions against hostile Indians in Texas; and served on a Utah expedition. In 1862-63 he was acting surgeon-general in the United States army. After the war he served as medical officer and reached the rank of colonel. In 1904 he was appointed brigadier-general in the United States army. He died about 1909.

Smith, Joseph Russell, educator, writer, author, was born Feb. 3, 1874, in Lincoln, Va. In 1899-1901 he assisted the Isthmian canal commission of Washington with economic investigations. Since 1903 he has been instructor of economic geography in the Wharton school of finance and commerce in the university of Pennsylvania; and in 1906 became assistant professor of geography and industry. He is the author of The Organization of Ocean Commerce; and other works.

Smith, Joseph S., lawyer manufacturer, congressman, was born June 20, 1824, in Fayette county, Pa. He moved to Oregon and then to Washington territory. He was made prosecuting attorney; and was elected to the territorial legislature, and made speaker in 1857. In 1869-71 he was a representative from Oregon to the forty-first congress.

Smith, Joseph Sewall, soldier, was born in Maine. In 1861 he was quartermaster sergeant in the third regiment Maine infantry; and in 1864 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. In 1892 he was awarded a medal of honor for having led part of the brigade and saved two pieces of artillery, captured a flag, and secured a number of prisoners at Hatcher's Run, Va.

Smith, Joshua Hett, lawyer, was born in 1736, in New York City. During the revolution he was a tory in politics, and in Benedict Arnold's treason in 1780 figured as his tool or accomplice. He went to England at the close of the war, but subsequently returned to the United States. He was the author of An Authentic Narrative of the Causes that led to the Death of Major Andre. He died in 1818, in New York City.

Smith, Josiah, congressman, was born in 1745, in Pembroke, Mass. In 1801-03 he was a representative from Massachusetts to the seventh congress. He died in March, 1803, in Massachusetts.

Smith, Josiah Torrey, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 4, 1815, in Williamsport, Mass. He has been pastor successively of Baptist churches in Lanesborough, Sandisfield, Hinsdale and Amherst, Mass., and in Woodstock, Conn., and in Warwick, R.I. He is the author of The Scriptural and Historical Arguments for Infant Baptism Examined. He died about 1900, in Warwick, R.I.

Smith, Judson, clergyman, educator, author, was born June 28, 1837, in Middlefield, Mass. In 1866-70 he was professor of Latin in Oberlin; and in 1870-84 he was professor ecclesiastical history in Oberlin theological seminary. He was secretary of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions. He was the author of Lectures in Church History; Lectures on Modern History; and History of Doctrine. He died in 1906, in Roxbury, Mass.

Smith, Julia Evalina, reformer, was born May 27, 1792, in Glastonbury, Conn. She became known throughout the country as one of the five Glastonbury sisters, who resisted the payment of taxes because they were denied suffrage, and submitted to the sale of their property by the town authorities rather than obey the law. She died March 6, 1886, in Hartford, Conn.

Smith, Julius, clergyman, missionary, author, was born June 9, 1857, near Savannah, Mo. In 1884 he became a clergyman of the methodist episcopal church, and since 1890 has been a missionary to Burmah. He is the author of Ten Years in Burmah.

Smith, Junius, pioneer of ocean steam navigation, was born Oct. 2, 1780, in Plymouth, Mass. He began the project of navigating the Atlantic ocean with steamships in 1832; published a prospectus of the enterprise in 1835; in 1836 established the British and American steam navigation company; and in the spring of 1838 proved the feasibility of the scheme by the crossing of the steamer Sirius. He died Jan. 23, 1853, in Astoria, N.Y.

Smith, Justin Almerin, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 29, 1819, in Ticonderoga, N.Y. He was a baptist clergyman of Chicago; and editor of The Standard in 1852-56. He was the author of The Martyr of Vilvorde; Sinclair Thompson, the Shetland Apostle; The Spirit in the Word; Modern Church History; and Patmos. He died Feb. 4, 1896, in Chicago, Ill.

Smith, Justin Harvey, publisher, educator, traveler, author, was born Jan. 13, 1857, in Boscawen, N.H. Until 1898 he was a member of the publishing firm of Ginn and company; and in charge of editorial work. He has been an extensive traveler in foreign countries; and since 1899 has been professor of modern history at Dartmouth college. He is the author of The Troubadours at Home, in two volumes; Arnold's March to Quebec; and Our Struggle for the Fourteenth Colony; Canada and the Revolution.

Smith, Kirby, soldier. He was a distinguished soldier during the civil war in the confederate service; and served as a general in 1862 until his surrender in 1865.

Smith, Langdon, journalist, author, was born Jan. 4, 1858, in Kentucky. He went to Cuba for the New York Herald when the Spanish-American war broke out in 1898; and was on the hill with the marines at Guantanamo; and at the battles of El Caney and San Juan. He was the author of On the Pan Handle; and also several short stories. He died April 8, 1906, in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Smith, Lee Stewart, soldier, merchant, lecturer, author, was born April 24, 1844, in Cadiz, Ohio. During the civil war he served in the first Pennsylvania artillery; and has been adjutant-general second brigade in the Pennsylvania national guard; and major of the fourteenth infantry. He has traveled extensively in foreign countries; and has lectured on subjects of travel. He is the author of Through Egypt to Palestine; and Around the World Toward the Westering Icon.

Smith, Lewis, governor, was born in 1827. He was governor of Louisiana. He died in 1899, in Louisiana.

Smith, Lewis Worthington, educator, author, was born Nov. 22, 1866, in Malta, Ill. He was a student at Beloit college; studied at Fairfield college of Nebraska, where he received the degree of Ph.B.; and was also a student at the university of Nebraska. In 1907 he received the honorary degree of A.M. from Cotner university of Nebraska. After his graduation he was a high school and college teacher in Nebraska.

In 1899-1902 he was professor of English at Tabor college of Iowa; in 1899-1902 he was on the reviewing staff of the Dial; and since 1902 has been professor of English at Drake university. He is the author of A Modern Composition and Rhetoric; God's Sunlight; The Writing of the Short Story; and In the Furrow.

Smith, Lloyd Pearsall, librarian, author, was born Feb. 6, 1822, in Philadelphia, Pa. He became hereditary assistant and treasurer in the Philadelphia and Loganian library; and in 1831 succeeded his father as librarian. He edited Lippincott's magazine in 1868-70. He was the author of Report to the Contributors of the Pennsylvania Relief Association for East Tennessee of a Commission of the Executive Committee Sent to Examine that Region; Remarks on the Existing Materials for Forming a Just Estimate of Napoleon I; Remarks on the Apology for Imperial Usurpation Contained in Napoleon's Life of Caesar; Address Delivered at Haverford College Before the Alumni; and Symbolism and Science. He died July 2, 1886, in Germantown, Pa.

Smith, Lucas F., soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 3, 1844, in Wells county, Ind. During the civil war he served as a private in the Union army; and was captain of a company of rangers in the Indian war of 1875. He has served as county attorney of Fannin county, Texas; was district attorney for the eleventh judicial district of Texas; and served as United States district attorney of New Mexico. He is now superior judge of Santa Cruz county, Cal.

Smith, Lucius Edwin, educator, author, was born Jan. 29, 1822, in Williamstown, Mass. In 1868-75 he was literary editor of the New York Examiner. In 1877 he became editor of the Watchman, Boston, of which journal since 1881 he has remained associate editor. Besides contributing numerous articles to periodicals he has edited Heroes and Martyrs of the Modern Missionary Enterprise. He died about 1900, in New York City.

Smith, Luke, soldier, was born Feb. 22, 1813, in Acton, Mass. He was one of the founders of the Bunker Hill historical society, and its first president. His father, Solomon Smith, having participated in the revolutionary war. During the civil war, Captain Luke Smith served in the Old Sixth regiment. He died Dec. 16, 1890, in Acton, Mass.

Smith, Mrs. Lura Eugenie Brown, journalist, author, was born June 23, 1854, in Rochester, N.Y. In 1883 she edited the Arkansas Life. She is the author of Autocrat of Arkansas; and On the Track and Off the Train; and is part author of Victory's Divorcement.

Smith, Lyman Cornelius, manufacturer, banker, inventor, capitalist, was born March 31, 1850, in Torrington, Conn. He was educated in the common and state normal schools; and in 1872 he moved to New York where he managed a live stock commission house. In 1875 he engaged in the lumber business in Syracuse, N.Y.; and in 1877-90 manufactured breech-loading fire-arms. In 1886 he began manufacturing typewriters; and in 1890 organized the Smith Premier typewriter company, of which he was president. He sold out to the Union typewriter company; and in 1903 organized the L. C. Smith and Brothers typewriter company. He is president of the National bank of Syracuse, N.Y.; president of the Rochester, Syracuse and Eastern railroad company; and has other large business interests.

Smith, Lyndon Ambrose, lawyer, author, was born July 15, 1854, in Boscawen, N.H. In 1899-1903 he was lieutenant-governor of Minnesota. In 1889-90 and since 1903 he has been prosecuting attorney for Chippewa county, Minn. He is the author of Recent School Law Decisions.

Smith, Madison Roswell, lawyer, congressman, was born July 9, 1850, in Glen Allen, Mo. In 1871 he graduated from Central college of Fayette, Mo.; and in 1874 was admitted to the practice of law; in 1879-81 he was prosecuting attorney of Bollinger county, Mo.; and in 1887-91 he was a member of the Missouri state senate. In 1901-04 he was reporter of the St. Louis court of appeals; and in 1890 was a candidate for judge of the St. Louis court of appeals. In 1907-11 he was a representative from Missouri to the sixtieth and sixty-first congresses as a democrat.

Smith, Marcus, actor, was born Jan. 7, 1829, in New Orleans, La. He connected himself with Wallack's theatre of New York City, where he became widely popular, subsequently playing successful star engagements in the principal cities of America. When Edwin Booth opened his theatre in New York City in 1869, Mr. Smith became his manager; and was a member of his company for several years. He died Aug. 11, 1874, in Paris, France.

Smith, Marcus Aurelius, lawyer, congressman, United States senator, was born Jan. 24, 1852, near Cynthiana, Ky. He moved to Arizona in 1881, and the following year was elected prosecuting attorney of his district. In 1889-95, 1897-99, 1901-03 and 1905-09 he was a territorial delegate to the fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third, fifty-fifth, fifty-seventh, fifty-ninth and sixtieth congresses as a democrat. Since 1912 he has been United States senator from Arizona.

Smith, Mrs. Margaret Bayard, author, was born in 1778, in Philadelphia, Pa. She was a social leader in Washington, D.C. She was the author of A Winter in Washington, in two volumes; and What Is Gentility? She died in 1844, in Washington, D.C.

Smith, Margaret Vowell, writer, author, was born March 2, 1839, in Louisville, Ky. She is an historian of Alexandria, Va. She is the author of Virginia in 1492-1892; and Notes on the History of the Constitution of Virginia.

Smith, Marion Couthouy, author, poet, was born Oct. 22, 1853, in Philadelphia, Pa. She is on the staff of the East Orange Gazette of New Jersey; and is a contributor to leading magazines of poems, short stories and articles, and a serial, A Working Woman. She is the author of Doctor Marks, Socialist; and The Electric Spirit; and other poems.

Smith, Mark, actor, was born in 1855, in Mobile, Ala. He was a well-known actor of the United States; and has appeared in various plays in the principal cities of America.

Smith, Martin Luther, soldier, was born in 1819, in New York City. He entered the confederate service; became a brigadier-general; commanded a brigade in defense of New Orleans; was at the head of the engineer corps of the army; and planned and constructed the defenses of Vicksburg, where he was taken prisoner. He subsequently attained the rank of major-general. After the civil war he became chief engineer of the Selma, Rome and Dayton railroad. He died July 29, 1866, in Rome, Ga.

Smith, Martin Snyder, banker, railroad president, was born Nov. 12, 1834, in Lima, N.Y. He was president of the Manistique railway company; president of the American exchange national bank; president of the Michigan condensed milk company; and in 1872-88 was police commissioner. He died about 1890, in Detroit, Mich.

Smith, Mary, artist, philanthropist, was born in 1842, in Philadelphia, Pa. She became remarkable for her paintings of little chickens and small animals of the woods.

She left a volume of one hundred finely drawn and colored insects of eastern Pennsylvania. She also gave to the Pennsylvania academy of fine arts a perpetual gift for an animal prize to ladies for the best painting, which has done much good during the past twenty years. She died in 1878, in Pennsylvania.

Smith, Mrs. Mary Louise Riley, author, poet, was born May 27, 1842, in Brighton, N.Y. She is the author of Sometime, and Other Poems; The Inn of Rest; A Gift of Gentians, and Other Verses; and Cradle and Armchair.

Smith, Mrs. Mary Prudence Wells, author, was born July 23, 1840, in Attica, N.Y. She is a writer for young people; for fourteen years she was president of the Unitarian woman's alliance of Cincinnati, Ohio; and one of the founders of the Cincinnati woman's club. She is the author of The Browns; Child Life on a Farm; Jolly Good Times at School; Jolly Good Times at Hackmatack; More Good Times at Hackmatack; Miss Ellis's Mission; Young Puritan Series; and Boys of the Border.

Smith, Mrs. Mary Stuart, litterateur, author, was born in 1834, in Pennsylvania. She has made many translations from the German and French; and is the author of Heirs of the Kingdom; and Virginia Cookery Book.

Smith, Matthew Hale, clergyman, author, was born in 1816, in Portland, Maine. He was a clergyman of the universalist and subsequently of the presbyterian and other faiths; and was also a lawyer and brilliant journalist, known as Burleigh. He was the author of Universalism Examined, Renounced, and Exposed; Universalism Not of God; Sabbath Evenings; Mount Calvary; Sunshine and Shadow in New York; Bulls and Bears of Wall Street, which include his chief works. He died Nov. 7, 1879, in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Smith, Melancthon, congressman, was born in 1724 in Jamaica, N.Y. In 1785-88 he was a delegate from New York to the continental congress. He died July 29, 1798, in New York City.

Smith, Melancthon, naval officer, was born May 24, 1810, in New York City. In 1826 he entered the navy as a midshipman; passed through all the grades; and was commissioned rear-admiral in 1870. He was subsequently appointed governor of the naval asylum at Philadelphia, Pa. He died July 19, 1893, in Green Bay, Wis.

Smith, Melancton, soldier, was born in 1780 in New York City. At the beginning of the second war with Great Britain he joined the United States army; became colonel in the twenty-ninth infantry. He died Aug. 28, 1818, in Plattsburg, N.Y.

Smith, Meriwether, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1730 in Essex county, Va. He was long a member of the house or burgesses; was a member of all the Virginia conventions in 1775 and 1776; and was a member of the federal convention of Virginia. In 1778-82 he was a delegate from Virginia to the continental congress. He died Jan. 25, 1790, in Virginia.

Smith, Merritt Haviland, soldier, civil engineer, was born May 21, 1862, in New York City. He was educated in the military schools and at Penn military college. Since 1906 he has been in charge of the south aqueduct department of the Catskill aqueduct for the New York board of water supply. In 1900-02 he was park commissioner, in 1905-06 was police court secretary and treasurer of department of the city of Yonkers; and during the Spanish-American war served as captain and major in the first United States volunteer engineers in Porto Rico. In 1907 he became captain of first troop seventh regiment New York national guard.

Smith, Middleton, educator, naturalist, explorer, author, was born March 24, 1847, in Bainbridge, Pa. In 1869 he graduated from the state normal school of Westfield, Mass. In 1870-74 he was instructor and principal teacher in the state soldier's orphan school of Mount Joy, Pa. In 1874-78 he took a post-graduate course at the state normal school; the latter few years also acting as pupil assistant teacher. In 1879-81 he was engaged in the study of medicine and natural history in New York City. In 1881-83 he was naturalist and observer on the international polar expedition to Point Barrow, Alaska; and there made valuable collections in natural history and ethnology for the United States national museum. He assisted in editing the reports on the proceedings of the Point Barrow and Lady Franklin Bay expeditions; and since the completion of that work has been engaged in the executive departments of the United States government. He is the author of How to Give Elementary Lessons in Zoology; Gardening in Northern Alaska; and Superstitions of the Eskimos.

Smith, Milton, lawyer, political economist, was born July 31, 1866, in Sussex county, N.J. He was educated at the high school of Ellenville, N.Y.; and in 1887 graduated from Cornell university of Ithaca, N.Y. He is a successful lawyer, principally giving his attention to corporation, mining, irrigation and insurance law. Since 1896 he has been chairman of the Colorado democratic state committee.

Smith, Milton H., railroad president, was born in Chautauqua county, N.Y. Since 1891 he has been president of the Louisville and Nashville railroad at Louisville, Ky.

Smith, Minna Caroline, journalist, author, was born July 24 1860, in Monterey, Cal. She was formerly a journalist, at first in Chicago, and for a number of years in Boston. She is the author of Mary Paget;

a Romance of Old Bermuda; has translated The Boys of Cary Farm; Red Top Ranch; and Trilby, the Fairy of Argyle, from the French of Nodier; Saragossa; and The Joy of Captain Ribot.

Smith, Morgan Lewis, soldier, was born March 8, 1822, in Oswego county, N.Y. In 1861 he was colonel in the eight regiment Missouri infantry; and in 1862 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He was United States consul at Honolulu; and declined the governorship of Colorado. He died Dec. 29, 1874, in Jersey City, N.J.

Smith, Moses, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 16, 1830, in Hebron, Conn. He became pastor of the congregational church of Plainville, Conn. During the civil war he served in company A, eighth regiment Connecticut volunteer infantry; and was chaplain of the regiment. He has filled pastorates in Chicago, Jackson and Detroit, Mich., and in 1888-97 he has been pastor of the congregational at Glencoe, Ill. He is the author of Questions of the Ages.

Smith, Munroe, educator, author, was born Dec. 8, 1854, in Brooklyn, N.Y. Since 1891 he has been professor of Roman law and comparative jurisprudence at Columbia university. In 1886-93 he was managing editor of the Political Science Quarterly. He is the author of Bismarck and German Unity.

Smith, Nathan, physician, author, was born Sept. 13, 1762, in Rehoboth, Mass. He was medical professor in Dartmouth college in 1798-1813. He was the author of Practical Essays on Typhus Fever; and Medical and Surgical Memoirs. He died July 26, 1828, in New Haven, Conn.

Smith, Nathan, lawyer, United States senator, was born Jan. 8, 1769, in Woodbury, Conn. He was a member of the convention that framed the state constitution; and was for many years state's attorney for the county of New Haven. He frequently served in the state legislature; and was for several years United States attorney for the district of Connecticut. He was a delegate to the Hartford convention in 1814; and in 1833-35 he was United States senator. He died Dec. 6, 1835, in Washington, D.C.

Smith, Nathan Ryno, surgeon, author, was born May 21, 1797, in Concord, N.H. He was a professor of surgery in the university of Maryland in 1840-70. He was the author of Surgical Anatomy of the Arteries; and Legends of the South. He died July 3, 1877, in Baltimore, Md.

Smith, Nathaniel, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Jan. 6, 1762, in Woodbury, Conn. He was for many years a member of the state legislature. In 1795-97 he was a representative from Connecticut to the fourth congress; and in 1806-19 was judge of the supreme court of the state. He died March 9, 1822, in Woodbury, Conn.

Smith, Nicholas, soldier, journalist, public official, author, was born Oct. 31, 1836, in Blackburn, England. In 1844-60 he worked in lead mines and on farms in Wisconsin; and in 1862 was admitted to the bar. In 1862 he enlisted as a private in the civil war; became second and first lieutenant and captain in the thirty-third regiment Wisconsin infantry; and resigned in 1865 on account of disability. In 1869 he began journalistic work on the Waukesha Freeman; in 1874-91 was editor of the Janesville Daily Gazette; and in 1895-99 was editor of the Fond du Lac Daily Commonwealth. In 1879 he was commissioned colonel by the governor of Wisconsin; and in 1885-91 was a member of the state board of supervision of charitable reformatory and penal institutions of Wisconsin. He is the author of Stories of Great National Songs; Hymns Historically Famous; Songs from the Hearts of Women; Our National Flag in History and Incident; Men and Masters of Fate; and Grant, the Man of Mystery.

Smith, Nora Archibald, educator, author, was born about 1859 in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1877 she graduated from the Santa Barbara college of California; and took various degrees in kindergarten training schools. She taught in Mexico and Arizona, and for two years was engaged in kindergarten work. She was superintendent of the Silver street kindergarten of San Francisco, Cal.; and is now engaged in literary work. She is the author of Children of the Future; Under the Cactus Flag; The Kindergarten in a Nutshell; The Message of Froebel; Three Little Marys; Nelson, the Adventurer; and The Adventures of a Doll. She is part author of The Fairy Ring; Pinafore Palace; and other works.

Smith, O'Brien, congressman. In 1805-07 he was a representative from South Carolina to the ninth congress. He died in South Carolina.

Smith, Oliver, state legislator, jurist, philanthropist, was born in January, 1766, in Hatfield, Mass. He was a magistrate for forty years; twice a representative to the state legislature; and in 1820 was a member of the state constitutional convention. He acquired large wealth by stock raising; which he bequeathed to establish the Smith charities, a unique system of benevolence, now holding one million dollars, the interest of which is extended in marriage portions to poor and worthy young couples. He died Dec. 22, 1845, in Hatfield, Mass.

Smith, Oberlin, engineer, inventor, author, was born March 22, 1840, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He was educated in the West Jersey academy of Bridgeton, N.J.; and in the Polytechnic institute of Philadelphia, Pa. In 1863 he started a business now known as the Ferracutemachine company, and has invented and designed its standard products. He has made occasional European tours of engineering observation.

He has taken out over forty patents upon mechanical inventions. He is a member of the American society of civil engineers; a member of the Institute of mining engineers; a member and past president of the American society of mechanical engineers; and has been president of the Young men's christian association. He is the author of Press Working of Metals.

Smith, Oliver Hampton, lawyer, congressman, United States senator, author, was born Oct. 23, 1794, near Trenton, N.J. In 1824 he was prosecuting attorney for the third district of Indiana; and was elected to the state legislature in 1822. In 1827-29 he was a representative from Indiana to the twentieth congress; and in 1837-43 he was United States senator. He was the author of a work giving his Recollections of Congressional Life; and Early Indian Trials. He died March 19, 1859, in Indianapolis, Ind.

Smith, Orland, railroad president, was born May 2, 1825, in Lewiston, Maine. Since 1884 he has been president of the Columbus and Midland railroad at Baltimore, Md.

Smith, Orland, soldier, was born in Maine. In 1861 he was lieutenant-colonel in the seventy-third regiment Ohio infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He was resigned in 1864.

Smith, Orlando Jay, soldier, journalist, author, was born June 14, 1842, near Terre Haute, Ind. Since 1882 he has been president of the American press association. In 1861-65 he served in the sixteenth regiment Indiana volunteer infantry and in the sixth Indiana cavalry as private to major. He is the author of A Short View of Great Questions; The Coming Democracy; and Balance.

Smith, Otis David, educator, lecturer, was born June 27, 1831, in New Haven, Vt. For fifty years he was identified with the educational interests of Alabama and the south; and lectured before schools, colleges, and literary institutions. In 1854-60 and in 1865-73 he taught in public and private schools. In 1874 he became professor of mathematics in Alabama polytechnic institution. He died in 1905 in Auburn, Ala.

Smith, Owen Lun West, educator, clergyman, lawyer, diplomat, was born May 18, 1851, in Giddensville, N.C. Since 1881 he has been in the ministry of the African episcopal zion church. In 1898-1902 he was United States minister resident and consul-general to Liberia.

Smith, Percy Franklyn, educator, author, was born Aug. 21, 1867, in Nyack, N.Y. Since 1900 he has been professor of mathematics at Sheffield scientific school of Yale university. He is the author of Elementary Calculus; Four-Place Logarithmic Tables; and Elements of and Introduction to Analytic Geometry.

Smith, Perry, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born May 12, 1783, in Woodbury, Conn. He settled in New Milford in 1807; was a state representative for four years; and was a judge of probate for two years. In 1837-43 he was United States senator. He died June 8, 1852, in Milford, Conn.

Smith, Persifer Frazer, lawyer, state legislator, author, was born in 1808 in Philadelphia, Pa. He was prosecuting attorney for Delaware county in 1839; served in the state legislature in 1862-64; and became state reporter in 1865. He was the author of Forms of Procedure in Pennsylvania Courts; and Pennsylvania Supreme Court Reports, in thirty-two volumes. He died May 17, 1882, in Westchester, Pa.

Smith, Peter, merchant, was born Nov. 15, 1768, in Greenbush, N.Y. He was a partner of John Jacob Astor in the fur business. His manuscript journals, still in existence, contain interesting descriptions of his journeys among the Indians. He died April 13, 1837, in Schenectady, N.Y.

Smith, Peter J., accountant, public official, was born Aug. 22, 1867, in Denmark. He was educated in the common and high schools; and attended a business college. He is a bookkeeper and accountant by profession; has been a contractor and business man of Eau Claire, Wis.; and filled various positions of trust and honor. He was assistant secretary of state in Wisconsin; and a member of the republican state central committee of Wisconsin. He is now assistant postmaster of Eau Claire, Wis.

Smith, Peter P., lawyer, jurist, was born June 2, 1851, in Honesdale, Pa. In 1880 he was supervisor of census for the fifth district of Pennsylvania; and in 1894 was a candidate for county judge. Since 1895 he has been judge of the superior court of Pennsylvania.

Smith, Philip Henry, journalist, author, was born in 1842 in New York City. He is the author of Acadia, a Lost Chapter in American History; Curiosities in American History; General History of Dutchess County; The Statesman of Podunk; and Little Ethel, or A Sprig of Sumac.

Smith, Preston, soldier, lawyer, was born Dec. 25, 1823, in Giles county, Tenn. He became colonel of the one fifty-fourth regiment of Tennessee militia, which was afterward mustered into the service of the confederacy; and he was promoted to brigadier-general in 1862. He was killed, with nearly all his staff, by a sudden volley during a night attack at Chickamauga, Ga. He died Sept. 20, 1863, in Georgia.

Smith, Quintius Cincinnatus, soldier, physician, surgeon, scientist, was born March 1, 1842, in Humphreys county Tenn. He served in the infirmary corps detailed service with tenth volunteers of Forrest's cavalry in the confederate service during the civil war. He practiced medicine for five years in Stoddard county, Mo.; practiced seven years in Cloverdale, Cal.; in 1880-1905 practiced medicine in Austin, Texas; and in 1905-11 was a physician located at San Diego, Cal. He was a member of the American medical association, Texas academy of science, and a life member of the California academy of science. He was a life foundation fellow of the society of science, letters and art of London; and a life fellow of the American association for the advancement of science. He devised improvements in medical instruments; and was a valuable contributor to medical literature. He died Oct. 27, 1911.

Smith, R. Barnwell, congressman. In 1861-63 he was a representative from South Carolina to the thirty-seventh congress.

Smith, R. W., soldier. During the civil war he attained the rank of brigadier-general. He died July 31, 1890, in Chicago, Ill.

Smith, Richard, congressman, was born March 22, 1735, in Burlington, N.J. In 1774-76 he was a delegate from New Jersey to the continental congress. He died in 1803 near Natchez, Miss., while on a journey through the southern states.

Smith, Richard, journalist, publisher, was born Jan. 30, 1823, in Ireland. He gained employment on the Price Current of Cincinnati, Ohio; of which he soon became proprietor. About 1854 he purchased an interest in the Cincinnati Gazette; which became prosperous under his direction, especially during the civil war. But in 1880 its interests and those of the Cincinnati Commercial indicated the financial and political wisdom of their union; and accordingly the first of the following year they were consolidated under the name of the Commercial Gazette.

Smith, Richard Penn, lawyer, dramatist, author, was born March 13, 1799, in Philadelphia, Pa. Fifteen of his plays were placed on the stage, and were once popular, Caius Marius being one of the best. He was the author of The Forsaken, a novel; The Actress of Padua, and Other Tales; and Lives of Crockett and Martin Van Buren. His complete works in four volumes were issued in 1888. He died Aug. 12, 1854, in Falls of Schuylkill, Pa.

Smith, Richard Penn, merchant, soldier, was born May 9, 1837, in Philadelphia, Pa. He settled in Kansas and successfully engaged in business there but returned to Philadelphia in 1860. He became lieutenant in the seventy-first Pennsylvania volunteers, and rose to the rank of colonel, serving until 1864. He died Nov. 27, 1887, in West Brighton, N.Y.

Smith, Richard Somers, soldier, educator, author, was born Oct. 30, 1813, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a soldier and educator; president of Girard college in 1863-68; and for the last seven years of his life in charge of the department of drawing at the United States naval academy. He was the author of Manual of Topographical Drawing; and Manual of Linear Perspective. He died Jan. 23, 1877, in Annapolis, Md.

Smith, Richmond Mayo, educator, author, was born in 1854 in Ohio. He has been a professor of political economy at Columbia college since 1883. He is the author of Statistics and Economics; Emigration and Immigration; and Statistics and Sociology.

Smith, Robert, clergyman, educator, was born in 1723 in Ireland. In 1751-93 he was pastor of the presbyterian church at Pequea, Pa., a part of the time supplying the church at Leacock. Shortly after his settlement in Pequea he founded a classical and theological seminary. He died April 15, 1793, in Rockville, Pa.

Smith, Robert, educator, clergyman, college president, bishop, was born June 25, 1732, in England. In 1783 he opened an academy, which was chartered in 1786 as the South Carolina college. Of this institution he was president until 1798. He was unanimously elected in 1795 to be the first bishop of the protestant episcopal church in South Carolina. He died Oct. 28, 1801, in Charleston, S.C.

Smith, Robert, soldier, state legislator, cabinet officer, was born in November, 1757, in Lancaster, Pa. He served as a volunteer in the revolutionary war; and was present at the battle of Brandywine. He served as a member of the Maryland legislature; and in 1801-05 he was secretary of the navy; in 1805 he was attorney-general; and in 1809-11 he was secretary of state. He died Nov. 26, 1842, in Baltimore, Md.

Smith, Robert, manufacturer, congressman, was born June 12, 1802, in Petersburg, N.H. He removed to Illinois in 1832; served in the Illinois legislature in 1836-40; and was enrolling and engrossing clerk of the house in 1840-43. In 1843-49 and 1857-59 he was a representative to the twenty-eighth, twenty-ninth, thirtieth and thirty-fifth congress. He died in December, 1867, in Alton, Ill.

Smith, Robert Armstrong, lawyer, banker, legislator, was born June 13, 1827, in Booneville, Ind. He was elected auditor of Warren county, Ind.; and in 1853 moved to St. Paul, Minn. He practiced law; was appointed secretary to Governor Gorman; acted as territorial librarian up to 1856; and for the twelve succeeding years was treasurer of Ramsey county. In 1868 he was elected alderman of St. Paul, and for three years was president of the common council. He served two years in the legislature; then became mayor of St. Paul. He was elected a state senator, and served eleven years as mayor and four years as state senator. He has been postmaster of St. Paul; and for nearly fifty years has been engaged in official life.

Smith, Robert Burns, lawyer, legislator, governor, was born Dec. 29, 1854, in Hickman county, Ky. For four years he was engaged in educational work; and studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1877. In 1884 he was a member of the constitutional convention of Montana; was United States district attorney for Montana in 1885-89; was corporation counsel for the city of Helena in 1891; and in 1894 was a candidate for congress on the people's party ticket. In 1897-1901 he was the third governor of Montana. He died in Big Fork, Mont.

Smith, Robert Davis, soldier, educator, college president, was born Oct. 9, 1842, in Columbia, Tenn. His father, Rev. Franklin G. Smith, founded the Columbia Athenæum, of which Robert, his eldest son, was president in 1871-1900. He also served four years in the confederate army, entering as a private and closing as a captain.

Smith, Robert Frederick, soldier, was born Aug. 2, 1806, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a harness-maker by trade; and in 1833 moved west, and at the time of his death was the oldest pioneer of Hancock county, Ill. In 1844 he was captain of the Cumberland Grays; and was wounded at the Battle of Nauvoo in 1846. He saw much active service, and commanded a brigade in Sherman's march from Atlanta to the sea and thence to Washington. Before the regiment was mustered out of service in 1865 he was brevetted brigadier-general. He died April 23, 1893, in Hamilton, Ill.

Smith, Robert Wilson, soldier, was born in Ohio. In 1863 he was lieutenant-colonel in the sixteenth regiment Illinois cavalry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died July 31, 1890.

Smith, Rodney, soldier, was born Jan. 3, 1829, in Vermont. In 1864 he was appointed from Kentucky as major paymaster in the United States army; and in 1904 was retired with the rank of brigadier-general.

Smith, Roswell, publisher, was born March 30, 1829, in Lebanon, Conn. He moved in 1870 to New York City. In connection with Dr. Josiah G. Holland and Charles Scribner, he established Scribner's monthly, now the Century magazine. In 1873 he began the publication of St. Nicholas, a magazine for children. The first organization was under the firm name of Scribner and company, which subsequently became the Century company, with Mr. Smith as president. He died April 19, 1892, in New York City.

Smith, Ruel Perley, litterateur, author, was born Dec. 16, 1869, in Bangor, Maine. He is the author of The Rival Campers; The Rival Campers Afloat; The Rival Campers Ashore; and Prisoners of Fortune.

Smith, Russell, painter, artist, was born April 26, 1812, in Glasgow, Scotland. When seven years of age he came to Pennsylvania; and in 1835 settled in Philadelphia, and has become a distinguished scene and landscape painter. His Chocorua Peak, and Cave at Chelton Hills were exhibited in 1876 at the Philadelphia centennial exhibition. He died Nov. 7, 1896, in Glendale, Pa.

Smith, Mrs. Ruth Ann Cook, book dealer, author, was born Nov. 20, 1869, in New York City. She is the wife of H. A. Hammond Smith, artist. She is a dealer and publisher of natural history books. She is the author of Along Four-Footed Trails.

Smith, S. R., soldier. During the civil war he attained the rank of brigadier-general. He was prominent in the business and public affairs of Connecticut. He died Sept. 4, 1889, in New Haven, Conn.

Smith, Mrs. Sadie Adams, litterateur, author, was born Aug. 23, 1845, in Lancaster, N.H. She is the historian general of the daughters of the revolution; secretary-general and historian of United States daughters of 1812; and the first treasurer of the National society of New England women. In 1865 she was married to Captain Le Roy Sunderland Smith. She excels as a writer, and is interested in patriotic, philanthropic and humanitarian work.

Smith, Sam Ferry, lawyer, was born June 8, 1863, in Pittsburgh, Pa. In 1898-1904 he was a member of the San Diego board of education; and in 1907-10 was president of the board of trustees of the public library. He has attained success in the practice of law; and is a member of the American, California and San Diego bar associations.

Smith, Samuel, financier, author, was born in 1720 in Burlington, N.J. He was a colonial treasurer of the province of West Jersey. He was the author of History of Nova Casarea, or New Jersey, from Its Settlement to 1721. He died in 1776 in Burlington, N.J.

Smith, Samuel, soldier, merchant, congressman, United States senator, was born July 27, 1752, in Lancaster, Pa. He was a distinguished merchant of Baltimore, of which city he was mayor. He rose from the rank of captain to that of brigadier-general in the revolutionary war. In 1776 he was a member of the convention for framing the constitution of Maryland; and in 1793-1803 and 1813-23 he was a representative from Maryland in the third to the seventh and the thirteenth to the seventeenth congresses. In 1803-15 and 1821-33 he was United States senator. He died April 22, 1839, in Baltimore, Md.

Smith, Samuel, congressman. In 1805-11 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the ninth, tenth and eleventh congresses. He died in Pennsylvania.

Smith, Samuel, manufacturer, congressman, was born in 1767 in Peterborough, N.H. He held many public positions; and was for many years a manufacturer of paper. He was a representative in congress from New Hampshire in 1813-15. He died Jan. 17, 1842, in Peterboro, N.H.

Smith, Samuel A., congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1829-33 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the twenty-first and twenty-second congresses. He died about 1900 in Bucks county, Pa.

Smith, Samuel A., lawyer, congressman, was born June 26, 1822, in Monroe county, Tenn. In 1845-48 he was attorney-general for the third judicial district of Tennessee. He was a delegate to the National convention in 1848 at Baltimore; and was soon afterward elected a presidential elector. He was again chosen presidential elector in 1852; and in 1850 took a deep interest in the affairs of the East Tennessee and Georgia railroad. In 1853-59 he was a representative from Tennessee to the thirty-third, thirty-fourth and thirty-fifth congresses. In 1859 he was appointed commissioner of the general land office.

Smith, Samuel Emerson, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, governor, was born March 12, 1788, in Hollis, N.H. In 1812 he settled in Wiscasset, Maine; was a representative in the legislature in 1819-20; and was chief justice of the court of common pleas of Maine in 1821. He was justice of the state court of common pleas in 1822-30; was the fifth governor of Maine in 1831-34; and was again judge of the court of common pleas in 1835-37. In 1837 he was a commissioner to revise the public statutes of Maine. He died March 4, 1860, in Wiscasset, Maine.

Smith Samuel Francis, lawyer, banker, was born Sept. 5, 1836, in Waterville, Maine, and is a son of Rev. S. F. Smith, author of My Country 'Tis of Thee, our national hymn. He had a large and successful law practice, but has now retired. In 1897 he was mayor of Davenport, Iowa; and is vice-president of the Davenport national bank. He is also president of the public library of Davenport; and president of the People's union mission.

Smith, Samuel Finley, educator, journalist, was born Nov. 13, 1855, in Dexter, Ohio. In 1884 he graduated with credit from the National normal university at Lebanon. He taught successfully as principal of Chester academy and the Racine public schools, both in his native county. He was elected clerk of courts of Meigs county in 1894, a position he still holds. He is also editor and proprietor of The Pom- croy Leader.

Smith, Samuel Francis, clergyman, author, poet, was born Oct. 21, 1808, in Boston, Mass. In 1834 he was ordained a clergyman of the baptist church; filled a pastorate in Waterville for two years; and in 1842-54 filled a pastorate in Newton, Mass. He was editor of the various publications of the Baptist missionary union in 1864-69; and he twice visited the chief missionary stations in Europe and Asia.

Dr. Smith did a large amount of literary work, mainly in the line of hymnology, his most noted compositions being the national hymn, My Country, 'Tis of Thee; and the missionary hymn entitled The Morning Light is Breaking. His original hymns and poetry have been published under the titles of Lyric Gems; The Psalmist; Rock of Ages; and he was also the author of Missionary Sketches. He died Nov. 16, 1895, in Boston, Mass.

Smith, Samuel Harrison, journalist, author, was born in 1772 in Philadelphia, Pa. He edited the New World in 1796-1800; and on the removal of the seat of government to Washington, D.C., on Oct. 31 of the latter year, founded the National Intelligencer, which he edited until 1818. He was commissioner of revenue from 1813 till the office was abolished. He was the author of Remarks on Education; and Trial of Samuel Chase, Impeached Before the United States Senate, in two volumes. He died Nov. 1, 1845, in Washington, D.C.

Smith, Samuel George, clergyman, lecturer, author, was born March 7, 1852, in England. He is a congregational clergyman; and since 1888 has been pastor of the People's church of St. Paul, Minn. He has been seven years a member of the state board of corrections and charities of Minnesota; three years member of the St. Paul board of education; and five years president of the associated charities. He has been for five years lecturer in sociology in the state university. He is the author of For Eyes That Weep; and Industrial Conflict.

Smith, Samuel J., clergyman, chaplain, was born Dec. 13, 1863, in London, England; and came with his parents to the United States in 1868. He was educated in the grammar schools of Amsterdam, N.Y.; graduated from Lay college and Bible institute of Boston, Mass.; and studied at the Sprague school of law in Detroit, Mich. In 1900 he was a representative in the Vermont state legislature; and was a recognized leader in defense of the prohibition law. In his youth he served in the United States revenue cutter service; and subsequently learned the knit-goods business in Amsterdam, N.Y. He has held important positions in Virginia and Connecticut; and subsequently became pastor of the Halifax baptist church of Vermont, where he held several town offices. Since 1901 he has been chaplain with rank of captain in the United States army.

Smith, Samuel Joseph, poet, was born in 1771 in Moorestown, N.J. He lived on his estate, dividing his time between his farm, literature, and public benefactions. Two of his lyrics are in Lyra Sacra Americana; and his Miscellanies, with a memoir, were published in 1836. He died Nov. 14, 1835, near Burlington, N.J.

Smith, Samuel Stanhope, clergyman, college president, author, was born March 16, 1750, in Pequea, Pa. He was a presbyterian clergyman; and president of Princeton college in 1794-1812. He was the author of Lectures on the Evidences of the Christian Religion; Moral and Political Philosophy; Sermons; Comprehensive View of Natural and Revealed Religion; and On the Variety of Complexion and Figure of the Human Species. He died Aug. 21, 1819, in Princeton, N.J.

Smith, Samuel William, educator, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Aug. 23, 1852, in Independence, Mich. He engaged in teaching school at sixteen years of age; and for the last twenty-five years has practiced law in Pontiac, Mich. In 1880-84 he was prosecuting attorney of Oakland county; and in 1884 was elected to the state senate. In 1897-1915 he was a representative from Michigan to the fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh, fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth, sixtieth, sixty-first, sixty-second and sixty-third congresses as a republican.

Smith, Mrs. Sarah Lanman, missionary, was born June 18, 1802, in Norwich, Conn. She was the daughter of Jabez Huntington. She married Dr. Smith in 1833, accompanied him to Beirut, and, having learned Arabic, assisted him in his translations into that language, and taught in a native school for girls which she established. Her Memoir, Journal, and Letters was edited by the Rev. Edward Hooker. She died Sept. 30, 1836, in Asia.

Smith, Mrs. Sarah Louisa Hickman, poet, was born June 30, 1811, in Detroit, Mich. She was a Cincinnati poet whose poems appeared in 1829. She died Feb. 12, 1832, in New York City.

Smith, Seba, Jack Downing, journalist, author, was born Sept. 14, 1792, in Buckfield, Maine. He was a journalist of Portland, Maine; and after 1842 of New York City. He was the author of The Letters of Major Jack Downing; Powhatan, a metrical romance; New Elements of Geometry; Way Down East, or Portraits of Yankee Life; My Thirty Years Out of the Senate; and Dew-Drops of the Nineteenth Century. He died July 29, 1868, in Long Island, N.Y.

Smith, Sebastian Bach, clergyman, author, was born in 1845. He was a Roman catholic clergyman of Paterson, N.J. He was the author of Elements of Ecclesiastical Law; and New Procedure in Criminal and Disciplinary Causes of Ecclesiastics in the United States. He died in 1895 in Paterson, N.J.

Smith, Sidney Irving, biologist, was born Feb. 18, 1843, in Norway, Maine. He had charge of the deep-water dredging that was carried on in Lake Superior by the United States lake survey in 1871; and by the United States coast survey in the region of St. George's banks in 1872. In 1875-1906 he was professor comparative anatomy in Sheffield scientific school of Yale university; and is now professor emeritus. His papers have been published in the Reports of the United States Fish Commission; Reports of Progress of the Geological Survey of Canada; and other government reports.

Smith, Solomon Franklin, lawyer, actor, author, was born April 20, 1801, in Norwich, N.Y. He was a popular comedian who left the stage in 1853; and was afterward a noted lawyer of St. Louis. He was the author of Theatrical Apprenticeship; Theatrical Journey Work; and Autobiography. He died April 20, 1869, in St. Louis, Mo.

Smith, Sophia, founder, philanthropist, was born Aug. 27, 1796, in Hatfield, Mass. She founded Smith college of Northampton, Mass., for the education of women; which she endowed with nearly a half million dollars. She also bequeathed seventy-five thousand dollars to the town of Hatfield for the endowment of a school preparatory to Smith college. She died June 12, 1870, in Hatfield, Mass.

Smith, Stephen, physician, author, was born Feb. 19, 1823, in Onondaga county, N. Y. In 1857-60 he was editor of the New York Medical Journal; and in 1860-63 was editor of the New York Medical Times. He has been professor of clinical surgery in the university of the city of New York since 1874. He is the author of Handbook of Surgical Operations; and Principles of Operative Surgery.

Smith, Susan Augusta, genealogist, author, was born Oct. 19, 1843. She is the author of a genealogical work on the Bass Family; A Memorial of Rev. Thomas Smith and Descendants; and History of The Town of Pembroke.

Smith, Sylvester Clark, journalist, lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 26, 1858, in Henry county, Iowa. He was educated in the public schools of Iowa; and at Howe academy of Mount Pleasant, Iowa. Since 1885 he has practiced law in Bakersfield, Cal. He is president of the Echo publishing company; and proprietor and editor of the Bakersfield Morning Echo. In 1895-1903 he was a member of the California state senate. In 1905-11 he was a representative from California to the fifty-ninth, sixtieth and sixty-first congresses as a republican.

Smith, Theodore Clarke, educator, author, was born May 1, 1870, in Roxbury, Mass. Since 1901 he has been assistant professor of American history and political science at the Ohio state university. He is the author of Liberty and Free Soil parties in the North West; and Parties and Slavery.

Smith, Theophilus Washington, lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born Sept. 28, 1784, in New York City. After serving in the United States navy he was admitted to the bar in his native city in 1805, having been a law student in the office of Aaron Burr, and a fellow student with Washington Irving. In 1816 he visited the west in the interest of his father-in-law, who had a large estate in Ohio, and proceeding as far as Edwardsville, Ill., settled there. In 1823 he was elected state senator. He died May 6, 1846, in Chicago, Ill.

Smith, Thomas, colonial governor. In 1606-07 he was colonial governor of Virginia.

Smith, Thomas, colonial governor. In 1693-94 he was colonial governor of South Carolina.

Smith, Thomas, clergyman, was born March 10, 1702, in Boston, Mass. For more than sixty-eight years he was pastor of the First church of Portland, Maine. He kept an historical and personal diary from 1720 to 1788. He died May 25, 1795, in Portland, Maine.

Smith, Thomas, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1745 in Scotland. In 1769 he was appointed deputy-surveyor; and settled in Bedford, Pa. He was colonel of militia during the revolution; and was a member of the constitutional convention in 1776. He was a member of the state legislature; and in 1780-82 he was a delegate from Pennsylvania to the continental congress; and was president judge in 1791-94. He was associate justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania in 1794-1809. He died June 16, 1809, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Smith, Thomas, congressman. In 1815-17 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the fourteenth congress. He died in Pennsylvania.

Smith, Thomas, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1839-47 he was a representative from Indiana to the twenty-sixth, twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth congresses. He died in Indiana.

Smith, Thomas, lawyer, jurist. In 1895-98 he was judge of the United States district court of New Mexico; and in 1898 he was associate justice of the supreme court of New Mexico for the fourth district.

Smith, Thomas Alexander, banker, state senator, congressman, was born Sept. 3, 1850, in Greenwood, Del. He was educated in the public schools, and at the Denton academy. He taught school in Delaware, Maryland and Michigan. For many years he was agent of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore railroad. In 1889-93 he was school commissioner of Caroline county; and in 1894-96 was a member of the Maryland state senate. In 1900-03 he was chief of the Maryland bureau of statistics and information; in 1903-04 was first vice-president of the National association of labor statisticians; in 1904-05 was a member of the state board of charities; was president of the bank of Ridgely; and is supreme president of the supreme council of the United craftsmen. In 1905-07 he was a representative from Maryland to the fifty-ninth congress as a democrat.

Smith, Thomas Berry, educator, author, poet, was born Dec. 7, 1850, near Bowling Green, Mo. Since 1886 he has been professor of chemistry and physics; and in 1901-03 was acting president at the Central college of Fayette, Mo. He is the author of Studies in Nature and Language Lessons; In Many Moods, a volume of poems; and Semi-Centennial History of Central College.

Smith, Thomas C., manufacturer, financier, was born Nov. 26, 1815, in Bridgehampton, N.Y. He received his education in the district school and under private teachers. He is the discoverer and manufacturer of the true hard vitreous porcelain, identical with French porcelain, more commonly known as French china. He is the only manufacturer in America of that choicest product of the ceramic art. For twenty-four years he was president of the New York ophthalmic hospital and medical college. For four years he was president of a bank; and has served as a director in several banking institutions. He is a life member of the mechanics' and traders' society of New York, the historical society, the manufacturers' association, and the Haven relief fund society.

Smith, Thomas Church Haskell, lawyer, soldier, was born March 24, 1819, in Acushnet, Mass. He engaged in the establishment of the Morse telegraph system in the west and south; and was president of the New Orleans and Ohio telegraph company. At the beginning of the civil war he became lieutenant-colonel of the first Ohio cavalry; served under General John Pope in Virginia; and became brigadier-general of volunteers in 1862. He was mustered out of the volunteer service in 1866; in 1878 entered the regular army as major and paymaster; and in 1883 was retired. He died April 8, 1897, in Nordhoff, Cal.

Smith, Thomas Kilby, soldier, lawyer, diplomat, was born Sept. 23, 1820, in Boston, Mass. In 1865 he was brevetted major-general of volunteers; and the following year was appointed United States consul at Panama. In 1887 he became engaged in the business department of the Star of New York City. He died Dec. 14, 1897, in New York City.

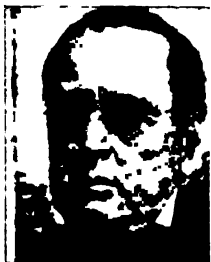

Smith, Thomas Lochlan, painter, artist, was born Dec. 2, 1835, in Glasgow, Scotland. He removed to New York; and in 1869 was elected an associate of the National academy. He devoted himself chiefly to painting winter scenes. His Deserted House and Eve of St. Agnes were at the Centennial exhibition at Philadelphia in 1876. He died Nov. 5, 1884, in New York City.

Smith, Thomas Mather, clergyman, college president, was born March 7, 1797, in Stamford, Conn. He was professor of theology in the Gambier seminary in 1845-63; and president of Kenyon in 1850-54. He died Sept. 6, 1864, in Portland, Maine.

Smith, Uriah, college president, author, poet, was born May 2, 1832, in West Wilton, N.H. He was a seventh day adventist writer of Battle Creek, Mich.; was president of Battle Creek college; and was editor of Review and Herald of Battle Creek, Mich. He was the author of Looking Unto Jesus: Here and Hereafter, or The Nature and Destiny of Man: A Word for the Sabbath, in verse; The Marvel of Nations; Daniel and the Revelation; The Sure Foundation; and Scripture Pathways Cleared of Stumbling Stones. He died in 1903 in Battle Creek, Mich.

Smith, Truman, lawyer, jurist, congressman, United States senator, was born Nov. 27, 1791, in Rocksbury, Conn. He was a member of the state legislature in 1831-34; and in 1839-43 and 1845-49 he was a representative to the twenty-sixth, twenty-seventh, twenty-ninth and thirtieth congresses. He was a presidential elector in 1844. In 1849-55 he was United States senator. He was appointed judge of the court of arbitration in New York, under the treaty of 1862 with Great Britain. He died May 3, 1884, in Stamford, Conn.

Smith, Vernon H., lawyer, farmer, banker, jurist, was born Dec. 29, 1838, in Norfolk county, Canada. He was educated in the district schools. He has attained prominence as a successful farmer, lawyer, banker and jurist of Michigan. He has been circuit court commissioner of Ionia county, Mich.; and for ten years was a member of the board of education of that city. In 1882-94 for twelve years he was circuit judge of the eighth judicial circuit of Michigan; and still practices his profession in Ionia, Mich.

Smith, W. Roy, educator, historian, author, was born Nov. 16, 1876, in Travis county, Texas. Since 1903 he has been associate in history at Bryn Mawr college of Pennsylvania. He is the author of The Quarrel Between Governor Smith and the Council of the Provisional Government of Texas and South Carolina as a Royal Province.

Smith, W. W., lawyer, jurist. In 1882 he was an associate justice of the supreme court of Arkansas at Little Rock.

Smith, Walter George, lawyer, author, was born Nov. 24, 1854, in Logan county, Ohio. In 1877 he was admitted to the practice of law. He has been a commissioner to codify divorce laws; was a delegate to the divorce congress from Pennsylvania; and is president of the conference of commissioners on uniform state laws. He is the author of Life and Letters of Thomas Kilby Smith, Brevet Major-General U. S. V.

Smith, Walter Inglewood, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born July 10, 1862, in Council Bluffs, Iowa. He practiced law in Council Bluffs, Iowa. In 1890-1900 he was judge of the fifteenth judicial district of Iowa. In 1901-11 he was a representative from Iowa to the fifty-seventh, fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth, sixtieth and sixty-first congresses as a republican.

Smith, Walter Lloyd, lawyer, jurist, was born April 18, 1856, in Elmira, N.Y. He began the practice of law in 1879. In 1888 he became associate justice of the supreme court of New York for the sixth district, his present term expiring in 1916.

Smith, Walter Scott, lawyer, state senator, was born July 20, 1875, in Lineville, Ala. He is a lawyer; and in 1904 he was a candidate for congress. He is a member of the Alabama state senate for Clebourne, Clay and Coosa counties.

Smith, Wesley, clergyman, author, was born in May, 1805, in Ireland. He was the author of A Defence of the Methodist Episcopal Church; Guide to a Happy Home; and Sprinkling or Pouring the Only Scriptural Mode of Baptism. He died Oct. 28, 1888, in Sharpsburg, Pa.

Smith, Wickliffe Robert, educator, legislator, author, was born June 11, 1875, in Celina, Tenn. He was educated in the public schools; and graduated from Liberty college of Glasgow, Ky. For several years he was engaged in educational work; and was editor of the educational department of the Wisconsin Republican. Since 1904 he has been a member of the assembly of the Idaho state legislature; and is prominently identified with the business and public affairs of Cameron, Idaho. He is the author of Blades of Bluegrass; The Midnight Freight; Derivative Words; and Synonyms.

Smith, William, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 8, 1697, in England. He graduated from Yale in 1719; served as tutor there for five years; and in 1724 returned to New York City and was admitted to the bar. His eloquence and address soon brought him into notice. He died Nov. 22, 1769, in New York City.

Smith, William, clergyman, author, was born in 1721 in Scotland. He was an episcopal clergyman of Philadelphia; and in 1754 was made first provost of the university of Pennsylvania. A General Idea of the College of Mirania first brought him to the knowledge of Franklin, who was then laying plans for the university. He was the author, also, of Brief Account of the Province of Pennsylvania; Sermons; and Discourses on Public Occasions. He died May 14, 1803, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Smith, William, clergyman, was born in 1727 in Scotland. He was a noted divine of Philadelphia, Pa. He died May 14, 1803, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Smith, William, lawyer, jurist, author, was born June 28, 1728, in New York City. He was a jurist of New York City; was a loyalist during the revolution; and in 1786 was appointed chief justice of Canada. He was the author of History of the Province of New York from Its Discovery to 1732. He died Nov. 3, 1793, in Quebec, Canada.

Smith, William, congressman, was born in 1730 in Baltimore, Md. In 1777-78 he was a delegate from Maryland to the continental congress; and in 1789-91 he was a representative to the first congress. He was then appointed auditor of the treasury. He died March 27, 1814, in Baltimore, Md.

Smith, William, educator, author. In 1754 he was elected the first provost of the college of Philadelphia, serving until 1779. He was the author of A Brief Account of Philadelphia; Discourses on Public Occasions; and a collection of sermons. He died in Philadelphia, Pa.

Smith, William, clergyman, educator, author, was born in 1754 in Scotland. He was an episcopal clergyman of Newport, R.I., and elsewhere; and of some note as an educator in his day. He was the author of Essays on the Christian Ministry. He died in 1821 in Newport, R.I.

Smith, William, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, United States senator, was born in 1782 in North Carolina. In 1815-23 and 1825-31 he was United States senator from South Carolina, officiating on two occasions as president pro tem. of the senate. In 1837 he received the electoral vote of Virginia for vice-president of the United States. He served in the legislature of South Carolina; was judge of the superior court of that state; and was a distinguished supporter of the doctrine of state rights. He died June 10, 1840, in Huntsville, Ala.

Smith, William, diplomat, congressman, was born in South Carolina. In 1789-99 he was a representative from South Carolina to the first, second, third, fourth and fifth congresses. In 1897 he resigned from the fifth congress to become United States minister to Portugal. He died Sept. 9, 1901.

Smith, William, congressman, was born in Chesterfield, Va. In 1821-27 he was a representative from Virginia to the seventeenth, eighteenth and nineteenth congresses. He died in Virginia.

Smith, William, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, governor, was born Sept. 6, 1797, in Virginia. In 1836 he was elected to the state legislature; and was re-elected in 1840. In 1841-43 and 1853-61 he was a representative to the twenty-seventh, thirty-third, thirty-fourth, thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth congresses, and in 1846-49 was the twenty-fourth governor of Virginia. He subsequently served as a brigadier-general in the Virginia army; and was wounded at Antietam. He was the war governor of Virginia in 1862-65. He died May 18, 1887, in Warrenton, Va.

Smith, William, historian, statesman, author, was born Sept. 7, 1769, in New York.

He became successively clerk of the provincial parliament, master in chancery, and in 1814 secretary of state for the colonies and a member of the executive council. He was the author of History of Canada from Its Discovery, in two volumes. He died Dec. 17, 1847, in Canada.

Smith, William, naval officer, was born Jan. 9, 1803, in Washington, Ky. He entered the United States navy as a midshipman in 1823; served in Commodore David Porter's squadron against the West Indian pirates; and became lieutenant in 1831. During the civil war he was in the frigate Congress when she was sunk by the Merrimac; became commodore in 1862; and was subsequently in command of the Pensacola naval station until 1865, when he was retired. He died May 1, 1873, in St. Louis, Mo.

Smith, William, soldier, was born March 26, 1831, in Orwell, Vt. In 1861-66 he was paymaster in the United States volunteers; was paymaster in the regular army in 1867 with the rank of major; was deputy paymaster-general with the rank of lieutenant-colonel in 1888; and was paymaster-general in 1890 with the rank of brigadier-general in the United States army. He was retired in 1895.

Smith, William Alden, lawyer, congressman, United States senator, was born May 12, 1859, in Dowagiac, Mich. He was appointed page in the Michigan house of representatives in 1879; and was assistant secretary of the Michigan state senate in 1882. He was a member of the republican state central committee in 1888, 1890 and 1892. In 1895-1907 he was a representative to the fifty-fourth, fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh, fifty-eighth and fifty-ninth congresses as a republican. In 1907 he became a member of the United States senate for the term ending in 1913.

Smith, William Alexander, banker, was born Sept. 9, 1820, in Pottstown, Pa. He first entered the banking business in 1844. He was president of the New York stock exchange in 1864-66; and president of same in 1866-67. He was vice-president of the Continental trust company of New York City; and filled numerous positions of trust and honor. He died about 1909.

Smith, William Alexander, agriculturist, state senator, congressman, was born Jan. 9, 1828, in North Carolina. He was a member of the secession convention of North Carolina in 1861. He was a representative in the state legislature in 1864; was a member of the constitutional convention in 1865; and was a member of the state senate in 1870. He was president of the North Carolina railroad; and of the Yadkin river railroad. In 1873-75 he was a representative from North Carolina to the forty-third congress as a republican. He died in Princeton, N.C.

Smith, William Andrew, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 29, 1802, in Fredericksburg, Va. He was educated in the south.

He was a methodist clergyman of Virginia; and his Lectures on the Philosophy and Practice of Slavery are considered the ablest presentation of the pro-slavery side of the question. He took an active part in the abolitionist movement; and contributed valuable articles on that question to the leading newspapers of the United States. He died March 1, 1870, in Richmond, Va.

Smith, William Benjamin, educator, mathematician, author, was born Oct. 26, 1850, in Samford, Ky. In 1893-1906 he was professor of mathematics; and is now professor of philosophy at the Tulane university of New Orleans, La. He is the author of Introductory Modern Geometry; Infinitesimal Analysis; and Clew to Trigonometry.

Smith, William Cadid, lawyer, jurist, was born April 17, 1857, in Howard county, Ind. He has attained success as a lawyer and counselor of Delphi, Ind. He has filled the offices of public prosecutor, master commissioner and city attorney.

Smith, William E., state legislator, governor, was born in 1824 in Scotland. He was elected a member of the Wisconsin legislature in 1851; and re-elected in 1871, when he was made speaker of the house. Besides holding many other offices, he was the twelfth governor of Wisconsin in 1878-82. He died about 1890 in Fox Lake, Wis.

Smith, William E., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born March 14, 1829, in Augusta, Ga. In 1850 he was made solicitor-general for the southwestern circuit. In 1861 he entered the confederate army in the fourth Georgia regiment as first lieutenant; was elected captain in 1862; and lost a leg in front of Richmond. In 1863 he was elected to the confederate house of representatives; and continued in that office during its existence. He then engaged in agricultural pursuits and cotton planting. In 1875-81 he was a representative from Georgia to the forty-fourth, forty-fifth and forty-sixth congresses as a democrat. He died March 11, 1890, in Albany, Ga.

Smith, William E., lawyer, statesman, was born Sept. 10, 1844, in Lincoln county, Ky. He is a prominent lawyer of Missouri at Pineville; and has been a justice of the peace and probate judge. He was a member of the fortieth general assembly of Missouri; and revised the statutes in 1899.

Smith, William Ernest, assistant secretary of the treasury, was born June 8, 1852, in Rochester, Ill. In 1885-86 he was assistant secretary of the treasury; when he became general solicitor to the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba railroad. He died March 30, 1888, in Plattsburg, N.Y.

Smith, William Farrar, soldier, civil engineer, author, was born Feb. 17, 1824, in St. Albans, Vt. In 1841 he was appointed to West Point; and in 1845 graduated as a topographical engineer. In 1845-46 he served on a survey of the upper lakes; and in 1849-51 was on the survey of Texas and the Mexican boundary. In 1861 he was a colonel in the third regiment Vermont volunteers; and in the same year became brigadier-general in the United States volunteers. He commanded a division of the New York and Pennsylvania militia at Gettysburg. In 1863 he planned and executed the capture of Brown's Ferry. He planned the battle of Missionary Ridge; and threw a bridge fifteen hundred feet long across the Tennessee river for Sherman's army. In 1865 he resigned as major-general of volunteers. In 1865-75 he was president of the Inter-national ocean telegraph company; and in 1877 was president of the New York board of police. He was the author of From Chattanooga to Petersburg under Generals Grant and Butler. He died Feb. 28, 1903, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Smith, William H., lawyer, jurist, state legislator, governor, was born April 9, 1826, in Georgia. He moved to Alabama; and was twice elected to the legislature. He was a presidential elector in 1856; and was appointed a circuit judge of the state. He was the nineteenth governor of Alabama in 1869-71. He died in 1899 in Alabama.

Smith, William Harrison, educator, college president, was born May 10, 1848, in Furnace, Va. He is president of the Virginia polytechnic institute of New Market, Va.

Smith, William Hawley, educator, lecturer, author, was born Oct. 7, 1846, in Sunderland, Mass. In 1874-82 he was engaged in educational work; and in 1874-82 was county superintendent of schools for McLean county, Ill. In 1882-87 he was an editor; in 1887-93 was in the manufacturing business; and since 1893 has been a lecturer. He is the author of The Evolution of Dodd; Walks and Talks; The New Hamlet; and The Promoter.

Smith, William Henry, journalist, author, was born in 1833 in Ohio. In 1864-70 he was secretary of the state of Ohio. In 1870 he took charge of the affairs of the Western associated press, with headquarters at Chicago. He was the author of The St. Clair Papers; and Political History of the United States. He died July 27, 1896, in Lake Forest, Ill.

Smith, William Henry, railway official, was born Aug. 31, 1868, in Greensboro, N. C. He entered railway service in 1886, and has been clerk, traveling auditor and auditor of the Richmond and Danville railroad. He has since been traveling auditor, freight claim agent and since 1907 auditor of the Atlanta and West Point railroad and Western railway of Alabama.

Smith, William J., soldier, agriculturist, state senator, congressman, was born Sept. 24, 1823, in Birmingham, England. He devoted himself to agricultural pursuits; and during the civil war was persecuted and arrested on account of his devotion to the union cause. He enlisted in the volunteer army as a private; and rose to the rank of brevet brigadier-general. He was a member of the convention to reorganize the state government in Tennessee; was subsequently elected to the state legislature; and in 1867 was elected to the state senate. In 1869-71 he was a representative from Tennessee to the forty-first congress.

Smith, William L. G., litterateur, author, was born in 1814, in Vermont. He was the author of Uncle Tom's Cabin as It Is. He died in Vermont.

Smith, William Loughton, diplomat, congressman, author, was born in 1758, in Charleston, S.C. He was a representative in congress from South Carolina in 1780-90; and resigned in 1797 to become minister to Portugal; and was minister to Spain in 1800-01. He was the author of Speeches; Comparative View of the Constitutions of the States; and American Arguments for British Rights. He died in 1812, in Charleston, S.C.

Smith, William Main, engraver, artist, was born Nov. 23, 1835, in New York. He was known as an expert letter engraver. He was in the employ of a firm until merged, with seven other companies, into the old American bank-note company in 1857, of which he was general manager until his death. He died Jan. 21, 1888, in New York City.

Smith, William Moore, lawyer, poet, was born June 1, 1759, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was appointed an agent for the settlement of claims that were provided for in the 6th article of John Jay's treaty, and visited England in 1803 to close his commission, after which he returned to Pennsylvania and devoted the remainder of his life to scholarly pursuits. His publications include several political pamphlets and essays, and a volume of poems. He died March 12, 1821, at Falls of Schuylkill, Pa.

Smith, William Nathan Harrell, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Sept. 24, 1812, in Murfreesborough, N.C. In 1840 he was elected a member of the state house of commons; and in 1848 was elected to the state senate. He was solicitor of the first judicial district for eight years. In 1858 he was again elected to the house of commons, but resigned his seat; and in 1879-81 he was a representative from North Carolina to the thirty-sixth congress. He took part in the civil war as a member of the so-called confederate congress; and was a delegate to the Philadelphia national union convention of 1866, and the New York convention of 1868. He died Nov. 14, 1880, in Raleigh, N.C.

Smith, William Orlando, journalist, legislator, congressman, was born June 13, 1850, in Reynoldsville, Pa. He has been editor and proprietor of several publications; and is now editor of the Spirit of Punxsutawney, Pa. In 1888-98 he was a member of the Pennsylvania state legislature. In 1903-07 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the fifty-eighth and fifty-ninth congresses as a republican.

Smith, William P., farmer, business man, public official, was born Sept. 12, 1859, in Monticello, Ill. He received his education in his native city. He has been a successful farmer and interested in real estate and insurance; and an abstractor of titles. For four years he was city clerk of Monticello, Ill.; and for four years was secretary of the republican county central committee. For three years he was secretary and treasurer of the Inter-state association of live-stock sanitary boards; and since 1904 has been president of that association. In 1903-06 he was president of the Illinois state board of live-stock commissioners.

Smith, William Redwood, lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 10, 1851, in Peru, Ill. He was educated at Kenyon college; and in 1872 graduated from the law school of the university of Michigan. In 1872 he began the practice of law in Kansas; and in 1884-88 was city attorney of Atchison, Kan. In 1898-1905 he was an associate-justice of the state supreme court of Kansas.

Smith, William Robert, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Aug. 18, 1863, in Smith county, Texas. In 1888-98 he practiced law in Colorado, Texas. In 1898-1903 he was judge of the thirty-second judicial district of Texas. In 1903-15 he was a representative from Texas to the fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth, sixtieth, sixty-first, sixty-second and sixty-third congresses as a democrat.

Smith, William Rudolph, lawyer, author, was born Aug. 31, 1787, in La Trappe, Pa. He was adjutant-general of the territory of Wisconsin in 1839-52; and district attorney of the county for many years. He was chief clerk of the state senate in 1849-50; and attorney-general in 1856-58. He was the author of Observation on Wisconsin Territory, 1831; and History of Wisconsin. He died Aug. 22, 1868, in Quincy, Ill.

Smith, William Russell, lawyer, congressman, author, was born Aug. 8, 1813, in Tuscaloosa, Ala. He is a lawyer of Tuscaloosa, Ala.; and in 1851-57 he was a representative to the thirty-second, thirty-third and thirty-fourth congresses; and during that period sat in the confederate congress. He is the author of The Alabama Justice; The Uses of Solitude, a poem; As It Is, a novel; and Condensed Alabama Reports. He died Feb. 26, 1896, in Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Smith, William Russell, soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, author, was born March 27, 1815, in Russellville, Ky. He removed to Alabama in 1819; and attended the university of Alabama in 1832-35. He has been circuit judge; brigadier-general of state troops; was United States congressman in 1851-55; and voted against secession in the Alabama secession convention of 1861. In 1861-65 he was a confederate congressman; and in 1861 was a colonel in the twenty-sixth Alabama regiment. In 1870-72 he was president of the university of Alabama. He was the author of The Alabama Justice; Smith's Condensed Reports of Alabama; College Muses, in verse; The Bridal Eve, a romance in prose and verse; As It Is, a novel of Washington life in the '50's; Debates in the Alabama Convention; Translation of Homer's Iliad; Solitude, a poem; and many other works listed in the publication of the Alabama historical society of 1899. He died Feb. 26, 1896, in Washington, D.C.

Smith, William Stephens, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1755, in New York City. He was aide to General Sullivan in 1776; was lieutenant-colonel of the thirteenth Massachusetts regiment in 1778-79; and was several times wounded. He was then, for a short time, attached to the staff of Steuben, but left in 1781 to become aide to Washington. He was secretary of legation under John Adams in England in 1785; was surveyor of the port of New York; and served three years as a member of the New York assembly. He was president of the New York Cincinnati society in 1804. In 1813-15 he was a representative to the thirteenth congress. He died June 10, 1816, in Lebanon, N.Y.

Smith, William Sooy, civil engineer, contractor, was born July 22, 1830, in Tarlton, Ohio. In 1849 he graduated from the Ohio university where he received the degrees of A.B. and A.M.; in 1853 graduated from West Point; and was appointed second lieutenant in the third artillery and stationed in New Mexico. In 1854 he went to Chicago, Ill., and entered the engineering service of the Illinois Central railroad company. In 1855-57 he conducted a select school at Buffalo, N.Y.; and in 1857-59 practiced as civil engineer. In 1861-64 he served as lieutenant colonel; and brigadier-general of volunteers in the United States army. He has since been engaged as a civil engineer in Chicago, Ill., and has done much difficult work as engineer and contractor for the United States government and railroad companies. He built the first all-steel railroad bridge in the world; and introduced into this country a freezing process for difficult subaqueous work. He invented the first pneumatic caisson ever built; and has designed and introduced a new system of fireproof building.

Smith, William Thayer, physician, author, was born March 30, 1839, in New York City. Since 1907 he has been professor emeritus of physiology at Dartmouth medical school. He is the author of Elementary Physiology and Hygiene; and Primer of Physiology and Hygiene.

Smith, William Waugh, soldier, educator, author, was born March 12, 1845, in Warrentown, Va. In 1862 he entered the confederate service. Since 1897 he has been chancellor of the Randolph-Macon system of colleges and academies. He is the author of Outlines of Psychology; and Chart of Comparative Syntax of Latin, Greek, French, German and English.

Smith, William Wilberforce, educator, college president, was born April 22, 1858, in Ontonagon, Mich. In 1885-95 he was principal of the Englewood school for boys in New Jersey; and in 1896-1900 was engaged in business in New York City. In 1901-03 he was headmaster of the Berkeley school of San Francisco, Cal.; and since 1905 has been president of Coe college at Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Smith, Wilmot M., lawyer, jurist, was born March 21, 1852, in Suffolk county, N. Y. In 1874 he graduated from Cornell university and attained prominence at the bar of New York. In 1885-91 he was district attorney of Suffolk county; and in 1892-96 was county judge of Suffolk county, N. Y. In 1896 he became an associate justice of the supreme court of the state of New York. He died in 1906, in Patchogue, N. Y.

Smith, Wilson George, pianist, composer, was born Aug. 19, 1855, in Elyria, Ohio. Having completed his studies in music in America and Berlin he opened a studio in his native city; and his activity as a composer, teacher, editor, critic and essayist has been very successful. He has been president of the Ohio state music teachers' association. He is the author of Chromatic and Octave Studies; and has composed a hundred songs and compositions for the piano.

Smith, Winfield, railroad president, capitalist, was born Aug. 16, 1827, in Fort Howard, Wis. He was president of the Milwaukee and Superior railway. He died in 1899, in Milwaukee, Wis.

Smith, Worthington, clergyman, author, was born in 1795, in Hadley, Mass. He was a congregational clergyman of Vermont; pastor at St. Albans in 1823-49; and president of the university of Vermont in 1849-56. He was the author of Select Sermons. He died Feb. 13, 1856, in St. Albans, Vt.

Smith, Worthington C., merchant, state senator, congressman, was born April 23, 1823, in St. Albans, Vt. He became an iron merchant and manufacturer. In 1863 he was chosen to the legislature of the state; and in 1864-65 was elected to the state senate, officiating during the last session as president of the senate. In 1867-73 he was a representative from Vermont to the fortieth, forty-first and forty-second congresses as a republican. He died Jan. 2, 1894, in St. Albans, Vt.

Smith, Xanthus, soldier, artist, was born Feb. 26, 1839, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is known as a marine and landscape painter. He served during the civil war under Admiral Samuel F. DuPont; and has painted many of the naval engagements of the war.

Smith, Zachariah Frederick, educator, railroad president, author, was born Jan. 7, 1827, in Henry county, Ky. He was superintendent of public instruction in Kentucky for four years; and president of the Cumberland and Ohio railroad company. He is the author of a History of Kentucky.

Smithers, Nathaniel B., lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 8, 1818, in Dover, Del. He was clerk of the Delaware house of representatives in 1845-47. In 1863 he was appointed secretary of state for Delaware. In 1863-65 he was a representative from Delaware to the thirty-eighth congress. He died Jan. 16, 1896, in Dover, Del.

Smithdeal, George Michael, educator, author, was born Sept. 23, 1853, near Salisbury, N. C. He taught school and attended college alternately for several years, and subsequently became a successful Spencerian penman. In 1883 he opened the Smithdeal business college in Greensboro, N. C., which institution he subsequently moved to Richmond, Va. He has gradually built one of the finest institutions of the kind in the country, buying and uniting several other schools of similar character with the Smithdeal college, of which he is president. He is the author of Smithdeal's Bookkeeping, and other works.

Smithey, Royall Bascom, educator, lecturer, author, was born Jan. 20, 1851, in Amelia county, Va. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools, and in 1876 graduated from the Randolph-Macon college with the degree of A. M. He served for one year as adjunct-professor of mathematics at the Randolph-Macon college of Ashland, Va.; and since 1878 has been full professor of mathematics in that institution of learning. For some years after his appointment to the Randolph-Macon college he was engaged in advanced mathematics at the university of Chicago. He is the author of History of Virginia; Civil Government of Virginia; and several Monographs.

Smithson, James L. M., scientist, philanthropist, was born in England. The Smithsonian institution of Washington was founded by congress in 1846, in accordance with the will of James L. M. Smithson, who bequeathed for its establishment over a half a million dollars, and the institution was named in his honor. He died in 1820, in Genoa, Italy.

Smithwick, John Washington Pearce, physician, surgeon, author, was born Aug. 19, 1870, in Bertie county, N. C. He attained success in the practice of his profession in La Grange, N. C. He is the author of The Young Mountaineer and The Passing of the Negro Race.

Smock, John Conover, geologist, author, was born Sept. 21, 1842, in Holmdel, N. J. He was assistant in charge of the New York State museum in 1885-90; and in 1890-1901 was state geologist of New Jersey. He is the author of Report on Clay Deposits; and On Building-Stones in New York.

Smoke, Elmyra J., poet, was born in 1832, in Clinton county, Ohio. Her poems have principally appeared in the leading publications of the Pacific coast, and several have been given place in standard collections.

Smoot, Reed, banker, United States senator, was born Jan. 10, 1862, in Salt Lake City, Utah. He was educated in the university of Utah; and in 1879 graduated from the Brigham Young academy. He is president of the Provo commercial and savings bank; president of the Smoot drug company; president of the Provo electric company; president of the Sioux consolidated mining company; president of the Provo woolen mills company; and vice-president and director of many of the leading banks and industrial establishments of Utah. He is one of the twelve apostles of the church of Jesus Christ of latter-day saints. In 1903 he was elected a member of the United States senate; and in 1909 was re-elected.

Smybert, John, painter, artist, was born about 1684, in Scotland. The best portraits which we have of the eminent magistrates and divines of New England and New York who lived between 1725 and 1751 are from his pencil. His most important work is the painting of Bishop Berkeley and his family, executed in 1731, and presented to Yale college in 1808. He died in 1751, in Boston, Mass.

Smyser, Martin Luther, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born April 3, 1851, in Wayne county, Ohio. He was educated in the country schools; and graduated from Wittenberg college and received the degrees of A.B. Since 1872 he has practiced law in all the courts of Ohio. For one term he was prosecuting attorney of Wayne county; and was judge of the circuit court of Ohio. In 1889-91 and 1905-07 he was a representative from Ohio to the fifty-first and fifty-second congresses as a republican.

Smyth, Albert Henry, educator, author, was born June 18, 1863, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1885-86 he was assistant librarian of the Johns Hopkins university; and in 1886 became professor of English language and literature in the Central high school of Philadelphia. He was the founder and editor of Shakespeareana, the first magazine ever devoted to the study of a single author. He was the author of American Literature; and Life of Bayard Taylor. He died in 1907, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Smyth, Alexander, soldier, state legislator, congressman, author, born in 1765, in Ireland. He was a member of the Virginia legislature. He was appointed a colonel of rifles in 1808; and in 1812 was appointed acting inspector-general, with rank of brigadier-general. In 1817-25 and 1827-31 he was a representative from Virginia to the fifteenth, sixteenth, seventeenth, eighteenth, twentieth and twenty-first congresses. He was the author of Regulations for United States Infantry; and a pamphlet on the Apocalypse. He died April 26, 1830, in Washington, D.C.

Smyth, Andrew Woods, physician, surgeon, was born Feb. 15, 1833, in Ireland. In 1864 he performed the first and only recorded operation of tying successfully the arteria innominata for subclavian aneurism; and in 1864 he also ligated the vertebral artery for the first time in the history of surgery. In 1866 he made the first successful reduction of a dislocation of the femur of over nine months' duration; and in 1879 performed the operation of extirpation of the kidney, then almost unknown to the profession. In 1880 he published a brochure on the structure and function of the kidney showing the use of the malpighian bodies and the impossibility of a communication existing between the interior of their capsule and the uriniferous tubes.

Smyth, Clement, clergyman, bishop, was born Jan. 24, 1810, in Ireland. He was a Roman catholic bishop of Iowa. He died Sept. 27, 1865, in Dubuque, Iowa.

Smyth, David McConnell, inventor, was born July 3, 1833, in Ireland. He is the inventor of a method for shaving veneer wood; a machine for cutting wooden tooth-picks; and the adjustable mitre-box, now in universal use.

Smyth, Egbert Coffin, clergyman, educator, author, was born Aug. 24, 1829, in Brunswick, Maine. He was a congregational clergyman; and professor of ecclesiastical history at Andover seminary. He was the author of The Value of the Study of Church History in Ministerial Education; and translation of Uhlhorn's Conflict of Christianity and Heathenism. He died in 1904, in Andover, Mass.

Smyth, Ellison Adger, soldier, manufacturer, banker, was born Oct. 26, 1847, in Charleston, S.C. He was educated in the South Carolina military academy. He served in the confederate states army during the civil war. He is president of the Pelzer manufacturing company, the largest cotton mills in the South; president of the Chicora savings bank; president of the Money-nick oil mill; president of the Dexter broom and mattress company; president of the Belton cotton mill; president of the Ninety-Six cotton mill of South Carolina; and a director and officer in many other corporations. He is a member of the United States industrial commission of Washington; president of the Cotton manufacturers' association of South Carolina; vice-president of the National civic federation; and vice-president of the American Asiatic society.

Smyth, Frederick, lawyer, jurist. In 1764-76 he was chief justice of the supreme court of New Jersey.

Smyth, Frederick, lawyer, jurist. In 1895-1900 he was justice of the supreme court of New York.

Smyth, George W., congressman, was born in North Carolina. In 1853-55 he was elected a representative from Texas to the thirty-third congress. He died in Texas.

Smyth, Herbert Weir, educator, author, was born Aug. 8, 1857, in Wilmington, Del. He was educated at Swarthmore college and Harvard university; and in 1884 graduated with the degree of Ph.D. from the university of Gottingen. In 1888-1901 he was professor of Greek at Bryn Mawr college; and since 1901 has been Eliot professor of Greek literature at Harvard university of Cambridge, Mass. He is the author of Greek Dialects; and Greek Melic Poetry.

Smyth, Julian Kennedy, clergyman, author, was born in 1856, in New York. He is a Swedenborgian clergyman. He is the author of Footprints of the Savior; and Holy Names as Interpretations of the Story of the Manger and the Cross.

Smyth, Newman, clergyman, author, was born June 25, 1843, in Brunswick, Me. He has been pastor of the First church at New Haven since 1882. He is the author of Old Faiths in New Light; The Orthodox Theology of To-Day; The Religious Feeling; The Morality of the Old Testament; Personal Creeds; Christian Ethics; Dörner on the Future State; The Reality of Faith; and The Place of Death in Evolution.

Smyth, Thomas, clergyman, author, was born July 14, 1808, in Ireland. He was a presbyterian clergyman of Charleston; and pastor of the Second church in 1832-73. He was the author of Lectures on the Prelatical Doctrine of the Apostolical Succession. History of the Westminster Assembly. Why Do I Live?, Solace for Bereaved Parents; Calvin and His Enemies; and Ecclesiastical Republicanism. He died Aug. 20, 1873, in Charleston, S.C.

Smyth, Thomas A., soldier, was born in Ireland. He served through the civil war; and for gallant and meritorious services received the rank of brigadier-general. He died April 6, 1865, in Farmville, Va.

Smyth, William, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Jan. 3, 1824, in Ireland. In 1848-53 he was attorney for Linn county, Iowa; was judge of the same in 1854-57; and in 1858 was appointed a commissioner to codify the state laws. He was a colonel of Iowa volunteers in 1862-64. In 1869-71 he was a representative from Iowa to the forty-first congress. He died Sept. 30, 1870, in Linn county, Iowa.

Smyth, William, educator, author, was born in 1797, in Pittston, Maine. He was educated in the public schools, academies and theological seminaries of New England. He was professor of mathematics at Bowdoin college in 1825-68. He was the author of Elements of Algebra; Treatise on Algebra; Trigonometry, Surveying, and Navigation; Elements of Analytical Geometry; Elements of the Differential and Integral Calculus; and Lectures on Modern History. He died April 3, 1868, in Brunswick, Maine.

Smyth, William Henry, consulting engineer, inventor, was born May 16, 1855, in England. Since 1879 he has been engaged in general practice as a consulting engineer. He has invented a drag saw; invented machines for making, soldering, testing and heading cans; invented a hydraulic and chain bucket dredger; invented a printing press; and many other mechanisms, all protected by patents.

Smythe, Augustine Thomas C., soldier, lawyer, was born Oct. 5, 1842, in Charleston, S.C. He served throughout the civil war in the confederate states army. In 1880-94 he was a member of the South Carolina state senate.

Smythe, F. H., farmer, miner, statesman, was born Aug. 19, 1850, in Plainesville, Ohio. He was educated at Springfield, Ill. He is a successful farmer and miner of Middletown, Cal.; has been supervisor; and is now a representative from the twelfth district to the California state legislature.

Smythe, Frederick, banker, governor, was born in 1819. He was the twenty-eighth governor of New Hampshire in 1865-67. He died April 20, 1899, in Bermuda.

Smythe, Henry Maxwell, journalist, lawyer, diplomat, was born Oct. 13, 1844, in Gate City, Va. In 1872 he began the practice of law; and in 1889-90 edited a newspaper. He was United States consul to Fuchow, China; minister resident and consul-general to Hayti; and charge d'affaires to San Domingo for four years. He later became engaged in farming and stock raising; and built an electric railway system in Wisconsin county, Va.

Smythe, Sidney Thomas, educator, clergyman, college president, was born May 18, 1862, in Canada. In 1885 he was ordained deacon; and in 1886 was ordained to the priesthood. Since 1894 he has been president and professor of Greek language and literature at St. John's military academy.

Snapp, Henry, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born June 30, 1822, in Livingston county, N.Y. He was elected to the Illinois state senate in 1869; and in 1871-73 he was a representative from Illinois to the forty-second congress as a republican.

Smythe, William Ellsworth, journalist, publicist, lecturer, author, was born Dec. 24, 1861, in Worcester, Mass. He entered the field of journalism in 1877; edited various weekly and daily newspapers; and in 1891 he founded the Irrigation Age, the first irrigation publication in the world. In 1891 he founded the national irrigation congress which finally lead to the adoption of the new national irrigation policy. In 1902 he was democratic candidate for congress from the eighth district of California. Since 1901 he has been one of the editors of Out West at San Diego, Cal; and is president of House of the little landers, a corporation of San Diego, Cal. He is the author of The Conquest of Arid America; Constructive Democracy; and History of Santiago.

Snapp, Howard M., lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 27, 1855, in Joliet, Ill. Since 1879 he has practiced law in Joliet, Ill.; and in 1884 was master in chancery of Will county court. In 1903-11 he was a representative from Illinois to the fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth, sixtieth and sixty-first congresses as a republican.

Sneath, E. Hershey, educator, author, was born Aug. 7, 1857, in Mountville, Pa. He is professor of philosophy in Yale university. He organized and edited The Modern Philosophers Series, in eight volumes; and the Ethical Series, in six volumes. He is the author of The Philosophy of Reid; The Ethics of Hobbes; and Philosophy and Poetry.

Snead, Thomas Lowndes, soldier, lawyer, author, was born Jan. 10, 1828, in Henrico county, Va. He was a St. Louis lawyer; and served in the confederate army. After 1865 he resumed his profession in New York City. He was the author of The Fight for Missouri in 1861. He died Oct. 17, 1890, in New York City.

Snee, John A., merchant, financier, was born Feb. 2, 1862, in Gill Hall, Pa. In 1883 he was engaged in the lumber business in Pittsburg, Pa. Since 1884 he has devoted himself to the development of oil and gas territory in western Pennsylvania.

Sneed, Frank Woolford, clergyman, was born April 22, 1862, near Sedalia, Mo. He filled pastorates in the Presbyterian church of Riverside, Ill.; in the First presbyterian church of Columbia, Mo.; in the First presbyterian church of Minneapolis; and in the prebyterian church of St. Louis, Mo.

Sneed, John Louis Taylor, soldier, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, author, was born May 12, 1820, in Raleigh, N.C. He was a member of the Tennessee legislature in 1845; and was captain of a Tennessee company in the Mexican war in 1846-47; attorney-general Memphis circuit in 1851; attorney-general of Tennessee during 1854-59; and brigadier-general provisional army in 1861. He was judge of the state supreme court in 1870-78, and of the court of arbitration in 1879, and judge of the state court of referees in 1883-84. In 1888 he was chosen president of the Memphis school of law. In 1894-1900 he was chancellor at Memphis, Tenn. He is the author of Reports of the Supreme Court of Tennessee, 1854-59. He died in 1901, in Memphis, Tenn.

Sneed, William H., lawyer, congressman, was born in Knoxville, Tenn. In 1855-57 he was a representative from Tennessee to the thirty-fourth congress. He died in Tennessee.

Snell, Henry Bayley, painter, artist, was born Sept. 29, 1858, in England. In 1900 he was an assistant director of fine arts of the United States commission to the Paris exposition. He is a national academician; and is president of the New York water color club.

Snell, Thomas, clergyman, was born Nov. 21, 1774, in Cummington, Mass. In 1798-1862 he was pastor of the Second congregational church of North Brookfield, Mass. He was the author of Historical Sketches of the First Congregational Church of North Brookfield. He died May 4, 1862, in North Brookfield, Mass.

Snelling, Henry Hunt, author, was born Nov. 8, 1817, in Plattsburg, N.Y. In 1871-87 he edited the Reflector of Cornwall, N.Y.; which he relinquished owing to blindness. He is the author of History and Practice of Photography; and Dictionary of the Photographic Art.

Snelling, Josiah, soldier, author, was born in 1782, in Boston, Mass. He was distinguished in the battle of Tippecanoe in 1811; and attained the rank of colonel. He was the author of Remarks on General Hull's Memoirs. He died Aug. 20, 1829, in Washington, D.C.

Snelling, William Joseph, journalist, author, was born Dec. 28, 1804, in Boston, Mass. About 1828 he became connected with several journals; and for a few years before his death was editor of the Boston Herald. He was the author of The Polar Regions of the Western Continent Explored; Truth: a Satirical Poem; and Six Months in a House of Correction. He died Dec. 24, 1848, in Chelsea, Mass.

Sneath, Nicholas, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 15, 1769, in Glen Cove, L.I.

He was a methodist itinerant preacher; and active in the formation of the methodist protestant denomination. He was the author of Preaching the Gospel; Lay Representation; and Lectures on Biblical Subjects. He died May 30, 1845, in Princeton, Ind.

Snider, Denton Jaques, lecturer, author, was born Jan. 9, 1841, in Mt. Gilead, Ohio. He is a literary lecturer of St. Louis, Mo. He is the author of System of Shakespeare's Dramas; A Walk in Hellas; Delphic Days, an idyl in the elegiac distich; Agamemnon's Daughter, a classic romantic poem; An Epigrammatic Voyage; Goethe's Faust; Commentary on the Literary Bible, in nine volumes; The Shakespearean Drama; and A Tour in Europe.

Snider, Samuel Prather, soldier, agriculturist, manufacturer, state legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 9, 1845, in Mt. Gilead, Ohio. He enlisted as a private soldier in the sixty-fifth Ohio volunteer infantry; served with his regiment in Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi; and was wounded at the battle of Stone River, and severely wounded and taken prisoner at the battle of Chickamauga. He served in West Tennessee as captain in the thirteenth United States colored infantry. He moved to Minnesota in 1876; organized and built the Midland railway; and is engaged in farming, mining and manufacturing in Minneapolis. He served in the Minnesota legislature in 1884-88; and in 1889-91 he was a representative to the fifty-first congress as a republican.

Sniffen, Culver Channing, soldier, was born Jan. 1, 1844, in New York City. In 1869-77 he was secretary to President Grant. In 1877 he was appointed from New York major paymaster; and in 1906 became brigadier-general and paymaster-general in the United States army. He was retired in 1908.

Sniper, Gustavus, soldier, was born in Germany. In 1861 he was captain in the twelfth regiment New York infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died March 29, 1894.

Snively, Ethan A., journalist, statesman, was born Feb. 17, 1845, in Cuba, Fulton county, Illinois. He received a thorough education in the public schools of his native state. He became a successful printer and journalist; and in 1879-81 was president of the Illinois press association. In 1878-96 he was clerk of the supreme court, central grand division of Illinois; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. Since 1897 he has been a member of the state board of pardons of Illinois; and resides in Springfield, Ill.

Snively, William Andrew, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 6, 1833, in Greencastle, Pa. He was an episcopal clergyman of Louisville. He was the author of Family Prayers for the Christian Year; Testimonies to the Supernatural; Parish Lectures on the Prayer Book; Aesthetics in Worship; The Oberammergau Passion Play; Genealogical Memoranda; and The Cathedral System in the American Church. He died in 1901 in Louisville, Ky.

Snodgrass, Charles Edward, lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 28, 1866, in Sparta, Tenn. He moved to Crossville and began the practice of law, to which he devoted himself exclusively. In 1899-1903 he was a representative from Tennessee to the fifty-sixth and fifty-seventh congresses as a democrat.

Snodgrass, David Lafayette, lawyer, jurist, was born April 6, 1851, in Sparta, Tenn. In 1886-1902 he was a justice; and in 1894-1902 was chief justice of the state supreme court of Tennessee. Since 1905 he has been clerk of the United States circuit court for the eastern district of Tennessee.

Snodgrass, Henry C., lawyer jurist, was born in 1848 in White county, Tenn. He is a noted lawyer of Sparta, Tenn. He was attorney-general of the fifth judicial circuit for eight years. In 1891-95 he was a representative to the fifty-second and fifty-third congresses as a democrat.

Snodgrass, John Fryall, lawyer, congressman, was born March 2, 1804, in Berkeley county, Va. In 1853-55 he was a representative from Virginia to the thirty-third congress. He died June 5, 1854, in Parkersburg, W.Va.

Snodgrass, William Davis, clergyman, author, was born June 30, 1796, in West Hanover, Pa. In 1849-85 he was pastor in Goshen, N.Y. In 1830 he became a director of Princeton theological seminary; and he was president of its board of trustees in 1868. He was the author of Perfectionism, Lectures on Apostolic Succession. He died May 28, 1885, in Goshen, N.Y.

Snook, John S., lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 18, 1862, near Antwerp, Ohio. In 1887-90 he practiced law in Antwerp, Ohio; and since then in Paulding, Ohio. In 1901-05 he was a representative from Ohio to the fifty-seventh and fifty-eighth congresses as a democrat.

Snover, Horace G., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Sept. 21, 1847, in Romeo, Mich. In 1881-85 he was probate judge of Huron county, Mich. In 1895-99 he was a representative to the fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses as a republican. He is engaged in the banking and real estate business in Port Austin, Mich.

Snow, Albert Sydney, naval officer, was born Nov. 18, 1845, in Rockland, Maine. In 1861 he was appointed to the United States naval academy from Maine. In 1866 he was promoted ensign; in 1869 became lieutenant; in 1899 was commission captain; and in 1905 attained the rank of rear-admiral. Since 1905 he has been commander in the navy yard at Boston, Mass.

Snow, Alvin Lincoln, clergyman, author, poet, was born Jan. 29, 1862, in Ellsboro, Ill. He is the author of Songs of the White Mountains and Other Poems.

Snow, Anna Le Conte Brooks, president of Daughters of the revolution, was born Sept. 25, 1855, in Philadelphia, Pa. She is a graduate of Vassar college; and the honored president of the daughters of the revolution.

Snow, Caleb Hopkins, physician, author, was born April 1, 1796, in Boston, Mass. He was the author of A History of Boston; and Geography of Boston and Adjacent Towns. He died July 6, 1835, in Boston, Mass.

Snow, Charles Henry, educator, civil engineer, author, was born March 24, 1863, in New York City. Since 1886 he has been engaged in surveys and explorations as a civil and mining engineer; and since 1897 has been dean of the school of applied science of New York City. He is the author of The Principal Species of Wood.

Snow, Elbridge Gerry, underwriter, was born Jan. 22, 1841, in Barkhamsted, Conn. In 1862 he entered the New York office of the Home insurance company, of which he became the Massachusetts general agent in 1873. In 1885 he was appointed assistant secretary in the New York office; three years later was elected a director and vice-president of the company; and since 1903 has been president of the company.

Snow, Francis Huntington, educator, college president, scientist, was born June 29, 1840, in Fitchburg, Mass. He was principal of the high school of Fitchburg, Mass.; in 1866-70 was professor of mathematics and natural science in the university of Kansas; and professor of natural history in the same institution during 1870-89. For many years he was a professor of botany and entomology in the university of Kansas; and president and chancellor of that institution. He made frequent excursions upon the plains and into the mountains of Colorado and New Mexico, which resulted in valuable additions to the Zoological, Botanical, Entomological and Paleontological museums. He discovered many new species of insects, a score of which were named in his honor. He died Sept. 20, 1908, in Bellfield, Wis.

Snow, Henry Sanger, lawyer, college president, was born May 8, 1856, in Brooklyn, N.Y. He practiced law in New York and Brooklyn; and since 1893 he has been treasurer of the New York and New Jersey telephone company. In 1899-1904 he was president of the Brooklyn polytechnic institute.

Snow, Herman W., soldier, lawyer, educator, state legislator, congressman, was born July 3, 1834, in La Porte county, Ind. During the civil war he served in most of the southern states, and was provost-marshal-general of Georgia on Major-General Steedman's staff. At the expiration of service he resumed teaching in the Chicago high school for three years. He was elected to the Illinois legislature; and in 1891-93 he was a representative from Illinois to the fifty-second congress as a democrat.

Snow, Marshall Solomon, educator, author, was born Aug. 17, 1842, in Hyannis, Mass. In 1867-70 he was professor of Latin and principal of Montgomery Bell academy and Nashville university. In 1870-74 he was professor of belles lettres; and professor of history since 1874 in Washington university. Since 1871 he has been dean of the Washington university of St. Louis, Mo. He is the author of The City Government of St. Louis; Some Thoughts on Municipal Government; and other works.

Snow, John F., educator, orator, lawyer, author, was born June 17, 1854, in Portland, Ind. He received the degree of B.S. in 1886. In 1883-97 he was county superintendent of the public schools of Adams county, Ind. He taught school in the eastern part of the state; and in 1897 began the practice of law; in 1900 he began the real estate business and established the Snow agency; and for several years has annually handled many thousands of dollars' worth of farm and city property. In 1890 he was chosen president of the Indiana county superintendent's association; and in 1896 was made chairman of the Adams county democratic central committee. He is an orator and public speaker of note. He is the author of Indiana Biographies; Snow's History of Adams County, Indiana; and The Rise and Fall of the Political Parties.

Snow, Walter Bradley, mechanical engineer, author, was born Aug. 13, 1860, in Watertown, Mass. Since 1882 he has been in the active practice as a mechanical engineer. He has been chairman of the park commission and of the public library trustees of Watertown, Mass. He is the author of Mechanical Draft; and Steam Boiler Practice.

Snow, Lorenzo, mormon, author, was born April 3, 1914, in Mantua, Ohio. In 1837 he began his work as a mormon missionary; in 1840 was sent to Great Britain; was captain of the Nauvoo legion; and was prominent in the mormon settlement in Utah in 1848. In 1852-82 he was a member of the house or council. In 1893 he was elected president of the twelve apostles of the mormon church; and in 1898 became president of the church. He was the author of The Voice of Joseph; and translated The Book of Mormon into Italian. He died Oct. 10, 1901, in Salt Lake City, Utah.

Snow, William Dunham, soldier, lawyer, poet, inventor, was born Feb. 2, 1832, in Webster, Mass. Since his graduation at Columbia law school in 1876 he has practiced in New York City and in the federal courts. He has invented a successful carburetter, a gas regulator, a thermostatic apparatus for the maintenance of equal heat for furnaces and steam apparatus, and a system for fac-simile telegraphy. He is the author of several anti-slavery poems.

Snow, William W., congressman, was born in Massachusetts. In 1851-53 he was a representative from New York to the thirty-second congress. He died in Oneonta, N.Y.

Snow, Zerubbabel, lawyer, jurist. He was an early emigrant to the territory of Utah; and in 1850 was appointed a judge of the United States court for that district. He died in Utah.

Snowden, Archibald Loudon, soldier, lawyer, diplomat, inventor, was born Aug. 11, 1837, in Cumberland county, Pa. He was educated at Jefferson and Washington college. He was made register of the United States mint in 1857; became chief coiner in 1866; and in 1877-79 was postmaster of Philadelphia, Pa. In 1879-85 he was superintendent of the mint; and in 1878 he declined the office of general director of all the mints in the United States. He has been United States minister to Greece, Roumania, Servia and Spain; and is now president of the electric company of America.

Snowden, James Henry, educator, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 18, 1852, in Hookstown, Pa. In 1870-83 he was pastor of the presbyterian church at Huron, Ohio; in 1883-86 was pastor at Sharon, Pa.; and since 1886 has been pastor of the second presbyterian church of Washington, Pa. Since 1898 he has also been editor in chief of the Presbyterian Banner of Pittsburgh, Pa. He is the author of Scenes and Sayings in the Life of Christ; and a Summer Across the Sea.

Snowden, David Harold, educator, clergyman, lecturer, author, was born April 25, 1842, in Fairview C. H., W.Va. He attained eminence as a clergyman of the congregational church, and filled pastorates in various cities. He received the degrees of M.D., Ph.D., D.D., LL.D., F.R.S., and was a member of many learned bodies. For many years he taught Hebrew and Greek; was a brilliant lecturer; and the author of Is Man a Creation?; The Seven Most Prominent of the Twenty-Five Bibles of the World; God's Hand in American History, and other works. In 1898 he was appointed assistant surgeon-general of the western department, with the rank of colonel in the regular army. He died March 24, 1905, in Sterling, Kan.

Snowden, James Ross, numismatist, legislator, author, was born in 1810 in Chester, Pa. He was speaker of the house of representatives of Pennsylvania in 1842-44. He was state treasurer in 1845-47; was treasurer of the United States mint in 1847-50, and director of the same in 1853-61. He was the author of Descriptions of Coins in the United States Mint; Description of Medals in the United States Mint; The Mint at Philadelphia; Coins of the Bible; and The Corn Planter Memorial. He was also the author of the Articles on Coins of the United States in the National Almanac of 1873, and many pamphlets on the subject. He died March 21, 1878, in Hulmeville, Pa.

Snyder, Adam Clark, lawyer, jurist, was born March 26, 1834, in Highland county, Va. For nine years he was judge of the supreme court of West Virginia.

Snyder, Adam W., state legislator, congressman, was born in 1801. He frequently served in the state legislature of Illinois; and in 1837-39 he was a representative from Illinois to the twenty-fifth congress. He died May 14, 1842, in Belleville, Ill.

Snyder, Albert Whitcomb, clergyman, author, was born April 8, 1842, in Lisbon, N.Y. He held a pastorate in Elmhurst, N.Y. He was the author of Living Church Tracts; The Chief Days; Church Doctrine of the People, and The Chief Things. He died Feb. 3, 1914, at Elmhurst, N.Y.

Snyder, Carl, journalist, author, was born April 23, 1869, in Cedar Falls, Iowa. He is the author of New Conceptions in Science; and American Railways as Investments.

Snyder, Charles McCoy, journalist, author, was born April 17, 1859, in Bellefonte, Pa. In 1884 he was on the editorial staff of the Pittsburgh Dispatch; and is now a journalist of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Comic History of Greece; Runaway Robinson; and Snap Shots.

Snyder, Charles Philip, lawyer, congressman, was born June 9, 1847, near Charleston, W.Va. In 1876 he was elected prosecuting attorney of Kanawha county, W. Va.; was re-elected in 1880; and in 1883-89 he was a representative from West Virginia to the forty-eighth, forty-ninth and fiftieth congresses as a democrat.

Snyder, Christopher, martyr, was born about 1775. He was called the first martyr of the revolution. He died Feb. 23, 1770, in Boston, Mass.

Snyder, Elmore William, banker, railroad president, was born Nov. 23, 1850, in Wayne county, N.Y. He is the president of the Manufacturers' national bank of Leavenworth, Kan.; and president of the Leavenworth terminal railway.

Snyder, Greeley B., physician, surgeon, was born May 8, 1860, in Henry county, Ill. He studied medicine in the medical department of the university of Michigan, and at the Bellevue Hospital Medical college of New York City, from which institution he graduated in 1885. He has attained success in his profession, and is one of the leading physicians and surgeons of Iowa at Rock Valley.

Snyder, Harry, educator, chemist, author, was born Jan. 26, 1867, in Cherry Valley, N.Y. Since 1891 he has been chemist of the Minnesota experiment station; professor of agricultural chemistry in the university of Minnesota; and is a collaborator in nutrition investigations for the United States department of agriculture. He is the author of The Chemistry of Plant and Animal Life; Soils and Fertilizers; Dairy Chemistry; and Human Foods and Their Nutritive Value.

Snyder, Henry Nelson, educator, college president, was born Jan. 14, 1865, in Macon, Ga. Since 1890 he has been professor of English literature at Wofford college of Spartanburg, S.C.; and since 1902 has been president of that institution.

Snyder, John, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1841-43 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the twenty-seventh congress. He died in Selinsgrove, Pa.

Snyder, Jonathan Le Moyne, educator, college president, was born Oct. 29, 1859, in Butler county, Pa. In 1887-88 he was superintendent of schools for Butler county, Pa.; and in 1889-96 was principal of schools at Alleghany, Pa. Since 1896 he has been president of the Michigan agricultural college.

Snyder, Oliver P., state senator, congressman, was born Nov. 13, 1833, in Missouri. He was a member of the general assembly of Arkansas in 1864-65; and was elected a delegate to the state constitutional convention in 1867. He was a presidential elector in 1868; was elected a member of the state senate for four years; and was appointed one of the three commissioners to revise and rearrange the statutes of Arkansas. In 1871-75 he was a representative from Arkansas to the forty-second and forty-third congresses; and in 1875 was appointed postmaster of Pine Bluff, Ark.

Snyder, Simon, state senator, congressman, governor, was born Nov. 5, 1759, in Lancaster, Pa. He was several years speaker of the house of representatives of Pennsylvania; and in 1818 was a member of the state senate. He was the third governor of Pennsylvania in 1808-17. He died Nov. 9, 1819, in Selin's Grove, Pa.

Snyder, Simon, soldier, was born Feb. 9, 1839, in Selinsgrove, Pa. During the civil war he attained the rank of captain. In 1890 he was brevetted major for gallant services against Indians at Bear Paw Mountain in 1877. In 1898 he was appointed brigadier-general of United States volunteers; and commanded various divisions in the volunteer army at several points in the southern states. In 1902 he was retired as brigadier-general in the United States army.

Snyder, William Henry, painter, artist, was born Feb. 28, 1830, in Brooklyn, N.Y. He studied in Paris; has attained prominence as a painter; and is curator of the Brooklyn Art school.

Snyder, William Henry, lawyer, legislator, was born June 29, 1858, in Belleville, Ill. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools of his native city, and attended Washington university of St. Louis, Mo. He is an able lawyer of Belleville, Ill.; has been city attorney; served with distinction as a member of the house of representatives of the thirty-eighth and thirty-ninth Illinois general assemblies. He is now master in chancery of his county; secretary of the board of trustees of the Illinois Historical library; and is prominent in the public affairs of his city, county and state.

Snyder, William Lamartine, lawyer, author, was born May 10, 1848, in Hollidaysburg, Pa. Since 1876 he has been engaged in the general practice of law in New York City. He is the author of Law of Religious Corporations; Notaries and Commissioners Manual; and Annotated Interstate Commerce Act and Federal Anti-Trust Laws.

Snyder, William Preston, physician, surgeon, legislator, was born Oct. 7, 1851, in Chester county, Pa. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools; and in 1873 graduated from the medical department of the university of Pennsylvania. In 1873-86 he practiced medicine in Spring City, Pa.; and in 1883-85 was postmaster of that city. In 1887-91 he was prothonotary of Chester county; and in 1878 and in 1882 was a delegate to the state conventions. In 1891 he was a representative in the Pennsylvania state legislature; and in 1892-1904 was a member of the Pennsylvania state senate. He was auditor-general of the state of Pennsylvania for the term of 1904-07.

Snyder, Z. X., educator, college president, was born Aug. 31, 1850, in Reagantown, Westmoreland, Pa. In 1889-91 he was president of the state normal school at Indiana, Pa.; and since 1891 he has been president of the Colorado state normal school at Greeley, Col.

Sobieski, Eugene Thaddens, soldier, lawyer, lecturer, was born Sept. 10, 1842, in Poland. He entered the union army; and fought through the four years of the civil war, being honorably discharged in 1865. He then accepted a colonel's commission in the Mexican army. Later he settled in Missouri, where he practiced law; and in recent years has become well known as a platform lecturer.

Sohn, Joseph, musician, author, was born March 22, 1867, in New York City. He is a musical critic of New York City. He is the author of Lessons of the Opera; Music in America and Abroad; Carl Goldmark, the Greatest Living Operatic Composer; Joseph Joachim, the Greatest Living Violinist; and Opera in New York.

Solberg, Thorvald, public official, bibliographer, was born April 22, 1852, in Manitowoc, Wis. He was on the staff of the library of congress in 1876-89; and spent the greater part of his time abroad until appointed in 1897 as register of copyrights. He is the author of Bibliography of Copyright.

Soley, James Russell, educator, author, was born Oct. 1, 1850, in Roxbury, Mass. In 1876-80 he was professor United States navy; and 1890-93 he was assistant secretary of the navy. He is the author of The Rescue of Greeley; Foreign Systems of Education; The Blockade and the Cruisers; The Boys of 1812 and Other Naval Heroes; History of the Naval Academy; and The Sailor Boys of '61.

Sollers, Augustus R., congressman, was born in Maryland. In 1841-43 and 1853-55 he was a representative from Maryland to the twenty-seventh and thirty-third congresses. He was a presidential elector in 1856. He died in Maryland.

Solley, Samuel Edwin, physician, surgeon, author, was born May 5, 1845, in London, England. Since 1874 he has practiced his profession in Colorado. He has been president of the American climatological association; and in 1901 was vice-president of the International tuberculosis congress. He is the author of Handbook of Medical Climatology; and The Influence of Altitude Upon the Blood.

Sollmann, Torald Hermann, educator, physician, scientist, author, was born Feb. 10, 1874, in Germany. Since 1904 he has been professor of pharmacology and materia medica at the Western reserve medical college. He is the author of Textbook of Pharmacology, and Some Allied Sciences; and Textbook of Materia Medica.

Somerby, Frederic Thomas, author, was born Jan. 4, 1814, in Newburyport. He was for many years a correspondent of the Boston Post and the Spirit of the Times. He was the author of, under the name of Cymon, Hits and Dashes, or a Medley of Sketches and Scraps Touching People and Things. He died Jan. 18, 1871, in Worcester, Mass.

Somerby, Horatio Gates, genealogist, was born Dec. 24, 1805, in Newburyport, Mass. He was a member of the New England Historic-Genealogical society, to whose publications he contributed valuable papers; and a large quantity of his unpublished material is in possession of the Massachusetts Historical society, with which he had been connected since 1859. He died Nov. 14, 1872, in London, England.

Somerville, Henderson Middleton, lawyer, jurist, was born March 23, 1837, in Madison county, Va. In 1852-56 he attended the university of Alabama; and subsequently received the degrees of M.A. and LL.D. In 1859 he graduated from the law school of Cumberland university of Lebanon, Tenn. In 1859-62 he was editor of the Memphis Appeal; and in 1862-65 was assistant professor of mathematics and languages in the university of Alabama. In 1873 he founded the law school of the university of Alabama; and in 1873-90 was lecturer of constitutional and common and statute law in that institution. In 1880-90 he was associate justice of the state supreme court of Alabama; and in 1890-93 he was a member of the Peabody board of trustees. He has been trustee of the Alabama insane hospital; in 1876-93 was a member of the state commission on lunacy; and in 1892-93 was president of the New York medico-legal society. He is now chairman of the board of classification in the United States customs appraisers of New York City.

Somers, Peter J., lawyer, congressman, was born April 12, 1850, in Menominee, Wis. In 1882-84 he was attorney of the city of Milwaukee, and served two years; and in 1890 was elected to the common council, and upon its organization was elected president. He was appointed trustee of the Public library; and in 1890-94 was mayor of the city of Milwaukee. In 1893-95 he was a representative to the fifty-third congress as a democrat to fill a vacancy.

Somerville, William Clarke, diplomat, author, was born March 25, 1790, in St. Mary's county, Md. He was appointed minister to Sweden, but died before reaching there; and was buried at the Marquis Lafayette's home at Lagrange. He was the author of Letters from Paris on the Causes of the French Revolution. He died Jan. 5, 1826, in France.

Somes, Daniel E., banker, congressman, was born in New Hampshire. In 1859-61 he was a representative from Maine to the thirty-sixth congress. In 1855-57 he was mayor of Biddeford, Maine; and in 1858-59 was president of the City bank of that city. He was a member of the peace congress of 1861; and subsequently settled in Washington as a claim agent. He died in Washington, D.C.

Sommers, Charles George, clergyman, author, was born March 4, 1793, in England. After a six years' pastorate in Troy, N.Y., he was called to the charge of the South baptist church in New York City, where he remained till his retirement in 1856. He was the author of numerous controversial articles in defense of baptist doctrines; edited a volume of Psalms and Hymns, and The Baptist Library; and was the author of a Memoir of John Stanford, with Selections from his Correspondence. He died Dec. 19, 1868, in New York City.

Sommers, Henry Cantine, journalist, author, was born Nov. 22, 1861, in New York City. Since 1899 he has been editor of the Insurance Record of New York City. He is the author of Newspaper Libel and How to Avoid It.

Sommerville, Maxwell, archæologist, author, was born May 1, 1829, in Philadelphia, Pa. For ten years he was professor of glyptology in the university of Pennsylvania. He spent the greater part of his life in Europe and Asia, devoting more than thirty years to his quest of rare gems, cameos, intaglios and specimens of the lapidary's art of historical value. He was the author of Engraved Gems. He died May 5, 1904, in France.

Songer, Abram W., soldier, merchant, was born Nov. 2, 1832, near Xenia, Ill. He served in the civil war as second and first lieutenant of the twenty-first regiment Illinois volunteer infantry from May 10, 1861, to May 15, 1865. He is a successful miller and grain dealer of Kimmundy, Ill.; has served as city alderman for several terms; has been a member of the board of education, and is now president of the board of education and Kimmundy graded schools.

Sonmans, Peter, lawyer, jurist. In 1710 he was an associate justice of the supreme court of New Jersey.

Sonnichsen, Albert, journalist, author, was born May 5, 1878, in San Francisco, Cal. He is the author of Ten Months a Captive Among Filipinos; and Deep Sea Vagabonds.

Sonntag, George, soldier, was born in 1786 in Philadelphia, Pa. He went to Russia in 1815; entered the military service; and with the allied army entered Paris. He became a general in the Russian army; and an admiral in the navy. He died March 23, 1841, in Russia.

Sonntag, William Louis, artist, was born March 2, 1822, in Pittsburgh, Pa. In 1823 his parents moved to Cincinnati, Ohio, and he received a thorough education in the Kinmont school in that city. In 1848 he opened a studio in Cincinnati, and was entirely a self-taught artist. In 1853 he made his first visit to Europe; and has since spent two years in Florence studying art. In 1854 he moved to New York City, where he has attained success as an eminent landscape painter. Since 1861 he has been a member of the National academy of design; is a member of the American water-color society; the Artist fund society, and various other institutions. His most notable pictures are Progress of Civilization; Spirit of Solitude; Evangeline; and A Dream of Italy. He died in 1900 in New York City.

Soper, Arthur William, railroad manager, railroad president, founder, was born July 16, 1838, in Rome, N.Y. In 1868 he was assistant superintendent of the St. Louis iron mountain and southern railway; and in 1872 was made general superintendent; and soon afterward became general manager. He was president of many corporations. He was a founder and director of the Standard and coupler company. He died Dec. 1, 1901, in New York City.

Soper, Augustus, physician, surgeon, was born April 30, 1855, in Canada. He obtained an early education in the public schools of Canada; and studied medicine at the Trinity medical school of Canada. He has a large practice in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Soper, Erastus Burrows, soldier, lawyer, business man, was born Sept. 15, 1841, in Pitcher, N.Y. During 1857-61 he attended Western college; and Cornell college during 1865-68, and subsequently received from the latter institution the degree of A.M. During the civil war he served as private, sergeant, second lieutenant, first lieutenant, and captain in the first and twelfth regiments Iowa volunteer infantry. He has resided in Iowa since 1847, and is an able lawyer and business man of Ennismsburg. He is president of a large number of banking and other corporations, including two national and four state banks; is a charter member of the Iowa society sons of the American revolution; and past commander Loyal legion; and for more than twenty years has been an active and influential member of the board of trustees of Cornell college; and has contributed large sums for educational and religious purposes.

Soper, Henry Marlin, educator, elocutionist, founder, was born March 17, 1850, in Alden, Ill. He founded the Soper school of oratory of Chicago, Ill., of which he is president. In 1899-1902 he was president of the national association of elocutionists, of which he was one of the founders.

Soper, John Harris, soldier, merchant, business president, was born Nov. 17, 1846, in Plymouth, England. In 1852-57 he attended the public schools of Chicago, Ill.; and in 1857-61 attended the normal school of Bloomington, Ill. In 1863-84 he was a miner, prospector, farmer and plantation manager, and was a justice of the peace and notary public in California. In 1884-86 and 1888-90 he was marshal of the Hawaiian kingdom; in 1893 he was commander-in-chief of the military forces of Hawaii; has been adjutant-general and chief of staff in the Hawaiian national guard; and in 1907 was retired with the rank of brigadier-general. He is a successful merchant of Honolulu; and president of the Hawaiian news company, limited.

Sophocles, Evangelinus Apostolides, scholar, educator, author, was born March 8, 1807, in Greece. He was a Greek scholar of distinction; and professor at Harvard university in 1849-83. He was the author of a Greek Lexicon of the Roman and Byzantine Periods; Greek Grammar for Learners, and History of the Greek Alphabet. He died Dec. 17, 1883, in Cambridge, Mass.

Sorg, Paul John, manufacturer, congressman, was born Sept. 23, 1840, in Wheeling, W. Va. He began the manufacture of tobacco on a small scale in Cincinnati; and his manufactory, now located at Middletown, Ohio, is one of the largest in the world, and employs more than a thousand men, known as Paul J. Sorg tobacco company, of which he is president. In 1893-97 he was a representative from Ohio to the fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses as a democrat. He died May 28, 1902, in Dayton, Ohio.

Sorin, Edward, clergyman, college president, was born in 1814 in France. He was the first president of Notre Dame college, and continued in office until 1865. One of its beautiful halls, which is adorned with a life-sized portrait of Washington, was named and dedicated in his honor by Father Sorin, and Washington's birthday is always a gala day at Notre Dame. The Ave Maria, a widely known religious journal, was started by Father Sorin, who was its editor for a number of years. He died Nov. 31, 1893, in Notre Dame, Ind.

Sorrell, G. Moxley, soldier, was born in 1837. He served in the confederate states army during the civil war; and attained the rank of brigadier-general. He died Aug. 11, 1901, in Roanoke, Va.

Sorsby, William Brooks, journalist, diplomat, was born Sept. 27, 1858, in Panola, Miss. He edited several country newspapers in Mississippi; and in 1884 was part owner of the Morning Telegram of Mobile, Ala. In 1893-95 he owned gold mining property in Ecuador. Since 1902 he has been envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Bolivia.

Sosso, Lorenzo, merchant, poet, was born March 2, 1867, in Italy. He is a merchant of San Francisco, Cal.; and the author of a volume of poems entitled A New Poet.

Sothell, Seth, colonial governor. In 1600-92 he was colonial governor of South Carolina.

Sotheran, Mrs. Alice Hyneman, author, poet, was born Jan. 31, 1840, in Philadelphia, Pa. She is a contributor of prose to the North American Review, the Forum and the Popular Science Monthly. She is the author of Woman in Industry; and Poems and Adventures.

Sotheran, Charles, journalist, author, was born July 8, 1847, in Surrey, England. In 1876 he began his first active work on the Metropolitan Daily Press; first on the New York World; then the New York Sun; and subsequently became associate editor and proprietor of the New York Echo. He was literary editor of the New York Recorder and New York Star; Export and Finance, Sunnyside Press,

Nym Crinkle's Feuilleton, Advocate, and Dramatic World. He was the author of Horace Greeley and Other Pioneers of American Socialism; The Theaters of New York; and Percy Bysshe Shelley as a Philosopher and Reformer. He died June 26, 1902, in Ridgefield, N.J.

Sothorn, Edward Hugh, actor, was born Dec. 6, 1859, in New Orleans, La. In 1879 he made his first appearance on the American stage in New York City; toured the United States with John McCullough; and in 1882-83 toured England. He wrote the farce Whose Are They. He began playing leading roles in 1887; and has recently starred in his own company as Robert Lovelace and If I Were King.

Souchon, Edmond, educator, physician, inventor, was born Dec. 1, 1841, in Opelousas, La. Since 1885 he has been professor of anatomy and clinical surgery at Tulane university; and founded the Souchon museum of anatomy. He designed and superintended the erection of Tulane medical college buildings. He is the inventor of Souchon's anestheticizer, used in face and mouth operations. In 1898-1906 he was president of the Louisiana state board of health.

Souder, Casper, journalist, author, was born Nov. 8, 1819, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1853 he became associated with the Evening Bulletin of Philadelphia, of which he was afterward an editor and part proprietor till his death. His History of Chestnut Street, which was published serially, has been praised for trustworthiness and originality of treatment. He died Oct. 21, 1868, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Souer, Louis Joseph, soldier, merchant, was born Nov. 22, 1844, in New York City. In 1861 he enlisted in the thirteenth regiment New York infantry; and saw service in Virginia and West Virginia. In 1872 he was appointed brigadier-general. He was engaged in the general produce business in New Orleans. In 1893 he was selected as chief deputy collector of internal revenue; and in 1898 was appointed collector of internal revenue.

Soule, Augustus Lord, lawyer, jurist. In 1877-81 he was an associate justice of the supreme court of Massachusetts. He died in 1887.

Soule, Mrs. Caroline Augusta, missionary, author, was born Sept. 3, 1824, in Albany, N.Y. She is the widow of a universalist minister. She entered the ministry herself; was the first foreign missionary of that denomination. In 1879-92 she was pastor of St. Paul's universalist church of Glasgow, Scotland. She is the author of House Life; The Pet of the Settlement; and Wine or Water.

Soule, Caroline Gray, entomologist, author, was born in 1855 in Springfield, Mass. She is the author of Caterpillars and Their Moths.

Soule, Charles Carroll, soldier, merchant, author, was born June 25, 1842, in Boston, Mass. In 1862-65 he served in the civil war; and was promoted captain. He is president of the Boston book company. He is the author of A Lawyers' Reference Manual of Law Books and Citations; Library

Rooms and Buildings; and Year Book Bibliography.

Soule, George, educator, author, president of Soule's college, was born May 14, 1834, in Barrington, N.Y. He received his education at the Sycamore academy, Illinois, and the medical, law and commercial schools of St. Louis, Mo. In 1856 he established Soule's commercial college and literary institute of New Orleans, La., which has grown to be one of the leading educational institutions in the state.

During the fifty-three years the Soule college has been in existence, over twenty-three thousand pupils have been taught within its walls. In 1862 he entered the military service of the confederate states as captain of company A, Crescent regiment Louisiana volunteers of New Orleans, and served through the war, being promoted to the rank of lieutenant-colonel. As a lecturer on commercial sciences and sociology, Professor Soule is well known to every young man in New Orleans, and to educators north and south. He has been president of the International business college association and Business educators' association of America; and is prominent in various social, scientific and educational organizations. He is the author of Contractions in Numbers; Gems of Business Problems; Manual of Auditing; Partnership Settlements; and Practical Mathematics.

Soule, Gideon Lane, educator, linguist, was born July 25, 1796, in Freeport, Maine. In 1822 he began teaching. For many years he was professor of ancient languages, and in 1838-73 was principal of the Phillips Exeter academy of New Hampshire. He died May 28, 1879, in Exeter, N.H.

Soule, Harrison, soldier, financier, was born Aug. 4, 1832, in Orleans county, N.Y. He served through the civil war; and was promoted major. For sixteen years he was ticket agent for the Michigan central railroad; and in 1883-1908 was treasurer of the university of Michigan. He is now vice-president of the First national bank of Ann Arbor, Mich.; and is prominently identified with the business and public affairs of his city and state.

Soule, Joshua, clergyman, bishop, was born Aug. 1, 1781, in Bristol, Maine. In 1810 he was placed in charge of the state of Maine as presiding elder. He was on the committee to draft the constitution of the delegated general conference, which since 1813 has been the fundamental law of the methodist church. In 1816 he edited the methodist magazine; and in 1820 was elected bishop. He filled the pastorate in New York and Baltimore, Md. In 1842 he was a delegate from the general conference of the United States to the Bristol Wesleyan conference. He died March 6, 1867, in Nashville, Tenn.

Soule, Nathan, congressman, was born in New York. In 1831-33 he was a representative from New York to the twenty-second congress; and was a member of the state assembly from Onondaga in 1837. He died in Onondaga, N.Y.

Soule, Pierre, journalist, lawyer, United States senator, was born in September, 1802, in France. He was a distinguished lawyer of New Orleans, La.; in 1845 was elected to the state senate. In 1845-47 and 1849-53 he was United States senator. He died March 26, 1870, in New Orleans, La.

Soule, Richard, lexicographer, author, was born June 8, 1812, in Danbury, Mass. He was a representative from Boston to the legislature in 1849. In 1855-59 he had supervision of the corps of editors that assisted Dr. Joseph E. Worcester in the preparation of his quarto dictionary. He was the author of Manual of English Pronunciation, Dictionary of English Synonyms; and Pronouncing Handbook. He died Dec. 25, 1877, in St. Louis, Mo.

Sousa, John Philip, musician, composer, was born Nov. 6, 1856, in Washington, D. C. He was a teacher at fifteen; was a conductor at seventeen; and was one of the first violins of Jacques Offenbach's orchestra when in the United States. In 1880-92 he was band leader in the United States marine corps; and since 1892 has been director of Sousa's band. He has composed and published many marches, orchestral suites, songs and waltzes; and the light operas El Capitan, Bride Elect and The Charlatan. He is the author of The Fifth String; and Pipetown Sandy.

South, Jerry Curtis, lawyer, state senator, lieutenant governor, genealogist, was born March 24, 1866, in Arkansas. He has served three times as a member of the house of representatives of Arkansas; has been a member of the state senate; and lieutenant-governor. In 1892 and in 1896 he was a delegate to the national democratic convention. He is the author of a genealogical work on the South family.

Southard, Isaac, congressman, was born in New Jersey. In 1831-33 he was a representative from New Jersey to the twenty-second congress. He died Sept. 18, 1850, in New Jersey.

Southall, Robert Goode, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born Dec. 26, 1852, in Amelia county, Va. Since 1877 he has practiced law in Amelia, Va.; and in 1899-1903 he was a member of the Virginia state legislature. In 1903-07 he was a democratic representative from Virginia to the fifty-eighth and fifty-ninth congresses.

Southard, James Harding, lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 20, 1851, in Lucas county, Ohio. In 1874 he graduated from Cornell university; and in 1877 was admitted to the practice of law. In 1882 he was assistant prosecuting attorney of Lucas county of Ohio, and for six years was prosecuting attorney. In 1895-1900 he was a representative from Ohio to the fifty-fourth, fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh, fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth and sixtieth congresses as a republican.

Southard, Henry, soldier, agriculturist, state legislator, congressman, was born in October, 1749, in Long Island, N.Y. He took an active part in the revolutionary war; and after the adoption of the constitution served nine years in the state legislature. In 1801-11 and 1815-21 he was a representative from New Jersey in the seventh to the eleventh and the fourteenth to the sixteenth congresses. He died June 2, 1842, in Baskingridge, N.J.

Southard, Milton Isaiah, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 20, 1836, in Licking county, Ohio. He was elected attorney for Muskingum county, Ohio, in 1867, 1869, and 1871. In 1873-79 he was a representative from Ohio to the forty-third, forty-fourth and forty-fifth congresses as a democrat.

Southard, Samuel Lewis, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, governor, was born June 9, 1787, in Baskingridge, N.J. In 1815 he was elected to the New Jersey legislature; and in a week after taking his seat was placed on the bench of the supreme court of New Jersey. In 1820 he was a presidential elector; and in 1819-23 and 1833-43 he was United States senator. In 1823-29 he was secretary of the navy. In 1830 he was elected attorney general of New Jersey; and in 1832-33 was governor. In 1833 he was again elected to the United States senate, and served until 1842; and on the death of President Harrison became the president of the senate. He died June 26, 1842, in Fredericksburg, Va.

Southerland, William Henry Hudson, naval officer, author, was born July 10, 1852, in New York City. Since 1872 he has served from midshipman to captain in the United States navy. He served in the Spanish-American war on the Cuban coast in command of the United States ship Eagle. He is the author of Azimuth Tables.

Southgate, Horatio, clergyman, bishop, author, was born July 5, 1812, in Portland, Maine. He was the first and only protestant episcopal bishop of Constantinople. He was consecrated in 1844, but resigned his office in 1850; and held various rectorships subsequently, including that of Zion church of New York City in 1859-72. He was the author of The Cross Above the Crescent; Parochial Sermons; Narrative of a Tour Through Armenia, etc.; The War in the East; and Practical Directions for the Observance of Lent. He died April 12, 1894, in Astoria, L.I.

Southgate, William W., congressman, was born in Covington, Ky. In 1837-39 he was a representative from Kentucky to the twenty-fifth congress; and was a presidential elector in 1840 and 1844. He died Dec. 26, 1844, in Covington, Ky.

Southwick, Albert Plympton, educator, journalist, author, poet, was born May 11, 1855, in Charleston, Mass. He was educated in the public schools, and graduated from the high school and seminary; and for four years attended college and the United States naval academy. In 1879-86 he was principal and superintendent of schools; and has been editor and editorial writer on several journals and newspapers. He is the author of over thirty books, the most important of which are The Dime Series of Question Books; Short Studies in Literature; Quizzism; Handy Helps; and Quiz-Manual of Teaching. His principal novels are entitled The Catherwood Mystery; A Fact in Fiction; Brown the Lawyer; and various songs, poems, plays and operas.

Southwick, George N., journalist, congressman, was born March 7, 1863, in Albany, N.Y. He was made editor of the Albany Evening Journal in 1889. In 1895-99 and 1901-11 he was a representative from New York to the fifty-fourth, fifty-fifth, fifty-seventh, fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth, sixtieth and sixty-first congresses as a republican.

Southwick, Solomon, journalist, author, was born Dec. 25, 1773, in Newpork, R.I. In 1812 he was postmaster of Albany, N.Y., and sheriff of the county. In 1819 he edited the Ploughboy, the first agricultural paper in the state; and also edited the National Democrat. He died Nov. 18, 1839, Albany, N.Y.

Southworth, Constant, colonist, author, was born in 1614 in Holland. He was one of the early settlers of Duxbury, which he represented in the legislature, becoming also commissioner for the united colonies, governor of the Kennebec plantation, and assistant governor of Plymouth. He was the supposed author of the supplement to New England's Memorial, by his cousin Nathaniel Morton. He died about 1685 in Duxbury, Mass.

Southworth, Mrs. Emma Dorothy Eliza, litterateur, author, was born Dec. 26, 1819, in Washington, D.C. She was the author of Ishmael; The Widow's Son; Retribution; The Family Doom; The Hidden Hand; Unknown; Gloria; Trail of the Serpent; Near and Dearest; and An Exile's Bride. She died June 30, 1899, in Washington, D.C.

Southworth, Franklin Chester, educator, clergyman, college president, was born Oct. 15, 1863, in North Collins, N.Y. In 1892-97 he was minister of the unitarian church in Duluth, Minn.; in 1897-99 was minister of the Third unitarian church of Chicago, Ill.; in 1899-1902 was secretary of the Western unitarian conference. Since 1902 he has been president of the Meadville theological school of Pennsylvania.

Southworth, George Champlin Shepard, educator, author, was born Dec. 13, 1842, in West Springfield, Mass. In 1863 he received the degree of M.A. from Yale university; in 1865 received the degree of LL.B. from the Harvard law school; and also received the honorary degree of LL.D. from Kenyon college. He has been professor of belles lettres at Kenyon college; and professor of sacred rhetoric in the theological seminary of the protestant episcopal church in the diocese of Ohio at Gambier. In 1908 he retired and moved to Greendale, Ohio. He is the author of Lectures on English Literature; and Descendants of Constant Southworth.

Southworth, Nathaniel, painter, artist, was born in 1806 in Scituate, Mass. He established himself as a miniature-painter in Boston; and subsequently in New York and Philadelphia. His portraits being characterized by accurate drawing and very delicate execution. He died April 25, 1858, in Dorchester, Mass.

Sovereign, James R., manager, orator. In 1894-97 he was general master workman of the knights of labor.

Sowards, Joseph, scout, was born about 1840 in eastern Kentucky. He enlisted in the eighth Kentucky regiment in the union army; and in 1861 was selected by Gen. James A. Garfield as a scout. Through him Garfield was enabled to drive the last organized body of Humphrey Marshall's men from Kentucky. He died about 1863 in eastern Kentucky.

Sowden, William H., congressman. In 1885-89 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-ninth and fiftieth congresses as a democrat. He died in 1907 in Pennsylvania.

Sower, Charles Gilbert, publisher, was born Nov. 21, 1821, in Norristown, Pa. He removed the famous publishing house of Christopher Sower to Philadelphia in 1844. He there continued publishing, first in his own name, then successively as Sower and Barnes; then Sower, Barnes and Potts; and then Sower, Potts and company. In 1888, one hundred and fifty years after it was founded by Christopher Sower, the house was incorporated as the Christopher Sower company by a charter granted by the state. He died March 23, 1902, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Sower, Christopher, physician, printer, was born in 1693 in Germany. In 1738 he issued a German almanac in Germantown, Pa., which was continued by his descendants until 1798. In 1739 he began the publication of a religious and secular journal; and in 1743 published a quarto edition of the Bible in German. He died Sept. 25, 1758, in Germantown, Pa.

Sower, Christopher, founder, bishop, was born Sept. 26, 1721, in Germany. He was the only son of Christopher Sower, born in 1693, who came to America in 1724, and commenced publishing in Germantown in 1728. He published the first American quarto edition of the holy bible in 1783; and died in 1758 in Germantown, Pa. The subject of this sketch became a minister of the gospel in 1748; and in 1753 became bishop of the church of the brethren. On the death of his father in 1758, he succeeded to the management of the publishing business. He developed the German printing trade; and issued two editions of the bible in 1763 and in 1776. He died Aug. 26, 1784, in Montgomery county, Pa. The business of Christopher Sower and company was continued by David Sower who was born in 1764 and died in 1835; by David Sower, born 1794, died 1862; by Charles G. Sower, born 1821, who has since been identified with the business for over fifty-five years.

Sowers, Edgar, soldier, was born in Ohio. In 1862 he was captain in the one hundred and eighteenth regiment Ohio infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He was honorably mustered out in 1865.

Spaeth, Adolph, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 29, 1839, in Germany. He is a prominent lutheran clergyman of Philadelphia, Pa.; and pastor of St. John's church since 1867. He is the author of Faith and Life Represented by Luther; Annotations on the Gospel According to St. John; Biographies of Krauth and of Mann; and a number of works in German.

Spahr, Charles Barzillai, journalist, author, was born July 20, 1860, in Columbus, Ohio. He was a political economist; and associate editor of The Outlook since 1886. He was the author of The Distribution of American Wealth, and America's Working People. He died in 1904 in Upper Montclair, N.J.

Spaight, Richard Dobbs, soldier, congressman, governor, United States senator, was born March 25, 1758, in New Berne, N.C. In 1781 he entered the house of commons of North Carolina; and in 1783-85 he was a delegate from North Carolina to the continental congress. He was one of the delegates to form the constitution of the United States, to which his name is appended. He was a presidential elector in 1797; and in 1792 was again elected to the local legislature. In 1792-95 he was the second governor of North Carolina; and in 1797-1811 he was a representative to the fifth and sixth congresses, after which he was elected to the state senate. He died Sept. 6, 1802, in New Berne, N.C.

Spaight, Richard Dobbs, agriculturist, state senator, congressman, governor, was born in 1796 in New Berne, N.C. He served four years in the North Carolina state legislature; and in 1823-25 he was a representative to the eighteenth congress. He subsequently served ten years in the state senate. He was the twentieth governor of North Carolina in 1835-37. He died Nov. 2, 1850, in New Berne, N.C.

Spalding, Benedict Joseph, clergyman, bishop, was born April 15, 1812, in Marion county, Ky. In 1847 he was called to the charge of the Cathedral church in Louisville; and was appointed vicar-general of the diocese. He died Aug. 4, 1868, in Louisville, Ky.

Spalding, Albert Goodwill, merchant, manufacturer, was born Sept. 2, 1850, in Byron, Ill. He is the senior partner in the house of A. G. Spalding and brothers, which corporation has a paid-up-capital of three million dollars, with branch houses in New York, Philadelphia, and other cities; in all fourteen different branches. In 1895 he was elected president of the national board of trade of cycle manufacturers. He owns a subdivision of nearly one thousand acres just south of the city of Chicago. He is best known as the American baseball magnate; and in 1891 was president of the Chicago baseball club.

Spalding, Catherine, first superior of the sisters of charity of Nazareth, was born Dec. 23, 1793, in Charles county, Md. In 1819 she sent a colony of sisters to Bardonia, who established the Bethlehem day school; and in 1820 St. Vincent convent was founded in Union county. She opened St. Catherine's school in Scott county in 1823. It was afterward removed to Lexington, where it still exists; and is regarded as one of the community's most flourishing establishments. The Academy of the Presentation was opened in Louisville in 1851, of which Mother Spalding took personal charge. She died March 20, 1858, in Louisville, Ky.

Spalding, Burleigh Folsom, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Dec. 3, 1853, in Craftsbury, Vt. In 1882-84 he was superintendent of public instruction; and in 1883-87 was a member of the capital commission of Dakota territory to select a location for the capital and construct buildings. In 1889 he was a member of the constitutional convention of North Dakota. Since 1880 he has practiced law in Fargo, N.D. In 1899-1901 and 1903-05 he was a representative to the fifty-sixth and fifty-eighth congresses. Since 1907 he has been associate justice of the supreme court of North Dakota, his present term ending in 1914.

Spalding, Charles Warren, civil engineer, banker, genealogist, was born June 11, 1843, in Nashua, N.H. For eleven years he was connected with the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad as civil engineer, land agent and secretary of the land department. He has been identified with various business enterprises; and he organized the firm of Spalding, Mitchell and company, wholesale coal dealers, of which his son is now the senior member; and for many years was president of a large banking institution. He was actively interested in the development of a large irrigation enterprise in Idaho, which company has constructed and is now operating one of the most complete and extensive systems of irrigating canals in the United States. In 1907 he published the Spalding Memorial.

Spalding, Elizabeth Hill, educator, author, was born in 1854 in Stoneham, Mass. After receiving her education in the Massachusetts public schools, she attended Vassar college. For many years she was an instructor of English in the girls' high school of Brooklyn, N.Y.; and is now a teacher of English in the Training school of the national young women's christian association and the School of philanthropy of New York City. She is the author of The Problem of Elementary Composition; The Language Speller; and The Principles of Rhetoric.

Spalding, Franklin Spencer, clergyman, bishop, was born March 13, 1865, in Erie, Pa. In 1896-1904 he was rector of St.

Paul's church of Erie, Pa. Since 1904 he has been protestant episcopal bishop of Salt Lake City, Utah.

Spalding, Frederick Putnam, civil engineer, author, was born April 7, 1857, in Wysox, Pa. For several years he was in practice as a civil engineer upon river improvements and municipal work. Since 1900 he has been professor of civil engineering in the university of Missouri, at Columbia, Mo. He is the author of Notes on Hydraulic Cement; Text-Book on Roads and Pavements; and Hydraulic Cement, Its Properties, Testing and Use.

Spalding, George, soldier, educator, banker, congressman, was born Nov. 12, 1836, in Scotland. During the civil war he was promoted to brevet brigadier-general. He was postmaster of Monroe in 1866-70; and special agent of the treasury department in 1871-75. In 1876 he was elected mayor of Monroe, Mich., and was president of the board of education in 1876 and 1892. In 1895-99 he was a representative to the fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses as a republican. He was appointed postmaster of Monroe, Mich.

Spalding, George Burley, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 11, 1835, in Montpelier, Vt. Since 1885 he has been pastor of the First presbyterian church of Syracuse, N.Y. He was a member of the constitutional convention of New Hampshire in 1877; was a member of the state legislature; and chaplain of that body in 1877. He is the author of a number of works.

Spalding, Harriet Mabel, litterateur, poet, was born Jan. 10, 1862, in Gloversville, N.Y. In 1877 she graduated from the Albany female academy; and won six gold medals in various branches of composition. She is the author of a volume of poems.

Spalding, Henry Harmon, pioneer, clergyman, missionary, was born Nov. 26, 1803, in Bath, N.Y. He was a missionary to the Indians for forty years in Oregon and Idaho. He crossed the Rocky mountains in 1836, the trail that Fremont followed six years later. He died Aug. 3, 1874, in Idaho.

Spalding, James Alfred, physician, author, was born Aug. 20, 1846, in Portland, N.H. He is a noted physician of Portland. He has made three voyages of study to Europe, and contributed valuable papers to medical publications. He is the author of The Sympathetic Diseases of the Eye.

Spalding, James Field, educator, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 5, 1839, in Enfield, Conn. In 1869-91 he was a clergyman of the protestant episcopal church; and in 1892 entered the catholic church. In 1899-1903 he was professor of English literature at Boston college, and since 1896 has been engaged as a lecturer. He is the author of The Teachings and Influence of St. Augustine; and The World's Unrest and Its Remedy.

Spalding, James Reed, journalist, author, was born Nov. 15, 1821, in Montpelier, Vt.

He established the New York World in 1860. As a journalist his vigor and elegance have never been excelled by a writer on the city press. His published addresses are Spiritual Philosophy and Material Politics; and The True Idea of Female Education. He died Oct. 10, 1872, in Dover, N.H.

Spalding, James Walter, manufacturer, was born July 28, 1856, in Byron, Ill. In 1876 he established the well-known mercantile house of A. G. Spalding and Brothers of Chicago, New York and Philadelphia, manufacturers and dealers in sporting goods.

Spalding, Jesse, lumber merchant, was born April 15, 1833, in Athens, Pa. His purchase of timber lands in Wisconsin and Michigan to supply his mills have aggregated three hundred thousand acres; and he was considered one of the greatest lumber merchants in America. He built and equipped the barracks of Camp Douglas during the civil war; was a personal friend of Grant and gave counsel in many grave exigencies; and he presided at the unveiling of the Grant monument at Lincoln park, Chicago. He was a director in many large corporations of Chicago; was three years in the city council; and in 1881 was appointed collector of the port of Chicago. He died in 1904 in Chicago, Ill.

Spalding, John Lancaster, bishop, author, poet, was born June 2, 1840, in Lebanon, Ky. He received his education in the

Mt. St. Mary's college and the university of Louvain, Belgium. In 1863 he was ordained and attached to the cathedral in Louisville as assistant. In 1869 he organized a congregation of colored people and built for their use the church of St. Augustine, of which he was appointed pastor. He was soon after made chancellor of the diocese and secretary to the bishop. In 1873 he commenced missionary work in the parish of St. Michael's in New York City, and became noted as an eloquent preacher and lecturer. When the diocese of Peoria was created in 1877 he was consecrated Roman catholic bishop, and his administration has been marked by energy and signal success. He is the author of Life of Archbishop Spalding; Essays and Reviews; Religious Mission of the Irish People; Lectures and Discourses; Socialism and Labor; The Spalding Year Book; and Religion and Art, and Other Essays. He is also a poet of rare genius; and the author of America, and Other Poems; The Poet's Praise; Education and the Higher Life; Means and Ends of Education; Things of the Mind; and Songs, chiefly from the German.

Spalding, John Franklin, clergyman, bishop, author, was born Aug. 25, 1828, in Belgrade, Maine. In 1858 he was ordained priest, and in 1873-1902 was protestant episcopal bishop of Colorado. He was president of the college of St. John the Evangelist, which embraces the Denver theological school, Wolfe hall school for girls, and Jarvis hall school for boys. He is the author of The Church and its Apostolic Ministry; Jesus Christ the Proof of Christianity; Manual of Prayers; The Threefold Ministry; The Best Mode of Working a Parish; and other works. He died March 9, 1902, in Erie, Pa.

Spalding, Lyman, physician, author, was born June 5, 1775, in Cornish, N.H. He was a physician at Portsmouth, N.H., subsequently of New York City; and was one of the early advocates of vaccination. He was the author of Reflections on Fever; and Reflections on Yellow Fever Periods. He died Oct. 31, 1821, in Portsmouth, N.H.

Spalding, Martin John, bishop, author, was born May 23, 1810, in Lebanon, Ky. He was a Roman catholic archbishop of Baltimore. He was the author of Review of D'Aubigne's History of the Reformation; Modern Civilization; Evidences of Catholicity; Life of Bishop Flaget; Early Catholic Missions in Kentucky; and Miscellanea. His nephew, John Lancaster Spalding, wrote The Life of Martin John Spalding in 1864-72. He died in 1872 in Baltimore, Md.

Spalding, Nathaniel Goodell, clergyman, educator, college president, author, was born Aug. 24, 1826, in Beekmantown, N.Y. In 1852 he graduated from Union college; and subsequently filled pastorates in West Troy, Fultonville, Greenbush, Gloversville, Albany and Saratoga Springs, N.Y.; and then became president of Fort Plains female college. In 1895 he was made state commissioner to the first national good roads parliament; and in 1896 was appointed a delegate for three successive years to the farmers' national congress, and was elected treasurer of that body. He wrote and lectured extensively on road improvements, taxation and other economic subjects. He died about 1908, in Scholes Landing, N.Y.

Spalding, Rufus Paine, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born May 3, 1797, in West Tisbury, Mass. In 1839 he was elected to the Ohio legislature; was re-elected in 1841, and was speaker of the house. In 1849 he was elected a judge of the supreme court. In 1863-69 he was a representative from Ohio to the thirty-eighth, thirty-ninth and fortieth congresses as a republican. He died Aug. 27, 1886, in Cleveland, Ohio.

Spalding, Simon, soldier, was born Jan. 16, 1742, in Plainfield, Conn. He was a soldier in the revolutionary army; became a lieutenant in 1776; and captain in 1778. In 1783 he moved to Shesequin, Bradford county, Pa., the upper part of the Wyoming settlement, where he rose through the various grades to general of militia. He died Jan. 24, 1814.

Spalding, Mrs. Susan Marr, poet, was born in Maine. She is a poet of Philadelphia. She is the author of The Wings of Icarus, and Other Poems.

Spalding, Thomas, congressman. In 1805-06 he was a representative from Georgia to the ninth congress. His seat was unsuccessfully contested, and after serving one year he resigned. He died in Georgia.

Spalding, Volney Morgan, educator, author, was born Jan. 29, 1849, in East Bloomfield, N.Y. He filled the chair of botany in the university of Michigan until 1904; and since 1904 has been with the Carnegie institution of Tucson, Ariz. He has been president Michigan academy of science. He is the author of An Introduction to Botany, and various papers on Plant Physiology, Forestry, and kindred subjects.

Spalding, Walter Raymond, educator, musician, author, was born May 22, 1865, in Northampton, Mass. In 1889-1900 he was an organist in several churches in Massachusetts. Since 1903 he has been assistant professor of music at Harvard university and at Radcliffe college. He is the author of Tonal Counterpoint; and part author of Modern Harmony in Its Theory and Practice.

Spalding, Warren Clyde, physician, surgeon, poet, was born in 1857 in Rensselaer, N.Y. For many years he was surgeon in the Omaha remedial institute; and now practices his profession in New York City.

Spalding, William Andrew, journalist, author, was born Oct. 3, 1852, in Ann Arbor, Mich. In 1874 he was on the staff of the Daily Herald of Los Angeles, Cal. He was city manager and editor of the Evening Express. He is the author of The Orange, Its Culture in California.

Spalding, Zephaniah Swift, soldier, sugar manufacturer, was born Sept. 2, 1837, at Warren, Ohio. He is the second son of the late Hon. Rufus Paine Spalding, a learned judge of the supreme court of Ohio. He served as a union soldier during the civil war; and was promoted to lieutenant-colonel. He has held various government positions; and received from the French government the order of the legion d'honneur. He has large sugar interests in the Hawaiian Islands.

Spangler, David, congressman. In 1833-37 he was a representative from Ohio to the twenty-third and twenty-fourth congresses. In 1844 he was nominated by the whig party for governor of the state, but declined the nomination. He died Oct. 18, 1856, in Coshocton, Ohio.

Spangler, Henry Thomas, clergyman, educator, clergyman, college president, was born Nov. 14, 1853, in Myerstown, Pa. In 1873 he graduated from the Ursinus college, of which institution he became professor of psychology in 1891, and president since 1893. He filled a pastorate in 1877-91.

Spangler, Henry Wilson, educator, mechanical engineer, author, was born Jan. 18, 1858, in Carlisle, Pa. In 1874 he graduated from the naval academy as a cadet engineer; and for many years served as instructor in marine engineering and naval architecture at the university of Pennsylvania. In 1891 he resigned from the navy as a passed assistant engineer; and since 1889 has been a professor at the university of Pennsylvania. During the Spanish-American war he was chief engineer in the United States navy. He is the author of Valve Gears; and Notes on Thermodynamics.

Spangler, Jacob, congressman, was born in 1768. In 1817-19 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the fifteenth congress. He was subsequently surveyor-general of the state. He died June 17, 1843, in York, Pa.

Spargo, John, American socialist, art critic, author, was born Jan. 31, 1876, in Cornwall, England. He was educated at the public elementary schools; evening technical schools; and in Oxford and Cambridge universities. He studied for the non-conformists ministry in England, but was never ordained. In 1904-08 he was a delegate to the national convention of the socialist party of the United States; and was chairman of the resolution committee of both occasions. In 1908 he was chairman of the New York state convention of the socialist party. He is a director and a member of the faculty of Rand school of social science of New York; a director of the West Chester society for the prevention of cruelty to children; and a member of many philanthropic and learned societies. He is the author of The Bitter Cry of Children; Underfed School Children; The Problem and the Remedy; The Socialist, Who They Are and What They Stand For; Socialism, a Summary and Interpretation of Socialistic Persons; Capitalist and Laborer; Common Sense of Socialism; The Common Sense of the Milk Question; Socialistic Readings for Children; The Spiritual Significance of Modern Socialism; The Socialism of William Morris; The Marx He Knew; The Substance of Socialism; and Karl Marx, His Life and Work.

Sparhawk, Frances Campbell, author, philanthropist, was born July 28, 1847, in Amesbury, Mass. She is a novelist and philanthropist of Newton, Mass., and has written much in behalf of the Indian cause. She is the author of A Chronicle of Conquest, a romance of the Indian school at Carlisle; Little Polly Blatchley; Miss West's Class in Geography; Elizabeth, a colonial romance; The Query Club; A Lazy Man's Work; Onoqua, an Indian Story; Senator Intrigue and Inspector Nosely; A Wedding Tangle; and Life of Lincoln for Boys.

Sparkman, James Truslow, merchant, reformer, was born Sept. 27, 1842, in Brooklyn, N.Y. In 1861 he entered into business with his father, James D. Sparkman of New York City, who was a large importing merchant. In recent years he has advocated various measures of reform, notably the labor day bill, the half-holiday bill, the small-parks bill and the tenement-house reform bill; and has been uniformly successful in procuring the passage of measures of reformatory legislation.

Sparkman, Stephen Lanother, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born July 29, 1849, in Hernando county, Fla. In 1878-87 he was states attorney for the sixth judicial circuit. In 1895-1915 he was a representative from Florida to the fifty-fourth, fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh, fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth, sixtieth, sixty-first, sixty-second and sixty-third congresses as a democrat.

Sparks, Edwin Erle, educator, lecturer, college president, author, was born in 1860 in Licking county, Ohio. In 1884 he graduated from the Ohio state university; and has received the degree of A.M. and Ph.D. In 1884-85 he was an instructor in the Ohio state university, and in 1890-95 was a professor of the Pennsylvania state college. In 1893-95 he lectured for the American society university extension; in 1895-

1908 was professor of American history and dean of the university college at the university of Chicago; and since 1908 has been president of the Pennsylvania state college. He is the author of Expansion of the American People; The Men Who Made the Nation; Formative Incidents in American Diplomacy; United States of America, in two volumes; and The Foundation of National Development.

Sparks, Jared, clergyman, educator, author, was born May 10, 1789, in Willington, Conn. He was a unitarian clergyman; pastor at Baltimore in 1819-23; professor of history at Harvard university in 1839-49; and president of Harvard university in 1849-53. He is best known by the American Biography which he edited, and of which he was in part the author. It includes sixty lives, of which he wrote those of Ethan Allen; Benedict Arnold; Marquette; La Salle; Pulaski; Ribault; Charles Lee; Ledyard. He was also author of a Life of Gouverneur Morris. He published editions of the works of Franklin and Washington, with notes and life of each; and also Correspondence of the American Revolution. He died March 14, 1866, in Cambridge, Mass.

Sparks, John, governor. In 1903-07 he was governor of the state of Nevada as a democrat. He died in 1908 in Carson City, Nev.

Sparks, William A. J., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Nov. 19, 1828, near Albany, N.Y. He was a member of the Illinois state legislature in 1857-58; and was a state senator in 1863-64. He was a delegate to the national democratic convention at New York in 1868. In 1875-83 he was a representative from Illinois to the forty-fourth, forty-fifth, forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses as a democrat. He died in 1904 in Carlyle, Ill.

Sparks, William Henry, lawyer, author, poet, was born Jan. 16, 1800, on St. Simon's Island, Ga. He was a Mississippi planter; and after 1850 a lawyer of New Orleans. He was the author of Memories of Fifty Years. He was also a popular poet, his best known poems being Somebody's Darling; and The Dying Year. He died Jan. 13, 1882, in Marietta, Ga.

Sparkling, Samuel Edwin, educator, author, was born Jan. 8, 1866, in Rensselaer, Ind. He has been alderman of the city of Madison, Wis. He is assistant professor of political science at the university of Wisconsin. He is the author of Organization and Administration of the City of Chicago.

Sparrow, William, clergyman, theologian, was born March 12, 1801, in Charlestown, Mass. In 1840-74 he was professor in the Episcopal theological seminary of Alexandria, Va. He was an able and successful teacher and was a sermonizer of rare excellence. Two years after his death a volume was published containing his Life and Correspondence. He died Jan. 17, 1874, in Alexandria, Va.

Spaulding, Elbridge Gerry, financier, legislator, author, congressman, was born Feb. 24, 1809, in Summer Hill, N.Y. In 1834 he moved to Buffalo, N.Y.; and was mayor of that city in 1847. In 1848 he was elected a member of the New York legislature; and in 1849-51 and 1859-63 he was a representative to the thirty-first, thirty-sixth and thirty-seventh congresses. For four years he was on the committee of ways and means; and was the author of the legal tender act. In 1853 he was elected treasurer of the state of New York. In 1852 he engaged in banking; and in 1864 organized the Farmers' and Mechanics' national bank of Buffalo, of which he was president until his death. He took a great interest in genealogical history pertaining to the Spaulding family, and erected a monument in Buffalo, N. Y., in honor of the nine Spaldings who fought in the battle of Bunker Hill. He died May 5, 1897, in Buffalo, N. Y.

Spaulding, Edward, electrician, inventor, was born Sept. 3, 1824, in Milford, N. H. He has taken out about ten patents, the most notable of which is a magnetic and electric ear telephone for enabling the deaf to hear. Among his other inventions is a process for keeping cider sweet in any climate.

Spaulding, Frank Ellsworth, educator, author, was born Nov. 30, 1866, in Dublin, N. H. Since 1904 he has been superintendent of schools at Newton, Mass. He is the author of the Individual Child and His Education; The Passaic Primer; joint author with E. T. Bryce of Living Thoughts For All Ages, in three volumes; The Adeline Readers, in six volumes; Learning to Read, a Manual for Teachers; and The Page Story Book.

Spaulding, Henry George, lecturer, clergyman, author, was born May 28, 1837, in Spencer, Mass. He was in the service of the United States sanitary commission during the civil war. Since 1892 he has been engaged in preaching, lecturing and traveling in the United States and Europe. He is the author of The Teachings of Jesus; Hebrew Prophets and Kings; and Lessons and Commentary on the Gospel of Luke.

Spaulding, John Franklin, clergyman, bishop. In 1873 he became protestant episcopal bishop of Colorado.

Spaulding, John Perrin, manufacturer, philanthropist, was born Jan. 10, 1832, in Madison, Maine. He was known as the sugar king, millionaire and bachelor of Boston, Mass. Before the flames of the big Chicago fire were extinguished he wired a ruined merchant to draw on us for one hundred thousand dollars. In 1892 he gave thirty-six thousand to eight young women in his employ. His protegee, Helen Keller, that wonderful deaf, dumb and blind girl, owed her splendid education to his generosity. He bequeathed the bulk of his fortune to various charitable and religious institutions. He died Jan. 11, 1896, in Boston, Mass.

Spaulding, Justin, clergyman, missionary, was born in 1802 in Moretown, Vt. After filling a number of appointments, he was selected in 1836 as missionary to Brazil, where he labored as superintendent of the mission until 1841. On his return he was transferred to the New Hampshire conference. He died in 1865 in Moretown, Vt.

Spaulding, Levi, clergyman, missionary, was born Aug. 22, 1791, in Jaffrey, N. H. He was ordained at Salem, Mass. In 1820 he arrived as a missionary of the American board at Jaffna, Ceylon; and at the time of his death he was the oldest missionary of the American board. He died June 18, 1873, in Ceylon.

Spaulding, Nathan Weston, manufacturer, inventor, philanthropist, was born Sept. 24, 1820, in North Anson, Maine. He went to California in 1851; and ten years later established a saw manufactory in San Francisco. He took out several United States patents on saws, saw-teeth and machines, which have completely revolutionized the circular saw business. In 1871 he was elected mayor of Oakland; received the reelection without opposition; declined the nomination for a third term; and donated the salary of his office to the Oakland benevolent society. He served four years as United States assistant treasurer of San Francisco; was one of the founders of the Mechanics' institute of San Francisco; and was selected by the late Hon. Leland Stanford as one of the trustees of the Leland Stanford, Jr., university. He stood high in masonic circles; and was a leader in various philanthropic movements. He died Oct. 4, 1903, in San Francisco, Cal.

Spaulding, Oliver Lyman, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 2, 1833, in Jaffrey, N. H. He graduated in 1855 from Oberlin college, Ohio. In 1862 he entered the United States service as captain in the twenty-third regiment Michigan infantry, and was rapidly promoted to brevet brigadier-general. He is regent of university of Michigan; in 1881-83 he was a representative to the forty-seventh congress. In 1890-1903 he was assistant secretary of the treasury; and in 1890 was a delegate from Michigan to the national republican convention at St. Louis.

Spaulding, Solomon, lawyer, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 20, 1761, in Ashford, Conn. He was a graduate of Dartmouth college; and wrote a remarkable story of fiction, entitled Manuscript Found, which is now generally regarded as the basis of the Mormon Bible. He died Sept. 10, 1816, in Amity, Pa.

Spaulding, Wesley J., clergyman, educator, college president, was born April 18, 1827, in Newark, N. J. In 1855 he became professor of Greek in the Iowa Wesleyan university of Mount Pleasant, Iowa; and in 1876 became president of that institution. He was pastor in the methodist episcopal church; and contributed extensively to current literature. He died about 1900 in Mount Pleasant, Iowa.

Spear Alfred Moore, lawyer, jurist, was born March 17, 1852, in Madison, Maine. In 1883-85 he was a member of the Maine house of representatives; and in 1891-93 was a member of the state senate. Since 1902 he has been an associate justice of the supreme judicial court of Maine.

Spear, Charles, clergyman, author, was born May 1, 1801, in Boston, Mass. He was a universalist minister of Boston; and active in prison reform. He was the author of Names and Titles of Christ; Essays on the Punishment of Death; Plea for Discharged Convicts; and Voices from Prison. He died April 18, 1863, in Washington, D.C.

Spear, Ellis, lawyer, commissioner of patents, was born Oct. 15, 1834, in Warren, Maine. He was a citizen of Maine; and was commissioner of patents in the department of the interior in 1877-78. He settled in the practice of law in Washington, D.C.

Spear, Samuel P., soldier, was born in Boston, Mass. He commanded several expeditions during the civil war; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general. He died May 5, 1875, in New York City.

Spear, Samuel Thayer, journalist, clergyman, author, was born March 4, 1812, in Ballston Spa, N.Y. He was a Presbyterian clergyman of Brooklyn; and editor of The New York Independent in 1871-91. He was the author of Family Power; Religion and the State; Constitutionality of the Legal Tender Act; The Law of the Federal Judiciary; The Law of Extradition; and The Bible Heaven. He died April 1, 1891, in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Spear, William Thomas, lawyer, jurist, was born June 3, 1834, in Warren, Ohio. In 1878 he became judge of the court of common pleas; and in 1885 was elected justice of the supreme court of Ohio, his present term ending in 1912.

Spearman, Frank Hamilton, banker, author, was born in Buffalo, N.Y. In 1889 he became a bank president; and since 1895 has been in literary work as a magazine writer and author. He is the author of The Nerve of Foley; The Close of the Day; The Strategy of Great Railroads; and Whispering Smith.

Spears, James G., soldier, was born in Tennessee. In 1861 he was lieutenant-colonel in the first regiment Tennessee infantry; and in 1862 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died July 22, 1869.

Spears, John Randolph, journalist, author, was born April 21, 1850, in Van Wert, Ohio. For nearly twenty years he has been a reporter in New York City. He is the author of Gold Digging of Cape Horn; The Port of Missing Ships; History of Our Navy, in five volumes; History of the American Slaves; Our Heroes of the Surf; The Fugitive; and a Short History of the American Navy.

Spears, William T., physician, surgeon, poet, was born Sept. 10, 1854, in Morgan county, Ga. He is a noted physician and surgeon of the south at Rutledge, Ga. He is the author of a volume of poems entitled Sentiments of Leisure Hours.

Speece, Conrad, clergyman, author, poet, was born Nov. 7, 1776, in New London, Va. In 1813-36 he was pastor of Augusta church, near Staunton, Va. He was the author of The Mountaineer; and a number of poems. He died Feb. 15, 1836, in Staunton, Va.

Speed, Frederic, soldier, jurist, was born Sept. 22, 1841, in Ithaca, N.Y. He served as a private soldier during the war; and became assistant adjutant general with the rank of captain. In 1865 he settled in Vicksburg, Miss.; in 1869-70 was judge of the criminal court of Warren county; and in 1883 was grand master of masons.

Speed, James, lawyer, educator, state senator, cabinet officer, was born March 11, 1812, in Farmington, Ky. In 1853 he settled in the practice of law at Louisville, Ky.; in 1847 was elected to the state legislature; and in 1861 was elected to the state senate. In 1864-66 he was attorney general of the United States. In 1872 he became a professor in the Louisville law school. He died June 25, 1887, in Jefferson county, Ky.

Speed, James Breckinridge, soldier, merchant, business president, was born in Louisville, Ky. Since 1865 he had been engaged in business in Louisville, Ky.; and was president of the Louisville cement company; president of the Louisville street railway system; and president of the Ohio valley telephone company. He died July 12, 1912, in Louisville, Ky.

Speed, John, soldier, jurist, was born May 17, 1772, in Virginia. He served with the volunteer forces in the service of the United States against the Indians in 1791; and was a judge of the quarter sessions court. In 1828 he wrote a series of articles upon the political topics of the day. He died March 30, 1840, in Farmington, Ky.

Speed, John, soldier, lawyer, was born in 1842 in Louisville, Ky. He served in the union army during the civil war in the ninth Kentucky cavalry; and was promoted assistant adjutant-general. In 1865 he was made paymaster with the rank of major. He became the most noted lawyer of Louisville, Ky.

Speed, John Gilmer, journalist, author, was born Sept. 21, 1853, in Kentucky. In 1888-89 he edited the American Magazine; and for two years was editor of Leslie's Weekly. He is the author of A Fall River Incident; The Gilmers in America; A Deal in Denver; and The Horse in America.

Speed, John James, soldier, inventor, was born in 1803 in Mecklenburg county, Va. He was an efficient co-worker of Professor Morse in introducing and perfecting magnetic telegraph apparatus; and was president of the western telegraph company in Detroit; and at Portland, Maine, established the independent line to Washington. He died in 1867 in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Speed, John James, physician, college president, was born Oct. 31, 1816, in Bardstown, Ky. In 1850 he moved to Louisville, Ky. In 1861-69 he was postmaster. In 1874 he was elected president of the College of physicians and surgeons; and was also professor in the hospital college of medicine.

Speed, Philip, soldier, farmer, manufacturer, was born April 12, 1819, in Farmington, Ky. He served as captain in the war with Mexico; and as a major in the civil war. In the latter part of the war period he was appointed collector of internal revenue. He was a model officer, giving entire satisfaction to the government. He died Nov. 1, 1882.

Speed, Thomas, soldier, legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 25, 1768, in Virginia. He moved to Kentucky in 1782; and participated in the war of 1812. In 1817-19 he was a representative to the fifteenth congress; and in 1821, 1822 and 1840 he was a member of the Kentucky legislature. He died Feb. 20, 1842, at his home, near Bardstown, Ky.

Speed, Thomas, soldier, lawyer, genealogist, was born Nov. 26, 1841, in Bardstown, Ky. In 1862 he joined the union army as a private; was made first lieutenant and then adjutant of the regiment, twelfth Kentucky veteran infantry; and also served on brigade staff. After the war he studied law at the Michigan university; and has ever since practiced his profession in Louisville, Ky. He is the author of The Wilderness Road; The Political Club; History of the Union Regiments of Kentucky; The Speed Family; and other works.

Speel, John N., civil engineer, naval officer, was born July 30, 1853, in Harrisburg, Pa. He was educated in the public and private schools of Harrisburg and Philadelphia, Pa. He has been a civil engineer to the Pennsylvania canal company; was engaged on the North Dakota boundary survey; and in 1875 entered the United States navy as an assistant paymaster. Since 1903 he has held the rank of paymaster in the United States navy; and is now stationed at the navy yard off Brooklyn as general storekeeper.

Speer, Ocie, lawyer, jurist, author, was born April 1, 1869, in Johnson county, Texas. In 1890 he was admitted to the practice of law; and in the same year was elected county attorney of Fisher county, Texas. In 1893 he moved to Bowre, Texas, where he practiced law as senior member of the firm of Speer and Speer. In 1902 he was elected an associate justice for the court of civil appeals for the second supreme judiciary district of Texas at Fort Worth. In 1908 he was re-elected as an associate justice. He is the author of Speer's Law of Married Women in Texas, published in 1902.

Speer, Emory, soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, author, was born Sept. 3, 1848, in Culloden, Ga. In 1873-76 he was solicitor-general for the western judicial circuit of Georgia. In 1879-83 he was a representative from Georgia to the forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses; and since 1885 has been United States district judge for the southern district of Georgia. He is the author of Removal of Causes from State to United States Courts; and Lectures on the Constitution of the United States.

Speer, Robert Elliott, litterateur, author, was born Sept. 10, 1867, in Huntingdon, Pa. Since 1891 he has been secretary of the presbyterian board of foreign missions. In 1896-97 he made a tour of visitation of the Christian missions in Persia, India, China, Korea and Japan. He is the author of The Man Christ Jesus; The Man Paul; Missions and Politics in Asia; A Memorial of a True Life; The Marks of a Man; and other works.

Speer, Robert Milton, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 8, 1838, in Cassville, Pa. In 1871-75 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-second and forty-third congresses as a democrat. He died Jan. 17, 1890, in New York City.

Speer, Thomas J., soldier, merchant, congressman, was born Aug. 21, 1837, in Monroe county, Ga. In 1867-68 he was a member of the constitutional convention of Georgia; and in 1868-70 was a member of the Georgia state senate. In 1871-72 he was a representative from Georgia to the forty-second congress as a republican. He died Aug. 18, 1872, in Georgia.

Speer, William, missionary, author, was born April 24, 1822, in New Alexandria, Pa. He was a presbyterian missionary in China. He was the author of China and the United States; The Great Revival of 1800; and God's Rule for Christian Giving. He died in 1904 in China.

Speers, John Boyd, soldier, banker, financier, was born June 24, 1830, in Ireland. In 1861-66 he served as a soldier in the third regiment Arkansas infantry; and was promoted to the rank of major. In 1881 he was engaged in banking and mercantile pursuits at Pine Bluff, Ark.

Speight, Jesse, state legislator, congressman, United States senator, was born Sept. 22, 1795, in Greene county, N.C. In 1822 he was a member of the house of commons of North Carolina; and in 1823-27 was a member of the state senate. In 1829-37 he was a representative from North Carolina to the twenty-first, twenty-second, twenty-third and twenty-fourth congresses. He moved to Mississippi; and was elected to the legislature there, and made speaker. In 1845-47 he was United States senator. He died May 1, 1847, in Columbus, Miss.

Speir, Samuel Fleet, surgeon, inventor, was born April 9, 1838, in Brooklyn, N.Y.

He was the inventor of a new method of arresting surgical hæmorrhage by artery-constriction, for which he received a prize from the state medical society in 1871; and of a new method for the differential diagnosis of morbid growths, based on the examination of minute specimens. He died Dec. 19, 1895, in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Spellmeyer, Henry, clergyman, bishop, was born Nov. 25, 1847, in New York City. For thirty-five years he filled a pastorate in Newark, N.J.; and in 1904 was elected methodist episcopal bishop; and resides in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Spelman, Henry, colonist, was born about 1600 in England. Having acquired the Indian language during his captivity, he was of great use to his countrymen as interpreter till he was killed by the savages in 1622. He left in manuscript a Relation of Virginia.

Spence, Adams Knight, educator, college president, was born March 12, 1831, in Scotland. In 1858 he graduated from the university of Michigan; and until 1870 was connected with that institution as professor of Greek, Latin and French. In 1870-77 he was acting president of Fiske university of Nashville, Tenn.; and until 1900 was dean of the faculty and professor of Greek and French in that institution. He died April 24, 1900, in Nashville, Tenn.

Spence, Carroll, lawyer, legislator, diplomat, was born Feb. 22, 1818, in Baltimore, Md. He was elected to the Maryland state legislature soon after beginning the practice of law. In 1853-58 he was United States minister to Turkey. He concluded the first treaty ever made between the United States and Persia. He died Aug. 9, 1896, in Baltimore, Md.

Spence, John Fletcher, soldier, educator, college president, clergyman, was born Feb. 3, 1828, in Greenville, Ohio. In 1853 he graduated from the Ohio Wesleyan university. He served throughout the civil war as a chaplain; in 1865-69 was president of the Knoxville female college, now the east Tennessee female institute. In 1867 he was one of the founders of Grant university; and for some nineteen years was president and chancellor of that institution. In 1893 he founded the American temperance university at Harriman, Tenn.; for ten years was chancellor; and is now chancellor emeritus. He has raised more than three hundred thousand dollars for educational purposes, and has aided more than two hundred needy students in obtaining a liberal education. He is a chaplain in chief of the Grand army of the republic of the United States of America.

Spence, John Selby, congressman, United States senator, was born Feb. 29, 1788, near Snow Hill, Md. In 1823-25 and 1831-33 he was a representative from Maryland to the eighteenth and twenty-second congresses; and in 1835-41 he was United States senator. He died Oct. 29, 1840, near Berlin, Md.

Spence, Robert Traill, naval officer, was born about 1785 in Portsmouth, N.H. He was made a lieutenant in 1807; and master-commandant in 1813. In Africa he built the first fort at Mesurado, in Liberia. He died Sept. 26, 1827, near Baltimore, Md.

Spence, Thomas Adam, lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 20, 1810, in Accomac county, Va. He was a presidential elector in 1840; and in 1843-45 he was a representative from Maryland to the twenty-eighth congress. He died Nov. 10, 1877, in Washington, D.C.

Spence, Walter, clergyman, author, was born July 5, 1867, in Rural Retreat, Va. He is a congregational clergyman of Kingfisher, Oklahoma. He is the author of Buck to Christ.

Spence, William Wallace, financier, philanthropist, was born in 1815 in Scotland. He has been a finance commissioner of Baltimore, Md. In 1890 he presented the city of Baltimore a fifty thousand dollar statue of Sir William Wallace, from whom he descends; and the monument was placed on a site in Druid Hill park. He died in Baltimore, Md.

Spencer, Mrs. Alla Hubbard, litterateur, poet, was born July 3, 1860, in Henry county, Mo. She was educated in the district schools of her native state; in 1876 matriculated in the Pritchett institute of Glasgow, Mo.; and graduated from that institution in 1880. In 1884 she was married to Dr. Benjamin Franklin Spencer of Weston, Texas. She was the author of various essays and translations; and a volume of poems entitled A Souvenir. She died Dec. 1, 1889, in Collin county, Texas.

Spencer, Ambrose, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born Dec. 13, 1765 in Salisbury Conn. He settled in Hudson, N.Y., and was elected to the assembly in 1793; and in 1795-1802 served in the state senate. In 1804 he became a justice of the supreme court of New York. In 1829-31 he was a representative to the twenty-first congress. He died March 13, 1848, in Lyons, N.Y.

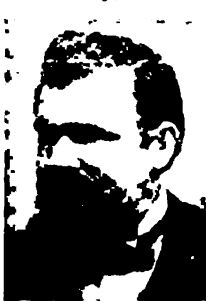

Spencer, Mrs. Anna Garlin, minister, author, was born April 17, 1851, in Attleborough, Mass. Until 1903 she was a unitarian minister of Providence, R.I.; and a lecturer on philanthropy at teachers' institutes. She is an associate director of the school of philanthropy of New York City. She is the author of Order of Service for Public Worship.

Spencer, Mrs. Bella Zilfa, litterateur, author, was born March 1, 1843, in England. She was the author of Ora, the Lost Wife; Tried and True; and Surface and Depth. She died Aug. 1, 1867, in Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Spencer, Charles Achilles, manufacturer, pioneer, was born Sept. 13, 1813, in Lenox, N.Y. He was a pioneer in developing the possibilities of lens making as applied to the microscope. For several years he was engaged in the manufacture of lenses. He died Sept. 28, 1881, in Geneva, N.Y.

Spencer, Benjamin Franklin, physician, surgeon, was born Sept. 29, 1852, in Lown-des county, Ala. He was educated at the Mississippi college; at the Union university of Murfreesboro, Tenn.; and in 1874 graduated from the medical department of the university of Louisville. In 1874-76 he practiced medicine in Fulton, Ky.; and since that time has practiced his profession in Weston, Texas. He is a member of the American medical and North Texas medical associations; and has been president of the Collin county medical society. He is medical examiner for the Mutual life, Equitable, New York Life, Prudential, Fidelity Mutual, Manhattan and Hartford life insurance companies.

Spencer, Christopher Miner, manufacturer, inventor, was born June 20, 1833, in Manchester, Conn. In 1869-74 he manufactured drop forgings. He invented a machine for turning sewing machine spools; and a machine for turning metal screws automatically. In 1876 he began the manufacture of his inventions; and later invented a blank cam cylinder; a repeating shot gun; and a machine which produced finished screws direct from the wire.

Spencer, Claudius Buchanan, editor, journalist, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 20, 1856, in Fowlerville, Mich. In 1881 he entered the methodist episcopal ministry; for eleven years was in the Detroit conference; and since then has been in Colorado. Since 1900 he has edited the Central Christian Advocate of Kansas City, Mo. He is the author of Blue Flower of Methodism.

Spencer, Mrs. Cornelia Phillips, litterateur, author, was born March 20, 1825, in Harlem, N.Y. She is the author of The Last Ninety Days of the War in North Carolina; and History of North Carolina.

Spencer, Corwin H., business president, capitalist, was born Dec. 13, 1851, in Morgan county, Ohio. He was especially interested in electric railways and was president of the Union railways company; vice-president of the St. Louis transfer company; vice-president of the Mercantile trust company; and a senior member of the brokerage firm of C. H. Spencer and son. He died May 3, 1906, in St. Louis, Mo.

Spencer, Edgar A., lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 23, 1847, in Cherry Valley, N.Y. He was educated at the Cherry Valley academy and at the Cooperstown seminary of New York. In 1875 he began the practice of law in Gloversville, N.Y.; was city clerk in 1876-77; and city attorney in 1879-82. In 1895 he was a member of the New York state constitutional convention. Since 1901 he has been justice of the supreme court of New York for term ending in 1915.

Spencer, Elihu, clergyman, was born Feb. 12, 1721, in East Haddam, Conn. About 1758 he was appointed chaplain of the New York troops that were forming for service in the French war. In 1769-84 he was pastor of the Presbyterian church of Trenton, N.J. He died Dec. 27, 1784, in Trenton, N.J.

Spencer, Elijah, legislator, congressman, was born in Columbia county, N.Y. In 1819 he was a member of the New York state house of representatives. In 1821-23 he was a representative from New York to the seventeenth congress. He died in New York.

Spencer, Francis Elias, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born April 25, 1834, in Ticonderoga, N.Y. In 1861-66 he was district attorney of Santa Clara county, Cal. In 1871 he was elected to the lower branch of the legislature as a republican. In 1879 he was elevated to the bench of the superior court of Santa Clara county. He died in 1898, in San Jose, Cal.

Spencer, Francis M., educator, clergyman, college president, was born Feb. 24, 1842, in Cedarville, Ohio. In 1879-86 he was president of Muskingum college; and since 1889 has been president of Cooper college of Sterling, Kan.

Spencer, Frederick R., painter, artist, was born Jan. 7, 1806, in Lennox, N.Y. Some of his portraits were Robert E. Launitz, Thomas Thompson and Zadock Pratt. The National academy owns his portrait of Edwin White. He died April 3, 1875, in Wampoville, N.Y.

Spencer, George Eliphaz, soldier, lawyer, United States senator, was born Nov. 1, 1836, in Jefferson county, N.Y. He was secretary of the Iowa state senate in 1858. He entered the army as a captain in 1862; and was brevetted a brigadier-general for gallantry in the field. He settled in Alabama; and in 1867 was appointed a register in bankruptcy for the fourth district of Alabama. In 1867-79 he was United States senator. He died Feb. 19, 1893, in Washington, D.C.

Spencer, Guilford Lawson, chemist, author, was born Dec. 21, 1882, in Lafayette, Ind. He has been assistant chemist and chief of the sugar laboratory in the bureau of chemistry at Washington, D.C. Since 1906 he has been chief chemist for the Cuban-American sugar company of New York City. He is the author of A Handbook for Cane-Sugar Manufacturers and Chemists; and A Handbook for Beet-Sugar Chemists.

Spencer, Herbert Ruthven, manufacturer, founder, was born Nov. 1, 1849, in Canastota, N.Y. For many years he was engaged with his father in the manufacture of lenses. In 1880 he established a business of his own and continued to make microscopes, telescopes and objectives. He died Feb. 7, 1900, in Buffalo, N.Y.

Spencer, Hiram Ladd, journalist, author, poet, was born in 1829 in Castleton, Vt. He is the author of Summer Saunterings Away Down East; and a volume of poems.

Spencer, Horatio Nelson, soldier, physician, founder, otologist, was born July 17, 1842, in Port Gibson, Miss. In 1862 he graduated as valedictorian from Oakland college of Mississippi. He received the degree of A.B. and A.M. from the university of Alabama; received the degree of M.D. from the college of physicians and surgeons of New York City; and received the degree of LL.D. from the Westminster college. During the civil war he served as a private in the confederate army of the Tennessee; and since 1870 has practiced his profession in St. Louis, Mo. In 1879 he was one of the organizers and editors of the American Journal of Otology; and in 1879 established the St. Louis Courier of Medicine. In 1881 he was one of the founders of what is now the Missouri medical college of the Washington university, in which institution he has ever since filled the chair of diseases of the ear. He is a member of the American otological society; and a member of various other medical, scientific and patriotic associations. He has been a constant contributor to medical literature.

Spencer, Ichabod Smith, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 23, 1798, in Rupert, Vt. In 1832-54 he was pastor of the Second presbyterian church of Brooklyn, N.Y. He was the author of A Pastor's Sketches; Sermons; Sacramental Discourses; and Evidences of Divine Revelation. He died Nov. 23, 1854, in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Spencer, James Bradley, soldier, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born April 26, 1781, in Salisbury, Conn. He served as a captain in the war of 1812. He was in the legislature of New York in 1831-32; and in 1837-39 he was a representative from New York to the twenty-fifth congress. He subsequently held the various positions of elector, magistrate, county judge, collector and Indian agent. He died March 26, 1848, in Fort Covington, N.Y.

Spencer, James Clark, educator, lawyer, jurist, was born May 29, 1826, in Fort Covington, N.Y. He received his education in the Fort Covington academy; of which he was also principal for several years. He commenced the practice of law in 1850 in his native county. Four years later he moved to Ogdensburg; in 1857 he was appointed United States district attorney for the northern district of New York; and after the expiration of his term moved to New York City. He served with distinction as judge of the superior court of New York; in 1875 he was appointed a referee in the case of the receiver of the Erie railway company; in 1883 he was one of the commissioners for building a new aqueduct for the city of New York; and served as president of the board. In 1897 he was appointed assistant corporation counsel. He died in 1901 in New York City.

Spencer, James Grafton, farmer, legislator, congressman, was born Sept. 13, 1844, near Port Gibson, Miss. He entered the confederate army as private in Cowan's battery of light artillery; and served until the close of the war in the army of Mississippi and Tennessee. He returned to his ancestral home and began farming, which he has followed since, living in the house in which he was born. In 1892 he was sent as representative to the state legislature, serving two sessions; and in 1895-97 he was a representative to the fifty-fourth congress as a democrat.

Spencer, Jesse Ames, clergyman, educator, author, was born June 17, 1816, in Hyde Park, N.Y. He is an episcopal clergyman; professor in the college of the City of New York in 1860-83; and editor of many valuable classical textbooks. He was the author of History of the English Reformation; History of the United States, a very popular work; Sermons; Discourses; The East; Sketches of Travel in Egypt and the Holy Land; Greek Praxis; Five Last Things; Studies in Eschatology; Papaliam vs. Catholic Truth; and Memorabilia of Sixty-Five Years, 1820-86. He died Sept. 2, 1898, in Passaic, N.J.

Spencer, John Canfield, lawyer, jurist, congressman, cabinet officer, was born Jan. 8, 1788, in New York. In 1817-19 he was a representative from New York to the fifteenth congress; in 1820 was elected to the state assembly; and in 1824 was elected to the state senate for four years. In 1832 he was again elected to the state assembly; and in 1839 was appointed secretary of state. In 1841-43 he was secretary of war; and in 1843-44 he was secretary of the treasury. He was a successful lawyer, and achieved his highest fame from his connection with the revision of the statutes of New York. He died May 18, 1855, in Albany, N.Y.

Spencer, Joseph, soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1714 in East Haddam, Conn. He was elected a member of the council in 1766; was appointed brigadier-general in the continental army in 1775; became major-general in 1776; was in the expedition against Rhode Island in 1778; and assisted in Sullivan's retreat. In 1777-79 he was a delegate from Connecticut to the continental congress; and in 1780 was again elected to the council, and was annually re-elected until his death. He died Jan. 13, 1789, in East Haddam, Conn.

Spencer, Joseph William Winthrop, geologist, author, was born March 26, 1851, in Canada. In 1888-93 he was state geologist for Georgia. He is the author of Geological Survey of Southwestern Georgia; Submarine Valleys of the American Posts; Niagara, New Discoveries in Physics of the Falls and Erie Outlet.

Spencer, Matthew Lyle, educator, author, was born July 7, 1881, in Batesville, Miss. In 1910 he received the degree of Ph.D. from the university of Chicago. He has been professor of English in various colleges, and since 1911 professor of rhetoric in Lawrence college of Appleton, Wis. He is a member of the modern language association of America. He is the author of Corpus Christi Pageants in England; and Practical English Punctuation.

Spencer, Morton W., clergyman, author, was born Feb. 21, 1836, in Gilbert's Mills, N.Y. He was educated in the public and theological schools and seminaries of New York. He is a clergyman of the free baptist church. He is author of The Missing Link, which is a history of our Saxon race, containing one thousand historical and prophetic proofs of our Hebrew and Saxon ancestry; and has contributed exten-tensively to religious and educational literature.

Spencer, Nicholas, colonial governor. In 1683-84 he was colonial governor of Virginia.

Spencer, Pitman Curtius, surgeon, was born in 1790 in Charlotte county, Va. He was a successful lithotomist, and claimed to be the first to practice this branch of surgery in America. He died in February, 1861, in Petersburg, Va.

Spencer, Platt Rogers, the originator of the Spencerian method of penmanship, was born Nov. 7, 1800, in East Fishkill, N.Y. He had given penmanship much attention from early youth, and was led to perfect his semi-angular system by seeing the necessity of a more rapid execution than the old round Roman method, and a more legible hand than the angular or German system. He died May 16, 1864, in Geneva, Ohio.

Spencer, Richard, congressman, was born in Maryland. In 1820-31 he was a representative from Maryland to the twenty-first congress. He died in Maryland.

Spencer, Samuel, railroad president, was born March 2, 1847, in Columbus, Ga. He is president of the Alabama great southern railroad; and of the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern railway; and is also president of numerous other corporations in New York City. He died Nov. 29, 1906, in Sawyers, Va.

Spencer, Mrs. Sara Andrews, litterateur, author, was born Oct. 21, 1837, in Savona, N. Y. She is a prominent woman suffragist; and proprietor of the Spencerian business college. She is the author of Problems on the Woman Question; and Thirty Lessons in the English Language.

Spencer, Selden Palmer, legislator, jurist, was born Sept. 16, 1862, in Erie, Pa. In 1895 he served as a member of the Missouri state legislature from St. Louis; and in 1897 became judge of the circuit court of St. Louis for a term of six years.

Spencer, Theodore, lawyer, clergyman, author, was born April 24, 1800, in Hudson, N.Y. He was district attorney for Cayuga county, N.Y. He was the author of Conversion, its Theory and Process Practically Delineated; and other theological works. He died June 14, 1870, in Utica, N.Y.

Spencer, Thomas, physician, educator, author, was born in 1793 in Great Barrington, Mass. He was medical professor at Hobart college in 1835-57. He was the author of Lectures on Vital Chemistry; and Practical Observations on Epidemic Diarrhoea known as Cholera. He died May 30, 1857, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Spencer, William B., congressman, jurist. In 1875-77 he was a representative from Louisiana to the forty-fourth congress. In 1877-79 he was associate justice of the supreme court of Louisiana.

Spencer, William D., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 5, 1835, in Catahoula parish, La. He graduated from the law department of the university of Louisiana. In 1857-61 he practiced law at Harrisonburg, La. He served in the confederate states army during the civil war. In 1876-77 he was a representative from Louisiana to the forty-fourth congress, having successfully contested the seat of Frank Morey, and resigned before his term of office expired.

Spencer, Mrs. William Loring, educator, reformer, author, was born in St. Augustine, Fla. She is the author of Salt Lake Fruit; Story of Mary; A Plucky One; and Calamity Jane.

Spenser, Willard, musician, composer, was born July 7, 1858, in Cooperstown, N. Y. He is a self-taught composer of light pianoforte music. He is the author of a comic operetta entitled The Little Tycoon.

Spenser, John George, physician, chemist, author, was born Sept. 6, 1864, in Cleveland, Ohio. Since 1896 he has been professor of general and medical chemistry and pharmacology at the Cleveland college of physicians and surgeons. He is the author of The Principles of Pharmacology, with Practical Exercises.

Sperry, Charles Stillman, naval officer, was born Sept. 3, 1847, in Brooklyn, N. Y. In 1868 he was promoted ensign; in 1894 was promoted commander; and in 1906 attained the rank of rear-admiral. He was president of the United States war college; and was a member of the general board of the United States navy.

Sperry, Lewis, lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 23, 1848, in South Windsor, Conn. In 1869 he graduated from the Monson academy; and from the Amherst college in 1873. In 1875 he was admitted to the bar. He practices law in Hartford. In 1876 he represented his native town in the Connecticut state legislature; and was coroner for Hartford county in 1883-91. In 1891-95 he was a representative to the fifty-second and fifty-third congresses as a democrat. In 1896 he was a delegate to the Indianapolis sound money convention.

Sperry, Lyman Beecher, educator, lecturer, author, was born Feb. 19, 1841, in Sherman, N. Y. He was educated in the common schools; at Oberlin college; at the university of Michigan; and received the degrees of M. A. and M. D. In 1869-73 he was a professor at Ripon college; and in 1873-75 was United States Indian agent. In 1875-85 he was a professor of chemistry and physiology at Carleton college of Minnesota; and since 1886 has been a public lecturer on general themes, now lecturing at Oberlin college. He is the author of Concerning Narcotics, Confidential Talks with Young Men; Confidential Talks with Young Women; Husband and Wife; and Physiology, Fear and Faith.

Sperry, Willard Gardner, clergyman, college president, was born Aug. 10, 1847, in Cambridgeport, Mass. He has been pastor of congregational churches in Massachusetts and New Hampshire. Since 1893 he has been president of Olivet college of Michigan.

Sperry, Nehemiah Day, public official, congressman, was born July 10, 1827, in Woodbridge, Conn. He was elected a member of the New Haven common council in 1853; in 1854 was elected an alderman of the city; and was elected selectman in 1853. He was elected secretary of state in 1855; and was re-elected in 1856. He was postmaster of New Haven for twenty-eight years. He was president of the chamber of commerce of New Haven; was bondsman for building the Monitor; and in 1895-1911 he was a representative to the fifty-fourth, fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh, fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth, sixtieth and sixty-first congresses as a republican.

Speyer, James, banker, donor, was born July 23, 1861, in New York City. He is senior member of the Speyer houses; and is president of the Provident loan society. He presented Speyer school to the Teachers' college in Mrs. Speyer's and his own name.

Speyers, Arthur Bayard, naval officer, was born Aug. 15, 1846, in New York City. In 1868 he graduated from the United States naval academy; became master in 1870; in 1895 was commissioned lieutenant-commander, and subsequently became captain. In 1905 he was retired as rear-admiral of the United States navy.

Speyers, Clarence Livingston, educator, author, was born in January, 1863, in New York City. Since 1891 he has been associate professor of chemistry in Rutgers college of New Brunswick, N. J. He is the author of Textbook of Physical Chemistry.

Spicely, William Thomas, soldier, was born in North Carolina. In 1861 he was captain in the twenty-fourth regiment Indiana infantry, and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Feb. 15, 1884.

Spicer, Robert Barclay, educator, college president, was born March 4, 1869, near pleasantville, Md. In 1900-02 he was president of Franklin college at New Athens, Ohio. In 1903 he became associate editor of Friend's Intelligence of Philadelphia, Pa.

Spicer, William Francis, naval officer, poet, was born Feb. 7, 1820, in New York City. He was made commodore in 1877; and was commandant of the Boston navy yard until his death. He was well known as a poet and musician; and was the author of several popular ballads, among which are Absent Friends and You, Mary. He died Nov. 29, 1878, in Boston navy yard.

Spickett, John T., actor, merchant, public official, was born Jan. 4, 1859, in Bristol, England. For twenty-five years he was on the stage; and acquired success as a notable actor. For nearly ten years he has been proprietor and owner of the Franklin hotel of Juneau, Alaska. He has been chairman of the Alaska territorial committee; and is prominently identified with the business and public affairs of Alaska.

Spieker, George Frederick, clergyman, educator, author, was born Nov. 17, 1844, in Elk Ridge, Md. Since 1883 he has been pastor of St. Michael's Lutheran congregation of Allentown, Pa. He was professor of Hebrew in Muhlenberg college in 1887-94; and since 1894 he has been professor of church history in the Lutheran theological seminary of Mt. Airy, Pa. He is the author of Hutter's Compend of Lutheran Theology, translated, with Dr. Henry E. Jacobs; Wildenhahn's Martin Luther, translated from the German; and Commentary on Second Corinthians.

Spiering, Theodore B., musician, composer, was born Sept. 5, 1871, in St. Louis, Mo. He founded and until 1905 was leader and first violin in the Spiering quartet of Chicago, Ill. In 1905-06 he was concertizing in Europe.

Spight, Thomas, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 25, 1841, in Ripley, Miss. In 1861 he entered the confederate army; and was in command of the thirty-fourth regiment Mississippi infantry at the close of the civil war. In 1870-84 he founded, owned and edited the Southern Sentinel of Ripley, Miss. In 1884-92 he was district attorney. In 1890-1911 he was a representative from Mississippi to the fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh, fifty-ninth, sixtieth and sixty-first congresses.

Spillane, Edward, clergyman, educator, author, was born Nov. 19, 1859, in New York City. He has been professor of Greek and Latin literature in various Jesuit colleges in New York, Baltimore, Washington and Boston. He is now engaged in the compilation of a Dictionary of Catholic American Authors.

Spillman, William Jasper, agriculturist, specialist, author, was born Oct. 23, 1863, in Lawrence county, Mo. In 1880 he graduated with the degree of B.S. from the Missouri state university; and subsequently received the degree of M.S. from the same institution. He has been professor of science at the state normal school of Cape Girardeau, Mo.; has been professor of science at the Vincennes university of Indiana; and was professor of science at the state normal school of Monmouth, Oregon. In 1894-1902 he was professor of agriculture in Washington state college. In 1902-05 he was agrostologist in the United States department of agriculture, in charge of grass and forage plant investigations; and now agriculturist in charge of farm management investigations. He has made special studies in heredity of plants; and discovered independently Mendel's law of Recombination. He is the author of Quantitative Studies on Distribution of Parental Character in Hybrid Offspring; and valuable contributions to scientific journals.

Spilman, Edward Guthrie, educator, lawyer, was born Jan. 5, 1855, in Warrenton, Va. In 1866-68 he was United States commissioner; and in 1888-91 was registrar in the United States land office at Devils Lake, N.D. In 1893-97 he was registrar in the United States land office at Kingfisher, Okla.; and since 1897 has been engaged in the practice of law. He was the first person to advocate the law making Oklahoma lands free to homestead settlers.

Spingarn, Joel Elias, educator, author, was born May 17, 1875, in New York City. In 1900-04 he was tutor of comparative literature and is now an adjunct professor of same in Columbia university of New York City. He is the author of A History of Literary Criticism in the Renaissance.

Spink, Cyrus, congressman. In 1839 he was elected a representative from Ohio to the thirty-sixth congress as republican, but died before taking his seat.

Spink, S. L., journalist, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born March 20, 1831, in Whitehall, N.Y. In 1860 he moved to Illinois; and edited the Prairie Beacon of Paris. He was elected to the state legislature in 1864; was appointed secretary of Dakota territory; and continued in office until 1869. In 1869-71 he was a territorial delegate from Dakota to the forty-first congress as a republican.

Spinner, Francis Elias, soldier, financier, congressman, was born Jan. 21, 1802, in Mohawk, N.Y. He held all the commissions from a lieutenant to a major-general of the state artillery. He was county sheriff, and commissioner for building the state lunatic asylum; and in 1845-49 was auditor in the naval office at New York. In 1855-61 he was a representative from New York to the thirty-fourth, thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth congresses. In 1861-75 he was United States treasurer; and his signature on the greenbacks during the civil war made him famous. He died Dec. 31, 1890, in Jacksonville, Fla.

Spinola, Francis B., soldier, manufacturer, state senator, congressman, was born March 19, 1821, in Stony Brook, N.Y. He served six years as member of the assembly of the state of New York; and four years as state senator. He was appointed Spooner, Marshall A., lawyer, jurist, was born May 18, 1858, in Lawrenceburg, Ind. In 1876 he graduated from Hughes college of Cincinnati, Ohio; and subsequently studied law. In 1878-82 he practiced law in Lawrenceburg, Ohio. In 1882-85 he practiced his profession in Moorhead, Minn.; and then in 1885-1902 in Minneapolis, Minn. Since 1903 he has been judge of the fifteenth judicial district court of Minnesota, and is now serving the term of 1905-11; and resides in Bemidji, Minn.

Spooner, Thomas, merchant, lawyer, genealogist, was born Jan. 17, 1817. In 1862 he was appointed collector of internal revenue for the first district of Ohio. He was the author of the Records of William Spooner. He died March 10, 1890, in Glendale, Ohio.

Spooner, Shearjashub, dentist, author, was born in 1809, in Brandon, Vt. He was a dentist of New York City. He was the author of Guide to Sound Teeth; Surgical and Mechanical Dentistry; Biographical and Critical Dictionary of Painters, Engravers, Sculptors and Architects; and Anecdotes of Painters. He died in March, 1859, in Plainfield, N.J.

Spoons, Morris Augustus, lawyer, jurist, orator, was born Nov. 9, 1857, in Bell county, Texas. He was educated in the common schools of his native state; has become one of the foremost lawyers of Texas; and has a large practice in Fort Worth. He has been prosecuting attorney; judge of his county; president of the city council; and filled various other public positions of honor. For many years he has been attorney of the Union Pacific Railway company, and the Fort Worth and Denver City railroad company. He is prominent in public affairs and in politics, and has attained prominence as a brilliant orator.

Spotswood, Alexander, colonial governor, was born in 1676 in Africa. He was colonial governor of Virginia in 1710-22. He died June 7, 1740, in Annapolis, Md.

Spotts, James W., naval officer. He was a rear-admiral in the United States army. He died in 1899.

Spotts, James Hanna, naval officer, was born March 11, 1822, in Fort Johnson, N.C. He served during the civil war, and in 1881 was promoted to rear-admiral. He died March 8, 1882, in the Falkland Islands.

Sprague, Albert Arnold, merchant, philanthropist, was born May 19, 1835, in Randolph, Vt. In 1862 he settled in Chicago, Ill.; and there founded the wholesale grocery establishment of Sprague, Warner and company. He was the organizer of the Northern trust company; and a director in the Chicago telephone company and other corporations. In 1887-90 he was president of the Chicago relief and aid society; in 1882 was president of the Commercial club; and is a director of the Art institute.

Sprague, Alfred White, chemist, author, was born June 17, 1821, in the Sandwich Islands. In 1854-55 he was professor of natural philosophy and chemistry in Washington university; and in 1859-63 was experimental lecturer on those subjects in the Boston schools. He was the author of Chemical Experiments; and Elements of Natural Philosophy. He died Dec. 7, 1891, in Wollaston, Mass.

Sprague, Augustus Brown Reed, soldier, merchant, banker, was born March 7, 1827, in Ware, Mass. In 1861-65 he served in the union army as captain, lieutenant colonel and colonel; and was brevetted brigadier general of volunteers for gallant and meritorious services during the civil war. In 1867-72 he was United States collector of internal revenue for the eighth Massachusetts district; was sheriff of Worcester county in 1871-90; and in 1896-97 was mayor of Worcester, Mass. He is a successful merchant; a director of the Worcester electric light company; and president of the Worcester mechanics' savings bank. In 1867-68 he was commander of department of Massachusetts grand army of the republic; and is a member of the militia order of the loyal legion of the United States.

Sprague, Austin Velorous Milton, mechanic, inventor, was born May 28, 1840, in Rochester, N.Y. He was educated in the public schools and at Peck's academy of Rochester, N.Y. He served an apprenticeship in his father's manufactory of heating and ventilating devices and kitchen utensils. He has patented various inventions and oil productions in Pennsylvania. He raised water of the Allegheny river to a reservoir. He has invented various devices for use in oil productions and has invented other machinery and apparatus. He is president of the Sprague apparatus company, manufacturers of New York City.

Sprague, Charles, financier, author, poet, was born Oct. 26, 1791, in Boston, Mass. He was a cashier of the Globe bank of Boston in 1825-65. He was well known in his lifetime as a poet; and still pleasantly remembered for the genuine sentiment in such poems as The Family Meeting and The Winged Worshippers, though an Ode to Shakespeare was once much praised. His poems first appeared in 1841, the latest edition being that of 1876. He died Jan. 22, 1875, in Boston, Mass.

Sprague, Charles Ezra, banker, author, was born Oct. 9, 1842, in Nassau, N.Y. He is president of the Union dime savings institution in New York City; is professor of accountancy at the New York university; and inventor of devices and systems for savings banks and other bookkeeping. He is the author of Logical Symbolism; Handbook of Volapik; and The Philosophy of Accounts.

Sprague, Charles Franklin, lawyer state senator, congressman, was born June 10, 1857, in Boston, Mass. In 1891-92 he was in the Massachusetts house of representatives. In 1893-94 he was a member of the board of park commissioners of the city of Boston. In 1895-96 was a member of the Massachusetts state senate; and in 1897-1901 he was a representative from Massachusetts to the fifty-fifth and fifty-sixth congresses as a republican. He died in 1901 in Providence, R.I.

Sprague, Charles James, botanist, banker, poet, was born Jan. 16, 1823, in Boston, Mass. For many years he was curator of botany in the Boston society of Natural History; and was known among cryptogamists for his collection of lichens. He contributed poems to journals and magazines; and wrote articles for scientific papers. He died in 1903 in Boston, Mass.

Sprague, Ebenezer, soldier. He attained the rank of general. He died Jan. 3, 1892, in Grand Rapids, Mich.

Sprague, Ezra T., soldier, was born in Connecticut. In 1861 he was first lieutenant-adjutant in the eighth regiment Wisconsin infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Dec. 30, 1888.

Sprague, Frank Headley, engraver, author, was born in 1861 in Melrose, Mass. He has been in the engraving business since 1884 in Boston, Mass. He is the author of Spiritual Consciousness.

Sprague, Frank Julian, inventor, founder, was born July 25, 1857, in Milford, Conn. In 1884 he founded the Sprague electric railway and motor company; and is pioneer of the modern electric railway. He is the inventor of the Sprague electric motors.

Sprague, Franklin M., soldier, lawyer clergyman, author, was born Nov. 1, 1842, in East Douglas, Mass. For two years he served as lieutenant and captain in the union army. In 1869-75 he practiced law; and since 1875 has been a congregational clergyman. He is the author of Socialism From Genesis to Revelation; The Laws of Social Evolution; and Honest Money.

Sprague, Henry Harrison, lawyer, state senator, author, was born Aug. 1, 1841, in Athol, Mass. In 1864 he graduated from Harvard college; and since 1868 has been engaged in the practice of law in Boston, Mass. In 1874-76 he was a member of the Boston common council; and in 1878-1905 was a trustee of the Boston city hospital. In 1881-83 he was a representative in the Massachusetts state legislature; and in 1888-91 was a member of the state senate, being president of the senate in 1890-91. In 1892 he was chairman of the commission to revise the election laws of Massachusetts; and since 1895 has been chairman of the Metropolitan water and sewerage board. In 1880 he was one of the organizers of the Boston civil service reform association; and since 1889 has been its president. In 1867-79 he was secretary of the Boston young men's christian uni-ion; and in 1879-1909 was its vice-president. He is the author of Women Under the Law of Massachusetts; City Government in Boston; and A Story of a New England Town.

Sprague, Homer Baxter, educator, lecturer, author, was born Oct. 19, 1829, in Sutton, Mass. He became head master of the girls' high school of Boston, Mass.; served as a representative in the Connecticut legislature; and was commissioned captain, major, lieutenant and colonel in the volunteer army. He was wounded in battle and brevetted for gallantry at Port Hudson, La. He then became professor in Cornell university; has been president of Mills college; president of the university of North Dakota; and professor at the Drew theological seminary of Madison, N.J. He has been an annotator and editor of the masterpieces of the leading poets; and a successful lecturer on Shakespeare, Milton, Goldsmith and others. He is the author of the History of the Thirteenth Connecticut Volunteers; Recollections of Henry Ward Beecher; and other works. He is the founder of Martha's Vineyard summer institute.

Sprague, John Titcomb, soldier, author, was born July 3, 1810, in Newburyport, Mass. He was an officer of the United States army; and was military governor of Florida in 1865. He was the author of Origin, etc., of the Florida War. He died Sept. 6, 1878, in New York City.

Sprague, John Wilson, soldier, merchant, banker, was born April 4, 1817, in White Creek, N.Y. He was made a captain in the seventh Ohio volunteers at the beginning of the civil war; and was appointed brigadier-general of volunteers in 1864, receiving the brevet of major-general United States volunteers in 1865. He was engaged in various enterprises; and was for five years president of the National bank in Tacoma. He died Dec. 24, 1893, in Tacoma, Wash.

Sprague, Levi L., educator, author, was born Dec. 23, 1844, in Beekman, N.Y. He is the author of Theoretical and Practical Bookkeeping; and A Practical Speller.

Sprague, Mary Aplin, litterateur, author, was born Feb. 17, 1849, in Newark, Ohio. She is the author of An Earnest Trifler.

Sprague, Peleg, lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 10, 1756, in Rochester, Mass. In 1797-99 he was a representative from New Hampshire to the fifth congress. He died in April, 1800, in Keene, N.H.

Sprague, Peleg, lawyer, jurist, congressman, United States senator, author, was born April 27, 1793, in Duxbury, Mass. He was a member of the Maine legislature in 1821-22. In 1825-29 he was a representative from Maine to the nineteenth and twentieth congresses; and in 1829-35 he was United States senator. In 1841 he was appointed judge of the district court of the United States for Massachusetts; and in 1841 was also a presidential elector. He was the author of Speeches and Addresses; and Decisions in Ad- miralty and Maritime Cases. He died Oct. 13, 1880, in Boston, Mass.

Sprague, Royal T., lawyer, jurist. In 1872 he was chief justice of the supreme court of California. He died Feb. 24, 1872, in Sacramento, Cal.

Sprague, William, state legislator, congressman, governor, United States senator, was born Nov. 3, 1799, in Providence, R.I. He was elected to the general assembly; and in 1832 was chosen speaker of the house. In 1835-37 he was a representative from Rhode Island to the twenty-fourth congress. In 1838-39 he was the eleventh governor of Rhode Island. In 1841-45 he was a member of the United States senate. In 1849 he was a presidential elector; and was a member of the state assembly at the time of his death. He died Oct. 19, 1856, in Providence, R.I.

Sprague, William, congressman, was born in Rhode Island. In 1849-51 he was a representative from Michigan to the thirty-first congress. He died about 1853 in Michigan.

Sprague, William Buel, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 16, 1795, in Andover, Conn. He was a presbyterian clergyman of Albany, N.Y. He was the author of Annals of the American Pulpit, in ten volumes; Letters to a Daughter; The Daughter's Own Book; Letters from Europe; Letters on Revivals; True Christianity, and Other Systems; Life of Edward Dorr Griffin; Letters to Young Men; Women of the Bible; Visits to European Celebrities; Life of Jedediah Morse; and Aids to Early Religion. He died May 7, 1876, in Flushing, N.Y.

Sprague, William, soldier, manufacturer, banker, governor, United States senator, was born Sept. 12, 1830, in Cranston, R.I. He was educated at Cranston, Greenwich and Scituate, R.I.; and at the Irving institute of Tarrytown, N.Y. He received the honorary degrees of A.M. from Brown university. In 1861-68 was governor of the state of Rhode Island. He was active in raising troops for the civil war; participated in the first battle of Bull Run; served throughout the peninsular campaign, and was commissioned brigadier-general of the United States volunteers, but declined. In 1862-63 and 1868-75 was a member of the United States senate from Rhode Island.

Sprague, William Cyrus, educator, journalist, lawyer, author, was born Feb. 25, 1860, in Malta, Ohio. In 1883 he was admitted to the bar. He is president of the Sprague publishing company; president of the Sprague correspondence school of law; and president of the Sprague correspondence school of journalism, three separate corporations of Detroit, Mich. He is the author of Sprague's Abridgement of Blackstone; Quiz-Books in Law; numerous law pamphlets; and novels and books for boys.

Sprague, William P., merchant, banker, state senator, congressman, was born May 21, 1827, in Morgan county, Ohio. He was president of the First national bank of McConnellsville, Ohio; and was a member of the state senate of Ohio in 1860-64. In 1871-75 he was a representative from Ohio to the forty-second and forty-third congresses as a republican. He died March 4, 1899, in McConnellsville, Ohio.

Spring, Leverett Wilson, educator, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 5, 1840, in Grafton, Vt. In 1863 he graduated from

Williams college; and studied theology at the Hartford theological seminary; and at the Andover theological seminary. He received the degree of D.D. from the Kansas state university. In 1868-75 he was pastor of the Rollstone congregational church of Fitchburg, Mass.; and in 1876-81 was pastor of the Plymouth congregational church of Lawrence, Kans. In 1881-86 he was professor of English literature in the Kansas state university; and since 1886 has filled that chair in Williams college. He is a member of the American Historical society; and a member of the National historical society. He is the author of Mark Hopkins, Teacher; and Williams College in History of Berkshire County, Mass.

Sproul, William C., publisher, railway president, statesman, was born Sept. 16, 1870, in Octoraro, Pa. In 1893 he graduated with the degree of B.S. from Swarthmore college. In 1892 he purchased a half interest in the Chester Daily Times; in 1898 was elected vice-president of Roach's shipyard; and in 1900 organized the Seaboard steel casting company of Chester, of which he is president. In 1900 he also organized the Chester shipping company; and is its president. He is president of the Coal river railway of West Virginia; and a dozen other industrial corporations. Since 1897 he has been a member of the Pennsylvania state senate; and is the author of the Sproul road bill and other laws.

Sprattling, William Philip, physician, author, was born Oct. 13, 1863, in Chambers county, Ala. Since 1894 he has been medical superintendent of the Craig colony for epileptics at Sonoma, N.Y. He is the author of Epilepsy and Its Treatment.

Spread, Henry Fenton, painter, artist, was born Oct. 21, 1844, in Ireland. He was elected an academican of the Chicago academy of design in 1871; and became its professor of drawing and painting. He left the institute to make a two years' tour of Italy; and on his return founded Spread's art academy. Among his works are Chicago Rising from Her Ashes; and Sad News. He died Sept. 3, 1890, in Chicago, Ill.

Sprecher, Samuel, clergyman, college president, author, was born Dec. 28, 1810, in Hagerstown, Md. In 1849-74 he was president of Wurtemberg seminary at Springfield, Ohio; and professor of systematic theology there since 1874. He is the author of The Groundwork of a System of Lutheran Theology.

Spreckels, Claus, merchant, manufacturer, was born in 1828 in Hanover. In 1846 he came to the United States; and in 1863 established the Bay sugar refinery in San Francisco, Cal. He invented new refining processes; now has a beet sugar farm of fifteen hundred acres; and a factory at Watsonville, Cal.

Spreckels, John Diedrich, merchant, was born Aug. 16, 1853, in Charleston, S.C. In 1880 he founded the sugar house now known as the J. D. Spreckels and brothers company, capital two million dollars, to engage in trade with the Hawaiian islands, beginning operations with the little two hundred ton schooner Rosario. In 1887 he established the Spreckels brothers commercial company at San Diego, and built one of the finest wharves, coal depots and warehouses there on the Pacific coast. He is president of the Oceanic steamship company; and proprietor of the San Francisco Morning Call.

Spreng, Samuel P., clergyman, editor, author, was born Feb. 11, 1853, in Wayne county, Ohio. In 1876 he was licensed to preach in the Evangelical association; and in 1883 was elected presiding elder and fraternal delegate to the general conference of the united brethren church. Since 1887 he has been editor of The Evangelical Messenger of Cleveland, Ohio; and was one of the editors of The Standard Dictionary. In 1893-95 he was the president of the Missionary society; and since 1895 has been president of the Young people's alliance. He is the author of the History of the Evangelical Association; Rays of Light; and Life of Bishop John Seybert.

Sprigg, James C., congressman, was born in Maryland. In 1841-43 he was a representative from Kentucky to the twenty-seventh congress. He died in Shelbyville, Ky.

Sprigg, Michael C., state legislator, congressman, was born in Frostburg, Md. He was frequently a member of the Maryland legislature; and was at one time president of the Chesapeake and Ohio canal. He was a presidential elector in 1820. In 1827-31 he was a representative to the twentieth and twenty-first congresses. He died Dec. 28, 1845, in Cumberland, Md.

Sprigg, Richard, congressman, was born in Maryland. In 1795-99 and 1801-03 he was a representative from Maryland to the fourth, fifth and seventh congresses. He died in Maryland.

Sprigg, Samuel, governor, was born in Maryland. He was the fourteenth governor of Maryland in 1819-22. He died in Maryland.

Sprigg, Thomas, congressman, was born in Maryland. In 1793-97 he was a representative from Maryland to the third and fourth congresses. He died in Maryland.

Sprigg, William, lawyer, jurist, was born in Maryland. He was appointed United States judge for the territory of Michigan; and in 1806 was transferred to the same position in Orleans. In 1812 he was transferred to Louisiana; and in 1813 to the territory of Illinois. On the admission of Missouri into the union as a state he received the appointment of district judge of the United States district court for that state. He died in Missouri.

Spriggs, John Thomas, lawyer, congressman, was born April 5, 1824, in England. In 1853 he was elected district attorney of Oneida county, N.Y.; and county treasurer in 1856. He was elected mayor of the city of Utica in 1868 and 1880. In 1883-87 he was a representative from New York to the forty-eighth and forty-ninth congresses as a democrat. He died Dec. 23, 1888, in Utica, N.Y.

Spring, Alfred, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 18, 1851, in Franklinville, N.Y. He began the practice of law in 1875; and in 1880-92 was surrogate of Cattaraugus county, N. Y. In 1892-1909 he was associate justice of the supreme court of New York for the eighth district.

Spring, Edward Adolphus, sculptor, artist, was born Aug. 26, 1837, in New York City. In 1868 he discovered at Eagleswood, N.J., a fine modeling clay, peculiarly suited to terra-cotta work; and in 1877 he established at Perth Amboy the Eagleswood Art Pottery. At the national academy he exhibited a bust of Giuseppe Mazzini in 1873; and several terra-cotta pieces in 1878. Since 1880 he has been director of the Chautauqua school of sculpture.

Spring, Gardiner, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 24, 1785, in Newburyport, Mass. He was a presbyterian clergyman; was pastor of the Brick church in 1810-73. He was the author of Power of the Pulpit; The Church in the Wilderness; Sermons; The Mercy Seat. He died Aug. 18, 1873, in New York City.

Spring, Leverett Wilson, educator, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 5, 1840, in Vermont. He is a congregational clergyman; professor of English literature at the university of Kansas in 1881-86; and professor of English literature at Williams college from 1886. He is the author of History of Kansas; Mark Hopkins: Teacher; and Williams College in History of Berkshire County, Mass.

Spring, Samuel, clergyman, author, was born March 10, 1746, in Northbridge, Mass. In 1775 he became a chaplain in the army. In 1799 he aided in founding the Massachusetts missionary society, of which he was president. He published twenty-five miscellaneous discourses; and a number of controversial works. He died March 4, 1819, in Newburyport, Mass.

Springer, Frank, lawyer, paleontologist, scientist, author, was born June 17, 1848, in Wapello, Iowa. In 1900 he was a member of the legislative council of New Mexico. He is the author of North American Grinoidea Camerota; and other scientific works.

Springer, Mrs. Rebecca Ruter, litterateur, author, poet, was born Nov. 8, 1832, in Indianapolis, Ind. In 1850 she graduated from Wesleyan female college of Cincinnati, Ohio; and in 1859 she was married to Hon. William M. Springer. She was the author of two novels entitled Beechwood; and Self; and a volume of poems entitled Songs of the Sea; and other works. She died in 1904 in Washington, D.C.

Springer, Reuben Runyan, philanthropist, was born Nov. 16, 1800, in Frankfort, Ky. He gave to the music hall, exposition building, the Odeon theater, and the art museum in Cincinnati, in all four hundred and twenty thousand dollars; to private charities of the Roman catholic church, of which he was a member, more than one hundred thousand dollars; and at least thirty thousand dollars annually in the way of benevolence. He left about three million dollars to his nearest of kin, having no children; also annuities to the college of music, the music hall and the art museum, and nearly four hundred thousand dollars to various Roman catholic charitable institutions. He died Dec. 10, 1884, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Springer, William McKendree, lawyer, jurist, legislator, congressman, was born May 30, 1836, in Sullivan county, Ind. In 1870-72 he was a member of the Illinois state legislature; and in 1875-95 he was a representative in the forty-fourth to the fifty-third congresses. In 1896-99 he was district judge of the United States court for the northern district of Indian Territory; and chief justice of the United States court of appeals for the Indian territory for term expiring in 1899. He died Dec. 4, 1903, in Washington, D.C.

Sproat, Ebenezer, soldier, civil engineer, was born in 1752 in Middleborough, Mass. In 1775 he entered the army as a captain; and became a lieutenant-colonel. He was subsequently a surveyor of Providence, R.I. He died in February, 1805, in Marietta, Ohio.

Sproull, Thomas, reformer, author, was born Sept. 15, 1803, near Freeport, Pa. In 1840-45 he was a professor in the united eastern and western seminaries; was re-elected in 1856; and in 1874 was made professor emeritus. He was the author of Preflections on Theology. He died March 20, 1892, in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Sproull, William Oliver, educator, author, was born May 8, 1848, in Allegheny, Pa. In 1880-1900 he was professor of Latin and Arabic in the university of Cincinnati. He is the author of The Education of the Roman Youth.

Spruance, Presley, merchant, United States senator, was born in 1785 in Delaware. He served in the Delaware state senate; and was president of that body. In 1847-53 he was United States senator from Delaware. He died Feb. 13, 1863, in Smyrna, Del.

Spruance, William Corbit, lawyer, jurist, was born April 2, 1831, in Smyrna, Del. In 1871-97 he practiced law in Wilmington, Del. Since 1897 he has been associate justice of the state supreme court of Delaware.

Spry, William, legislator, governor, was born Jan. 11, 1864, in Windsor England. He has been county collector, held legislative positions; and served as United States marshal. In 1909 he became governor of the state of Utah for the term ending 1913.

Spurgin, William Fletcher, soldier, was born in Kentucky. In 1858-61 he was a student in the military academy at Annapolis, Md.; served throughout the civil war; and in 1865 was brevetted major-general of volunteers. In 1866 he was appointed first lieutenant in the thirty-eighth infantry; in 1876 became captain; in 1901 was promoted colonel; and in 1902 was retired with the rank of brigadier-general. He died in 1904.

Spurling, Andrew Barclay, soldier, was born in Maine. In 1861 he was first lieutenant in the first regiment Maine cavalry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers.

Spurr, Josiah Edward, geologist, author, was born Oct. 1, 1870, in Gloucester, Mass. In 1903-06 he was geologist on the United States geological survey. In 1901-02 he was chief geologist and mining engineer to the Sultan of Turkey. He is the author of Through the Yukon Gold Diggings.

Squier, Ephraim George, diplomat, archaeologist, author, was born June 17, 1821, in Bethlehem, N.Y. He was consul to Peru in 1863-65; and consul-general of Honduras at New York in 1868. He was the author of Nicaragua; Mexican Hieroglyphics; Ancient Monuments of the Mississippi Valley; Antiquities of the State of New York; Waikna, or Adventures on the Mosquito Coast; The States of Central America; Serpent Symbols; and Peru. He died April 17, 1888, in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Squier, Miles Powell, clergyman, author, was born May 4, 1792, in Cornwall, Vt. He was a presbyterian clergyman. He was the author of The Problem Solved, or Sin Not of God; Reason and the Bible; Miscellaneous Writings, and Autobiography. He died June 22, 1866, in Geneva, N.Y.

Squire, Mrs. Frances, educator, author, was born Nov. 12, 1867, in Elmira, N.Y. Since 1907 she has been professor of English literature at the university of Minnesota; and is corresponding secretary of the National woman's suffrage association. She is the author of The Ballingtons and other works.

Squire, Watson Carvosso, soldier, financier, lawyer, governor, United States senator, was born May 18, 1838, in Cape Vincent, N.Y. In 1862 he received commission from the governor of Ohio to raise the seventh independent company of sharpshooters, of which he was commissioned captain. He served with the army of the Cumberland, and commanded the battalion of Ohio sharpshooters in 1863. His company was selected by General Sherman as his sole headquarters escort and bodyguard in the march to the sea. He was appointed judge advocate of the district of Tennessee, on the staff of Major General Rousseau; served on the staff of General Thomas in the battle of Nashville; was brevetted major, lieutenant-colonel, and colonel; and was mustered out of the service in 1865. He was engaged in business in the city of New York and at Ilion, N.Y., in the manufacture and sale of Remington breech-loading arms and ammunition for years, and visited European countries and Mexico for this purpose. After disposing of his interest in this business he became interested in the territory, now state of Washington, where he has engaged in farming and other business since the year 1879. He was governor of the territory of Washington in 1884-88; and in 1889-97 he was United States senator.

Squire, William Bradley, soldier, physician, surgeon, was born in 1830 in Coshoc-ton, Ohio. In 1857 he graduated from the Eclectic medical institute of Madison, Ohio. During the civil war he was a captain and a surgeon. He attained success in his profession in Indiana at Worthington; and contributed to medical journals. He died about 1910 in Worthington, Ind.

Squires, Charles W., soldier, was born in 1840. He was a brigadier-general in the confederate army. He was commander of the Washington battery of New Orleans in the civil war. He died Jan. 23, 1900, in St. Louis, Mo.

Staake, William Heaton, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Dec. 5, 1846, in Brooklyn, N.Y. He was educated in the grammar and high schools of Philadelphia; and in 1868 graduated from the law department of the university of Pennsylvania with the degree of LL.D. In 1868 he was admitted to the practice of law; and since that time has practiced his profession in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1901 he has been a commissioner in Pennsylvania; and was chairman of the executive committee of the national conference of commissioners on universal law from different states of the union. He was secretary of the board, having charge of Independence hall and its historical museums and collections; and was a member of the municipal civil service examining board. Since 1906 he has been judge of the court of common pleas for the county of Philadelphia. He was delegate and secretary of the national divorce congress; and was a commissioner to codify divorce laws of Pennsylvania. Since 1876 he has been treasurer of the general council of the Evangelical lutheran church in North America.

Stackhouse, Eli Thomas, soldier, congressman, was born March 27, 1824, in Marion county, S.C.; and served throughout the civil war; and was surrendered as colonel of his regiment. Before the reconstruction he was elected three times to represent his county in the South Carolina state legislature. In 1891-1903 he was a representative from South Carolina to the fifty-second congress as a democrat. He died June 14, 1892, in Washington, D.C.

Stackhouse, James, merchant, state senator, was born Jan. 17, 1849, in Marion, S.C. He was educated in the public schools of his native county. He is a live stock dealer, merchant and dealer in agricultural implements of Marion, S.C.; and prominently identified with the business and public affairs of that city. In 1880-84 he was mayor of the city of Marion, S.C.; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. Since 1901 he has been a member of the South Carolina state senate; and is now serving his second term of 1905-09.

Stacy, Edwin Clark, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Sept. 5, 1814, in Hamilton, N.Y. He received his education in the Hamilton academy of his native city, and the Erie academy, Pennsylvania. In 1836 he moved to Ann Arbor, Mich.; there studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1840 at Tecumseh, Mich. In 1856 he moved west, located a government claim at the head of Geneva Lake, in the then wilds of Minnesota. In 1856 he was appointed a commissioner to organize Freeborn county; and in 1857 he was elected to the constitutional convention which framed the organic law of the state, and served in that body with marked ability. In 1859 he moved to Albert Lee; was elected three terms as county auditor; served as judge of probate; and one term as superintendent of schools. He was city justice from 1875 until his death, which occurred on Sept. 5, 1896.

Stackpole, Everett S., educator, author, was born June 11, 1850, in Durham, Maine. In 1888-93 he was director of a theological school in Florence, Italy; and has been a member of the Maine conference of the methodist episcopal church since 1878. He is the author of Four and a Half Years in the Italy Mission; and The Evidence of Salvation or the Direct Witness of the Spirit.

Stacy, James, clergyman, author, was born June 2, 1830, in Liberty county, Ga. In 1857 he was called to the pastorate of the presbyterian church at Newman, Ga., which he has filled for nearly half a century. He is president of the board of directors of the theological seminary at Columbia, S. C.; and for thirty-five years has been stated clerk of the presbytery of Atlanta; and of the synod of Georgia for twenty-four years. He is the author of a prize essay on the Holy Sabbath; Water Baptism; Day of Rest; and History of Midway Congregational Church.

Stacy, William Henry, soldier, lawyer, broker, was born Feb. 20, 1863, in Abbeville, S.C. In 1895 he graduated with the degree of LL.B., from the university of Texas. He soon attained success as a lawyer in Texas; and is also an investment broker and identified with the business and public affairs of his community. For more than twenty-five years he has been connected with the Texas volunteer guard; and has been commissioned respectively second-lieutenant, captain, major, lieutenant-colonel, colonel, brigadier-general and major-general. During the Spanish-American war he served as lieutenant-colonel in the first regiment Texas United States volunteer infantry. He is a member of the Texas division Spanish war veterans; and a member of the Texas division of the military order of foreign wars. He is now major-general commanding the Texas national guard, with headquarters at Austin, Texas. In 1905 he was president of the alumni association of the university of Texas.

Stadden, Corry Montague, journalist, lawyer, author, was born May 24, 1870, in Utica, Ohio. Since 1893 he has been Washington correspondent; and a contributor to leading magazines. He is also counselor of the legation of Nicaragua. He is the author of Our Diplomatic Relations with Nicaragua.

Stafford, Charles Lewis, clergyman, college president, was born Sept. 26, 1844, in Miami county, Ohio. In 1891-99 he was president of the Iowa Wesleyan university; and is now pastor of the Methodist church of Bloomfield, Iowa.

Stafford, Joab Arwin, soldier, was born in New York. In 1861 he was captain in the first regiment Ohio infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died in Ohio.

Stafford, Wendell Phillips, lawyer, orator, legislator, jurist, poet, was born May 1, 1861, in Barre, Vt. He represented St. Johnsbury in the Vermont state legislature in 1892. In 1902-04 he was judge of the state supreme court of Vermont. Since 1904 he has been a justice of the supreme court of the District of Columbia. He edited the sixty-ninth, seventieth and seventy-first volumes of the Vermont Reports; and is the author of North Flowers.

Stafford, William Berney, educator, author, was born July 11, 1867, in Selma, Ala. He is professor of Greek and Latin at the university of Alabama. He is the author of The Construction.

Stafford, William H., lawyer, congressman, was born in Milwaukee, Wis. He is a successful lawyer of Milwaukee, Wis.; and prominent in the business and public affairs of that city. In 1903-15 he was a republican representative to the fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth, sixtieth, sixty-first, sixty-second and sixty-third congresses.

Stager, Anson, telegrapher, soldier, was born April 20, 1825, in Ontario county, N.Y. In 1846 he commenced work as a telegraph operator in Philadelphia, Pa.; and was the first operator employed in Pittsburgh, Pa. He became general superintendent of the central division of the Western Union telegraph company. During the civil war he had charge of the telegraph lines in Ohio, Illinois and Indiana; and established many field telegraphs used during the civil war. He organized the military telegraph of Washington, D.C.; and was placed in charge of the cypher correspondence of the secretary of war. He was brevetted brigadier-general in 1868. In 1869 he settled in Chicago; and was president of the Western Edison electric light company. He died March 26, 1885, in Chicago, Ill.

Stahel, Julius H., soldier, journalist, was born Nov. 4, 1825, in Hungary. In 1856-61 he was engaged in journalism in New York City. In 1861 was commissioned lieutenant-colonel and promoted colonel for services rendered in the first battle of Bull Run. The same year he was commissioned brigadier-general; and in 1863 was promoted major-general of volunteers; and was awarded a medal of honor by congress for distinguishing Grant in the battle of Piedmont, W.Va. In 1870-77 he was engaged in mining. In 1884-85 he was United States consul to Yokohama, and was consul to Shanghai, China.

Stahl, John Meloy, editor, publisher, lecturer, founder, was born Aug. 24, 1860, in Mendon, Ill. He was educated in the country district schools and at the high school of Quincy, Ill., graduating as valedictorian in 1881. In 1883-87 he was editor of South and West of St. Louis, Mo. Since 1881 he has been editor, and since 1886 proprietor, of the Farmers' Call of Quincy, Ill.; and is also an extensive farmer and land owner. In 1894-

1903 he was secretary of the Farmers' national congress; and is now president of the Farmers' national congress, with headquarters in Chicago, Ill. He is a member of the executive committee and immigration committee of the national civic federation; and secretary of the national agricultural press league. He was secretary of the Illinois good roads association. He was the first in 1879 to propose free delivery of mail to farmers; and was a leader in the movement until the reform was secured. He is specially known as a writer on economic-agricultural subjects; and has contributed extensively to American literature.

Stable, James A., soldier, farmer, congressman, was born Jan. 11, 1830, in West Chester, Pa. He enlisted in 1861 as captain of company A, eighty-seventh Pennsylvania volunteers; and was promoted major and lieutenant-colonel. He was deputy collector of internal revenue at York for more than fifteen years. In 1895-97 he was a representative to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican.

Stallman, Edward Bushrod, journalist, financier, was born Sept. 2, 1843, in Germany. In 1882-84 he was vice-president of the Louisville Nashville railroad; and vice-president of the Louisville, Albany and Chicago railroad. Since 1885 he has been president of the Nashville Banner.

Stahlnecker, William G., merchant, congressman, was born June 20, 1849, in Auburn, N.Y. In 1884-86 he was mayor of Yonkers, N.Y. In 1885-93 he was a representative from New York to the forty-ninth, fiftieth, fifty-first and fifty-second congresses as a democrat. He died March 28, 1902, in Yonkers, N.Y.

Stahlschmidt, Arthur Edward, lecturer, musician, composer, was born Dec. 5, 1863, in London, England. In 1897 he became identified with the Kipling movement; and gave lectures and recitals of his work. He is also prominent as a teacher of the voice. His musical compositions include the songs If I Were Loved; and Herod's Lament for Marianne.

Stahr, John Sumpners, clergyman, college president, was born Dec. 2, 1841, in Bucks county, Pa. He was professor of German and history in 1867-72 in Franklin and Marshall college of Lancaster, Pa.; professor of natural science in 1872-89; and since that time has been its president.

Staigg, Richard Morrell, painter, artist, was born Sept. 7, 1817, in England. Some of his miniatures were exhibited at the Royal academy. The last twenty years of his life were devoted to painting life-size portraits in oil, as well as genre pieces and landscapes. He died Oct. 11, 1881, in Newport, R.I.

Staley, Cady, civil engineer, college president, author, was born Dec. 12, 1840, in Minaville, N.Y. In 1886-1902 he was president of the Case school of applied science at Cleveland. He is the author of The Separate System of Sewerage.

Stall, Sylvanus, publisher, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 18, 1847, in Elizaville, N.Y. In 1872 he graduated from the Pennsylvania college at Gettysburg; and studied in the Union theological seminary of New York. In 1890-1901 he was editor of the Lutheran Observer of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Pastor's Pocket Record; Minister's Handbook to Lutheran Hymns in the Book of Worship;

How to Pay Church Debts and How to Keep Churches Out of Debt; Methods of Church Work; Parental Honesty; and other works on religious subjects.

Staley, Erastus H., journalist, college president, legislator, was born Feb. 6, 1830, in Tippecanoe county, Ind. He attended the DePauw university, from which institution he received the degree of A.M. He was president of the Battle ground collegiate institute; and in 1862 was made president of the male and female college at Valparaiso, Ind., where he remained nearly three years; has been a member of the Indiana state legislature; was superintendent of Frankfort public schools; and in 1872 he assumed the editorial control and management of the Frankfort Crescent of Frankfort, Ind.

Stallings, Jesse F., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born April 4, 1836, in Mannington, Ala. In 1877 he graduated from the university of Alabama and studied law at the same institution. Since 1870 he has practiced law in Greenville, Ala. He was elected solicitor for the second judicial circuit in 1886 for a term of six years, and was a delegate to the national democratic convention in 1888. In 1893-1901 he was a representative from Alabama to the fifty-third, fifty-fourth, fifty-fifth and fifty-sixth congresses.

Stallo, John Bernhard, lawyer, diplomat, author, was born March 16, 1823, in Germany. He was a Cincinnati lawyer; and was minister to Italy in 1885. He was the author of Concepts and Theories of Modern Physics, and General Principles of the Philosophy of Nature. He died in 1900 in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Stallworth, James A., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born April 7, 1822, in Conecuh county, Ala. He served in the Alabama legislature in 1845-48; and was twice elected solicitor for his district. In 1857-61 he was a representative from Alabama to the thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth congresses, but withdrew to take part in the civil war. He died in 1862 in Evergreen, Ala.

Stanard, Edwin Obed, manufacturer, lieutenant-governor, congressman, was born Jan. 5, 1832, in Newport, N.H. He was elected lieutenant-governor of Missouri in 1868. In 1873-75 he was a representative from Missouri to the forty-third congress. He is prominent in the affairs of St. Louis, Mo.; and is president of a large flour mill in that city.

Stanard, William Glover, editor, author, was born Oct. 2, 1838, in Richmond, Va. Since 1898 he has been editor of the Virginia Magazine of History and Biography. He is the author of Colonial Virginia Register.

Stanberry, William, congressman, was born in Essex county, N.J. In 1827-33 he was a representative from Ohio to the twentieth, twenty-first and twenty-second congresses. He died Jan. 27, 1872, in Newark, Ohio.

Stanbery, Henry, lawyer, cabinet officer, was born Feb. 20, 1803, in New York City. He was elected first attorney-general of Ohio in 1846; and in 1866-68 he was attorney-general of the United States. He was one of President Johnson's counsel during his impeachment trial. He died June 26, 1881, in New York City.

Standifer, James, congressman. In 1823-25 and 1829-36 he was a representative from Tennessee to the eighteenth, twenty-first, twenty-second, twenty-third and twenty-fourth congresses. He died Aug. 24, 1836, in Kingston, Tenn.

Standiford, Elisha D., banker, railroad president, congressman, was born Dec. 28, 1831, in Jefferson county, Ky. He was engaged in banking and manufacturing. In 1868-71 he was a member of the Kentucky state senate. In 1873-75 was a representative from Kentucky to the forty-third congress as a democrat. He was president of the Louisville, Nashville and Grand Southern railway. He died July 26, 1887, in Louisville, Ky.

Standish, John Van Ness, educator, college president, was born Feb. 26, 1825, in Woolstock, Vt. For forty years he was the honored president of the Lombard university of Galesburg, Ill.; and for many years filled the chair of mathematics and astronomy in that institution. He has been president of the state teachers' association; has received the degrees of Ph.D. and LL.D.; and is now engaged in horticulture and literary work in Galesburg, Ill.

Standish, Myles, soldier, was born about 1584, in England. In 1620 he sailed in the Mayflower to Plymouth, Mass. In 1621 he was appointed captain and explored Massachusetts bay; and named Trevore island. He participated in the first Indian battle. In 1625 he was sent to England to seek relief for the settlers. For many years he was treasurer of the colony. He died Oct. 3, 1656, in Duxbury, Mass.; and a large granite monument was erected in his memory at that place.

Standridge, Howell Cobb, educator, clergyman, founder, was born Nov. 2, 1851, in White county, Ga. In 1873 he was admitted to the bar, but did not follow that profession very long. He has been principally engaged as an educator in the first free schools of Georgia, and was one of the founders of the Young Harris college and the Hiawassee high school, of which latter institution he was offered the presidency. He is a successful clergyman of Hiawassee, Ga.

Standlee, E. Lee, physician, surgeon, was born Nov. 9, 1864, in Amity, Ark. He graduated from the American medical college of St. Louis, Mo., and since 1886 has practiced medicine and surgery in that city. He has since graduation filled the chair as professor of general pathological and surgical anatomy in the American medical college. He has been president of the St. Louis Eclectic medical society; president of the Missouri Eclectic medical society; vice-president, ex-president and ex-secretary of the state board of health of Missouri, and is a member of the leading medical societies. In 1899-1900 he was corresponding secretary of the National Eclectic medical association; and was its president in 1901. He is also consulting physician and surgeon to the St. Louis city hospital and the metropolitan hospital of St. Louis.

Stanford, Mrs. Jane Lathrop, philanthropist, was born Aug. 25, 1825, in Albany, N.Y. She married Leland Stanford. Her social life began when Mr. Stanford was elected governor of California in 1861. With her husband she established the Leland Stanford, Junior, university in 1891; built the Children's hospital of Albany, N.Y.; and gave one hundred and sixty thousand dollars to the kindergarten schools of San Francisco, Cal. She died Feb. 28, 1905, in Honolulu, II I.

Stanford, John, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 20, 1754, in England. He originated the New York house of refuge, the first juvenile reformatory in America which separated children from hardened criminals in the penitentiary. He was one of the chief promoters of the New York asylum for the deaf and dumb. The first library of Bellevue hospital was suggested by him, and was named in his honor the Stanford library association of Bellevue hospital. He was the author of The Christian's Pocket Library; The Domestic Chaplain; The Aged Christian's Cabinet. He died Jan. 14, 1834, in New York City.

Stanford, Richard, congressman, was born in 1769 in North Carolina. In 1797-1816 he was a representative from North Carolina to the fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth and fourteenth congresses. He died April 9, 1816, in Georgetown, D.C.

Stanford, Wesley M., clergyman, editor, bishop, was born March 15, 1846, in Rockland, Pa. In 1871 he graduated from the Mount Union college of Alliance, Ohio; and has received the degrees of A.M. and D.D. In 1872 he became a clergyman of the evangelical church. In 1882-88 he was associate editor of the Evangelical Messenger; and in 1889 became editor of the Evangelical of Harrisburg, Pa. For six years he was secretary of the Pittsburgh annual conference; delegate for sixteen years to annual session board of missions; a delegate to all the general conferences in 1883-98; and in 1889-91 was bishop of his church for the limit of church law. Since 1902 he has again been editor of the Evangelical, the official organ of the church. For nearly a quarter of a century he has been a constant contributor to the periodical press.

Stanford, Leland, merchant, governor, railroad president, United States senator, was born March 9, 1824, in Watervliet, N.Y.

In 1856 he moved to San Francisco to engage in mercantile pursuits on a large scale. He was a delegate to the republican national convention in 1860; and in 1862-63 was the eighth governor of California. As president of the Central Pacific railroad company he superintended its construction over the mountains. He became interested in other railroads on the Pacific slope, in agriculture, and in manufactures. In 1885-93 he was United States senator from California; and received the re-election. He died June 21, 1893, in Palo Alto, Cal.

Stang, William, clergyman, bishop, author. Since 1904 he has been Roman catholic bishop of Fall River, Mass. He is the author of Socialism and Christianity. He died Feb. 2, 1907, in Fall River, Mass.

Stangeland, Charles Emil, political economist, author, was born May 1, 1881, in Sheldahl, Iowa. In 1909 he became an expert special agent for the United States bureau of the census. He is the author of Pre-Malthusian Doctrines of Population.

Stanislau, I. V. Stanley, chemist, was born in 1870 in South Bend, Ind. Since 1906 he has been dean of the medico-surgical college of pharmacy at Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Systematic Qualitative Analysis, Inorganic and Organic; and Textbook On Pharmacy.

Stanley, Albert Augustus, musician, composer, was born May 25, 1851, in Manville, R.I. He was the organist of Grace church of Providence in 1876-88; and has been professor of music at the university of Michigan since 1888. He was president of the music teachers' national association in 1883-95; and was examiner for the American college of musicians in 1893. He is the author of The City of Freedom; Commemoration Ode; Chorus Triumphalis; and orchestral symphony, The Awakening of the Soul; symphony poem Attis; and part-songs, songs, and other compositions.

Stanley, Anthony Dumond, mathematician, author, was born April 2, 1810, in East Hartford, Conn. He was professor of mathematics at Yale university in 1836-53. He was the author of Elementary Treatise of Spherical Geometry and Trigonometry; and Tables of Logarithms. He died March 16, 1853, in Hartford, Conn.

Stanley, Augustus Owale, educator, lawyer, congressman, was born May 21, 1867, in Shelbyville, Ky. In 1889-94 was professor of belles lettres in Christian college; and was principal of Marion academy. Since 1894 he has practiced law in Henderson, Ky.; and in 1900 was a presidential elector. In 1903-15 he was a representative from Kentucky to the fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth, sixtieth, sixty-first, sixty-second and sixty-third congresses as a democrat.

Stanley, Mrs. Caroline Abbot, educator, writer, author, was born Aug. 16, 1849, in Callaway county, Mo. In 1882-96 she was principal of the Kalamazoo training school; and since then has been engaged in literary work. She is the author of Authors' Birthdays; Order Number Eleven; and A Modern Madonna.

Stanley, David Sloan, soldier, was born June 1, 1828, in Cedar Valley, Ohio. In 1855-61 he took part in the Indian wars; and in 1861 was appointed brigadier-general of volunteers. He subsequently won the title of brevet major-general at the battle of Franklin, where he defeated Hood. He was retired as major-general; and was the commander of the Soldiers' home in Washington, D.C. He died March 13, 1902, in Washington, D.C.

Stanley, Edmund, educator, college president, was born April 7, 1847, in Hendricks county, Ind. In 1895-97 he was state superintendent of public instruction. Since 1898 he has been president of Friends university of Wichita, Kan. He is the author of Apple Blossoms.

Stanley, Edward, lawyer, congressman, was born about 1811 in New Berne, N.C. He served three years in the house of commons of North Carolina, and was speaker of that body. In 1837-43 and 1849-53 he was a representative from North Carolina to the twenty-fifth, twenty-sixth, twenty-seventh, thirty-first and thirty-second congresses. He moved to California, where he devoted himself to the practice of law; and was recalled from there by President Lincoln in 1862 to assume the duties of military governor of North Carolina. He died July 12, 1872, in San Francisco, Cal.

Stanley, Henry Morton, explorer, author, was born in 1841, near Denbigh, Wales. He was a celebrated African explorer. In 1855 he was adopted by a New Orleans merchant, whose name he took. He was sent by the New York Herald in search of Livingstone in 1871; and was again sent to Africa by the Herald in 1874. In 1879 he accompanied an African expedition sent by the king of the Belgians, which resulted in the establishment of the Congo Free State. He was the author of How I Found Livingstone; My Kalulu. Prince, King and Slave, a study of Central Africa; Coomassie and Magdala; Through the Dark Continent; The Congo and the Founding of Its Free State; In Darkest Africa; My Dark Companions; My Early Travels in America and Asia; and Slavery and the Slave Trade in India. He died May 10, 1904, in England.

Stanley, Hiram Alonzo, journalist, author, was born Feb. 12, 1859, in Vestal, N.Y. In 1889-96 he was chief owner and manager of the Binghamton Herald. He is the author of Rex Wayland's Fortune; The Backwoodsman; and The Smugglers of Twin-Rock Cove.

Stanley, John, state legislator, congressman, was born in North Carolina. He was a distinguished member of the legislature of North Carolina; and in 1801-03 and 1809-11 he was a representative from North Carolina to the seventh and eleventh congresses. He died Aug. 3, 1834, in New Berne, N.C.

Stanley, Timothy Robbins, soldier, was born in Connecticut. In 1861 he was a colonel in the eighteenth regiment Ohio infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died July 8, 1874.

Stanley, W. E., lawyer, governor, was born in 1848 in Ohio. In 1870 he moved to Kansas; and in 1872 settled in Wichita, where he has attained eminence at the bar. In 1871-72 he was county attorney of Jefferson county; and in 1874-80 was county attorney of Sedgwick county, Kan. He declined an appointment to the supreme bench; and in 1899-1903 was the fourteenth governor of Kansas. He is prominently identified with the business and public offices of Wichita, Kans.

Stanley, William, electrical engineer, inventor, was born Nov. 22, 1858, in Brooklyn, N.Y. He has invented the alternating current system of long distance light and power transmission.

Stanly, Edward, lawyer, was born about 1811, in New Berne, N.C. He was elected to congress from North Carolina as a Whig in 1836, and re-elected for the two succeeding terms. He represented Beaufort in the state house of commons in 1844-49, serving during his last term as speaker. In 1847 he was elected attorney-general of the state. He was re-elected to congress in 1848 and returned for the succeeding term. He died July 12, 1872, in San Francisco, Cal.

Stanly, Fabius, naval officer, was born Dec 15, 1815, in New Berne, N.C. He served in the Mexican and civil wars; and attained the rank of rear-admiral. He died Sept. 5, 1882, in Washington, D.C.

Stanly, John Wright, merchant, patriot, was born about 1742. He loaned as much as eighty thousand dollars to General Greene for use in the revolutionary war, which was never repaid. He obtained the money to build fourteen vessels which were lost in the war. He died June 1, 1789, in New Berne, N.C.

Stannard, George Jerrison, soldier, was born Oct. 20, 1820, in Georgia, Vt. He served through the civil war; and was brevetted major-general in 1864. In 1866-72 he was collector of customs for the district of Vermont. He died May 31, 1886, in Washington, D.C.

Stansbury, Arthur J., clergyman, author, was born in 1781 in New York City. Besides contributing to periodicals, he published several sermons and addresses; and was the author of Elementary Catechism on the Constitution of the United States; and a Report of the Trial of Judge James H. Peck, or an Impeachment by the House of Representatives of the United States. He died about 1848.

Stansbury, Charles Frederick, journalist, author, was born Nov. 3, 1854, in London, England. He went to California at the age of twenty, thence to Hawaii, Samoa and Australia; and made a second voyage to Australia in 1879, remaining there until 1887. He is the author of Klondike, the Land of Gold.

Stansbury, Howard, explorer, civil engineer, author, was born Feb. 8, 1806, in New York City. He was a topographical engineer in the United States army. He was the author of An Expedition to Great Salt Lake. He died April 17, 1863, in Madison, Wis.

Stansbury, Philip, traveler, author, was born about 1802. He was the author of A Pedestrian Tour of Two Thousand Three Hundred Miles in North America, to the Lakes, the Canadas, and the New England States, Performed in the Autumn of 1821. He died about 1870.

Stansel, Martin L., soldier, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born April 23, 1824, in Savannah, Ga. In 1844 he graduated from the university of Alabama; was judge of the circuit court, and during 1861-65 he served as colonel of the forty-first regiment confederate states volunteers. In 1865 he served as a member of the Alabama state constitutional convention; and for many years served with distinction as representative and state senator of the Alabama state legislature. He was one of the foremost lawyers of the south at Carrollton, Ala. He died in Carrollton.

Stanton, Benjamin, lawyer, state senator, lieutenant-governor, congressman, was born June 4, 1809, in Mount Pleasant, Ohio. He was elected to the Ohio state senate in 1841; resigned in 1842, but was re-elected the same year. In 1851-53 and 1855-61 he was a representative to the thirty-second, thirty-fourth, thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth congresses. In 1862 he was lieutenant-governor of Ohio. He died in Ohio.

Stanton, David Leroy, soldier, was born in Maryland. He served throughout the civil war; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He was honorably mustered out in 1865.

Stanton, Edwin McMasters, lawyer, jurist, state senator, cabinet officer, was born Dec. 19, 1814, in Steubenville, Ohio. In 1842

he was elected reporter of the decisions of the supreme court of Ohio; and in 1848 formed a law partnership at Pittsburgh. He soon afterwards began to be much employed in the supreme court of the United States, which compelled him to remove to Washington in 1857. In 1858 he was sent, by the government, to California to defend its interests in certain important land cases in that state; and in 1860-61 he was attorney-general. In 1862-67 he was secretary of war. In 1869 he was associate justice of the supreme court of the United States. He died Dec. 24, 1869, in Washington, D.C.

Stanton, Elizabeth Cady, suffragist, author, was born Nov. 12, 1815, in Johnstown, N.Y. In 1848, chiefly through her efforts, the first woman's rights convention was formed and held in Seneca Falls, N.Y. For upwards of fifty years she labored assiduously asking for a sixteenth amendment securing to woman the right of suffrage. She was the author of a History of the Woman Suffrage Movement. She died Oct. 26, 1902, in New York City.

Stanton, Frank Lebby, journalist, poet, was born in 1857, in Charleston, S.C. He is a journalist and poet of Atlanta, Ga. He is the author of Songs of the Soil; Comes One With a Song; Songs From Dixie Land; and Little Folks Down South.

Stanton, Frederick Perry, business man, lawyer, congressman, governor, was born Dec. 22, 1814, in Alexandria, Va. In 1845-55 he was a representative from Tennessee to the twenty-ninth, thirtieth, thirty-first, thirty-second and thirty-third congresses; and in 1858-60 was governor of the territory of Kansas. He died June 4, 1894, near Ocala, Fla.

Stanton, Henry, soldier, was born about 1796 in Vermont. He was brevetted brigadier-general for meritorious conduct in the Mexican war in 1847. He died Aug. 1, 1856, in Hamilton, N.Y.

Stanton, Henry Brewster, journalist, reformer, author, was born June 29, 1805, in Griswold, Conn. He was a journalist and reformer of New York City. He was the author of Sketches of Reforms and Reformers in Great Britain and Ireland; and Random Recollections. He died Jan. 14, 1887, in New York City.

Stanton, Henry Thompson, soldier, lawyer, journalist, poet, was born June 30, 1834, in Alexandria, Va. He was educated in several colleges in Kentucky; and attended the United States military academy, but did not graduate. He served as captain and major in the confederate states army throughout the civil war; and for several years was connected with the United States Indian commissioners in selecting land for Indian reservations. He invented an iron tie for binding cotton bales. In 1875-86 he edited the Kentucky Yeoman; he wrote much humorous verse; and was the author of the Moneyless Man; and Other Poems; and Jacob Brown, and Other Poems. He died May 8, 1898, in Frankfort, Ky.

Stanton, Joseph, congressman, United States senator, was born July 19, 1739, in Charleston, R.I. In 1789-93 he was United States senator from Rhode Island; and in 1801-07 he was a representative in congress to the seventh, eighth and ninth congresses. He died about 1807 in Charleston, R.I.

Stanton, Oscar Fitzalan, naval officer, was born July 18, 1834, in Sag Harbor, N.Y. He entered the navy as acting midshipman in 1849; and was graduated from the United States naval academy at Annapolis in 1855; promoted to master in 1855; commissioned lieutenant in 1856; and became a commodore. He retired from the army in 1894 with the rank of rear-admiral.

Stanton, Richard Henry, journalist, lawyer, jurist, congressman, author, was born Sept. 9, 1812, in Alexandria, Va. In 1849-55 he was a representative from Kentucky to the thirty-first, thirty-second and thirty-third congresses. He was presidential elector on the Buchanan ticket in 1856; state attorney for his judicial district in 1858; a delegate to the national democratic convention in 1868; and district judge in 1868-74. He edited the Maysville Monitor and the Maysville Express. He was the author of Code of Practice in Civil and Criminal Cases in Kentucky; Practical Treatises for Justices of the Peace, etc., of Kentucky; and a Practical Manual for Executors in Kentucky. He died about 1899 in Marysville, Ky.

Stanton, Robert Brewster, civil engineer, lecturer, author, was born Aug. 5, 1846, in Woodville, Miss. He made a railway survey as chief engineer through the grand canon of the Colorado. He is the author of The Canons of the Colorado; River of the West for Railway Purposes; and The Great Land Slides on the Canadian Pacific Railway in British Columbia.

Stanton, Robert Livingstone, clergyman, author, was born March 28, 1810, in Griswold, Conn. He is the author of The Church and the Rebellion.

Stanton, Stiles Trumbull, journalist, state senator, was born Dec. 10, 1849, in Stonington, Conn. He was executive secretary of state in Connecticut in 1879-80; and was a member of the state house of representatives in 1881-82; and served in the state senate in 1884-86, being president pro tempore in 1885-86. Early in life he devoted himself to journalism; and became connected with the Norwich Bulletin and the Worcester Press, achieving a reputation as a humorist. He died Feb. 2, 1888, in New York City.

Stanton, Thaddeus H., soldier, was born in 1835 in Indiana. He served as a private in the civil war; and became a paymaster, brigadier-general and paymaster-general in the United States army. He died Jan. 23, 1900, in Omaha, Neb.

Stanton, Theodore, journalist, author, was born Feb. 10, 1851, in Seneca Falls, N. Y. He is a journalist living in Paris. He is the author of The Woman Question in Europe; and other works.

Stanton, William, soldier, was born Oct. 13, 1843 in New York City. He served as a private soldier in the civil war; and in 1866 was appointed from Michigan second lieutenant in the second United States artillery. In 1906 he was retired with the rank of brigadier-general.

Stanton, William A., clergyman, author, was born March 5, 1854, in Lawrenceville, Pa. He has filled pastorates in various churches of the baptist denomination. He is the author of the Stanton Genealogy; and A History of the First Baptist Church of Rockford, Ill.

Stanton, William Henry, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born in July, 1842, in New York City. He was managing editor of Scranton Times; and became district attorney, state senator, labor advocate, law judge, and in 1875-77 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-fourth congress to fill a vacancy. He was also successful as a novel, song, dramatic writer, and inventor. He died about 1910 in Scranton City, Pa.

Stanwood, Edward, journalist, author, was born Sept. 16, 1841, in Augusta, Maine. Since 1884 he has been managing editor of The Youth's Companion. He is the author of A History of Presidential Elections; History of Cotton Manufacture in New England; History of the Presidency; and James Gillespie Blaine.

Staples, Arthur, educator, clergyman, college president, was born Jan. 24, 1869, in Moscow, Pa. For some time he was superintendent of the Pittsburgh city missions; and since 1898 has been president of Beaver college of Pennsylvania.

Staples, Ernest Linwood, lawyer, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 10, 1856, in Monroe, Conn. He has practiced his profession in Shelton since 1886. In 1896 he was admitted to the unitarian ministry at Boston, Mass. He is the author of A Man of Destiny, an epic having Abraham Lincoln for its subject; and a volume of poems entitled Our Ulysses, and Other Poems.

Staples, Henry Loring, physician, author, was born Sept. 21, 1859, in Maine. He is professor of clinical medicine in the university of Minnesota. He is the author of The Minerals of Parsonsfield.

Staples, John Jacob, manufacturer, was born in Prussia. He was one of the first to introduce sugar-refining into America. His first refinery was in Rector street, and the second and larger one in Liberty street. This was the famous sugar-house in which the British confined American prisoners during the revolution. He died in 1806 in Long Island, N.Y.

Staples, Waller Redd, soldier, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Feb. 24, 1826, in Patrick courthouse, Vt. He served in the Virginia legislature in 1853-54; was presidential elector on the Whig ticket in 1855 and 1860; and one of four commissioners to the provisional congress that met in Montgomery in 1861. He served in the confederate congress for the subsequent three years; and took an active part in its deliberations. In 1870-82 he was a judge in the supreme court of Virginia. He was one of the three revisers of the code of laws for the state in 1884-86. He died Aug. 20, 1897, in Richmond, Va.

Staples, William Read, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Oct. 10, 1798, in Providence, R.I. He was associate justice of the supreme court of Rhode Island in 1835-54; and was chief justice in 1854-56. He edited the second volume of the Rhode Island Historical society's collections; and Samuel Gorton's Simplicities' Defence Against Seven-Headed Policy; and issued Documentary History of the Destruction of the Gaspé; Proceedings of the First General Assembly for the Incorporation of Providence Plantations in 1647; and Rhode Island Form-Book. He died Oct. 19, 1868, in Providence, R.I.

Stapleton, Ammon, soldier, clergyman, scientist, author, was born Jan. 15, 1850, near Reading, Pa. He entered the union army when only fourteen years of age; and served under General Sheridan. He made original researches in and wrote and lectured on palæontology and archæology. He is the author of Natural History of The Bible; Compend of Church History; Memorials of the Huguenots in America; and other works.

Stapleton, Mrs. Patience Tucker, journalist, author, was born in 1861 in Maine. She was a novelist and journalist of Colorado. She was the author of My Jean; Kady; My Sister's Husband; Babe Murphy; and Rose Geranium. She died in 1893 in Colorado.

Starbird, Isaac Warren, soldier, was born in Maine. In 1862 he was a captain in the nineteenth Maine infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers for gallantry in command of his regiment at High Bridge, Va. He died in 1907.

Starbuck, Calvin Washburn, journalist, philanthropist, was born April 20, 1822, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He established the Cincinnati Times, an afternoon newspaper. To his exertions and generosity are mainly due the Relief union, the Home of the Friendless, and other charitable institutions of Cincinnati; while his private gifts were many and constant. He died Nov. 15, 1870, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Starbuck, Edwin Diller, educator, author, was born Feb. 20, 1866, in Bridgeport, Ind. Since 1906 he has been professor of philosophy at the State university of Iowa. He is the author of Psychology of Religion.

Starcher, Edwin M., lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 25, 1863, in Calhoun county, W. Va. He received a thorough education; and graduated from the law school of the Washington and Lee university. He is a successful lawyer, abstractor, pharmacist and banker of Fairfax, S.D.; and president of the Gregory county state bank. In 1889-90 he was district attorney for Charles Mix county, D.T.; and was the first county judge of Gregory county when that county was organized; and has held the office continuously since. He owns a complete set of abstracts of Gregory county, S.D.; and is prominently identified with the business and public affairs of his community. He is judge of the county court for Gregory county, S.D.

Stariha, John, clergyman, bishop, was born May 12, 1845, in Austria. For many years he was vicar-general of the archdiocese of St. Paul, Minn. Since 1902 he has been Roman catholic bishop of Lead, S.D.

Starin, John Henry, banker, congressman, was born Aug. 27, 1825, in Sammons ville, N.Y. He commenced the study of medicine in 1842; and established and conducted the drug and medicine business at Fultonville in 1845-58. In 1848-52 he was postmaster at Fultonville; and since 1856 has been largely engaged in the transportation business through the city, river and harbor and waters of Long Island sound, and its accessories of vessel building. He is at present a director of the North River bank of New York City; and the Mohawk River national bank. In 1877-81 he was a representative to the forty-fifth and forty-sixth congresses as a republican.

Stark, Benjamin, merchant, lawyer, congressman, United States senator, was born June 26, 1820, in New Orleans, La. In 1845 he settled in Oregon, and established commercial relations with the Sandwich Islands, and with California, then a Mexican province. In 1852 he was a member of the territorial legislature of Oregon, and in 1860 was a member of the state legislature of that state. In 1861-63 he was United States senator from Oregon. He died Oct. 10, 1898, in New London, Conn.

Stark, Caleb, lawyer, state legislator, author, was born Nov. 21, 1804, in Dunbarton, N.H. He was a member of the New Hampshire legislature. He was the author of Reminiscences of the French War, containing Rogers's Expeditions with the New England Rangers, and an Account of the Life and Military Service of John Stark; Memoir and Official Correspondence of Gen. John Stark, with Notices of other Officers of the Revolution; and a History of Dunbarton, N.H., from the Grant by Mason's Assigns in 1751 to 1860. He died Feb. 1, 1864, in Dunbarton, N.H.

Stark, Charles B., lawyer, author, was born June 13, 1854, in Springfield, Tenn.; and is the son of the late Hon. Joseph Carter

Stark, judge of the judicial court of Tennessee, in whose office he educated his nephew, John W. Judd, associate justice of the supreme court of Utah, and various other eminent jurists. Charles B. Stark has attained prominence in the profession of law in St. Louis, Mo.; and is prominently identified with the business and public affairs of that city. He is the author of Stark's Missouri Digest, in three volumes; and other works.

Stark, John, soldier, was born Aug. 28, 1728, in Londonderry, N.H. He was a brigadier-general; and is a conspicuous figure in American history, by his victory over the British at Bennington, Aug. 16, 1777. He died May 8, 1832, in Manchester, N.H.

Stark, Joseph Carter, state senator, jurist, was born Dec. 29, 1817, in Sumner county, Tenn. He was a Tennessee state senator; and judge of the tenth judicial circuit court of Tennessee. He died March 6, 1890, in Springfield, Tenn.

Stark, Louis Raoul, physician, surgeon, was born June 4, 1841, in Totness, S.C. He was educated at the South Carolina military academy; and in 1867 graduated from the New Orleans school of medicine. For many years he was professor of gynecology in the medical department of the Arkansas university at Little Rock. He has attained success in the practice of medicine at Little Rock, Ark., and is a member of the Arkansas and of the Little Rock medical societies; is a member of the American medical associations; and a member of various other medical and scientific societies.

Stark, William, lawyer, poet, was born about 1820 in Manchester, N.H. He devoted himself to literary pursuits; and to the care of a large collection of rare birds and animals. His park in Manchester, N.

H., which was open to the public, was widely known. He wrote several poems, and frequently lectured. He died Oct. 29, 1873, in Somerville, Mass.

Stark, William Ledyard, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born July 29, 1853, in Mystic, Conn. He was commissioned major and judge-advocate-general of the Nebraska national guard. In 1897-1903 he was a representative to the fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth and fifty-seventh congresses.

Starkey, Thomas Alfred, clergyman, bishop, of Newark, N.J., was born in 1819, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was consecrated protestant episcopal bishop of northern New Jersey in 1880. The name of his diocese was changed to Newark in 1886; and about the same time the bishop removed his residence to East Orange. He died in 1903, in East Orange, N.J.

Starks, Samuel W., librarian, business president, was born March 11, 1866, in Charleston, W.Va. He was educated in the public schools; and at Bryant and Stratton business college of Chicago, Ill. He was a clerk and telegraph operator for the K. and M. and for the T. and O. C. railways; was manager of the Capital City mercantile company; manager of the Advocate publishing company; and president of the Pythian mutual investment association. He was state librarian of West Virginia. He died April 3, 1908, in Charleston, W.Va.

Starkweather, David A., lawyer, diplomat, congressman, was born in Connecticut. In 1830-41 and 1845-47 he was a representative from Ohio to the twenty-sixth and twenty-ninth congresses. He was a presidential elector in 1848; and was minister to Chili in 1854-57. He died in Ohio.

Starkweather, George A., congressman, was born in Connecticut. In 1847-49 he was a representative from New York to the thirtieth congress. He died in Cooperstown, N.Y.

Starkweather, George Briggs, missionary, inventor, genealogist, author, was born Jan. 11, 1847, in Hartford, Conn. He was a missionary and interested in the educational movement in Argentina. He was the inventor of a new process for the preservation of certain South American food products; and founded our present Indian industrial training system. He was the translator of five languages for the United States government; and acted as interpreter. He founded Forest Lake cemetery of Washington, D.C., of which he is the comptroller. He is the author of The Law of Sects; Secret of Wings; and is preparing a Genealogy of the Starkweather Family.

Starkweather, Henry Howard, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born April 29, 1826, in Preston, Conn. He served in the Connecticut state legislature; and in 1861 was appointed postmaster of Norwich. In 1867-77 he was a representative from Connecticut to the fortieth, forty-first, forty-second, forty-third and forty-fourth congresses as a republican. He died Jan. 28, 1876, in Washington, D.C.

Starkweather, John Converse, soldier, congressman, was born May 11, 1830, in Cooperstown, N.Y. He was a colonel in the New York twelfth artillery. He was a member of congress in 1847-49. He died Nov. 15, 1890, in Washington, D.C.

Starling, Lyne, merchant, philanthropist, was born Dec. 27, 1784, in Mecklenburg county, Va. He removed to Ohio in early life and was a founder of Columbus. He acquired large wealth; and left a sum to establish in Columbus the Starling medical college and hospital. He died Nov. 21, 1848, in Columbus, Ohio.

Starling, William, soldier, civil engineer, author, was born Jan. 25, 1839, in Columbus, Ohio. He served in the Union army in the civil war. He is the author of The Improvement of the Mississippi River; Some Notes on the Holland Dikes; The Discharge of the Mississippi River; and The Floods of the Mississippi River. He died in 1900, in Greenville, Miss.

Starr, Alfred Adolphus, lecturer, inventor, was born Jan. 25, 1820, in New York City. In 1845 he began giving lectures which he illustrated with a crude solar microscope made of pasteboard. Afterward he made an oxyhydrogen microscope; and several years later he procured a fine apparatus. He has given three thousand lectures and exhibitions before schools and colleges; and was also connected with Luineas T. Barnum. Using a microscope of enormous power, he projected living specimens on his screen; and being a skillful manipulator, regulated their performances with dexterity, showing water-insects and animalcules feeding upon or fighting with each other. He was one of the first to procure a patent to light railroad cars with gas.

Starr, Charles Richard, lawyer, jurist, was born May 15, 1824, in Nova Scotia. He moved to Illinois in 1842; and practiced law in Kankakee. For four years he was county judge; and for over twenty-five years has been judge of the circuit court.

Starr, Eliza Allen, lecturer, author, poet, was born Aug. 29, 1824, in Deerfield, Mass. She is an art lecturer in Chicago. She was the author of Patron Saints; Pilgrims and Shrines; Songs of a Lifetime; Isabella of Castile; What We See; Christmastide; Christian Art in Our Own Age; Three Keys to the Camera della Signatura of the Vatican; and Seven Dolors of the Bless- ed Virgin Mary. She died Sept. 7, 1901, in Durand, Ill.

Starr, Frederick, anthropologist, author, was born Sept. 2, 1858, in Auburn, N.Y. Since 1895 he has been professor of anthropology in the university of Chicago. In 1905-06 he led an expedition into the Congo Free State. He is the author of On the Hills; Geology for Young People; Some First Steps in Human Progress; and The Truth About the Congo.

Starr, Frederick Ratchford, farmer, author, was born June 18, 1821, in Nova Scotia. He was a noted dairy farmer of Litchfield, Conn. He was the author of Didley Dumps, the Newsboy; May I Not?; What Can I Do?; Farm Echoes; and From Shore to Shore. He died April 27, 1889, in Halifax, Nova Scotia.

Starr, Mrs. Ida May Hill, musician, author, was born July 11, 1859, in Cincinnati, Ohio. She is the author of Gardens of the Caribbees.

Starr, John F., congressman, was born in 1818, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1863-67 he was a representative from New Jersey to the thirty-eighth and thirty-ninth congresses. He died in 1904, in New Jersey.

Starr, Louis, physician, author, was born in Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Disease of the Digestive Organs in Infancy and Childhood; Hygiene of the Nursery; Diets for Infants and Children in Health and in Disease; and A Synopsis of the Physiological Action of Medicines.

Starr, Merritt, lawyer, author, was born about 1860, in Ellington, N.Y. In 1895-97 he was president of the Chicago law institution. He is the author of Starr's Reference Digest of Wisconsin Reports; and Annotated Statutes of Illinois.

Starr, Moses Allen, physician, author, was born May 16, 1854, in Brooklyn, N.Y. He is a physician of New York City; prominent as a neurologist; and since 1888 has been professor of nervous diseases in the medical department of Columbia university. He is the author of Familiar Forms of Nervous Diseases; Lectures on Insanity; Brain Surgery; and Atlas of Nerve Cells. He also is a constant contributor to medical literature.

Starr, William Gabriel, clergyman, college president, was born Sept. 26, 1840, in Rapahannock county, Va. He entered the ministry in 1860; and has since filled the leading stations in the Virginia annual conference of the methodist episcopal church south. For five years he was president of the Wesleyan Female college of Murfreesboro, N.C.

Starrett, Mrs. Helen Ekin, educator, author, poet, was born Sept. 19, 1840, in Allegheny county, Pa. She is principal of Mrs. Starrett's classical school for girls. She is the founder of Kenwood institute of Chicago, Ill. She is the author of Letters to a Daughter; Letters to Elder Daughters; and a volume of Poems.

Starrett, Theodore, building contractor, architect, was born Jan. 21, 1865, in Lawrence, Kan. Since 1889 he has been engaged as a builder and engineer of high buildings in Chicago, New York, Cleveland, Boston, Philadelphia, Washington, Baltimore, and other cities in the United States and Canada; and is now president of the firm of Thompson-Starrett company. He is a contributor to New York Sun and other papers and periodicals of essays on trade union errors and abuses in New York. Some of his essays on trade union questions have been collected and printed.

Starring, Frederick Augustus, soldier, lawyer, civil engineer, was born May 24, 1834, in Buffalo, N.Y. In 1859 he was admitted to the bar. He served throughout the civil war; was colonel in the seventy-second regiment Illinois infantry; and brigadier-general commanding the first, second and third brigades in the army of the Tennessee. He died in 1904, in New York City.

Starrs, William, clergyman, founder, was born in 1807, in Ireland. In 1853 he was appointed rector of St. Patrick's cathedral and vicar-general of the archdiocese of New York; and in 1864 became administrator of the diocese until the succeeding bishop was appointed. He was instrumental in instituting the Sisters of Mercy and Sisters of the Good Shepherd. He died Feb. 6, 1873, in New York City.

Start, Charles Monroe, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 4, 1839, in Bakersfield, Vt. In 1880-81 he was attorney-general of Minnesota. In 1895 he was elected chief justice of the state supreme court of Minnesota for the terms ending in 1913.

Start, Henry R., soldier, lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born Dec. 28, 1845, in Bakersfield, Vt. He was educated at the Bakersfield and Barre academy. During the civil war he was a member of company A, third regiment Vermont volunteer infantry. He is one of the foremost lawyers of New England at Bakersfield; has held the office of state's attorney; was state senator in 1880; and a representative in 1890, and speaker of the house. In 1880 he was a presidential elector; and in 1890 was elected a judge of the supreme court of Vermont. He died in 1905, in Bakersfield, Vt.

Stauffer, Clinton Raymond, educator, geologist, was born Oct. 2, 1875, in Polo, Ill. He was educated at the Ohio state university, and has received the degrees of B.S., A.M. and Ph.D. In 1906-07 he was an instructor of geology in the Ohio state university; and in 1909-10 in the Western reserve university; and since 1911 has been associate professor of geology in that institution. In 1907-10 he was assistant geologist in the Ohio geological survey; and since 1913 has been geologist of the Ohio geological survey.

Stauffer, David McNeely, journalist, author, was born March 24, 1845, in Lancaster, Pa. In 1882-1906 he was editor and one of the proprietors of Engineering News. He is the author of Modern Tunnel Construction; and American Engravers on Copper and Steel.

Stauffer, Francis Henry, author, was born in 1832, in Pennsylvania. He was long a contributor to the Saturday Night of Philadelphia. Among his serials published in that paper are Ruth Brandon; Lucy Darrel; and Devona the Dauntless. He died about 1890, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Staughton, William, clergyman, college president, poet, was born Jan. 4, 1770, in England. In 1822-27 was the president of Columbian college of the District of Columbia. He was probably the most eloquent baptist minister of his time in America. He died Dec. 12, 1829, in Washington, D.C.

Staunton, William, clergyman, author, was born in 1803 in England. He was an episcopal clergyman of New York city. He was the author of Ecclesiastical Dictionary; and wrote much on musical topics. He died Sept. 29, 1889, in New York City.

Staver, Henry Clay, merchant, manufacturer, was born Dec. 19, 1844, in Loganton, Pa. He became interested in several business enterprises; and established the house of H. C. Staver and company, jobbers of implements and vehicles of Chicago, Ill. This institution is now the Staver carriage company, of which he is president and general manager.

St. Clair, Arthur, soldier, congressman, governor, author, was born June 13, 1734, in Edinburgh, Scotland. In 1764 he settled in Pennsylvania, where he erected mills. In 1770 he was made a district surveyor and justice of common pleas. In 1776 he was ordered to Canada; acquitted himself with great ability, rose to the rank of major-general. He joined General Washington; took a leading part in the battles of Princeton, Ticonderoga, and Brandywine; assisted Sullivan against the Six Nations; and was a commissioner to arrange a cartel with the British in 1780. In 1785-87 he was a delegate from Pennsylvania to the continental congress; and in 1787-88 he was president of the congress. He was governor of the territory of Ohio in 1788-1803; made an Indian treaty in 1789, and located the city of Cincinnati, and gave it its name. He was appointed general-in-chief of the army in 1791, being the fifth commander of the United States army. He died Aug. 31, 1818, in Greensburg, Pa.

Stayton, Robert W., lieutenant-colonel Texas national guard, was born Dec. 8, 1859, in Pleasonton, Tex. He was educated at the Hampden-Sidney college of Virginia; and at the university of Virginia. He attained success in the practice of law at San Antonio, Tex.; and was special district judge, special associate justice court civil appeals for the fourth judicial district of Texas. In 1892 he was a democratic elector; and filled various other positions of trust and honor. He was lieutenant-colonel and assistant adjutant-general on division staff of the Texas national guard. He died in 1907, in San Antonio, Texas.

Stead, Robert, designer, architect, was born Jan. 27, 1856, in New York City. Among the buildings erected by him in Washington are the chapel and mission house of Epiphany church, office buildings, residences and the rectory of St. James's church.

Steadman, Alexander, lawyer, jurist. In 1764 he was an associate justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania.

Stealey, Orlando O., journalist, author, was born Jan. 4, 1842, in Jeffersonville, Ind. For forty years he was on the staff of the Louisville Courier-Journal; and is now Washington correspondent of that paper. He is the author of Twenty Years in Press Gallery.

Stearns, Ashael, lawyer, educator, congressman, author, was born June 17, 1774, in Massachusetts. He was several years county attorney for Middlesex county. In 1815-17 he was a representative from Massachusetts to the fourteenth congress. He was professor of law at Cambridge in 1817-29. He was the author of Real Actions. He died Feb. 5, 1839, in Cambridge, Mass.

Stearns, Charles, clergyman, author, poet, was born July 19, 1753, in Leominster, Mass. He was a unitarian clergyman; and in 1785-1826 pastor at Lincoln, Mass. He was the author of The Ladies' Philosophy of Love, a Poem; and Principles of Morality and Religion. He died July 26, 1826, in Lincoln, Mass.

Stearns, Charles Woodward, physician, surgeon, author, was born in 1818 in Springfield, Mass. He was a physician and surgeon of note as a Shakespearean scholar. He was the author of Shakespeare's Medical Knowledge; Shakespeare Treasury of Wisdom and Knowledge; Concordance of the Constitution of the United States; and The Black Men and the South and the Rebels. He died Sept. 8, 1887, in Long Meadow, Mass.

Stearns, Eben Sperry, educator, college president, was born in 1821 in Bedford, Mass. He was master of the normal school at Framingham, Mass.; of the Albany Female academy; and in 1875 became chancellor of Nashville university. He died in 1887 in Nashville, Tenn.

Stearns, Edward Josiah, clergyman, educator, author, was born Feb. 24, 1810, in Bedford, Mass. He was a clergyman of the episcopal church; and in 1849-53 was professor of modern languages in St. John's college of Annapolis, Md. He was the author of A Platform for All Parties; Notes on Uncle Tom's Cabin; Practical Guide to English Pronunciation; The Faith of Our Forefathers, an Examination of Archbishop Gibbon's Faith of Our Fathers; and The Archbishop's Champion Brought to Book. He died in 1890, in Maryland.

Stearns Ezra Scollay, state senator, author, was born Sept. 1, 1838, in Rindge, N. H. He was a member of the New Hampshire house of representatives five sessions; and of the state senate for four years. In 1891-99 he was secretary of state of New Hampshire. He is the author of History of Rindge; and History of Ashburnham, N.H.

Stearns, Frank Preston, litterateur, author, was born Jan. 4, 1846, in Medford, Mass. In 1867 he graduated from Harvard college, and was one of the founders of base ball at Harvard. He studied art in Germany and Italy; and studied literature with David A. Wasson. He is an angler and expert rifle shot. He is the author of Life of Tintoretto; The Midsummer of Italian Art; Concord Sketches; and Real and Ideal in Literature; Life of Bismarck; Four Great Venetians; Napoleon and Machiavelli; True Republicanism; Campaign Sketches, Life of Hawthorne and Life of Major George L. Stearns. He is at work on a History of Greek Sculpture.

Stearns, George Luther, merchant, abolitionist, was born Jan. 8, 1809, in Medford, Mass. He was a manufacturer of sheet and pipe-lead of Boston. He identified himself with the anti-slavery cause, became a free-soiler in 1848, aided John Brown in Kansas, and supported him until his death. The fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth Massachusetts regiments, and the fifth cavalry, Massachusetts, were largely recruited through his instrumentality. He was the founder of the Commonwealth and Right of Way, newspapers for the dissemination of his ideas. He died April 9, 1867, in New York City.

Stearns, Henry Putnam, physician, surgeon, author, was born April 18, 1828, in Sutton, Mass. During the civil war he was surgeon in the United States volunteers, with positions of medical director and acting inspector. For twenty-five years he was superintendent and physician to the Hartford retreat for the insane; and in 1877-97 was lecturer on insanity at Yale university. He was president of the Connecticut medical society; and president of various other medical associations. He was the author of Medical Examinations in Life Insurance; and Mental Diseases. He died in 1905 in Hartford, Conn.

Stearns, Irving Ariel, educator, engineer, was born Sept. 12, 1845, in Rushville, N.Y. He was assistant professor of analytical chemistry at Troy, N.Y. In 1871-72 he was superintendent of the McNeal coal and iron company. In 1872-85 he was engaged in general engineering. He was president of the Penn mining company of Wyoming.

Stearns, John, physician, founder, was born May 16, 1770, in Wilbraham, Mass. In 1809-13 he was a member of the New York state senate. He originated the Saratoga county medical society; in 1807 the medical society of the state of New York; and in 1846 was the first president of the New York academy of medicine. He was also a founder of the American tract society. He died March 18, 1848, in New York City.

Stearns, John Glazier, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 22, 1795, in Ackworth, N.H. He was a baptist clergyman; and prominent in central New York for fifty years. He was the author of The Primitive Church; Letters on Freemasonry; The Sovereignty of God and Free Agency; and The Influence of the Spirit and the Word in Regeneration. He died Jan. 16, 1874, in Clinton, N.Y.

Stearns, John Newton, temperance reformer, author, was born May 24, 1829, in New Ipswich, N.H. In 1865 he became editor of the National Temperance Advocate; and also had charge of the Youth's Temperance Advocate in New York City. He was the author of The Temperance Chimes; The Temperance Speaker; The Centennial Songster; One Hundred Years of Temperance; and Temperance in All Nations. He died April 21, 1895, in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Stearns, John William, educator, author, was born Aug. 10, 1839, in Sturbridge, Mass. In 1878-85 he was president of the Wisconsin state normal school. In 1885-88 he was professor of science and the art of teaching, in 1888-1905 professor of philosophy and pedagogy at the university of Wisconsin. He is the author of The History of Education in Wisconsin.

Stearns, Jonathan French, clergyman, author, was born in September, 1808, in Bedford, Mass. In 1849 he became pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Newark, N.J., which connection continued about thirty years. He was the author of Sermon on the Death of Daniel Webster; and Historical Discourses Relating to the First Presbyterian Church in Newark. He died Nov. 12, 1889, in Newark, N.J.

Stearns, Julius Brutus, artist, was born July 2, 1810, in Arlington, Vt. His work was mainly in portraiture, but he painted also numerous historical subjects. Of these the best known are the Washington Series, five paintings representing Washington as a citizen, farmer, soldier, statesman, and Christian. His Millennium is in the Academy of Design, New York. He died Sept. 17, 1855, in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Stearns, Lewis French, clergyman, educator, author, was born in 1847 in Massachusetts. He was a presbyterian clergyman; and professor of systematic theology in Bangor theological seminary in 1880-92. He was the author of The Evidence of Christian Experience; Present Day Theology, with Biographical Sketch by G. L. Prentiss; and Life of Henry Boynton Smith. He died in 1892 in Bangor, Maine.

Stearns, Lutie Eugenia, educator, librarian, was born in Stoughton, Mass. In 1890-97 she was in charge of the circulating department of the Milwaukee public library; and since 1907 has been librarian visitor of the Wisconsin free library commission. She travels constantly through Wisconsin, visiting public and circulating libraries.

Stearns, Marcellus L., soldier, lawyer, state legislator, governor, was born April 29, 1839, in Lovell, Maine. He entered the union army as a private; and rose to the rank of first lieutenant. He settled in Florida immediately after the close of the civil war; and was appointed United States surveyor-general of Florida. He was twice elected a representative to the legislature, and speaker of the house. He was lieutenant-governor of Florida; and was the tenth governor in 1874-77. He died Dec. 8, 1891, in Palatine Bridge, N.Y.

Stearns, Melvin J., soldier, physician, postmaster, was born Oct. 5, 1843, in Massena, N.Y. He received his education at the Potsdam academy; and graduated in medicine from the Hahnemann medical college of Chicago, Ill. During the civil war he was first lieutenant in the one hundred and sixth regiment New York volunteers. He has been county commissioner of Cass county; town health officer of Massena; and secretary of the school board. He has attained success as a noted physician of Massena, N.Y.; and is now postmaster of that city.

Stearns, Oakman Sprague, clergyman, educator, author, was born Oct. 20, 1817, in Bath, Maine. He was a baptist clergyman of Massachusetts; and professor of biblical interpretation at Newton Theological seminary in 1868-93. He was the author of A Syllabus of Messianic Passages in the Old Testament; and Introduction to the Books of the Old Testament. He died April 21, 1893, in Newton Centre, Mass.

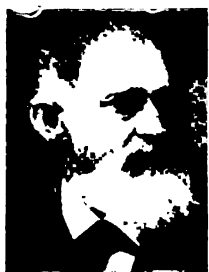

Stearns, Oliver, educator, clergyman, college president, was born June 3, 1807, in Lunenburg, Mass. He filed pastorates in Northampton and Hingham, Mass. In 1856-63 he was president of the Meadville theological school of Pennsylvania, later returning to accept the Parkman professorship. He was a lecturer on christian theology. In 1870-78 he was dean of the divinity school. He died July 18, 1885, in Cambridge, Mass.

Stearns, Onslow, governor, was born in New Hampshire. In 1869-71 he was the thirtieth governor of New Hampshire. He died Dec. 28, 1878, in New Hampshire.

Stearns, Ozora Pierson, soldier, lawyer, United States senator, was born Jan. 15, 1831, in De Kalb, N.Y. In 1861 he was elected county attorney of Olmstead county, Minn. In 1869-71 he was United States senator to fill a vacancy. He died June 3, 1896, in San Diego, Cal.

Stearns, Robert Edwards Carter, scientist, author, poet, was born Feb. 21, 1827, in Boston, Mass. In 1858-62 he was in the printing and publishing business; in 1862-63 was deputy clerk of the supreme court of California. In 1884 he was adjunct curator in the department of mollusks in the United States national museum. He was connected with the scientific departments of the Smithsonian institution, and the United States geological survey at Washington, D.C. He has published numerous scientific papers.

Stearns, Samuel, physician, astronomer, author, was born in 1747 in Bolton, Mass. He was a physician and astronomer of Worcester, New York City, and of Brattleboro. He was the author of Tour to London and Paris; Mystery of Animal Magnetism; American Oracle; and The American Herbal or Materia Medica. He died Aug. 8, 1819, in Brattleboro, Vt.

Stearns, Mrs. Sarah Burger, reformer, was born Nov. 30, 1836, in New York City. For many years she was vice-president for Minnesota of the national woman suffrage association. She was president of the Duluth home society; and was instrumental in establishing a temporary home for needy women and children in that city. She died in California.

Stearns, Wallace Nelson, educator, author, was born Aug. 26, 1866, in Chagrin Falls, Ohio. Since 1906 he has been professor of biblical literature at the Wesley college of the university of North Dakota. He is the author of A Manual of Patrology; and Religious Education in the State Universities.

Stearns, William Augustus, clergyman, author, was born March 17, 1805, in Bedford, Mass. He was a congregational clergyman; and president of Amherst college in 1854-76. He was the author of Infant Church Membership; and A Plea for the Nation. He died June 8, 1876, in Amherst, Mass.

Stearns, French, merchant, philanthropist, was born Nov. 9, 1834, in Cambridge-port, Mass. He was a merchant of New York City. He rendered great services to the American board of foreign missions during the civil war; and built a church for Amherst college. As the personal friend and correspondent of Dr. David Livingstone, he aided largely in fitting out his last expedition. He died May 21, 1874, in Orange, N.J.

Stearns, Winfrid Alden, author, was born in 1856. He is the author of Labrador, a Sketch of Its Peoples; Wrecked on Labrador; and New England Bird Life.

Stebbins, Sarah Bridges, author, poet, was born in Philadelphia, Pa. She is the author of several volumes of poems, the most notable of which are Marble Isle Legends of the Round Table; and Galgano's Wooing, and Other Poems. She is also the author of a prose work entitled Annals of a Baby; and also a romance entitled He and I.

Stebbins, Emma, sculptor, author, was born Sept. 1, 1815, in New York City. She lived for many years in Rome where she formed a friendship with Charlotte Cushman. She was the author of Charlotte Cushman: Her Letters and Memories of Her Life. She died Oct. 25, 1882, in New York City.

Stebbins, George Coles, evangelist, composer, was born Feb. 26, 1846, in East Carlton, N.Y. In 1876 he entered evangelistic work. He is part author of Gospel Hymns; Sacred Songs; Gospel Choir and other works; and is the author of The Northfield Hymnal.

Stebbins, George Waring, organist, musician, composer, was born June 16, 1869, in Albion, N.Y. Since 1902 he has been organist of the Emmanuel baptist church of New York City; and is widely known as a vocal teacher. He has composed the songs entitled When Love is Gone; and Thy Presence; and also many other songs, anthems and organ pieces.

Stebbins, Giles Badger, lecturer, author, was born in 1817. He was the author of After Dogmatic Theology, What? The American Protectionist's Manual; Chapters from the Bible of the Ages; Facts and Opinions Touching the American Colonization Society; and Progress from Poverty. He died in 1900.

Stebbins, Henry G., banker, congressman, was born in 1812 in New York City. He was one of the originators and president of the Dramatic fund association; and an active manager of the New York academy of music. In 1863-64 he was a representative from New York to the thirty-eighth congress. He died in New York.

Stebbins, John W., lawyer, legislator, author, was born Oct. 22, 1819, in Herkimer, N.Y. In 1851 he began the practice of law in Rochester, N.Y.; and in 1855 was a representative in the New York state legislature. In 1865-69 he was postmaster of Rochester, N.Y.; and for seventeen years was grand representative to the sovereign grand lodge of odd fellows. He is the author of Jurisprudence of Odd Fellowship; and History of Rebekah Odd Fellowship.

Stebbins, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth, author, poet, was born in 1818 in Massachusetts. She is the author of Songs of Our Lord; Heroines of History; and Poems; Sacred, Passionate and Legendary. She died Feb. 2, 1888, in Massachusetts.

Stebbins, Rufus Phineas, clergyman, college president, author, was born March 3, 1810, in South Wilbraham, Mass. He was a unitarian clergyman; and in 1844-56 president Theological seminary of Meadville, Pa. He was the author of A Study of the Pentateuch; and A Common Sense View of the Books of the Old Testament. He died Aug. 13, 1885, in Cambridge, Mass.

Steckler, Alfred, lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 18, 1856, in New York City. For a quarter of a century he practiced law in New York City; and for more than ten years was judge of the fourth district court. Since 1901 he has been justice of the supreme court of New York to fill a vacancy.

Stedman, Charles Manly, congressman, was born Jan. 29, 1841, in Pittsboro, N.C. He served in the confederate army during the civil war, was three times wounded, and attained the rank of major. He has been president of the North Carolina bar association and became president of the North Carolina railroad company. In 1911-15 he was a representative from North Carolina to the sixty-second and sixty-third congresses as a democrat.

Stedman, Chester Jewett, physician, surgeon, was born May 6, 1878, in Brown's Island, W.Va. He received his medical degree from the Baltimore medical college; and is a graduate of the United States army medical school. In 1903 he invented a section lifter and slide holder for use in pathologic laboratories. He has been first lieutenant and captain in the United States army medical corps; and in 1910-11 was in private practice in Portland, Ore. He is now physician to the United States engineer department, Columbia river jetty project.

Stedman, Edmund Clarence, author, poet, was born Oct. 8, 1833, in Hartford, Conn. He was a poet and literary critic of New York City; and for many years a member of the Stock exchange there. He was the author of Poems: Lyric and Idyllic; The Prince's Ball; The Battle of Bull Run; Alice of Monmouth; Idyl of the Great War, and Other Poems; The Blameless Prince; Hawthorne and Other Poems; Lyrics and Idyls; Poems, Household Edition; and The Star Bearer. His other works comprise, Octavius Brooks Frothingham and the New Faith; Victorian Poets; Poets of America; and The Nature and Elements of Poetry. His most important labors as editor have been A Library of American Literature; The Works of Poe; and A Victorian Anthology. He died Jan. 18, 1908, in Bronxville, N.Y.

Stedman, Griffin Alexander, soldier, was born Jan. 8, 1838, in Hartford, Conn. In 1861 he was captain in the fifth regiment Connecticut infantry; and in 1864 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Aug. 6, 1864, near Petersburg, Va.

Stedman, Thomas Lathrop, physician, surgeon, author, was born Oct. 11, 1853, in Cincinnati, Ohio. Since 1877 he has practiced his profession in New York City. He is the author of A Chinese and English Phrase Book in the Canton Dialect; and Modern Greek Mastery. He is also editor of The Twentieth Century Practice of Medicine in twenty-one volumes.

Stedman, William, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1765 in Massachusetts. In 1802 he was a representative in the state legislature. In 1803-11 he was a representative from Massachusetts to the eighth, ninth, tenth and eleventh congresses. He died in 1831 in Newburyport, Mass.

Steed, William M., educator, public official, was born Nov. 10, 1874, in Hurricane, Ark. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools of Benton, Ark.; attended Key's business institute of Little Rock, Ark.; and studied in Hendrix college of Conway, Ark. For six years he was a teacher in the public schools. He became deputy circuit clerk; and for the past four years has been clerk of the courts of Saline county, Ark. He is now clerk of the several courts and recorder of Saline county; and resides in Benton, Ark.

Steedman, Charles, naval officer, was born Sept. 24, 1811, in Charleston, S.C. In 1828 he was appointed a midshipman; passed through all the grades; and retired with the rank of rear-admiral. He died Nov. 13, 1890, in Washington, D.C.

Steedman, James Barrett, pioneer, soldier, state legislator, was born July 30, 1818, in Northumberland county, Pa. In 1843 he was a member of the Ohio state legislature. In 1849 he crossed the plains to California; returned the following year; and during President Buchanan's administration was printer to congress. He served through the civil war; and attained the rank of major-general. He died Oct. 18, 1883, in Toledo, Ohio.

Steel, George Alexander, businessman, legislator, was born April 22, 1846, in Stafford, Ohio. He is the son of William Steel, a prominent abolitionist of Ohio, and a cousin of Hon. William E. Gladstone. On April 2, 1863, he started for Portland, Ore., going by the way of New York, Aspinwall, Panama and San Francisco, arriving there on May 25, 1864. He has been county treasurer, state senator, postmaster of Portland for two terms, special agent of the postoffice department, and has filled various other offices of trust. He is widely and favorably known throughout Oregon and is now treasurer of the state, having been elected by a large majority in June, 1906, for a term of four years.

Steel, William, reformer, abolitionist, was born Aug. 26, 1809, in Scotland. In the early days of the anti-slavery movement he was the recognized leader of the abolitionists in southeastern Ohio. He was at one time a candidate of the liberty party for congress; and in 1844 circulated in eastern Ohio the "great petition," whose signers agreed to vote for Henry Clay if he would emancipate his one slave. He died Jan. 5, 1881, in Portland, Ore.

Steel, William A., lawyer, director, founder, was born Oct. 11, 1836, in Blairville, Pa. After receiving a preparatory education he entered Jefferson academy at Jacksonville, Pa.; and afterward studied at Cumberland, Md. In 1876 he was proprietor of the largest stone quarries in America. He served as mayor of the city of Joliet, Ill. In 1868 he established the first public library and reading room. For many years he was a practicing attorney of Joliet, Ill. He is a director of two railroad companies, two banks and a gas company.

Steele, Charles, lawyer, railroad president, capitalist. He is a member of the law firm of J. T. Morgan and company of New York City. He was a member of the board of United States steel corporations; and is a director of several railroad companies; and president and director of the Buffalo creek railroad company.

Steele, Daniel, educator, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 5, 1824, in Windham, N.Y. He attended the Wilbraham academy; in 1848 graduated from the Wesleyan university. He has filled pastorates in methodist churches at Fitchburg, Malden, Lynn, Boston, Springfield, Salem and Reading, Mass. In 1862-71 was a professor of Genesee college of Lima, N.Y.; in 1872 became first president of Syracuse university; and in 1884-93 was professor of the school of theology at the Boston university. He is the author of Love Enthroned; Miles Steam Papers; Half Hours with St. Paul; A Substitute for Holmes; Antinomianism Revived; and Half Hours with St. John's Epistles.

Steele, David, clergyman, author, was born in 1827 in Ireland. He had been a reformed presbyterian clergyman of Philadelphia since 1861. He was the author of The Times in Which We Live, and the Ministry

They Require; The Apologetics of History; Endless Life the Inheritance of the Righteous; The Two Witnesses; A Nation in Tears; The House of God's Glory; Elements of Ministerial Success; The Wants of the Pulpit; Christ's Coronation; History of the Reformed Presbyterian Church in North America; Personal Religion; and Our Martyred Chief. He died June 15, 1906.

Steele, Mrs. Esther Baker, author, was born in 1835 in Lysander, N.Y. She married Professor Joel Dorman Steele. In collaboration with her husband she published Barnes' Brief Histories. Since her husband's death she has revised new editions of these joint works; and also of her husband's science books.

Steele, Frederick, soldier, was born Jan. 14, 1819, in Delhi, N.Y. He served through the civil war; and attained the rank of major-general. He died Jan. 12, 1868, in San Mateo, Cal.

Steele, George McKendree, clergyman, educator, author, was born in 1823 in New York. He was a methodist clergyman and educator; and principal of Wilbraham academy of Massachusetts. He was the author of Outline Study of Political Economy. He died Jan. 14, 1902, in Kenilworth, Ill.

Steele, George Washington, lawyer, soldier, farmer, banker, governor, congressman, was born Dec. 13, 1839, in Fayette county, Ind. He served in the civil war; and attained the rank of lieutenant-colonel. In 1882 he established the First national bank of Marion, Ind., and became its president. In 1890-91 he was governor of the territory of Oklahoma. In 1881-89 and 1895-1903 he was a representative to the forty-seventh, forty-eighth, forty-ninth, fiftieth, fifty-fourth, fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth and fifty-seventh congresses as a republican.

Steele, Isaac Nevett, lawyer, was born April 25, 1809, in Cambridge, Md. He received a thorough education in the public academy of Cambridge; St. John's college of Annapolis; and at Trinity college of Hartford, Conn. In 1830 he was admitted to the bar; and attained prominence as one of the foremost lawyers in America; and a leader of the Maryland bar. He contributed valuable articles to current literature. He died April 11, 1891, in Baltimore, Md.

Steele, James, soldier, manufacturer, was born Jan. 16, 1765, in Lancaster county, Pa. He served in the war of 1812-14; and for meritorious conduct was promoted to the rank of brigadier-general of militia. He died Sept. 30, 1845, in Harrisburg, Pa.

Steele, James E., merchant, banker, state senator, was born June 22, 1852, in Manchester, England. He is a successful farmer, stockraiser and merchant of Idaho. He was president of the Idaho commission at the St. Louis fair; and was chairman of the Lewis and Clark exposition of Portland. He was president of the Farmers' progress canal company of Cingham county, Idaho; president of Rigby bank; president of the Iona mercantile company; and a director in various other corporations. He has been mayor of the village of Iona; and deputy clerk of the seventh district court. In 1903-05 he was a representative in the Idaho state legislature; and is now a member of the state senate.

Steele, Joel Dorman, educator, author, was born May 14, 1836, in Lima, N.Y. In 1866-72 he was principal of the Elmira free academy of New York; and subsequently devoted his time to the preparation of text books. He was the author of Barnes' History of the United States and a series of text-books on the sciences, each intended for a course of study of fourteen weeks, including Natural Philosophy; Geology; Human Physiology; Zoology; and Chemistry. He died May 25, 1886, in Elmira, N.Y.

Steele, John, soldier, diplomat, was born in 1755 in Augusta county, Va. He was a revolutionary officer. For many years he was one of the Virginia executive council; and secretary of Mississippi territory in 1798-1801. He died about 1805.

Steele, John, agriculturist, state legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 1, 1764, in Salisbury, N.C. He served a number of years in the North Carolina state legislature; and part of the time as speaker. In 1789-93 he was a representative from North Carolina to the first and second congresses. In 1806 he was a commissioner to adjust the boundaries between the states of North and South Carolina. He was a general of the militia; held the office of first comptroller of the treasury under Presidents Washington and Adams; and in 1814 was again elected to the legislature. He died Aug. 14, 1815, in Salisbury, N.C.

Steele, John, soldier, state senator, was born Aug. 15, 1758, in Lancaster county, Pa. In 1804 he was elected state senator; and in 1805 became speaker of that body. He held the rank of brigadier-general in the Pennsylvania militia. He died Feb. 27, 1827, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Steele, John B., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born March 28, 1814, in Delhi, N.Y. In 1841 he was appointed district attorney of Otsego county, N.Y. In 1847 he moved to Kingston; and in 1850 he was elected special judge of that county. In 1861-65 he was a representative from New York to the thirty-seventh and thirty-eighth congresses. He was accidentally killed Sept. 24, 1866, in Kingston, N.Y.

Steele, John H., governor, was born in 1792 in North Carolina. He was the eighteenth governor of New Hampshire in 1844-

46. He died July 3, 1865, in Peterborough, N.H.

Steele, John N., congressman, was born in Maryland. He was a presidential elector in 1832. In 1833-37 he was a representative from Maryland to the twenty-third and twenty-fourth congresses. He died in Vienna, Md.

Steele, Robert W., territorial governor, was born in 1820. He was the first territorial governor of Colorado. He died Feb. 7, 1901, in Colorado Springs, Col.

Steele, Robert Wilbur, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 14, 1857, in Lebanon, Ohio. In 1895-1901 he was county judge of Arapahoe county, Col. Since 1901 he has been justice of the supreme court of Colorado; and was elected chief justice of that court for the term of 1907-11.

Steele, Thomas Sedgwick, artist, author, was born June 11, 1845, in Hartford, Conn. He was the author of Canoe and Camera; A Tour Through the Maine Forests; Peddle and Portage; A Voyage to Viking Land; and Two at a Cast. He died in 1903 in Hartford, Conn.

Steele, Walter Leak, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born April 18, 1823, in Steele's Mills, now Little's Mills, N.C. He was a member of the North Carolina state house of commons in 1846-52 and 1854-56; and to the state senate in 1852 and 1858. In 1877-81 he was a representative from North Carolina to the forty-fifth and forty-sixth congresses as a democrat.

Steele, William G., merchant, banker, congressman, was born Dec. 17, 1820, in Somerset county, N.J. He was for several years a state director for the Delaware and Raritan canal; and the Camden and Amboy railroad company. In 1861-65 he was a representative from New Jersey to the thirty-seventh and thirty-eighth congresses. He died in New Jersey.

Steele, William R., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born July 24, 1824, in New York City. He was elected to the legislative council of Wyoming territory in 1871. In 1873-77 he was a territorial delegate from Wyoming to the forty-third and forty-fourth congresses as a democrat.

Steell, Willis, playwright, author, was born in 1866 in Detroit, Mich. His acted plays are The Battle of the Strong; A Juliet of the People; and The Firm of Cunningham. He is also the author of Mortal Lips; Mountains of Gold; The Death of the Discoverer; Senator Lumley's Daughter, a book of travels; and a book of short plays.

Steendam, Jacob, poet, was born in 1616, in Holland. He is the earliest poet of New York. He was in the employ of the Dutch West India company; and lived in New Amsterdam, now New York, in 1650-63, about which time he returned to Holland. The place and date of his death are unknown. His four small volumes of verse include: The Thistle Finch; The Complaint of New Amsterdam; The Praise of New Netherland; and Spurring Verses. He died in New York.

Steenerson, Halvor, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born June 30, 1852, in Dane county, Wis. He is a successful lawyer of Crookston, Minn.; has been county attorney; city attorney, and a member of the board of education. He served as a Minnesota state senator in 1883-85; and in 1884 was a member of the National republican convention. In 1903-15 he was a representative from Minnesota to the fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth, sixtieth, sixty-first, sixty-second and sixty-third congresses as a republican.

Steenrod, Lewis, congressman, was born in Virginia. In 1839-45 he was a representative from Virginia to the twenty-sixth, twenty-seventh and twenty-eighth congresses. He died in Virginia.

Steenstra, Peter Henry, clergyman, educator, author, was born Jan. 24, 1833, in Netherlands. He is an episcopal clergyman of Cambridge, Mass.; and professor of Old Testament criticism and interpretation in the Episcopal theological school since 1867. He is the author of The Being of God as Unity and Trinity.

Steere, Joseph Beal, agriculturalist, scientist, author, was born Feb. 9, 1842, in Lenawee county, Mich. He has made numerous trips in foreign countries collecting specimens for the Smithsonian institution. He is the author of Fifty New Species of Philippine Birds.

Steere, Joseph H., lawyer, jurist, was born May 19, 1852, in Addison, Mich. He received his education in the public schools of his native state; and graduated from the university of Michigan with the degree of A.B. He attained success in the practice of law in the state of Michigan; and has filled various positions of trust and honor at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. For the past twenty-four years he has been circuit judge of the eleventh judicial circuit of Michigan; and has contributed extensively to the legal lore of American literature.

Steere, Warren Burlingham, physician, surgeon, was born Dec. 9, 1832, in Otsego county, N.Y. He received his education in the public schools; attended the medical department of the Michigan university; the eclectic medical college of Philadelphia; and the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Keokuk, Iowa. For fourteen years he was United States examining surgeon; was professor of obstetrics in the medical department of the Drake university; and for six years was professor of materia medica and therapeutics in the Iowa eclectic medical college. He is one of the foremost physicians and surgeons of Iowa at Des Moines.

Steere, William Henry Peck, soldier, was born in Rhode Island. In 1861 he was captain in the first regiment Rhode Island infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Aug. 25, 1882.

Steger, John Valentine, manufacturer, founder, was born March 24, 1854, in Germany. In 1871 he came to the United States; and two years later began the manufacture of pianos in Chicago, Ill. He is president of the Steger and sons piano manufacturing company, with a factory at Steger employing over one thousand men.

Steiger, Ernst, publisher, bibliographer, author, was born Oct. 4, 1832, in Saxony. He is a bibliographer and publisher of New York City. He is the author of Der Nachdruck in Nordamerika; Das Copyright Law in den Vereinigten Staaten; and Periodical Literature, a bibliography.

Steigers, William Corbet, soldier, journalist, was born Sept. 15, 1847, in St. Louis, Mo. In 1862 he enlisted in the eighth Missouri regiment volunteer infantry; and served in the armies of Grant and Sherman. In 1863 he was mustered out on account of physical disability contracted in the army. In 1868 he made his first entrance into the newspaper world in the business department of the St. Louis Evening Dispatch; and later assumed charge. In 1872 he became advertising manager of the St. Louis Times; in 1878 became advertising manager of the Evening Post; and subsequently of the New York World.

Stein, Evaleen, artist, author, was born in Lafayette, Ind. She is a decorator, designer and illuminator. She is the author of One Way to the Woods, poems; Among the Trees Again, poems; Troubadour Tales; and Gabriel and the Hour Book.

Stein, John Philip, clergyman, was born June 11, 1836, in Annville, Pa. In 1864 he entered the ministry; in 1881 became clerk of the eastern synod; and was clerk of the general synod of the reformed church of the United States. Until 1898 he was a member of the board of visitors of the theological seminary. He was pastor of St. Thomas church of Reading, Pa. He died Feb. 3, 1909, in Reading, Pa.

Stein, Robert, explorer, linguist, author, was born in 1857 in Prussia. He taught school for awhile in the United States; and later received the degree of M.D. from Georgetown college. In 1884 he entered the United States geological survey; and became translator of German, French, Italian, Danish, Swedish, Russian, Dutch, Spanish, Portuguese and other languages. In 1897 he joined the seventh Peary arctic exploration expedition; and in 1899 undertook the exploration of Ellesmereland, spending two years at Cape Sabine. In 1901 he spent eight weeks in Whale sound. The result of this trip was a compilation of Eskimo Vocabulary; and a collection of their songs.

Steiner, Bernard Christian, educator, lawyer, librarian, author, was born Aug. 13, 1867, in Guilford, Conn. Since 1892 he has been librarian of the Enoch Pratt free library of Baltimore, Md. Since 1894 he has been professor of history. He is the author of Education in Maryland; Education in Connecticut; Citizenship and Suffrage in Maryland; Institutions and Civil Government of Maryland; Life and Correspondence of James McHenry; and Genealogy of the Steiner Family.

Steiner, Edward A., educator, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 1, 1866 in Vienna, Austria. Since 1903 he has been professor of applied christianity at Iowa college. He is the author of Tolstoy, the Man; On the Trail of the Immigrant; and The Mediator.

Steiner, John Alexander, manufacturer, soldier, journalist, legislator, was born March 16, 1816. He served during the civil war as major and lieutenant-colonel in the first regiment Potomac home brigade; and in 1866 was brevetted colonel and brigadier-general of volunteers. He has been a member of the Maryland house of delegates; was editor of the Frederick Examiner; and was inspector of customs at Baltimore, Md.

Steiner, Lewis Henry, physician, educator, state senator, author, was born May 4, 1827, in Frederick, Md. He was chief inspector in the army of the Potomac, of United States sanitary commission; and was state senator for twelve years from Frederick county, Md. He was the first librarian of the Enoch Pratt free library of Baltimore. He was the author of a number of scientific and medical works. He died Feb. 18, 1892, in Baltimore, Md.

Steiner, Walter Ralph, educator, physician, pathologist, was born Nov. 18, 1870, in Frederick City, Md. He received the degrees of A.B. and A.M. from Yale university; and the degree of M.D. from the Johns Hopkins university. In 1901-12 he was pathologist and bacteriologist to the Hartford hospital; and since 1913 has been consulting pathologist and bacteriologist to that institution. Since 1912 he has also been secretary of the congress of American physicians and surgeons.

Steinhart, Frank Maximilian, soldier, diplomat, was born May 12, 1864, in Munich, Germany. He read law for four years and studied foreign languages. In 1882-89 he served as private, corporal and sergeant in the United States army; and served as assistant chief clerk under Generals Schofield, Cook, Terry, Miles, Ruger, Merritt and Brooke; and in 1868 was appointed chief clerk of the first army corps. He has seen service in Porto Rico and Cuba; and in 1903-07 was American consul-general at Havana.

Steinmetz, Charles Proteus, electrician, author, was born April 9, 1865, in Germany.

He was educated in Germany and Switzerland; and took special studies in mathematics, electrical engineering and chemistry. He is professor of electrical engineering at the Union university of Schenectady, N.Y.; and is an electrician and consulting engineer for the General electric company of that city. He is the author of Theory and Calculation of Alternating Current Phenomena; Theoretical; Elements of Electrical Engineering; also sundry mathematical papers and investigations, numerous papers on theoretical experiences and investigations in electrical engineering.

Steinway, Albert, soldier, was born June 10, 1840, in Germany. Early in the civil war he was advanced to the colonelcy of the sixth regiment of New York volunteers; and later became brigadier-general. He died May 14, 1877, in New York City.

Steinway, C. F. Theodore, merchant, manufacturer, inventor, was born Nov. 6, 1825, in Germany. He came to America in 1849 with his father, settling in New York. They were engaged in the manufacture of pianos; and in 1859 moved to Brunswick, N.J., where he built up a large business, the reputation of which extended over all central Europe. In 1865 he moved his family to New York to be near his father.

In 1866 the firm erected Steinway hall. He invented many appliances for pianos; and in 1866-89 obtained thirty-four patents. In 1872 they erected their own foundry in Astoria, N.Y. He invented the duplex scale, the repetition action, the new steel frame construction in grand pianos, and the sound-board. He died March 26, 1889, in Germany.

Steinway, Charles Herman, merchant, manufacturer, was born June 3, 1857. He is president of Steinway and sons, piano manufacturers of New York City.

Stejneger, Leonhard, naturalist, author, was born Oct. 30, 1851, in Norway. He is curator of reptiles in the United States national museum. He is the author of Report on the Asiatic Fur Seal Islands and Fur Seal Industry; The Origin of So-called Atlantic Animals and Plants of Western Norway; and Herpetology of Japan.

Steinway, Henry Engelhard, soldier, manufacturer, inventor, was born Feb. 15, 1797, in North Germany. He had a natural fondness for music and his musical memory was phenomenal. He served in the German army and was offered the post of sergeant. He came to America in 1849, and in 1853 founded the house of Steinway & sons in New York City. They also own large warerooms; and in 1866 built Steinway hall. In 1868-95 Steinway and sons perfected a series of most important inventions in the building of pianos. They received a great many prizes. He died Feb. 7, 1871, in New York City.

Steinway, William, piano manufacturer, and president of Steinway and sons, was born March 5, 1836, near the city of Brunswick, Germany. In 1853 he joined his father and his brothers in the founding of the house of Steinway and sons. With four or five workmen, the Steinways built one square piano a week; and today they own and operate the largest piano factory in the world, having manufactured over one hundred thousand pianos since they first entered the business in America. William Steinway has taken an active part in the public affairs of New York City; was a democratic elector in 1892, and the following year was president of the electoral college. He died Nov. 30, 1896, in New York City.

Stellhorn, Frederick William, educator, author, was born Oct. 2, 1841, in Germany. Since 1881 he has been professor of theology and German; and in 1894-1900 was president; and since 1903 has been dean of the theological faculty of Capital university of Columbus, Ohio. He is the author of The Error of Modern Missouri; The Epistle of St. Paul to the Romans Briefly Explained; and several works in German.

Stelwagon, Henry Weightman, physician, surgeon, author, was born Dec. 3, 1853, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1872 he graduated from the Audalusia college of Pennsylvania with the degree of B.S.; and in 1875 graduated from the university of Pennsylvania and received the degrees of M.D. and Ph.D. In 1876-77 was a resident physician of the Philadelphia hospital; and in 1876-78 was a student in hospitals of Vienna and Berlin. In 1880-90 he was physician in charge of the Philadelphia dispensary of skin diseases; in 1885-90 was an instructor of dermatology in the university of Pennsylvania; since 1888 has been dermatologist to the Pennsylvania hospital, and is also dermatologist to the New York dispensary and to the Howard hospital. In 1888-1907 was clinical professor of dermatology in the Women's medical college of Philadelphia; and since 1890 has filled that chair in the Jefferson medical college. He is the author of Essentials of the Diseases of the Skin; and Treatise on Diseases of the Skin.

Stelzle, Charles, sociologist, author, was born June 4, 1869, in New York. In 1900 he was ordained to the presbyterian ministry; and since 1903 has been superintendent of the department of church and labor in the presbyterian church of the United States. He is the author of The Workingman and Social Problems; and Christianity's Storm Center, Study of the Modern City.

Stembel, Roger Nelson, naval officer, was born Dec. 27, 1810, in Middletown, Md. He co-operated with the army in suppressing the rising of the Seminole Indians in Florida in 1836; and did brilliant service in the Mexican war of 1846. In the civil war he was instrumental in organizing the union gunboat flotilla on the western waters, and was in command of the gunboat Lexington at the battle of Belmont. He assisted in the capture of Fort Henry, commanding the gunboat Cincinnati, where he had the honor of receiving the surrender of the fort, and of hoisting Old Glory for the first time over southern territory. He was placed on the retired list as rear-admiral United States navy. He died Nov. 20, 1900, in New York City.

Stengel, Alfred, physician, author, was born Nov. 3, 1868, in Pittsburgh, Pa. He is a successful physician of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of A Textbook of Pathology.

Stenger, William S., lawyer, journalist, congressman, was born Feb. 13, 1840, in London, Pa. He served as district attorney for Franklin county, Pa. In 1875-79 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-fourth and forty-fifth congresses as a democrat.

Stenzel, Lula Vinette, litterateur, author, was born Jan. 1, 1872, in Washington, D.C. She is the author of Breta's Double, under the pen name of Helen V. Greyson; and The Darkwood Tragedy.

Stephen, Adam, soldier, was born about 1730 in Virginia. He was made a brigadier-general in 1776; and in 1777 was promoted major-general. He died in Virginia.

Stephen, Mrs. Elizabeth Willson, author, was born in 1856 in Alabama. She is the wife of a presbyterian clergyman in Rockport, Ill. She is the author of The Confessions of Two, a novel.

Stephens, Abraham P., congressman, was born in New York. In 1851-53 he was a representative from New York to the thirty-second congress. He died in New York.

Stephens, Alexander Hamilton, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, governor, author, was born Feb. 11, 1812, in Crawfordsville, Ga. In 1836-41 he was a member of the lower house of the Georgia state legislature; and in 1842 was elected to the senate of his state. In 1843-59 and 1873-83 he was a representative from Georgia to the twenty-eighth to the thirty-fifth and the forty-third to the forty-seventh congresses. He became identified with the rebellion of 1861; and was chosen vice-president and member of congress of the southern confederacy. In 1866 he was elected United States senator; but was not admitted. In 1882-83 he was the thirtieth governor of Georgia. He was the author of School History of the United States; History of the War Between the States; and Compendium of United States History. He died March 4, 1883, in Atlanta, Ga.

Stephens, Mrs. Alice Barber, illustrator, painter, artist, was born in 1858 near Salem, N.J. She studied in Paris; and for many years she was engaged in wood engraving and as an illustrator for Harper's Century and other leading magazines. For three years she taught portrait and life classes in the Philadelphia school of design for women.

Stephens, Mrs. Ann Sophia, author, poet, was born in 1813 in Derby, Conn. She was the author of Fashion and Famine; A Story of Western Life; The Old Homestead; Myra, the Child of Adoption; The Heiress; Wives and Widows; The Curse of Gold; and A Popular History of the United States. Her best known poem is Polish Boy. She died Aug. 20, 1886, in Newport, R.I.

Stephens, Charles Asbury, author, was born in 1847 in Norway Lake, Maine. He is a writer of Norway Lake, Maine. He is the author of Camping Out; Off the Geysers; Left on Labrador; Fox Hunting; On the Amazon; The Young Moose-Hunters; and The Knockabout Club in the Woods and in the Tropics.

Stephens, Dan Vorhees, congressman, was born Nov. 4, 1868, in Indiana. He served two terms as county superintendent of schools; and is the author of two books on education. In 1911-15 he was a representative from Nebraska to the sixty-second and sixty-third congresses as a democrat.

Stephens, David Steubert, soldier, educator, clergyman, college president, was born May 12, 1847, in Springfield, Ohio. He served in the civil war in the hundred and thirty-fourth regiment Ohio volunteer infantry. In 1881-88 he was president of Adrian college of Michigan; and in 1888-96 he was editor of the Methodist Recorder of Pittsburgh, Pa. In 1906-07 he was chairman of the general council of congregational united brethren and methodist protestant churches. Since 1896 has been chancellor of the Kansas City university, of Kansas.

Stephens, Harriet Marion, author, was born in 1823. She was the author of Home Scenes and Home Sounds; and Hagar the Martyr, a novel. She died in 1858 in East Hampden, Maine.

Stephens, Henry Louis, book-illustrator, artist, was born Feb. 11, 1824, in Philadelphia. He was well known as a caricaturist, excelling especially in the humorous delineation of animals; and drew cartoons and sketches for Vanity Fair; Mrs. Grundy; Punchinello; and other periodicals. He died Dec. 13, 1882, in Bayonne, N.J.

Stephens, Henry Morse, educator, historian, author, was born Oct. 3, 1857, in Edinburgh, Scotland. Since 1902 he has been professor of history at the university of California. He is the author of History of the French Revolution; The Story of Portugal; and Revolutionary Europe.

Stephens, Hubert Durrett, congressman, was born July 2, 1875, in New Albany, Union county, Miss. In 1911-15 he was a representative from Mississippi to the sixty-second and sixty-third congresses.

Stephens, John Hall, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Dec. 22, 1847, in Shelby county, Texas. He graduated in 1872 from the law department of Cumberland university of Lebanon, Tenn.; and has practiced law since at Montague, Montague county, and Vernon, Wilbarger county, Tex. He served as state senator in the twenty-first and twenty-second legislatures of Texas; and in 1897-1915 he was a representative to the fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh, fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth, sixtieth, sixty-first, sixty-second and sixty-third congresses as a democrat.

Stephens, Jefferson Davis, soldier, publisher, statesman, was born Aug. 1, 1871, in Bascom, Fla. He received his education in the public schools of his native state; then for a short time was engaged in the mercantile business; and has attained success in the practice of law. For awhile he was engaged in farming; then taught school; and besides attaining prominence as a lawyer, he is also a clergyman of the baptist church. In 1905 he was a representative in the Florida state legislature; and has filled various positions of trust and honor. At one time editor and publisher of The Marianna News. In 1906 he was a candidate for congress. Since 1904 he has been colonel and aide-de-camp on the governor's staff. Florida national guard, and resides in Marianna, Fla.

Stephens, John Phares, farmer, clergyman, legislator, author, was born Sept. 28, 1836, near Manila, Ind. In 1860 he was ordained a pastor of the baptist church, and has since filled important pastorates in Ohio and Kansas; and is now filling a pastorate in the baptist church at Wells-ville, Kan. In 1891 he served with distinction as a representative in the Kansas state legislature; is a prominent member of the Farmers' alliance, and is the author of several works.

Stephens, John Vant, educator, clergyman, was born Sept. 16, 1857, in St. Louis, Mo. He was a student of Crawfordsville, Ind.; graduated from Lincoln college of Illinois as A.B. and graduated from the Lebanon seminary as B.D. He received the honorary degree of D.D. from Trinity university of Texas; and also studied in the Union seminary of New York City. He has filled pastorates in presbyterian churches of Knoxville, Tenn., and Bowling Green, Ky. He was corresponding secretary of the Cumberland presbyterian board of missions of St. Louis, Mo. For fifteen years he has been professor of history in the Presbyterian theological seminary at Lebanon, Tenn. He was a member of the World's parliament of religions held in Chicago in 1893; and is a member of the alliance of the reforming churches throughout the world, holding the presbyterian system.

Stephens, Kate, educator, editor, author, was born in Moravia, N.Y. For six years she was professor of Greek at the university to Kansas. She is the author of American Thumb-Prints; Mettle of Our Men and Women; and A Woman's Heart.

Stephens, Lawrence Vest, journalist, banker, governor, was born Dec. 21, 1858, in Boonville, Mo. He is a printer by profession; and became proprietor of the Boonville Advertiser. He became president of the Central national bank of Boonville, Mo. In 1889-97 he was state treasurer of Missouri; and in 1897-1901 was governor of the state of Missouri.

Stephens, Linton, soldier, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born July 1, 1823, in Crawfordsville, Ga. He represented the counties of Taliaferro and Hancock in the legislature for several years. In 1858 he was appointed to a vacancy in the supreme court of Georgia; and his decisions, contained in three volumes of the Georgia Reports, are characterized by their precision, perspicuity and power of logic. He died July 14, 1872, in Sparta, Ga.

Stephens, Lon V., lawyer, journalist, banker, governor, was born Dec. 21, 1858, in Boonville, Mo. He learned the printer's trade; was for a time a bank clerk, then telegraph operator, and then lawyer; and finally became president of the Bank of Boonville, Mo. In 1897-1901 he was governor of Missouri.

Stephens, Martin Bates, educator, public official, was born Oct. 5, 1862, in Caroline county, Md. He was educated at the Greensboro academy; and at the Dickinson college of Carlisle, Pa. For fourteen years in 1886-1900, he was county superintendent of schools for Caroline county, Md.; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. Since 1900 he has been state superintendent of education for Maryland, and is now serving the term ending in 1910.

Stephens, Philander, congressman was born in 1788 in Montrose, Pa. In 1829-33 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the twenty-first and twenty-second congresses. He died July 8, 1842, in Springfield, Pa.

Stephens, Robert Neilson, journalist, dramatist, author, was born July 22, 1867, in New Bloomfield, Pa. In 1893 he became theatrical agent and dramatist in New York City. He wrote the Steve Brodie melodrama, On the Bowery. He later wrote An Enemy to the King, produced by E. H. Sothern in 1896; and The Ragged Regiment, produced in 1898. He was the author of An Enemy to the King; The Continental Dragoon; The Road to Paris; A Gentleman and Player; Philip Winwood; and Captain Ravenshaw. He died in 1906 in Boston, Mass.

Stephens, Mrs. Susan Pierce, litterateur, author. She was the author of I Am the King; The Eagle's Talons; and The Sign of Triumph. She died in 1909 in Little Rock, Ark.

Stephens, Thomas, author. He was the author of The Castle Builder, or the History of William Stephens, of the Isle of Wight.

Stephens, Uriah S., founder, was born Aug. 3, 1821, near Cape May, N.J. He was one of the founders of the order of the knights of labor. He died Feb. 13, 1882.

Stephens, William, colonial governor, author, was born Jan. 22, 1671, in England. He was colonial governor of Georgia in 1743-51. He was the author of Journal of the Proceedings in Georgia. He died in August, 1753, in Georgia.

Stephens, William, lawyer, jurist. He was a citizen of Georgia. In 1801 he was appointed judge of the United States district court for the district of Georgia. He died in Georgia.

Stephens, William Dennison, congressman, was born Dec. 26, 1859, in Eaton, O. In 1909 he was mayor of Los Angeles, Cal.; and since 1903 has been major in the California national guard. In 1911-15 he was a representative from California to the sixty-second and sixty-third congresses.

Stephenson, Benjamin, soldier, congressman, was born in Kentucky. He was an officer in the war of 1812. In 1813-17 he was a territorial delegate from Illinois to the thirteenth and fourteenth congresses; and was then appointed receiver of public moneys at Edwardsville, Ill. He died in Edwardsville, Ill.

Stephenson, Henry Thew, educator, author, was born in 1870 in Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1895-1900 he was instructor, and since 1900 has been assistant professor of English at the Indiana university. He is the author of the Fickle Wheel; and other books.

Stephenson, Isaac, lumberman, farmer, banker, congressman, United States senator, was born June 12, 1829, in Fredericton, N. B., Canada. In 1845 he moved to Wisconsin; and for twelve years was engaged in the lumber trade at Escanaba, Mich. In 1866-68 he was a member of the Wisconsin state legislature. In 1883-89 he was a representative from Wisconsin to the forty-eighth, forty-ninth, and fiftieth congresses as a republican. In 1907 he was elected to the United States senate to fill a vacancy for the terms ending in 1915.

Stephenson, James, soldier, state legislator, congressman, was born March 20, 1764, in Gettysburg, Pa. He commanded a company in the campaign of General St. Clair; was present at the quelling of the whisky insurrection in Pennsylvania; and was promoted to the office of brigade inspector. He served for many years as a delegate to the Virginia assembly. In 1803-05, 1809-11 and 1821-25 he was a representative from Virginia to the eighth, eleventh, seventeen and eighteenth congresses. He died Aug. 7, 1833, in Martinsburg, Va.

Stephenson, James S., congressman, was born in York county, Pa. In 1825-29 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the nineteenth and twentieth congresses. He died Oct. 17, 1831, in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Stephenson, Luther, soldier, author, was born April 25, 1830, in Hingham, Mass. In 1861 he was a captain in the fourth regiment

Massachusetts militia and was transferred to the thirty-second regiment Massachusetts infantry. In 1862 he was promoted major and later the same year was promoted lieutenant-colonel. He was brevetted colonel and brigadier-general by order of Gen. U. S. Grant for bravery and exemplary conduct in the campaign against Richmond, Va. He participated in the second battle of Bull Run at Sheppardstown Ford, at Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, Rappahannock Station, the battle of the wilderness, Spottsylvania, in front of Petersburg, and other battles of the civil war. He resigned in 1864.

He is chief of the Massachusetts state detection force; president of the John A. Andrews monuments association; governor of the eastern branch of the national home for disabled volunteer soldiers; a member of the loyal legion; and a member of the sons of the American revolution. He has composed a number of patriotic songs; and is the author of The Struggle for the Union; and In Colonial Days.

Stephenson, John, car-builder, was born July 4, 1809, in Ireland. In 1832 he constructed the first street cars that were run in New York City for the newly organized New York and Harlem railroad. His industry caused him name to be known in nearly every part of the civilized world. He was very generally known as Honest John Stephenson. He died July 31, 1893, in New Rochelle, N.Y.

Stephenson, M. L., lawyer, jurist. In 1872 he was an associate justice of the supreme court of Arkansas.

Stephenson, Nathaniel, educator, author, was born July 10, 1867, in Cincinnati, Ohio. Since 1902 he has been professor of history at the college of Charleston, S.C. He is the author of They That Took the Sword; The Beautiful Mrs. Moulton; and Eleanor Dayton.

Stephenson, Samuel M., agriculturist, merchant, state senator, congressman, was born in 1831 in New Brunswick. He was chairman of the board of supervisors of Menominee county for several years; was a representative in the Michigan state legislature in 1877-78; and a member of the state senate in 1879-80 and 1885-86. In 1889-97 he was a representative to the fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses as a republican.

Stephens, Edward J., governor. In 1854-57 he was territorial governor of Utah.

Sterigere, John B., congressman, was born in Upper Dublin, Pa. In 1827-31 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the twentieth and twenty-first congresses. He died in Montgomery county, Pa.

Stephenson, William Worth, lawyer, legislator, was born Oct. 24, 1857, in Madison county, N.Y. He received a thorough education in the Daughters college, Kentucky university, and the Bethany college of West Virginia, from which latter institution he received the degrees of A.B. and A.M. In 1879-80 he was principal of the Harrodsburg academy. In 1881 he was admitted to the bar; and has given his chief attention to the practice of law, and is now one of the foremost lawyers of the south at Harrodsburg. In 1889 he was elected a member of the Kentucky state legislature; re-elected in 1891 and served in the long session of 1891-93 as a member of the judiciary and other committees. In 1893 he was elected to the state senate and served in the sessions of 1894, 1896 and 1897, and took an active part in the deliberations of those assemblies. In 1896 he was a delegate to the convention of national democrats at Indianapolis; and has always taken a deep interest in political affairs.

Sterling, Ada, editor, author, was born Feb. 25, 1870, near Holyoke, Mass. In 1898-1904, and since 1907 she was associate editor of Harper's Bazaar of New York City. She is the author of A Belle of the Fifties; and A Lucky Man, a drama.

Sterling, Ansel, congressman, was born in New London county, Conn. In 1821-25 he was a representative from Connecticut to the seventeenth and eighteenth congresses. He died in Connecticut.

Sterling, John A., lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 1, 1857, in Le Roy, Ill. In 1881 he graduated from the Illinois Wesleyan university; and in 1887 received the degree of A.M. from that institution. In 1884 he was admitted to the Illinois bar. In 1892-96 he was state's attorney of McLean county, Ill.; and in 1896-98 was a member of the republican state committee. In 1903-09 he was a representative from Illinois to the fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth and sixtieth congresses as a republican.

Sterling, Micah, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1781, in Lyme, Conn. He was for some years a member of the New York legislature. In 1821-23 he was a representative to the seventeenth congress. He died April 10, 1844, in Watertown, N.Y.

Sterling, Richard, educator, author, was born in 1812 in Ireland. He prepared a series of school readers and spelling books that came into general use throughout the southern and southwestern states. In 1873 he opened a boarding school in Evansville, Ind.; and in 1875 removed to Mocksville, N.C., where he kept a similar school, until 1880. He was superintendent of the public schools of the county in 1880. He died Oct. 3, 1883, in Mocksville, N.C.

Stern, Simon Adler, banker, author, was born Dec. 8, 1838, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was treasurer of the finance company of Pennsylvania. He was the author of Jottings of Travel in China and Japan. He died in 1904 in Philadelphia, Pa.

Sterling, Thomas, United States senator from South Dakota, was born Feb. 21, 1851, near Amanda, Ohio. He has been a member of the state constitutional convention; and a member of the South Dakota state senate. In 1813-19 he was elected a member of the United States senate.

Stern, Leopold, banker, was born in Germany. He is senior member of the firm of Stern brothers and company of New York City. He has been commissioner of the state of New York; and was a state elector for McKinley and Hobart and for Taft and Sherman. He is vice-president of the Montefiore home and hospital for chronic invalids; and a director and trustee of various financial, industrial and charitable institutions.

Sternberg, George Miller, surgeon, author, was born June 8, 1838, in Otsego county, N.Y. In 1861 he was appointed assistant surgeon in the United States army; captain and assistant surgeon in 1866; major and surgeon in 1875; lieutenant-colonel and deputy surgeon-general in 1891; and brigadier-general and surgeon-general in 1893. He is the author of Photo-Micrographs; Malaria and Malarial Diseases; Bacteria, from the French of Maguin; Immunity; Protective Inoculations in Infectious Diseases; Manual of Bacteriology; and Photo-Micrographs and How to Make Them.

Sternbergh, James Hervey, manufacturer, inventor, was born May 20, 1834, in Henrietta, N.Y. For a number of years he was general passenger agent of the railroad running through Saratoga, N.Y. In 1865 he engaged in the manufacture of iron nuts at Reading, Pa.; and in 1867 invented an improved machine for the manufacture of hot preserve nuts, which is used to this day. He also invented a surface grinding machine for grinding hard metals; and many other improvements are the result of his inventive genius. In 1887 he established branch works in Kansas City, Mo. For three years he was president of the Reading board of trade; since 1887 has been president of the Kansas City boat bolt and nut company; and since 1901 has been president of the American iron and steel manufacturing company of Reading and Lebanon, Pa.

Sterner, Albert Edward, painter, artist, was born March 8, 1863, in London, England. His works include the paintings The Bachelor; and Portrait of My Son. He has illustrated George W. Curtis' Prue and I; Poe's Works; Fenwick's Career, by Mrs. Humphrey Ward; and other books.

Sterne, Simon, lawyer, author, was born July 23, 1839, in Philadelphia, Pa. He delivered many addresses on politico-economical subjects. In 1870 wrote Representative Government, and in 1881 Constitutional Development and Political History of the United States, and contributed a number of articles to Lalor's Cyclopædia of Political Science and United States History. He was appointed by Gov.

Tilden in 1875 on the commission to devise a plan for the government of the cities of New York, and in 1884 was commissioned by President Cleveland to report on the relation of the railways of western Europe to their governments. He drafted the interstate commerce act. He died Sept. 22, 1901, in New York City.

Sterett, Isaac Sears, naval officer, was born Oct. 28, 1801, in Baltimore, Md. He served in the coast survey in 1839-41. During the Mexican war he rendered valuable services in command of the schooner Reefers; and captured the Mexican schooner Tabasco. He was promoted to commander in 1850. He was governor of the naval asylum at Philadelphia in 1852-53; and he was promoted to captain in 1857. He died in 1863.

Sterrett, James Macbride, educator, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 13, 1847, in Howard, Pa. In 1867 he graduated from the university of Rochester as A.B.; graduated from Harvard university and in 1872 graduated from the Cambridge episcopal theological school; and has received the honorary degrees of D.D. and A.M. from Harvard university. In 1872-82 he was rector and in 1882-92 was professor of ethics and apologetics in the Seabury divinity school of Faribault, Minn. Since 1892 he has been professor of philosophy in Columbian university of Washington, D.C. Since 1893 he has been president of the society for philosophical inquiry. He is the author of Studies in Hegel's Philosophy of Religion; Reason and Authority in Religion; The Ethics of Hegel; and The Freedom of Authority.

Sterrett, James P., lawyer, jurist, was born in 1823. In 1877-93 he was associate justice, and in 1893 became chief justice of the state supreme court of Pennsylvania. He died Jan. 23, 1901, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Sterrett, John Robert Sitlington, educator, author, was born March 4, 1851, at Rockbridge Baths, Va. He was a professor at Amherst college in 1892-1901; and is now head of the department of Greek at Cornell university. He is the author of Qua in re Hymni Homerici quinque Majores inter se Differunt; Inscriptions of Assos; Epigraphical Journey in Asia Minor; The Wolfe Expedition to Asia Minor; and The Iliad of Homer.

Sterrett, Samuel, congressman, was born in 1756 in Maryland. In 1791-93 he was a representative from Maryland to the second congress. He died July 12, 1833, in Baltimore, Md.

Sterry, Mrs. Ruth Walters, lecturer, author, poet, was born Aug. 4, 1872, in Jackson, Mich. She was the author of Collected Poems; and Verses. She died Sept. 28, 1913.

Stetefeldt, Carl August, civil engineer, inventor, author, was born Sept. 28, 1838, in Germany. He was widely known through the mining districts by his invention of the Stetefeldt furnace, which is extensively used in the west for the roasting of silver ores preparatory to the extraction of the metal by either amalgamation or lixiviation. Besides technical papers he was the author of The Lixiviation of Silver Ores with Hyposulphate Solutions. He died in 1896.

Stetson, Mrs. Augusta E., Christian science teacher, author, poet, was born in Waldoboro, Maine. In 1884 she began the practice of Christian science healing in Boston, Mass.; and preached on alternate Sundays in the mother church. In 1887 she organized the first church of Christ in New York City; and was appointed its pastor. She raised over one million dollars to build the first church of Christ, which was dedicated and free of debt in 1903. She is the author of Poems.

Stetson, Charles, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Nov. 7, 1801, in New Ipswich, N.H. In 1834 he was appointed judge of the municipal court of Bangor, Maine. In 1845-48 he was a member of the executive council of the state. In 1849-51 he was a representative from Maine to the thirty-first congress. He died March 27, 1883, in Bangor, Maine.

Stetson, Charles Augustus, hotel-proprietor, was born April 1, 1810, in Newburyport, Mass. In 1851 he was quartermaster-general of New York. Gen. Stetson acquired a wide reputation as a hotel keeper in the days when the Astor house was almost the only large hotel in New York. He died March 29, 1888, in Reading, Pa.

Stetson, Francis Lynde, lawyer, railroad president, was born April 23, 1846, in Keeseville, N.Y. He is a practicing attorney of New York City; and general counsel for several corporations. He is president and director of the Northern Pacific railway company.

Stetson, Herbert Lee, educator, clergyman, college president, was born Oct. 16, 1847, in Greene, Maine. In 1889-1900 he was president of Des Moines college; and since 1901 has been professor of psychology and pedagogy at Kalamazoo college.

Stetson, James Burgess, merchant, railroad president, was born March 27, 1831, in Kingston, Mass. He is president and general manager of The North Pacific Coast railroad; and The California Street Cable railroad in San Francisco. He also has banking and industrial interests. He has been supervisor for two years in San Francisco.

Stetson, John Batterson, manufacturer, philanthropist, was born May 5, 1830, in Orange, N.J. He was president of the John

B. Stetson company, in Philadelphia, Pa. An interesting feature of the Stetson factories is the amount of space set apart for the entertainment of operatives. He has also promoted the formation of a Sunday school and various literary and other societies. He built Elizabeth hall and other buildings for the university at De Land, Fla., the name of the university being changed to John B. Stetson university. He died Feb. 18, 1906, in Gilien, Fla.

Stetson, Lemuel, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born in New York. He served three years in the assembly of New York. In 1843-45 he was a representative from New York to the twenty-eighth congress. He was county judge of Clinton county in 1847-51. He died in New York.

Stetson, Thomas Drew, patent expert, was born May 30, 1827, in Kingston, Mass. He was educated in the public schools; attended Pierce academy; and the Taunton locomotive works. He edited a free-soil paper in Massachusetts; and in 1853 became editor of Appleton's Engineer's Journal. Since 1855 he has been a patent solicitor and mechanical expert of New York City. He has been president of the polytechnic branch of the American institute; and is active in the General society of mechanics and tradesmen and also in prohibition political work.

Stetson, William Wallace, educator, lecturer, author, was born June 17, 1849, in Greene, Maine. He was educated in the

Edward Little institute and at Monmouth college. He received the honorary degree of LL.D. in Colby university. He taught in the common schools of Maine and in the common, normal and high schools of Illinois. He was superintendent of the city schools of Rockford, Ill.; in 1885-95 was superintendent of the city schools of Auburn, Maine. He has delivered educational addresses before numerous national educational bodies; and lectured before state summer schools in eight different states. He was president of the Northern Illinois teachers' association and a member of civil society. He was the author of History and Civil Government of Maine. He died in July, 1910.

Stetson, Willis Kimball, librarian, was born May 8, 1858, in Natick, Mass. In 1881 he graduated from the Wesleyan university of Middletown, Conn., as A.M. Until 1887 he was librarian for the Wesleyan university and the Russell library of Middletown, Conn.; and since 1887 he has been librarian of the free public library of New Haven, Conn.

Stettinus, Edward R., manufacturer, corporation president, was born Feb. 15, 1865, in St. Louis, Mo. He attended St. Louis university. For nine years he was engaged in active business in St. Louis; and then moved to Chicago. He became treasurer of the Stirling company in 1892, and continued until its consolidation in 1906 with the Babcock and Wilcox company of which he is still director and vice-president. In 1906 he became vice-president and since 1909 has been president and treasurer of the Diamond Match company. He is also a director of the American Surety company of New York and other corporations.

Steuart, George Hume, soldier, was born Aug. 24, 1828, in Baltimore, Md. In 1862 he became brigadier-general. He defended the bloody angle at the battle of the Wilderness against Hancock's corps, and was taken prisoner, but exchanged in the winter of 1864-65. He died in 1903, in Baltimore, Md.

Steuart, James Aloysius, physician, was born April 3, 1828, in Baltimore, Md. He established himself in practice in Baltimore; and became physician to the city general dispensary, and assistant physician to the Maryland hospital for the insane. In 1875 he became health commissioner, registrar of vital statistics; and president of the city board of health. He died in 1903, in Baltimore, Md.

Steuart, Richard Sprigg, physician, was born Nov. 1, 1797, in Baltimore, Md. In 1828 he was elected president of the Maryland hospital for the insane, which he reorganized, and of which he was president until his death. He died July 13, 1876, in Baltimore, Md.

Steunenberg, Frank, governor. In 1897-1900 he was governor of Idaho. He died in Idaho.

Stevens, C. M., educator, journalist, author, was born in 1861. For twelve years he was engaged in educational work; and for nine years was editor of educational and subscription books in Chicago and New York City. He is the author of History of Spanish-America; World's Congress of Religions; Powers of Mind; Scenes in Our New Possessions; and other works.

Stevens, Aaron Fletcher, soldier, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Aug. 9, 1819, in Derry, N.H. In 1849 he was elected to the New Hampshire state legislature; was re-elected; and served five years as a state solicitor. In 1861 he entered the volunteer army as major in the first New Hampshire infantry; and for his his gallantry was brevetted a brigadier-general. In 1867-71 he was a representative from New Hampshire to the fortieth and forty-first congresses as a republican. He died May 10, 1887, in Nashua, N.H.

Stevens, Abel, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 19, 1815, in Philadelphia. He was a Methodist clergyman of New York City; and long connected with the Methodist book concern. He was the author of History of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States; History of Methodism; Life of Madame de Staël; Life of Nathan Bangs; Character Sketches; Women of Methodism; Christian Work and Consolation; Church Polity; and Tales from the Parsonage. He died Sept. 12, 1897, in San Jose, Cal.

Stevens, Albert Clark, journalist, author, was born Oct. 10, 1854, in Buffalo, N.Y. In 1880-98 he was editor of Bradstreet's. He is the author of Cyclopedia of Fraternities.

Stevens, Alexander Hodgdon, surgeon, author, was born Sept. 4, 1789, in New York City. He was appointed consulting surgeon to the New York hospital; and emeritus professor in the College of physicians and surgeons, of which he was made president in 1841. He was the author of Inflammation of the Eye; Lectures on Lithotomy; and First Lines of Surgery. He died March 30, 1869, in New York City.

Stevens, Alviso Burdette, educator, pharmacist, was born June 15, 1853, in Tyrone, Mich. Since 1886 he has been connected with the university of Michigan as lecturer and professor of pharmacy. In 1884-85 he was president of the Detroit pharmaceutical society; and in 1893 was president of the Michigan state pharmaceutical society.

Stevens, Ambrose A., soldier, was born in New York. In 1861 he was lieutenant-colonel in the third regiment Michigan infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Dec. 10, 1880.

Stevens, Arthur Albert, physician, author, was born in 1865 in Philadelphia, Pa. He is a physician of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Manual of the Practice of Medicine.

Stevens, Augusta De Grasse, art critic, author, was born in 1865 in New York. She is a novelist and art critic; and has lived in London for many years. She is the author of Distance, a novelette; Old Boston, an American Historical Romance; Weighed in the Balance; The Lost Dauphin; Miss Hildreth; The Sensation of the Season; and A Romantic Inheritance.

Stevens, Benjamin Franklin, bibliographer, author, was born Feb. 19, 1833, in Barnett, Vt. He was United States despatch agent in London; is purchasing agent there for American libraries; and sends English publications to the United States. He edited Campaign in Virginia in 1781; and Facsimiles of Manuscripts in European Archives Relating to America, 1773-83. He died March 5, 1902, in England.

Stevens, Bradford N., educator, congressman, was born Jan. 3, 1813, in Boscawen, N.H. In 1871-73 he was a representative from Illinois to the forty-second congress as a democrat. He died in Illinois.

Stevens, Charles Asbury, journalist, author, was born in October, 1845, in Norway. He is one of the editors of the Youth's Companion. He is the author of Camping Out; Left on Labrador; Off to the Geysers; On the Amazon; Lynx Hunting; Fox Hunting; and The Moose Hunters.

Stevens, Charles Ellis, clergyman, author, was born July 5, 1853, in Boston, Mass. He became an examining chaplain of the diocese of Long Island in 1886; and in 1887 was made archdeacon of Brooklyn. He was the author of The Sources of the Constitution of the United States in Relation to Colonial and English History; The Romance of Arenfels, and Other Tales of the Rhine. He died in 1906 in Philadelphia, Pa.

Stevens, Charles Emery, journalist, lawyer, author, was born March 24, 1815, in Pembroke, N.H. He practiced law for nine years in Worcester. He was the author of Anthony Burns, a History; New Biographies of Illustrious Men; Church and Parish. He died Dec. 13, 1893, in Worcester, Mass.

Stevens, Charles Ford, railroad president, was born June 21, 1850, in Geneva, N.Y. He is president of the Central railway of New Brunswick at Philadelphia, Pa.

Stevens, Charles Wistar, physician, author, was born in 1836 in New Hampshire. He was the author of Revelations of a Boston Physician. He died in 1901 in Boston, Mass.

Stevens, Charles Woodbury, merchant, author, was born in 1831 in Massachusetts. He is the author of Fly Fishing in Maine Lakes.

Stevens, Ebenezer, soldier, merchant, was born Aug. 22, 1751, in Boston, Mass. In 1778 he was made lieutenant-colonel of John Lamb's regiment. He served under Lafayette in Virginia; and for a part of the time commanded the artillery at the siege of Yorktown. After the revolution he became a merchant of New York City. He was major-general of the state militia. He died Sept. 2, 1823, in Long Island, N.Y.

Stevens, Edward, soldier, was born about 1745 in Culpeper county, Va. He served through the revolutionary war; and attained the rank of brigadier-general. He died Aug. 17, 1820, in Culpeper county, Va.

Stevens, Edwin Augustus, mechanical engineer, designer, was born March 14, 1858, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is president of the Hoboken land improvement company; and has held various local offices. He designed the first screw ferryboat.

Stevens, Enos, inventor, was born Jan. 22, 1816, in Barnet, Vt. He invented a system of musical notation, apparatus for automatically recording atmospheric changes, an instrument for phrenological measurements, a legislative teller that was put in use by congress in 1853; and originated an astronomical theory of weather indication. He published pamphlets on astronomy, music, and phrenology, and many papers on agricultural topics. He died Jan. 31, 1877, in Barnet, Vt.

Stevens, Frank Lincoln, educator, author, was born in 1871 in New York. Since 1903 he has been a professor of botany and vegetable pathology at the North Carolina college of agriculture. He is the author of Agriculture for Beginners; The Hill Readers; and A Practical Arithmetic.

Stevens, Frederick Clement, lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 1, 1861, in Boston, Mass. In 1881 he graduated from Bowdoin college; and in 1884 graduated from the law department of the university of Iowa. Since 1884 he has practiced law in St. Paul, Minn.; and in 1889 and 1890-91 he was a member of the Minnesota state legislature. In 1897-1915 he was a representative from Minnesota to the fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh, fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth, sixtieth, sixty-first, sixty-second and sixty-third congresses as a republican.

Stevens, George Barker, clergyman, educator, author, was born July 13, 1854, in Spencer, N.Y. He was a congregational clergyman; and professor in Yale divinity school in 1886-95; and in 1895 he became professor systematic theology. He was the author of Commentary on Galatians; The Pauline Theology; The Johannine Theology; Doctrine and Life; The Epistles of Paul in Modern English; The Theology of the New Testament; The Messages of Paul; and The Messages of the Apostles. He died in 1906 in New Haven, Conn.

Stevens, George Thomas, physician, inventor, author, was born in 1832 in Essex county, N.Y. In 1861 he was commissioned surgeon of the seventy-seventh regiment New York volunteers. Since 1880 he has been in the practice of medicine in New York City. He is the inventor of many standard surgical and physiological instruments. He is the author of Three Years in the Sixth Corps; and a Treatise on the Motor Apparatus of the Eyes.

Stevens, George W., journalist, artist, author, poet, was born Jan. 16, 1866, in Utica, N.Y. In 1900-03 he was on the editorial staff of the Toledo Times. Since 1903 he has been director of the Toledo museum of art. He is the author of The King and the Harper; and Other Poems.

Stevens, George Walter, railroad president, was born June 29, 1851, in Utica, Ohio. In 1864-89 he held various positions on different railways; in 1891-1900 was general manager of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway; and since 1900 has been president of that corporation.

Stevens, Hazard, soldier, lawyer, was born June 9, 1842, in Newport, R.I. He served throughout the civil war in 1861-65 in the army of the Potomac; and attained the rank of brigadier-general. He is the author of Life of Isaac Ingalls Stevens.

Stevens, Henry, state legislator, anti-quarian, was born Dec. 13, 1791, in Barnet, Vt. He was the founder and first president of the Vermont Historical society. The most valuable part of his collection was placed for safe keeping in the state house at Montpelier, where in 1857 it was burned. He was a member of the legislature for two terms. He died July 30, 1867, in Barnet, Vt.

Stevens, Henry, bibliographer, author, was born Aug. 24, 1819, in Barnet, Vt. He lived in London after 1845. He was the author of Historical Nuggets; Historical Collections; Recollections of James Lenox; The Tehuantepec Railway; Historical and Geographical Notes; The Bibles in the Caxton Exhibition; Catalogue of the American Books in the British Museum; and indexes to state papers in London relating to Virginia, Maryland, Rhode Island, and New Jersey. He died Feb. 24, 1886, in England.

Stevens, Henry Davis, journalist, clergyman, engineer, miner and timekeeper in Calais, Vt. He was engaged in journalism and charity work in Indianapolis until he entered the ministry. Since 1887 he has been a clergyman of the unitarian church; first in the west; and now fills a pastorate in Sterling, Mass. He is the author of A Boy's Life.

Stevens, Hestor L., lawyer, congressman, was born in October, 1803, in Lima, N.Y. In 1853-55 he was a representative from Michigan to the thirty-third congress. He died May 7, 1864, in Georgetown, D.C.

Stevens, Hiram S., state legislator, congressman, was born in 1832 in Weston, Vt. In 1856 he located in that portion now Arizona; and was a representative in the territorial legislature of Arizona in 1868-73. In 1875-79 he was a territorial delegate from Arizona to the forty-fourth and forty-fifth congresses.

Stevens, Horace Jared, journalist, copper specialist, was born Jan. 5, 1866, in Conewango, N.Y. He received an academic education. In 1882-83 he was a country schoolmaster; and in 1884-89 was engaged as a copper specialist, fireman, pumpman, engineer, miner and timekeeper in the Beaufort mine in Michigan. In 1884-89 he was a reporter for the Marquette mining journal; was manager and owner of the Peninsular news bureau of Ishpeming and Houston, Mich.; and since 1901 has been editor and publisher of the Copper Handbook, an annual devoted to the copper interests of the world.

Stevens, James, congressman, was born in 1768 in Fairfield, Conn. In 1819-21 he was a representative from Connecticut to the sixteenth congress; and voted with the south on the Missouri compromise. In 1822 he was appointed postmaster of Stamford. He died April 16, 1835, in Stamford, Conn.

Stevens, Isaac Ingalls, soldier, civil engineer, governor, congressman, was born March 28, 1818, in Andover, Mass. He was at the siege of Vera Cruz under General Scott; fought in several subsequent battles; and was twice brevetted for gallant services. He served for a time as an assistant in the coast survey office in Washington, D.C.; and in 1853-57 was governor and superintendent of Indian affairs for the territory of Washington. In 1857-61 he was a territorial delegate from Washington to the thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth congresses. When governor of Washington territory he traveled throughout its whole extent; and as commissioner made many treaties with the Indian tribes. In 1861 he was appointed a brigadier-general in the volunteer service. He was killed in the battle of Bull Run Sept. 1, 1862, near Chantilly, Va.

Stevens, James Alexander, lawyer, was born Jan. 20, 1790, in New York City. In connection with Thomas Gibbons, he established the Union steamboat line between New York and Philadelphia, which led to the suit of Ogden vs. Gibbons, memorable for the decision that placed all the navigable waters of the United States under the jurisdiction of the general government. He died Oct. 7, 1873, in Hoboken, N.J.

Stevens, James Stacy, educator, author, was born Aug. 21, 1864, in Lima, N.Y. He is professor of physics at the university of Maine; and dean of the college of arts and sciences. He is the author of Outlines of General Physics.

Stevens, John, congressman, was born about 1703 in New York City. He settled in New Jersey; and in 1774 was one of the joint commissioners for defining the boundary line between New York and new colony. In 1783-84 he was a delegate from New Jersey to the continental congress. In 1787 he presided over the state convention that ratified the United States constitution. He died in May, 1792, in New Jersey.

Stevens, John, civil engineer, was born in 1749 in New York City. In 1776-79 he was treasurer of New Jersey. In 1804 he built a vessel propelled by twin screws that navigated the Hudson; and the engine and boiler of this steamboat are preserved in the Stevens institute of Hoboken, N.J. He died March 6, 1838, in Hoboken, N.J.

Stevens, John Austin, banker, financier, was born Jan. 22, 1795, in New York City. He was president of the Merchants' exchange and president of the Bank of commerce of New York City. His advice was frequently sought by the officers of the treasury department during the civil war. He was for many years governor of the New York hospital; and took an interest in other benevolent institutions. He died Oct. 19, 1874, in New York.

Stevens, John Austin, merchant, author, was born Jan. 21, 1827, in New York City. He is an author of New York City; and later of Newport, R.I.; and founded the Magazine of American History. He also founded in 1863 Loyal national league; and in 1876 Sons of the revolution. He is the author of The Expedition of Lafayette Against Arnold; Life of Albert Gallatin; and Progress of New York in a Century.

Stevens, John Cox, yachtsman, was born Sept. 24, 1785. He was from his youth a devoted yachtsman. He organized the New York yacht club; was its first commodore; and commanded the America in the memorable race in England in 1851. He died June 13, 1857, in Hoboken, N.J.

Stevens, John Harrington, soldier, pioneer, author, was born June 13, 1820, in Lower Canada. He served through the Mexican war. He built the first house in Minneapolis, Minn.; and in 1856 the name of Minneapolis was given to the colony. He was the first registerer of deeds of Hennepin county, Minn. He was the author of Personal Recollections of Minnesota, Its Lower People and Early History of Minneapolis. He died May 1, 1850, in Rockford, Ill.

Stevens, John Leavitt, clergyman, journalist, state senator, diplomat, author, was born Aug. 1, 1820, in Mt. Vernon, Maine. He became associated with James G. Blaine in the ownership and management of the Kennebec Journal newspaper of Augusta, Maine, in which he continued for thirteen years as editor-in-chief. He served three years in the lower house, and two years in the state senate. He was United States minister to Uruguay and Paraguay in 1870-73. In 1877-83 he was United States minister to Sweden and Norway. He was the author of History of Gustavus Adolphus. He died Feb. 8, 1895, in Augusta, Maine.

Stevens, Joseph Earle, business man, author, was born Feb. 8, 1870, in Boston, Mass. He is the author of Yesterdays in the Philippines.

Stevens, Lillian M. N., educator, reformer, was born March 1, 1844, in Dover, Me. She was educated at Foxcroft academy; and for a short time was engaged as a teacher. She was the wife of L. Stevens, a merchant of Portland, Me. In 1874 she assisted in organizing the Maine Woman's christian temperance union; in 1874-77 was treasurer; and since 1877 had been president of that organization. In 1894-98 she was vice-president of the national Woman's christian temperance union; and in 1898 became acting president, having been re-elected each year since. For years she was the Maine representative in the national conference of charities and correction. In 1892-93 she was lady manager of the World's Columbian exposition. She died April 6, 1914.

Stevens, Moses Tyler, manufacturer, banker, state senator, congressman, was born Oct. 10, 1825, in North Andover, Mass. Since 1843 he has been engaged in the manufacture of woolen goods in North Andover. He was a member of the Massachusetts house of representatives in 1861; and of the state senate in 1868. He was president of Andover national bank. In 1891-95 he was a representative from Massachusetts to the fifty-second and fifty-third congresses as a democrat. He died in 1907 in Andover, Mass.

Stevens, P. F., clergyman, bishop. He is a bishop of the reformed episcopal church; and has charge of the special missionary jurisdiction of the south.

Stevens, Raymond Bartlett, congressman, farmer, was born June 18, 1874, in Binghamton, N.Y. In 1913-15 he was a representative from New Hampshire to the sixty-third congress.

Stevens, Robert Livingston, builder, was born Oct. 18, 1787, in Hoboken, N.J. In 1842 he built the first ironclad steamboat. He died April 20, 1856, in Hoboken, N.J.

Stevens, Robert S., lawyer, congressman, was born March 27, 1824, in Attica, N.Y. He removed to Missouri in 1870; and engaged in the construction and management of railroads. In 1879 he returned to his native place and settled there; and in 1883-85 he was a representative from New York to the forty-eighth congress as a democrat. He died Feb. 23, 1893, in Attica, N.Y.

Stevens, Samuel, governor. He was the fifteenth governor of Maryland in 1822-26. He died in Maryland.

Stevens, Mrs. Susan Sheppard, litterateur, author, was born in 1862 in Alabama. She is a writer of St. Louis. She is the author of I Am the King; The Sword of Justice; The Eagle's Talon; and The Sign of Triumph.

Stevens, Thaddeus, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born April 4, 1792, in Danville, Vt. He was a member of the Pennsylvania state legislature in 1833-35, 1837 and 1841. In 1836 he was elected a member of the convention to revise the state constitution; and in 1838 was appointed a canal commissioner. In 1842 he moved to Lancaster, Pa. In 1849-53 and 1859-60 he was a representa-tative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-first, thirty-second, thirty-sixth, thirty-seventh, thirty-eighth, thirty-ninth and fortieth congresses. He was also one of the managers in the impeachment trial of President Andrew Johnson. He died Aug. 11, 1868, in Washington, D.C.

Stevens, Thaddeus Morrell, journalist, physician, educator, author, was born Aug. 20, 1830, in Indianapolis, Ind. He was professor of medical jurisprudence and toxicology in the Indiana medical college and in the college of Physicians and surgeons at Indianapolis. He was the author of brochures on Expert Testimony; State Boards of Health; and Automatic Filtration. He died Nov. 8, 1885, in Indianapolis, Ind.

Stevens, Thomas, cyclist, author, was born Dec. 24, 1855, in England. He is the author of Scouting for Stanley in East Africa; Around the World on a Bicycle; and Through Russia on a Mustang.

Stevens, Thomas Holdup, naval officer, was born May 27, 1819, in Middletown, Conn. In 1836 he was appointed a midshipman; served through the civil war; and subsequently retired with the rank of rear-admiral. He died May 15, 1896, in Rockville, Md.

Stevens, Thomas Holdup, naval officer, was born July 12, 1848, in Honolulu, Hawaii; and is the son of the late Rear-Admiral Thomas Holdup Stevens. In 1868 he graduated from the United States naval academy. In 1870 he became master; was commissioned lieutenant in 1874; and attained the rank of lieutenant-commander in 1896. In 1898-99 he was executive officer of the flagship Philadelphia; and in 1899 was promoted commander. He served eighteen months in the Spanish-American war in the Philippine insurrection in command of the gunboat Manilla. In 1904 was promoted to captain; and in 1905 was retired at his own request after forty years of service with the rank of rear-admiral.

Stevens, Thomas Wood, educator, author, poet, was born Jan. 26, 1880, in Daysville, Ill. In 1902 he became literary critic of the Inland Printer; and in 1903 took charge of the department of illustration at the Chicago art institute. He is the author of The Frown of Victory; The Unsought Shrine, in verse; and Lettering for Printers and Designers.

Stevens, Walter B., journalist, author, was born July 25, 1848, in Meriden, Conn. In 1884-1902 he was Washington correspondent of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat; and has traveled extensively for the same paper throughout the United States, Canada, Mexico and Cuba. He is the author of Through Texas; The Ozark Uplift; and The Forest City.

Stevens, Walter Husted, soldier, civil engineer, was born Aug. 24, 1827, in Penn Yan, N.Y. In 1862 he attained the rank of brigadier-general on the staff of General Bragg. He was subsequently chief engineer of the railroad from Vera Cruz to Mexico. He died in December, 1867, in Iberville, La.

Stevens, Walter Le Conte, physicist, educator, inventor, author, was born June 17, 1847, in Gordon county, Ga. In 1882-90 he filled the chair of mathematics and physics in Packer collegiate institute at Brooklyn; same in 1890-98 in Rensselaer polytechnic institute of Troy, N.Y.; and now in Washington and Lee university at Lexington, Va. In connection with his class work he has invented various improved forms of physical apparatus, of which his organ-pipe sonometer and reversible stereoscope are the best known, descriptions of which have been published in the American Journal of Science.

Stevens, William Arnold, educator, theologian, author, was born Feb. 5, 1839, in Granville, Ohio. Since 1877 he has been professor of new testament interpretation in the Rochester theological seminary. He is the author of Harmony of the Gospels for Historical Study.

Stevens, William Bacon, clergyman, bishop, was born July 13, 1815, in Bath, Maine. He was consecrated fourth protestant episcopal bishop of Pennsylvania in 1862. He was the author of History of Georgia; The Bow in the Cloud; Sermons; Sabbaths of Our Lord; Parables of the New Testament Unfolded; History of Silk Culture in Georgia; and The Sunday at Home. He died June 11, 1887, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Stevens, William Chase, educator, author, was born Feb. 21, 1861, in Princeton, Ill. Since 1899 he has been professor of botany at the university of Kansas. He is the author of Introduction to Botany; Histological Botany and Micro-technique; and Plant Histology.

Stevens, William Burnham, soldier, lawyer, banker, jurist, was born March 23, 1843, in Stoneham, Mass. He received a thorough education in the public schools of his native state; and read law for three years. He practiced his profession for several years; and is prominent in the business and public affairs of Boston, Mass. He is president of the Stoneham five cents savings bank; and a director of the Stoneham national bank. During the civil war he served as a private soldier in the fiftieth Massachusetts regiment; and in 1865 was honorably discharged. He is justice of the superior court of Massachusetts; and resides in Stoneham, Mass.

Stevenson, Adlai Ewing, vice-president of the United States, congressman, was born Oct. 23, 1835, in Christian county, Ky. He moved in 1869 to Bloomington, Ill., where he has since resided, principally engaged in the practice of law. In 1875-77 and 1879-81 he was a representative to the forty-fourth and forty-sixth congresses. He was first assistant postmaster-general from 1885-89. In 1893-97 he was vice-president of the United States; and in 1900 was again the candidate for vice-president on the democratic ticket.

Stevenson, Alexander Fleming, soldier, lawyer, legislator, author, was born April 8, 1837, in Germany. Since 1859 he has practiced law in Chicago, Ill. He served in the civil war; and was brevetted colonel. In 1864 he became a representative in the Illinois state legislature; and received the re-election in 1867. Since 1885 he has been master in chancery of the superior court. He is the author of The Battle of Stone's River.

Stevenson, Andrew, agriculturist, state legislator, diplomat, congressman, was born in 1784 in Culpeper county, Va. He was a member of the Virginia state legislature; where for several sessions was speaker of the house. In 1821-35 he was a representative from Virginia in the seventeenth to the twenty-third congresses; and in 1827-35 he was speaker of the house in the twenty-first, twenty-second and twenty-third congresses. In 1836-41 he was minister to Great Britain. He died Jan. 25, 1857, in Blenheim, Va.

Stevenson, Burton Egbert, journalist, librarian, author, was born Nov. 9, 1872, in Chillicothe, Ohio. He received the rudiments of his education in the local schools of his native state; and graduated from Princeton university. He began his career as a journalist and correspondent; and since 1899 has been librarian of the Chillicothe public library. He is the author of At Odds with the Regent, a Story of the Cellamare Conspiracy; A Soldier of Virginia, a Tale of Colonel Washington and Braddock's Defeat; The Heritage; Tommy Remington's Battle; The Holladay Case; Cadets of Gascony; and That Affair at Elizabethtown.

Stevenson, C. E., governor. In 1887-91 he was governor of Nevada.

Stevenson, Carter Littlepage, soldier, was born Sept. 21, 1817, near Fredericksburg, Vt. He entered the United States army in 1838; and in 1862 was appointed brigadier-general and major-general. He died Aug. 15, 1888, in Carolina county, Va.

Stevenson, Charles Coburn, educator, lawyer, public official, was born Nov. 29, 1862, in Red Bluff, Cal. He has been county superintendent of schools and county attorney for Ada county, Idaho; territorial superintendent of public instruction of Idaho; and city attorney of Boise, Idaho, where he is engaged in the practice of law. He has been chief clerk in the United States surveyor-general's office for Idaho; is prominent in several fraternal orders; and historian of the Idaho historical society of pioneers.

Stevenson, Charles Hugh, lawyer, statistician, author, was born Dec. 6, 1869, in Snow Hill, Md. Since 1891 he has been connected with the United States fish commission. He is the author of Preservation of Fishery Products; Foreign Fishery Trade; The Shad Fisheries; Fishery Legislation; Oyster Industries; and Fishery Products in Art and Industries.

Stevenson, Edward A., lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, governor, was born June 14, 1831, in Lowville, N.Y. In 1853-54 he was a representative in the California legislature. In 1859 he was again elected a representative in the legislature; and at the session of 1860 was elected speaker pro tem. of the house. In 1863 he removed to Boise county, Idaho. In 1864 he was elected a justice of the peace; and in 1866 was elected a member of the territorial council of Idaho. In 1874 he was elected a member of the territorial assembly, and was speaker of the assembly. In 1876 he was again elected to the territorial council for two years; and in 1885-89 was governor of the territory of Idaho.

Stevenson, Edward Irenaeus Prime, critic, author, was born in 1868 in Madison, N. J. He received an academic education; and is a member of the New Jersey bar, but has not practiced. Until 1900 he was engaged in literary work; and traveled extensively in Vienna, Budapest, Rome, Naples and other places. For many years he was staff editor of The Independent and Harper's Weekly of New York City; and organized and edited several departments of music criticism. He is a critic and specialist in arts and letters, social philosophy and politics, and is a notable linguist and lecturer. He is the author of A Matter of Temperament; White Cockades; Left to Themselves; The Square of Sevens; and Mrs. Dee's Encore.

Stevenson, Edward Luther, educator, author, was born Oct. 18, 1860, in Rozette, Ill. In 1883-87 he was superintendent of schools in Illinois; and since 1891 has been professor of history at Rutgers college. He is the author of Maps Illustrating the Early Discovery and Exploration in America.

Stevenson, J. L., soldier. He attained the rank of general. He died Jan. 3, 1894, in Boston, Mass.

Stevenson, James, soldier, ethnologist, was born Dec. 24, 1840, in Maysville, Ky. When the civil war began he joined the union army, and served till the close of hostilities. He was detailed for research in connection with the bureau of ethnology of the Smithsonian institution, exploring the cliff houses of Arizona and New Mexico, and investigating the history and religious myths of the Navajos and the Zuni, Moqui, and other Pueblo Indians. He died July 25, 1888, in New York City.

Stevenson, James Henry, educator, author, was born April 16, 1860, in Canada. Since 1893 he has been professor of Hebrew in Vanderbilt university of Nashville, Tenn. He is the author of Herodotus and the Empires of the East; and Babylonian and Assyrian Contracts with Aramaic Reference Notes.

Stevenson, James S., lawyer, congressman, was born in York county, Pa. In 1825-29 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the nineteenth and twentieth congresses. He died Oct. 17, 1871, in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Stevenson, Job E., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Feb. 10, 1831, in Ross county, Ohio. In 1859-62 he was solicitor of Chillicothe, Ohio; and was a state senator in 1863-65; when he removed to Cincinnati. In 1869-73 he was a representative from Ohio to the forty-first and forty-second congresses as a republican.

Stevenson, John Dunlap, soldier, lawyer, state legislator, was born June 8, 1821, in Staunton, Va. He was a member for several terms in the Missouri state legislature from St. Louis. In 1861 he raised the seventh Missouri regiment; and the following year was made brigadier-general of volunteers. He left the army in 1871; and practiced law in St. Louis, Mo. He died Jan. 22, 1897, in St. Louis, Mo.

Stevenson, John James, educator, geologist, author, was born Oct. 10, 1841, in New York City. Since 1871 he has been professor of geology in the New York university; was United States geologist during 1873-79 and was president of the geological society of America in 1898. He is the author of six volumes on Geology.

Stevenson, John White, lawyer, congressman, United States senator, governor, was born May 4, 1812, in Richmond, Va. He was a member of the Kentucky legislature in 1845-47. He was one of the three commissioners appointed to revise the civil and criminal code of Kentucky. In 1857-61 he was a representative from Kentucky to the thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth congresses. In 1867-68 he was acting governor of Kentucky; and in 1868-71 was the twenty-third governor. In 1871-77 he was United States senator. He died Aug. 10, 1886, in Covington, Ky.

Stevenson, Mark Delimon, oculist, author, was born Feb. 18, 1876, in Canada. He has invented several instruments for eye surgery. He is the author of Photocopy.

Stevenson, Mrs. Matilda Coxe, ethnologist, explorer, author, was born in San Augustine, Texas. Since 1889 she has been on the staff of the bureau of the American ethnology at the Smithsonian institution of Washington, D.C. She has explored the cave, cliff and mesa ruins of New Mexico; and visited all the Pueblo tribes. She is the author of The Zuni and the Zunians; and Zuni Ancestral Gods and Masks.

Stevenson, Paul Eve, author, was born May 19, 1868, in New York City. He is the author of A Deep Water Voyage; and By Way of Cape Horn.

Stevenson, Robert Hooper, soldier, was born in Massachusetts. In 1861 he was captain in the fourth battalion Massachusetts militia; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers.

Stevenson, Robert Montgomery, clergyman, college president, was born July 17, 1848, in Danville, Ky. In 1878 he was ordained to the presbyterian ministry; and until 1900 filled several pastorates. Since 1906 he has been president of Westminster college of Salt Lake City, Utah.

Stevenson, Mrs. Sara Yorke, archaeologist, author, was born Feb. 19, 1847, in Paris, France. She married Cornelius Stevenson in 1870. In 1894-1900 she was president of the civic club of Philadelphia, Pa. She is the author of Maximilian in Mexico; and The Book of the Dead.

Stevenson, Sarah Hackett, physician, surgeon, author, was born Feb. 2, 1846, in Buffalo Grove, Ill. In 1876 she was a delegate from the Illinois state medical society to the American medical association at Philadelphia, and was the first woman physician to be elected a member of that body. She was one of the promoters of the Home for incurables and Training school for nurses in Chicago; and has a large practice. She was the author of Biology, in two volumes. She died in August, 1909, in Chicago, Ill.

Stevenson, Thomas Greely, soldier, was born Feb. 3, 1836, in Boston, Mass. He successfully defended Washington, N.C., against a superior force; and became a brigadier-general. He was killed at the head of his troops in the battle of Spottsylvania. A memoir of General Stevenson was printed privately after his death. He died May 10, 1864, near Spottsylvania, Va.

Stevenson, William E., governor. He was the second governor of West Virginia in 1869-71. He died in West Virginia.

Stevenson, William H., railroad president, was born in 1847 in Bridgeport, Conn. In 1887 he was elected president of the New York, Rutland and Montreal railroad.

Stevenson, Alexander King, merchant, lawyer, was born March 12, 1847, in Pittsburgh, Pa. He was engaged with his father in the jewelry business. In 1880 he began the practice of law in Allegheny, where he has since practiced.

Steward, Mrs. Electra Maria, litterateur, author, was born Sept. 6, 1817, in Le Roy, N.Y. She was a writer of Detroit, Mich. She was the author of Early History of Michigan; and The Clevelands, a religious juvenile tale. She died in Detroit, Mich.

Steward, Lewis, manufacturer, congressman, was born Nov. 20, 1824, in Wayne county, Pa. He has been engaged in farming and manufacturing in Plano, Ill.; and was democratic candidate for governor in 1876. In 1891-93 he was a representative to the fifty-second congress as a democrat. He died Aug. 27, 1896, in Plano, Ill.

Steward, Theophilus Gould, educator, clergyman, chaplain, author, was born April 17, 1843, near Bridgeton, N.J. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools; and in 1880 graduated from the divinity school of the protestant episcopal church at Philadelphia, Pa. For awhile he was cashier of the Freedman's bank; was a school teacher; and for a number of years was a missionary in South Carolina and Georgia. In 1873 he visited Hayti as a representative of the African methodist episcopal church; and has filled pastorates in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and the south. He is the author of Genesis Re-read; and numerous Monograms and religio-scientific articles.

Stewardson, Langdon Cheves, educator, clergyman, college president, was born Nov. 10, 1850, in Marietta, Ga. In 1880-84 he was rector at Webster, Mass.; in 1888-98 was rector of St. Mark's church of Worcester, Mass.; and in 1898-1903 was chaplain and professor of philosophy at Lehigh university. Since 1903 he has been president of Hobart college of Geneva, N.Y.

Stewardson, Thomas, physician, author, was born July 10, 1807, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1860 he introduced into this country the new silk-worm, bourbyx cynthia, which he fed on leaves of the ailantus tree. He was the author of a Life of Dr. Gerhard; and edited, with additions, Elliotson's Principles of Medicine. He died June 30, 1878, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Stewart, Alexander, lawyer, jurist. He was judge of the United States for the territory of Illinois, and held the position until the organization of the state government in 1818. He died in Illinois.

Stewart, Alexander, merchant, congressman, was born Sept. 12, 1829, in Canada. In 1849 he moved to where the city of Wausau is now located; and was engaged in the lumber business. In 1895-1901 he was a representative to the fifty-fourth, fifty-fifth and fifty-sixth congresses as a republican. He died May 24, 1912.

Stewart, Alexander Peter, soldier, educator, was born Oct. 2, 1821, in Rogersville, Tenn. He became brigadier-general in the confederate army in 1861; major-general in 1863; and lieutenant-general in 1864. In 1868 he became professor of mathematics and natural philosophy in Cumberland university at Lebanon, Tenn. In 1874-86 he was chancellor of the university of Mississippi; and in 1890-1906 was commissioner to the Chickamauga national park. He died Aug. 30, 1908, in Biloxi, Miss.

Stewart, Alexander Turney, merchant, was born Oct. 12, 1803, in Ireland. He was considered the greatest merchant in the world. He is said to have made his immense fortune by attending to details, and following closely the one-priced system of merchandising, of which he was the father. He died April 10, 1876, in New York City.

Stewart, Alvan, reformer, was born Sept. 1, 1790, in South Granville, N.Y. He removed to Utica, N.Y. His life was mainly given to the temperance and the anti-slavery causes. A volume of his speeches was published in 1860. He died May 1, 1849, in New York City.

Stewart, Andrew, agriculturist, state legislator, congressman, was born in June, 1792, in Fayette county, Pa. He served three years in the Pennsylvania state legislature; and was appointed by President Monroe district attorney for western Pennsylvania. In 1821-29, 1831-35 and 1843-47 he was a representative from Pennsylvania in the seventeenth to the twentieth, the twenty-second, twenty-third and twenty-eighth to the thirtieth congresses. He died July 16, 1872, in Uniontown, Pa.

Stewart, Archibald, congressman. He was a delegate from New Jersey to the continental congress in 1784-85 to fill a temporary vacancy. He died in New Jersey.

Stewart, Archibald, congressman, was born in Virginia. In 1833-35 he was a representative from Virginia to the twenty-fifth congress as a democrat. He died in Virginia.

Stewart, Austin, educator, author, was born about 1793 in Prince William county, Va. In 1837 he opened a school in Canandaigua, N.Y.; and two years later became agent for the Anti-Slavery Standard. He was the author of Twenty-Two Years a Slave and Forty Years a Freeman. He died about 1860 in Canandaigua, N.Y.

Stewart, Charles, soldier, congressman, was born in 1729 in Ireland. He became a deputy surveyor-general of the province of Pennsylvania. In 1777 he was appointed by congress commissary-general of issues in the continental army; and served as such on Washington's staff until the close of the war. In 1784-85 he was a delegate from New Jersey to the continental congress. He died June 24, 1800, in Flemington, N.J.

Stewart, Charles, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born May 30, 1836, in Memphis, Tenn. In 1866 he moved to Houston, Texas; was city attorney in 1872; and served two terms as a state senator. In 1883-93 he was a representative from Texas to the forty-eighth, forty-ninth, fiftieth, fifty-first and fifty-second congresses as a democrat. He died Sept. 21, 1895, in Houston, Texas.

Stewart, Charles Samuel, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 18, 1795, in Flemington, N.J. He was a presbyterian clergyman; and chaplain in the navy. He was the author of Residence at the Sandwich Islands in 1823-25; Visit to the South Seas in the Ship Vincennes; Sketches of Society in Great Britain and Ireland in 1832; Brazil and La Plata in 1850-53; and Personal Record of a Cruise. He died Dec. 14, 1870, in Cooperstown, N.Y.

Stewart, Charles Seaforth, soldier, was born April 11, 1823, at sea. He served during the civil war in the corps of engineers, was made major in 1863; and was chief engineer of the middle military division in 1864-65. He was made lieutenant-colonel in 1867; colonel in 1882; and was retired in 1886. He died in 1904 in Cooperstown, N.Y.

Stewart, David, lawyer, United States senator, was born Sept. 13, 1800, in Baltimore Md. In 1849-51 he was United States senator from Maryland to fill a vacancy. He was commissioner of public buildings for the District of Columbia. He died Jan. 5, 1858, in Baltimore, Md.

Stewart, David, lawyer, author, was born Oct. 24, 1856, in Baltimore, Md. Since 1880 he has practiced law in Baltimore, Md. He is the author of Husband and Wife; Marriage and Divorce; and other works.

Stewart, Edwin, naval officer, was born May 5, 1837, in New York City. In 1861 he was appointed from New York assistant paymaster in the United States navy. In 1900 he was appointed paymaster-general; and in 1909 was advanced to the rank of rear-admiral.

Stewart, Eliza Daniel, philanthropist, temperance evangelist, was born April 26, 1816, in Piketon, Ohio. She organized the first Woman's union in the great temperance cause; and was called Mother Stewart. She was the author of Memories of the Crusade; and The Crusader in Great Britain. She died Aug. 6, 1908, in Hicksville, Ohio.

Stewart, Ferdinand Campbell, physician, author, was born Aug. 10, 1815, in Williamsburg, Va. He was for many years the family physician of President Tyler. In 1849-55 he was the first physician of the Marine hospital on Staten island. He was the author of Hospitals and Surgeons of Paris. He died in New York City.

Stewart, George Black, educator, college president, was born Feb. 28, 1854, in Columbus, Ohio. Since 1899 he has been president and professor of practical theology at the Auburn theological seminary of New York. He is the author of Life of Jesus for Juniors; A Study of the Life of Jesus; and other works.

Stewart, George Neil, educator, physician, author, was born about 1859 in Canada. Since 1907 he has been professor of experimental medicine in the Western reserve university of Cleveland, Ohio. He is the author of A Manual of Physiology.

Stewart, Gideon Tabor, lawyer, journalist, prohibitionist, statesman, was born Aug. 7, 1824, in Johnstown, N.Y. He attended

Oberlin college; and was admitted to the bar in 1846. In 1861 he moved to Iowa, where he edited and published the Dubuque Daily Times during the civil war; and then returned to Ohio. He was elected three times the grand worthy chief Templar by the Good templars of Iowa; and has been their nominee three times for governor, seven times for supreme judge, once for congress, and once for vice-president of the United States. He has been president of the Fireland's historical society; and was one of the founders and first officers of the Whittlesey academy of arts and sciences at Norwalk. He died June 9, 1900, in Pasadena, Cal.

Stewart, Harlow Lincoln, lawyer, journalist, state senator, author, was born Dec. 12, 1861, in Norwalk, Ohio. He is a writer and journalist of Norwalk, Ohio. He was a member of the seventieth assembly of the Ohio state senate. He was editor of the Norwalk Daily News until 1884; and since that time has been editor of the Norwalk Experiment. He is the author of a serial entitled The Sioux Raid; and has contributed extensively to current publications, which have been a valuable acquisition to American literature.

Stewart, Humphrey John, musician, composer, was born May 22, 1856, in London, England. He received the honorary degree of Mus. Doc. from the university of the Pacific. In 1886-1901 he was organist of churches in San Francisco, Cal.; in 1901-02 was organist of Trinity church of Boston, Mass.; and since 1902 has been organist of St. Dominic's church of San Francisco, Cal. In 1901 he was solo organist at the Pan-American exposition. He is a teacher of music, has been music critic for the San Francisco Examiner and San Francisco Evening Post; and was one of the founders of the American guild of organists. He has composed the romantic opera Bluff King Hal; and the comic operas His Majesty and The Conspirators; the orchestral suite Scenes in California; and Montezuma; and also incidental music to many plays, numerous songs, pianoforte and violin pieces, part-songs and church music.

Stewart, Isaac A., lawyer, jurist, was Jan. 10, 1854, in Knox county, Ky. Since 1891 he has been judge of the criminal court at De Land, Fla. He is one of the largest orange growers in his section.

Stewart, Jacob Henry, surgeon, state senator, congressman, was born Jan. 15, 1829, in Clermont, N.Y. He was a member of the Minnesota state senate in 1858-59; and was surgeon-general of the state in 1857-63. He was appointed surgeon of the first Minnesota volunteer infantry in 1861. He was surgeon of the board of enrollment in 1864-65. He was postmaster of St. Paul in 1865-70; and mayor of St. Paul in 1864-65 and 1872-74. In 1877-79 he was a representative from Minnesota to the forty-fifth congress as a republican. He died Aug. 25, 1844, in St. Paul, Minn.

Stewart, James, congressman, was born in 1770 in North Carolina. In 1817-18 he was a representative from North Carolina to the fifteenth congress. He died on Feb. 3, 1842, in North Carolina.

Stewart, James, physician, author, was born April 7, 1790, in New York City. He was a physician of New York City. He was the author of Diseases of Children; and The Lungs. He died Sept. 12, 1864, in Rye, N.Y.

Stewart, James, soldier, was born in New Jersey. In 1861 he was first lieutenant in the ninth regiment New Jersey volunteer infantry; in 1862 he became captain and major, in 1864 was promoted to colonel; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of the United States volunteers for meritorious services.

Stewart, James A., lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 24, 1808, in Dorchester county, Md. He served in the state legislature; and was a judge of the circuit court of Maryland. In 1855-61 he was a representative from Maryland to the thirty-fourth, thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth congresses. He died in Maryland.

Stewart, James Fleming, lawyer, congressman, was born June 15, 1851, in Paterson, N.J. He graduated at the Law school of the university of New York in 1870, taking the first prize for best examination. He practiced law in New York City until 1876, when he moved to New Jersey. He was three times appointed recorder of Paterson; and was the criminal magistrate of the city, which office he occupied at the time of his election to congress.

In 1895-1903 he was a representative to the fifty-fourth, fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth and fifty-seventh congresses as a republican. He died Jan. 21, 1904, in Paterson, N.J.

Stewart, James Aloysius, physician, public official, was born April 3, 1828, in Baltimore, Md. He established himself in practice in Baltimore, Md.; became physician to the city general dispensary; and assistant physician to the Maryland hospital for the insane. Since 1875 he has been health commissioner; also registrar of vital statistics; and president of the city board of health. He checked an incipient outbreak of yellow fever in 1886; and has aided in suppressing two epidemics of small-pox.

Stewart, Jane Agnes, journalist, author, was born Aug. 16, 1860, in Boston, Mass. Since 1898 she has been editorial writer of the Boston Transcript. She is the author of the Frances Willard Book.

Stewart, John, congressman. In 1799-1805 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the sixth, seventh and eighth congresses. He died in Pennsylvania.

Stewart, John, agriculturist, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1795 in Chatham, Conn. He served many years in the Connecticut legislature; and was judge of Middlesex county court. In 1843-45 he was a representative from Connecticut to the twenty-eighth congress. He died Sept. 16, 1860, in Chatham, Conn.

Stewart, John, lawyer, state senator, jurist, was born Nov. 4, 1839, in Shippensburg, Pa. In 1864 he was a delegate to the republican national convention; was a delegate to the national convention in 1884; and in 1872 was a member of the state constitutional convention of Pennsylvania. In 1880-84 he was a member of the Pennsylvania state senate; and since 1888 has been presiding judge of the thirty-ninth judicial district of Pennsylvania. Since 1906 he has been associate justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania for the term ending in 1927.

Stewart, John Aikman, banker, financier, was born Aug. 26, 1822, in New York City. He was educated in the public schools of New York City, from whence he entered Columbia college, completed the scientific and literary courses and graduated in 1840. In 1842-50 he was clerk of the board of education; and then he became actuary of the United States life insurance company. In 1853 he became secretary of the United States trust company of New York; and in 1864 became assistant treasurer of the United States at New York. He became president of the United States trust company; was a director of the Merchants' national bank; a director of the Bank of New Amsterdam; a director of the Greenwich savings bank; and was also a director of two insurance companies.

Stewart, John D., soldier, lawyer, jurist, clergyman, congressman, was born Aug. 2, 1833, in Fayette county, Ga. He was probate judge for five years; and was lieutenant and captain in the thirteenth Georgia regiment during the civil war. He was a member of the Georgia legislature in 1865-67. He was mayor of Griffin in 1875-76. He was judge of the superior court in 1879-96. In 1887-91 he was a representative to the fiftieth and fifty-first congresses as a democrat. He died Jan. 28, 1894, in Griffin, Ga.

Stewart, John Knox, manufacturer, legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 20, 1853, in Perth, N.Y. He became proprietor of the Forest paper mills which were established by his father; and in 1888 became proprietor of the Chuctanunda hosiery mills. In 1889 he was elected a member of the New York state assembly. In 1899-1903 he was a representative from New York to the fifty-sixth and fifty-seventh congresses as a republican.

Stewart, John Wolcott, lawyer, state senator, congressman, governor, was born Nov. 24, 1825, in Middlebury, Vt. He was state's attorney for his native county in 1852-55. He was a representative in the state legislature in 1856-57; was a state senator in 1862-63; and was again in the assembly in 1864-67. He was the twenty-eighth governor of Vermont in 1870-72; and was again a representative in the legislature in 1876-77. In 1883-91 he was a representative from Vermont to the forty-eighth, forty-ninth, fiftieth and fifty-first congresses as a republican.

Stewart, Lewis, lawyer, farmer, manufacturer, congressman, was born Nov. 20, 1824, in Wayne county, Pa. In 1838 he moved to Kendall county, Ill.; and in 1876 was a candidate for governor. In 1889-91 he was a representative from Illinois to the fifty-second congress as a democrat.

Stewart, Marcus A., author, poet, was born Sept. 21, 1852, in Madison, Wis. He is a writer of San Jose, Cal. He is the author of a volume of poems entitled Rosita.

Stewart, Orrville H., journalist, poet, author, was born Oct. 25, 1876, in Adams, Ind. He was city editor of the Daily New Era of Greensburg, Ind.; special correspondent of several metropolitan dailies, and being for some time regular contributor to the Louisville Courier-Journal, the Chicago Chronicle, Indianapolis Journal, and the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette. His best-known poem is Down on the Farm, and his Hoosier Stories have been widely copied in the periodical press.

Stewart, Philo Penfield, educator, founder, was born in July, 1798, in Sherman, Conn. He was one of the founders of Oberlin college. He died Dec. 13, 1868, in Ohio.

Stewart, Reuben Elmer, business man, educator, was born June 13, 1864, in Westmoreland county, Pa. He was educated in the grammar and central high schools of Pittsburgh, Pa.; and graduated from Westminster college of New Wilmington, Pa. For many years he was engaged in mercantile work; and was a carpet and furniture salesman in Omaha, Neb. For seven years he was a teacher in the Nebraska school for the deaf; and for two years was a teacher in the school for the deaf at Council Bluffs, Iowa. He is now superintendent of the school for the deaf and dumb at Omaha, Neb.

Stewart, Robert Laird, educator, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 11, 1840, in Murrys ville, Pa. In 1869 he was ordained to the prebyterian ministry; and since 1890 has been professor of pastoral theology, biblical archaeology and Christian evidences; and dean of the faculty of the theological seminary of Lincoln university of Pennsylvania. He is the author of The Place and Value of Pastoral Theology in the Curriculum of Theological Study; The Land of Israel; Memorable Places Among the Holy Hills; and Biography of Sheldon Jackson.

Stewart, Robert Mercellus, state senator, governor, was born March 12, 1815, in Truxton, N.Y. In 1845 he was a delegate to the Missouri state constitutional convention; and for ten years he was a member of the state senate. He was the twelfth governor of Missouri in 1857-61. He died Sept. 21, 1871, in St. Joseph, Mo.

Stewart, Thomas E., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Sept. 22, 1824, in New York City. In 1854 he was elected a commissioner of common schools; and in 1864-65 was a member of the New York state assembly. In 1867-69 he was a representative from New York to the fortieth congress. He died in 1904, in New York City.

Stewart, Thomas Jamison, soldier, legislator, adjutant-general, was born Sept. 11, 1848, near Belfast, Ireland. He served in the civil war as a private in the one hundred and thirty-eighth regiment Pennsylvania volunteers. In 1890 he was department commander for Pennsylvania of the grand army of the republic; in 1898-1901 was adjutant-general of the grand army of the republic; and in 1903 was commander in chief. In 1885-86 he was a representative in the Pennsylvania state legislature; and since 1868 has been connected with the Pennsylvania national guard. In 1886-94 he was secretary of internal affairs; and since 1895 has been adjutant-general of Pennsylvania.

Stewart, Thomas McCants, lawyer, author, was born Dec. 28, 1854, in Charleston, S.C. He has been professor of mathematics in the state agricultural college of South Carolina; and since 1886 has practiced law in New York City. In 1891-95 he was a member of the board of education of the city of Brooklyn. He is the author of Liberia.

Stewart, Thomas Milton, oculist, aurist, author, was born May 13, 1866, in Cincinnati, Ohio. Since 1889 he has been practicing as an oculist and aurist in Cincinnati, Ohio; and has been president of the Ohio state homoeopathic medical society. He is the author of The Antiquity of Man; Masonry and the Higher Evolution of Man; and The Secret Teachings of Jesus.

Stewart, Walter, soldier, merchant, was born about 1756. He served with credit throughout the revolutionary war, retiring in 1783 with the brevet rank of brigadier-general. He was afterward well known as a merchant of Philadelphia; and became major-general of the state militia. His full-length portrait is in Colonel Trumbull's picture of the surrender of Cornwallis. He died June 14, 1796, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Stewart, William, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Sept. 16, 1811, in Mercer, Pa. He was a member of the Pennsylvania state senate for three years. In 1857-61 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth congresses. He died in Pennsylvania.

Stewart, William Henry, naval officer, was born July 11, 1831, in Andover, Mass. In 1863 he was appointed chaplain in the United States navy; served in the naval station of Cairo, Ill.; in the naval academy; and later on various vessels and at various stations. He retired in 1893; and in 1906 was advanced to the rank of rear-admiral for service during the civil war.

Stewart, William Morris, lawyer, United States senator, was born Aug. 9, 1827, in Lyons, N.Y. In 1860 he removed to Virginia City, Nev., where he was largely engaged in early mining litigation and in the development of the Comstock lode. In 1863-75 and 1887-1905 he was United States senator.

Stewart, William Henry, soldier, lawyer, lecturer, author, was born Sept. 25, 1838, in Deep Creek, Va. Since 1873 he has been engaged in the practice of law in Virginia. For two terms of four years each he was commonwealth's attorney for the county of Norfolk; during 1887-94 was vice-president and director of the Portsmouth Street railway company; was president of the Port Norfolk Electric railway, which runs from Portsmouth to Port Norfolk, of which latter city he was the founder. He is the author of The Battle of the Crater; and a number of articles contributed to current literature. He served as captain, major and lieutenant-colonel in the confederate army; was in over thirty engagements, including Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, Wilderness, Spottsylvania, Cold Harbor, Crater, and surrendered at Appomattox in Mahone's division, army of northern Virginia.

Stewart, William P., actuary, author, was born Feb. 14, 1840, in Bath, Maine. Since 1869 he has been a life insurance actuary of New York City. He is the author of Abstract Identities; and Concrete Identities.

Stewart, William Scott, soldier, was born in Scotland. In 1862 he was major in the sixty-fifth regiment Illinois infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died in January, 1894, in Illinois.

Stibbs, John Howard, soldier, was born in Ohio. In 1861 he was captain in the twelfth regiment Iowa infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He was honorably discharged in 1866.

Stickler, Joseph William, scientist, was born June 26, 1854. He is identified with the business and public affairs of New Jersey. Much original work has been performed by him in attempting to discover a disease in the lower animals, which will furnish virus, which, when introduced into the human tissues, will render them proof against the contagion of scarlet fever. He has done much to secure such legislative action as will probably result in the eradication of bovine tuberculosis from the state of New Jersey.

Stickney, Albert, soldier, lawyer, author, was born Feb. 1, 1839, in Boston, Mass. He is the author of The Lawyer and His Clients; A True Republican; The Political Problem; The Transvaal Outlook; and Organized Democracy.

Stickney, Alpheus Beede, lawyer, railroad president, financier, was born June 27, 1840, in Wilton, Maine. In 1871 he organized and built the first section of the North Wisconsin railway, now a part of the Chicago, St. Paul and Omaha system. In 1881 he organized and built the first section of the Wisconsin, Minnesota and Mississippi railway; and in 1883 began the construction of the Chicago great western railway, of which he is president.

Stickney, Amos, soldier, was born Aug. 27, 1843, in St. Louis, Mo. In 1864 he was commissioned first lieutenant of engineers; in 1887 became captain; in 1891 was promoted major; in 1893 became lieutenant-colonel and in 1907 was retired by operation of law with the rank of brigadier-general. He was chairman of the commission to establish and mark the boundary line between the states of Indiana and Kentucky.

Stickney, Edward Swan, banker, financier, was born Oct. 7, 1824, in Newburyport, Mass. In 1859 he was manager of a clearing house; and for several years was at the head of that institution. In 1873 he was president of the Stockyards national bank. He died March 20, 1880, in Chicago, Ill.

Stickney, John, musician, composer, was born in 1742, in Stoughton, Mass. He traveled extensively through the New England states; and acquired reputation as a teacher and composer. He was the author of The Gentlemen and Ladies' Musical Companion, a valuable collection of psalms and anthems, together with explanatory rules for learning to sing. He died in 1826, in South Hadley, Mass.

Stickney, Mrs. Julia Noyes, litterateur, poet, was born July 5, 1830, in West Newbury, Mass. She is the author of Poems on Lake Winnepesaukee; One Hundred Sonnets; and In the Valley of the Merrimack.

Stickney, William Brunswick Curry, lawyer, banker, statesman, was born Jan. 1, 1845, in Marblehead, Mass. He graduated from Harvard college with the degree of A.B., and from Dartmouth college with degree of A.M. He is president of the National White River bank of Bethel; a director of the Vermont Valley railroad and other railroads; and a partner in the firm of Hunton and Stickney. He has been state's attorney of Windsor county; and a representative from Bethel to the general assembly of Vermont. He has been president of the Vermont bar association.

Stickney, William Wallace, lawyer, legislator, governor, was born March 21, 1853, in Plymouth, Vt. In 1882-84 and 1890-92 he was state's attorney; and in 1892-96 represented Ludlow in the Vermont state legislature; and served as speaker of the house of representatives during that time. In 1900-02 he was the forty-third governor of Vermont.

Steigel, Henrick Wilhelm Von, manufacturer, founder, was born in 1730, in Germany. He was engaged in the manufacture of wood-burning stoves. In 1802 he bought a tract of land, and laid out the town of Mannheim, where he erected the first glass factory in America. In 1772 he founded the German lutheran church of Mannheim. He died in 1783 in Charming Forge, Pa.

Stieglitz, Alfred, photographer, artist, author, was born Jan. 1, 1864, in Hoboken, N.J. He founded and is editor of Camera Notes; devotes his energies to the advancement of American pictorial photography; and has won over one hundred and twenty-five medals for photography. He is the author of Picturesque Bits of New York, and Other Stories.

Stifler, James Madison, educator, clergyman, theologian, author, was born Dec. 8, 1839, near Altoona, Pa. In 1871-75 he filled the chair of Bible exegesis in Shurtleff college; and in 1882 was called to the same chair in the Crozer theological seminary. He was the author of Introduction to Book of Acts; and Commentary on the Epistle to the Romans. He died in 1902, in Chester, Pa.

Stiles, Charles Wardell, educator, zoologist, author, was born May 15, 1867, in Spring Valley, N.Y. He was professor of zoology in the Georgetown university; zoologist in the bureau of animal industry of the United States department of agriculture; and special lecturer in medical zoology Johns Hopkins university. He is the author of A Revision of the Adult Cestodes of Cattle, Sheep and Allied Animals; Trichinosis in Germany; and many other zoological works.

Stiles, Edward H., lawyer, state senator, jurist, author, was born Oct. 8, 1836, in Granby, Conn. He received his education in the schools of New England; and in 1857 began the practice of law in Ottumwa, Iowa. In 1859 he became city attorney; and in 1861 was elected county attorney. In 1863 he became a representative in the Iowa general state assembly; and at the close of his term was elected a member of the Iowa state senate. In 1867-75 he was a reporter of the supreme court; and during his term edited and published fifteen volumes of Stiles' Iowa Reports. In 1883 he was the republican candidate for congress. Since 1886 he has resided in Kansas City, Mo.; and has served as circuit judge and master in chancery of the United States circuit court. He is the author of preme Court; and History of the Early Bench and Bar of Iowa.

Stiles, Ezra, clergyman, scientist, author, was born Nov. 29, 1727, in North Haven, Conn. He was a congregational clergyman; and was president of Yale college in 1778-95. He conducted the first electrical experiments in New England. He was the author of Account of the Settlement of Bristol, R.I.; and History of Three of the Judges of Charles the First, Whalley, Goffe, and Dixwell. He died May 12, 1795, in New Haven, Conn.

Stiles, George P., lawyer, jurist, was born in New York; and removed to Iowa. In 1854 he was appointed an associate judge of the United States court for the territory of Utah. He died in Utah.

Stiles, Henry J., lawyer, jurist. In 1862 he was chief justice of the supreme court of Kentucky.

Stiles, Henry Reed, physician, author, was born March 10, 1832, in New York City. In 1870-73 he was health inspector in the board of health of New York City. In 1882-85 he was a professor in the New York women's college and hospital; and was a founder of the public health association of New York City in 1872. He is the author of History and Genealogies of Ancient Windsor, Connecticut; History of Brooklyn, Long Island; and The Wallabout Prison Ship.

Stiles, Israel Newton, soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born July 16, 1833, in Suffield, Conn. He was prosecuting attorney two years; and a member of the Indiana legislature. He became active as an anti-slavery orator during the Fremont canvass, delivering more than sixty speeches. He was subsequently major, lieutenant-colonel, and colonel of the sixty-third Indiana; and finally brevet brigadier-general. He became a noted lawyer of Chicago. He died Jan. 17, 1895, in Chicago, Ill.

Stiles, John D., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Jan. 15, 1823, in Luzerne county, Pa. In 1853-56 he was district attorney for Lehigh county; and in 1856 was a delegate to the national convention which nominated Mr. Buchanan for president. He was elected to the thirty-seventh congress to fill a vacancy; and in 1861-63 and 1869-71 he was a representative to the thirty-seventh, thirty-eighth and forty-first congresses as a democrat. He was a delegate to the Chicago convention of 1864, to the Philadelphia national union convention of 1866; and to the New York democratic convention of 1868.

Stiles, Joseph Clay, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 6, 1795, in Savannah, Ga.

He was a presbyterian clergyman; and after 1860 an evangelist in the south. He was the author of Modern Reform Examined, or the Union of North and South on Slavery; and The National Controversy. He died March 27, 1875, in Savannah, Ga.

Stiles, Norman Charles, manufacturer, inventor, was born June 18, 1843, in Agawam, Mass. In 1860 he brought out his first invention known as a toe and instep stretcher; and he became famous for the invention of his stamp and punching machine, used in the manufacture of boots and shoes. He owns a large shoe factory in Middletown, Conn.

Stiles, T. L., lawyer, jurist. In 1890 he was an associate justice of the supreme court of Washington.

Stiles, William Curtis, clergyman, author, was born June 14, 1851, in Stoneham, Maine. He is a congregational clergyman of Brooklyn, N.Y. He is the author of Literary Dozen; Matter of Business; Excuse Me; Double Jeopardy; Master's Mission; and The Upper Way.

Stiles, William H., soldier, lawyer, diplomat, congressman, author, was born in January, 1808, in Savannah, Ga. In 1833-36 he was elected solicitor-general of the eastern district of Georgia. In 1843-45 he was a representative from Georgia to the twenty-eighth congress; and was appointed by President Polk charge d'affaires to Austria. He served as a colonel in the civil war. He was the author of History of Austria. He died Dec. 20, 1865, in Savannah, Ga.

Still, William, philanthropist, author, was born Oct. 7, 1821, in Shamony, N.J. He was a noted Philadelphia philanthropist of African descent. He was the author of The Underground Railroad, Voting and Laboring; and Struggle for the Rights of Colored People in Philadelphia. He died in 1902 in Philadelphia, Pa.

Stille, Alfred, physician, educator, author, was born Oct. 30, 1813, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was the author of Elements of General Pathology; The Unity of Medicine; Humboldt's Life and Character; War as an Element of Civilization; Othello and Desdemona: Their Characters; The National Dispensatory (with Maisch); Therapeutics and Materia Medica; Epidemic Meningitis; and Epidemic or Malignant Cholera. He died in 1900, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Stille, Charles Janeway, educator, author, was born Sept. 23, 1819, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was provost of the university of Pennsylvania in 1868-80. He was the author of Historical Development of American Civilization; Studies in Mediæval Civilization; Beaumarchais and the Lost Million, a chapter of the Secret History of the American Revolution; History of the United States Sanitary Commission; How a Free People Conduct a Long War; Northern Interest and Southern Independence; Life and Times of John Dickinson; and General Anthony Wayne and the Pennsylvania Line. He died Aug. 11, 1899, in Atlantic City, N.J.

Stille, Moreton, physician, author, was born Oct. 27, 1822, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a Philadelphia physician. He was author of a Treatise on Medical Jurisprudence. He died Aug. 20, 1855, in Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

Stillman, James W., lawyer, merchant, legislator, author, poet, was born in 1840, in Unadilla Forks, N.Y. In 1868-69 he was a member of the Rhode Island state legislature, where he distinguished himself by espousing the cause of woman suffrage. Since 1880 he has resided in Boston, Mass., engaged principally in literary work. He is the author of Woman Suffrage; The Mormon Question; The Unknown God; God and the Universe; and other works.

Stillman, Samuel, clergyman, author, was born March 10, 1738, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was pastor of the First Baptist church in Boston. His Select Sermons were published in 1808. He died March 12, 1807, in Boston, Mass.

Stillman, Thomas Bliss, civil engineer, banker, inventor, was born Aug. 30, 1806, in Westerly, R.I. During the civil war he was United States inspector of steam vessels for the New York district; and superintendent of construction of revenue cutters. For nearly twenty years he was a trustee of the New York hospital; and he was long president of the Metropolitan Savings bank. He invented improved forms of machinery that have come into use. He died Jan. 1, 1866, in Plainfield, N.J.

Stillman, Thomas Bliss, chemical engineer, author, was born May 24, 1852, in Plainfield, N.J. Since 1903 he has been professor of engineering chemistry at the Stevens institute of technology. He is the author of Engineering Chemistry; and many Mono-graphs.

Stillman, William Olin, physician, antiquarian, philanthropist, author, was born Sept. 9, 1856, in Normansville, N.Y. In 1878 he received the degree of M.D. from the Albany medical college; studied in the university of Berlin, Vienna and Paris and hospitals of London, England. In 1880 he received the honorary degree of A.M. from Union college. In 1887-88 he was physician to the Open door mission and hospital for incurables; in 1888-92 was physician to the babies' nursery and Lathrop memorial, and since 1892 has been physician to the Home for Christian workers. Since 1896 he has been a lecturer on history of medicine in the Albany medical college; and in 1905 was largely interested in establishing the Albany school for nurses. He is president of the American humane association; president of the New York state humane educational committee; and president of the Mohawk and Hudson River humane society. In 1904 he was awarded a gold medal at the St. Louis exposition for philanthropic work. He is the author of The Mineral Springs of Saratoga.

Stillman, William James, diplomat, artist, author, was born June 1, 1828, in Schenectady, N.Y. He was consul at Rome in 1861-65; and in Crete in 1865-69. He has lived at Rome from 1886 as the correspondent of The London Times for Italy and Greece. He is the author of History of the Cretan Insurrection; Poetic Localities of Cambridge; Herzegovina and the Late Uprising; Turkish Rule and Warfare; On the Track of Ulysses; Manual of Photography; Early Italian Painters; Apollo and Venus; Billy and Hans; The Old Rome and the New, and other studies; The Union of Italy; Francisco Criski, a biography; and Little Bertha. He died in 1901, in London, England.

Stillwell, Arthur Edward, railroad president, was born in 1861, in Rochester, N.Y. In 1883-88 he was in the life insurance business in Chicago, Ill. He built the Belt road around Kansas City. He is president of the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railway company.

Stillwell, Leander, soldier, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Sept. 16, 1843, in Jersey county, Ill. He was educated in the public schools of Otterville, Ill.; and studied law at the Albany law school of New York. In 1862 he enlisted as a private in company D, sixty-first regiment Illinois infantry; and in 1865 was mustered out as first lieutenant in the same company and regiment; having participated in numerous battles and skirmishes during the civil war. In 1867 he began the active practice of law; and in 1876 he was elected to the lower house of the Kansas state legislature. In 1883 he was elected judge of the seventh state district court of Kansas; and by successive re-elections has held that position continuously since.

Stillwell, William H., lawyer, jurist. He was judge of one of the United States territorial courts sometime prior to 1884.

Stilwell, Silas Moore, pioneer, lawyer, state legislator, was born June 6, 1800, in New York City. In 1814 he engaged in surveying in the west. He then settled in Tennessee; and in 1822 was in the state legislature. He died May 16, 1881, in New York City.

Stillwell, Thomas L., lawyer, banker, diplomat, congressman, was born Aug. 29, 1830, in Stillwell, Ohio. In 1856 he was elected to the legislature of Indiana. In 1865-67 he was a state representative from Indiana to the thirty-ninth congress. In 1867 he was appointed minister resident to Venezuela. He was killed Jan. 14, 1874, in Anderson, Ind.

Stimmel, Smith, soldier, lawyer, was born Dec. 17, 1842, in Franklin county, Ohio. He served as a soldier during the civil war; and was on President Lincoln's body guard from January, 1864, till date of his assassination. He removed to Fargo, N.D.; and in 1889 was made president of the Dakota state senate.

Stimpson, Herbert Baird, lawyer, author, was born Jan. 31, 1869, near Ilchester, Md. He is the author of The Regeneration; and The Tory Maid.

Stimpson, William, naturalist, author, was born Feb. 14, 1832, in Roxbury, Mass. In 1864 he became curator for the Chicago academy of sciences; and subsequently he was secretary. He was the author of Descriptiones Animalium Evertibratorum; Notes on North American Crustacea; and Crustacea Dredged in the Gulf Stream. He died May 26, 1872, in Ilchester Mills, Md.

Stimson, Alexander Lovett, lawyer, journalist, author, was born Dec. 14, 1816, in Boston, Mass. He is the author of History of the Boston Mercantile Library Association; History of the Express Companies; New England Boys; and Waifwood, a novel. He died in Boston, Mass.

Stimson, Frederic Jesup, lawyer, author, was born July 20, 1855, in Dedham, Mass. He is a lawyer of Boston; and in 1884-85 was assistant attorney-general of Massachusetts. He is the author of Labor in Its Relations to Law; Handbook of the Labor Law of the United States; American Statute Law; Glossary of Technical Terms of the Common Law; Uniform State Legislation. In fiction he has published Guerndale; The Crime of Henry Vane; The King's Men; The Residuary Legatee; The Sentimental Calendar; In the Three Zones; First Harvests; Pirate Gold; King Noanett; Rollo's Journey to Cambridge; and The Law of the Constitutions, State and Federal.

Stimson, Henry Albert, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 28, 1842, in New York. He is vice-president of the American missionary association. He is the author of Religion and Business; Questions of Modern Inquiry; The Apostles' Creed; and The Right Life.

Stimson, John Ward, educator, artist, author, was born Dec. 16, 1850, in Paterson, N.J. He is an artist of New York City; was for four years superintendent of the Metropolitan museum art schools; and founder of The Artist-Artisan institute of New York City. He is the author of The Law of Three Primaries; Art Principles and Methods; The Gate Beautiful; and Wandering Chords.

Stimson, Lewis Atterbury, physician, educator, author, was born in 1844 in Paterson, N.J. He is a physician of New York City; professor of surgery in Cornell university; and in 1893 became regent university of the state of New York. He is the author of Manual of Operative Surgery; Practical Treatise on Fractures; and Treatise on Dislocations.

Stimson, Rufus Whittaker, educator, college president, was born Feb. 20, 1868, in Palmer, Mass. In 1897-1901 he was professor of English, ethics and oratory; and since 1901 has been president of the Connecticut agricultural college.

Stine, Charles W., educator, was born March 25, 1860, in Wrightsville, Pa. He was educated at the York county academy; at the state normal school at Westchester; attended the Pennsylvania college, and studied in the Ohio northern university and other institutions of learning. He has been principal of schools; and is now county superintendent of schools for York county, Pa.

Stine, Wilbur Morris, educator, civil engineer, author, poet, was born Nov. 3, 1863, in Tyrone, Pa. In 1886-93 he was professor of physics and electrical engineering in the Ohio university; in 1893-98 he was director of the department of electrical engineering at the Armour institute of technology of Chicago, Ill.; and since 1898 has been Williamson professor of engineering at Swarthmore college. In 1896-99 he was vice-president of the American institute of electrical engineers. He is the author of Photometrical Measurements; and more than one hundred scientific Monographs and contributions; and The Wreck of the Myrtle, and Other Verses; and The Palace of Vision.

Stiness, John Henry, lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 9, 1840, in Providence, R.I. He served in the civil war; and became second lieutenant in the second regiment New York artillery; and participated in numerous battles and skirmishes. He has been a member of the commission on uniform state laws; and chairman of the commission to revise the judicial system in Rhode Island. He is a member of the board of fellows of Brown university; and president of the Rhode Island historical society. In 1874-75 he was a representative in the Rhode Island state legislature. In 1875 he became an associate justice; and in 1900-04 was chief justice of the state supreme court of Rhode Island.

Sterling, Yates, naval officer, was born May 6, 1843, in Baltimore, Md. In 1863 he was promoted ensign; in 1894 became captain; and in 1902 attained the rank of rear-admiral. In 1904-05 he was commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet; and in 1905 was retired.

Stith, William, clergyman, college president, author, was born in 1689 in Virginia. He was an episcopal clergyman of Virginia; and president of William and Mary college in 1752-55. He was the author of History of Virginia. He died Sept. 27, 1755, in Williamsburg, Va.

Stiver, Samuel Luther, educator, clergyman, lecturer, author, was born Nov. 1, 1848, in Potter's Mills, Pa. He has filled pastorates in various churches; and since 1882 has been proprietor and superintendent of the Bunker Hill military academy, Illinois. He has been editor of various publications, and has contributed extensively to current literature; and is the author of several educational works. He is a brilliant lecturer and educator; and is prominent in the political affairs of Macoupin county, Ill.

Stivers, Emmons B., lawyer, educator, state legislator, author. For a number of years he was actively engaged in school work, either as teacher, principal or superintendent. He was elected as a democrat from Brown county, Ohio, to the seventy-second general assembly of Ohio. He is the author of Outlines of United States History; and Recreations in School Studies.

Stivers, Mrs. Kazia Armington, vocalist, author, poet, was born July 10, 1840, in Weedsport, N.Y. She is the author of occasional short poems published in periodicals in New York and elsewhere. She sang soprano in the protestant episcopal cathedral of Rochester, N.Y.; and later sang soprano in the Roman catholic cathedral of San Antonio, Texas.

Stivers, Moses Dunning, manufacturer, journalist, congressman, was born Dec. 30, 1828, near Beemerville, N.J. In 1869-83 he was collector of United States internal revenue for the eleventh district of New York. In 1868 he became proprietor of the Orange County Press, then a weekly, and now a semi-weekly. He was one of the proprietors and editors of the Middletown Daily Press. He was president of the New York state press association in 1887. In 1889-91 he was a representative to the fifty-first congress as a republican. He died Feb. 8, 1895, in Middletown, N.Y.

St. John, Charles, merchant, congressman, was born Oct. 8, 1818, in Orange county, N.Y. He was a merchant and lumberman of Port Jervis, N.Y. In 1871-75 he was a representative from New York to the forty-second and forty-third congresses.

St. John, Daniel B., merchant, banker, state legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 8, 1808, in Sharon, Conn. In 1839 he was elected to the New York state legislature. In 1847-49 he was a representative from New York to the thirtieth congress. In 1849-55 he had charge of the bank department of New York. He died in New York.

St. John, Everitte, railroad president, was born Feb. 4, 1844, in Connecticut. He was the vice-president and general manager of the Seaboard airline of Norfolk, Va.; and was one of the most noted railroad men in America. In 1862 he entered railroad service as a clerk; and in 1863 became connected with the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway, of which he eventually became general manager. In 1891 he reorganized the General managers' association of Chicago, and was its permanent chairman until Jan. 1, 1895, when he took the office of vice-president of the seaboard line; and made it one of the leading railroads of the south. He died April 21, 1908, in Wellesley, Mass.

St. John, Henry, congressman, was born in New York. In 1843-47 he was a representative from Ohio to the twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth congresses. He died in Ohio.

St. John, Horace Henry Hensford, physician, surgeon, gynecologist, author, poet, was born Aug. 15, 1851, in London, England. He graduated from Barnes medical college of St. Louis, Mo.; and has received the degrees of Ph.D., L.S.A. and M.D. He has been general assistant to over fourteen different physicians in various parts of Great Britain; and in 1882 moved to San Francisco, Cal. He has been medical officer of health for Manti City and also for Richfield, Utah. He has attained success as a gynecologist, pediatricist, neurologist and obstetrician; and is now physician in charge of the Maplehurst sanitarium at Edina, Mo. He was postmaster under President Cleveland's administration; and is now justice of the peace for Center township, Knox county, Mo. He has attained note as a song and hymn composer; and is a constant contributor to religious and medical literature.

St. John, Isaac Munroe, soldier, journalist, civil engineer, was born Nov. 19, 1827, in Augusta, Ga. He entered the engineer corps of the confederate army at Richmond, Va.; and was promoted through the various grades to the rank of brigadier-general. He was city engineer of Louisville in 1870-71; made the first topographical map of that city; and established its system of sewerage. In 1871-80 he was consulting engineer of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad; and chief engineer of the Lexington and Big Sandy railroad. He died April 7, 1880, in Sulphur Springs, W.Va.

St. John, John Pierce, lawyer, governor, was born Feb. 25, 1833, in Brookville, Ind. He served as captain and lieutenant-colonel in the union army during the civil war. In 1872 he was elected to the Kansas state senate; and in 1879-83 was governor of the state of Kansas. In 1894 he was nominated for president of the United States on the prohibition ticket.

St. Martin, Louis, merchant, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1820 in Saint Charles parish, La. He was elected in 1846 to the legislature of Louisiana. He was appointed the same year register of the United States land office for the southeastern district of Louisiana; and was elected a second time to the legislature. In 1851-53 and 1885-87 he was a representative to the thirty-second and forty-ninth congresses as a democrat.

Stoaks, Charles E., educator, clergyman, author, was born May 17, 1859, in Friendsville, Ohio. He is a chalk talker and lecturer on all Chautauqua and lyceum platforms; and minister of the Cumberland presbyterian church. He is the author of Aaron Burr, or Kingdom of Silver; and Stoaks' School Grade System.

Stockard, Henry Jerome, educator, college president, author, was born Sept. 15, 1858, in Chatham county, N.C. In 1900-07 he was professor of Latin; and since 1907 has been president of Peace institute of Raleigh, N.C. He is the author of Fugitive Lines, poems; and A Story of Southern Poetry.

Stockard, Mrs. V. A. C., educator, college president, was born March 27, 1848, in Knox county, Mo. Her principal primary work was in the Richmond college, Missouri. For eight years she taught mathematics and French in the Central female college of Lexington, Mo.; and since 1884 has been president of the Cottey college of Nevada, Mo.

Stockbridge, Francis Brown, merchant, United States senator, was born April 9, 1826, in Bath, Maine. In 1850 he settled at Saugatuck, Mich. He served as a representative in the Michigan legislature in 1869; and was a state senator in 1871. In 1874 he moved to Kalamazoo. In 1887-93 he was United States senator. He died April 30, 1894, in Chicago, Ill.

Stockbridge, Henry, lawyer, journalist, jurist, congressman, was born Sept. 18, 1856, in Baltimore, Md. In 1887-89 he was on the editorial staff of the Baltimore American. In 1882 he was appointed an examiner in equity by the supreme bench of Baltimore city. In 1887-91 he was a representative to the fiftieth and fifty-first congresses as a republican. In 1891 he was appointed commissioner of emigration at the port of Baltimore; and in 1896 was elected associate judge of the supreme court of Baltimore City, Md. He died March 11, 1895, in Baltimore, Md.

Stockbridge, Horace Edward, educator, chemist, author, was born May 19, 1857, in Hadley, Mass. He has been professor of chemistry and geology at the Imperial college of agriculture and engineering of Japan; and chief chemist to the Japanese government. In 1897-1906 he was professor of agriculture at the Florida agricultural college; and superintendent of the Florida state agricultural institute. Since 1906 he has edited the Southern Ruralist. He is the author of Rocks and Soils.

Stockbridge, John Calvin, clergyman, educator, genealogist, was born June 14, 1818. He filled pastorates in Boston, Providence and Portland; and was principal of young ladies school in Providence. He was the author of Memorials of the Mauran Family. He died April 3, 1896, in Providence, R.I.

Stockbridge, Levi, agriculturist, was born March 13, 1820, in North Hadley, Mass. For twelve years he was a member of the state board of agriculture of Massachusetts. In 1867 he was called to a chair in the Massachusetts agricultural college of Amherst; and was president in 1880-82. He has conducted a series of investigations on the fertilization of crops; and his researches have chiefly appeared in the Annual Reports of the Massachusetts agricultural college. He died in 1904 in Amherst, Mass.

Stockdale, John Lark, educator, soldier, physician, surgeon, was born Aug. 12, 1831, in Edgefield, S.C. During 1845-49 he attended the Talladega male high school; from 1851-54 he attended the medical college of South Carolina; and subsequently attended the Augusta medical college and the university of Nashville, Tennessee. For many years he taught in the Talladega male high school; and during 1861-65 was a surgeon in the confederate states army, with rank of major. He has been registrar and master in chancery of the fourteenth district N. E. chancery division; president of the Clay county medical society; and is prominent in various other medical bodies.

Stockdale, Thomas Ringland, soldier, educator, congressman, jurist, was born in 1828 in Greene county, Pa. In 1887-95 he was a representative from Mississippi to the fiftieth, fifty-first, fifty-second and fifty-third congresses as a democrat. In 1896-97 he was a justice of the supreme court of Mississippi. He died Jan. 8, 1899, in Summit, Miss.

Stockham, Alice Bunker, physician, author, was born Nov. 8, 1833, in Cardington, Ohio. She is a prominent physician; and for twenty-five years traveled and lectured on health and temperance. She is the author of the well-known work entitled Tokology, which has been translated into several languages; and several other works.

Stockley, Charles C., banker, state senator, governor, was born Nov. 6, 1819, in Georgetown, Del. In 1873-77 he was a state senator and at the second session was speaker. He was president of the Breakwater and Frankford railroad; and president of the Farmers' bank of the state of Delaware. In 1883-87 he was the twenty-ninth governor of Delaware. He died in 1901 in Delaware.

Stockly, George Washington, manufacturer, was born Dec. 20, 1843, in Cleveland,

Ohio. In 1876 he called the attention of Charles F. Brush to the subject of illumination; and subsequently arranged with him to undertake the production of a system of electric arc lighting. The first Brush plant was made and tested in the factory and at the expense of the Telegraph supply company; and an arrangement was made whereby the company took active control of the business under the Brush patents, paying Mr. Brush a royalty. During the next fourteen years the Brush electric company, which succeeded the Telegraph supply company, with Mr. Stockly as president and manager, achieved immense success as pioneers of public electric lighting. He introduced the telephone in Ohio and built and operated the first telephone exchange in America.

Stockslager, Charles O., lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 8, 1847, in Harrison county, Ind. In 1876-87 he practiced law in Cherokee county, Kan.; and since 1887 in Idaho. In 1890-1900 he was judge of the fourth district of Idaho; and since 1900 has been associate justice of the supreme court of Idaho, serving as chief justice in 1905 and 1907.

Stockslager, Strother M., soldier, lawyer, journalist, state senator, congressman, was born May 7, 1842, in Mauckport, Ind. He served in the union army during the civil war. He was a state senator in 1874-78; and in 1884-85 he was a representative from Indiana to the forty-seventh and forty-eighth congresses as a democrat. In 1878-83 he was editor of the Corydon Democrat.

Stockton, Charles Herbert, lawyer, naval officer, college president, was born Oct. 13, 1845, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1886 he was promoted ensign; in 1892 he became commander; and in 1906 attained the rank of rear-admiral. In 1898-1900 he was president of the naval war college.

Stockton, Mrs. Cornelia M., educator, poet, was born June 29, 1835, in Wallkill, N. Y. In 1856 she taught at Glendale college of Ohio; then moved to Kansas, where she was regent of the state university at Lawrence. She is a noted writer of Kansas, and the author of a volume entitled Poems.

Stockton, Francis Richard, humorist, author, was born April 5, 1834, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was the author of Rudder Grange; The Rudder Grangers Abroad, and Other Stories; Pomona's Travels; and The Casting Away of Mrs. Locks and Mrs. Aleshine. His other works, which all display original inventive humor, are, Tales Out of School; The Ting-a-Ling Stories; Roundabout Rambles; What Might Have Been Expected; A Jolly Fellowship; The Floating Prince; The Story of Viteau; The Late Mrs. Null; The Lady or the Tiger? his most celebrated work; The Christmas Wreck, and Other Stories; The Hundredth Man; The Bee Man of Orn; The Dusantes; Amos Kilbright; Ardis Claverden; The Great War Syndicate; The Stories of the Three Burglars, The Merry Chauter; The House of Martha; Kobel Land; The Clocks of Rondaine; The Watchmaker's Wife; The Adventures of Captain Horn; A Chosen Few; Personally Conducted; A Story-Teller's Pack, a volume of short stories; Stories of New Jersey; Captain Chap, or the Rolling Stones. He died April 20, 1902, in Washington, D.C.

Stockton, John Drear, journalist, dramatist, was born April 26, 1836, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1873-77 he was dramatic and musical critic of the New York Herald. He wrote Fox and Geese, a comedy which ran one hundred nights in New York and other cities, and more than three hundred in London. He died Nov. 3, 1877, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Stockton, John N. C., legislator, banker, was born in 1860 in Gadsden county, Fla. For many years he has been the president of the national bank of Tampa; and the national bank of Florida. In 1897 he served as a member of the Florida state legislature.

Stockton, John Potter, lawyer, legislator, diplomat, United States senator, was born Aug. 2, 1826, in Princeton, N.J. During President Buchanan's administration he was United States minister to Rome. In 1865-67 and 1869-75 he was United States senator. In 1877 he was appointed attorney-general of the state of New Jersey; and has received the reappointment at the expiration of every term. He died Jan. 23, 1900, in Jersey City, N.J.

Stockton, John Potter, lawyer, journalist, author, was born Feb. 2, 1852, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is a successful lawyer of Jersey City, N.J., in partnership with his father, who was at one time attorney general of New Jersey. He is a member of the anthropological academy of New York; and a member of the society of psychological research of London. He is the author of Zaphira, a Story of Today.

Stockton, Joseph, soldier, business man, was born Aug. 10, 1833, in Pittsburgh, Pa. In 1851-62 he was connected with the American transportation company and the Fort Wayne railroad at Chicago, Ill. During the civil war he served as first lieutenant to lieutenant-colonel in the seventy-second regiment Illinois volunteer infantry; and was brevetted colonel and brigadier-general for meritorious services. In 1866 he became agent of the Empire transportation company. In 1869-93 he was a member of the board of commissioners of Lincoln park; was a leading spirit in securing the completion of the Grant memorial; and was chief of staff in many large parades in Chicago, Ill. He died in 1907.

Stockton, Lacon D., lawyer, jurist. In 1856-60 he was associate justice of the supreme court of Iowa. He died June 9, 1860.

Stockton, Louise, litterateur, author, was born in Philadelphia, Pa. She is a sister of the late Francis R. Stockton. She has been connected with the leading journals as editorial writer; and as a book editor and music critic. She is now president of West Philadelphia center university extension. She is the author of Dorothea; Apple Seeds and Briar Thorns; and Quaint Corners.

Stockton, Richard, signer of the declaration of independence, was born Oct. 1, 1730, near Princeton, N.J. He was appointed a judge, both under the provincial government and after the adoption of the constitution, being associate justice of the supreme court in 1774 and chief justice in 1776. In 1776-77 he was a delegate from New Jersey to the continental congress; and signed the declaration of independence. He died Feb. 28, 1781, in Princeton, N.J.

Stockton, Richard, lawyer, congressman, United States senator, was born April 17, 1764, near Princeton, N.J. In 1792 and 1800 he was a presidential elector; and in 1795-99 he was United States senator; and in 1813-15 he was a representative to the thirteenth congress. He died March 7, 1828, in Princeton, N.J.

Stockton, Robert Field, naval officer, United States senator, was born Aug. 20, 1795, in Princeton, N.J. He commanded the American squadron on the coast of Africa; and was one of the founders of the colony of Liberia. He was one of the first of our commanders to introduce and apply steam to naval purposes, the famous sloop-of-war Princeton having been built under his supervision.

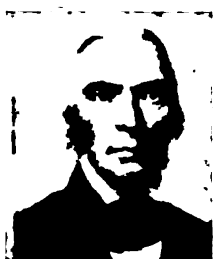

When war was declared with Mexico he was placed in command of the United States fleet in the Pacific; and performed the duties of commodore, general and governor. In 1851-53 he was United States senator. He was elected a delegate to the peace congress in 1861; and was president of the Delaware and Raritan canal company in 1857-66. He died Oct. 7, 1866, in Princeton, N.J.

Stockton, Thomas, soldier, governor. He was a captain in the third artillery in 1812; and was major of the forty-second infantry in 1814. He was the eighteenth governor of Delaware in 1844-46. He died March 2, 1846, in New Castle, Del.

Stockwell, Chester Twitchell, journalist, dentist, author, was born Sept. 5, 1841, in Royalston, Mass. He was educated in the common and high schools; and at the business college of Poughkeepsie, N.Y. In 1863-67 he was engaged in commercial pursuits; and for awhile was in newspaper work on the Iowa State Register and other publications. He studied medicine; in 1872-75 was in dental practice at Des Moines, Iowa; and since that time has been a successful dental surgeon of Springfield, Mass. He has been president and secretary of various professional societies. He has edited the New England Dental Journal and the Archives of Dentistry. He is the author of New Modes of Thoughts; The Evolution of Immortality; and numerous essays and articles on the Relation of Evolutionary Thought to Immortality, and on knidred subjects.

Stockton, Thomas Hewlings, clergyman, author, was born June 4, 1808, in Mt. Holly, N.J. He was a methodist preacher of Baltimore and Philadelphia; and chaplain to both houses of congress successively; and prominent in the affairs of his church.

He was the author of Floating Flowers From a Hidden Brook; Poems; Stand Up for Jesus, and Other Poems; and The Book Above All. He died Oct. 9, 1868, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Stockwell, John Nelson, astronomer, scientist, author, was born April 10, 1832, in Northampton, Mass. He is known for his original investigations in astronomy. He is the author of Memoir on the Secular Vibrations of the Planetary Orbits.

Stockwell, William Watson, farmer, lecturer, poet, was born Feb. 7, 1829, in Northampton, Mass. He is the author of Incidents in the Life of George W. Murray; and Songs and Poems.

Stoddard, A. H., farmer, poet. He is a farmer of Kalamazoo, Mich. He is the author of a volume entitled Miscellaneous Poems.

Stoddard, Amos, soldier, author, was born Oct. 26, 1762, in Woodbury, Conn. He was governor of Missouri territory in 1804-05; became a major in the army in 1807; and deputy quartermaster in 1812. He was the author of Sketches of Louisiana; and The Political Crisis. He died May 11, 1813, in Fort Meigs, Ohio.

Stoddard, Anthony, colonist, merchant, was born in 1606 in England. He arrived in Boston in 1638; and held all the local offices of that time. He was chosen annually representative to general court for twenty years, the longest on record. He died very wealthy in 1687. He is ancestor of the numerous family of that name in the United States. He died in Massachusetts.

Stoddard, Anthony, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 9, 1678, in Northampton, Mass. In 1702-60 he was minister at Woodbury, Conn. He was clerk of probate forty years; was the lawyer and physician of his people; and one of the most extensive farmers in the town. He was the author of Election Sermon. He died Sept. 6, 1760, in Woodbury, Conn.

Stoddard, Charles Augustus, clergyman, journalist, author, was born May 28, 1833, in Boston, Mass. During 1859-84 he was pastor Washington Heights presbyterian church of New York City. In 1873 he became proprietor of the New York Observer, of which he is also editor. He is the author of Across Russia; Spanish Cities; Beyond the Rockies; A Spring Journey in California; and Cruising Among the Caribbees.

Stoddard, Charles Warren, lecturer, author, poet, was born Aug. 7, 1843, in Rochester, N.Y. In 1864 he made a voyage to the Hawaiian Islands, where he passed much time; and was correspondent for the San Francisco Chronicle. In 1885-87 he was professor of English literature in university of Notre Dame, Ind.; and since 1889 has filled the same chair in the catholic university of Washington, D.C. He is the author of South Sea Idyls; Mashallah, a Flight into Egypt; The Lepers of Molokai; A Cruise Under the Crescent from Suez to San Marco; With Staff and Scrip; Under Italian Skies; Hither and Yon; The Wonder Worker of Padua; Over the Rocky Mountains to Alaska; The Island of Tranquil Delights; and The Confessions of a Reformed Poet.

Stoddard, David Tappan, clergyman, missionary, author, was born Dec. 2, 1818, in Northampton, Mass. In 1840 he was a tutor at Yale university; and for many years was a missionary to Persia. He was the author of Grammar in Modern Syrian Language. He died Jan. 22, 1857, in Persia.

Stoddard, Ebenezer, lawyer, lieutenant-governor, congressman, was born May 6, 1786, in West Woodstock, Conn. He was for several years a member of the Connecticut state legislature; and was lieutenant-governor of the state for one year. In 1821-25 he was a representative to the seventeenth and eighteenth congresses. He died Aug. 11, 1848, in Woodstock, Conn.

Stoddard, Mrs. Elizabeth Drew, author, poet, was born May 6, 1823, in Mattapoisett, Mass. She was the author of The Mergesons; Temple House; Two Men; Lolly Dink's Doings, a juvenile tale; and Poems. She died in 1902 in New York City.

Stoddard, Enoch Vine, soldier, physician, surgeon, author, was born July 10, 1840, in New London, Conn. Since 1865 he has practiced medicine in Rochester, N.Y. He was surgeon of the sixty-fifth regiment New York volunteers in 1863-64. He has been health commissioner of Rochester, N.Y.; and is emeritus professor of therapeutics and hygiene in the medical department of the university of Buffalo. He is the author of Bertrand Du Guesclin, His Life and Times; and contributions to medical and scientific periodicals.

Stoddard, Francis Hovey, educator, author, was born April 25, 1847, in Middlebury, Vt. He is professor of English literature in the New York university. He is the author of The Modern Novel; The Ideal in Literature; Psycho-Biography; Women in the English Universities; The Caedmon Poems; Conditions of Labor in England; Miracle Plays and Mysteries; Tolstoi and Matthew Arnold; The Uses of Rhetoric; Inductive Work in College Classes; Literary Spirit in the Colleges; The Study of the English Language; The Evolution of the English Novel; and Poems of National Spirit.

Stoddard, John, jurist, author, was born Feb. 11, 1681. He was for many years a member of the council of Massachusetts; chief justice of the court of common pleas; and colonel of militia. His Journal of an Expedition to Canada, 1713-14, was printed in the Genealogical Register in 1851. He died June 19, 1748, in Boston, Mass.

Stoddard, John F., educator, author, was born July 20, 1825, in Greenfield, N.Y. He was eminently successful as an instructor of mathematics and in his efforts to promote normal schools; and left a fund to Rochester university for a gold medal to be awarded to the best student in mathematics. He was the author of Practical Arithmetic, Philosophical Arithmetic, University Algebra, and School Arithmetic. He died Aug. 6, 1873, in Kearney, N.J.

Stoddard, John Lawson, lecturer, author, was born April 24, 1850, in Brookline, Mass. He is a stereopticon lecturer. He is the author of Red Letter Days Abroad; Napoleon from Corsica to St. Helena; Glimpses of the World, a Portfolio of Photographs; and Stoddard Lectures on Travel Abroad and in America, in ten volumes.

Stoddard, John Potter, lawyer, diplomat, United States senator, was born Aug. 2, 1826, in Princeton, N.J. In 1857-61 he was United States minister to Rome, Italy. In 1865 he was chosen United States senator from New Jersey; was subsequently unseated; and in 1869 was elected for term ending in 1875. In 1877 he was appointed attorney-general of New Jersey; and was chosen again in 1882 and in 1887.

Stoddard, John Tappan, educator, chemist, author, was born Oct. 20, 1852, in Northampton, Mass. In 1874 he graduated; and in 1875-76 was a student of chemistry and physics at Amhurst college. He also studied in Göttingen, where he received the degrees of A.M. and Ph.D. In 1874-75 he was an assistant principal of the Northampton high school. In 1878-81 he was professor of physics and mathematics; in 1881-97 was professor of chemistry and physics; and since 1891 has been professor of chemistry at Smith college. He is the author of Outlying Quali- tative Analysis; Lecture Notes on General Chemistry, in two volumes; and is a contributor of scientific articles and reviews to magazines.

Stoddard, Joshua C., inventor, poet, was born Aug. 26, 1814, in Pawlet, Vt. He turned his attention to inventing; and in 1856 devised the steam-calliope, which is used on Mississippi steamers. He also invented the Stoddard horse-rake and hay-tedder. He was the author of a volume of poems. He died May 10, 1902, in Springfield, Mass.

Stoddard, Nathan, soldier, was born in 1742 in Woodbury, N.J. He saw service at Ticonderoga. He was made captain of the eighth regiment of Connecticut line in 1777, and was engaged with the enemy at Danbury, Peekskill and Germantown. At the siege of Fort Mifflin, all the superior officers having been killed or disabled, Stoddard assumed the desperate command, and was killed by a cannon shot which severed his head from his body, Nov. 15, 1777.

Stoddard, Richard Henry, journalist, author, poet, was born July 2, 1825, in Hingham, Mass. In 1874-75 he was city librarian of New York.

He has been literary editor of The Mail and Express since 1880. He edited the Bric-a-Brac Series and other volumes, while his own writings include Poems; Adventures in Fairy Land; Footprints; Life of Humboldt; Songs of Summer; The King's Bell; The Book of the East; Abraham Lincoln; a Horatian Ode, Putnam the Brave; A Century After; Life of Washington Irving; The Lion's Cub, with Other Verse; and Under the Evening Lamp, a collection of essays on literary topics. He died May 12, 1903, in New York City.

Stoddard, Richard Cross, lawyer, public official, was born Sept. 3, 1876, in Reno, Nevada. He was educated in the public high schools of his native city; and at the university of Nevada. He soon attained success in the practice of law, and in 1905-06 was city attorney of Reno, Nevada. He is now attorney-general for the state of Nevada for the term of 1907-11.

Stoddard, Solomon, clergyman, author, was born in 1643 in Boston, Mass. He was a congregational clergyman; and pastor at Northampton in 1672-1729. He was the author of Appeal to the Learned; Guide to Christ; Safety in the Righteousness of Christ; and Doctrine of Instituted Churches Explained, a reply to Increase Mather's Order of the Gospel, and one which occasioned much exciting controversy. He was a son of Anthony Stoddard, the emigrant. He died Feb. 11, 1729, in Northampton, Mass.

Stoddard, Solomon, educator, author, was born in 1800 in Northampton, Mass. He became professor of languages at Middlebury college, Vermont. He was co-author with Ethan Allen Andrews of a Grammar of the Latin Language, which was at one time almost universally used in America; and had passed through sixty-five editions. He died Nov. 11, 1847, in Northampton, Mass.

Stoddard, William Osborn, journalist, inventor, author, was born Sept. 24, 1835, in Homer, N.Y. In 1857-60 he was engaged as a journalist and farmer in Chicago and Champaign, Ill. In 1861 he served in the civil war. He was private secretary to President Lincoln. In 1864-66 he was United States marshal of Arkansas. Since 1866 he has been in journalism and business pursuits in New York as an inventor; and has held office under the city government. He is the author of Little Smoke; The Windfall; Esau Hardery; Dab Kinzer; Saltillo Boys; Wrecked; Verses of Many Days; The Heart of It; The White Cave, an Australian Story; The Red Mustang; Two Arrows; Among the Lakes; The Quartet; Winter Fun; Men of Business; The Talking Leaves; The Volcano Under the City, a story of the draft riots in New York; Lives of the Presidents; Gid Granger; Chuck Purdy; Lincoln at Work; Ahead of the Army; Dan Monroe; and Two Cadets with Washington.

Stoddard, John T., soldier, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1790 in Charles county, Md. In 1810 he graduated from Princeton college. He served in the war of 1812. He was a member of the Maryland state house of representatives. In 1833-35 he was a representative from Maryland to the twenty-third congress. He died July 10, 1870, in Charles county, Md.

Stoddert, Benjamin, soldier, merchant, cabinet officer, was born in 1751 in Charles county, Md. He served as a major during the revolution; and was for many years extensively engaged in mercantile pursuits in Georgetown, D.C. In 1798-1801 he was secretary of the navy. He died Dec. 18, 1813, in Bladensburg, Md.

Stoeckel, Gustave Jacob, musician, educator, composer, was born Nov. 9, 1819, in Germany. In 1849 he became an instructor in music at Yale; and organist of the college chapel. He was the author of a collection of sacred music for mixed voices, and College Hymn Book for male voices, besides compositions for the piano, songs and overtures and symphonies for orchestra. He died May 17, 1907, in New Haven, Conn.

Stoever, Martin Luther, educator, author, was born Feb. 17, 1820, in Germantown, Pa. He was a professor in the college at Gettysburg in 1840-70. He was the author of Brief Sketch of the Lutheran Church in the United States; and Life and Times of Henry Muhlenberg. He died July 22, 1870, in Germantown, Pa.

Stokely, Samuel, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born in Ohio. He served in the Ohio state legislature. In 1841-43 he was a representative from Ohio to the twenty-seventh congress. He died in Ohio.

Stokes, Anson Phelps, banker author, was born Feb. 22, 1838, in New York City. In 1900 he was president of the national association of anti-imperialist club. He is the author of Joint Metalism; Cruising in the West Indies; and Cruising in the Caribbean with a Camera.

Stokes, Charles Francis, educator, physician, surgeon, was born Feb. 20, 1863, in Brooklyn, N.Y. He was educated at the Adelphi academy and polytechnic collegiate institute and Columbia university of New York City. In 1884-85 he was house surgeon at the Bellevue hospital of New York City; in 1885-86 at the Gouveneur hospital; and in 1886-89 was visiting surgeon to the New York hospital. In 1889-1903 he was surgeon in the United States navy. Since 1903 he has filled the chair of military surgery in the United States medical school; and is now connected with the United States naval hospital at San Juan, Porto Rico.

Stokes, Edward Caspar, banker, governor, was born Dec. 22, 1860, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was educated in the public schools of Millville, N.J.; at the Friends' school of Providence, R.I.; and received the degree of A.B. from Brown university. Since 1883 he has been engaged in banking; and is president of the Mechanics' national bank of Trenton, N.J. In 1889-98 he was city superintendent of public schools of Millville, N.J. In 1891-92 he was a member of the New Jersey assembly; in 1892-1901 was a member of the state senate, being president of the senate in 1895; in 1900 was vice-chairman of the state republican committee; and in 1901-05 was clerk of the court of chancery. In 1905-08 he was governor of the state of New Jersey.

Stokes, Frank Wilbert, artist, lecturer, author, was born in Nashville, Tenn. In 1893-94 he was the artist member of the Peary North Greenfield expedition; and in 1900 joined as artist with the Swedish antarctic expedition.

Stokes, Frederick Abbot, editor, publisher, author, was born Nov. 4, 1857, in Brooklyn, N.Y. In 1879 he graduated from Yale university. He is president of the Frederick A. Stokes company, publishers of New York City. In 1898-1901 he was editor of the Pocket Magazine. He is the author of College Tramps; and is the editor of The Poems of Charles Dickens; and of other works.

Stokes, Henry Bolter, insurance president, capitalist, was born Dec. 23, 1847, in New York City. He was educated at Mount Pleasant academy and at Columbia grammar school. His father, Henry Stokes, was president of the Manhattan Life insurance company in 1861-88; and the son became connected with the clerical department in his boyhood. In 1889 he became vice-president; and in 1890 president of the Manhattan Life insurance company. He died in January, 1914.

Stokes, Henry Newlin, chemist, educator, was born Oct. 24, 1859, in Moorestown, N.J. In 1889 he became assistant chemist in the United States geological survey. In 1892 he was appointed assistant professor of general and inorganic chemistry in the university of Chicago; and in 1894-1903 to the United States geological survey. In 1903 he was appointed chemist in the bureau of standards.

Stokes, James, banker, director, was born in 1852 in New York City. He was engaged in the banking business in New York City. He is director of the Manhattan life insurance company; and director of the United States electric light and power company.

Stokes, James Hughes, soldier, was born in 1814 in Baltimore, Md. He aided in the equipment of volunteers; and joined the army as captain, served in Tennessee, and afterward as assistant adjutant-general. He was made a brigadier-general in 1865. He died Dec. 27, 1890, in New York City.

Stokes, James William, agriculturist, congressman, was born Dec. 12, 1853, in Orangeburg county, S.C. He was president of the state farmers' alliance two terms; was elected to the South Carolina state senate in 1890; was a delegate at large to the national democratic convention at Chicago in 1892, and was presidential elector the same year. He received the certificate of election to the fifty-fourth congress, but the seat was declared vacant. In 1895-1901 he was a representative to the fifty-fourth, fifty-fifth and fifty-sixth congresses. He died July 6, 1901, in Orangeburg, S.C.

Stokes, John, soldier, lawyer, jurist. He was a native of North Carolina. He served as a colonel in the revolution; and in 1790 was appointed judge of the United States district court for North Carolina. He died in October, 1790, in Lafayetteville, N.C.

Stokes, John P., state representative of Florida, was born Nov. 30, 1886, in Pensacola, Fla. He was educated in the city schools; studied law; and attained success at the bar. He has been circuit court commissioner and United States commissioner; and was special council for the United States in the Jackson lumber company peonage cases. He is a state representative in the Florida legislature from Escambia county for the term of 1908-11, has been speaker pro tem; and resides in Pensacola, Fla.

Stokes, Montford, governor, United States senator, was born in 1760 in Wilkes county, N.C. In 1815-23 he was United States senator. In 1826 he went into the general assembly of North Carolina as state senator; and in 1829-30 was a member of the commons. In 1830 he was the eighteenth governor of North Carolina. He died in 1842 in Arkansas.

Stokes, William Brickley, soldier, agriculturist, state senator, congressman, was born Sept. 9, 1814, in Cheatham county, N.C. He served two terms as a representative of the Tennessee legislature; and one term as a senator. During the civil war he served as a colonel in the union army. In 1859-61 and 1865-71 he was a representative from Tennessee to the thirty-sixth, thirty-ninth, fortieth and forty-first congresses as a republican. In 1869 he was republican candidate for governor of Tennessee. He died March 20, 1897, in Liberty, Tenn.

Stolberg, Peter H., lawyer, was born Dec. 7, 1848, in Sweden. In 1868 he emigrated to America; and has since attained success as an able lawyer of Harris, Minn. He has served as receiver in the United States land office of Taylor's Falls, Minn.; and has been county attorney for eight years.

Stolbrand, Carlos John Mueller, soldier, inventor, was born May 11, 1821, in Sweden. He participated in the campaign of Atlanta and the march to the sea; and in 1865 was promoted to brigadier-general of volunteers. He made various improvements in steam engines and steam boilers. He died Feb. 3, 1894, in Charleston, S.C.

Stolz, Joseph, rabbi, author, was born Nov. 3, 1861, in Syracuse, N.Y. Since 1887 he has been rabbi of Isaiah temple at Chicago, Ill. In 1900-06 he was a member of the Chicago board of education; and president of the central conference of American rabbis. He is the author of Funeral Agenda of Jews.

Stone, Alfred, designer, architect, was born July 29, 1834, in East Machias, Maine. He designed many of the most important public buildings, business blocks and private residences of Providence, R.I., including the public library and court house; and was secretary of the American institute of architects. He was president of the Rhode Island chapter of the American institute of architects. He died Sept. 6, 1908, in Peterboro, N.H.

Stone, Alfred Holt, planter, author, was born Oct. 16, 1870, in New Orleans, La. Since 1893 he has been engaged as a cotton planter. He is the author of Studies in the American Race Problem.

Stone, Alfred P., merchant, congressman. He was treasurer of the state of Ohio. In 1843-45 he was a representative from Ohio to the twenty-eighth congress; and was appointed by President Lincoln a collector of internal revenue. He died Aug. 2, 1865, in Columbus, Ohio.

Stone, Amasa, philanthropist, was born April 27, 1818, in Charlton, Mass.. He gave large sums in charity to the city of Cleveland. He built and endowed the home for aged women and the industrial school for children; and gave six hundred thousand dollars to Adelbert college of Western Reserve university. He died May 11, 1883, in Cleveland, Ohio.

Stone, Andrew Leete, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 25, 1815, in Oxford, Conn. In 1866-92 he was pastor of the Park street church of San Francisco, Cal. He was the author of Service the End of Living; Ashton's Mothers; Memorial Discourses; and Leaves from a Finished Pastorate. He died Jan. 17, 1892, in San Francisco, Cal.

Stone, Barton Warren, journalist, clergyman reformer, was born Dec. 24, 1772, in Port Tobacco, Md. He was one of the founders of the Christian church; and established churches in Ohio, Kentucky and Tennessee. In 1834 he edited the Christian Messenger. He died Nov. 9, 1844, in Hannibal, Mo.

Stone, Charles W., lawyer, state senator, lieutenant-governor, congressman, was born June 29, 1843, in Groton, Mass. He was educated at Williams college. In 1865 he was appointed county superintendent of schools of Warren county, Pa.; was a member of the Pennsylvania house of representatives in 1870-71; and was a member of the Pennsylvania state senate in 1877-78. He was lieutenant-governor in 1879-83; and was appointed secretary of the commonwealth in 1887. In 1890-99 he was a representative to the fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third, fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses as a republican. He died Aug. 15, 1912.

Stone, Charles Wellington, educator, author, was born Dec. 13, 1853, in Templeton, Mass. In 1879 he established the school preparatory for Harvard; and is now principal of the Stone school of Beacon street, Boston, Mass. In 1890-97 he was secretary of the Handel and Hayden society; and president of the Stone Families of America. He is the author of Needles of Pine; of various textbooks privately printed for the Stone school, and of various addresses on historical and genealogical subjects.

Stone, Claudius Ulysses, congressman, was born in Menard county, Ill., May 11, 1879. He served as a corporal in Company K, fourth Illinois volunteer infantry, for twelve months during the Spanish-American war, four months of the time being spent in Cuba. In 1911-15 he was a representative from Illinois to the sixty-second and sixty-third congresses.

Stone, Collins, clergyman and educator, was born Sept. 7, 1812, in Guilford, Conn. In 1852-63 he was principal to the Ohio state asylum for the deaf and dumb at Columbus; and in 1863-70 was in charge of the asylum at Hartford. He died Dec. 32, 1870, in Hartford, Conn.

Stone, David, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, governor, was born Feb. 17, 1770, in Hope, N.C. He was for four years in the state legislature; and was a judge of the supreme court of North Carolina in 1795-98. In 1799-1801 he was a representative to the sixth congress; and in 1801-07 and 1813-15 he was United States senator. He was the eighth governor of North Carolina in 1808-10. He died Oct. 7, 1818, in Raleigh, N.C.

Stone, David Marvin, journalist, author, was born Dec. 23, 1817, in Oxford, Conn. He was editor of the New York Journal of Commerce in 1849-53. He was the author of Frank Forrest which passed into twenty editions. He died April 2, 1895, in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Stone, Eben F., soldier, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1822 in Newburyport, Mass. He served terms in each branch of the state legislature. He served in the union army during the civil war in command of a regiment. In 1881-87 he was a representative from Massachusetts to the forty-seventh, forty-eighth and forty-ninth congresses as a republican. He died Jan. 21, 1895, in Newburyport, Mass.

Stone, Ebenezer Whitten, soldier, author, was born June 10, 1801, in Boston, Mass. He was an adjutant-general of the Massachusetts militia in 1851-80. He was the author of Digest of Massachusetts Militia Laws; Compend of Instructions in Military Tactics; and Manual of Percussion Aim. He died April 18, 1880, in Roxbury, Mass.

Stone, Edwin Martin, clergyman, author, was born April 29, 1805, in Framingham, Mass. In 1847 he took charge of the ministry-at-large in Providence, R.I.; devoting himself for thirty years to mission work. He was the author of Life of Elhanan Winchester; History of Barre, Massachusetts, 1630-1842; The Invasion of Canada in 1775; and Our French Allies in the Revolution. He died Dec. 15, 1883, in Providence, R.I.

Stone, Edwin Winchester, soldier, author, was born in 1835 in Massachusetts. He was a soldier in the federal army during the civil war. He was the war correspondent of the Providence Journal. He was the author of Rhode Island in the Rebellion. He died in 1878 in Providence, R.I.

Stone, Ellen Maria, educator, missionary, author, was born July 24, 1846, in Roxbury, Mass. In 1878 she became a missionary in Bulgaria. In 1901 she was kidnapped by brigands, and a ransom of one hundred and ten thousand dollars demanded. A public subscription of sixty-five thousand dollars was raised in the United States; and she was released after nearly six months of captivity. She is the author of Six Months Among Brigands.

Stone, Frederick, lawyer, jurist, legislator, congressman, was born Feb. 7, 1820, near Alexandria, Va. In 1864 and 1871 he was a member of the Maryland state legislature. In 1867-71 he was a representative from Maryland to the fortieth and forty-first congresses as a democrat. In 1881 he was elected chief judge of Seventh judicial district. He died Oct. 17, 1899, near La Plata, Md.

Stone, Frederick Dawson, soldier, librarian, was born April 8, 1841, in Philadelphia, Pa. He served in the civil war as a private soldier; and participated in the Gettysburg campaign. In 1876-97 he was librarian of the Pennsylvania historical society. He was the author of The Founding of Pennsylvania; and the Federal Constitution. He died Aug. 12, 1897, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Stone, George Augustus, soldier, was born in New York. In 1861 he was first lieutenant in the first regiment in the Iowa infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died May 26, 1901.

Stone, George Edward, educator, botanist, was born Sept. 6, 1860, in Leicester, Mass. He was educated in the public schools of Massachusetts; received the degree of B.S. from the Massachusetts agricultural college; and was a student at the Massachusetts institute of technology and at the university of Leipzig where he received the degree of Ph.D. Since 1893 he has been professor of botany in the Massachusetts agricultural college; and is botanist to the Massachusetts board of agriculture. He is a fellow of the American association for the advancement of science; a member of the Society of the American naturalists; a member of the Botanical society of America; and a member of several other societies.

Stone, George Hapwood, educator, geologist, author, was born Nov. 22, 1841, in New York City. For several years he was professor of geology at the Colorado college; and was assistant mining geologist in the United States geological survey. He is the author of Wonder Mountain.

Stone, George N., soldier, capitalist, was born July 17, 1840, in Stark, N.H. He served in the civil war; and for services at the battle of Fredericksburg he was made first lieutenant, and on the following May became captain. He became president of the Chester park driving association. He was president of the Cincinnati bell telephone company. He died March 8, 1901, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Stone, George W., lawyer, jurist. He was chief justice of the supreme court of Alabama. He died March 11, 1894, in Montgomery, Ala.

Stone, Gustavus, manufacturer, was born Aug. 24, 1820, in Canton, Mass. He was educated in the public schools and at the academy in the place of his nativity. In 1839 with his father he moved west and settled on a farm near Belvidere, Ill. In 1848 he moved to Beloit, Wis.; and the following year began the manufacture of grain harvesting machinery under the firm name of Parker and Stone. In 1878 he began the manufacture and sale of the Appleby twine binder; and introduced for the first time in the world the successful use of twine for binding grain in competition with wire binders. In 1886 he retired from active business pursuits. He died in 1902 in Beloit, Wis.

Stone, Herbert Stuart, journalist, author, was born May 29, 1871, in Chicago, Ill. He is the editor and owner of The Cnap Book; and was the founder of the publishing house of Herbert S. Stone and Company of Chicago. He is the author of First Editions of American Authors.

Stone, I. Frank, business president, was born March 2, 1867, in Chicago, Ill. Since 1906 he has been president of the National Aniline and Chemical company; he is vice-president of the Schoellkopf, Hartford and Hanna company; and a director of the Contact Process company. He is a member of the New York chamber of commerce, college of pharmacy and various other institutions.

Stone, James Kent, clergyman, college president, missionary, author, was born in 1840 in Boston, Mass. He is a Roman catholic clergyman of the order of Passionists; and known as Father Fidelis. He was formerly an episcopal clergyman and president of Hobart college. He is now a missionary in South America.

Stone, James Samuel, clergyman, author, was born April 27, 1852, in England. He is episcopal clergyman of St. James church, Chicago. He is the author of Simple Sermons on Simple Subjects; The Heart of Merrie England; Readings in Church History; and Woods and Dales of Derbyshire.

Stone, James W., congressman, was born in 1813 in Taylorsville, Ky. In 1843-45 and 1851-53 he was a representative from Kentucky to the twenty-eighth and thirty-second congresses. He died Oct. 13, 1854, in Taylorsville, Ky.

Stone, John Augustus, dramatist, actor, author, was born in 1801 in Concord, Mass. He is best remembered by Metamora, a play written for Edwin Forrest, for whom he also wrote The Ancient Briton; and Fauntleroy. Other dramas by him are, Tancred; The Demoniac; and La Roque. He died June 1, 1834, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Stone, John Hoskins, soldier, governor, was born in 1745 in Charles county, Md. He was the fourth governor of Maryland in 1794-97. He died Oct. 5, 1804, in Annapolis, Md.

Stone, John Osgood, physician, surgeon, author, was born Feb. 1, 1813, in Salem, Mass. For many years he was a surgeon at Bellevue hospital of New York City; and was president of the first metropolitan board of health. He was the author of many surgical papers. He died June 7, 1876, in New York City.

Stone, John Marshall, farmer, soldier, legislator, governor, was born April 30, 1830, in Gibson county, Tenn. During the civil war he commanded a regiment of infantry in the confederate army; and served four years in the army of northern Virginia. In 1870-1876 he was a state senator in the Mississippi legislature. He was the twenty-fifth governor of Mississippi in 1876-82 and 1890-96. In 1884-85 he was railroad commissioner. He died March 26, 1900, in Holly Springs, Miss.

Stone, John Seeley, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 7, 1795, in Great Barrington, Mass. He was an episcopal clergyman of Cambridge; and dean of the Episcopal theological school there in 1867-72. He was the author of The Living Temple; The Christian Sacraments; Sermons; Memoir of Bishop Griswold; The Christian Sabbath; and The Contrast, or the Evangelical and Tractarian Systems Compared. He died Jan. 13, 1882, in Cambridge, Mass.

Stone, John W., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born July 18, 1838, in Wadsworth, Ohio. He practiced law in Grand Rapids, Mich. In 1877-81 he was a representative from Michigan to the forty-fifth and forty-sixth congresses as a republican. He died in 1901 in Grand Rapids, Mich.

Stone, Joseph C., soldier, physician, congressman, was born July 30, 1829, in Westport, N.Y. He enlisted as a private in the first Iowa cavalry in 1861; and became an assistant adjutant-general. He resumed the practice of medicine after the civil war in Burlington, Iowa. In 1877-79 he was a representative from Iowa to the forty-fifth congress.

Stone, Lucy, reformer, was born in 1818. In 1847 she began the modern woman's rights movement by a series of lectures, beginning with one given in her brother's church in Gardner, Mass. In 1858 she married for her second husband Mr. Henry B. Blackwell of Boston, Mass. She died Oct. 18, 1893, in Dorchester, Mass.

Stone, Mrs. Margaret Manson Barbour, educator, author, was born Feb. 27, 1841, in St. Louis, Mo. In 1885 she was president and originator of the modern novel club. She is the author of The Problem of Domestic Service; To Reading Clubs; and One of Berrain's Novels.

Stone, Melville Elijah, journalist, was born Aug. 22, 1848, in Hudson, Ill. In 1867 he graduated from the high school. He was owner of a foundry and machine shop in 1869; city editor Chicago Inter-Ocean in 1872; and in 1873 managing editor Chicago Post and Mail. He published the first number of the Chicago Daily News on Christmas day of 1875. This publication, under his able management, has become one of the foremost newspapers in America. During 1895-98 he was president Globe national bank; and in 1893 became general manager of the Associated Press.

Stone, Michael Jenifer, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born about 1750 in Charles county, Md. In 1789-91 he was a representative from Maryland to the first congress. He was subsequently for many years judge of the Charles county court. He died in 1812 in Charles county, Md.

Stone, Ormond, educator, astronomer, author, was born Jan. 11, 1847, in Pekin, Ill. He was educated in the public and high schools and at the university of Chicago where he received the degree of A.M. In 1870-75 he was an assistant in the United States naval observatory of Washington, D.C. In 1882 he was called to the chair of practical astronomy in the university of Virginia, with care of the Leander McCormick observatory, which positions he still fills. Since 1883 he has edited The Annals of Mathematics, which he founded. He has made noteworthy observations of double stars; nebulae and the satellites of Saturn.

Stone, Roy, soldier, engineer, was born in 1836 in New York. In 1861 he was a major in the thirteenth Pennsylvania regiment; in 1864 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers for services during the civil war; and in 1898 was honorably discharged with the rank of brigadier-general. He died Aug. 6, 1905, in Mendham, N.J.

Stone, Samuel, clergyman, author, was born July 30, 1602, in England. He was a clergyman of Hartford, Conn.; and was distinguished as a controversialist and was celebrated for his wit and humor. He was the author of A Congregational Church Is a Catholic Visible Church, and he left two works in manuscript. He died July 20, 1663, in Hartford, Conn.

Stone, Thomas, signer of the declaration of independence, was born in 1743 in Charles county, Md. In 1775-79 and 1784-85 he was a delegate from Maryland to the continental congress. He was a signer of the declaration of independence; and in 1778 was chosen to the Maryland legislature. He died Oct. 5, 1787, in Alexandria, Va.

Stone, Thomas Treadwell, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 9, 1801, in Waterford, Maine. He was a unitarian clergyman of Boston, Mass. He was the author of Sermons on War; Sermons; The Rod and Staff; and Sketches of Oxford County, Maine. He died Nov. 13, 1895, in Boston, Mass.

Stone, Warren, physician, surgeon, was born in February, 1808, in St. Albans, Vt. He began teaching anatomy in 1836; in 1837 was appointed professor of that branch in the university of Louisiana. He afterward accepted the chair of surgery, which he held till his death. He died Dec. 6, 1872, in Baton Rouge, La.

Stone, Warren, soldier, physician, was born in 1843 in New Orleans, La. In 1873 he made what is thought to be the first recorded cure of traumatic aneurism of the subclavian artery by digital pressure. He gave his services to the people of Brunswick, Ga., during the prevalence of yellow fever in 1874 and in 1878. He died Jan. 3, 1883, in New Orleans, La.

Stone, Wilbur Fisk, lawyer, jurist, was born in December, 1833, in Litchfield, Conn. For many years he taught school in Indiana; studied law and for a year was the editor-in-chief of the Daily Enquirer of Evansville, Ind. In 1859 he moved to Omaha; in 1860 to Denver; and in 1861 was chosen a representative from Park county to the state legislature. In 1862-68 he was assistant United States district attorney; and in 1877 was elected to the supreme bench of Colorado. He has contributed valuable articles to current literature.

Stone, William, governor, was born in 1603, in England. In 1648-53 he was governor of Maryland. He died about 1695 in Charles county, Md.

Stone, William, congressman, was born in Delphi, Tenn. In 1837-39 he was a representative from Tennessee to the twenty-fifth congress. He died in Tennessee.

Stone, William Alexis, soldier, lawyer, congressman, governor, was born April 18, 1846, in Tioga county, Pa. He has practiced law at Wellsboro and Pittsburg since his admission to the bar, and has been district attorney of Tioga county and United States attorney for the western district of Pennsylvania. In 1891-99 he was a representative to the fifty-second, fifty-third, fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses as a republican. In 1899-1903 he was the twenty-second governor of Pennsylvania.

Stone, William H., manufacturer, congressman, was born Nov. 7, 1828, in Shawangunk, N.Y. He was president of the St. Louis hot-pressed nut and bolt company. He was a member of the assembly, and of the St. Louis board of water commissioners. In 1873-77 he was a representative from Missouri to the forty-third and forty-fourth congresses as a democrat. He died in 1901, in St. Louis, Mo.

Stone, William Joel, farmer, lawyer, congressman, governor, United States senator, was born May 7, 1848, in Madison county, Ky. In 1873-74 he was prosecuting attorney of Vernon county, Mo.; and was elector on the Tilden and Hendricks ticket in 1876. In 1885-91 he was a representative to the forty-ninth, fiftieth and fifty-first congresses as a democrat. He was the twenty-fourth governor of Missouri in 1893-97. In 1903 he became a member of the United States senate for the terms ending in 1913.

Stone, William Johnson, soldier, state legislator, congressman, was born June 26, 1841, in Lyon county, Ky. In 1867 he was elected a representative in the Kentucky state legislature; was again elected to the assembly in 1875, and was chosen speaker of the house. In 1883 he was for the third time elected a member of the legislature. In 1885-93 he was a representative from Kentucky to the forty-ninth, fiftieth, fifty-first, fifty-second and fifty-third congresses.

Stone, William Leete, journalist, author, was born April 20, 1792, in New Paltz, N.Y. He was a journalist of prominence in New York City; and the first superintendent of public schools there. He was the author of History of the Albany Constitutional Convention of 1821; Tales and Sketches; Matthias and his Impostures, Maria Monk and the Nunnery of the Hotel Dieu; Ups and Downs of a Distressed Gentleman, a social satire; Letters on Animal Magnetism; Poetry and History of Wyoming; Lives of Brant, Red Jacket; and Letters on Masonry. He died Aug. 15, 1844, in Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

Stone, William Leete, lawyer, genealogist, author, was born April 4, 1835, in New York City. He is a lawyer and historical writer of Jersey City. He is the author of History of New York City; Life of Sir William Johnson; Burgoyne's Campaigns; Life and Military Journals of General Riedesel; Reminiscences of Saratoga and Ballston; Life of William Leete Stone; Visits to Saratoga Battle Grounds; Ballads of the Burgoyne Campaign; St. John Johnson's Orderly Book; Historical Guide Book to Saratoga Springs and Vicinity; The Starin Genealogy; and The Stone Genealogy.

Stone, William M., governor. He was the sixth governor of Iowa in 1864-68. He died in Ohio.

Stone, William Milo, soldier, was born in New York. In 1861 he was captain in the third regiment Iowa infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died July 18, 1893.

Stone, William Murray, clergyman, bishop, was born June 1, 1770, in Somerset county, Md. In 1830 he was elected the third protestant episcopal bishop of Maryland. He died Feb. 26, 1838, in Maryland.

Stone, William Oliver, painter, artist, was born Sept. 26, 1830, in Derby, Conn. Among his numerous portraits are those of Bishops Williams of Connecticut; Littlejohn of Rhode Island, and Kip of California; John W. Ebinger (1859), owned by the National academy; Rev. Henry Anthony; Cyrus W. Field; and James Gordon Bennett. He died Sept. 15, 1875, in Newport, R.I.

Stone, Winthrop Ellsworth, educator, chemist, college president, was born June 12, 1862, in Chesterfield, N.H. He has been professor of chemistry in 1889-1900 at Purdue university; and since 1900 he has been president of that institution.

Stone, Witmer, naturalist, author, was born Sept. 22, 1866, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is curator of the museum of the academy of natural science of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Birds of Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey; Report on Birds of Yucatan and Southern Mexico; and The Molting of Birds.

Stoneman, George, soldier, governor was born Aug. 8, 1822, in Busti, N.Y. In 1846 he graduated from the United States military academy, and was brevetted major-general, and retired from the army in 1871. In 1865 he was general in charge at the battle of Salisbury. He has since lived in California, of which state he was governor during 1883-87. During his administration the California state tax rate was lower than it had ever been in the history of that state. He was a brilliant orator; and has filled all the local offices in the gift of his state. He died Sept. 5, 1894, in Buffalo, N.Y.

Stoney, Emily Armstrong, educator, nurse, author, was born Oct. 27, 1868, in Manchester, England. For many years she was superintendent of the training school of South Boston, Mass.; and is now head nurse at the Mercy hospital of Chicago, Ill. She attained success as superintendent and organizer of nurses' training schools. She was the author of Practical Points in Nursing for Nurses in Private Practice. She died about 1898, in Chicago, Ill.

Stoors, Lewis A., lawyer, author, was born Aug. 28, 1866, in Hartford, Conn. In 1891-98 he practiced law in New York City; and since 1898 has practiced his profession in Hartford, Conn. He is the author of Kohleth; and Tragedy of Saul.

Stokey, Lyman, Brumbaugh, physiologist, scientist, was born July 30, 1878, in Bellville, Ill. He received the degrees of A.B. and Ph.D. from Yale university; and was a student at the university of Strassburg. In 1902-04 he was an associate in physiology in the New York state pathological institute; and since 1905 has been professor of physiology at the university of southern California. Since 1905 he has been an American contributor to the International Year Book of Chemical Physiology and Pathology. He is a fellow of the American association for the advancement of science; a member of the American physiological society; a member of the American society of biological chemists; a member of the New York society of physiological chemists; a member of the American chemical society; and a member of the society of experimental medicine and biology.

Storer, Bellamy, lawyer, jurist, educator, congressman, was born March 26, 1796, in Portland Maine. In 1835-37 he was a representative from Ohio to the twenty-fourth congress; and was a presidential elector in 1844. He served three terms as a judge of the superior court in the district of Cincinnati; and was a professor in the Cincinnati law school. He died June 1, 1875, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Storer, Bellamy, lawyer, diplomat, congressman, was born Aug. 28, 1847, in Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1891-95 he was a representative from Ohio to the fifty-second and fifty-third congresses as a republican. In 1897 he was appointed United States minister to Belgium; in 1899 to Spain; and in 1902-06 was minister to Austria-Hungary.

Storer, Clement, state legislator, United States senator, congressman, was born in 1760, in Kennebunk, Maine. He removed to Portsmouth, N.H.; was a major-general of militia; repeatedly a member of the legislature; and one year its speaker. In 1807-09 he was a representative to the tenth congress. In 1817-19 he was a United States senator from New Hampshire. He died Nov. 22, 1830, in Portsmouth, N.H.

Storer, David Humphreys, physician, surgeon, author, was born March 26, 1804. He became a successful physician and surgeon of Boston, Mass. In 1837 he originated the Tremont street medical school; and in 1854 was called to the chair of obstetrics and medical jurisprudence in the medical department of Harvard university, of which institution he was also dean of the faculty. He contributed valuable papers to various publications on zoology and herpetology; and was the author of Ichthyology and Herpetology of Massachusetts; Synopsis of North American Fishes; and History of the Fishes of Massachusetts. He died Sept. 10, 1891, in Boston, Mass.

Storer, Francis Humphreys, educator, chemist, author, was born March 27, 1832, in Boston, Mass. He has been professor of agricultural chemistry at Harvard university since 1870; and dean of the Bussey institute. He is the author of Alloys of Copper and Zinc; Manufacture of Paraffin

Oils; First Outlines of a Dictionary of the Solubilities of Chemical Substances; Manual of Inorganic Chemistry; Manual of Qualitative Chemical Analysis; and Agriculture in Some of Its Relations with Chemistry.

Storer, George Washington, naval officer, was born in 1789, in Portsmouth, N.H. In 1809 he was commissioned a lieutenant; and in 1847-50 was commander-in-chief of the Brazil squadron. In 1855-57 he was governor of the naval asylum at Philadelphia, Pa. In 1862 he was promoted to the rank of rear-admiral on the retired list. He died Jan. 1864, in Portsmouth, N.H.

Storer, Horatio Robinson, physician, surgeon, author, was born Feb. 27, 1830, in Boston, Mass. In 1865-69 he was professor of obstetrics and medical jurisprudence in Berkshire medical college. He is the author of Book For Every Woman; Book for Every Man; Nurses and Nursing; and On Insanity in Women.

Storer, John Humphreys, capitalist, was born Sept. 28, 1859, in Milton, Mass. He received the degree of A.M. from Harvard college; and the degree of LL.B. from Harvard law school. He is secretary, treasurer and director of the Brooklyn associates, City buildings corporation, Harmon water company, Kingsbury realty company and various other corporations. He is a member of the Boston chamber of commerce; and is a member of the American association for the advancement of science and various other societies and clubs.

Storey, Moorfield, lawyer, author, was born March 19, 1845, in Roxbury, Mass. In 1877-78 and since 1892 he has been overseer of Harvard college. He is the author of Life of Charles Sumner; and other works.

Storey, Wilbur Fisk, journalist, was born Dec. 19, 1819, in Salisbury Vt. In 1853 he removed to Detroit, bought an interest in the Free Press, and became its editor and sole owner. He went to Chicago in 1861 and purchased the Times, which his energy, enterprise, and fearless expression of his views on every subject gave the paper notoriety. He died Oct. 29, 1884, in Chicago, Ill.

Stork, Charles Augustus, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 4, 1838, near Frederick county, Md. He was professor of theology at Gettysburg in 1881-83. He was the author of Light on the Pilgrim's Way. He died Dec. 17, 1883, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Stork, Charles Augustus Gottlieb, clergyman, was born June 16, 1764, in Germany. In 1788 he accepted a call as pastor and missionary among Lutherans in North Carolina. When in 1803 the synod of North Carolina was organized, he was elected the first president, and he was annually re-elected whenever he could be present. He died March 27, 1831, in Salisbury, N.C.

Stork, Theophilus, clergyman, author, was born in August, 1814, near Salisbury, N.C. In 1858 he accepted the presidency of Newbury college, S.C.; and in 1860 removed to Baltimore, as pastor of a new congregation. He was the author of Life of Luther; Luther's Christmas Tree; Luther and the Bible; Afternoon; Home Scenes in the New Testament; and The Unseen World. He died March 28, 1874, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Storm, Frederic, manufacturer, legislator, founder, congressman, was born in 1844 in Alsace. He came to the United States with his parents when he was two years old; and received his education in the public schools of New York City. For thirty years he has been a resident of Bayside, N. Y.; in 1894 was elected a member of the state constitutional convention; and was elected to the state assembly in 1895. He was a founder of the Flushing hospital. In 1901-03 he was a republican representative from New York City to the fifty-seventh congress.

Storm, John B., educator, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 19, 1838, in Monroe county, Pa. In 1871-75 and 1883-87 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-second, forty-third, forty-eighth and forty-ninth congresses as a democrat. He died Aug. 15, 1901, in Stroudsburg, Pa.

Storms, Albert Boynton, educator, clergyman, college president, author, was born April 1, 1860, in Lima, Mich. In 1893 he graduated from the university of Michigan; and has received the degrees of A.M. and D.D. In 1884 he became a clergyman of the episcopal church; and has filled pastorates in Michigan, Wisconsin and Iowa. Since 1903 he has been president of the Iowa state college of agriculture and mechanical arts. He is the author of Stopping at an Inn; The Cool of the Day; and The Outlook.

Storrs, Charles Backus, clergyman, abolitionist, college president, was born May 15, 1794, in Long Meadow, Mass. In 1831 he was elected president of the Western Reserve college. His death was the subject of one of Whittier's most stirring anti-slavery poems. He died Sept. 15, 1833, in Braintree, Mass.

Storrs, Emery Alexander, lawyer, orator, was born Aug. 12, 1835, in Hinsdale, N.Y. He settled in Chicago, and soon took a prominent place among the lawyers of the city. As an orator he had few superiors. He took an active part in the presidential campaigns of his last twenty years. In 1868, 1872, and 1880 he was a delegate-at-large from Illinois to the national republican convention, being on each occasion one of the foremost in shaping the policy and formulating the platform of his party. He died Sept. 12, 1885, in Ottawa, Ill.

Storrs, Henry Martyn, clergyman, was born Jan. 20, 1827, in Ravenna, Ohio. He has filled pastorates in the congregational church of Lawrence, Mass.; in the First orthodox congregational church of Cincinnati, Ohio; the South congregational church of Brooklyn, N.Y.; and the First presbyterian church of Orange, N.J. He died Dec. 1, 1894, in Orange, N.J.

Storrs, Henry Randolph, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 3, 1787, in Middletown, Conn. In 1817-21 and 1823-31 he was a representative from New York to the fifteenth, sixteenth, eighteenth, nineteenth, twentieth and twenty-first congresses. He died July 29, 1837, in New Haven, Conn.

Storrs, Lewis A., lawyer, author, was born Aug. 28, 1866, in Hartford, Conn. In 1891-98 he practiced law in New York City; and since 1898 has been a practicing attorney of Hartford, Conn. He is the author of Kohleth; and Tragedy of Saul.

Storrs, Richard Salter, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 21, 1821, in Braintree, Mass. He was pastor of the Brooklyn

Church of the pilgrims from 1846. He was the author of The Constitution of the Human Soul; Historical Addresses; Divine Origin of Christianity; Conditions of Success in Preaching without Notes; John Wycliffe and the First English Bible; Manliness in the Scholar; Love to Christ; Recognition of the Supernatural; Bernard of Clairvaux; and Forty Years of Pastoral Life. He died June 5, 1900, in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Storrs, Richard Salter, educator, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 6, 1787, in Long Meadow, Mass. In 1810-73 he was pastor of the First congregational church of Braintree, Mass. In 1817-25 he edited the Boston Recorder; and in 1850-56 was senior associate editor of the Congregationalist. He was the author of Memoir of Reverend Samuel Green; Life and Letters of Reverend Daniel Temple; and Williston's Sacramental Meditations. He died Aug. 11, 1873, in Braintree, Mass.

Storrs, William Lucius, educator, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born March 25, 1795, in Middletown, Conn. In 1829-33 and 1839-41 he was a representative from Connecticut to the twenty-first, twenty-second and twenty-sixth congresses. He was judge of the supreme court of Connecticut in 1840-56; and was chief justice of that court in 1856-61. He was also professor of law in Yale college in 1846-47. He died June 25, 1861, in Hartford, Conn.

Story, Douglas, journalist, author, was born Dec. 31, 1872, in Edinburgh, Scotland. In 1896 he was educator of the Standard and Diggers News of Johannesburg, South Africa. He was with the Boer forces as war correspondent; and in 1901 became connected with the New York Herald. He is the author of Ten Miles From Anywhere.

Story, George Henry, artist, was born Jan. 22, 1835, in New Haven, Conn. He has attained success as a painter of portraits and genre pictures; and is curator in the department of painting in the Metropolitan museum of art, New York City. He has been president of the Artist's fund society; vice-president of the Lotos club; and an associate of the National academy of design.

Story, Isaac, lawyer, poet, was born Aug. 25, 1774, in Marblehead, Mass. He was a lawyer and poet of Castine, Maine. He was the author of An Epistle from Tarico to Inkle; Consolatory Odes; and A Parnassian Shop. He died July 19, 1803, in Marblehead, Mass.

Story, John Patten, soldier, was born Aug. 25, 1841, in Waukesha, Wis. In 1865 he graduated from the United States military academy. In 1904 he was promoted to brigadier-general in the United States army; and in 1905 was retired from active duty.

Story, Joseph, lawyer, jurist, congressman, author, was born Sept. 18, 1779, in Marblehead, Mass. He was a member of the Massachusetts state legislature in 1805, and was elected speaker. In 1807-09 he was a representative to the tenth congress; and in 1811-45 was associate justice of the supreme court of the United States. He was the author of The Power of Solitude, with Fugitive Poems; Selection of Pleadings in Civil Actions; Commentaries on the Constitution of the United States; The Conflict of Laws, his most able effort; Equity Jurisprudence; The Law of Agency; Law of Bailments; Equity Pleadings; Law of Partnership; Law of Promissory Notes; and Miscellaneous Writings. He died Sept. 10, 1845, in Cambridge, Mass.

Story, Julian, painter, artist, was born in England. Among his many awards is a gold medal from Berlin; and a silver medal from the Paris exposition. He is an associate national academician.

Story, William, lawyer, jurist, was born April 4, 1843, in Waukesha, Wis. He attended the Salem classical and high schools, Mass.; and graduated from the law department of the Michigan university. He practices law in Salt Lake City, Utah. In 1867-68 he was judge of the eighth circuit of Arkansas; during 1868-73 was judge of the second circuit of Arkansas; and in 1869 was special chief justice of Arkansas. During 1871-74 he was judge of the United States district court for the western district of Arkansas; and in 1891-92 he served with distinction as lieutenant-governor of Colorado.

Story, William Wetmore, lawyer, sculptor, author, poet, was born Feb. 12, 1819, in Salem, Mass. His prose writings include, The Law of Contracts; The Law of Sales; Life of Joseph Story; Proportions of the Human Figure; Roba di Roma; The American Question; Fiammetta, a novel; Con- versations in a Studio; and Excursions in Art and Letters. The Castle of St. Angelo; A Roman Lawyer in Jerusalem; Nero, an Historical Play; and a two-volume edition of Poems. He died Oct. 7, 1895, in Italy.

Stott, William Taylor, soldier, educator, college president, was born May 22, 1836, near Vernon, Ind. During the civil war he was captain in the eighteenth regiment Indiana infantry; and commanded his regiment in the battle of Cedar Creek, Va. In 1869-70 he was acting president of Franklin college; and in 1870-72 was professor of natural sciences in that institution. In 1872-1905 he was president of Franklin college. In 1899-1905 he was a member of the Indiana state board of education.

Stough, Allen J., merchant, banker, was born Sept. 12, 1853, in Ohio. He is president of the Stanford mercantile company; president of the First national bank of Stanford, president of the Stough and Mitchell company and a director in several corporations.

Stough, Mrs. Helen Russ, litterateur, author, was born Oct. 31, 1874, in Stella, Neb. She is the author of A Mother's Year.

Stough, William, soldier, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1861 he was captain in the thirty-eighth Ohio infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He was honorably mustered out in 1865.

Stoughton, Bradley, educator, metallurgist, was born Dec. 6, 1873, in New York City. He is a lecturer on metallurgy for the New York board of education; and adjunct professor of metallurgy in Columbia university. He is a member of the firm of Howe and Stoughton, consulting metallurgists of New York City. He is the author of Metallurgy of Iron and Steel.

Stoughton, Charles Bradley, soldier, was born in Vermont. In 1861 he was first lieutenant and adjutant in the fourth regiment Vermont infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Jan. 17, 1898.

Stoughton, Edwin Henry, soldier, lawyer, was born June 28, 1838, in Springfield, Vt. His services in the civil war gained for him promotion to the rank of brigadier-general of volunteers in 1862. He died Dec. 25, 1868, in Boston, Mass.

Stoughton, Edwin Wallace, lawyer, diplomat, was born May 1, 1818, in Springfield, Vt. He was retained by William M. Tweed at the beginning of his legal troubles, though he took no active part in the defense; and he conducted the suit of the stockholders in the Emma mine litigation. In 1877-79 he was minister to Russia. He gave fifteen thousand dollars to Dartmouth to found a museum of pathological anatomy. He died Jan. 7, 1882, in New York City.

Stoughton, William, governor, was born May 30, 1632, in England. He was lieutenant-governor of Massachusetts; and in 1699 was acting governor. He died July 7, 1701, in Dorchester, Mass.

Stoughton, William Lewis, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born March 20, 1827, in Bangor, N.Y. In 1856-60 he was prosecuting attorney; and in 1861 was appointed United States district attorney for Michigan. He entered the volunteer army as lieutenant-colonel; was brevetted a brigadier-general for gallantry on the field; and after the war was brevetted a major-general. In 1866 he was elected attorney-general of Michigan. In 1869-73 he was a representative to the forty-first and forty-second congresses as a republican. He died June 6, 1888, in Sturgis, Mich.

Stout, Adelaide, poet. Her poems, Little One, Gathering Mint, Sweet Brier, Consider, Pets, are among her recent productions.

Stout, Alexander Miller, soldier, was born in Kentucky. In 1861 he was lieutenant-colonel in the seventeenth regiment Kentucky infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Aug. 25, 1895.

Stout, Bryon Gray, agriculturist, banker, congressman, was born in 1829 near Canandaigua, N.Y. In 1854 he was elected to the Michigan state legislature; and was re-elected in 1856, and chosen speaker of the house. He was state senator in 1860; and was president pro tempore of the senate. He was a member of the Philadelphia convention of 1866; and also of the national democratic conventions of 1868, 1880 and 1888. He was engaged in private banking prior to 1869; and from that time in agriculture. In 1891-93 he was a representative to the fifty-second congress as a democrat. He died June 19, 1896, in Pontiac, Mich.

Stout, Jacob, governor. He became lieutenant-governor of Delaware in 1820; and in 1820-21 was acting governor. He died in Delaware.

Stout, Lansing, educator, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born March 27, 1828, in Pamela, N.Y. In 1856 he was elected to the California legislature. In 1857 he went to Oregon and turned his attention to the practice of law; and in 1858 was elected judge of Multnomah county. In 1859-61 he was a representative from Oregon to the thirty-sixth congress; and subsequently served in the state legislature. He died in 1870, in Portland Ore.

Stout, Tom, publisher, congressman, was born May 20, 1879, in New London, Mo. He is editor and publisher of the Fergus County Democrat, and has been a member of the state senate. In 1913-15 he was a representative from Montana to the sixty-third congress.

Stover, Elias S., merchant, mining operator, state senator, lieutenant-governor, was born Nov. 22, 1836, in Rockland, Maine. He has been a member of the house and senate of the Kansas legislature; and was lieutenant-governor. He is a prominent merchant and mining operator of Albuquerque, N.M.; and is a member of the state senate.

Stover, John H., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born April 24, 1833, in Aronsburg, Pa. In 1861 he entered the volunteer army as a private; was at once made a captain; served as major of the one hundred and sixth regiment of Pennsylvania volunteers until 1864; and was then colonel of the one hundred and eighty-fourth regiment until the close of the civil war. In 1868-69 he was a representative from Missouri to the fortieth congress to fill a vacancy. He died in Missouri.

Stover, Martin Luther, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 19, 1845, in Waterloo, N.Y. In 1891 he became associate justice of the supreme court of New York for the fourth district for the term ending in 1905.

Stow, Alexander W., lawyer, jurist, In 1848-53 he was chief justice of the supreme court of Wisconsin for the fourth circuit.

Stow, Baron, clergyman, author, was born June 16, 1801, in Croydon, N.H. He was a baptist clergyman of Boston. He was the author of Helen's Pilgrimage; History of the English Baptist Mission to India; Christian Brotherhood; and First Things. He died Dec. 27, 1869, in Boston, Mass.

Stowe, Calvin Ellis, educator, clergyman, author, was born April 6, 1802, in Natick, Mass. In 1830 he had editorial charge of the Boston Recorder, and in 1831-33 was in the chair of languages at Hanover. He then filled the chair of biblical literature in the Lane seminary of Cincinnati, Ohio, where he remained for seventeen years. he was the author of an Introduction to the Study of the Bi- ble; Origin and History of the Books of the Bible; Elementary Instruction in Europe; and Lectures on the Sacred Poetry of the Hebrews. He was the husband of the noted Harriet Beecher Stowe. He died Aug. 22, 1886, in Hartford, Conn.

Stow, Hobart Hamilton, merchant, capitalist, was born June 25, 1837, in Olean, N.Y. In 1864-72 he was engaged in the lumber business. He became an owner of oil lands in Bradford, Pa.; and also in Toledo, Ohio. He owns and operates numerous oil wells in Wood and Sandusky counties.

Stow, Silas, congressman, was born in Lewis county, N.Y. In 1811-13 he was a representative from New York to the twelfth congress. He died in Lowville, N.Y.

Stowe, Mrs. Harriet Elizabeth Beecher, author, poet, was born Jan. 14, 1812, in Litchfield, Conn. In 1850 she removed to Brunswick, Maine; and, having by this time become deeply impressed with the wrong of slavery, she wrote Uncle Tom's Cabin for The National Era at Washington, in which paper it appeared serially in 1851-52. The Minister's Wooing, a novel of the early days of the republic, must rank as her finest work. Her other works are Oldtown Folks; The Pearl of Orr's Island; Dred; The Chimney Corner; and Religious Poems; My Wife and I; Sam Lawson's Fireside Stories; We and Our Neighbors; Little Foxes; The Mayflower, and Other Sketches; Sunny Memories of Foreign Lands; Our Charley; Agnes of Sorrento, an Italian novel; House and Home Papers; Stories about Our Dogs; Queer Little People; Daisy's First Winter; Men of Our Times, biographical sketches; Little Pussy Willow; Pink and White Tyranny; Palmetto Leaves; Betty's Bright Idea; Footsteps of the Master; Bible Heroines; Pagan People; and A Dog's Mission. She died July 1, 1896, in Hartford, Conn.

Stowell, Calvin Llewellyn, underwriter, financier, author, was born Aug. 28, 1845, in Ansonia, Pa. He was educated by private tutors. He began business life at a bank; and in 1875 moved to Rochester, N.Y. He became connected as a director, general manager, vice-president and president with numerous corporations including banks, railways, steamship and fire insurance companies.

He is a contributor to scientific and literary periodicals. He is a member of the American academy of political and social science; and a member of various scientific and literary societies in the United States, Great Britain and France. He is the author of Christian Knighthood.

Stowell, Charles Frederick, civil engineer, author, was born Feb. 28, 1853, in Owego, N.Y. In 1883-91 he was bridge engineer to the board of railroad commissioners for the state of New York. Since 1879 he has practiced civil engineering in Albany, N.Y. He is the author of Report of Strains in Railroad Bridges, State of New York.

Stowell, Charles Henry, microscopist, author, was born Oct. 27, 1850, in Perry, N.Y. In 1876-85 he was lecturer and professor of physiology in the university of Michigan. He is the author of Students' Manual of Microscopy; Physiology and Hygiene; The Microscopical Structure of the Human Tooth; A Primer of Health; A Healthy Body, and Essentials of Health.

Stowell, Mrs. Louise Marie, educator, author, was born Dec. 23, 1850, in Grand Blanc, Mich. She was an instructor in microscopical botany at the university of Michigan for twelve years. She is the author of Microscopical Structure of Wheat; and Microscopic Diagnosis.

Stowell, William H. H., merchant, congressman, was born July 26, 1840, in Windsor, Vt. He settled in Virginia in 1865, and was appointed collector of internal revenue for the fourth district in 1869. In 1871-77 he was a representative from Virginia to the forty-second, forty-third and forty-fourth congresses as a republican.

Stower, John G., state senator, congressman, was born in Madison, N.Y. In 1827-29 he was a representative from New York to the twentieth congress; and was a state senator from Madison county in 1833-34. He died in New York.

Strackey, William, colonist, author, was born in 1585 in England. He was the first secretary of the Virginia colony. He was the author of A True Repertory of the Wracke and Redemption of Sir Thomas Gates upon and from the Islands of the Bermudas, supposed to have been the inspiration of Shakespeare's Tempest; Historie of Travaile into Virginia Britannia; and For the Colony in Virginia Britannia; Lawes Divine, Morall and Martiall. He died about 1640.

Strader, Otto, lawyer, jurist. He was an early emigrant to Louisiana; and in 1896 was appointed a judge of the United States district court for the district of Louisiana. He died in Louisiana.

Strader, Peter W., engineer, congressman, was born Nov. 6, 1818, in Warren, N.J. In 1869-71 he was a representative from Ohio to the forty-first congress as a democrat. He died in Ohio.

Strahan, Reuben S., lawyer, jurist. In 1886-90 he was an associate justice of the supreme court of Oregon; and in 1890-92 he was chief justice.

Strain, Isaac G., naval officer, was born March 4, 1821, in Roxbury, Pa. He was promoted lieutenant in 1850; and was attached to the commission that in 1850 located the boundary-line between the United States and Mexico. In 1854 he had charge of the expedition to survey the Isthmus of Darien. He died May 14, 1857, in Colombia, S.A.

Strait, Horace B., soldier, manufacturer, banker, congressman, was born Jan. 26, 1835, in Potter county, Pa. In 1870-72 he was mayor of Shakopee, Minn. In 1873-79 and 1881-87 he was a representative to the forty-third, forty-fourth, forty-fifth, forty-seventh, forty-eighth and forty-ninth congresses. He died Feb. 26, 1894, in El Paso, Texas.

Strait, Thomas Jefferson, soldier, physician, state senator, congressman, was born Dec. 25, 1846, in Chester, S.C. He was elected state senator from South Carolina in 1890. In 1893-99 he was a representative to the fifty-third, fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses. He resumed the practice of medicine at Lancaster, S.C.

Strakosch, Max, operatic manager, was born Sept. 27, 1835, in Moravia. He was associated with his brother in most of his enterprises; and some of the most famous artists traveled under their management, including Carlotta and Adelina Patti, Karl Formes, Pasquale Brignoli, Italo Campanini, Pauline Lucca, Therese Titzens, Christine Nilsson and Marietta Alboni. He died March 17, 1892, in New York City.

Stranahan, Mrs. Clara Harrison, author, poet, was born in Westfield, Mass. She received her education in northern Ohio, and subsequently attended the Mount Holyoke seminary and the Troy Female seminary. She founded Barnard college. Her best known work is A History of French Painting from Its Earliest to Its Latest Practice. She was also the author of a large number of fugitive articles and poems, which have been a valuable acquisition to current literature. She died in 1905 in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Stranahan, James Samuel Thomas, capitalist, congressman, was born April 25, 1808, in Peterboro, N.Y. In 1844 he settled in Brooklyn, N.Y. In 1855-57 he was a representative to the thirty-fourth congress. He was a member of the first Metropolitan police commission in 1858; and delegate to the republican national conventions in 1860 and 1864. Brooklyn is indebted to him more than any other man for Prospect park, the Ocean parkway, Eastern parkway, and the city's beautiful system of boulevards. He died Sept. 3, 1898, in Saratoga, N.Y.

Strang, Lewis Clinton, dramatic critic, author, was born Dec. 4, 1869, in Westfield, Mass. Since 1904 he has been a Christian science practitioner. He is the author of Famous Actresses of the Day; Famous Actors of the Day, Prima Donnas and Sou-brettes of Light Opera and Musical Comedy of America; Celebrated Comedians of Light Opera and Musical Comedy in America; and Players and Plays of the Last Quarter Century.

Strange, John Tedrick, farmer, lawyer, statesman, was born April 7, 1850, in Arcana, Ind. He received a thorough education, and after five years at Wabash college graduated from that institution in 1877. He is a prominent lawyer of Marion, Ind.; was a delegate to the national convention of 1896 held at Chicago; and takes an active part in the public affairs of his city, county and state.

Strange, Robert, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, United States senator, author, was born Sept. 20, 1796, in Virginia. He served a number of years in the North Carolina state legislature; in 1826-35 was a judge of the superior court; and in 1835-41 he was United States senator. He was subsequently appointed solicitor for the fifth judicial district of the state. He was the author of a novel entitled Eoneguski, or the Cherokee Chief. He died Feb. 19, 1854, in Fayetteville, N.C.

Strange, Willoughby Temple, lawyer, politician, was born Sept. 6, 1860, in Charlottesville, Va. He is a son of the confederate states general, John B. Strange of Virginia, who was killed in the battle of Sharpsburg in 1862. He received his education at the William and Mary college of Williamsburg, Va.; at the Richmond college; and at the university of Virginia. He is one of the foremost lawyers of Texas, and a leading politician of Dallas, where he takes an active part in the public affairs of his city, county and state. In 1897 he was made chairman of the congressional campaign committee of the sixth district of Texas.

Strange, Robert, clergyman, bishop, was born Dec. 6, 1857, in Wilmington, N.C. In 1879 he graduated with the degree of A.B.

from the university of North Carolina; and graduated from the Berkeley divinity school of Middletown, Conn. He was ordained a priest in 1885; was missionary to colored people in southern Virginia; and has been rector in Raleigh, Wilmington and Richmond. Since 1905 he has been bishop of the protestant episcopal church; and resides in Wilmington, N.C.

Stratemeyer, Edward, journalist, author, was born Oct. 4, 1862, in Elizabeth, N.J. He is a contributor to juvenile periodicals; and has edited Good News, Young People of America and Bright Days. He is a member of various historical societies. He is the author of Last Cruise of the Spitfire; Richard Dare's Adventures; Oliver Bright's Search; Reuben Stone's Discovery; The Young Auctioneers; Bound to Be an Electrician; Fighting for His Own; Under Dewey at Manila; A Young Volunteer in Cuba; Minute Boys of Lexington; Between Boer and Briton; Lost on the Orinoco; Young Volcano Explorers; On the Trail of Pontiac; Defending His Flag; and about twenty volumes under the pen-names of Captain Ralph Bonehill and Arthur M. Winfield.

Stratton, Charles C., farmer, state legislator, congressman, governor, was born in 1796 in New Jersey. He served a number of years in the state legislature; and in 1837-39 and 1841-43 he was a representative from New Jersey to the twenty-fifth and twenty-seventh congresses. He was the fifteenth governor of New Jersey in 1844-48. He died March 30, 1859, in Gloucester county, N.J.

Stratton, Charles Carroll, clergyman, college president, was born Jan. 4, 1833, in Mansfield, Pa. Since 1858 he has been a minister of the gospel in the methodist episcopal church. In 1879-89 he was president of the university of the Pacific; in 1889-92 was president of Mills college of California. In 1902-07 he was president of Portland university of Oregon.

Stratton, Charles Sherwood, dwarf, was born Jan. 4, 1838, in Bridgeport, Conn. He was known by the name of General Tom Thumb. When first exhibited by Barnum he was not more than two feet high, and weighed less than sixteen pounds; but as he grew older his height increased to forty inches. In 1863 he married Lavinia Warren, also a dwarf, who was only forty inches in height and fifty pounds in weight. They were the wonders of the world. He died July 15, 1883, in Middleborough, Mass., and was buried in Bridgeport, where a marble shaft forty feet in height was raised to his memory.

Stratton, Franklin Asa, soldier, was born in Massachusetts. In 1861 he was captain in the eleventh regiment Pennsylvania cavalry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died July 17, 1879.

Stratton, George Malcolm, educator, author, was born Sept. 26, 1865, in Oakland, Cal. He was associate professor and director of the psychological laboratory in the university of California; and since 1904 has been professor of experimental psychology and a director of the psychological laboratory of Johns Hopkins university. He is the author of Experimental Psychology and Its Bearing Upon Culture.

Stratton, George Oren, public official, state representative, was born June 4, 1851, in Greenwich, Mass. He was educated at the district Union and Montpelier high school of Vermont. He is vice-president of the Vermont mutual fire insurance company of Montpelier, Vt.; and prominently identified with the business and public affairs of that city. He has been bailiff and village trustee; selectman of the town of Montpelier; president of the first board of aldermen of the city of Montpelier; and served with distinction as second mayor of that city. He is at present secretary of the board of school commissioners. In 1904 he was a representative in the Vermont state legislature.

Stratton, Henry Dwight, educator, founder, was born Aug. 24, 1824, in Amherst, Ohio. With Henry B. Bryant he established the Bryant and Stratton business colleges, which at the time of his death numbered more than fifty, located in the principal cities of the United States and Canada. He died Feb. 20, 1867, in New York City.

Stratton, John, congressman, was born in Virginia. In 1801-03 he was a representative to the seventh congress from Virginia. He died in Virginia.

Stratton, John L. N., lawyer, congressman, was born in 1817 in Mount Holly, N. J. In 1859-63 he was a representative from New Jersey to the thirty-sixth and thirty-seventh congresses. He died May 17, 1889, in Mount Holly, N. J.

Stratton, Mrs. Mercy Lavina Bump, was born Oct. 31, 1841, in Middleborough, Mass. She was engaged by Mr. Barnum in 1862; and under his management she assumed the name of Warren. When exhibited with General Tom Thumb she was both shorter and lighter than her husband; but her height increased to forty inches and her weight to fifty pounds. After the death of Mr. Stratton she lived in retirement until her marriage in 1885 to Count Primo Magri, an Italian dwarf, with whom she has since given exhibitions in the United States and Europe.

Stratton, Nathan T., congressman, was born in Mullica Hill, N. J. In 1851-55 he was a representative from New Jersey to the thirty-second and thirty-third congresses. He died in New Jersey.

Stratton, Riley Evans, lawyer, jurist. In 1859-68 he was associate justice of the supreme court of Oregon.

Stratton, Samuel Wesley, educator, physicist, was born July 18, 1861, in Litchfield, Ill. In 1892-1901 he was professor of physics at the university of Chicago. Since 1901 he has been director of the national bureau of standards.

Straub, Christian M., congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1853-55 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-third congress. He died in Pennsylvania.

Straup, Daniel N., lawyer, jurist. He is associate justice of the state supreme court of Utah for the term of 1904-09; and resides in Salt Lake City, Utah.

Straus, Isidor, merchant, founder, congressman, was born Feb. 6, 1845, in Bavaria. In 1865 he moved to New York City, where his father founded the mercantile firm of Straus and sons in 1866. He has been connected with the various tariff and currency reform movements, and is New York City's representative on the New York and New Jersey bridge commission. In 1894-95 he was a representative to the fifty-third congress to fill a vacancy; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. He died in 1911 by drowning in the Titanic disaster.

Straus, Nathan, merchant, philanthropist, was born Jan. 31, 1848, in Germany. He is a member of the department store firm of Abraham and Straus of Brooklyn, N. Y. In 1893 he was park commissioner of New York City; in 1894 declined the democratic nomination for mayor of New York City; and in 1898 was president of the board of health. In 1890 he originated the system of distribution of sterilized milk to the poor of New York City, which he has since maintained at his own expense; he also originated and has maintained a system of depots for distribution of coal in winter to the poor of New York City; and maintained a system of lodging houses.

Straus, Simon William, banker, was born Dec. 23, 1860, in Ligonier, Ind. In 1888-95 he was engaged in banking with the firm of Straus brothers and company, which was changed in 1895 to S. W. Straus and company, now doing a mortgage and bond business. He is also president of the Franklin trust and savings bank, president of the Realization company of America; and vice-president of various other corporations. He is a member of the Chicago stock exchange and of the association of commerce; and chairman of the American society for thrift.

Strauss, Oscar Solomon, merchant, diplomat, author, was born Dec. 23, 1850, in Bavaria. He is a municipal reformer of New York City; was minister to Turkey in 1887-90 and 1898; and is president of the Jewish historical society. Since 1906 he has been secretary of commerce and labor of the United States. He is the author of The Origin of Republican Government in the United States; and Roger Williams, the Pioneer of Religious Liberty; and The Development of Religious Liberty in the United States.

Straw, Ezekiel A., governor. In 1873-74 he was governor of New Hampshire.

Strawbridge, James D., soldier, physician, congressman, was born in 1824 in Montour county, Pa. He entered the army as a brigade surgeon of volunteers; and served throughout the civil war. He resumed the practice of medicine after the close of the civil war in Danville, Pa. In 1873-75 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-third congress as a republican. He died June 19, 1890, in Danville, Pa.

Strawn, Silas H., lawyer, was born Dec. 15, 1866, in Ottawa, Ill. He is general solicitor of the Chicago and Alton railroad, and general counsel for the Chicago Union Transfer railway. He is also a member of the law firm of Winston, Payne, Strawn and Shaw, general counsel for several railroads.

Strecker, Herman, botanist, sculptor, author, was born March 24, 1836, in Philadelphia, Pa. He designed the soldiers' monument at Reading, Pa. He was the author of Butterflies and Moths of North America. He died in 1901 in Reading, Pa.

Street, Alfred Billings, author, poet, was born Dec. 18, 1811, in Poughkeepsie, N.Y. He was state librarian of New York in 1848-81. He was the author of Frontenac: Woods and Waters; Forest Pictures; The Burning of Schenectady, and Other Poems; Drawings and Tintings; Fugitive Poems; and Digest of Taxation in the United States. He died June 2, 1881, in Albany, N.Y.

Street, Augustus Russell, donor, was born Nov. 5, 1791, in New Haven, Conn. He presented to Yale its school of the fine arts, one of its finest buildings; and Titus Street professorship in the theological department. He died June 12, 1866, in New Haven, Conn.

Street, Claude Everett, mining engineer, legislator, was born June 26, 1868, in Baxter Springs, Kan. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools of his native state; and graduated from the state university of Kansas. He has attained prominence in the west as a successful mining engineer; and has been manager of several mining companies and corporations. He has filled various positions of trust and honor; and since 1904 has been a member of the Colorado state assembly; and resides in Webster, Park county, Col.

Street, Ida Maria, educator, author, was born Nov. 21, 1856, in Oskaloosa, Iowa. Since 1881 she has been engaged in educational work; and is now a teacher in the east division high school of Milwaukee, Wis. She is the author of Ruskin Principles of Art Criticism.

Street, Randall S., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1780 in Catskill, N. Y. In 1810 he was appointed district attorney for New York, and was reappointed in 1813. Soon afterwards, as major and lieutenant-colonel, he served in the army during the war with England. In 1819-21 he was a representative from New York to the sixteenth congress. He was promoted to the rank of general of the militia. He died Nov. 21, 1841, in Monticello, N.Y.

Street, Thomas Atkins, educator, lawyer, author, was born March 14, 1872, in Marshall county, Ala. In 1894-1902 he practiced law in Nashville, Tenn. He is a professor of the university of Missouri. He is the author of The Foundations of Legal Liability, in three volumes; and Federal Equity Practice, in three volumes.

Street, Thomas Blatherwick, inventor, author, poet, was born Nov. 29, 1821, in Nottingham county, England. He has contributed extensively to the periodical press; his poems have appeared in Poets of America and other standard works; and he has ready for the press an autobiography of his life. He came to America in his boyhood, and has traveled nearly a hundred thousand miles to all parts of the world. He has been president of Liberal league, of Free soil society, and of Burial reform society.

Street, Webster, lawyer, jurist, was born June 8, 1846, in Salem, Ohio. In 1897-1902 he was chief justice of the state supreme court of Arizona.

Street, Whiting, philanthropist, was born March 25, 1790, in Wallingford, Conn. He accumulated a large fortune; and at his death left one hundred and six thousand dollars to the city of Holyoke and twenty-one adjacent towns, to be used for the benefit of the worthy poor that should not be already in charge of the public. He died July 31, 1878, in Northampton, Mass.

Streeter, Frank Sherwin, lawyer, legislator, was born Aug. 5, 1853, in East Charleston, Vt. He was educated at St. Johnsbury academy; and graduated from Dartmouth college. He soon attained success in the practice of law in Concord, N.H.; and is prominently identified with the business and public affairs of that city. In 1885 he was a representative in the New Hampshire state legislature; and was a member on several important committees. In 1896 he was a member of the republican national convention; since 1893 has been a trustee of Dartmouth college; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. He is a member of the republican national committee for New Hampshire.

Streeter, John William, soldier, physician, author, was born Sept. 17, 1841, in Ashtabula, Ohio. In 1888 he established Streeter hospital in Chicago, Ill. He was the author of Doctor Time, a novel. He died in 1905 in Chicago, Ill.

Streight, Abel D., soldier, was born in New York. In 1861 he was colonel in the fifty-first regiment Indiana infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died May 27, 1892, in Indianapolis, Ind.

Stribling, Cornelius Kinchilow, naval officer, was born Sept. 22, 1796, in Pendleton, S.C. He served in the United States navy during the civil war; and in 1865 served as commander-in-chief of the east gulf squadron; and in 1867 was created rear admiral. He died Jan. 17, 1880. In Martinsburg, W. Va.

Strickland, O. F., lawyer, jurist. He was an early emigrant to Utah; and was appointed associate justice of the United States court for that territory. He died in Utah.

Strickland, Peter, naval officer, diplomat, author, was born Aug. 1, 1837, in Montville, Conn. He was a naval officer during the civil war. He was solicited by the government during the administration of President Arthur to establish a consulate at Goree Dakar; and has continued to hold that position ever since.

Strickland, Randolph, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Feb. 4, 1823, in Danville, N.Y. In 1852-62 he was prosecuting attorney for Clinton county, Mich., and was a member of the state senate in 1861-62. In 1869-71 he was a representative from Michigan to the forty-first congress. He died about 1900 in St. Johns, Mich.

Strickland, Silas A., soldier, was born in New York. In 1862 he was lieutenant-colonel in the fiftieth regiment Ohio infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He resigned in 1878.

Strickland, Theron C., litterateur, author, was born Nov. 24, 1859, in New York state. He is prominent as a teacher in commercial schools and colleges. He is the author of The Twentieth Century Short-hand.

Strickland, William, architect, author, was born in 1787 in Philadelphia. His chief professional work was the capitol at Nashville, Tenn. He was the author of Triangulation of the Entrance into Delaware Bay; Report on Canals and Railways; and Public Works of the United States. He died April 7, 1854, in Nashville, Tenn.

Strickland, William Peter, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 17, 1809, in Pittsburg, Pa. In 1865-77 he was pastor of a Presbyterian church at Bridgehampton, L.I. He was the author of Pioneers of the West; History of the American Bible Society; The Genius of Methodism; Light of the Temple; Old Mackinaw, or the Fortress of the Lakes; Christianity Demonstrated by Facts; and The Astrologer of Chaldea, or the Life of Faith. He died July 15, 1884, in Ocean Grove, N.J.

Stringer, Arthur, author, poet, was born Feb. 26, 1874, in Canada. In 1903-04 he was literary editor of Success Magazine. He is the author of Watchers of Twilight; Pauline and Other Poems; Epigrams; The Loom of Destiny; Phantom Wires; The Occasional Offender; and The Woman in the Rain.

Stringer, Lawrence B., congressman, was born Feb. 24, 1866, in New Jersey. He has been presiding judge of the Illinois state court. In 1913-15 he was a representative from Illinois to the sixty-third congress.

Stringer, Samuel, physician, was born in 1734 in Maryland. He settled in Albany, N.Y.; and in 1775 was appointed director and physician of the hospitals of the northern department; and authorized to appoint a surgeon for the fleet that was then fitting out upon the lakes. He died July 11, 1817, in Albany, N.Y.

Stringham, James S., physician, lecturer, was born in 1775 in New York City. He was professor of chemistry in Columbia in 1802-13; and of medical jurisprudence in the college of Physicians and Surgeons in 1813-71. He was the first to lecture there on the latter science, and may be regarded as its founder in the United States. He died June 28, 1817, in St. Croix, W.I.

Stringham, Silas Horton, naval officer, was born Nov. 7, 1798, in Middletown, N.Y. In 1809 he became a midshipman in the United States navy. In 1821 he captured four slavers off the coast of Africa; and in 1821-24 was engaged in the West Indies in the suppression of piracy. In 1831 he was commissioned commander; in 1841 was promoted captain; and in 1844-46 was commander of the New York navy yard. In 1853-56 he commanded the Mediterranean squadron as flag officer. During the civil war he commanded the North Atlantic blockading fleet; and participated in the first important naval victory of the war. In 1861 he was retired as commodore; and in 1862 was promoted to the rank of rear-admiral. He died Feb. 7, 1876, in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Stringham, Washington Irving, educator, author, was born Dec. 10, 1847, in Delevan, N.Y. In 1866-73 he attended the Washburn college of Topeka, Kan.; in 1877 graduated from Harvard university; and in 1880 received the degree of Ph.D. from Johns Hopkins university. He has studied mathematics in Leipzig, Spain and Paris. He is a member of the American mathematical society; and a member of the American association for the advancement of science. He is editor and author of the American edition of Charles Smith's Elementary Algebra; and is the author of Uniplanar Algebra.

Strobel, Charles Louis, civil engineer, was born Oct. 6, 1852, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He graduated with the degree of C.E. from the Royal Technical university of Stuttgart, Germany. In 1874 he was assistant engineer of the Cincinnati Southern railway at Cincinnati. In 1878 he became engineer of the Keystone Bridge company in Pittsburgh and from 1885 was consulting engineer with the same company in Chicago. He also was consulting engineer to the Carnegie-Phipps company and other corporations until 1893. He then engaged in business for himself, and subsequently incorporated the Strobel Steel Construction company; and has designed and built many important bridges and other structures. He was editor of the Handbook of Useful Information for Engineers and Architects.

Strobel, Edward Henry, lawyer, diplomat, author, was born Dec. 7, 1855, in Charleston, S.C. In 1898-1906 he was Bemis professor of international law in Harvard university; and since 1903 has been general advisor to the government of Siam. He is the author of The Spanish Revolution.

Strobel, William Daniel, clergyman, author, was born May 7, 1808, in Charleston, S.C. He was president of the general synod in 1879-80. He was the author of numerous articles in periodicals of the church, which were afterward published separately. He died Dec. 6, 1884, in Rhinebeck, N.Y.

Strobridge, Mrs. Idah Meacham, litterateur, author, was born June 9, 1855, in Contra Costa county, Cal. She has contributed to over fifty leading Sunday newspapers and magazines. She is the author of In Miners' Mirage-Land; The Loom of the Desert; and The Land of Purple Shadows.

Strode, Jesse B., soldier, educator, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Feb. 18, 1845, in Fulton county, Ill. He was twice elected mayor and six times councilman of the city of Abingdon. He moved to Plattsmouth, Neb.; was elected district attorney in 1882, and served two terms. He removed to Lincoln in 1887, and practiced law there until 1892, when he was elected judge of the district court. In 1895-99 he was a representative to the fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses.

Strode, Joseph, postmaster, was born in 1815. He was the oldest postmaster in continual service in the United States; and from 1845 was postmaster of Strode's Mills, Pa. He died in Strode's Mills, Pa.

Strohm, Gertrude, compiler, author, was born July 14, 1843, near Dayton, Ohio. She is the author of Word Pictures; Universal Cookery Book; Flower Idylls; The Young Scholar's Companion; and Fireside Games.

Strohm, Isaac, writer, public official, was born Dec. 11, 1810, in Lancaster, Pa. In early life he wrote much for the press; and was a contributor to the New Yorker, Sartain's Magazine and other publications. For nearly forty years he held government positions in Washington, D.C. In 1859 he edited The Life and Speeches of the Hon. Thomas Cornin. He died March 26, 1894, in Greene county, Ohio.

Strohm, John, state legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 16, 1793, in Lancaster county, Pa. In 1831 he was elected a member of the legislature of his native state, serving three sessions in the house and eight in the senate, during one term as speaker. In 1845-49 he was a representative to the twenty-ninth and thirtieth congresses.

Stromquist, Charles J., farmer, contractor, legislator, was born Sept. 27, 1842, in Sweden. He emigrated to the United States in 1867, and is now a successful farmer and stock raiser of Fremont, Kan. He has been assessor, justice of the peace, county commissioner, and served with distinction in the Kansas state legislature for two terms, during 1893-95, declining to be a candidate for a third term. He was the originator of the Swedish-American Insurance company of Kansas, and was its president for ten years. Since 1880 he has been a member of the board of directors of Bethany college of Lindsburg, Kan.; and is now serving his second term as treasurer of McPherson county.

Strong, Abigail Spurr, reformer, was born Aug. 23, 1811, in Annapolis, N.S. Her whole life was spent in religious and reformatory work in Brooklyn, Boston and St. Paul, Minn. She died in St. Paul, Minn.

Strong, Augustus Hopkins, clergyman, college president, author, was born Aug. 3, 1836, in Rochester, N.Y. He is a Baptist clergyman of Rochester, N.Y.; president of the Rochester theological seminary since 1872; and since 1899 president of American Baptist education society. He is the author of Systematic Theology; Philosophy and Religion; The Greek Poets and Their Theology; and Christ in Creation and Ethical Monism.

Strong, Caleb, lawyer, governor, United States senator, was born Jan. 9, 1745, in Northampton, Mass. In 1780 he was chosen one of the council of Massachusetts. In 1779 he assisted in framing the constitution of that state; and in 1787 also assisted in framing the constitution of the United States, but did not sign that instrument. In 1789-97 he was United States senator; and was the fifth governor of Massachusetts in 1800-07 and 1812-16. He was a presidential elector in 1809. He died Nov. 7, 1819, in Northampton, Mass.

Strong, Charles Augustus, educator, psychologist, author, was born Nov. 28, 1862, in Haverhill, Mass. In 1895-1903 he was a lecturer and since 1903 has been professor of psychology at the Columbian university. He is the author of Why the Mind Has a Body.

thor of Doctor Time, a novel. He died in 1905 in Chicago, Ill.

Streight, Abel D., soldier, was born in New York. In 1861 he was colonel in the fifty-first regiment Indiana infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died May 27, 1892, in Indianapolis, Ind.

Stribling, Cornelius Kinchilow, naval officer, was born Sept. 22, 1796, in Pendleton, S.C. He served in the United States navy during the civil war; and in 1865 served as commander-in-chief of the east gulf squadron; and in 1867 was created rear admiral. He died Jan. 17, 1880. In Martinsburg, W. Va.

Strickland, O. F., lawyer, jurist. He was an early emigrant to Utah; and was appointed associate justice of the United States court for that territory. He died in Utah.

Strickland, Peter, naval officer, diplomat, author, was born Aug. 1, 1837, in Montville, Conn. He was a naval officer during the civil war. He was solicited by the government during the administration of President Arthur to establish a consulate at Goree Dakar; and has continued to hold that position ever since.

Strickland, Randolph, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Feb. 4, 1823, in Danville, N.Y. In 1852-62 he was prosecuting attorney for Clinton county, Mich., and was a member of the state senate in 1861-62. In 1869-71 he was a representative from Michigan to the forty-first congress. He died about 1900 in St. Johns, Mich.

Strickland, Silas A., soldier, was born in New York. In 1862 he was lieutenant-colonel in the fiftieth regiment Ohio infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He resigned in 1878.

Strickland, Theron C., litterateur, author, was born Nov. 24, 1859, in New York state. He is prominent as a teacher in commercial schools and colleges. He is the author of The Twentieth Century Short hand.

Strickland, William, architect, author, was born in 1787 in Philadelphia. His chief professional work was the capitol at Nashville, Tenn. He was the author of Triangulation of the Entrance into Delaware Bay; Report on Canals and Railways; and Public Works of the United States. He died April 7, 1854, in Nashville, Tenn.

Strickland, William Peter, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 17, 1809, in Pittsburg, Pa. In 1865-77 he was pastor of a Presbyterian church at Bridgehampton, L.I. He was the author of Pioneers of the West, History of the American Bible Society; The Genius of Methodism; Light of the Temple; Old Mackinaw, or the Fortress of the Lakes; Christianity Demonstrated by Facts, and The Astrologer of Chaldea, or the Life of Faith. He died July 15, 1884, in Ocean Grove, N.J.

Stringer, Arthur, author, poet, was born Feb. 26, 1874, in Canada. In 1903-04 he was literary editor of Success Magazine. He is the author of Watchers of Twilight; Pauline and Other Poems; Epigrams; The Loom of Destiny; Phantom Wires; The Occasional Offender; and The Woman in the Rain.

Stringer, Lawrence B., congressman, was born Feb. 24, 1866, in New Jersey. He has been presiding judge of the Illinois state court. In 1913-15 he was a representative from Illinois to the sixty-third congress.

Stringer, Samuel, physician, was born in 1734 in Maryland. He settled in Albany, N.Y.; and in 1775 was appointed director and physician of the hospitals of the northern department; and authorized to appoint a surgeon for the fleet that was then fitting out upon the lakes. He died July 11, 1817, in Albany, N.Y.

Stringham, James S., physician, lecturer, was born in 1775 in New York City. He was professor of chemistry in Columbia in 1802-13; and of medical jurisprudence in the college of Physicians and Surgeons in 1813-71. He was the first to lecture there on the latter science, and may be regarded as its founder in the United States. He died June 28, 1817, in St. Croix, W.I.

Stringham, Silas Horton, naval officer, was born Nov. 7, 1798, in Middletown, N. Y. In 1809 he became a midshipman in the United States navy. In 1821 he captured four slavers off the coast of Africa; and in 1821-24 was engaged in the West Indies in the suppression of piracy. In 1831 he was commissioned commander; in 1841 was promoted captain; and in 1844-46 was commander of the New York navy yard. In 1853-56 he commanded the Mediterranean squadron as flag officer. During the civil war he commanded the North Atlantic blockading fleet; and participated in the first important naval victory of the war. In 1861 he was retired as commodore; and in 1862 was promoted to the rank of rear-admiral. He died Feb. 7, 1876, in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Stringham, Washington Irving, educator, author, was born Dec. 10, 1847, in Delevan, N.Y. In 1866-73 he attended the Washburn college of Topeka, Kan.; in 1877 graduated from Harvard university; and in 1880 received the degree of Ph.D. from Johns Hopkins university. He has studied mathematics in Leipzig, Spain and Paris. He is a member of the American mathematical society; and a member of the American association for the advancement of science. He is editor and author of the American edition of Charles Smith's Elementary Algebra; and is the author of Uniplanar Algebra.

Strobel, Charles Louis, civil engineer, was born Oct. 6, 1852, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He graduated with the degree of C.E. from the Royal Technical university of Stuttgart, Germany. In 1874 he was assistant engineer of the Cincinnati Southern railway at Cincinnati. In 1878 he became engineer of the Keystone Bridge company in Pittsburgh and from 1885 was consulting engineer with the same company in Chicago. He also was consulting engineer to the Carnegie-Phipps company and other corporations until 1893. He then engaged in business for himself, and subsequently incorporated the Strobel Steel Construction company; and has designed and built many important bridges and other structures. He was editor of the Handbook of Useful Information for Engineers and Architects.

Strobel, Edward Henry, lawyer, diplomat, author, was born Dec. 7, 1855, in Charleston, S.C. In 1898-1906 he was Bemis professor of international law in Harvard university; and since 1903 has been general advisor to the government of Siam. He is the author of The Spanish Revolution.

Strobel, William Daniel, clergyman, author, was born May 7, 1808, in Charleston, S.C. He was president of the general synod in 1879-80. He was the author of numerous articles in periodicals of the church, which were afterward published separately. He died Dec. 6, 1884, in Rhinebeck, N.Y.

Strobridge, Mrs. Idah Meacham, litterateur, author, was born June 9, 1855, in Contra Costa county, Cal. She has contributed to over fifty leading Sunday newspapers and magazines. She is the author of In Miners' Mirage-Land; The Loom of the Desert; and The Land of Purple Shadows.

Strode, Jesse B., soldier, educator, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Feb. 18, 1845, in Fulton county, Ill. He was twice elected mayor and six times councilman of the city of Abingdon. He moved to Plattsmouth, Neb.; was elected district attorney in 1882, and served two terms. He removed to Lincoln in 1887, and practiced law there until 1892, when he was elected judge of the district court. In 1895-99 he was a representative to the fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses.

Strode, Joseph, postmaster, was born in 1815. He was the oldest postmaster in continual service in the United States; and from 1845 was postmaster of Strode's Mills, Pa. He died in Strode's Mills, Pa.

Strohm, Gertrude, compiler, author, was born July 14, 1843, near Dayton, Ohio. She is the author of Word Pictures; Universal Cookery Book; Flower Idyls; The Young Scholar's Companion; and Fireside Games.

Strohm, Isaac, writer, public official, was born Dec. 11, 1810, in Lancaster, Pa. In early life he wrote much for the press; and was a contributor to the New Yorker, Sartain's Magazine and other publications. For nearly forty years he held government positions in Washington, D.C. In 1859 he edited The Life and Speeches of the Hon. Thomas Cornin. He died March 26, 1894, in Greene county, Ohio.

Strohm, John, state legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 16, 1793, in Lancaster county, Pa. In 1831 he was elected a member of the legislature of his native state, serving three sessions in the house and eight in the senate, during one term as speaker. In 1845-49 he was a representative to the twenty-ninth and thirtieth congresses.

Stromquist, Charles J., farmer, contractor, legislator, was born Sept. 27, 1842, in Sweden. He emigrated to the United States in 1867, and is now a successful farmer and stock raiser of Fremont, Kan. He has been assessor, justice of the peace, county commissioner, and served with distinction in the Kansas state legislature for two terms, during 1893-95, declining to be a candidate for a third term. He was the originator of the Swedish-American Insurance company of Kansas, and was its president for ten years. Since 1880 he has been a member of the board of directors of Bethany college of Lindsburg, Kan.; and is now serving his second term as treasurer of McPherson county.

Strong, Abigail Spurr, reformer, was born Aug. 23, 1811, in Annapolis, N.S. Her whole life was spent in religious and reformatory work in Brooklyn, Boston and St. Paul, Minn. She died in St. Paul, Minn.

Strong, Augustus Hopkins, clergyman, college president, author, was born Aug. 3, 1836, in Rochester, N.Y. He is a Baptist clergyman of Rochester, N.Y.; president of the Rochester theological seminary since 1872; and since 1899 president of American Baptist education society. He is the author of Systematic Theology; Philosophy and Religion; The Greek Poets and Their Theology; and Christ in Creation and Ethical Monism.

Strong, Caleb, lawyer, governor, United States senator, was born Jan. 9, 1745, in Northampton, Mass. In 1780 he was chosen one of the council of Massachusetts. In 1779 he assisted in framing the constitution of that state; and in 1787 also assisted in framing the constitution of the United States, but did not sign that instrument. In 1789-97 he was United States senator; and was the fifth governor of Massachusetts in 1800-07 and 1812-16. He was a presidential elector in 1809. He died Nov. 7, 1819, in Northampton, Mass.

Strong, Charles Augustus, educator, psychologist, author, was born Nov. 28, 1862, in Haverhill, Mass. In 1895-1903 he was a lecturer and since 1903 has been professor of psychology at the Columbian university. He is the author of Why the Mind Has a Body.

Strong, Charles H., clergyman, author, was born Dec. 29, 1850, in New Orleans, La. He is rector of St. John's church of Savannah, Ga. He is the author of Creed in Deed; A Fair Agnostic; In Paradise; and Sermons.

Strong, Daniel Gates, educator, college president, clergyman, prohibitionist, was born Aug. 10, 1838, in Kenton, Ohio. During the civil war he was chaplain in the fourth regiment Ohio volunteer infantry. He has been president of the Wilbur Collegiate college of Lewiston, Idaho; was a delegate to the general conference of 1880; and in 1892 was a candidate on the prohibition ticket for lieutenant-governor of the state of Washington.

Strong, Edward Trask, naval officer, was born Feb. 10, 1840, in Ipswich, Mass. He served through the civil war. In 1868 he was commissioned an ensign in the regular navy; and in 1900 was retired with the rank of rear admiral.

Strong, Frank, educator, college president, author, was born Aug. 5, 1859, in Venice, N.Y. In 1897-99 he was a lecturer on history in Yale university; in 1899-1902 was president of the university of Oregon; and since 1902 has been chancellor of the university of Kansas. He is the author of Life of Benjamin Franklin; A Forgotten Danger to the New England Colonies; and Government of the American People.

Strong, George Augustus, clergyman, author. He is an episcopal clergyman of Cambridge, Mass. He is the author of the Song of Milkanwatha.

Strong, George Crockett, soldier, author, was born Oct. 16, 1832, in Stockbridge, Vt. He was a general in the federal army during the civil war; and fell in the assault on Fort Wagner. He was the author of Cadet Life at West Point. He died July 30, 1863, in New York City.

Strong, George Templeton, lawyer, was born Feb. 26, 1820, in New York City. During the civil war he was treasurer and one of the executive committee of the United States sanitary commission, in which capacity he rendered valuable service. He died July 21, 1875, in New York City.

Strong, George Veazey, soldier, was born March 14, 1880, in Chicago, Ill. He was educated at the Michigan military academy; and at the United States military academy of West Point, N.Y. He is quartermaster at Fort Meade; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. Since 1904 he has held the rank of second lieutenant in the sixth cavalry of the United States army; and is now stationed at Fort Meade, S.D.

Strong, Henry, lawyer, financier, railroad president, was born in 1829 in Scotland. He became widely known as a lawyer and financier, through his connection with various railroad corporations as general or consulting attorney, including the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, the Des Moines Valley, the Union Pacific, and the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, of which last named company he was president.

Strong, James, congressman, was born in 1783 in Windham, Conn. In 1819-21 and 1823-31 he was a representative from New York to the sixteenth, eighteenth, nineteenth, twentieth and twenty-first congresses. He died Aug. 8, 1847, in Chester, N.J.

Strong, James, clergyman, author, was born in 1822 in New York. In 1868-94 he was professor in Drew seminary at Madison, N.J. He was the author of English Harmony of the Gospels; Greek Harmony of the Gospels; Irenics; The Tabernacle of Israel; Sacred Idyls; Future Life; Jewish Life; Our Lord's Life; Commentary on Ecclesiastes; and Concordance of the Bible. He died Aug. 7, 1894, in Round Lake, N.Y.

Strong, James Clark, soldier, was born in New York. In 1861 he was captain in the twenty-first regiment New York infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He was honorably discharged in 1866.

Strong, James Hooker, naval officer, was born April 26, 1814, in Canandaigua, N.Y. He was commissioned commodore in 1870; in 1873 was promoted to the rank of rear-admiral; and placed on the retired list in 1876. He died Nov. 23, 1882, in Columbia, S.C.

Strong, James Woodward, educator, clergyman, college president, was born Sept. 29, 1833, in Brownington, Vt. In 1858 he graduated from Beloit college where he received the degrees of A.M. and D.D.; in 1862 graduated from the Union theological seminary of New York; and received the honorary degree of LL.D. from Illinois college. In 1854-55 was city clerk; and in 1855-56 was city superintendent of schools at Beloit, Wis. In 1862-70 he filled pastorates in the congregational churches of Broadhead, Wis., and Faribault, Minn. In 1870-1903 he was the first president of Carleton college; and is now president emeritus. In 1872-1905 he was president of the Minnesota state home missionary society; and in 1865-1901 was a member of almost every national congregational council. He died Feb. 24, 1913, in Northfield, Minn.

Strong, Jamin, physician, lecturer, was born Nov. 27, 1825, near Rochester, N.Y. For twenty years he practiced medicine in Elyria, Ohio; and in 1869 was elected to the state legislature. In 1891 he was appointed health officer of Cleveland. He died Jan. 29, 1895, in Cleveland, Ohio.

Strong, Jedediah, congressman, was born Nov. 7, 1738, in Litchfield, Conn. In 1782-84 he was a delegate from Connecticut to the continental congress. He died June 21, 1802, in Litchfield, Conn.

Strong, John, pioneer, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born Aug. 16, 1738, in Coventry, Conn. He represented Dorset in the Vermont legislature in 1779-82; and served as assistant judge of Bennington county in 1781-82. In 1783 he returned to his old home in Addison, Vt.; sat again in the legislature in 1784-86; was first judge of the county court in 1785-1801; and judge of probate in 1786-1801. He died June 16, 1816, in Addison, N.Y.

Strong, Joseph, clergyman, was born Sept. 21, 1753, in Coventry, Conn. He graduated at Yale in 1772, and was for fifty-six years pastor of the First church of Norwich, Conn. He died Dec. 18, 1834, in Norwich, Conn.

Strong, Josiah, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 19, 1847, in Naperville, Ill. In 1886-98 he was general secretary of the Evangelical alliance for the United States; and since 1898 president League for Social Service. He is the author of Our Country, of which nearly two hundred thousand copies in English have been sold. He has been president of the American Institute of Social Science. He is the author of The New Era; The Twentieth Century City; Religious Movements for Social Betterment; Expansion; The Times and the Young Men; and The Next Great Awakening.

Strong, Julius L., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 8, 1828, in Bolton, Conn. He was a member of the Connecticut legislature for two years. In 1869-73 he was a representative from Connecticut to the forty-first and forty-second congresses as a republican. He died Sept. 7, 1872, in Hartford, Conn.

Strong, Latham Cornell, journalist, poet, was born June 12, 1845, in Troy, N.Y. He was the author of Castle Windows; Pots of Gold; Poke o' Moonshine; and Midsummer Dreams. He died Dec. 17, 1879, in Tarrytown, N.Y.

Strong, Moses McCure, lawyer, legislator, author, was born May 20, 1810, in Rutland, Vt. In 1837 he was surveyor of government lands in Dubuque and Jackson counties, Iowa; was U. S. attorney for Wisconsin Territory; a member of the territorial legislative council; member of the constitutional convention in 1846; and speaker of the house of representatives in 1850. He was actively connected with the construction of the La Crosse and Milwaukee railroad; and its president from 1852-57. In 1885-94 he was president of the state board of law examiners. He was the author of History of the Territory of Wisconsin from 1836-'48 (Madison, 1885). He died July 20, 1894, in Mineral Point, Wis.

Strong, Luther M., soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born June 23, 1838, near Tiffin, Ohio. He enlisted as a private in the forty-ninth Ohio volunteer infantry early in 1861; was elected captain of company G; and promoted to major and lieutenant-colonel. He was senior officer of the regiment and in command thereof from about the time of the fall of Atlanta until after the battle of Nashville; and resigned in 1865 on account of a wound. He is a successful lawyer of Kenton, Ohio; was a member of the board of education for many years; and was elected to the state senate in 1879 and 1881. He was appointed judge of the court of common pleas to fill a vacancy. In 1893-97 he was a representative to the fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses as a republican.

Strong, Nathan, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 16, 1748, in Coventry, Conn. He was a chaplain in the revolutionary army; and an able patriot. He was the author of Sermons; The Doctrine of Eternal Misery Consistent with the Infinite Benevolence of God. He died Dec. 25, 1816, in Hartford, Conn.

Strong, Nehemiah, educator, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 24, 1730, in Northampton, Mass. In 1770-81 he was the first professor of mathematics and natural philosophy at Yale. He was the author of Astronomy Improved. He died Aug. 12, 1807, in Bridgeport, Conn.

Strong, Samuel, soldier, was born July 17, 1762, in Salisbury, Conn. During the war of 1812 he raised of his own accord a body of soldiers; and hastened to the relief of the garrison at Plattsburg, N.Y. He received for his services the formal thanks of the legislatures of Vermont and New York, and a gold sword from the latter. He died Dec. 5, 1832, in Vergennes.

Strong, Oliver Smith, merchant, legislator, philanthropist, was born Dec. 11, 1806, in New York City. In 1856-74 he was president of the Society for the Reformation of Juvenile Delinquents, of which he had long been a director; and the prosperity of the House of Refuge is largely due to his efforts. In 1848 he was chosen a member of the New Jersey legislature. He died April 30, 1874, in Mount Vernon, N.Y.

Strong, Selah, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Dec. 25, 1737, in Setauket, N.Y. He was a delegate to the Provincial congress in 1775. He served as a captain in the Revolution; was a state senator in 1792-96; and first judge of the county court of common pleas in 1783. He died July 4, 1815, in Setauket, N.Y.

Strong, Selah Brewster, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born May 11, 1792, in Brookhaven, Mass. He served in the war of 1812; and was made captain of his regiment in 1815. In 1843-45 he was a representative to the twenty-eighth congress; and in 1846-60 was judge of the supreme court. He died Nov. 29, 1872, in Setauket, N.Y.

Strong, Simeon, lawyer, jurist, was born March 6, 1736, in Northampton, Mass. He was a representative in the general court of Massachusetts in 1767-69; a state senator in 1793; and a justice of the supreme court of Massachusetts in 1801-05. He died Dec. 14, 1805, in Amherst, Mass.

Strong, Solomon, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1779 in Massachusetts. In 1815-19 he was a representative from Massachusetts to the fourteenth and fifteenth congresses; was a member of the state legislature in 1812-13 and 1843-44; and was judge of the court of common pleas in 1818-42. He died Sept. 16, 1850, in Massachusetts.

Strong, Stephen, congressman, was born in Connecticut. In 1845-47 he was a representative from New York to the twenty-ninth congress. He died in New York.

Strong, Theodore, educator, mathematician, author, was born July 26, 1790, in South Hadley, Mass. He was a professor of mathematics at Rutgers college in 1827-63. He was the author of Treatise on Elementary Algebra; and On Differential and Integral Calculus. He died Feb. 1, 1869, in New Brunswick.

Strong, Theron Rudd, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 7, 1802, in Salisbury, Conn. He served in the assembly of New York from Wayne county in 1842; and in 1839-41 he was a representative from New York to the twenty-sixth congress. In 1852-60 he was judge of the New York supreme court. He died May 15, 1873, in New York City.

Strong, Thomas J., soldier, was born in Vermont. In 1861 he was captain in the twenty-second regiment New York infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Sept. 5, 1885.

Strong, Thomas Morris, clergyman, author, was born April 20, 1797, in Coopers-town, N.Y. In 1822-61 he was a pastor of the Dutch reformed church in Flatbush, L.I. He was the author of History of the Town of Flatbush. He died June 14, 1861, in Flatbush, L.I.

Strong, Thomas Nelson, soldier, lawyer, author, was born March 17, 1853, in Cathlamet, Wash. In 1869-73 he was engineer on the Northern Pacific railroad; and since 1874 has practiced law in Portland, Ore. He is the author of The Spanish Revolution; and Cathlamet on the Columbia.

Strong, Titus, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 26, 1787, in Brighton, Mass. In 1814-55 he was rector of St. James church of Greenfield, Mass. He was the author of Tears of Columbia, a Political Poem; Candid Examination of the Episcopal Church; The Deerfield Captive; and The Young Scholar's Manual. He died in June, 1855, in Greenfield, Mass.

Strong, William, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born in Windham county, Conn. In 1811-15 and 1819-21 he was a representative from Vermont to the twelfth, thirteenth and sixteenth congresses. He was for eight years sheriff of Hartford county; and was judge of the same county. He was a member of the state legislature for eight years. He died in Hartford county, Vt.

Strong, William, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born May 6, 1808, in Somers, Conn. In 1847-51 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirtieth and thirty-first congresses. In 1857-68 he was associate justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania. In 1870-80 he was an associate justice of the supreme court of the United States. He died Aug. 19, 1895, in Lake Minnewaska, N.Y.

Strong, William, lawyer, jurist, was born in Vermont. He was an early emigrant to the territory of Washington; and was an associate justice of the United States for the territory of Oregon in 1850-53. He died in Oregon.

Strong, William B., railroad manager, banker, was born about 1830 in Brownington, Vt. He began railroading in 1854; filled the positions of superintendent and general manager on various roads; and for ten years was president of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad. He subsequently became a banker at Beloit, Wis.

Strong, William Emerson, soldier, merchant, was born Aug. 10, 1840, in Granville, N.Y. In 1865 he was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He was inspector-general of the Freedmen's bureau in 1865-66; and in 1867-73 was secretary of the Peshtigo lumber company in Chicago, Ill., of which he was president in 1873-91. He died April 10, 1891, in Florence, Italy.

Strong, William Kerley, soldier, merchant, was born April 30, 1805, in Duanesburg, N.Y. He became an extensive wool merchant of New York City. With General John C. Fremont and others he was instrumental in the purchase of arms for the union government. He served for some time under Fremont; was in command at Cairo, Ill.; and was made a brigadier-general of volunteers. He died March 15, 1868, in New York City.

Strong, William L., merchant, banker, was born March 22, 1827, in Londonville, Ohio. He was mayor of the City of New York. He was president of the Central national bank; and was also vice president of the New York security and trust company. He died in 1900 in New York City.

Stroock, Moses J., lawyer, was born Aug. 18, 1866, in New York City. He is a director of Marion Realty company, the Atlas Investor's company, the Borough Investing company, the Stroock Felt mills, the Stroock Plush company and other corporations. He is a trustee of the college of the City of New York.

Strother, David Hunter, Porte Crayon, soldier, artist, author, was born Sept. 16, 1816, in Martinsburg, W.Va. He was an artist of Berkeley Springs, W.Va.; and a magazinist. During the civil war he was a colonel in the union army; and in 1865 he was brevetted brigadier-general. He was the author of The Blackwater Chronicle; and Virginia Illustrated. He died March 8, 1888, in Charles Town, W.Va.

Strother, George F., lawyer, congressman, was born in Culpepper county, Va. In 1817-21 he was a representative from Virginia to the fifteenth and sixteenth congresses; and in 1820 was appointed receiver of public moneys at St. Louis, Mo. He died in St. Louis, Mo.

Strother, James F., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Sept. 4, 1811, in Culpepper county, Va. He served ten years in the legislature of Virginia and was speaker in 1847-48. In 1850 he was a member of the convention which framed the present constitution of the state. In 1851-53 he was a representative to the thirty-second congress. He died Sept. 20, 1860, in Culpepper county, Va.

Stroud, George McDowell, lawyer, author, was born Oct. 12, 1795, in Stroudsburg, Pa. For many years he was judge of the district court of Philadelphia. He was the author of Sketch of Laws Relating to Slavery in the Several States. He died June 29, 1875, in Germantown, Pa.

Strout, Sewall Cushing, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 17, 1827, in Wales, Maine. He received a thorough education in the schools and academies of Portland, Me.; and received the degree of A.M. from Bowdoin college. In 1848 he was admitted to the practice of law; and in 1894 practiced his profession in Portland, Me. He tried many important cases; and was prominent in business and public affairs in this city. Since 1894 he has been judge of the supreme judicial court of Maine.

Strouse, Myer, lawyer, journalist, congressman, was born Dec. 16, 1825, in Germany. In 1863-67 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-eighth and thirty-ninth congresses. He died Feb. 11, 1878, in Pottsville, Pa.

Strover, Carl Bernhard Wittekind, lawyer, author, soldier, was born Dec. 11, 1865, in Prussia. During the Spanish-American war he was a major in the Illinois volunteers. He now practices law in Chicago, Ill. He is the author of The Hawaiian Problem.

Strowd, William F., farmer, congressman, was born Dec. 7, 1832, in Orange county, N.C. He is a farmer of Pittsboro, N.C. In 1895-99 he was a representative to the fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses.

Struble, George B., lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born July 25, 1836, in Sussex county, N.J. He has been circuit judge of the eighth judicial district of Iowa; and is one of the foremost lawyers of that state at Toledo. He served with distinction as a member of the eighteenth and nineteenth general assemblies of Iowa; and was speaker during his second term. In 1896 he was a delegate to the republican national convention, held in St. Louis, Mo.; and for the past quarter of a century has been prominently identified with the political affairs of Iowa.

Struble, Isaac S., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 3, 1843, near Fredericksburg, Va. He served in the union army throughout the civil war. In 1872 he moved to Le Mars, Iowa, and continued the practice of law. In 1883-91 he was a representative from Iowa to the forty-eighth, forty-ninth, fiftieth and fifty-first congresses as a republican.

Strudwick, William, congressman, was born in North Carolina. In 1796-97 he was a representative from North Carolina to the fourth congress. He died in North Carolina.

Struve, Henry G., lawyer, government official, was born Nov. 17, 1836, in Germany. In 1859 he began to practice law in Vancouver, Wash. He was elected district attorney for the second judicial district; in 1865 was a member of the lower house of the state legislature; and in 1867 was elected to the council. In 1882 he was elected mayor of Seattle, Wash.

Stryker, Melancthon Woolsey, educator, clergyman, college president, author, was born Jan. 7, 1851, in Vernon, N.Y. He is a presbyterian clergyman and educator; in 1876-92 filled pastorates; and president of Hamilton college since 1892. He is the author of Miriam, and Other Verse; Hamilton, Lincoln, and Other Addresses; The Letter of James the Just; and sermons and addresses.

Stryker, Peter, clergyman, lecturer, author, poet, was born April 8, 1826, in Fairfield, N.J. He is an eminent clergyman of the reformed church; and now fills a pastorate in Asbury Park, N.J. In 1895 he became president of the general synod of the reformed church of America; and has been manager of the National Temperance society since its organization in 1806. In 1883 he was president of the New York state temperance society. He is the author of Three Little Graves; Gems for the Savior's Crown; and a collection of poems entitled Words of Comfort. He died in 1900 in Asbury Park, N.J.

Stryker, William Scudder, soldier, banker, author, was born June 8, 1838, in Trenton, N.J. In the beginning of the civil war he assisted in organizing the fourteenth New Jersey volunteers; and was aide on General Gillmore's staff in 1862. He was president of the Trenton banking company in New Jersey. In 1900 he was adjutant general of New Jersey. He is the author of The Reed Controversy; New Jersey Continental Line in the Virginia Campaign of 1781; New Jersey Continental Line in the Indian Campaign of 1779, and The New Jersey Volunteers in the Revolutionary War. He died in 1900 in Trenton, N.J.

Stuart, Alexander, merchant, philanthropist, was born Dec. 22, 1810, in New York City. He was a generous donor to philanthropic objects. The brothers began in 1852 to devote each year a certain minimum sum to works of benevolence, chiefly connected with the presbyterian church; and before the death of Alexander had given away over one million dollars, which was increased by the subsequent gifts of Robert L. to nearly two million dollars. He died Dec. 23, 1879, in New York.

Stuart, Alexander, lawyer, jurist. He was appointed an associate justice of the United States court for the territory of Illinois in 1809; and in 1814 was transferred to a similar position in the territory of Missouri. He died in Missouri.

Stuart, Alexander Hugh Holmes, lawyer, state senator, congressman, cabinet officer, was born April 2, 1807, in Staunton, Va.

In 1836-38 he was a member of the house of delegates of Virginia. In 1841-43 he was a representative from Virginia to the twenty-seventh congress. He was a presidential elector in 1848; and in 1850-53 he was secretary of the interior. In 1856 he was a member of the convention which nominated Mr. Fillmore for the presidency; and in 1857-61 was a member of the state senate of Virginia. He died Feb. 13, 1891, Staunton, Va.

Stuart, Ambrose Pascal Sevilon, educator, scientist, was born Nov. 22, 1820, in Sterling, Mass. In 1868-74 he filled the chair of chemistry in Illinois Industrial university. His chemical researches have been published in the transactions of societies. He died in 1899 in Lincoln, Neb.

Stuart, Andrew, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1853-55 he was a representative from Ohio to the thirty-third congress as a democrat. He died in Steubenville, Ohio.

Stuart, Archibald, congressman, was born in Virginia. In 1837-39 he was a representative from Virginia to the twenty-fifth congress. He died in Mt. Airy, Va.

Stuart, Charles Beebe, civil engineer, author, was born June 4, 1814, in Chittenango Springs, N.Y. In 1850-53 he was engineer-in-chief of the United States navy. He was the author of Naval Dry Docks of the United States; Water Works of the United States; and Civil and Military Engineers of the United States. He died Jan. 4, 1881, in Geneva, N.Y.

Stuart, Charles Duff, lawyer, author, was born Aug. 27, 1854, in San Francisco, Cal. In 1883-84 he practiced law, in 1890-91 he was engaged as a fruit grower; and since 1898 has been public accountant of San Francisco. He is the author of Casa Grande.

Stuart, Charles E., soldier, lawyer, congressman, United States senator, was born Nov. 25, 1810, in Columbia county, N.Y. He was a member of the Michigan legislature in 1842; and in 1847-49 and 1851-53 he was a representative to the thirtieth and thirty-second congresses. In 1853-59 he was United States senator. He died in 1887 in Kalamazoo, Mich.

Stuart, Charles Macaulay, theologian, author, was born Aug. 20, 1853, in Glasgow, Scotland. Since 1896 he has been professor of sacred rhetoric in the Garrett biblical institute; and in 1909 was elected editor of the Northwestern Christian Advocate of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of Descriptive Text of Photogravures of the Holy Land, Life and Selected Writings of Francis Dana Hemenway; Singers and Their Songs; Visions of Christ in the Poets; and Story of the Masterpieces.

Stuart, David, congressman, was born March 12, 1816, in Brooklyn, N.Y. In 1853-55 he was a representative from Michigan to the thirty-third congress. He died Sept. 19, 1868, in Detroit, Mich.

Stuart, Edwin Sydney, merchant, governor, was born Dec. 28, 1853, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1868 he was engaged in the book selling and publishing business. In 1891-95 he was mayor of Philadelphia, and was one of the trustees of the estate of Stephen Girard, having charge of Girard college. In 1901 he was president of Electoral college of Pennsylvania. In 1907-11 he was governor of the state of Pennsylvania.

Stuart, George, educator, author, was born about 1834 in Saratoga county, N.Y. As co-editor of the Chase and Stuart Classical Series he was the author of elementary Latin books and school editions of Caesar's Gallic War; Cicero's Select Orations; and works of Sallust, Cornelius Nepos, Tacitus, Virgil, and Ovid. He died March 16, 1897.

Stuart, George Hay, merchant, philanthropist, was born April 2, 1816, in Ireland. He became a merchant in Philadelphia, Pa. He presided over the international conventions of the Young men's christian associations in 1859 and 1861; and over the presbyterian national convention in Philadelphia in 1867. He twice declined a seat in President Grant's cabinet, but consented to serve on the first board of Indian commissioners. He died April 11, 1890, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Stuart, Gilbert, painter, artist, was born Dec. 3, 1755, in Narragansett, R.I. He had studios in England and the United States. He painted several portraits of George Washington and other eminent men. Some of his best works are owned by the Boston museum of fine arts and by the New York historical society. He died July 27, 1828, in Boston, Mass.

Stuart, Granville, soldier, pioneer, diplomat, was born Aug. 27, 1834, near Clarksburg, Va. In 1855 he served in the first regiment California volunteers in the second Rogue river Indian war, and participated in many attacks. For forty-six years he led the life of a hunter, miner, merchant and stockraiser. He was United States envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to the republics of Uruguay and Paraguay in 1894-98.

Stuart, Hamilton, journalist, state legislator, was born Sept. 4, 1813, in Jefferson county, Ky. In 1838 he removed to Texas, where he established the Civilian, an independent democratic journal, which he continued for nearly forty years. He resided in Galveston since its foundation; was its mayor in 1848-52; and served as a member of the legislature in 1847-48. He subsequently became one of the editors of the Galveston, News. He died Nov. 24, 1894, in Galveston, Texas.

Stuart, Isaac William, educator, state legislator, author, was born in 1809 in New Haven, Conn. He was thrice elected to the Connecticut state senate. While professor at South Carolina college he produced an annotated edition of the Edipus Tyrannus of Sophocles. In later life he gave much attention to American history and antiquities. He died Oct. 2, 1861, in Hartford, Conn.

Stuart, James Ewell Brown, soldier, was born Feb. 6, 1833, in Patrick county, Va. He commanded all the confederate cavalry at Bull Run; was made brigadier-general in 1861; and major-general in 1862. He was one of two generals in command at the battle of Beverly Ford. He was killed in battle May 11, 1864, near Richmond, Va.

Stuart, Jane, artist, author, was born about 1810. For many years she followed the profession of portrait-painting. She contemplated writing a life of her father; and published several papers in Scribner's Monthly in 1877. The work was subsequently written, at her request, by George Champlin Mason. She died April 28, 1888, in Newport, R.I.

Stuart, John Todd, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Nov. 10, 1807, near Lexington, Ky. In 1832 and 1834 he was a member of the Illinois legislature. In 1839-43 and 1863-65 he was a representative from Illinois to the twenty-sixth, twenty-seventh and twenty-eighth congresses. In 1848-52 he was a member of the state senate. He died Nov. 28, 1885, in Springfield, Ill.

Stuart, Mary McCrea, philanthropist, was born in 1810 in New York City. She was known through New York as one of the most philanthropic women there. She donated nearly five millions to various institutions, the principal ones being the Princeton theological seminary; New York historical society; and to Lenox library she willed nearly half a million dollars, and all her books, works of art, and shells and minerals. These were placed in a separate room of the building, and known as the Stuart collection. She died Dec. 30, 1891, in New York City.

Stuart, Moses, clergyman, educator, author, was born March 26, 1780, in Wilton, Conn. He was a congregational clergyman; and professor of sacred literature at Andover seminary in 1809-48. He was the author of Commentaries on the Epistles to the Romans and the Hebrews; Hints on the Prophecies; Conscience and the Constitution; and Critical History and Defense of the Old Testament Canon. He died Jan. 4, 1852, in Andover, Mass.

Stuart, Philip, soldier, congressman, was born in 1760 in Maryland. In 1811-19 he was a representative from Maryland to the twelfth, thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth congresses. During the war of 1812 he was an officer in the Maryland volunteers at the time of the British invasion. He died Aug. 14, 1830, in Washington, D.C.

Stuart, Robert, explorer, was born Feb. 19, 1785, in Scotland. In 1810 he was one of the founders of Astoria, Ore. In 1812, with a party of six, he traveled overland from Astoria to New York; and the story of the journey is given at length by Washington Irving in his Astoria. He was subsequently commissioner for all the Indian tribes in the northwest; and in 1834 became treasurer of Michigan at Detroit. He died Oct. 28, 1848, in Chicago, Ill.

Stuart, Ruth McEnery, litterateur, author, was born in Avoyelles Parish, La. She was educated in New Orleans until 1865.

She is the wife of the late Alfred A. Stuart. is the author of A Golden Wedding and Other Tales, Carlotta's Intended; The Story of Babette; Solomon Crow's Christmas Pockets and Others; In Sumpkinsville; Moriab's Mourning; Sonny; Holly and Pizen; The Woman's Ex- change; Napoleon Jackson; George Washington Jones; The River's Children; and The Second Wooing of Salina Sue.

Stuart, Robert Leighton, merchant, philanthropist, was born July 21, 1806, in New York City. In 1880 he gave fifty-five thousand dollars to the Presbyterian hospital of New York City; one hundred thousand dollars to Princeton theological seminary; one hundred thousand dollars to Princeton college; and fifty thousand dollars to the San Francisco theological seminary. Mr. Stuart's charities are continued by his widow, whose New York residence is among the finest in America. He died Dec. 12, 1882, in New York City.

Stubbs, Daniel Parham, lawyer, banker, state senator, was born July 7, 1829, in Prebe county, Ohio. In 1858 he settled permanently in Iowa, where he soon became one of the foremost lawyers of that state at Fairfield. In 1863 he was elected to the Iowa state senate; served four years in that body; and in 1866 was elected president pro tem. of the senate. In 1874 he was unanimously nominated for governor of Iowa; and in 1879 was nominated for congress; and in 1880 he received the entire vote of his party in the legislature for United States senator. He owns the Empire ranch, a stock farm of four hundred acres adjoining Fairfield; and is president of the Jefferson county state bank.

Stubbs, Joseph Edward, clergyman, college president, was born March 19, 1850, in Ashland, Ohio. In 1886-94 he was president of Baldwin university of Berea, Ohio; and since 1894 has been president of the Nevada state university.

Stubbs, William Carter, soldier, scientist, author, was born Dec. 7, 1846, in Gloucester county, Va. In the civil war he served in the confederate cavalry. In 1885-1905 he was professor of agriculture in the Louisiana state university; and since 1896 has been state chemist of Louisiana. He is the author of Sugar, in two volumes; The Descendants of Mordecai Cooke; and other works.

Stubbs, W. R., governor. In 1909-11 he was governor of the state of Pennsylvania.

Stuckart, Mary Coleman, philanthropist, was born in 1854 in Canada. She is a philanthropist of Denver, Col.; and designed a plan for a co-operative home, which should give to each family their own private and separate house and grounds; with a central building for their common use.

Stuckenberg, John Henry Wilburn, clergyman, educator, author, was born Jan. 6, 1835, in Germany. In 1873-80 he was professor of theology at Wittenberg college, Springfield, Ohio; and minister in charge of the American chapel at Berlin since 1880. He was the author of Christian Sociology; Life of Kant; and Introduction to the Study of Philosophy. He died in 1903 in Springfield, Ohio.

Studebaker, Clement, manufacturer, railroad president, was born March 12, 1831, in Adams county, Pa. He was a partner in the celebrated wagon manufacturing concern bearing his name in South Bend, Ind. In 1892 he was made president of the Chicago and South Bend railway at South Bend, Ind. He died Nov. 27, 1901, in South Bend, Ind.

Studebaker, Jacob F., manufacturer, financier, was born May 26, 1844, in Ashland, Ohio. He was the head of a carriage manufacturing company; and for some years was connected with repository and manufacturing company on Wabash avenue, Chicago, Ill. In 1880 he organized the Percheron horse company of Colorado. He died Dec. 17, 1887, in Chicago, Ill.

Studebaker, John Mohler, manufacturer, was born Oct. 10, 1833, in Gettysburg, Pa. For five years he built wagons in California; and with his savings then returned to South Bend and became the partner of his brothers. When the company was organized in 1868, he was made first vice-president, and is now president of Studebaker brothers manufacturing company, operating the largest vehicle works in the world.

Studebaker, John, merchant, banker, was born Aug. 15, 1817, in Darke county, Ohio. He began his mercantile operations in a log cabin in Bluffton, Ind.; was the agent of the American Fur company; and did a large business among the Indians. In 1856 he established the Exchange bank, which institution in 1863 was merged into the First national bank, of which he was president. Since 1868 he has been president of the Exchange bank of John Studebaker and company, which is now known as the Studebaker bank. He has been a candidate for congress.

Studebaker, Peter E., manufacturer, was born April 1, 1836, in Ashland county, Ohio. The firm of Studebaker brothers took him into partnership and sent him to St. Joseph, Mo., to establish a depot, where he built up a handsome trade with the plains. In 1884, the growing manufacture of fine carriages compelled him to remove to Chicago. He is now treasurer of the concern. He died Oct. 10, 1897, in South Bend, Ind.

Studer, Jacob Henry, publisher, author, ornithologist, was born Feb. 26, 1840, in Columbus, Ohio. In 1882 he founded the board of trade of Columbus, Ohio. He was president of the natural science association of America; and was in the publishing business in New York City. He was the author of Columbus, Ohio: Its History, Resources and Progress; The Birds of North America; and Ornithology or the Science of Birds. He died in 1904 in New York City.

Studley, John B., actor, was born in 1832 in Boston, Mass. He is one of the prominent actors of the United States; and has played leading parts in various plays in the principal cities of America.

Stuenenberger, F., governor. In 1896-1900 he was governor of Idaho.

Stueve, Clement August, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 27, 1855, in Minster, Auglaize county, Ohio. He was educated in the public and private schools of Minster and Toledo, Ohio. He has attained success in the practice of law at Wapakoneta, Ohio; has been clerk of the village; served one term as mayor of Wapakoneta; and has filled several other positions of trust and honor. He is judge of the probate court for Auglaize county for the term of 1903-06.

Stuever, Celia M., etcher, artist, was born in St. Louis, Mo. She studied in Munich and Vienna. She is a member of the society of western artists and the Chicago society of Etchers. She is represented in the public library of New York City, in the congressional library at Washington, at the St. Louis art museum, in the Budapest museum, and also in various art museums of America and Europe.

Stumbaugh, Frederick Shearer, soldier was born in Pennsylvania. In 1861 he was colonel in the second regiment Pennsylvania infantry; and in 1862 attained the rank of brigadier-general of volunteers. He was honorably discharged in 1863.

Stump, Herman, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Aug. 8, 1837, in Harford county, Md. He was elected to the Maryland state senate in 1878; and was made president of that body in 1880. In 1887-93 he was a representative to the fiftieth, fifty-first and fifty-second congresses as a democrat.

Stuntz, Homer Clyde, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 29, 1858, in Albion, Pa. Since 1884 he has been in the ministry of the methodist episcopal church; in 1886-95 he was a missionary to India and since 1907 has been field secretary of the board of foreign missions for the eastern division. He is the author of The Philippines of the Far East.

Stuntz, Stephen Conrad, librarian, bibliographer, author, was born April 4, 1875, in Clarno, Wis. In 1895-1902 he was library assistant at the university of Wisconsin. Since 1902 he has been a cataloguer and classifier at the library of congress in Washington, D.C. He is the author of the Second Mrs. Jim; and Mrs. Jim and Mrs. Jimmie.

Sturdevant, James Warner, educator, business president, was born Dec. 9, 1850, in Chautauqua county, N.Y. In 1876 he graduated from Cornell university with the degree of B.S.; and was senior editor of the Cornell Era. He was superintendent of schools for several years. In 1891 he organized the Densmore typewriter company, of which corporation he is president. He is greatly interested in forestry and pomology.

Sturgeon, Daniel, physician, state legislator, United States senator, was born Oct. 27, 1789, in Adams county, Pa. In 1818 he was chosen a member of the Pennsylvania house of representatives, serving three terms; and in 1825 he was elected to the state senate, being speaker of that body the last three years of his term. In 1830-36 he was auditor-general of the state; and in 1838-39 he was state treasurer; and ended the buckshot war by refusing to honor Governor Ritner's warrant for payment of the troops. In 1839-51 he was United States senator. In 1853-58 he was treasurer of the United States mint at Philadelphia. He died July 2, 1878, in Unlontown, Pa.

Sturges, Jonathan, merchant, philanthropist, was born March 24, 1802, in Southport, Conn. He was distinguished for philanthropy; and was liberal as a founder or supporter of many charities in New York City. He was at one time vice-president of the New York chamber of commerce, an active member of the Century club, and a generous patron of art. He died Nov. 28, 1874, in New York City.

Sturges, William Spencer, stockman, public official, was born March 3, 1856, in Duncans Falls, Ohio. He was educated in the public schools and at the college of Racine, Wis. In 1880-87 he was engaged in mining enterprises in Arizona and since 1887 has been engaged in mining and cattle raising. Since 1894 he has been a member of the territorial republican committee of Arizona; and in 1905-06 was chairman of that committee. Since 1904 he has been a member of the national republican committee of Arizona. He is chairman of the livestock board of Arizona; a member of the Sons of the American revolution; and a member of the Loyal legion.

Sturges, Mary Upshur, author, poet, was born April 7, 1828, in Accomac county, Va. She is a successful writer of New York City, and the author of Confederate Notes, a novel; and a volume of Poems.

Sturgis, Frederic Russell, physician, surgeon, author, was born July 7, 1844, in the Philippine islands. He is a prominent physician and surgeon of New York City. He is the author of Human Cestoids; and Students' Manual of Venereal Diseases.

Sturgis, John F., lawyer, was born Nov. 27, 1861, in East Springfield, Ohio. He was a member of the state congress from the fifteenth district of Missouri.

Sturgis, Jonathan, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Aug. 23, 1740, in Fairfield, Conn. In 1785-87 he was a delegate from Connecticut to the continental congress; espoused and supported the cause of independence; and in 1789-93 he was a representative to the first and second congresses. He was a judge of the supreme court of Connecticut in 1793-1805; and was a presidential elector in 1797 and 1805. He died Oct. 4, 1819, in Fairfield, Conn.

Sturgis, Julian, lawyer, author, was born Oct. 21, 1848, in Boston, Mass. He was the author of John-a-Dreams; An Accomplished Gentleman; Dick's Wandering; John Maidment; Thralldom; My Friends and I; Comedy of a Country House; Master of Fortune; After Twenty Years; and The Folly of Pen Harrington. He died in 1904 in England.

Sturgis, Lewis Burr, congressman, was born in 1762 in Fairfield, Conn. In 1805-17 he was a representative from Connecticut to the ninth, tenth, eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth and fourteenth congresses. He died March 30, 1844, in Norwalk, Ohio.

Sturgis, Orin Jones, educator, journalist, was born June 12, 1853, in Fayette county, Pa. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools; attended the George Creek academy at Smithfield, the Bucknell university, and in 1879 graduated from Brown university, R.I. For several years he taught in the public schools; was postmaster of Uniontown in 1884-85, and during 1881-91 was editor and part owner of the Republican Standard of Uniontown, Pa. In 1891-92 he was on the editorial staff of the Pittsburg Commercial Gazette, and since 1893 has been managing editor and part owner of the Uniontown News Standard.

Sturgis, Russell, soldier, merchant, diplomat, was born Aug. 3, 1831, in Boston, Mass. He was United States consul at Canton, but returned to Boston, and became a merchant in that city. In 1862-63 he served as captain and major in the forty-fifth Massachusetts regiment. He has been actively associated with the Young men's christian association since 1858; and was president of the Boston association. He died Oct. 16, 1899, in Portsmouth, N.H.

Sturgis, Russell, architect, author, was born Oct. 16, 1836, in Baltimore county, Md. He is an architect of New York City; a valued authority upon art, architecture, and archaeology; and was decorative art editor of the Century Dictionary. He is the author of European Architecture; A Historical Study; Annotated Bibliography of Fine Art; and Dictionary of Architecture.

Sturgis, Samuel Davis, soldier, was born June 11, 1822, in Shippensburg, Pa. At the opening of the civil war he was in command of Fort Smith, Ark. He was made brigadier-general of volunteers in 1861; was assigned to the army of the Tennessee; and afterward to the command of the Department of Kansas. He was brevetted colonel for Fredericksburg, and brigadier-general and major-general in the U. S. army in 1865. He died Sept. 22, 1889, in St. Paul, Minn.

Sturgiss, George Cookman, lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 16, 1842, in Poland, Ohio. In 1859 he moved to Morgantown, W.Va.; and was a student at the Monongahela academy. In 1863 he was admitted to the practice of law; and during the civil war was a paymaster's clerk. In 1866-70 he was county superintendent of free schools; in 1870-72 was a member of the house of delegates of West Virginia; for eight years was prosecuting attorney of his county; and in 1880 was the republican nominee for governor of West Virginia. In 1889 he was appointed United States attorney for the district of West Virginia. He organized the Morgantown and Kingwood railroad company; and in 1906 built and owns the Sabraton electric railroad. For four years he was president of the board of regents of the West Virginia university; and was president of the state board of trade. In 1907-11 he was a representative from West Virginia to the sixtieth and sixty-first congresses as a republican.

Sturtevant, Edward Lewis, agriculturist, journalist, author, was born Jan. 23, 1842, in Boston, Mass. In 1881-87 he was in charge of the New York agricultural station at Geneva. Besides making large contributions to agricultural papers, he edited the Scientific Farmer in 1876-79, the North American Ayrshire Register and the annual Reports of the New York Agricultural Experiment Station; and with Joseph N. Sturtevant, published The Daily Cow. He died in 1898 in Geneva, N.Y.

Sturtevant, John C., manufacturer, banker, congressman, was born Feb. 20, 1835, in Spring Township, Pa. In 1861-64 he was an officer in the house of representatives at Harrisburg, Pa.; and was a member of the house of representatives in 1865-66. He removed to Conneautville in 1867; and was engaged in manufacturing and milling until 1888. In 1874 he was appointed cashier of the First National bank of Conneautville; and in 1875 was elected president of the same bank. In 1897-99 he was a representative to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

Sturtevant, Julian Monson, educator, author, was born July 26, 1805, in Warren, Conn. He was professor in Illinois college in 1830-88. He was the author of Economics, or the Science of Wealth; and Keys of Sect. He died Feb. 11, 1886, in Jackson-ville, Ill.

Stuyvesant, Peter, colonial governor, was born in 1602 in Holland. He entered the Dutch military service, and was made governor of a colony on the island of Curacoa. In 1647-63 he was governor of the colony of New Netherlands, now New York. When the English fleet reached his territory in 1664, he was obliged to surrender; and was the last Dutch governor of the Island of Manhattan. His title was captain, general and governor-in-chief of Amsterdam in New Netherland and the Dutch West India Islands. He died in 1672 in New York City.

Stuyvesant, Peter Gerard, lawyer, founder, was born in 1778 in New York City. He was a founder of the New York historical society, of which he was president in 1836-40. He died Aug. 16, 1847, at Niagara Falls, N.Y.

Suckley, George, soldier, physician, surgeon, author, was born in 1830 in New York City. He became brigade surgeon in 1861; and in 1862-65 was staff surgeon, United States volunteers; and in 1865 he became brevet lieutenant-colonel and colonel. He was the author of Reports on the Natural History, Climate, and Physical Geography of Minnesota, Nebraska, Washington and Oregon Territories. He died July 30, 1869, in New York City.

Suckley, Thomas Holy, philanthropist, was born Nov. 21, 1809, in New York City. He gave large sums for the support of the missions of the methodist church; and was a benefactor of the Children's aid society, the Brooklyn methodist episcopal hospital, and the Society for the prevention of cruelty to animals. He established the Mount Rutson Home for Aged Methodist Ministers near Rhinebeck, and endowed it liberally. He died Feb. 9, 1888, in Rhinebeck, N.Y.

Suddards, William, clergyman, journalist, was born in 1805 in England. In 1834 he assumed the rectorship of Grace church of Philadelphia. He was for fifteen years either associate or sole editor of The Episcopal Recorder; and also edited The British Pulpit. He died in Philadelphia, Pa.

Sudds, William F., musician, composer, was born March 5, 1843, in England. His compositions comprise both vocal and instrumental music. He has also published National School for the Piano-Forte; and several collections of music in book-form, including Anthem Gems; and Modern Sacred Duets.

Sudduth, William Xavier, physician, lecturer, was born Jan. 18, 1853, in Springfield, Ill. He prepared for college at the Illinois State Normal university, and graduated from the Illinois Wesleyan university with the degree of Ph.B., subsequently receiving the degree of A.M. from the same institution. He attended lectures during the winters of 1883-84 in the college of Physicians and Surgeons of New York City; and the medico-chirurgical college of Philadelphia in 1884-85; and graduating therefrom in 1885. He then studied in the universities of Berlin, Heidelberg and Vienna. He was a special lecturer on biology in the university of Iowa, 1888-89, in the university of California, 1891-92, and in the Minneapolis academy, 1893-95; and university extension lecturer on biology and psycho-physics, in the university of Minnesota, 1893-95; and was later professor of morbid psychology and psycho-therapeutics and director of the psycho-physical laboratory of the Post-Graduate medical school of Chicago; also superintendent and chief consulting physician in the Sanitarium, Lake Forest, Ill. He has retired from medical practice; and is now extensively engaged in ranching and farming.

Sudworth, George Bishop, botanist, author, was born Aug. 31, 1862, in Kingston, Wis. Since 1895 he has been dendrologist in the division of forestry of the United States department of agriculture. He is the author of Forest Flora of the Rocky Mountain Region; Forest Flora of Tennessee; and other works.

Sullivan, Alexander, lawyer, was born Aug. 9, 1847, near Waterville, Maine. In 1883 he was chosen first president of the Irish National league of America, whose object is to promote home rule in Ireland, which position he resigned in 1884. He devotes his entire time to the profession of law in Chicago, Ill.

Sullivan, Dennis, capitalist, was born in December, 1837, in Rensselaer county, N.Y. In 1865 was superintendent of the United States petroleum company; and in 1867 was agent of the Quartzhill gold mining company. He was the first miner in Gilpin county to sink shafts to a depth of twelve hundred feet. In 1889 he became president of the Denver water company.

Sullivan, Mrs. Elizabeth Higgins, litterateur, was born Dec. 14, 1874, in Columbus, Neb. She is a writer of Omaha, Neb. She is the author of Out of the West.

Sullivan, George, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Aug. 29, 1771, in Durham, N.H. He was a representative in the general court of New Hampshire in 1805-13. In 1811-13 he was a representative to the twelfth congress; was a member of the state senate in 1814-15; and was twenty-one years attorney-general of the state, which office he resigned in 1836. He died June 14, 1838, in Exeter, N.H.

Sullivan, H. M., lawyer, jurist. In 1808 he was associate justice of the supreme court of Nebraska.

Sullivan, Isaac N., lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 3, 1848, in Iowa. He was educated in the public schools and at Adrian college of Michigan. For many years he practiced law in Iowa and at Hailey, Idaho; and attained prominence at the bar. In 1890 he was elected associate justice of the supreme court of Idaho; was re-elected in 1892, 1898, 1904 and 1908; was three times chief justice; and is now serving term ending in 1912. He is prominently identified with the republican party, and resides in Hailey, Idaho.

Sullivan, J. J., lawyer, jurist. He was an associate justice and since 1903 has been chief justice of the state supreme court of Nebraska.

Sullivan, James, lawyer, jurist, congressman, governor, author, was born April 22, 1744, in Berwick, Maine. In 1775 he was a member of the provincial congress. In 1776-82 he was judge of the supreme court of Massachusetts; and in 1782 he was a delegate from Massachusetts to the continental congress; and was a member of the executive council and judge of probate. In 1790-1807 he was attorney-general; and in 1807-08 was the sixth governor of Massachusetts. He was the author of History of Land Titles of Massachusetts; Observations on the Government of the United States; The Path to Riches, or a Dissertation on Banks; The Altar of Baal Thrown Down, or the French Nation Defended; and Impartial Review of Causes of the French Revolution. He died Dec. 10, 1808, in Boston, Mass.

Sullivan, James, educator, author, was born Feb. 13, 1873, in Baltimore, Md. In 1899-1902 he was instructor in history at the DeWitt Clinton high school; in 1902-07 was head of the department of history at the high school of commerce of New York City; and since 1907 he has been principal of the boys' high school of Brooklyn, N.Y. He is the author of An Elementary History of England; and The Government of New York state.

Sullivan, James E., publisher, was born in New York City. He entered the publishing house of Frank Leslie in 1878. In 1889 he resigned to become business manager and editor of the New York Sporting Times; and is now president of the American Sports Publishing company. For seventeen years he has annually edited Spalding's Official Athletic Almanac, and numerous other sporting publications.

Sullivan, James William, journalist, author, was born in 1848 in Pennsylvania. He was editor of social reform journals in 1893-96. He is the author of Tenement Tales of New York; So the World Goes; and Direct Legislation through the Initiative and Referendum.

Sullivan, Jeremiah, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born July 21, 1794, in Harrisonburg, Va. He served for some time as a major of volunteers in the war of 1812. In 1821 he was elected to the Indiana legislature, and while a member of that body proposed Indianapolis as the name for the state capital. In 1831-37 he was one of the fund commissioners for the state; in 1837 he was appointed one of the judges of the state supreme court; and he was judge of the criminal court of Jefferson county in 1869-70. He was once an unsuccessful candidate for congress. He died Dec. 6, 1870, in Madison, Ind.

Sullivan, Jeremiah Cutler, soldier, was born Oct. 1, 1830, in Madison, Ind. In 1861 he was captain in the sixth regiment Indiana infantry; and in 1862 attained the rank of brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Oct. 21, 1890, in Oakland, Cal.

Sullivan, John, soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, governor, was born Feb. 17, 1740, in Somersworth, N.H. He attained the rank of major-general in the revolutionary army. In 1774-75 and 1780-81 he was a delegate from New Hampshire to the continental congress. In 1789-95 he was district judge of the United States district court. In 1790-92 he was republican governor of New Hampshire. He died Jan. 23, 1795, in Durham, N.H.

Sullivan, John A., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born May 10, 1868, in Boston, Mass. Since 1896 he has practiced law in Boston, Mass.; and served two years as a member of the Massachusetts state senate. In 1903-07 he was a representative from Massachusetts to the fifty-eighth and fifty-ninth congresses as a democrat.

Sullivan, John Langdon, civil engineer, physician, inventor, was born April 9, 1777, in Saco, Maine. He was appointed engineer of the first canal in the United States, between Boston harbor and the Merrimac river; and in 1814 received a patent for the first steam tow-boat. He died Feb. 10, 1865, in Boston, Mass.

Sullivan, John Turner Sargent, lawyer, author, poet, was born in 1813 in Boston, Mass. He wrote several well-known songs; and he, besides the memoir of his father, published translations of stories from the German. He died Dec. 31, 1849, in Boston, Mass.

Sullivan, Mrs. Margaret Frances, journalist, author, was born in Ireland. She married Alexander Sullivan, a lawyer of Chicago, Ill. She was literary and art editor of the Chicago Tribune; and an editorial contributor to the press of New York. She was author of Ireland of To-Day; and Mexico, Picturesque, Political and Progressive. She died in 1903 in Chicago, Ill.

Sullivan, Peter John, soldier, diplomat, author, was born March 15, 1821, in Ireland. He served through the Mexican war, attaining the rank of major; and at its close was appointed an official stenographer in the U. S. senate. He was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers in 1865, for gallant and meritorious services; and immediately after was appointed by President Johnson minister to the United States of Colombia, serving till 1869. He was the author of the Don Felix Letters, or Pen-Portraits of Members of the Bar. He died March 2, 1883, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Sullivan, Thomas Crook, soldier, was born Nov. 14, 1833, in Montgomery county, Ohio. He was brigadier-general and commissary-general of subsistence in the United States army; and was retired in 1897. He served in the army through all grades of the commissioned officer until retired by operation of law. He died in 1908 in Troy, Ohio.

Sullivan, Thomas Russell, educator, clergyman, author, was born in 1799 in Brookline, Mass. In 1825-35 he was a unitarian clergyman of Keene, N.H.; and in 1835-62 an educator of Boston. He was the author of Letters Against the Immediate Abolition of Slavery; and Limits of Responsibility in Reforms. He died Dec. 23, 1862, in Somerville, Mass.

Sullivan, Thomas Russell, dramatist, author, was born Nov. 21, 1849, in Boston, Mass. He is a novelist of Boston. He is the author of Tom Sylvester; Roses of Shadow; Day and Night Stories; and several plays.

Sullivan, Timothy D., state senator, congressman. He is a theatrical manager; and has been a member of the New York state senate. In 1903-05 he was a representative from New York to the fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth, sixtieth, sixty-first, sixty-second and sixty-third congresses as a democrat.

Sullivan, William, lawyer, state legislator, author, was born Nov. 30, 1774, in Saco, Maine. He was frequently a member of the Massachusetts legislature and council between 1804-30. He was also a brigadier-general of militia. He was the author of Familiar Letters on Public Men of the Revolution; Historical Causes and Effects; and Sea Life. He died Sept. 3, 1830, in Boston, Mass.

Sullivan, Will Van Amberg, lawyer, congressman, United States senator, was born

Dec. 18, 1857, near Winona, Miss. He was educated in the public schools; at the university of Mississippi; in 1875 graduated from Vanderbilt university. He was reared on a farm in Panola county, Miss., and began the practice of law in 1875. He has been a member of the board of aldermen and a school trustee of Oxford, Miss. In 1897-98 he was representative from Mississippi to the fifty fifth congress; and in 1898-1901 was a member of the United States senate to fill a vacancy. He has been a member of the county and district democratic committee; a member of two national conventions; and in 1896-1900 was a member of the democratic national committee.

Sullivant, Michael Lucas, farmer, was born Aug. 6, 1807, in Franklinton, Ohio. In 1854 he bought eighty thousand acres of land in Illinois, and engaged in farming on a larger scale than had ever been attempted before. He introduced new methods and improved machinery on his farm of Broadlands, but, meeting with reverses, he sold part of his property and retired to his farm of forty thousand acres at Burr Oaks, Ill. He died Jan. 29, 1879, in Henderson, Ky.

Sullivant, William Starling, botanist, author, was born Jan. 15, 1803, near Franklinton, Ohio. He was the author of Musci Alleghanienses; Musci Cubenses; Icones Muscorum; and Musci and Hepaticae of the United States East of the Mississippi. He died April 30, 1873, near Columbus, Ohio.

Suloway, Cyrus Adams, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born June 8, 1839, in Grafton, N.H. He was a member of the New Hampshire house of representatives in 1872-73 and 1887-93. In 1895-1911 he was a representative from New Hampshire to the fifty-fourth, fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh, fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth, sixtieth and sixty first congresses as a republican.

Sully, Alfred, soldier, was born in 1821 in Philadelphia, Pa. He served through the Mexican and civil wars; and attained the rank of brigadier-general. He died April 17, 1879, in Fort Vancouver, Wash.

Sully, Alfred, lawyer, banker, railroad president, was born May 2, 1841, in Ottawa, Canada. In 1862-72 he practiced law in Davenport, Iowa; and in 1872-76 was engaged as a banker in New York City. In 1876 he became largely interested in building and operating the Manhattan beach railroad; and has since been successively president of the Ohio southern railroad company, the Richmond and Danville railroad company, the Richmond-West Point terminal; and various other railroads. For several years he was also connected with the Philadelphia and Reading railroad company and its reorganization.

Sully, Daniel Sullivan, actor, playwright, was born Nov. 6, 1855, in Newport, R.I. He was a dancer from boyhood; and in 1875 went on the stage as a specialty performer. He wrote and produced The Corner Grocery; Capital Prize; The Chief Justice; and Our Pastor.

Sully, Thomas, artist, author, was born June 8, 1783, in England. He was a distinguished portrait painter of Philadelphia. He was author of Hints to Young Painters. He died Nov. 5, 1872, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Sulzbacher, Louis, lawyer, jurist, was born May 10, 1842, in Bavaria. In 1904 he was justice of the supreme court of Porto Rico; and in 1904-07 was United States judge of the western district of Indian territory.

Sumerlin, Adolf, journalist, state legislator, was born Aug. 24, 1851, in Keosauqua, Iowa. He was an editor and litterateur of Shelbyville, Ill. He practiced law in Springfield, Mo., and in 1878 moved to Mattoon, Ill. Since 1872 he has been editor of the Commercial. He was twice nominated for the Illinois state legislature; served two terms as assistant supervisor; two terms as the chairman of the board of supervisors, one term as overseer of the poor; and in 1886 was democratic nominee for county judge. He was also nominee for city attorney and was a candidate for congress.

Sulzer, William, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born March 18, 1863, in Elizabeth, N.J. He was educated in the public schools, studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1884, and is a well-known lawyer of New York City. He was a member of the legislature in 1880-94; in 1892 he was the leader of the majority of the assembly, and in 1893 he was speaker of the assembly. In 1894 he was the leader of the minority of the assembly. In 1895-1911 he was a representative to the fifty-fourth, fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh, fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth, sixtieth and sixty-first congresses as a democrat. As a lawyer and legislator he has won considerable fame and reputation, and has been identified with some of the most important cases tried in New York City. He has introduced and passed some of the best laws for the people in recent years; and is an able and eloquent legislator.

Sumerville, Alexander, soldier, was born in 1820 in Maryland. In 1839 he was appointed brigadier-general; and commanded an unsuccessful expedition to Mexico in 1842. In 1842-45 he was collector of customs for the district of Matagorda. He died in 1854.

Summerbell, Martyn, clergyman, lecturer, college president, author, was born Dec. 20, 1847, in Naples, N.Y. He has filled important pastorates in Brooklyn and New York City; in 1888-90 was pastor of the College church of Bates college of Lewiston, Maine; and in 1898 became president of Starkey seminary at Lakemont, N.Y. Since 1896 he has been a lecturer on church history in the Divinity school of Lewiston. He is the author of Minister's Hand-Book; and is part author of People's Bible History.

Stuart, C. B., lawyer, jurist. In 1895-96 he was judge of the United States district court for the Indian territory.

Summer, Edwin Bose, soldier, was born Aug. 16, 1835, in Carlisle, Pa. In 1861 he entered the army as second-lieutenant of the first cavalry; and became captain in 1863. He served from major to colonel in the first New York mounted rifles; and in 1863-65 was a brigadier-general in the United States volunteers. He then returned to regular duty; became major in 1879 and colonel of the seventh cavalry in 1894; in 1898-99 he served as brigadier-general; and was retired in 1899 from active service. He received several brevets for gallantry in the civil war; and participated in the Modoc, Nez Perces and Bannock Indian wars.

Summerfield, John, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 31, 1798, in England. In 1821 he came to New York, and was admitted to the methodist conference of that state. In 1822 he visited Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, his eloquence everywhere arousing enthusiasm. He was a delegate to the anniversary meeting of the protestant Bible society in Paris, France. In 1824 he formed many missionary societies in the United States; and founded the American tract society. He was a constant contributor to religious literature. He was the author of Sermons and Sketches of Sermons, which were posthumously published. He died June 13, 1825, in New York City.

Summerfield, Marcus, educator, lawyer, was born Aug. 15, 1842, in Prussia. He received his education in Germany; from private tutors in the United States; and in 1864 graduated in medicine from the medical colleges of Cincinnati and New York City. In 1869 he was admitted to the bar; and for ten years he was professor of law in the law school, university of Kansas; in which state he practices his profession at Lawrence.

Summers, Augustus Neander, lawyer, jurist, was born June 13, 1856, in Shelby, Ohio. In 1894-1904 he was judge of the circuit court of Ohio for the second circuit; and since 1904 has been judge of the supreme court of Ohio.

Summers, George W., lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born near Alexandria, Va. In 1830 he was elected a member of the house of delegates, and continued to represent Kanawha county in the legislature for several years. In 1841-45 he was a representative to the twenty-seventh and twenty-eighth congresses. In 1851 he was unanimously nominated as the whig candidate for governor at the first election of the governor by the people. In 1852-58 he was judge of the eighteenth judicial circuit in Virginia. He was a delegate to the peace congress of 1861. He died in Virginia.

Summers, John Edward, soldier, was born Jan. 24, 1822, in Virginia. In 1848, he served in the war with Mexico; in 1852 was assistant surgeon; and in 1861-65 served through the civil war as medical inspector with the rank of lieutenant-colonel. In 1874-86 he was medical director of the department of the Platte; and in 1885 became surgeon with the rank of colonel. In 1886 he was retired; and in 1904 was advanced to the rank of brigadier-general in the United States army. He died in 1908.

Summers, Owen, soldier, was born in Canada. In 1898 he was colonel in the second regiment Oregon infantry; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He was honorably mustered out in 1899.

Summers, Thomas Osmond, was born Oct. 11, 1812, in England. In 1874 he became professor of systematic theology in Vanderbilt university of Nashville, Tenn.; and ex-officio pastor of the institution. He was the author of Commentary on the Gospels, Acts and Ritual of the Methodist Church South; Treatise on Baptism; On Holiness; and Talks Pleasant and Profitable. He died in 1882 in Nashville, Tenn.

Summers, William Douglas, lawyer, was born Nov. 10, 1862, in Kentucky. He taught school for a while, and in 1882 moved to Harrisville, Mo., and two years later was admitted to the bar. He is now one of the ablest and most learned lawyers of Missouri; takes a prominent part in political affairs, and ranks high in various fraternal orders.

Summers, William Thomas, banker, founder, was born May 29, 1867, in Ottumwa, Iowa. He organized and became president of the first national bank that was chartered in Alaska. He is now president of the Union national bank of San Luis Obispo; and president of the First national bank of Paso Robles, Cal.

Summers, Williamson Shaw, lawyer, public official, was born Oct. 18, 1860, in Adams county, Ohio. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools; and graduated from Cornell college, from the Iowa state university and from the university of Michigan. In 1891-95 he was engaged in the attorney-general's office for Nebraska; in 1893-99 was professor in the law department of the university of Nebraska; and in 1898-1904 he was United States attorney for Nebraska. He is now engaged in the general practice of law in Omaha, Neb.

Summerville, Joseph James, journalist, clergyman, was born Jan. 23, 1844, in Milford, N.J. He received a thorough education and graduated with the degree of D.D. He is an eminent clergyman of Dayton, Ohio. For eighteen years he was an associate editor and editor of the Herald of Gospel Liberty. He was a denominational officer; and at present is a lecturer on theology in the Union christian college of Dayton, Ohio. He has been a member of the national board; and a trustee of the Christian biblical institute. He is the author of various denominational books.

Summey, George, clergyman, college president, was born June 3, 1853, in Asheville, N.C. In 1892-1902 he was chancellor of the Southwestern presbyterian university of Clarksville, Tenn.; since 1887 has been editor of the Presbyterian Quarterly; and since 1903 has filled a pastorate in New Orleans, La.

Sumner, Charles, journalist, lawyer, United States senator, author, was born Jan. 6, 1811, in Boston, Mass. He was a distinguished Massachusetts statesman; and in 1851-75 he was United States senator. He was a fearless opponent of slavery; and in consequence of this attitude of his, was assaulted in the senate chamber by Preston Brooks of South Carolina, in 1856, and severely injured. He was the author of The True Grandeur of Nations; and Prophetic Voices Concerning America. His complete works, including his many orations and speeches, have been issued in fifteen volumes. He died March 11, 1874, in Washington, D.C.

Sumner, Charles Allen, lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 2, 1835, in Great Barrington, Mass. During the war he served as a captain in the second Massachusetts volunteer infantry; and was colonel of the first Nevada infantry. In 1883-85 he was a representative from California to the forty-eighth congress. Prior to his term of service in congress he was a member of the Nevada state senate during 1864-68, the latter year as president of the senate. He is a stenographer of San Francisco; and the author of Shorthand and Reporting; Golden Gate Sketches; Travels in Southern Europe; and a volume of Poems.

Sumner, Charles Fletcher, physician, legislator, jurist, genealogist, author, was born March 28, 1817, in Hebron, Conn. For three terms this eminent physician was a member of the Connecticut state legislature; and probate judge for two terms. He was the author of Bolton Town History; and other historical works. He died in Connecticut.

Sumner, Charles Pinckney, lawyer, author, poet, was born in 1766 in Massachusetts. He was a lawyer of Boston; and high sheriff of Suffolk county in 1825-30. He was the author of Eulogy on Washington; The Compass; and Letters on Speculative Masonry. He died in 1839 in Boston, Mass.

Sumner, Daniel H., lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 15, 1837, in Malone, N.Y. In 1871 he settled at Waukesha, Wis.; and in 1875-77 was district attorney. In 1883-85 he was a representative from Wisconsin to the forty-eighth congress.

Sumner, Edwin Vose, soldier, governor, was born Jan. 30, 1797, in Boston, Mass. He was a major in the Mexican war; was governor of New Mexico in 1851-53; and in 1861 was appointed a brigadier-general in the regular army. He served in a score of battles and engagements. He was made a major-general in the regular army for services before Richmond; and was retired from active service. He died March 21, 1863, in Syracuse, N.Y.

Sumner, Edwin Vose, soldier, was born Aug. 16, 1835, in Carlisle, Pa. In 1861 he was appointed from New York second lieutenant in the first United States cavalry; and in 1863 was honorably mustered out of volunteer service. In 1863 he was a captain in the United States army; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. In 1890 he was honorably discharged from volunteers with the rank of brigadier-general in the United States army.

Sumner, George, educator, physician, author, was born Dec. 19, 1793, in Pomfret, Conn. He was professor of botany at Trinity college in 1824-55. He was the author of Compendium of Physiological and Systematic Botany. He died Feb. 20, 1855, in Hartford, Conn.

Sumner, George, political economist, author, was born Feb. 5, 1817, in Boston, Mass. He lectured extensively on philanthropic subjects; and contributed to the North American and the Democratic reviews and to French and German periodicals. His advocacy of the system of solitary confinement in prisons led to its adoption in French penitentiaries, which furnished the subject for a pamphlet entitled The Pennsylvania System of Prison Discipline Triumphant in France. He died Oct. 6, 1863, in Boston, Mass.

Sumner, George Watson, soldier, was born Dec. 31, 1841, in Constantine, Mich. He was educated in the schools of Massachusetts and Kentucky; and in 1858-61 attended the naval academy. In 1862 he was appointed lieutenant; became lieutenant-commander in 1866; was promoted to commander in 1876; attained the rank of captain in 1891; and was made rear-admiral in 1899. During the civil war he took part in the bombardment of Forts Jackson and St. Philip; and subsequently forced the confederate iron-clads to retreat up the James river. In 1897-99 he was captain of the navy yard at New York; in 1899-1901 was commandant at Port Royal, S.C.; and in 1902-04 was commandant of the White squadron. He has now retired from active service; and resides in Patchogue, N.Y.

Sumner, Increase, lawyer, jurist, state senator, governor, was born Nov. 27, 1746, in Roxbury, Mass. He was a state representative in 1776-80, and a state senator in 1780-82. He was an associate justice of the supreme court of Massachusetts in 1782-97. He was the third governor of Massachusetts in 1797-99. He died June 7, 1799, in Roxbury, Mass.

Sumner, Jethro, soldier, was born in 1730 in Virginia. He served throughout the revolutionary war; and attained the rank of brigadier-general. He died in 1790 in Warren county, N.C.

Sumner, John, soldier, founder, was born in May, 1735, in Middletown, Conn. At the opening of the revolution he was a zealous patriot and he entered the colonial army in June, 1776, being commissioned major in a battalion of which John Durkee was colonel, and continued in the service. He was one of the founders of the society of the Cincinnati. He died in February, 1787.

Sumner, Samuel Storrow, soldier, was born Feb. 6, 1842, in Carlisle, Pa. In 1861 he was second lieutenant in the second cavalry; in 1862 became captain; and served in numerous battles and skirmishes. In 1879 he became major of the eighth United States cavalry; in 1891 attained the rank of lieutenant-colonel; and in 1896 became colonel. In 1894 he was brigadier-general of volunteers; became major-general of volunteers the same year; and in 1901 attained the rank of brigadier-general United States army.

Sumner, William Graham, educator, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 30, 1840, in Paterson, N.J. In 1863 he graduated from Yale university; studied in the university of Gottingen, Germany; and at Oxford, England; and received the honorary degree of LL.D. from the university of East Tennessee. He took orders in the protestant episcopal church; was an assistant in Calvary church of New York; and until 1872 was rector of the church of the Redeemer of Morristown, N.J. In 1866-69 he was a tutor; and since 1872 has been a professor of medical and social science at Yale university. He is especially prominent as a free trader and advocate of the gold standard. He is the author of A History of American Currency; Collected Essays in Political and Social Science; Protectionism; Lives of Andrew Jackson, Alexander Hamilton, and Robert Morris; and Folkways.

Sumner, William Hyslop, soldier, lawyer, state legislator, author, was born July 4, 1780, in Roxbury. He was one of the original members of the Massachusetts Horticultural society. He was the author of An Inquiry into the Importance of the Militia; Observations on National Defence; Reminiscences; Memoir of Increase Sumner, Governor of Massachusetts; Reminiscences of General Warren and Bunker Hill; History of East Boston; and Reminiscences of Lafayette's Visit to Boston. He died Oct. 24, 1861, in Jamaica Plains, Mass.

Sumter, Thomas, soldier, diplomat. United States senator, was born July 14, 1736, in Virginia. He was a distinguished soldier of the American revolution; and was a citizen of South Carolina. He was promoted, in 1780, from the office of colonel to that of brigadier-general. For his services he received the thanks of congress and the applause of his country. In 1789-93 and 1797-1803 he was a representative from South Carolina to the first, second, fifth, sixth and seventh congresses; and in 1801-11 he was United States senator. In 1809 he was appointed minister to Brazil; and was again elected to the United States senate. He died June 1, 1832, near Camden, S.C.

Sumner, Hatton W., congressman, lawyer, was born May 30, 1875, in Lincoln county, Tenn. He has been prosecuting attorney of his county. In 1913-15 he was a representative from Texas to the sixty-third congress.

Sumter, Thomas D., congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1839-43 he was a representative from South Carolina to the twenty-sixth and twenty-seventh congresses. He died in Statesburg, S.C.

Sunderland, Byron, educator, clergyman, chaplain, was born Nov. 22, 1810, in Shoreham, Vt. In 1843-51 he was pastor of the presbyterian church of Syracuse, N.Y.; and in 1808 retired as pastor emeritus for life. In 1861-64 and 1873-79 he was chaplain of the United States senate.

Sunderland, Eliza Read, educator, lecturer, author, was born in 1839 in Huntsville, Ill. In 1880 she graduated from the university of Michigan where she received the honorary degree of Ph.D. She is the wife of Jabez T. Sunderland, clergyman. She has been a teacher in the high schools of Ann Arbor, Mich, and Chicago, Ill. and was principal of the high school of Aurora, Ill. She has preached and lectured extensively and is a contributor to periodicals. She is the author of Stories from Genesis; Heroes and Heroines; and Centennial Memorial to James Martineau.

Sunderland, Jabez Thomas, clergyman, journalist, author, was born Feb. 11, 1842, in England. He is a distinguished clergyman of the unitarian church; and founder and in 1886-95 was editor of the Unitarian Monthly. He is the author of A Rational Faith; What is the Bible?; The Liberal Christian Ministry; Home Travel in Bible Lands; The Bible, Its Origin and Place Among the Sacred Books of the World; Orthodoxy and Revivalism; and The Spark in the Clod, or Evolution and Religion.

Sunderland James Warren, physician, educator, founder, was born Feb. 19, 1813, in Wickford, R.I. He was the first to see the need of a high grade college for women;

Sutro, Adolph Heinrich Joseph, mining engineer, philanthropist, was born April 29, 1830, in Germany. In 1860 he planned the now famous Sutro tunnel through the heart of the mountain in Nevada, where lay the Comstock lode; and in 1879 the great tunnel was finished and its projector became a millionaire many times over. He was mayor of San Francisco; and filled numerous positions of honor. He died Aug. 8, 1898, in San Francisco, Cal.

Sutro, Charles Russell, soldier, was born in New York. In 1862 he was promoted second lieutenant in the corp of engineers. In 1906 he attained the rank of brigadier-general and was retired by operation of law.

Sutro, Mrs. Florence Clinton, musician, philanthropist, author, was born May 1, 1865. In 1884 she married Theodore Sutro, a distinguished lawyer and financier of New York City. She was the first woman in America to receive the degree of doctor of music; and was the first student in the women's law class in the university of New York. She received a gold medal and diploma for work for women in music; and a silver medal and diploma for work for women in law. She organized and was first president of the national federation of women's musical clubs. She was president of the hospital for crippled children of New York City. She died in 1906 in New York City.

Sutro, Otto, merchant, musician, was born Feb. 24, 1833, in Prussia. In 1868 he decided to engage in the piano, organ and music and musical merchandise business in Baltimore, Md., which business he is still connected with. He died in 1896 in Baltimore, Md.

Sutro, Theodore, lawyer and author, was born March 14, 1845, in Aix-la-Chapelle, Prussia. In 1863 he graduated from the Baltimore city college; in 1864 he graduated from the Phillips-Exeter academy of New Hampshire; in 1871 graduated with the degree of A.B. from Harvard university; and in 1874 graduated with the degree of LL.B. from the Columbia university law school. While a student at Harvard he established and conducted a commission business in Boston, Mass. In 1874 he was admitted to the bar; and in 1887-92 conducted large litigations in Nevada, involving the interests of the Sutro tunnel company, which company was re-organized into the Comstock tunnel company, of which he was president in 1887-94. He is now one of the foremost lawyers in New York City; was one of the organizers and the second president of the German-American reform union; in 1896-98 was commissioner of taxes and assessments for the city of New York; and in 1896 was a delegate to the national democratic convention. He has been president and chairman of the board of trustees of the Society of medical jurisprudence; has been president of the medical and legal aid society; and is a member of a score of legal, social and scientific societies. His collection of the Edward Moran thirteen historical marine paintings has attracted attention throughout the United States. He is the author of the Sutro Tunnel Company and the Sutro Tunnel; and various Monographs on Taxation, Medical Jurisprudence and other subjects; is also the author of numerous poems; and resides in New York City.

Sutter, Daniel, merchant, was born Dec. 16, 1830, in Mount Holly, N.J. For forty-five years he was identified with the business interests of Philadelphia, Pa.; and for thirty-two years was the senior member of the firm of Sutter and Miller, rubber merchants, retiring from active business in 1896, and resided in the place of his nativity. For twenty-five years he was a bank director; and had interests in various other corporations as director, treasurer and stockholder. He stood high in masonry; was a thirty-second degree Scottish Rite; and was a member of the Pennsylvania historical society, and the horticultural, colonial and genealogical societies of that state; and also a member of the Union league, Trades league and other associations in Philadelphia. He died in Mount Holly, N.J.

Sutter, John Augustus, pioneer, was born Feb. 15, 1803, in Baden. In 1834 he settled in St. Louis, Mo.; and in 1838 crossed the Rocky mountains. He subsequently went to Sitka, Alaska; and in 1839 founded the first white settlement on the site of Sacramento. He received a large tract of land from the Mexican government; in 1841 built a fort; and was appointed governor of the northern frontier country. He died June 17, 1880, in Washington, D.C.

Sutton, Jay W., lawyer, business man, was born Sept. 10, 1858, in Romeo, Mich. In 1881 he was admitted to the bar. He has been secretary of the Soo mutual building and loan association since its organization in 1888; and in 1897 was elected state banker for two years by the Modern woodmen of America. He takes a deep interest in the public affairs of Michigan at Sault Ste. Marie; and is prominent in various fraternal orders.

Sutton, Rhodes Stansbury, physician, scientist, author, was born July 8, 1841, in Indiana, Pa. In 1865 he began the practice of medicine in Pittsburgh, Pa. He was president of the American academy of science; and president of the Pittsburgh gynecological society. He was chief surgeon in the Spanish-American war. He was the author of valuable medical articles in medical literature. He died in 1906 in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Sutton, William Seneca, educator, author, was born Aug. 12, 1860, in Fayetteville, Ark. Since 1897 he has been professor of education and dean of the summer session of the university of Texas. He is part author of Pupils' Series of Arithmetics; and Sutton and Bruce's Arithmetic, Lower and Higher.

Sutton, William Henry, lawyer, legislator, was born Sept. 11, 1835, in Haddonfield,

N. J. He received his education at the Dickinson college of Carlisle, Pa.; the Wesleyan university of Middletown, Conn.; the Albany law school; and subsequently received the degree of doctor of civil law from Dickinson college of Carlisle, Pa. He has been school director and a state senator in the Pennsylvania legislature; and was instrumental in introducing and passing many improvements in statutory law. He has declined nominations for judge of court of common pleas and for congress, preferring the practice of law, in which he has been eminently successful, both in criminal and common law. He is a ready speaker, but as a brilliant lawyer of Philadelphia he is most distinguished. His father, Joseph Sutton, was a soldier in the war of 1812.

Suydam, James Augustus, painter, artist, was born March 27, 1819, in New York. His best known work is a characteristic landscape painting known as Long Island Shore. He died Sept. 15, 1865, in North Conway, N.H.

Suydam, John Howard, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 1, 1832, in Brooklyn, N.Y. He has been a clergyman of the Dutch reformed church since 1869 and retired in 1903 from active ministry. He is the author of The Cruger Family; Cruel Jim; The Wreckmaster; and Hendryck Rycken, the Progenitor of the Suydam Family in America.

Swaim, David Gaskill, soldier, lawyer, was born Dec. 22, 1834, in Salem, Ohio. He served throughout the civil war in the United States army; and attained the rank of colonel. He became judge advocate general of the army in 1881, with the rank of brigadier-general. He died Aug. 16, 1897, in Washington, D.C.

Swain, Adeline Morrison, educator, suffragist, was born May 25, 1820, in Bath, N.H. She received her education in the public schools, Newbury seminary, Vermont, and the Troy conference academy of West Poultney. For many years she was preceptress of the Troy Conference seminary, and a teacher of French, Spanish and Italian. She subsequently held the same position in Nunda literary institute; and taught drawing and painting in both institutions. In 1883 she was a candidate for state superintendent of public instruction of Iowa; and in 1884 was state delegate at large to the presidential convention held at Indianapolis. She has contributed extensively to current literature on different topics and suffrage work. She died in January, 1899, in Odin, Ill.

Swain, David Lowry, lawyer, jurist, college president, governor, author, was born Jan. 4, 1801, near Asheville, N.C. In 1824 he was elected to represent Buncombe county in the house of commons of the state. In 1831 he was appointed judge of the supreme court; and in 1832-35 was the nineteenth governor of North Carolina. In 1835-68 he was president of the university of North Carolina. He was the author of British Invasion of North Carolina. He died Sept. 3, 1868, in Chapel Hill, N.C.

Swain, George Fillmore, educator, civil engineer, author, was born March 2, 1857, in San Francisco, Cal. Since 1887 he has been professor of civil engineering in charge of the civil engineering department of the Massachusetts institute of technology. He is the author of Report on the Water Power of the Atlantic Watershed; Notes on Hydraulics; and Notes on Theory of Structures.

Swain, James Barrett, journalist, author, was born July 30, 1820, in New York City. He was a journalist of New York City; and postoffice inspector in 1881-85. He was the author of Life and Speeches of Henry Clay; Historical Notes to Speeches of Henry Clay; and A Military History of New York State. He died May 27, 1895, in Sing Sing, N.Y.

Swain, Joseph, educator, college president, was born June 16, 1857, in Pendleton, Ind. In 1883 he graduated from the Indiana university; and received the honorary degrees of A.M. from Wabash college. In 1883-85 he was instructor of mathematics and biologies; in 1885-86 was an associate professor of mathematics; and in 1886-91 was professor of mathematics in Indiana university. In 1891-93 he was professor of mathematics at the Leland Stanford university; in 1893-1902 was president of Indiana university; and since 1902 has been president of Swarthmore college of Pennsylvania. He has been president of the National teachers' association; and is a member of many societies.

Swain, Robert Bunker, merchant, founder, was born July 23, 1822, in Nantucket, Mass. In 1855 he was engaged in business. In 1863-69 he was superintendent of the United States branch mint in San Francisco, Cal. For several years he was president of the Mercantile library association of San Francisco. In 1865 he was one of the founders of the San Francisco benevolent association; and was its first president. In 1871 he was president of the chamber of commerce.

He died June 5, 1872, in San Francisco, Cal.

Swallow, Elias C., journalist, prohibitionist, was born March 5, 1839, in Plains, Pa. He is editor of the Pennsylvania Methodist; and superintendent of the Methodist book room at Harrisburg, Pa. In 1898 and again in 1902 he received a large vote on the prohibition ticket for governor of Pennsylvania; and in 1904 was prohibition nominee for president of the United States.

Swan, Caleb, soldier, was born in Maine. He became an ensign in the fourth Massachusetts continental infantry in 1779; and in 1792-1808 he was paymaster-general of the United States army. He was the author of Some Account of the Northwestern Lakes of America. He died Nov. 20, 1800, in Washington, D.C.

Swan, Henry Harrison, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 2, 1840, in Detroit, Mich. In 1870-77 he was assistant United States attorney. Since 1891 he has been United States district judge for the Eastern district of Michigan.

Swan, James, soldier, author, was born in 1754 in Scotland. He was a soldier in the American army during the revolution; and afterwards adjutant-general of Massachusetts. The last fifteen years of his life were passed in a debtors' prison in Paris. He was the author of Dissuasion to Great Britain and the Colonies from the Slave Trade to Africa; On the Fisheries; Fisheries of Massachusetts; National Arithmetick; and Address on Agriculture, Manufactures, and Commerce. He died March 18, 1831, in Paris, France.

Swan, John, congressman, was born in North Carolina. In 1787-88 he was a delegate from North Carolina to the continental congress. He died in North Carolina.

Swan, Joseph Rockwell, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Dec. 28, 1802, in Westernville, N.Y. In 1854-59 he was judge of the supreme court of Ohio. He was the author of Treatise on Justices of the Peace and Constables in Ohio; Manual for Executors and Administrators; Pleading and Practice; and Commentaries on Pleadings under the Ohio Code. He died Dec. 18, 1884, in Columbus, Ohio.

Swan, Orrington Thomas Nowkes, forester, engineer, was born May 25, 1880, in Mechanic Falls, Maine. He received the degree of A.B. in 1903, and the degree of B.S. F. in 1904, from the university of Nebraska. In 1905-08 he was forest assistant in the United States forest service; 1909 chief in the office of products of district three; and in 1910-12 engineer in forest products, in charge of the eastern district. He is now forester and technical engineer in forest service.

Swan, Samuel, congressman, was born in 1771, in Somerset county, N.J. In 1821-31 he was a representative from New Jersey to the seventeenth, eighteenth, nineteenth, twentieth and twenty-first congresses. He died Aug. 24, 1844, in Brunswick, N.J.

Swan, Timothy, musician, composer, was born July 23, 1758, in Worcester, Mass. He settled at Northfield, Mass., where he resided until his death. Some of his psalm-tunes, among them China, Pownal and Poland, became very popular, and are still to be found in collections of church music. He died July 23, 1842, in Northfield, Mass.

Swan, William Draper, educator, author, was born Nov. 17, 1809, in Dorchester, Mass. He was an educator and bookseller of Boston. He published a popular series of school readers; and a series of widely used arithmetics. He died Nov. 2, 1864, in Rochester, N.Y.

Swanger, Francis Asbury, educator, college president, was born May 3, 1859, in Milroy, Pa. He attended the state normal school of Kirksville, Mo., and the state university of Columbia; and has had the degrees of M.S.D. and A.M. conferred upon him. For many years he taught in the district schools of Sullivan county, Mo., and has been principal of schools in Greencastle, Carrollton, Lancaster and Kirksville. He taught physics and language in the state normal school of Kirksville in 1889-91; then taught mathematics until 1894; since which time he has been president of that institution of learning.

Swank, James Moore, author, was born July 12, 1832, in Westmoreland county, Pa. He has been the general manager of the American Iron and Steel association since 1873. He is the author of A History of the Department of Agriculture; Iron Making and Coal Mining in Pennsylvania; Iron Manufacture in All Ages; and other works.

Swann, Edward, lawyer, congressman, was born March 10, 1862, in New York City. In 1887 he graduated from the law department of Columbia college. He is engaged in the general practice of law in New York City. In 1901-03 he was a representative from New York to the fifty-seventh congress as a democrat, to fill a vacancy.

Swann, Thomas, lawyer, banker, railroad president, governor, congressman, was born in 1805, in Alexandria, Pa. He was appointed secretary of the Neapolitan commission; and in 1834 settled in Baltimore, Md. Two years afterward he was chosen a director of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad company; and in 1847-53 was president. He was also president of the Northwestern Virginia railroad company, disbursing in behalf of the two roads about thirteen million dollars. In 1856-

60 he was mayor of Baltimore. He was the originator of the Druid hill park in that city. He emancipated his slaves before the civil war; and continued a union man during the war. In 1863 he was elected president of the First national bank of Baltimore. In 1866-67 he was the thirtieth governor of Maryland. In 1866 he was elected United States senator, but declined to leave the executive chair. In 1869-79 he was a representative from Maryland to the forty-first, forty-second, forty-third, forty-fourth and forty-fifth congresses as a democrat. He died July 24, 1883, in Leesburg, Va.

Swanson, Claude A., lawyer, congressman, governor, was born March 31, 1862, in Swansonville, Va. He was a delegate to the national democratic convention of 1896. In 1893-1905 he was a representative from Virginia to the fifty-third, fifty-fourth, fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh and fifty-eighth congresses as a democrat. In 1906 he became governor of the state of Virginia for the term ending in 1910. Since 1910 he has been a member of the United States senate.

Swanton, John Reed, ethnologist, author, was born Feb. 19, 1873, in Gardiner, Maine. Since 1900 he has been an ethnologist of the bureau of American ethnology in Washington, D.C. He is the author of Contributions to the Ethnology of the Haida; Haida Texts and Myths; and Social Conditions, Beliefs and Linguistic Relationship of the Tlingit Indians.

Swanwick, John, congressman. In 1795-98 he was a representative from Pennsylvania to the fourth and fifth congresses. He died in 1798, in Pennsylvania.

Swart, Peter, state senator, congressman, was born in Schoharie, N.Y. In 1807-09 he was a representative from New York to the tenth congress; and was a state senator in 1817-20. He died in New York.

Swarthout, Samuel, naval officer, was born May 10, 1804, in New York City. In 1820 he entered the navy as a midshipman; was promoted to commander in 1855; and took an active part in the civil war. He died Feb. 5, 1867, in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Swartwout, Robert, soldier, was born in 1778, in Poughkeepsie, N.Y. In 1812 he was appointed quartermaster-general with the rank of brigadier; and had charge of the fourth brigade in the campaign of 1813 on St. Lawrence river. After the war he resided in New York City, where he was a merchant and also agent of the navy. He died July 19, 1838, in New York City.

Swartz, Edward James, journalist, author, was born April 19, 1848, in Buffalo, N.Y. In 1871-97 he was city editor of the Philadelphia Evening Telegraph; and since 1897 has been managing editor of that publication. He is the author of plays entitled A Square Man; The Governess; The Caffir Diamond; The Clipper; and The Syndicate.

Swartz, Joel, clergyman, educator, author, was born Aug. 18, 1827, in Shenandoah, Va. He is a lutheran clergyman; and pastor at Gettysburg since 1881. He is the author of Dreamings of the Waking, with Other Poems; and Lyra Lutherana.

Swartz, William Paley, educator, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 24, 1858, in Circleville, Ohio. For a number of years he was a book and job printer; and for several years taught school. In 1883-87 he was a missionary in India. In 1888-96 he was pastor of the Central church at Wilmington, Del.; and since 1896 has been pastor of the First presbyterian church at Poughkeepsie, N.Y. He is the author of The Financial Problem; Economic Consumption; and the Social Welfare; and various religious monographs.

Swasey, Ambrose, manufacturer, inventor, was born Dec. 19, 1846, in Exeter, N.H. He is a manufacturer of machinery and astronomical instruments; and is the foremost builder of telescopes in the world, and designed the famous Lick, Yerkes and United States naval observatory telescopes. He invented the Swasey range and position finder, adopted by the United States government.

Swasey, John Philip, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 4, 1839, in Canton, Maine. He was educated in the public schools of Canton; at Dearborn academy; Hebron academy; the Maine state seminary; and Tuft college. He served in the civil war as first lieutenant in the seventeenth Maine regiment. In 1863 he was admitted to the practice of law; in 1869-70 was assessor of internal revenue; and was a member of both houses of the Maine state legislature. He was elected to the sixtieth congress to fill a vacancy; and in 1909-11 was a representative from Maine to the sixty-first congress as a republican.

Swayne, Charles, lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 10, 1842, in New Castle county, Del. He received a public school and academic education; and in 1864-70 taught high school. In 1871 he graduated from the law department of the university of Pennsylvania. In 1871-85 he practiced law in Pennsylvania; and in 1885 removed to Florida. In 1888 he was republican candidate for judge of the supreme court; and in 1889-1907 was United States district judge for the northern district of Florida. He died July 5, 1907, in Philadelphia, Pa.

Swayne, Noah Haynes, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born Dec. 7, 1804, in Culpeper county, Va. In 1829 and 1836 he was elected to the legislature of Ohio; and in 1830-39 was United States district attorney for Ohio. In 1861-81 he was associate justice of the supreme court of the United States. He died June 8, 1884, in New York City.

Swayne, Wager, soldier, lawyer, was born Nov. 10, 1834, in Columbus, Ohio. In 1865 he was brevetted a brigadier-general. In 1865-68 was military commander in Alabama; became major-general United States army; and was retired in 1870. He was a noted lawyer of New York City. He died Dec. 18, 1902, in New York City.

Swayze, Francis Joseph, lawyer, jurist, was born May 15, 1861, in Newton, N.J. In 1892-1900 he practiced law in Newton and Newark, N.J. In 1903 he was judge of the circuit court; and in 1903 was elected justice of the supreme court of New Jersey for the term ending in 1910.

Swayzl, George Banghart Henry, physician, author, was born Feb. 3, 1833, in Hope, N.J. He was educated in common schools and a seminary; and received the degree of M.D. from the Jefferson medical college. During the civil war he was assistant surgeon of the one hundred and seventy-eighth regiment Pennsylvania infantry. He was a founder and editor of the Mahanoy City Gazette of Pennsylvania. Since 1871 he has practiced medicine in Philadelphia, Pa.; and was one of the founders of the Medico-chirurgical college. He is the author of Yarb and Cretine, or Rising from Bonds.

Swearingen, Henry, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1837-41 he was a representative from Ohio to the twenty-fifth and twenty-sixth congresses. He died in Smithfield, Ohio.

Swearingen, Henry H., lawyer, genealogist, author, was born April 7, 1857, in Baker county, Ga. He was educated in the public schools of Atlanta, Ga.; and has attained prominence as a successful attorney of Washington, D.C. For several years he was government examiner of claims at Washington, D.C.; and is now claims attorney and advisor in matters before the governmental departments. He proposed the hydrogen column for the fuelless engine. He is the author of two editions of the Swearingen Genealogy.

Swearingen, Thomas V., congressman, was born in Jefferson county, Va. In 1821-23 he was a representative from Virginia to the seventeenth congress. He died June 7, 1822, in Shepherdstown, Va.

Sweat, Lorenzo D. M., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born May 26, 1818, in Parsonville, Maine. In 1856 and 1860 he was a city solicitor of Portland, Maine; and in 1862 was a member of the state senate. In 1863-65 he was a representative from Maine to the thirty-eighth congress. He died in Maine.

Sweat, Mrs. Margaret Jane, litterateur, author, was born Nov. 28, 1823, in Portland, Maine. She is the author of Ethel's Love Life; and Sighways of Travel, or a Summer in Europe. She died in Portland, Maine.

Sweeney, James G., lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 22, 1877, in Carson City, Nev. He was educated at the Carson high school; graduated from St. Mary's college of Oakland, Cal.; and graduated from the Columbian university of Washington, D.C. He has been a representative in the Nevada legislature; and was chairman of the judiciary committee. He has been attorney-general of Nevada; and is chairman of the democratic state central committee of Nevada. He is justice of the state supreme court of Nevada for term expiring in 1913; and resides in Carson City, Nev.

Sweeney, T. W., soldier. He attained the rank of brigadier-general in the United States army; and was retired from active service.

Sweeney, W. N., lawyer, congressman, was born May 5, 1832, in Kentucky. In 1869-71 he was a representative from Kentucky to the forty-first congress. He died April 21, 1895, in Louisville, Ky.

Sweeney, Zachary Taylor, clergyman, lecturer, author, was born Feb. 10, 1849, in Liberty, Ky. He was educated in the public schools of Illinois, graduated from the seminary of Scottville, Ill.; was a student for one year at Eureka college of Illinois; and for three years studied in the DePauw university. He has received the honorary degree of LL.D. from Butler university. In 1866 he was engaged to be teacher. Since 1869 he has been in the ministry of the Christian church; has filled pastorates in Paris, Ill., and Columbus, Ind.; and since 1896 he has been professor emeritus. Since 1897 he has been exclusively engaged as lyceum lecturer by the Redpath bureau. In 1889-93 he was United States consul-general at Constantinople; and is now commissioner of fisheries and game for Indiana. He is the author of Under Ten Flags; and Pulpit Diagrams.

Sweeny, George, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1839-43 he was a representative from Ohio to the twenty-sixth and twenty-seventh congresses. He died in Ohio.

Sweeny, Thomas William, soldier, was born Dec. 25, 1820, in Ireland. He served in the Mexican and civil wars; received medals from New York City and the city of Brooklyn for services in the civil war. In 1870 he was retired as brigadier-general in the United States army. He died April 10, 1892, in Astoria, N.Y.

Sweeny, William Montgomery, journalist, author, was born Aug. 29, 1871, in New York City. He is a journalist and writer of New York City. He is the author of Life and Services of General Thomas William Sweeny, his father.

Sweet, Ada Celeste, lawyer, was born Feb. 23, 1853, in Stockbridge, Wis. She is the daughter of Benjamin J. Sweet. When her father became United States pension agent she learned the business, and after his death in 1874 she was appointed United States pension agent for paying pensions in Chicago—the first woman ever appointed as a disbursing officer in the United States. She held the office until 1885. In 1886 she became literary editor to the Chicago Tribune; and is now writer for the Chicago Journal. In 1888 she opened a United States claims office in Chicago; retiring in 1905. She has been president of the municipal order league of Chicago; and president of the Chicago woman's club; and is prominent in reform and philanthropic work.

Sweet, Alexander Edwin, soldier, journalist, author, was born March 28, 1841, in St. John, N.B. He served in the confederate army. He is the author of Three Dozen Good Stories from Texas Siftings, and Through Texas on a Mustang. He was an associate editor of Tammany Times; and editor of the New York Sunday Star. He died May 20, 1901, in New York City.

Sweet, Benjamin Jeffrey, soldier, lawyer, was born April 24, 1832, in Kirkland, N.Y. He served through the civil war; and attained the ranks of colonel and brigadier-general. He subsequently practiced law in Chicago, Ill.; and was United States pension agent. He died Jan. 1, 1874, in Washington, D.C.

Sweet, Elnathan, civil engineer, author, was born Nov. 20, 1837, in Cheshire, Mass. In 1876-80 he was division engineer of New York state canals; and he was state engineer in 1884-88. His writings include annual reports that he issued from Albany during the years he held office; and various technical papers. He died in 1903 in Albany, N.Y.

Sweet, Frank Herbert, litterateur, author, was born Aug. 1, 1856, in West Greenwich, R.I. He is the author of A Mountain Hero; Young Switch Tender; Craig Cameron; Blue and Gray; Grandfather Tales, and other works.

Sweet, Homer De Lois, civil engineer, author, was born Jan. 24, 1826, in Pompey, N.Y. He was a civil engineer of Syracuse; and built the reservoir of the Syracuse water company at Onondaga Hill. He was the author of The Averys of Groton, a genealogy; and Twilight Hours in the Adirondacks. He died Nov. 16, 1873, in Syracuse, N.Y.

Swett, John, educator, viticulturist, author, was born July 31, 1830, in Pittsfield, N.H. He was educated at Pittsfield academy, at Pembroke academy and at Merrimack normal institute; and has received the degree of A.M. He was a teacher of common schools in New Hampshire and Massachusetts; and principal of the grammar school of San Francisco in 1853-62. In 1863-68 he was state school superintendent of schools of California. In 1870-73 he was deputy superintendent of schools of San Francisco; was principal of the girl's high and normal school in 1876-89; and city superintendent of schools of San Francisco in 1890-95. Since that time he has been a successful viticulturist of Martinez, Cal. In 1864-68 he was also editor-in-chief of the California State Educational Journal. He is the author of History of the Public School System of California; American Public Schools; School Elocution; Normal Word Book; Common School Reading; and joint author with William Swinton of numerous school text-books.

Swett, John Appleton, physician, author, was born Dec. 3, 1808, in Boston, Mass. In 1853 he was appointed professor of the theory and practice of medicine in the university of the city of New York. He was the author of Diseases of the Chest. He died Sept. 18, 1854, in New York City.

Sweet, John Edson, educator, inventor, author, was born Oct. 21, 1832, in Pompey, N.Y. Until 1861 he was engaged as a builder and architect in the south; and until 1863 was engaged as an inventor and mechanical draughtsman; in 1873-79 was professor of practical mechanics in Cornell university; and in 1893 was an expert for the government and one of the jurors on machine tools in the World's columbian exposition.

He has been president of the American society of mechanical engineers; the first president of the Engine builders' association of the United States; and president of the Syracuse metal trades association. He is the author of Things That are Usually Wrong.

Sweet, Louis Matthews, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 10, 1869, in Southold, N.Y. He has received the degrees of B.A. from Hobart college; A.M. from the Auburn theological seminary; and the honorary degree of S.T.B. from Hobart college. In 1896-1901 he was pastor of Union Springs, N.Y. In 1901-05 he preached in Warsaw, N.Y.; and since 1905 has filled a pastorate in Canandaigua, N.Y. He is the author of Birth and Infancy of Jesus Christ; and The Self-Portrayal of Shakespeare.

